

Members of the Public Service Commission:

We need net metering to expand as rapidly as possible in New York State and throughout the U.S., as a way of 1) weaning our nation from foreign sources of energy, 2) lowering our carbon dioxide emissions to the atmosphere, where they have a proven relation to the ongoing global warming of the earth, and 3) stimulating local job growth in a new industry, with huge potential both here and abroad. I heartily support a decision that would raise the allowance for net metering throughout New York State. We should meet or exceed California's lead, where the allowance is 5%.
