RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-01 Scope; Construction; Definitions.

(a) Scope of rules. This chapter governs the grant of tax exemption pursuant to §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law of the State of New York, including the procedure for filing an application for tax exemption and the issuance of Preliminary and Final Certificates of Eligibility by the Office of Development of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. Upon issuance of the Certificate of Eligibility, the calculation and implementation of the tax exemption are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Finance.

(b) Construction. This chapter is to be construed to secure the effectuation of the purposes of §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law and §11-245 of the Administrative Code and in accordance with the general principle of law that exemption statutes are to be strictly construed against the taxpayer applying for the exemption.

(c) Definitions. As used in this chapter, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

Act. "Act" shall mean §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law, as amended.

Adjusted monthly rent. "Adjusted monthly rent" shall mean the rent payable per month as provided in the first effective lease upon initial occupancy of a rental dwelling unit of a multiple dwelling after completion of construction assisted by exemption under the Act, not inclusive of charges for parking or electricity, gas, cooking fuel and other utilities other than heat and hot water.

Administrative Code. "Administrative Code" shall mean the Administrative Code of the City of New York.

Affordable units. "Affordable units" shall mean units created and rented in accordance with §6-08 of this chapter.

Aggregate floor area. "Aggregate floor area" shall mean the sum of the gross horizontal areas of all of the floors of a dwelling or dwellings and accessory structures on a lot measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls or from the center line of party walls.

Annual schedule of reasonable costs. "Annual schedule of reasonable costs" shall mean the amounts determined by the Department to be reasonable for the maintenance and operation of a multiple dwelling in such categories and classifications attached to these rules as Appendix A.

Certificate of Eviction. "Certificate of Eviction" shall mean a certificate of eviction granted by the city rent agency pursuant to §26-408 of the Administrative Code.

Commencement of construction. "Commencement of construction" shall mean the date upon which excavation and the construction of initial footings and foundations commences in good faith. An architect or professional engineer licensed in the State of New York shall certify that such construction commenced on such date and that such construction was thereafter completed without undue delay. Notwithstanding the foregoing, construction shall not commence prior to issuance by the Department of Buildings of either (i) a building or alteration permit for the construction of an entirely new multiple dwelling, the footprint of which consisted entirely of vacant and unimproved land upon such date, or (ii) an alteration permit for the construction of a new multiple dwelling above, and on an entirely separate tax lot from, one or more existing structures which are to be retained, provided that only the floor area attributable to the new multiple dwelling, and any eligible commercial, community facility or accessory use space within such new structure shall be eligible for benefits under the Act. Any such new multiple dwelling shall comply with all other applicable statutory and regulatory requirements.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, or his or her designee, or the chief executive officer of any successor agency thereto authorized to administer these rules.

Completion of construction. "Completion of construction" shall mean the date upon which either a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy is issued for all residential areas in the multiple dwelling or a Permanent Certificate of Occupancy is issued for the entire building.

Construction. "Construction" shall mean the construction of a new building which is a Class A multiple dwelling.

Demolished. "Demolished" shall mean the total destruction of a building or structure by razing or otherwise.

Department. "Department" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York or any successor agency or department thereto.

Department of Buildings. "Department of Buildings" shall mean the Department of Buildings of the City of New York or any successor agency or department thereto.

Eligible debt-financed project. "Eligible debt-financed project" shall mean a project that may be encumbered by a lien or mortgage, where (A) such project is not obtaining low income housing tax credits pursuant to §42(b)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (nine percent (9%) reservation), (B) any lien or mortgage encumbering such project provides that it is expressly subject and subordinate to the Written Agreement entered into with the Department, and (C) the average household income of the units in such project does not exceed eighty percent (80%) of median income.

Floor area of commercial, community facilities, and accessory use space. "Floor area of commercial, community facilities, and accessory use space" shall mean the gross horizontal areas of all the floors or any portion thereof of a multiple dwelling or dwellings and accessory structures or spaces on a lot measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls of commercial or community facilities or accessory uses as such uses are defined in the Zoning Resolution; (See Article 1, Chapter 2). Notwithstanding the foregoing, parking areas which are not part of the building such as uncovered outdoor parking areas and open space beneath a building (including access roads) shall not be considered accessory use space. Provided that, for properties for which a final certificate of eligibility is issued on or after November 3, 1995 accessory use space shall not include accessory parking space located not more than twenty-three feet above the curb level.

Geographic exclusion area. "Geographic exclusion area" shall mean that area of Manhattan described in §6-02(c)(10) of this chapter.

Hotel. "Hotel" shall mean (i) any Class B multiple dwelling, as such term is defined in the Multiple Dwelling Law, (ii) any structure or part thereof containing living or sleeping accommodations which is used or intended to be used for transient occupancy, (iii) any apartment hotel or transient hotel as defined in the Zoning Resolution, or (iv) any structure or part thereof which is used to provide short term rentals or owned or leased by an entity engaged in the business of providing short term rentals. For purposes of this definition, a lease, sublease, license or any other form of rental agreement for a period of less than six months shall be deemed to be a short term rental. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a structure or part thereof owned or leased by a not-for-profit corporation for the purpose of providing governmentally funded emergency housing shall not be considered a hotel for purposes of this chapter.

Low and moderate income. "Low and moderate income" shall mean a household income not exceeding 100 percent of median income. For purposes of this chapter, low income households shall be deemed to be those at 60 percent or less of median income and moderate income households shall be those between 60 and 100 percent of median income, provided, however, that the average household income in any group of affordable units shall not exceed 80 percent of median income.

Median income. "Median income" shall be calculated in accordance with the regulations of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development governing eligibility for occupancy as a lower income family, by size of family, in the metropolitan statistical area, which includes the City of New York, for purposes of §8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended.

Multiple dwelling or building. "Multiple dwelling" or "building" shall mean a dwelling which is, or is to be, lawfully occupied as the residence or home of three or more families living independently of one another, whether individual dwelling units herein are rented or owned as a cooperative or condominium.

Negotiable Certificate. "Negotiable Certificate" shall mean a document issued by the Department which certifies that the bearer is entitled to the benefits of the Act for a specified number of units within the geographic exclusion area, provided that all program requirements have been met.

Office. "Office" shall mean the Office of Tax Incentive Programs of the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development or any successor thereto.

Prior assessed valuation. "Prior assessed valuation" shall mean the taxable assessed valuation in effect pursuant to §1805-(3) of the Real Property Tax Law, exclusive of any exemption, of a tax lot (land and improvements) during the tax year preceding the tax year of Commencement of Construction.

Program for the development of affordable housing. "Program for the development of affordable housing" shall mean housing which complies with the requirements of a grant, loan or subsidy from any federal, state or local agency or instrumentality to provide no less than twenty percent of its units as units affordable to and occupied by or affordable to and available for occupancy by individuals or families whose incomes do not exceed a specified limit and which has been approved by the commissioner pursuant to this chapter.

Public project. "Public project" shall mean a building developed with substantial governmental assistance or a building developed pursuant to a regulatory agreement with a Federal, state or local agency or instrumentality requiring the development of affordable housing.

Residential building. "Residential building" shall mean a structure or part thereof lawfully occupied in whole or part as the home, residence or sleeping place of one or more persons.

Room Count. "Room Count" shall be calculated in the following manner: Each dwelling unit with at least one room which either (i) contains no cooking facilities and measures at least one hundred and fifty (150) square feet, or (ii) contains cooking facilities and measures at least two hundred and thirty (230) square feet, shall count as two and one-half rooms. Every other room in the dwelling unit separated by either walls or doors, including bedrooms, shall count as an additional room, plus one-half room for a balcony, provided, however, that kitchens, cooking facilities, bathrooms or corridors shall not count as an additional room. To be included in the calculation of "room count," a room must meet the requirements of habitability as provided in Administrative Code §§27-746 and 27-751.

Single room occupancy. "Single room occupancy" shall mean occupancy in a multiple dwelling by one or more persons of a room or rooms either without a lawful kitchen or kitchenette or without a lawful bathroom or without separate means of egress for occupants thereof to the public areas of the multiple dwelling.

Substantial governmental assistance. "Substantial governmental assistance" shall mean grants, loans or subsidies provided to any building or buildings on the same zoning lot or, if only a portion of such zoning lot is being granted benefits pursuant to the Act, to any building or buildings on such portion of such zoning lot, by any federal, state or local agency or instrumentality pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing, provided that (1) as determined by the commissioner, each of the buildings on such zoning lot or portion thereof is part of the same project, (2) each of the buildings on such zoning lot or portion thereof is part of the same application for benefits pursuant to the Act, (3) the periods of construction and final real property tax exemption benefits granted pursuant to the Act for all of the buildings on such zoning lot or portion thereof being granted benefits pursuant to the Act shall commence simultaneously, and (4) no final real property tax exemption benefits shall be granted pursuant to the Act for any buildings on such zoning lot or any portion thereof being granted benefits pursuant to the Act until receipt of a certificate of occupancy or a temporary certificate of occupancy for the residential portions of the building or buildings on such zoning lot containing the units affordable to and occupied by or affordable to and available for occupancy by individuals or families whose incomes do not exceed a specified amount. Such subsidies may include allocations of low income housing tax credits and, in the discretion of the Department, below market sales or sales subject to evaporating purchase money mortgages by a federal, state or local agency or instrumentality, but shall not include permanent financing provided through the State of New York Mortgage Agency, purchase money mortgages, or mortgage insurance.

Written Agreement. "Written Agreement" shall mean a document issued by the Department pursuant to §6-08(l) of the Rules.

Zoning lot. "Zoning lot" shall mean a "zoning lot" as defined in §12-10 of the Zoning Resolution.

Zoning Resolution. "Zoning Resolution" shall mean the Zoning Resolution of the City of New York, as amended.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 8, 1996:

The rules are being promulgated pursuant to City Charter Section 1802(6) and in order to comply with the City Administrative Procedure Act. Section 421-a(3) of the Real Property Tax Law authorizes HPD to issue rules for the program. The amended rules deal with application deadlines and fees for declaratory rulings, conform the Rules to Chapter 692 of the Laws of 1995 and offer a new definition of "Commencement of Construction".

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 30, 1998: Section 421-a of the Real Property Tax Law authorizes the Department of Housing, Preservation and Development to promulgate rules governing tax exemption. The amended Rules note changes in the low income housing production aspect of 421-a.

3. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Dec. 10, 2004: Real Property Tax Law ("RPTL") §§421-a and 421-g both expressly state that hotels are not eligible for the respective tax exemption benefits. However, neither statute defines "hotel." Similarly, Administrative Code §11-243(r) provides for the withdrawal of J-51 benefits if a structure becomes operated exclusively for hotel use. The legislative history of RPTL §421-a indicates that the statute was enacted to address the housing shortage in New York City by encouraging new construction of safe and decent dwelling units. In other words, the statute was intended to encourage the new construction of rent regulated apartments for permanent residency, and it specifically excluded hotels. RPTL §489, as implemented by Administrative Code §11-243, was intended to encourage the rehabilitation of permanent housing. RPTL §421-g similarly was intended to encourage the conversion of nonresidential buildings to residential buildings for permanent residents in Lower Manhattan. Since none of the operative statutes defines "hotel", HPD has relied upon regulatory definitions that have not always been consistent. Furthermore, the term "hotel" is defined in a different manner in other sources of legal authority such as the Zoning Resolution, the Building Code and the Multiple Dwelling Law. The proposed amendments are intended to promote legislative intent by incorporating various types of transient occupancy into the regulatory definition of "hotel". Furthermore, the amendments will accomplish the added purpose of conforming the regulations that apply to the RPTL §421-a, RPTL §421-g and RPTL §489 (J-51) programs. The amendment to the definition of "Commencement of Conversion" contained in the 421-g rules conforms the provision to the extender enacted in RPTL §421-g by Chapter 261 of the Laws of 2000. The amendment to 28 RCNY §6-02(c)(7) conforms that provision to the local law provision contained in Administrative Code §11-245(c). In Local Law 42 of 2003, the City Council authorized projects in Manhattan located in FAR 15 zones to get 421-a benefits if they are commenced prior to December 1, 2007.

4. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 5, 2007: Section 421-a of the Real Property Tax Law has provided tax benefits for the construction of new residential buildings in the City of New York since 1971. Under Real Property Tax Law §421-a, new multiple dwellings that meet all of the statutory and regulatory requirements are eligible for a partial tax exemption that consists of up to three years of construction period benefits and 10, 15, 20 or 25 years of partial tax exemption after construction. One hundred percent of increases in assessed valuation are exempt from taxation during the construction period, and the regular benefit period does not commence until after the entire construction period benefits term has run. Currently, HPD cannot grant extensions for the filing of any applications for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility and can only grant extensions for the filing of applications for a Final Certificate of Eligibility to projects developed with substantial governmental assistance. HPD may currently grant extensions for the completion of applications for Final Certificates of Eligibility for good cause shown. For purposes of the application filing and completion deadlines, the rule amendments add a new definition of public project to incorporate buildings developed with substantial governmental assistance as well as buildings developed pursuant to a regulatory agreement with a Federal, state or local agency or instrumentality requiring the development of affordable housing. With this amendment, developments like inclusionary housing projects that do not get governmental grants, loans or subsidies, would be eligible for extensions that apply to other governmentally assisted projects. The rule amendments allow HPD to grant filing extensions of up to four years to such public projects for Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility and Final Certificate of Eligibility applications. These amendments are intended to avoid fiscal disasters at such projects and the attendant drain on public funds if their representatives fail to meet the appropriate deadlines. The rule amendments also allow HPD to grant filing extensions for Final Certificate of Eligibility applications of up to two years in the case of a building that is not a public project where the applicant has established that it reasonably relied upon the representations of third parties that the benefits of the Act would be available. HPD would retain the discretion for good cause shown to grant completion extensions for Final Certificate of Eligibility applications for all projects. The rule amendments also provide that Final Certificate of Eligibility applications must include evidence satisfactory to the Office of Tax Incentive Programs in a form approved by the Department that a rental building owner has registered the building and any occupied units with DHCR and, if the building is not fully occupied, an affidavit stating that the owner shall register the remaining units as they become occupied and submit proof of such registration upon the earlier to occur of occupancy of the last remaining unit or one year from the date of Completion of Construction. These provisions are intended to account for the fact that DHCR requires building owners to register rental units within 90 days of occupancy and not all RPTL §421-a rental buildings are rented up at the time that HPD is ready to issue a Final Certificate of Eligibility. By requiring such owners to provide proof of registration within a fixed time frame, HPD can ensure that the applicant is complying with RPTL §421-a's rent registration requirements.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-02 Eligibility.

(a) Eligibility. Partial tax exemption will only be granted to multiple dwellings which are eligible projects and which meet all the eligibility requirements of this section.

(b) Eligible projects. The tax benefits of the Act are available to:

(1) new multiple dwellings located outside the geographic exclusion area containing not less than three (3) dwelling units provided construction is commenced before December 31, 2007;

(2) new multiple dwellings located in the geographic exclusion area if the commencement of construction occurred on or before November 29, 1985 and if such building is completed no later than December 31, 2000 and only to the extent the building receives a permanent Certificate of Occupancy indicating that it was built pursuant to architectural, structural, and mechanical plans approved by the Department of Buildings on or before November 29, 1985; and

(3) new multiple dwellings located in the geographic exclusion area if the commencement of construction occurred after November 29, 1985 and before December 28, 2010, only if construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance or if affordable units are created in accordance with the requirements of §6-08 of this chapter.

(c) Ineligible projects. The tax benefits of the Act are not available to:

(1) Any building or structure which is receiving tax exemption and/or tax abatement under any other provision of state or local law for new construction, conversion or rehabilitation, including but not limited to, §§488-a and 489 of the Real Property Tax Law and §§11-243 and 11-244 of the Administrative Code, and Article 16 of the General Municipal Law; provided however, that if a building or structure is divided into condominium units, and a condominium unit within the building is entitled to receive permanent tax exemption under any statute under which exemption is granted based on the exempt status of the owner, the granting of such an exemption shall not prevent the remaining condominium unit or units from receiving §421-a exemption.

(2) Any multiple dwelling which results from the conversion or rehabilitation of any building or structure;

(3) Any building or portion thereof which after the completion of construction is used as a hotel, as that term is defined herein;

(4) Any building or portion thereof which after the completion of construction is used for single room occupancy, as that term is defined herein;

(5) Any multiple dwelling situated on land which is mapped as a public park provided, however, that this exclusion from eligibility for exemption shall not apply to any land which has been mapped as a public park but which, for a period of ten years or more after the date of such mapping, has not been acquired by the state or the city in which such land is located and with respect to which land the Department of Parks and Recreation has determined that such land is not required for public park purposes, and that such department has no intention of acquiring such land and that no funds have been allocated for such purpose;

(6) Any multiple dwelling situated on land which was utilized for ten or more consecutive years immediately prior to October first, nineteen hundred seventy-one as a "private park" as hereinafter defined. A private park is a privately owned zoning lot in a densely developed area having a minimum size of four thousand square feet, free of all developments and containing only trees, grass, benches, walkways and passive recreational facilities including structures incidental thereto which has been used and maintained during said period for such passive recreational activity by the general public without charge with the consent and participation of the owner thereof;

(7) Any multiple dwelling, or portion thereof, the construction of which commenced on or after November twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred eighty-five and which is located within any district in the county of New York where a maximum base floor area ratio, as that term is defined in the Zoning Resolution, of fifteen or greater was permitted as of right by provisions of such resolution in effect on April fourteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-two; provided, however, that this rule shall no longer be applicable to the extent to which such local law restriction is modified or repealed.

(8) Any multiple dwelling the footprint of which is located in whole or in part within any area in the county of New York designated by the Zoning Resolution in effect on the date of commencement of construction as either a manufacturing district or a mixed-use district except to the extent that such multiple dwellings in a mixed-use district could be constructed for residential purposes, as of right, pursuant to the Zoning Resolution, unless construction actually commenced prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-two; this restriction is in accordance with City policy of preservation of these districts for mainly non-residential purposes: provided, however, that this restriction shall not apply to multiple dwellings for which construction commenced after the effective date of these rules.

(9) For purposes of paragraphs (7) and (8) above, the obtaining of a variance or special permit to allow residential construction in a manufacturing or mixed-used district shall not render the newly constructed Class A multiple dwelling eligible for tax benefits under the Act. In addition, to the extent the zoning lot of a project includes any building or structure located in such non-eligible district that is not to be demolished, the partial tax exemption shall be reduced by an amount equal to the area of the portion of the zoning lot which is located in such ineligible area.

(10) Except for multiple dwellings qualifying for the benefits of the Act pursuant to §6-08 of this chapter:

(i) any project commenced, as that term is defined herein, after November 29, 1985 and before March 7, 2006

within the geographic exclusion area, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the bulkhead line in the Hudson River and 96th Street extended; thence easterly to 96th Street and continuing along 96th Street to its easterly terminus; thence easterly to the intersection of 96th Street extended and the bulkhead line in the East River; thence southerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 14th Street extended; thence westerly to 14th Street and continuing along 14th Street to Broadway; thence southerly along Broadway to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street to Thompson Street; thence southerly along Thompson Street to Spring Street; thence westerly along Spring Street to Avenue of the Americas; thence northerly along Avenue of the Americas to Vandam Street; thence westerly along Vandam Street to Varick Street; thence northerly along Varick Street to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of Houston Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 11th Avenue extended; thence northerly to 11th Avenue and continuing along 11th Avenue to 14th Street; thence easterly along 14th Street to 10th Avenue; thence northerly along 10th Avenue to 28th Street; thence easterly along 28th Street to 9th Avenue; thence northerly along 9th Avenue to 33rd Street; thence easterly along 33rd Street to 8th Avenue; thence northerly along 8th Avenue to 34th Street; thence easterly along 34th Street to 7th Avenue; thence northerly along 7th Avenue to 41st Street; thence westerly along 41st Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of 41st Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the place of beginning;

(ii) any project commenced, as that term is defined herein, on or after March 7, 2006 and before May 11, 2007 within the geographic exclusion area, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the bulkhead line in the Hudson River and 96th Street extended; thence easterly to 96th Street and continuing along 96th Street to its easterly terminus; thence easterly to the intersection of 96th Street extended and the bulkhead line in the East River; thence southerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 14th Street extended; thence westerly to 14th Street and continuing along 14th Street to Broadway; thence southerly along Broadway to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street to Thompson Street; thence southerly along Thompson Street to Spring Street; thence westerly along Spring Street to Avenue of the Americas; thence northerly along Avenue of the Americas to Vandam Street; thence westerly along Vandam Street to Varick Street; thence northerly along Varick Street to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of Houston Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 11th Avenue extended; thence northerly to 11th Avenue and continuing along 11th Avenue to 14th Street; thence easterly along 14th Street to 10th Avenue; thence northerly along 10th Avenue to 30th Street; thence westerly along 30th Street to 11th Avenue; thence northerly along 11th Avenue to 41st Street; thence westerly along 41st Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of 41st Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the place of beginning; or

(iii) any project commenced, as that term is defined herein, on or after May 11, 2007 and before July 1, 2008 within the geographic exclusion area, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the bulkhead line in the Hudson River and 96th Street extended; thence easterly to 96th Street and continuing along 96th Street to its easterly terminus; thence easterly to the intersection of 96th Street extended and the bulkhead line in the East River; thence southerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 14th Street extended; thence westerly to 14th Street and continuing along 14th Street to Broadway; thence southerly along Broadway to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street to Thompson Street; thence southerly along Thompson Street to Spring Street; thence westerly along Spring Street to Avenue of the Americas; thence northerly along Avenue of the Americas to Vandam Street; thence westerly along Vandam Street to Varick Street; thence northerly along Varick Street to Houston Street; thence westerly along Houston Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of Houston Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the intersection of said bulkhead line and 30th Street extended; thence easterly along 30th Street to 11th Avenue; thence northerly along 11th Avenue to 41st Street; thence westerly along 41st Street and continuing to its westerly terminus; thence westerly to the intersection of 41st Street extended and the bulkhead line in the Hudson River; thence northerly along said bulkhead line to the place of beginning; or

(iv) any project commenced on or after July 1, 2008 within the geographic exclusion area as defined pursuant to §6-09 of this chapter except as otherwise provided in such §6-09.

(d) Duration of exemption. Eligible buildings may receive a ten, fifteen, twenty or twenty-five year tax exemption, as described herein. In order to qualify for such benefits, the multiple dwelling must meet the eligibility requirements described below for each level of exemption.

(1) Only the ten year exemption is available to buildings located within the geographic exclusion area described in §6-02(c)(10), above, and such buildings shall be eligible to receive such benefits only if each building meets one of the following conditions: (i) construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance, or

(ii) the Department has imposed a requirement or has certified pursuant to §6-08 herein that 20 percent (20%) of the units are affordable to persons of low and moderate income, or

(iii) pursuant to an agreement with the Department, in conformity with the requirements of §6-08 herein, housing units affordable to persons of low and moderate income are either newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated off-site.

(2) The ten year exemption is available to buildings located outside the geographic exclusion area but in Manhattan on tax lots south of or adjacent to either side of 110th Street, the construction of which commenced on or after July 1, 1985, except that the fifteen year exemption shall be available to such buildings if:

(i) construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance; or

(ii) the Department has imposed a requirement or has certified pursuant to herein that 20 percent (20%) of the units are affordable to persons of low and moderate income.

(3) The fifteen year exemption is available to buildings located in the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Staten Island and in Manhattan north of 110th Street, the construction of which commenced on or after July 1, 1985, unless such multiple dwellings are eligible for the twenty-five year exemption described in (5) below.

(4) The twenty year exemption is available in the borough of Manhattan for buildings on tax lots now existing or hereafter created south of or adjacent to either side of one hundred tenth street which commenced construction after July 1, 1992 and before December 28, 2010, only if:

(i) construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance; or

(ii) the Department has imposed a requirement or has certified pursuant to §6-08 herein that 20 percent (20%) of the units are affordable to families of low and moderate income.

(5) The twenty-five year exemption is available to buildings located in the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Staten Island or Manhattan north of 110th Street, the construction of which commenced on or after July 1, 1985, if the multiple dwelling:

(i) is located in one of the following areas:

(A) Neighborhood Preservation Program Areas as determined by the Department as of June 1, 1985, or

(B) Neighborhood Preservation Areas as determined by the New York City Planning Commission as of June 1, 1985, or

(C) an area eligible for mortgage insurance provided by the Rehabilitation Mortgage Insurance Corporation (REMIC) as of May 1, 1992, or

(D) an area receiving funding for a neighborhood preservation project pursuant to the Neighborhood Reinvestment Corporation Act (42 U.S.C. §180 et seq.) as of June 1, 1985, or

(ii) meets one of the following conditions:

(A) is constructed with substantial governmental assistance, or

(B) is a building where the Department has imposed a requirement or has certified that 20 percent (20%) of the units contained in that multiple dwelling are affordable to persons of low and moderate income, exclusive of those units created pursuant to §6-08 herein.

(e) Construction requirements. To be eligible for partial tax exemption, a multiple dwelling must meet the following requirements:

(1) It shall contain at all times not less than the number of dwelling units specified in §6-02(b)(1). A multiple dwelling containing the requisite number of dwelling units may include: garden type maisonette dwelling projects containing a series of attached dwelling units which are provided as a group collectively with all essential services such as, but not limited to, water supply and house sewers, and which units are located on a site or plot under common ownership, including ownership as a condominium; and buildings erected at the same time with common exterior walls, provided that in each case such buildings are operated as a unit under a single ownership, notwithstanding that Certificates of Occupancy were issued by the Department of Buildings for separate portions thereof covering less than the requisite number of units.

(2) If a multiple dwelling contains more than one hundred dwelling units, not less than ten percent of the dwelling units in such multiple dwelling shall contain at least four and one-half rooms and, in addition, not less than fifteen percent shall contain at least three and one-half rooms. The number of rooms in a dwelling unit shall be computed in accordance with the definition of "room count" contained in subdivision (c) of §6-01 of this chapter. Those units consisting of four and one-half rooms or more, to the extent that they comprise ten percent of all units in the multiple dwelling, shall not be included as part of the units which must contain three and one-half rooms, comprising a total of fifteen percent of all the units in the multiple dwelling. This room count requirement may be waived in writing at the discretion of the Department:

(i) where the multiple dwelling is to provide housing for the elderly; or

(ii) upon the filing of adequate documentation from which the Department determines that compliance with the room count requirement would impose an undue and unreasonable economic hardship. The necessity of alteration of existing construction shall not in itself be deemed such a hardship.

(3) If construction of a new multiple dwelling commences on or after August 1, 1981 and such construction takes place on land which, immediately prior to the commencement of construction, was improved with a residential building or buildings that have since been substantially demolished, and the new building or buildings contain more than twenty dwelling units, then such new building or buildings shall contain at least five dwelling units for each Class A dwelling unit in existence immediately prior to the demolition preceding construction. The calculation of the ratio of new to old units shall be made based on the entire site included in the 421-a application. For purposes of this paragraph, "immediately prior to the commencement of construction" shall be deemed to be a date which is one month prior to the commencement of construction.

(f) Site requirements. (1) To be eligible for partial tax exemption, the land upon which an eligible project is located must have been vacant, predominantly vacant, under-utilized, or improved with a non-conforming use on the operative date. The operative date shall be:

(i) thirty-six months prior to the commencement of construction, if construction commences on or after August 1, 1981; or

(ii) October 1, 1971, if construction commenced before August, 1981.

(2) If only part of the land upon which an otherwise eligible project is located satisfies the requirement set forth in paragraph (1), above, or if only part of a building or structure on said land would satisfy that requirement, partial tax exemption shall be available in accordance with the following formula:

(i) If fifty-one percent (51%) or more of the area of the land satisfies the requirement set forth above, then the partial tax exemption shall be reduced by an amount equal to the percent of the area of the site which does not satisfy that requirement;

(ii) If less than fifty-one percent (51%) of the area of the land satisfies the requirement set forth above, then the entire site is ineligible for partial tax exemption hereunder.

(3) Definitions. For the purpose of this subdivision (f), the following definitions are applicable:

Actual Assessed Valuation. "Actual assessed valuation" shall mean the assessed valuation of a tax lot without reference to §1805(3) of the Real Property Tax Law.

Land improved with a non-conforming use. "Land improved with a nonconforming use" is defined in the same manner as that term was defined in the Zoning Resolution in effect on the operative date.

Predominantly vacant. "Predominantly vacant" land is a plot of land on which not more than fifteen percent (15%) of the lot area contained enclosed, permanent, improvements. Fences, sheds, garage attendant's booths, pier bulkheads, lighting fixtures and similar items, or any improvement having an Actual Assessed Value of less than $2,000 shall not constitute an enclosed, permanent improvement.

Under-utilized. "Under-utilized" land is land or space which was under-utilized by virtue of the fact that:

(A) It was improved with a residential building or buildings

(a) whose room count in occupied dwelling units numbered not more than seventy percent of the room count in dwelling units in the new building or buildings; or

(b) whose aggregate floor area was no greater than seventy percent of the aggregate floor area of the new building or buildings.

(c) provided, however, that buildings commenced prior to the effective date of these rules shall be governed by the rules in effect at the time of commencement.

(B) It consisted of air rights above a public roadway, waterway, railroad right of way, public buildings, or other similar property used by the general public, provided that the public building was used by the general public on the operative date and continues to be so used and classified after the completion of the eligible construction, and provided further that "public building" shall mean structures or parts of structures in which persons congregate for civic, political, educational, religious or recreational purposes, or in which persons are harbored to receive medical, charitable or other care or treatment, or in which persons are held or detained by reason of public or civic duty, or for correctional purposes, including among others, court houses, schools, colleges, libraries, museums, exhibition buildings, lecture halls, churches, assembly halls, lodge rooms, club houses with more than five sleeping rooms, dance halls, theatres, bath houses, hospitals, asylums, armories, fire houses, police stations, jails and passenger depots; or

(C) Construction commenced on or after November 29, 1985 and before May 12, 2000 on land that was improved with a non-residential building or buildings

(a) each of which contained:

(1) no more than the permissible floor area ratio for non-residential buildings in the zoning district in question, and

(2) a floor area ratio which was twenty percent (20%) or less of the maximum floor area ratio for residential buildings for such zoning district, or

(b) each of which had an actual assessed valuation equal to or less than twenty percent (20%) of the actual assessed valuation of the land on which the building or buildings were situated, or

(c) which, by reason of the building's configuration or substantial structural defects not brought about by deferred maintenance practices or intentional conduct, could no longer be functionally or economically utilized, on the operative date, in the capacity in which it was formerly utilized.

(D) Except as provided in subparagraph (E) of this paragraph, commencement of construction occurred on or after May 12, 2000 and before October 30, 2002 on land that was improved with a non-residential building or buildings

(a) each of which contained:

(1) no more than the permissible floor area ratio for non-residential buildings in the zoning district in question, and

(2) a floor area ratio which was seventy-five percent (75%) or less of the maximum floor area ratio for residential buildings for such zoning district, or

(b) each of which had an actual assessed valuation equal to or less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the actual assessed valuation of the land on which the building or buildings were situated, or

(c) which, by reason of the building's configuration, or substantial structural defects not brought about by deferred maintenance practices or intentional conduct, could no longer be functionally or economically utilized, on the operative date, in the capacity in which it was formerly utilized.

(E) Commencement of construction occurred on or after May 12, 2000 and before October 30, 2002 on a tax lot now existing or hereafter created which is located south of or adjacent to either side of 110th Street in the borough of Manhattan and on land that was improved with a non-residential building or buildings

(a) each of which contained:

(1) no more than the permissible floor area ratio for non-residential buildings in the zoning district in question, and

(2) a floor area ratio which was fifty percent (50%) or less of the maximum floor area ratio for residential buildings in such zoning district, or

(b) each of which had an actual assessed valuation equal to or less than fifty percent (50%) of the actual assessed valuation of the land on which the building or buildings were situated, or

(c) which, by reason of the building's configuration, or substantial structural defects not brought about by deferred maintenance practices or intentional conduct, could no longer be functionally or economically utilized, on the operative date, in the capacity in which it was formerly utilized.

(F) Except as provided in subparagraph (G) of this paragraph, commencement of construction occurred on or after

October 30, 2002 on land that was improved with a nonresidential building or buildings

(a) each of which contained:

(1) no more than the permissible floor area ratio for non-residential buildings in the zoning district in question, and

(2) (i) a floor area ratio which was seventy-five percent (75%) or less of the maximum floor area ratio for residential buildings in such zoning district, or (ii) if the land was not zoned to permit residential use on the operative date, had a floor area ratio which was seventy-five percent (75%) or less of the floor area ratio of the residential building which replaces such non-residential building; or

(b) each of which had an actual assessed valuation equal to or less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the actual assessed valuation of the land on which the building or buildings were situated, or

(c) which, by reason of the building's configuration, or substantial structural defects not brought about by deferred maintenance practices or intentional conduct, could no longer be functionally or economically utilized, on the operative date, in the capacity in which it was formerly utilized.

(G) Commencement of construction occurred on or after October 30, 2002 on a tax lot now existing or hereafter created which is located south of or adjacent to either side of 110th Street in the borough of Manhattan and on land that was improved with a non-residential building or buildings

(a) each of which contained:

(1) no more than the permissible floor area ratio for non-residential buildings in the zoning district in question, and

(2) (i) a floor area ratio which was fifty percent (50%) or less of the maximum floor area ratio for residential buildings in such zoning district, or (ii) if the land was not zoned to permit residential use on the operative date, had a floor area ratio which was fifty percent (50%) or less of the floor area ratio of the residential building which replaces such non-residential building; or

(b) each of which had an actual assessed valuation equal to or less than fifty percent (50%) of the actual assessed valuation of the land on which the building or buildings were situated, or

(c) which, by reason of the building's configuration, or substantial structural defects not brought about by deferred maintenance practices or intentional conduct, could not longer be functionally or economically utilized, on the operative date, in the capacity in which it was formerly utilized.

Vacant. "Vacant" land is land, including land under water, which contains no enclosed, permanent improvement. Fences, sheds, garage attendant's booths, piers, bulkheads, lighting fixtures, and similar items, or any improvement having an Actual Assessed Value of less than $2,000 shall not constitute an enclosed, permanent improve- ment.

(g) Rent regulatory requirements. To be eligible for partial tax exemption the land upon which the eligible project is located must meet the following letting, rental and occupancy requirements:

(1) If a building which, on December 31, 1974, contained more than twenty-five occupied dwelling units administered under the City Rent and Rehabilitation Law, the Rent Stabilization Law of nineteen hundred sixty-nine, or the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of nineteen hundred seventy-four, is displaced, or any unit therein is displaced, the new multiple dwelling will be eligible for partial tax exemption only if a Certificate of Eviction was issued for at least one dwelling unit in the displaced building. If only one unit is displaced as the result of eligible construction, the Certificate of Eviction must pertain to that displaced unit. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the sale, transfer or utilization of air rights over residential buildings which were not demolished shall not be construed as a displacement within the purview of this subdivision (g).

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of any local law for the stabilization of rents in multiple dwellings or the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974, the rents of a unit shall be fully subject to regulation under such local law or such Act, unless exempt under such local law or such act from regulation by reason of the cooperative or condominium status of the unit, for the entire period during which the property is receiving tax benefits pursuant to the Act, or for the period any such applicable local law or such Act is in effect, whichever is shorter. Thereafter, such rents shall continue to be subject to such regulation to the same extent and in the same manner as if this subdivision (g) had never applied thereto, except that for dwelling units in buildings completed, as that term is defined herein, on or after January 1, 1974, such rents shall be deregulated if:

(i) with respect to dwelling units located in multiple dwellings completed after January 1, 1974 such unit becomes vacant after the expiration of the lease for the unit in effect when such benefit period or applicable law or Act expires, provided, however, such unit shall not be deregulated if the Commissioner of the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal or a court of competent jurisdiction finds the unit became vacant because the owner thereof or any person acting on his or her behalf engaged in any course of conduct, including but not limited to, interruption or discontinuance of essential services which interfered with or disturbed or was intended to interfere with or disturb the comfort, repose, peace or quiet of the tenant in his use or occupancy of such unit, and that upon such finding in addition to being subject to any other penalties or remedies permitted by law, the owner of such unit shall be barred from collecting rent for such unit in excess of that charged to the tenant, if the tenant so desires, in which case the rent of such tenant shall be established as if such tenant had not vacated such unit, or compliance with such other remedy, including, but not limited to, all remedies provided for by the emergency tenant protection act of nineteen seventy-four for rent overcharge or failure to comply with any order of the Commissioner of the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal, as shall be determined by said Commissioner to be appropriate; provided, however, that if a tenant fails to accept any such offer of restoration of possession, such unit shall return to rent stabilization at the previously regulated rent.

(ii) with respect to dwelling units located in multiple dwellings with became subject to the rent stabilization provisions of the Act on or after July 1, 1984, the lease for the unit expires after such tax benefit period expires, provided that each lease and renewal thereof for such unit for the tenant entitled to a lease at the time of such deregulation contained a notice in at least twelve (12) point type informing such tenant that the unit shall be subject to deregulation upon the expiration of such benefit period and stated the approximate date on which such benefit period was expected to expire. If each lease and renewal thereof has not contained such notice, a unit covered by such lease shall be subject to subdivision (i) above even though it became subject to the rent stabilization provisions of the Act on or after July 1, 1984. This subdivision (ii) shall not apply to any unit in any multiple dwelling which was subject to the rent stabilization provisions of the Act prior to July 1, 1984, notwithstanding any contrary provision in any lease or renewal thereof.

(3) Notwithstanding paragraph (2) above, dwelling units in multiple dwellings owned as cooperatives or condominiums which are exempt from such provisions of law shall not be required to be subject to the provisions of law set forth in that paragraph (2) during the time period specified therein. Newly created dwelling units in a building for which a prospectus for condominium or cooperative formation has been submitted to the Attorney General at the time of application for benefits to the Office, shall not be required to be registered with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal, provided that an affidavit has been filed with the Office stating that the sponsor will register the building and all units as they become occupied, with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal within fifteen months from the date of issuance of a Final Certificate of Eligibility if a cooperative or condominium plan has not been declared effective by that time.

(4) The offering by the owner to all tenants in rental dwelling units in the multiple dwelling, of an initial lease of at least two years; unless the dwelling unit's rent is regulated by local laws, such as §26-401 of the Administrative Code, which do not provide for the offering of leases for fixed terms. This requirement shall not preclude a shorter lease where requested by the tenant, or where a lease of at least two years is specifically prohibited by the terms of a Department of Housing and Urban Development regulatory agreement for an insured subsidized project, or where, through foreclosure, title to a building eligible for partial tax exemption pursuant to the Act is held subsequently by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

(5) No lease for dwelling units subject to the Rent Stabilization Law or Emergency Tenant Protection Act which are registered with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal shall contain escalation clauses for real estate taxes or any other provisions for increasing the rent set forth in the lease other than permitting an increase in rent pursuant to an order of the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal or the Rent Guidelines Board; or an increase of 2.2 percent pursuant to §6-04(b) of this chapter.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 18, 2003:

The State Legislature recently enacted Chapter 349 of the Laws of 2002, which extends the benefits of Real Property Tax Law §421-a from construction commenced before December 31, 2003 to construction commenced before December 31, 2007. Conforming amendments need to be made to HPD's rules governing the Real Property Tax Law §421-a program. In addition, the City Council recently enacted local law number 29 for the year 2002. This local law provides an alternative to the second part of the underutilization site eligibility test for sites improved with a non-residential building on the Operative Date that were not then zoned to permit residential use. Such sites will instead have to demonstrate that the non-residential building on the site on the Operative Date had a floor area ratio of less than or equal to 75% (or 50% in the case of tax lots south of or adjacent to 110th Street in Manhattan) of the new residential building replacing it. Again, the amendments to HPD's §421-a rules conform to this legislative change. Recent amendments to the New York City Zoning Resolution have left HPD without a method of calculating the initial two and one-half rooms under the definition of "room count" contained in Real Property Tax Law §421-a(1)(d). By amending the definition of "room count," the rule change would fill this void and no statutory amendment would be necessary. The remaining amendments relating to "room count" are for conforming purposes to ensure that the method of calculating rooms provided in the new "room count" definition is utilized for all of the relevant purposes.

RPTL §421-a(2)(c)(iii) provides that "in the event that, immediately prior to the commencement of new construction, such land was improved with a residential building or buildings that have since been substantially demolished, and the new building or buildings contain more than twenty dwelling units, then such new construction shall contain at least five dwelling units for each class A dwelling unit in existence immediately prior to the demolition preceding construction." The amendment to 28 RCNY §6-02(e)(3) would make the rule more consistent with the statutory provision. Finally, the RPTL §421-a Affordable Housing Program enables new multiple dwellings in the Geographic Exclusion Area to receive RPTL §421-a tax benefits through the purchase of negotiable certificates. These negotiable certificates are generated by the off-site construction, conversion or substantial rehabilitation of affordable units. The developers of these affordable units must submit a request for a written agreement with HPD. This request must be accompanied by certain documents that HPD must approve and which will thereafter be incorporated into this written agreement, known as "The 421-a Written Agreement for Creation of Affordable Housing." The amendment to 28 RCNY §6-08(l)(15) will require that HPD also approve a document that developers already have been required to submit: a financial statement describing the proposed sources and uses of all funds for the project.

§6-03 Local Community Planning Board Review.

(a) Submission of application to local community board. An applicant for partial tax exemption pursuant to the Act whose project contains more than twenty dwelling units shall send a complete copy of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility and supporting papers by certified mail or hand delivery to the local Community Planning Board for the area in which such project is located within ten days of submission of the application to the Department. A copy of the receipt shall be hand delivered or mailed to the Department for annexation to the application no later than ten days after the date appearing on such receipt.

(b) Standards for review. The local Community Board shall have a forty-five day period after receipt of such application and supporting papers to file objections with the Department as to the applicant's eligibility for partial tax exemption hereunder. Such objections, if any, may only be based upon an applicant's eligibility under subdivision two of §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law or the applicant's failure to comply with the eligibility requirements in §6-02 of these regulations. The local Community Board may, in its own discretion and within the forty-five day period, hold a public hearing to determine whether any objections as to eligibility should be filed. Nothing contained in this section shall preclude a final determination of ineligibility of an applicant by the Department prior to the expiration of the forty-five day period.

(c) Notification to community board. In the event the local Community Board files objections, the Department shall make a determination thereon and notify such Community Board within forty-five days after receipt of the objections.

(d) Review of projects containing more than one hundred fifty dwelling units. Where a project contains more than one hundred fifty dwelling units, the local Community Board may, within thirty days of the receipt of a copy of an applicant's notification, request the Department to hold a public hearing solely on the question of the applicant's eligibility under subdivision two of §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law or the applicant's failure to comply with the eligibility requirements in §6-02 of this chapter. If such request is made, the Department shall hold a hearing before the Commissioner or other person or persons whom he or she may designate, make a determination, and notify the Community Board within forty-five days after such hearing.

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-04 Determination of Initial Rent; Rent Increases.

(a) Determining the initial adjusted monthly rent and the comparative adjusted monthly rent for rental dwelling units. No certification of eligibility shall be issued by the Department until the Department determines the initial adjusted monthly rent to be paid by tenants residing in rental dwelling units contained within the multiple dwelling. Except for affordable units, the initial adjusted monthly rent is determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (3) below.

(1) The total expenses of the multiple dwelling shall be determined by the Department in order to calculate the initial adjusted monthly rent. Total expenses shall mean the annual total of the following:

(i) An amount for the annual cost of operation and maintenance, as established pursuant to the Annual Schedule of Reasonable Costs; plus,

(ii) An amount for vacancies, contingency reserves and management fees as established pursuant to the Annual Schedule of Reasonable Costs; plus,

(iii) Projected real property taxes to be levied on the multiple dwelling and the land on which it is situated at the time of estimated initial occupancy; plus,

(iv) Fourteen percent of the total project cost, as determined pursuant to §6-05(b)(1)(i) and the Annual Schedule of Reasonable Costs, which amount will include debt service; less,

(v) The estimated annual income to be derived from any Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facilities, and Accessory Use Space in the multiple dwelling.

(2) The adjusted monthly rent per room shall be determined by the Department by dividing the total expenses as determined pursuant to paragraph (1) above by twelve (12) and then dividing that amount by the Room Count as defined in subdivision (c) of §6-01 of this chapter; i.e.,

Total Expenses 12	=	Total Monthly Expenses	Total Monthly Expenses Room Count	=	Adjusted Monthly Rent Per Room

(3) The The initial adjusted monthly rent for each dwelling unit shall be determined by the Department by multiplying the adjusted monthly rent per room to be determined pursuant to paragraph (2) above by the Room Count, as defined in subdivision (c) of §6-01 of this chapter, of each rental dwelling unit. Adjustments to the initial adjusted monthly rent per room to be determined pursuant to paragraph (2) above by the Room Count, as defined in subdivision (c) of §6-01 of this chapter, of each rental dwelling unit. Adjustments to the initial adjusted monthly rent for any dwelling unit may be allowed by the Department provided that the total of the rentals charged in the multiple dwelling do not exceed the total expenses of such multiple dwelling, as determined pursuant to paragraph (1) above; i.e.,

Adjusted Monthly Rent Per Room × Room Count Per Dwelling Unit	=	Initial Adjusted Monthly Rent for Such Dwelling Unit

(b) Rent increases. The owner of a multiple dwelling receiving partial tax exemption may insert in each lease to be effective during the period of gradual diminution of tax exemption, as defined in §6-06(e) of this chapter, a provision for an annual rent increase over the initial adjusted monthly rental at a rate not to exceed 2.2 percent per annum on the anniversary date of the first lease for the unit provided, however, that no increase shall be permitted pursuant to this subdivision (b) unless specifically provided for in each affected lease, and provided further that no more than one such increase per unit may be charged or collected in each given year regardless of the number of lease renewals or new leases which may pertain to that unit. The initial 2.2 percent escalation and all subsequent escalations shall be based solely on the actual rental amount in effect (regardless of whether the legal regulated rent may be greater) at the commencement of the period during which the increase may be charged and shall not be compounded from year to year but rather shall remain constant based on said rent. In addition, the increase shall be independent of any other escalation authorized by the Rent Guidelines Board and shall not be considered or included when a Rent Guidelines Board increase is effected, making the latter increase effective upon the base rent, excluding the 2.2 percent escalation. The maximum increase permitted by this subdivision (b) is 19.8 percent over the actual rental amount in effect at the commencement of the period during which the increase may be charged. The maximum increase permitted by this subdivision (b) may be charged in each year following the expiration of the tax benefit period, but shall not exceed 19.8 percent, or that amount charged in the last year of the exemption period, and shall not become part of the base rent.

(c) Annual rent schedule. Each year the owner shall make available to the Office a schedule of rents for each unit in the building.

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-05 Application Procedure; Documentation.

(a) Application forms. All prescribed forms and applications must be obtained from the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Office of Tax Incentive Programs, 3rd Floor, 150 William Street, New York, New York 10038. All applications shall be submitted to the Department on such form or forms as shall be prescribed by the Department. Only applications complete in all detail shall be considered for a Certificate of Eligibility. All forms must be filled out fully and legibly by the applicant and shall be typewritten or inscribed in permanent ink.

(b) Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility; documentation. An application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility must be made to the Office after the commencement of construction but prior to the issuance of either a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy for all residential areas or a Permanent Certificate of Occupancy. For a public project, the Department may grant an extension of up to four years for filing the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility. The application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall consist of an affidavit in the form required by the Office and shall include the following:

(1) A sworn statement by the owner (if the owner is other than an individual, the statement must be certified by the chief executive officer or managing partner of the owner), together with certifications by certified public accountants, appraisers, engineers and architects where required by this chapter, attesting to the accuracy of information provided to the Department concerning the eligibility of a project under §6-02 of this chapter and the initial adjusted monthly rent required by the Act for each rental dwelling unit contained within the multiple dwelling. This sworn statement shall include, as a minimum, a statement of the following:

(i) Total project cost of the newly constructed building and a breakdown of the costs:

(A) Land acquisition cost or purchase price shall be certified to by an independent certified public accountant or by an appraisal of value of the land and any improvements thereon prepared by an independent appraiser found to be qualified by the Department if the land was purchased more than two years prior to the date of the commencement of construction or in the event that the land was obtained by other than purchase; provided further that in the event the land is leased and not purchased, rent attributable to the development period shall be included in total project cost.

(B) Site preparation costs not covered by an appraisal in subparagraph (A) above shall be certified to by an affidavit from a licensed architect or engineer on a date not more than ninety days prior to the filing of an application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility, and an estimate of the balance of such costs to be incurred prepared by such a licensed engineer or architect. The application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility shall contain a statement of all site preparation costs incurred, which shall be certified to by an independent certified public accountant. Site preparation costs may include, but are not limited to, costs expended to demolish structures. Site preparation costs may also include relocation expenses, which may be independently certified to by the owner or applicant;

(C) A good faith estimate of construction costs as well as an estimate prepared by a licensed engineer of any abnormal, unique or special foundation costs which may be incurred;

(D) An allowance for off-site costs, including but not limited to legal, engineering, and architectural fees, insurance, interest and taxes during construction, title and mortgage fees;

(E) Specific other amounts which would ordinarily and customarily be incurred in connection with the construction of an eligible project.

(ii) Compliance with eligibility requirements including:

(A) Statement of the conditions of the site as of thirty-six months prior to the commencement of construction, or as of October 1, 1971, as required by this chapter, along with sufficient documentation to demonstrate the conditions of the site to the satisfaction of the Department;

(B) A statement of the number of occupied dwelling units in existence on the site on December 31, 1974;

(C) A statement, if the construction is to include more than twenty dwelling units, that the building will provide no less than five Class A dwelling units for each Class A dwelling unit in existence on the site immediately prior to the commencement of new construction; as required by this chapter;

(D) A statement that the new multiple dwelling will contain not less than three dwelling units;

(E) A statement that not less than ten percent of the dwelling units in the new multiple dwelling will contain at least four and one-half rooms and that no less than fifteen percent of such dwelling units will contain at least three and one-half rooms, as determined pursuant to §6-02(d) hereof, if the multiple dwelling is to contain more than one hundred dwelling units, unless such requirements are waived in writing by the Department;

(F) The submission to the Department of one set of plans approved by the Department of Buildings, as evidenced by a seal of the Department of Buildings thereon or an architect's affidavit that such plans are so approved.

(G) If construction commenced on or before November 29, 1985, sufficient documentation to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Department the condition of the site on November 29, 1985.

(H) If construction commenced after November 29, 1985 and is located within the geographic exclusion area,

(a) written certification by the Department in accordance with §6-08 herein, that 20 percent (20%) of the units contained in that building will be affordable to persons of low and moderate income; or

(b) written certification by the Department, in accordance with §6-08 herein, that construction is being carried out with substantial governmental assistance; or

(c) a copy of a written agreement with the Department for the construction or substantial rehabilitation of housing units affordable to persons of low and moderate income on another site, such agreement expressly providing that the creation of said units is intended to meet the requirements of §6-08 herein; or,

(d) Negotiable Certificates issued pursuant to §6-08, herein, evidencing the bearer's entitlement to the benefits of the Act for the units for which the applicant is seeking tax benefits.

(iii) The date upon which it is estimated that initial occupancy will commence.

(2) A statement of intention that the owner will register all rental units with the New York State Department of Housing and Community Renewal prior to initial occupancy and will offer initial leases of not less than two years to tenants of such stabilized units, or such shorter term as the tenant requests, or a statement that the multiple dwelling is to be owned as a cooperative or condominium.

(3) A certified copy of a Certificate of Eviction, if required by §6-02(f) herein.

(4) A schedule of proposed initial rents for each rental dwelling unit in the building. No requests for revision of this schedule will be considered once a Final Certificate of Eligibility has been issued for the building in question.

(c) Filing fees. A non-refundable deposit toward a non-refundable filing fee for each multiple dwelling for which application is made for benefits hereunder shall be paid at the time of the filing of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility. The deposit shall be in the amount of one hundred ($100) dollars and shall form part of the non-refundable filing fee of four-tenths (4/10) of one percent (.4%) of the total project cost as determined pursuant to §6-05(b) herein, or four-tenths (4/10) of one percent (.4%) of the total project sell-out price, if the building will be owned as a cooperative or condominium, as stated in the last amendment to the offering plan accepted for filing by the New York State Attorney General, at the option of the applicant, less any fees paid to the Department pursuant to §6-08(k)(3), herein, which resulted in the issuance of a written agreement. Payment of the balance of this fee shall be made no later than ninety days after approval of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility. If payment is not made within such time, a late fee of an additional one-tenth (1/10) of one percent (.1%) of the total project cost, as determined pursuant to §6-05(b) herein shall be charged. In no event shall any Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility be issued prior to full payment of all filing fees deemed by the Department to be outstanding.

These fees shall apply to all applications where the first Certificate of Eligibility, for such application, whether Preliminary or Final, is issued after the effective date of these rules. All other applications shall be subject to the fees defined by the rules in effect immediately prior to promulgation of these rules.

Payment shall be made by a certified or cashier's check payable to the Commissioner of the Department of Finance of the City of New York. If the application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility includes an increase in the amount of the total project cost, an additional filing fee shall be paid based upon such increase in the total project cost as is approved by the Department.

(d) Final Certificate of Eligibility: documentation. (1) The owner must file an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility which shall consist of an affidavit in the form required by the Commissioner and shall include the following:

(i) A sworn statement of the actual total project cost of the newly constructed building. Such actual project cost may be approved by the Department as the total project cost of such building provided all of the items comprising such actual total project cost are certified to by a certified public accountant licensed by the State of New York, and further provided that such actual total project cost does not exceed the specific costs determined by the Department pursuant to its promulgated Annual Schedule, plus any allowable abnormal, unique or special foundation costs which may be incurred. In the event that costs relating to commercial portions of the building are incomplete, an estimate of such costs may be accepted tentatively by the Office, provided a supplemental accountant's certification is provided after such costs have been determined. If additional fees are owed on the basis of such supplemental certification, benefits are subject to revocation if the fees are not paid. Where such costs differ from the original cost certification filed with the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility, such sworn statement shall include

(A) the difference in costs, and

(B) the reason or basis for such difference in costs;

(ii) A revised schedule of proposed initial rents, if any, containing any modification of the original schedule filed with the application for a Preliminary Certificate, for each rental dwelling unit in the building. No requests for revision to this schedule will be considered once a Final Certificate of Eligibility has been issued for the building in question;

(iii) (A) Evidence satisfactory to the Office in a form approved by the Department that the owner of rental dwelling units has registered the building and any occupied units with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal, and, if the building is not fully occupied, an affidavit stating that the owner shall register all remaining units as they become occupied and shall submit proof of such registration of all remaining units in a form approved by the Department upon the earlier to occur of (1) the occupancy of the last remaining unit, or (2) one year from the date of Completion of Construction; or (B) if the project is to be owned and operated as a cooperative or a condominium, a statement by the owner that if the prospective cooperative or condominium plan has not been declared effective for filing at a time fifteen months after the issuance of a Final Certificate of Eligibility, such owner will register these rental units with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal no later than fifteen calendar days after such fifteen month period.

(iv) A statement of the date of completion of the building.

(v) If construction commenced after November 29, 1985 within the geographic exclusion area, and construction was not carried out with substantial governmental assistance, a copy of the Written Agreement and proof of compliance with the requirements of §6-08 herein, including a Permanent Certificate of Occupancy for all new or substantially rehabilitated units or a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy for the entire residential portion of a building or buildings located outside the geographic exclusion area which was constructed or rehabilitated pursuant to an agreement with the Department to qualify the building located within the geographic exclusion area for the benefits of the Act. Proof of compliance shall include the requisite number of Negotiable Certificates in accordance with the ratios set forth in §6-08(b).

(vi) In the event that through no fault of the applicant, and due to unforeseen circumstances which are beyond the control of the applicant, construction of the off-site units which was promptly commenced and has been diligently proceeding has not been completed before the completion of the building applying for benefits pursuant to the Act, the Department, in its sole discretion, may permit the applicant to submit a Letter of Credit equal to 150 percent of the Department approved estimate of the cost of completing the off-site units. The written agreement with the Department will be amended to provide a new completion date, after which the Department shall have the authority to use the proceeds of the Letter of Credit to complete the construction.

(vii) Proof that the multiple dwelling has been registered with the Department in accordance with the provisions of article two of subchapter four of the Housing Maintenance Code.

(viii)(A) For applications received on or after December 19, 2006, an affidavit from the owner certifying that whenever any household appliance in any dwelling unit, or any household appliance that provides heat or hot water for any dwelling unit in the multiple dwelling, is installed or replaced with a new household appliance on or after December 19, 2006, such new appliance shall be certified as Energy Star. If applicable, such affidavit may instead certify (a) that an appropriately-sized Energy Star certified household appliance is not manufactured, such that movement of walls or fixtures would be necessary to create sufficient space for such appliance, and/or (b) that an Energy Star certified boiler or furnace of sufficient capacity is not manufactured.

(B) For purposes of this subparagraph (viii), (a) "household appliance" shall mean any refrigerator, room air conditioner, dishwasher or clothes washer, within a dwelling unit in the multiple dwelling that is provided by the owner, and any boiler or furnace that provides heat or hot water for any dwelling unit in the multiple dwelling, and (b) "Energy Star" shall mean a designation from the United States Environmental Protection Agency or Department of Energy indicating that a product meets the energy efficiency standards set forth by the agency for compliance with the Energy Star program.

(ix) For applications received for any projects that commence construction on or after December 28, 2007, an affidavit from the owner certifying that either (A) all building service employees employed or to be employed at the building shall receive the applicable prevailing wage for the duration of such building's tax exemption pursuant to the Act, or (B) such project contains less than fifty dwelling units, or (C) at initial occupancy, at least fifty percent (50%) of the dwelling units in the multiple dwelling will be affordable to individuals or families with a gross household income at or below one hundred twenty-five percent (125%) of the area median income and that any such rental units will remain affordable for the entire period during which they receive benefits pursuant to this Act.

(2) The application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility must be filed as follows:

(i) for a multiple dwelling to be owned as a rental, the application must be filed prior to occupancy of the building, but no earlier than the date of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility.

(ii) for a multiple dwelling to be owned as a condominium or a cooperative, the application must be filed prior to the first taxable status date following the completion of construction. In the event such application is not timely filed, benefits of the Act shall be revoked pursuant to §6-07(e)(5) herein only where the failure to file such application has resulted in the extension of the construction benefit period beyond the actual period of construction.

(iii) (A) For a public project, the Department may grant an extension of up to four years for filing the application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility, provided that to the extent to which the failure to file such application has resulted in the extension of the construction benefit period beyond the actual period of construction for such public project, the construction benefit period shall be retroactively adjusted so that it is coterminous with the actual construction period.

(B) For a building which is not a public project, the Department may grant an extension of up to two years for filing the application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility where the applicant has established that it reasonably relied upon the representations of third parties that the benefits of the Act would be available, provided that to the extent to which the failure to file such application has resulted in the extension of the construction benefit period beyond the actual period of construction for such building, the construction benefit period shall be retroactively adjusted so that it is coterminous with the actual construction period.

(3) The applications for a Final Certificate of Eligibility must be completed by the applicant as follows:

(i) for a multiple dwelling containing one hundred units or less, within ninety days following the issuance of a permanent certificate of occupancy or a temporary certificate of occupancy covering all residential space.

(ii) for a multiple dwelling containing more than one hundred units, within one hundred and eighty days following the issuance of a permanent certificate of occupancy or a temporary certificate of occupancy covering all residential space.

(iii) where an extension has been granted under paragraph (2)(iii) of this subdivision, the application must be completed (A) within ninety days of the filing thereof for a multiple dwelling containing one hundred units or less, or (B) within one hundred and eighty days of the filing thereof for a multiple dwelling containing more than one hundred units.

(4) Reserved.

(5) In the event that all the required documents are not timely filed, benefits of the Act may be revoked pursuant to §6-07(e)(5) herein. An application shall be deemed complete when all items delineated in §6-05 have been submitted, as well as any other documents which the Office may request.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions contained in paragraph (3) of this subdivision, the Office may grant an extension to complete an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility for good cause shown.

(e) Issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility. (1) Upon receipt of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility the Department shall determine the initial adjusted monthly rent and the comparative adjusted monthly rent with respect to rental dwelling units contained within the multiple dwelling pursuant to §6-04(a) herein. Upon the Commissioner's determination that a multiple dwelling is entitled to partial tax exemption hereunder the Department shall issue a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility to be delivered by the applicant to the appropriate borough officer of the Property Division of the Department of Finance together with his, her or its application to the Department of Finance for partial tax exemption. Such certification shall be conditioned upon the filing and approval of an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility as herein provided.

(2) Upon receipt of the application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility and either a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy for all residential areas in the multiple dwelling or a Permanent Certificate of Occupancy, and upon the Commissioner's determination that a multiple dwelling is entitled to partial tax exemption hereunder, the Department shall issue a Final Certificate of Eligibility to be delivered by the owner to the appropriate borough officer of the Property Division of the Department of Finance between February 1st and March 15th, together with his, her or its application to the Department of Finance for partial tax exemption.

(f) Voluntary withdrawal. Once an application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility or a Final Certificate of Eligibility has been approved, an owner may withdraw the application only if (i) all taxes which would have been owed absent the exemption are paid to the City, with all interest accrued thereon, and (ii) the building for which the application was made is substantially incomplete or unoccupied by residential tenants.

(g) Declaratory rulings. A declaratory ruling with respect to an analysis of a specific or hypothetical site, project, fact pattern or document or an interpretation of the applicability of a specific provision of the 421-a statute or Rules to an actual or hypothetical site, project, fact pattern or document or any other issue related to eligibility may be given in the discretion of the Office upon payment of a non-refundable fee in the amount of $1,500 payable at the time such declaratory ruling is requested in writing. In no event shall a declaratory ruling bind the Office as to the overall eligibility of a project for 421-a benefits.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 17, 2004:

Section 421-a of the Real Property Tax Law has provided tax benefits for the construction of new residential buildings in the City of New York since 1971. Under Real Property Tax Law §421-a, new multiple dwellings that meet all of the statutory and regulatory requirements are eligible for a partial tax exemption that consists of up to three years of construction period benefits and 10, 15, 20 or 25 years of partial tax exemption after construction. One hundred percent of increases in assessed valuation are exempt from taxation during the construction period, and the regular benefit period does not commence until after the entire construction period benefits term has run. The amendments to the 421-a rules establish more reasonable filing and completion deadlines for an application for a final certificate of eligibility. They also give HPD discretion to grant extensions for the completion of such applications for good cause shown.

The final certificate of eligibility signifies the completion of the multiple dwelling and, consequently, the end of construction period benefits. Thereafter, the regular tax exemption benefits period starts to run. Those 421-a applications pending on the effective date of these amendments for multiple dwellings that already have received a permanent certificate of occupancy or a temporary certificate of occupancy covering all residential space will have six months to file and to complete their applications for a final certificate of eligibility.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 18, 2007: These proposed rule amendments implement Local Law 107 of 2005, which requires recipients of 421-a tax exemption benefits to purchase certain Energy Star certified household appliances. The proposed rule amendment also now requires multiple dwelling registration in accordance with article two of subchapter four of the Housing Maintenance Code as another prerequisite to getting Real Property Tax Law §421-a benefits.

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-06 The Tax Exemption.

(a) Taxes on prior assessed valuation not subject to exemption. Taxes on the assessed value of land receiving benefits under this section, and any improvements thereon, during the tax year preceding the commencement of construction are not eligible for exemption under the Act. Tax exemption under the Act is not available until the tax year following the first year taxable status date following commencement of construction. The Prior Assessed Valuation remains subject to taxation at the prevailing rate from year to year.

(b) Diminution of tax exemption for excess commercial space. As of July 1, 1975, in the event the multiple dwelling contains Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and/or Accessory Use Space which exceeds twelve percent (12%) of the Aggregate Floor Area, there shall be a diminution of the tax exemption in an amount equal to the ratio of Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and/or Accessory Use Space in excess of twelve percent (12%) of the Aggregate Floor Area to the Aggregate Area. Where a project contains a separately assessed parcel such as a residential condominium located above a separately owned commercial space, the proportionate reduction of tax exemption resulting from Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space in excess of twelve percent (12%) shall be allocated entirely to the non-residential parcel or parcels up to the point that no exemption exists for any such parcel before applying the reduction in exemption to the residential space, provided, however, that such allocation shall only be made with respect to properties for which a preliminary application for benefits is received after July 26, 1993 or for which a final application is received after such date if no preliminary application was received.

(c) Exemption during construction. Multiple Dwellings which satisfy all of the requirements set forth herein and have received a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall be exempt from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements, upon any increase in assessed valuation over the Prior Assessed Valuation during the statutorily defined period of construction, or for a period of three years, whichever is less, provided that taxes shall be paid in each tax year in which full or partial exemption is in effect on the Prior Assessed Valuation, as defined in §6-01(c) herein.

(d) Exemption after construction. After the first taxable status date immediately following the completion of construction any increase in assessed valuation over the Prior Assessed Valuation of eligible multiple dwellings which have received a Final Certificate of Eligibility shall be exempt from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements, for either ten, fifteen, twenty or twenty-five consecutive tax years, as provided in §6-02(d) herein, pursuant to the following schedules. In addition, owners must pay full taxes on the Prior Assessed Valuation, as defined in §6-01)(c) herein.

(e) Period of gradual diminution of tax exemption. Solely for purposes of §6-04(b) of this chapter, the period of gradual diminution of tax exemption shall be the following:

(1) For the ten year benefit period, the ten years beginning in the first year of exemption after completion of construction.

(2) For the fifteen year benefit period, the five years beginning in the eleventh year of exemption after completion of construction.

(3) For the twenty year benefit period, the eight years beginning in the thirteenth year after completion of construction.

(4) For the twenty-five year benefit period, the five years beginning in the twenty-first year of exemption after completion of construction.

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-07 Record Keeping; Revocation of Tax Exemption; Discrimination Prohibited.

(a) Collection of data; subpoenas; testimony. At any time subsequent to the filing of an application and during the period of tax exemption, the Department may:

(1) Examine any books, papers, records or other data which may be relevant or material to the tax exemption requested or granted;

(2) Summon any person, including, but not limited to, the owner or an officer, director, member or employee of the owner, or any person having, or having had, possession, custody or control of books, papers or records relating to the tax exemption requested or granted, or any person or firm that participated in the construction of the building, to appear before the Commissioner or his or her designee at the time or place designated in the summons or to produce such books, papers or records or other data, and to give such testimony under oath as may be relevant or material to the tax exemption requested or granted.

(b) Availability of books and records; revocation. All books, records and documents required by §6-05 herein, or which relate to or support the application made pursuant to this chapter as well as an annual schedule of rents for each unit in the building, as required by §6-04(c) herein, shall be kept by the owner and made available for inspection by the Department until the expiration of the tax exemption requested or granted. Failure to make books, records or documents, including an annual schedule of rents for each unit in the building, available upon request may result in the prospective or retroactive revocation of tax exemption benefits.

(c) Preservation of records. The Department shall maintain a complete file of all records, documents, notices and correspondence relating to each application. Pursuant to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Law, these records shall be open to public inspection upon prior written request to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Freedom of Information Record Access Officer, 100 Gold Street, 9th Floor, New York, N.Y. 10038. Records are available for inspection by members of the general public and a copy of an application or any part thereof, shall be furnished to any person upon payment of the prevailing charge.

(d) False or misleading applications; revocation. If the applicant has furnished information which is incorrect or misleading in any substantial respect or which fails to comply with this chapter or requirements imposed by the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal and if the breach or omission has not been cured within the time prescribed in §6-07(h), below, the Department may revoke any Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility, retroactively or prospectively.

(e) Additional grounds for revocation. The Commissioner of the Department of Finance or the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development may withdraw tax exemption granted to a building pursuant to the Act upon the happening of any of the following events:

(1) The multiple dwelling is operated primarily for commercial, hotel, or single room occupancy use. Revocation shall be effective from the first tax quarter in which the prohibited use began;

(2) The real estate taxes or water or sewer charges with respect to the building (and land) remain unpaid for one year after the same are due and payable to the City unless the applicant or his, her or its predecessor in title has entered into an installment agreement with the City which provides for the payment of delinquent taxes, assessments or other legal charges pursuant to §11-401 et seq. of the Administrative Code and all payments required by said installment agreement have been paid when due. Revocation shall be effective from the first tax quarter in which taxes were unpaid;

(3) The building ceases to be subject to the provisions of law set forth in §6-02(g)(2) unless the building is exempt from such provisions pursuant to §6-02(g)(3). Revocation shall be effective on the date of such cessation;

(4) Any person subject to be summoned by virtue of §6-07(a) fails to appear and produce books, papers, records or other data as required by said section, after being duly summoned to appear. Revocation shall be retroactive to start of construction;

(5) The applicant fails to satisfy any time requirement set forth herein. Revocation shall be retroactive to start of construction.

(6) The applicant fails to establish to the satisfaction of the Department that affordable units created to qualify a building for the benefits of the Act which have not been transferred to a qualified not-for-profit organization are being maintained as affordable and in a habitable condition pursuant to the requirements of §6-08 herein.

(7) The multiple dwelling qualified for the benefits of the Act on the basis of Negotiable Certificates, and the Department finds that the units which were the basis for the issuance of the Negotiable Certificates which have not been transferred to a qualified not-for-profit organization are not being maintained as affordable and in a habitable condition pursuant to the requirements of §6-08 herein.

(8) The Department finds that a rental building located in the geographic exclusion area which qualified for the benefits of the Act pursuant to §6-08(b) herein has been converted to cooperative or condominium ownership prior to the expiration of the partial tax exemption.

(f) Discrimination prohibited: revocation. No owner of a multiple dwelling which is receiving the benefits of the Act, nor any agent, employee, manager or officer of such owner shall directly or indirectly deny to any person any of the dwelling accommodations in such property or any of the privileges or services incident to occupancy thereto in violation of the anti-discrimination provisions of §8-107 of the Administrative Code. The practice of any discrimination as described herein shall result in the revocation of benefits under the Act, retroactive to the date of such practice. Nothing contained in this subdivision (f) shall restrict such consideration in the development of housing accommodations for the lawful purpose of providing for the special needs of a particular group.

(g) Initial occupancy of designated units not by persons of low and moderate income or not affordable; revocation. No owner of a multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area, which is receiving the benefits of the Act only because the requisite number of affordable units has been created, nor any employee, manager, or officer of such owner shall, at initial occupancy, or upon vacancy, directly or indirectly, rent such affordable unit to any person ineligible for such occupancy or, at any time during the tax benefit period, rent fewer than the number of units required by the Department pursuant to §6-08 herein at a cost affordable to persons of low and moderate income. Any such practice shall result in the revocation of benefits under the Act, retroactive to commencement of construction.

(h) Notice and procedure upon revocation. The Department shall serve, by ordinary mail, a Notice of Revocation or Reduction on the applicant and any subsequent owner or mortgagee, which has previously registered with the Department for the receipt of such notice, that said applicant, owner or mortgagee has furnished incorrect or misleading information of a substantial nature, or has omitted information of a material nature, or is in violation of one or more provisions of the Act or this chapter. The notice will provide a brief description of the violation alleged. The applicant, owner or mortgagee shall have ninety (90) days to cure the violation or, alternatively, may request an informal hearing within thirty (30) days from the date of the notice to rebut the allegations therein. Upon the applicant's, owner's or mortgagee's failure to cure or rebut within the time prescribed, the Department shall advise the Department of Finance that a Certificate of Eligibility has been revoked or that the amount of exemption is to be reduced. The Department of Finance shall retroactively or prospectively withdraw or reduce tax exemption granted to an eligible multiple dwelling. In the case of a retroactive revocation, the Department of Finance shall reinstate the amount of taxes which have been exempted and charge interest at the rate prescribed by the Administrative Code to be calculated from the day on which such taxes would have been payable but for the exemption.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-08 Affordable Housing Construction Requirements.

(a) Multiple dwellings affected. Within the geographic exclusion area described in §6-02(c)(10) herein, the benefits of the Act are available only to multiple dwellings which would otherwise be eligible for benefits of the Act pursuant to the provisions of these rules and where construction commenced on or before November 29, 1985, unless such construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance, or the owner thereof complies with the requirements of this section.

(b) Number of affordable units required to be created. A multiple dwelling located in the geographic exclusion area which would otherwise be eligible pursuant to the provisions of these rules and not constructed with substantial government assistance may qualify for benefits under the Act by the method described in either paragraph (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), or (6) of this §6-08(b). The ratio of the number of affordable units to be created to the number of units in a multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking the benefits of the Act are listed below.

[See tabular material in printed version]

(1) Obtaining the certification of the Department that twenty percent (20%) of the units contained in the multiple dwelling applying for benefits pursuant to the Act shall be rented to persons of low and moderate income as defined by this chapter at rents to be determined by the Department pursuant to this section.

(2) Entering into a written agreement with the Department on or before December 31, 1990 to create through new construction on a site or sites meeting the requirements of §6-02(f), herein, Class A dwelling units to be rented to persons of low and moderate income as defined by this chapter at rents to be determined by the Department pursuant to this section numbering at least twenty percent (20%) of the units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits pursuant to the Act.

(3) Entering into a written agreement with the Department on or before December 31, 1990 to substantially rehabilitate an existing Class A multiple dwelling, the residential portion of which is vacant, to be rented to persons of low and moderate income as defined by this chapter at rents to be determined by this section. The number of units to be substantially rehabilitated shall be in accordance with the following ratios:

(i) twenty-five percent (25%) of the number of units contained in the multiple dwelling or dwellings located within the geographic exclusion area which will be owned as a rental; or

(ii) thirty percent (30%) of the number of units contained in the multiple dwelling or dwellings located within the geographic exclusion area which will be owned as a cooperative or condominium.

(4) Entering into a Written Agreement with the Department on or after January 1, 1991 to create Class A dwelling units through new construction on a site or sites meeting the requirements of §6-02(f) herein, to convert an existing non-residential building to a Class A multiple dwelling, or to substantially rehabilitate an existing Class A multiple dwelling building, the residential portion of which is vacant and has been entirely vacant for not less than three years, to be rented to:

(i) persons of low income as defined by this chapter at the rents to be determined by the Department pursuant to this chapter numbering at least twenty percent (20%) of the units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits pursuant to the Act.

(ii) persons of moderate income as defined by this chapter at rents to be determined by this section numbering at least tweny-five percent (25%) of the units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits pursuant to the Act.

(iii) homeless persons are referred by the Department or by the Human Resources Administration, numbering at least sixteen and six-tenths percent (16.6%) of the units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits pursuant to the Act.

(5) Entering into a written agreement with the Department to create through new construction or substantial rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy units to be rented to persons of low and moderate income as defined by these rules at rents to be determined by the Department pursuant to this section. The number of units to be created shall be in accordance with the following ratios:

(i) forty-two percent (42%) of the number of units contained in the multiple dwelling or dwellings located within the geographic exclusion area which will be owned as a rental; or

(ii) fifty-one percent (51%) of the number of units contained in the multiple dwelling or dwellings located within the geographic exclusion area which will be owned as a cooperative or condominium.

(6) If the average size of the residential units contained in the multiple dwelling or dwellings located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits pursuant to the Act exceeds 1,200 square feet, the Department shall increase the number of affordable units which must be created pursuant to paragraphs (2), (3), (4) or (5) of §6-08(b) by multiplying that number of units by the ratio of the average square footage to 1200 square feet unless the average square footage per unit of the low and moderate income units is equal to those of the multiple dwelling in the geographic exclusion area and the developer is the same for the geographic exclusion area units and the affordable units.

(7) If the number of low and moderate income units to be created exceeds 130, two out of every three units in excess of 130 must be rented to moderate income households as defined in this chapter, and must number twenty-five percent (25%) of the number of the units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking the benefits of the Act; and one out of every three units in excess of 130 must be rented to low income households as defined in this section, and must number twenty percent (20%) of the number of units in the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking the benefits of this Act.

(c) Location of affordable units. Dwelling units created to satisfy the requirements of this section must be contained in a multiple dwelling located on a site or sites outside of the geographic exclusion area, except those affordable units contained in the multiple dwelling, located within the geographic exclusion area, seeking benefits of the Act. In addition, where a written agreement was executed on or after January 1, 1991, dwelling units created to satisfy the requirements of this chapter may also be located on a site or sites within the geographic exclusion area. Sites outside of the geographic exclusion area may be either privately owned or owned by the City of New York. The development of City owned sites must be carried out pursuant to the provisions of §6-08(d).

(d) Development of City-owned sites. (1) An applicant for benefits pursuant to this Act who wishes to create the required number of low and moderate income units on a vacant City-owned site may be offered a site or sites pursuant to a method to be established by the Department. Such method shall make available parcels which will yield the necessary number of low and moderate income units.

(2) The following procedures apply to the substantial rehabilitation or conversion of City-owned sites or to new construction on vacant City-owned parcels:

(i) All construction shall be performed by the developer under a license agreement with the City. At no time will title to the multiple dwelling be conveyed to the developer. All hard and soft development costs will be borne by the developer.

(ii) After a permanent Certificate of Occupancy has been issued for the multiple dwelling or dwellings, the Department shall convey title to the multiple dwelling or dwellings to a qualified not-for-profit organization in whose catchment area the project is located. Disposition will be for $1 per multiple dwelling through ULURP or UDAAP. If the building is located in the catchment area for more than one local and/or city-wide qualified not-for-profit group, the Department will select the group to whom the building will be sold.

(iii) one hundred percent (100%) of the units in the multiple dwelling or dwellings must be affordable units.

(iv) ten percent (10%) of the units must be provided for homeless families. Referrals will be made by HPD/HRA by agreement with the not-for-profit organization, which shall provide the not-for-profit organization with the ability to screen prospective tenants.

(e) Ownership of affordable units. (1) All affordable units created pursuant to this section must be owned as rentals, for either 20 years or as long as the building containing the affordable units receives real estate tax benefits, whichever is longer.

(2) Buildings containing affordable units created on privately owned sites may be owned by either a for-profit or a qualified not-for-profit organization.

(i) In the event ownership of the affordable units is retained by a for-profit owner, the owner of the building receiving the benefits of the Act as a result of satisfaction of the requirements of this section shall have the ongoing responsibility for insuring the continuing maintenance and operation of the affordable units in a habitable condition. Should an owner fail to maintain such units as affordable or in a habitable condition, pursuant to §6-07(e)(6), (7) and (8) of this chapter, benefits of the Act received by the multiple dwelling located in the geographic exclusion area shall be revoked retroactive to the start of construction. Upon receipt of a Notice of Revocation pursuant to §6-07(h) of this chapter, the owner shall have a ninety day period to cure such violation.

(ii) The developer of the affordable units on privately owned sites may elect to transfer ownership of the off-site units to a qualified not-for-profit organization is a New York State corporation experienced in the management of low income housing and approved in writing by the Department in accordance with the purpose of this section. In that event, the developer must convey title to a qualified not-for-profit for $1.00 per multiple dwelling. The not-for-profit owner shall assume the ongoing responsibility for insuring the continuing maintenance and operation of the affordable units in a habitable condition. Failure of the not-for-profit to maintain such units as affordable or in a habitable condition shall not result in a revocation of the tax benefits received by the multiple dwellings located in the geographic exclusion area.

(iii) A developer creating affordable units on a privately-owned site with the assistance of the Federal Low Income Housing Credit under §42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 may retain ownership of such units if the developer enters into a management contract with a qualified managing agent approved in writing by the Department and conforms to the requirements of this section. Failure of the managing agent to maintain such units as affordable or in a habitable condition shall not result in a revocation of the tax benefits received by the multiple dwelling located in the geographic exclusion area.

(A) The management contract must be approved by the Department and shall be for twenty years or for the length of the real estate tax benefits on the affordable units, whichever is longer. The developer must obtain the prior written approval of the Department to substitute another qualified managing agent if, during the term of the contract, the relationship with the original manager is severed for any reason.

(B) The affordable units must remain as rent stabilized units for twenty years or the length of the real estate tax benefits on such affordable units, whichever is longer. Thereafter, upon each vacancy the affordable units may be deregulated according to the following schedule:

Year After Expiration of Lower Income Housing Plan	Maximum % of Units that can be at Market
One	0%
Two	0%
Three	20%
Four	20%
Five	40%
Six	40%
Seven	60%
Eight	60%
Nine	80%
Eleven	100%

(C) The developer shall enter into an agreement with the Department to fund two reserve funds. The first shall create sufficient funds for maintenance and operation of the affordable housing units to the extent to which maintenance and operating expenses exceed income available from the rent roll, and shall be created in accordance with §6-08(f)of this section. The second covers capital improvement costs and will require the developer to deposit with the City a Capital Improvement Escrow Fund equal to 1 percent (1%) of total development costs. The developer will be required to replenish the fund within sixty (60) days of any drawing down. Interest will accrue to such Fund, which will be held by the Department. The not-for-profit can draw on this escrow fund upon authorization by the Department if the developer fails to make necessary capital repairs. Neither the Department nor the City shall have any liability as Escrow Agent; the Department's determination of withdrawal of funds shall be binding on all parties.

(D) If HPD approves a not-for-profit manager, the developer must enter into a purchase option contract with the not-for-profit for the period of the affordable housing plan. This option contract shall state that the not-for-profit manager may purchase the affordable units for $1 if the owner abandons the project. Evidence of abandonment shall include failure by the developer to meet the maintenance and operating expenses, failure to replenish the Capital Improvement Escrow Fund, or failure to make necessary repairs. Further, if during the time of the Federal Low Income Housing Credit, such credit is revoked and recaptured due to failure by the developer to comply with the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and any applicable regulations, then the not-for-profit may exercise the purchase option listed above. If the developer retains ownership through the end of the affordable housing plan, then the Capital Improvement Escrow Fund is paid to the developer upon expiration of the affordable housing plan. If the developer abandons the development before the end of the expiration of the affordable housing plan, then the Capital Improvement Escrow Fund is transferred to the not-for-profit. The purchase option contract may provide for an automatic termination of the contract if HPD approves termination of the not-for-profit as managing agent. In the absence of a not-for-profit manager, HPD may require the owner to enter into a purchase option contract with a not-for-profit acceptable to HPD which would take effect in the event of abandonment.

(f) Special reserve account. The developer of affordable units necessary to qualify a multiple dwelling within the geographic exclusion area for benefits of the Act, which shall not be owned by the for-profit developer of such multiple dwelling, must create a special operating reserve fund. The fund shall be in the amount of $2.25 for each square foot of affordable housing contained in such new, newly converted or substantially rehabilitated multiple dwelling or dwellings, including a pro rata share of common space of buildings not entirely lower income. The fund shall be placed in a blocked account which will be administered by the Department. This reserve fund is separate from the normal building reserve fund built into the rent roll that will be accumulated over time and will be available only on a program-wide basis to cover unanticipated increases in the costs of operating and maintaining units in general. Once an expenditure from the fund has been authorized on a programmatic basis, the dollars can be drawn down on a project-by-project basis. There will be a separate account for each project. Notwithstanding the above, the reserve fund may also be drawn down, with the approval of the Department, in the event of unusual occurrences not normally covered by the normal building reserves.

(g) Construction requirements. (1) Affordable Class A dwelling units created through new construction must meet the standards set forth in the Department's "Design Guidelines For Housing-New Construction" and "Standard Specifications" ("Design Guidelines") (applicant should obtain the most recent edition of the Design Guidelines from the Department). In addition, such dwelling units must satisfy one of the following requirements:

(i) Unless the affordable units are created under §6-08(b)(3) or §6-08(b)(5), 50 percent (50%) of the units must contain two or more bedrooms, and in all cases average square footage and bedroom mix must be equally distributed with respect to all income levels; or

(ii) For multiple dwellings that commence construction before December 28, 2007, such affordable units must be located in the same building and must contain the same average square footage and bedroom mix of all residential units contained in such multiple dwelling. For multiple dwellings that commence construction on or after December 28, 2007, if the affordable units are created in accordance with §6-08(b)(1) and unless preempted by federal requirements, (A) all affordable units must have a comparable number of bedrooms and a unit mix proportional to the market rate units contained in such multiple dwelling, or (B) at least fifty percent (50%) of the affordable units must have two or more bedrooms and not more than fifty percent (50%) of the remaining affordable units can be smaller than one bedroom, or (C) the floor area of the affordable units must be no less than twenty percent of the total floor area of all dwelling units in such multiple dwelling.

(2) Affordable Class A dwelling units created through substantial rehabilitation or conversion must meet the standards set forth in the Department's "Design Guidelines For Housing-Substantial Rehabilitation" and "Standard Specifications." ("Design Guidelines") (applicant should obtain the most recent edition of the Design Guidelines from the Department).

(i) In order for the rehabilitation of a vacant multiple dwelling or the conversion of a non-residential building to qualify under §6-08(b)(4) of these rules, the scope of work must include but is not limited to the following:

(A) Beam replacement, to the extent required by the Department

(B) New subflooring

(C) New partition framing

(D) New sheetrock walls and ceilings

(E) New windows

(F) New finish flooring, roofing and insulation

(G) New kitchen cabinets

(H) New baths with ceramic tile finishes

(I) New interior and exterior doors (wood and metal)

(J) New finish carpentry

(K) New plumbing

(L) New heating

(M) New electrical

(N) New elevators (where applicable)

(0) Masonry repairs, to the extent required by the Department

(P) New fire escapes, to the extent required by the Department

(Q) Concrete site work, to the extent required by the Department

(ii) At least fifty percent (50%) of the affordable units created pursuant to this paragraph shall contain two or more bedrooms each, except that the Department may reduce the bedrooms requirements when, in the sole opinion of the Department, existing structural elements preclude compliance. If the Department approves a reduction in the number of bedrooms, the developer will be required to rehabilitate or create through conversion additional units in a room and bedroom configuration which is acceptable to the Department, to compensate for the number of bedrooms and square footage which would have been obtained had the bedroom requirement been met. For the purposes of computation, the Department will require three studios or two one-bedroom units to be built for every two-bedroom unit lost. The Department will seek the solution which results in creating apartments with the highest bedroom count possible, consistent with the Department's policy of creating housing which meets the needs of families.

(3) Single Room Occupancy Units created to conform to §6-08(b)(5) must conform to the Department's Single Room Occupancy Guidelines (applicant should obtain the most recent edition of the Guidelines from the Department).

(h) Income and occupancy requirements. All units created pursuant to this section must, at initial occupancy, be affordable to low and moderate income households, as defined in this chapter. Such units must be rented to households earning no more than four times the annual rent for the dwelling unit established pursuant to §6-08(i), herein, and must be rented to households that consist of the minimum number of people as specified below:

Bedroom Size	Minimum Number of People

(i) Initial rents; re-rentals. (1) For projects permitted to assume debt pursuant to §6-08(o)(2), the Department shall establish initial rents for individual units as provided in subparagraph (i). For all other projects, initial rents shall be established as provided in subparagraph (ii).

(i) Units rented to persons of low income are not to exceed 30% of 55% of median income. Units rented to persons of moderate income are not to exceed the average of 30% of 75% of median income, provided that no initial annual rent will be established for any unit in a moderate or mixed income project which exceeds 30% of 95% of annual median income. The Department shall establish a total rent roll for units created pursuant to this section based upon program-wide standards for the amount necessary for maintenance, operation, administration, creation of normal reserve accounts, debt service, and in consideration of the income level to be served. For the purpose of determining median income, the following family sizes shall be imputed:

Number of Bedrooms	Imputed Family Size

(ii) The Department shall establish a total rent roll for units created pursuant to this section based upon program-wide standards for the amount necessary for maintenance, operation, administration and the creation of normal reserve accounts, and in consideration of the income level to be served. For affordable units being constructed under any of the options in this section, the managing agent may set rents higher than the allowable rent roll only with the prior written approval of the Department and only as long as no household is charged more than thirty percent (30%) of their annual income for rent. Such rents shall be the higher of the rents in effect when the Written Agreement for Creation of Affordable Housing is entered into or when construction of the affordable housing units commences. The initial rents for individual units will be determined by the managing entity, and must be affordable to low and moderate income families, as defined in this chapter. In no case shall the initial rent of any affordable unit exceed 30% of 100% of median income.

(2) Upon initial occupancy, all units created pursuant to this section must be registered with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal. Such units must remain rent stabilized for the entire period during which such units receive real estate tax benefits under any New York State or New York City tax abatement and/or exemption programs, or for 20 years, whichever is longer.

(3) Future rent increases may not exceed the increases established by the Rent Guidelines Board.

(4) Upon vacancy, units must be re-rented at no more than the legal stabilized rent. All units must be rented to families earning no more than four times such annual rent.

(5) Tenants holding a lease and in occupancy of any unit created pursuant to this section at the expiration of the rent stabilization period pursuant to paragraph (2) of this subdivision (i) shall have the right to remain as rent stabilized tenants for the duration of their occupancy. Once units become vacant after termination of benefits, the owner of such units shall have the option to de-stabilize such rents.

(6) Tenant incomes and rents must be certified to the Department by the owner of the multiple dwelling containing the affordable units following initial rent up. Thereafter, the owner of such multiple dwelling must certify to the Department tenant incomes and rents for all re-rentals after vacancies on an annual basis, but no later than January 31 for each calendar year ending December 31.

(7) For the purposes of this subsection (i), "rent" shall mean gross rent, as defined for the purposes of the federal low income housing tax credit program, and shall include utilities. In the event that utilities are charged separately, gross rent shall be reduced accordingly.

(j) Second tier rents. As an additional protection against future insolvency of units created pursuant to this section and owned by a qualified not-for-profit organization, the Department will also register with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal a second level of rents. This second tier of rents will be set by the Department at or very close to the maximum rents affordable to moderate income families as defined in this chapter. Implementing the second tier of rents for any unit will be allowed on vacancy only with the Department's written permission. The Department will give its permission after a finding that the project has been efficiently managed and the need for second tier rents are a result of factors outside the control of the not-for-profit owner, but in any event, in the following cases only:

(1) When the project's financial feasibility is threatened by a significant unanticipated rise in maintenance and operating expenses that cannot be covered by the rent roll and available reserves; or

(2) When a significant, unanticipated expense occurs in the building that cannot be covered by the rent roll and available reserves; or

(3) When rents rise faster than the income of the tenants who are paying 30 percent (30%) of their income in rent and where the increased rent(s) on the vacant unit(s) are used to maintain the rents for existing tenants at 30 percent (30%) of their income.

(k) Time requirements; filing fees. (1) The written agreement with the Department for the creation of affordable units pursuant to this section must be entered into prior to the commencement of construction of such affordable units.

(2) Such written agreement may be entered into after the commencement of construction of the multiple dwelling or dwellings located in the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits of this Act.

(3) Any request for a written agreement pursuant to §6-08(1) herein shall be accompanied by a filing fee of $100 for each proposed unit of affordable housing, which fee shall be non-refundable but shall be applied to the filing fee for the tax benefits for the affordable units, as established by §6-05(c) herein and §5-05(f) of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York governing tax exemption and abatement pursuant to §11-243 of the Administrative Code (J-51).

(l) Request for written agreement. The following shall be required to be submitted to the Department with any request for a written agreement. Once approved, all documents will be incorporated into the agreement, the complete package to be referred to as The 421-a Written Agreement for Creation of Affordable Housing:

(1) A cover sheet identifying:

(i) the applicant

(ii) if a corporate entity, the principals in that entity

(iii) the location of the affordable housing units

(iv) the location, if known, of the multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area seeking benefits of the Act.

(2) A statement that the units are intended to entitle a project to receive benefits of the Act and that such units will be rented in compliance with all provisions of this chapter.

(3) Proof of control of the site of the affordable units including:

(i) if privately owned, deed or contract of sale; or

(ii) if a city-owned building is to be rehabilitated or converted,

(A) proof of selection of site; and

(B) endorsed license agreement with the City to permit the rehabilitation or con- version.

(4) Preliminary building plans as approved by the Department, indicating a site plan of the low and moderate income building, total size of the building and the size and configuration of the dwelling units to be contained in the building.

(5) A scope of work indicating the extent of rehabilitation or scope of new construction or conversion.

(6) Identification of the owner of the affordable units created on privately owned sites: (i) if a for-profit owner, the name of the ownership entity and principals.

(ii) a not-for-profit owner, the name of not-for-profit and evidence of pre-quali- fication.

(7) A marketing plan for tenant selection and apartment rental. The marketing plan shall identify specific organizations or institutions, such as Community Boards, not-for-profit organizations, senior citizen centers, religious institutions, etc., which shall advertise the availability of the affordable units and must be in accordance with the Department's marketing guidelines, which can be obtained from the Department. All marketing efforts must meet equal opportunity and fair housing guidelines.

(8) A statement that a rental multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area which qualified for benefits under the Act pursuant to §6-08(b)(3), (4) or (6) of this section will not be converted to cooperative or condominium ownership during the period of partial tax exemption. Conversion may be permitted by the Department subsequent to the expiration of the period of partial tax exemption where the affordable units are owned by a for-profit organization only if the conversion sponsor:

(i) enters into a Written Agreement with the Department to provide for the maintenance and operation of the affordable units for the remainder of the 20 years or the period during which such units receive tax benefits under any New York State or New York City tax abatement or exemption program, whichever is longer, or

(ii) transfers the ownership of the affordable units to a not-for-profit organization qualified by the Department.

(9) Where affordable units are created pursuant to §6-08(b)(1) herein, a statement that such units will not be converted to condominium or cooperative ownership for 20 years, or as long as the buildings containing the affordable units receive tax benefits under any tax abatement or tax exemption program from the State of New York or the City of New York, whichever is longer.

(10) Where the affordable units will be owned by for-profit organization, except those units meeting the requirments of §6-08, a statement that the recipient of the benefits of this Act will be responsible for the maintenance and operation of the units in a habitable condition. If the units will be owned by a not-for-profit organization as permitted under §6-08(e)(2)(iii) of this chapter, the developer shall be required to fund a reserve fund in the amount of $2.25 for each square foot of affordable housing provided, in the same manner as that described in §6-08(f), and a Capital Improvement Escrow Fund in accordance with §6-08(e)(2)(iii).

(11) For units to be owned by a not-for-profit organization, an agreement to fund a blocked reserve account, in an amount specified by this section and administered by the Department, or to create such a fund should the units owned by a for-profit organization be transferred to a not-for-profit in the future.

(12) An agreement to submit to the Department, within five days of their execution or issuance by another City agency:

(i) a construction contract for the creation of the lower income units between the applicant and the entity chosen to carry out the construction;

(ii) final approved plans by the Department of Buildings;

(iii) the altered building application and alteration permit for substantial rehabilitations and conversions or the new building permit for new construction;

(iv) a temporary certificate of occupancy for the entire residential portion of the building or the permanent certificate of occupancy.

(13) An agreement that changes or amendments made to any document included in this plan must obtain the prior approval of the Department.

(14) A filing fee in the amount of $100 for each proposed unit of affordable housing.

(15) A financial statement describing proposed sources and uses of all funds for the project, as approved by the Department.

(m) Certification; negotiable certificates. (1) After the Department determines that a request for Written Agreement is complete and satisfies all requirements of this section, the Department shall approve the request for a Written Agreement. The Written Agreement will provide for the granting of benefits of this Act for a specified number of dwelling units contained in a multiple dwelling located within the exclusion area. Such Written Agreement must be submitted to the Department with the application for benefits of the Act for the multiple dwelling located in the geographic exclusion area. In the event benefits of the Act are granted based upon a Written Agreement, failure to satisfy the conditions contained in such Written Agreement will result in a revocation of any benefits received by the multiple dwelling located in the exclusion area.

(2) Upon the submission to the Department of a permanent Certificate of Occupancy for, or the temporary Certificate of Occupancy for the entire residential portion of, the building containing the affordable units created pursuant to this section, the Department shall conduct a site inspection. Following that site inspection and upon satisfaction that all terms of the Written Agreement and of this section have been met, the Department shall issue the Negotiable Certificates representing the completion of the affordable units.

(3) Such Negotiable Certificate shall be required prior to the issuance of the Final Certificate of Eligibility for a multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area pursuant to §6-05(e) of this chapter, unless at the sole option of the Department, pursuant to §6-05(d)(l)(vi) of this chapter, a Letter of Credit has been submitted to the Department.

(4) Such Negotiable Certificate shall provide that a specified number of dwelling units containing up to an average size of twelve hundred square feet to be constructed in the geographic exclusion area shall be eligible to receive benefits of the Act.

(5) In the event that the benefits of the Act are to be transferred to more than one building located within the geographic exclusion area, and at the written request of the applicant, the Negotiable Certificate shall be "drawn down" by the amount required for each transfer, and a new Negotiable Certificate, endorsed by the applicant, shall be issued for each transfer. Application for the benefits of the Act must be accompanied by the original Negotiable Certificate and a copy of the Certificate of Completion.

(n) Governmental assistance to affordable units. (1) Affordable units created pursuant to §6-08(b) herein may not be the recipient of any other as-of-right or discretionary government benefit, consideration or assistance, excluding tax exempt financing, federal low income housing tax credits, and real estate tax benefits enumerated in paragraph (3) of this subdivision (n).

(2) Affordable units created to satisfy the low and moderate income housing requirements of any other governmental benefit, consideration or assistance except tax exempt financing, federal low income housing tax credits, and real estate tax benefits enumerated in paragraph (3) of this subdivision (n) shall not be considered as being created to satisfy the requirements of this section. Units created pursuant to §6-08(b)(i) herein shall not also qualify as affordable units under this section.

(3) In order to qualify a multiple dwelling located within the geographic exclusion area for benefits under the Act, affordable units created by rehabilitation or conversion must receive a Certificate of Eligibility for the benefits of §11-243 or 11-244 of the Administrative Code or §421-g of the Real Property Tax Law, and affordable units created by new construction must receive a Certificate of Eligibility for the benefits of the Act, unless such units obtain tax exemption pursuant to §420-a or 420-b of the Real Property Tax Law, §696 of the General Municipal Law, or §577 of the Private Housing Finance Law.

(4) Affordable units created pursuant to §6-08(b)(2) through §6-08(b)(5) of these rules may not be used, or have been used, to satisfy a requirement to create low or moderate income housing imposed by a federal, state, or local agency or instrumentality or pursuant to a court or administrative order or decree (unless such requirement is imposed solely as a condition to receiving bond financing or federal low income housing tax credits for the property containing the affordable units).

(5) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this subdivision, affordable units created to satisfy the requirements of the inclusionary housing program established pursuant to the New York City Zoning Resolution may be used to qualify a multiple dwelling in the geographic exclusion area for the benefits of the Act if at least twenty percent (20%) of the units contained in the multiple dwelling applying for such benefits are affordable to persons of low and moderate income as defined by this chapter.

(o) Mortgage and debt limitations. (1) In the case of a project which qualifies for tax benefits pursuant to §6-08(b)(1), any lien or mortgage encumbering one or more low and moderate income units in such project shall expressly provide that it is subject and subordinate to the Written Agreement imposing the restrictions required by this §6-08, commencing upon issuance of a Final Certificate of Eligibility for such tax benefits.

(2) Projects undertaken pursuant to either §6-08(b)(4)(i), §6-08(b)(4)(ii), or §6-08(b)(4)(iii) may be encumbered with a lien or mortgage, provided the amount of debt placed on the project permits rents for such units to comply with the provisions of §6-08(i) and such lien or mortgage expressly provides that it is subject and subordinate to the Written Agreement.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Aug. 20, 1997:

The proposed rules: (1) enable conversions of existing, non-residential buildings, to meet the affordable housing requirements of §6-08 of such rules, (2) clarify existing provisions prohibiting affordable units constructed or rehabilitated in order to satisfy a requirement imposed by a governmental entity or court orer from meeting the affordable housing requirements of §6-08 of such rules, and (3) include the recently-authorized §421-g (Lower Manhattan Residential Conversion Program) and §577 of the Private Finance Housing Law as two of the possible forms of real estate tax exemption for the affordable units created pursuant to §6-08 of such rules.

The rules are being proposed pursuant to City Charter §1802(6) and in order to comply with the City Administrative Procedure Act. Section 421-a(3) of the Real Property Tax Law authorizes HPD to issue rules for the program.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record June 5, 2007: This rule amendment would clarify that affordable units created to satisfy the requirements of the Inclusionary Housing Program under the New York City Zoning Resolution would qualify a multiple dwelling in the Geographic Exclusion Area for extended benefits pursuant to Real Property Tax Law §421-a if at least 20% of the units are affordable to low and moderate income persons. In other words, the proposed rule amendment affirms that inclusionary housing units are carved out of the "double dipping" prohibition currently applicable to projects in the Geographic Exclusion Area.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-09 New Eligibility Requirements.

(a) Definitions. For purposes of this section 6-09, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

Affordability requirement. "Affordability requirement" shall mean that not less than twenty percent of the onsite units in such multiple dwelling are GEA 60% AMI units or GEA SGA units.

Applicable deadline. "Applicable deadline" shall mean, unless otherwise exempted pursuant to the Act, (a) with respect to a multiple dwelling within the geographic exclusion area, June 30, 2008, and (b) with respect to the limitations on benefits imposed pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision b of this section, December 27, 2007.

Commence. "Commence" shall mean:

(a)(1) the later to occur of (i) the date upon which a new metal or concrete structure to be incorporated into the multiple dwelling that shall perform a load bearing function for such multiple dwelling is installed; or (ii) the date upon which a building or alteration permit for the multiple dwelling (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) was issued by such department; or

(2) if a project includes new residential construction and the concurrent conversion, alteration or improvement of a pre-existing building or structure, the later to occur of (i) the date upon which the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement of the pre-existing building or structure begins; or (ii) the date upon which an alteration permit for the multiple dwelling (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) on which the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement takes place, was issued by such department;

(b) provided, however, that (1) with respect to subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a), if piles or caissons are required, "commence" shall mean the later to occur of (i) the date upon which at least one fully driven pile or caisson is installed; or (ii) the date upon which a building or alteration permit for the multiple dwelling (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) was issued by such department; and

(2) with respect to both subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (a):

(i) such installation of a new metal or concrete structure or such beginning of the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement of the pre-existing building or structure, respectively, and such issuance of a building or alteration permit, must both have occurred in order for the multiple dwelling to meet this definition of "commence"; and

(ii) for multibuilding projects, each multiple dwelling in such multibuilding project shall be deemed to "commence" (A) with respect to subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a), on the later to occur of (1) the date upon which a new metal or concrete structure to be incorporated into the first multiple dwelling in such multibuilding project that shall perform a load bearing function for such multiple dwelling is installed; or (2) the date upon which a building or alteration permit for the first multiple dwelling in such multibuilding project (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) was issued by such department, provided that all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project have been issued by the Department of Buildings a building or alteration permit (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by such department) on or before the applicable deadline, and the periods of construction and final real property tax exemption benefits granted pursuant to the Act shall commence simultaneously for all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project; and (B) with respect to subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a), on the later to occur of (1) the date upon which the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement of the first pre-existing building or structure in such multibuilding project begins; or (2) the date upon which an alteration permit for the first multiple dwelling in such multibuilding project (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) on which the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement takes place, was issued by such department, provided that all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project have been issued by the Department of Buildings a building or alteration permit (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by such department) on or before the applicable deadline, and the periods of construction and final real property tax exemption benefits granted pursuant to the Act shall commence simultaneously for all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project; and

(iii) if the architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings in conjunction with the issuance of the first such building or alteration permit are thereafter amended to provide for more than a thirty-five percent (35%) increase (the "35% standard") in the floor area of such multiple dwelling as defined pursuant to the Act, the construction of such multiple dwelling shall be deemed to have commenced on the date upon which such amended plans are filed with such department, provided, however, that, in the case of a multibuilding project that meets the requirements of clause (ii) of this paragraph (2), any such increase in the floor area may be distributed amongst the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project in any manner permitted under the Zoning Resolution and the 35% standard may be applied to such multibuilding project on an aggregate rather than a single building basis; and

(iv) the construction of any such multiple dwelling also must be completed without undue delay. For purposes of this definition of "commence", (A) if a project consists of one multiple dwelling and such multiple dwelling is completed within thirty-six (36) months from the later to occur of (1) the date of the installation of a new metal or concrete structure or of the beginning of the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement of the pre-existing building or structure, respectively, (2) the date upon which a building or alteration permit for the multiple dwelling (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) was issued by such department, or (3) December 28, 2007, such multiple dwelling shall be deemed to have been completed without undue delay, and (B) if a project meets the requirements of clause (ii) of this paragraph (2), if all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project are completed within thirty-six (36) months from the later to occur of (1) the date of the installation of a new metal or concrete structure for the first multiple dwelling in such multibuilding project or of the beginning of the actual construction of the conversion, alteration or improvement of the first pre-existing building or structure in such multibuilding project, respectively, (2) the date upon which a building or alteration permit for the first multiple dwelling (based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans approved by the Department of Buildings) was issued by such department, or (3) December 28, 2007, all of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project shall be deemed to have been completed without undue delay. Where construction is not completed within such thirty-six (36) month period and an architect or professional engineer has certified that such construction was completed without undue delay, the Department will not merely rely on such certification. In order to determine whether such construction was, in fact, completed without undue delay, the Department will consider the following factors: (i) the extraordinary size and/or complexity of the construction project; (ii) strikes or other unavoidable labor stoppages of substantial duration and severity; (iii) industry-wide shortages of construction materials of substantial duration and severity; (iv) substantial damage to completed construction work caused by fire or other casualty, (v) inability, despite diligent and continuous efforts, to obtain financing for the construction of such project, and (vi) mortgage foreclosure proceedings or other lien enforcement litigation by a lender with regard to such project. In each case, the Department will consider such factors and determine whether construction could reasonably have been completed in a materially shorter period of time.

(c) Where it is determined in accordance with this definition of "commence" that a multiple dwelling commenced construction on or after December 28, 2007 with respect to paragraph five of subdivision (b) of this section or July 1, 2008 with respect to paragraphs one, three or six of subdivision (b) of this section, respectively, this definition of "commence" shall supersede the definition of "commencement of construction" contained in §6-01 of this chapter.

Common charges or carrying charges. "Common charges or carrying charges" shall mean the estimated amounts contained in the offering plan accepted by the office of the Attorney General of the State of New York for filing.

Geographic exclusion area or GEA. "Geographic exclusion area" or "GEA" shall mean the boundaries for any geographic exclusion areas set forth in §421-a of the Real Property Tax Law and §11-245 of the Administrative Code that are effective on or after July 1, 2008.

GEA 60% limit. "GEA 60% limit" shall mean (A) for a multiple dwelling owned and operated as a rental, (1) incomes at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed sixty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, and (2) rents at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed thirty percent of sixty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, minus the amount of any applicable utility allowance, and (B) for a multiple dwelling owned and operated as a condominium or cooperative development by individual condominium unit owners or shareholders, (1) incomes at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed sixty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, and (2) sales prices at the time of initial sales that result in mortgage payments, including both principal and interest calculated at the prevailing rate and assuming that the mortgage constitutes 90% of the purchase price, and common charges or carrying charges, respectively, that collectively do not exceed thirty percent of sixty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size.

GEA SGA limit. "GEA SGA limit" shall mean (A) for a multiple dwelling owned and operated as a rental, (1) incomes at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed one hundred twenty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size and, where such a multiple dwelling contains more than twenty-five units, incomes at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed an average of ninety percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, and (2) rents at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed thirty percent of one hundred twenty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, minus the amount of any applicable utility allowance, and, where such a multiple dwelling contains more than twenty-five units, rents at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed an average of thirty percent of ninety percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, minus the amount of any applicable utility allowance, or (B) for a multiple dwelling owned and operated as a condominium or cooperative development by individual condominium unit owners or shareholders, (1) incomes at the time of initial occupancy that do not exceed one hundred twenty-five percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, and (2) sales prices at the time of initial sales that result in mortgage payments, including both principal and interest calculated at the prevailing rate and assuming that the mortgage constitutes 90% of the purchase price, and common charges or carrying charges, respectively, that collectively do not exceed thirty percent of one hundred twenty-five percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size.

GEA 60% AMI unit. "GEA 60% AMI unit" shall mean (A) if a multiple dwelling is owned and operated as a rental, a unit that, upon its initial rental and upon all subsequent rentals of the unit after a vacancy, complies with the GEA 60% limit, or (B) if a multiple dwelling is owned and operated as a condominium or cooperative development by individual condominium unit owners or shareholders, a unit that, upon the initial sale of such unit, complies with the GEA 60% limit.

GEA SGA unit. "GEA SGA unit" shall mean (A) if a multiple dwelling is owned and operated as a rental, a unit that, upon its initial rental and upon all subsequent rentals of the unit after a vacancy, complies with the GEA SGA limit, or (B) if a multiple dwelling is owned and operated as a condominium or cooperative development by individual condominium unit owners or shareholders, a unit that, upon the initial sale of such unit, complies with the GEA SGA limit.

Multibuilding project. "Multibuilding project" shall mean a project that consists of more than one multiple dwelling where the multiple dwellings are contiguous and are under common ownership. For purposes of this definition of "multibuilding project", multiple dwellings shall be deemed to be (a) "contiguous" if such multiple dwellings are on tax lots that (1) are adjacent for at least ten linear feet, or, (2) but for the intervention of streets or street intersections, would be adjacent for at least ten linear feet and front the same street or intersection, and (b) "under common ownership" if at the date of commencement of construction, each of the multiple dwellings in such multibuilding project is owned and/or controlled directly or indirectly by the same individual or entity.

Onsite. "Onsite" shall mean situated within a building or buildings on the same zoning lot, or, if only a portion of such zoning lot is being granted benefits pursuant to the Act, situated within a building or buildings on such portion of such zoning lot; provided, however, that (1) each of the buildings on such zoning lot or portion thereof is part of the same application for benefits pursuant to the Act, (2) the periods of construction and final real property tax exemption benefits granted pursuant to the Act for all of the buildings on such zoning lot or portion thereof being granted benefits pursuant to the Act shall commence simultaneously, and (3) no final real property tax exemption benefits shall be granted pursuant to the Act for any of the buildings on such zoning lot or any portion thereof being granted benefits pursuant to the Act until receipt of a certificate of occupancy or a temporary certificate of occupancy for the residential portions of the building or buildings on such zoning lot containing the GEA 60% AMI units and/or the GEA SGA units.

Party in interest. "Party in interest" shall mean any person or entity holding an ownership, ground lease, mortgage, or other security interest, or holding any other interest which may be converted to such interest, in the real property containing the multiple dwelling receiving the benefits pursuant to the Act.

Prevailing rate. "Prevailing rate" shall mean the single family mortgage rate for a thirty-year fixed rate loan established by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Association and the Federal National Mortgage Association that is either (1) for purposes of the application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility, quoted for the month in which the construction of such multiple dwelling commences, or (2) for purposes of the application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility, quoted for the month in which the first certificate of occupancy or temporary certificate of occupancy for the first unit in such multiple dwelling that is owned and operated as a condominium or cooperative development by individual condominium unit owners or shareholders, is issued.

Utility allowance. "Utility allowance" shall mean an allowance set forth by the Department for the payment of utilities where the tenant of a GEA 60% AMI unit or a GEA SGA unit is required to pay all or a portion of the utility costs with respect to such unit in addition to any payments of rent.

(b) Multiple Dwellings Affected. (1) Unless otherwise exempted pursuant to the Act, a multiple dwelling within the geographic exclusion area that commences construction on or after July 1, 2008 and which would otherwise be eligible for the benefits of the Act, is only eligible if:

(i) not less than twenty percent of the onsite units in such multiple dwelling are GEA 60% AMI units; or

(ii) the construction of such multiple dwelling is carried out with substantial governmental assistance provided pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing and not less than twenty percent of the onsite units in such multiple dwelling are GEA SGA units; or

(iii) such multiple dwelling has purchased negotiable certificates in order to entitle it to the benefits of the Act for a specified number of units in the geographic exclusion area; provided, however, that such negotiable certificates were generated by a Written Agreement with the Department entered into prior to December 28, 2007 pursuant to §6-08(b)(4) of this chapter.

(2) For thirty-five years from the completion of construction, all GEA 60% AMI units and GEA SGA units in multiple dwellings must (i) if they are owned and operated as rentals, remain rent stabilized and allow tenants holding a lease and in occupancy at the expiration of such thirty-five year period to remain as rent stabilized tenants for the duration of their occupancy, (ii) comply with the affordability requirement, and (iii) upon the renewal of leases or at any time during the term of the lease, be rented to existing tenants for the lesser of (A) the rents permitted under the Rent Stabilization Law of 1969 and the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974 and all regulations promulgated in connection thereto (collectively, "Rent Stabilization Laws"), or (B) 30% of the applicable income limit for such GEA 60% AMI unit or GEA SGA unit, respectively, minus the amount of any applicable utility allowance, provided, however, that no increase authorized pursuant to 28 RCNY §6-04(b) of this chapter and no exemption or exclusion from any requirement of the Rent Stabilization Laws, including, but not limited to, any exemption or exclusion from the rent limits, renewal lease requirements, registration requirements, or other provisions of the Rent Stabilization Laws due to (a) the vacancy of a unit where the rent exceeds a prescribed maximum amount, (b) the fact that tenant income and/or unit rent exceed prescribed maximum amounts, (c) the nature of the tenant, or (d) any other factor, may be applied to any such GEA 60% AMI unit or GEA SGA unit during such thirty-five year period. Furthermore, the lease for each such unit owned and operated as a rental and for the renewal thereof must contain a notice in at least twelve (12) point type stating the approximate date on which such thirty-five year period is expected to expire and informing such tenant that after such thirty-five year period, (i) the unit will no longer have to comply with the affordability requirement and (ii) if the tenant is holding a lease and in occupancy at the expiration of such thirty-five year period, such tenant shall have the right to remain as a rent stabilized tenant for the duration of such tenant's occupancy. The rent stabilization and lease rider requirements contained in §6-02(g) of this chapter shall continue to apply to the multiple dwellings owned and operated as a rental containing such GEA 60% AMI units or GEA SGA units to the extent that they do not conflict with this paragraph.

(3) Unless otherwise exempted pursuant to the Act, the owner of a multiple dwelling that is located within the geographic exclusion area and that commences construction on or after July 1, 2008:

(i) when filing an application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility pursuant to §6-05(b) of this chapter, must submit (A) written certification that it meets the affordability requirement, or (B) if such multiple dwelling is qualifying for benefits pursuant to subparagraph (iii) of paragraph (2) of this subdivision, and subject to the provisions contained in §6-08(m)(1) of this chapter, submit either (a) a copy of a Written Agreement with the Department for the construction or substantial rehabilitation of housing units affordable to persons of low and moderate income on another site that meet the requirements of §6-08 of this chapter, or (b) the negotiable certificates issued pursuant to § 6-08 of this chapter, evidencing the bearer's entitlement to the benefits of the Act for the units for which the owner is seeking tax benefits.

(ii) when filing an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility pursuant to §6-05(d) of this chapter for a multiple dwelling that contains GEA 60% AMI units or GEA SGA units, submit evidence satisfactory to the Office that a restrictive declaration in a form satisfactory to the Office (A) has been executed by all parties in interest, (B) has been recorded against the real property containing the multiple dwelling receiving benefits pursuant to the Act, and (C) provides that the GEA 60% AMI units or the GEA SGA units in such building must for thirty-five years from the completion of construction (1) comply with the affordability requirement, and (2) if such multiple dwelling is owned and operated as a rental, remain rent stabilized and allow tenants holding a lease and in occupancy at the expiration of such thirty-five year period to remain as rent stabilized tenants for the duration of their occupancy.

(iii) when filing an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility pursuant to §6-05(d) of this chapter for a multiple dwelling that contains GEA 60% AMI units or GEA SGA units and unless the dwelling units in such multiple dwelling are marketed under the Department's monitoring, submit an affidavit from the owner containing such information as the Department may require to certify that such units will be marketed pursuant to a fair and open process in accordance with the Department's marketing guidelines, and that either (A) residents of the community board where the multiple dwelling for which benefits are being granted pursuant to the Act is located shall, upon initial occupancy, have priority for the purchase or rental of 50% of the GEA 60% AMI units or 50% of the GEA SGA units, respectively, or (B) such multiple dwelling does not have to comply with such community priority requirement because the community priority requirement is preempted by federal requirements that such owner has specified in such affidavit.

(iv) in addition to the record keeping requirements contained in §6-07 of this chapter, must retain all books, records and documents relating to the GEA 60% AMI units or GEA SGA units, including an annual schedule of rents for each such rental unit for thirty-five years from the completion of construction of such multiple dwelling, and a schedule of the initial sales prices for each such home ownership unit for six years from the completion of construction of such multiple dwelling, and make them available for inspection by the Department.

(4) In addition to the grounds for revocation provided pursuant to §6-07 of this chapter, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance or the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development may withdraw tax exemption granted to a building pursuant to the Act, retroactively or prospectively, upon its failure to comply with any of the provisions of this §6-09.

(5) Unless otherwise exempted pursuant to the Act, any multiple dwelling that commences construction on or after December 28, 2007 and which would otherwise be eligible for the benefits of the Act, is only eligible if: (i) such multiple dwelling contains at least four dwelling units as set forth in the certificate of occupancy, unless the construction of such multiple dwelling is carried out with substantial governmental assistance provided pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing; and

(ii) if such new multiple dwelling is situated in (a) a Neighborhood Preservation Program Area as determined by the Department as of June 1, 1985, or (b) a Neighborhood Preservation Area as determined by the New York City Planning Commission as of June 1, 1985, or (c) an area that was eligible for mortgage insurance provided by the Rehabilitation Mortgage Insurance Corporation (REMIC) as of May 1, 1992, or (d) an area receiving funding for a neighborhood preservation project pursuant to the Neighborhood Reinvestment Corporation Act (42 U.S.C. Sections 8101 et seq.) as of June 1, 1985, such new multiple dwelling shall no longer be eligible for the benefits available pursuant to §421-a(2)(a)(iii) of the Act unless either (a) the construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance provided pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing, or (b) the Department has imposed a requirement or has certified that at least twenty percent of the onsite units in such multiple dwelling are affordable to and occupied by or affordable to and available for occupancy by individuals or families whose incomes at the time of initial occupancy do not exceed eighty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size, provided, however, that of such units, no more than a number equal to five percent of the number of units which commenced construction in buildings receiving tax benefits pursuant to the Act in the previous calendar year shall be affordable to and occupied by or affordable to and available for occupancy by individuals or families whose incomes at the time of initial occupancy are between sixty percent and eighty percent of the area median incomes adjusted for family size.

(6) Unless otherwise exempted pursuant to the Act, any multiple dwelling that commences construction on or after July 1, 2008 and which would otherwise be eligible for benefits pursuant to the Act, shall be subject to the provisions of subdivision 9 of the Act imposing an exemption cap on such multiple dwelling.

(7) Eligible multiple dwellings that meet the requirements of paragraphs (1) or (5) (ii) of this subdivision (b) may receive a ten, fifteen, twenty or twenty-five year tax exemption, as described herein. In order to qualify for such benefits, the multiple dwelling must meet the eligibility requirements described below for each level of exemption.

(i) Only the ten year exemption is available to multiple dwellings located in Manhattan on tax lots now existing or hereafter created south of or adjacent to either side of 110th street if such multiple dwelling meets the requirements of subparagraph (iii) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision (b).

(ii) Only the fifteen year exemption is available to multiple dwellings located in the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Staten Island and in Manhattan north of 110th Street if such multiple dwelling meets the requirements of subparagraph (iii) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision (b).

(iii) The twenty year exemption is available in the borough of Manhattan for buildings on tax lots now existing or hereafter created south of or adjacent to either side of one hundred tenth street only if such multiple dwelling meets the requirements of subparagraph (i) or (ii) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision (b) or the requirements of subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (5) of this subdivision (b).

(iv) The twenty-five year exemption is available to multiple dwellings located in the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Staten Island or Manhattan north of 110th Street only if such multiple dwelling meets the requirements of subparagraph (i) or (ii) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision (b) or the requirements of subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (5) of this subdivision (b).

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 20, 2008:

These rule amendments provide regulatory guidance for the new affordability requirements for the expanded Geographic Exclusion Area and some of the new limitations on eligibility for benefits pursuant to Real Property Tax Law §421-a throughout the City of New York as enacted by Local Law 58 of 2006, Chapters 618, 619 and 620 of the Laws of 2007, and Chapter 15 of the Laws of 2008 (hereinafter "State Amendments").

Local Law 58 of 2006 eliminates as-of-right 25 year 421-a benefits for projects located in NPP/REMIC areas and now provides that projects located in these areas will only get 25 years of benefits if they meet on-site affordability requirements or receive substantial governmental assistance pursuant to an affordable housing program. It also eliminates 421-a benefits for three-unit buildings unless they are constructed with substantial governmental assistance pursuant to an affordable housing program. Finally, Local Law 58 expands the boundaries of the Geographic Exclusion Area and eliminates the negotiable certificate program. Now, affordable units must be provided onsite in order for projects in the Geographic Exclusion Area to be eligible to receive 421-a real property tax exemption benefits. In order to ascertain which projects are subject to the new requirements, Local Law 58 refines the definition of "commencement of construction" and now requires not only an architect or professional engineer's certification that excavation and construction of initial footings and foundations has commenced in good faith after the issuance of a building or alteration permit based upon architectural, plumbing and structural plans, but also an architect or professional engineer's certification that such construction has been completed without undue delay.

The State Amendments, among other things, further expand the boundaries of the Geographic Exclusion Area. They also mandate specified income limits for buildings to qualify for benefits within the expanded Geographic Exclusion Area. If no substantial governmental assistance is utilized, at least 20% of the units must at initial rental or sale and at all subsequent rentals upon vacancy be affordable to individuals or families whose incomes are at or below 60% of area median income. If construction is carried out with substantial governmental assistance provided pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing, at least 20% of the units must meet one of the following requirements: (a) initial and subsequent rentals in buildings with 25 units or less must be affordable to individuals or families whose incomes are at or below 120% of area median income, (b) initial and subsequent rentals in buildings with more than 25 units must be affordable to individuals or families whose incomes are at or below 120% of area median income and cannot exceed an average of 90% of area median income, or (c) homeownership units at initial sale must be affordable to individuals or families whose incomes are at or below 125% of area median income.

The State Amendments impose a requirement that residents of the community board in which the building receiving 421-a benefits is located be given priority for the purchase or rental of 50% of the affordable units. They also require the affordable units in the Geographic Exclusion Area to meet one of the following requirements unless they are otherwise preempted by federal requirements: (a) have a comparable number of bedrooms as market rate units and a unit mix proportional to market rate units, (b) at least 50% of the affordable units must have two or more bedrooms and no more than 50% of the remaining units can be smaller than one bedroom, or (c) the floor area of affordable units must be no less than 20% of the total floor area of all dwelling units. Furthermore, affordable rental units in the Geographic Exclusion Area must now be kept affordable and rent stabilized for 35 years, and after such 35 year period, tenants with leases may remain as rent stabilized tenants for the duration of their occupancy.

The State Amendments require buildings receiving 421-a benefits to pay their building service employees prevailing wages unless they contain less than 50 dwelling units or at least 50% of their units are affordable to persons at or below 125% of area median income and, where rental units, will remain affordable throughout the 421-a benefit period. They also impose an exemption cap on 421-a benefits for those buildings not entitled to extended 421-a benefits or that are not otherwise exempt.

The rule amendments address these aspects of Local Law 58 and the State Amendments in a new §6-09 and leave intact those provisions that remain applicable Citywide and in the preexisting Geographic Exclusion Area. In order to ensure that the mandated affordability requirements are met, they additionally stipulate the authorized rents to be charged at initial and subsequent occupancy of rental units and the initial sales prices of homeownership units. They also impose a Citywide requirement that substantial governmental assistance be pursuant to a program for the development of affordable housing and provide further definition of what constitutes an affordable housing program. Finally, they articulate which boundaries of the Geographic Exclusion Area are applicable at designated time periods prior to July 1, 2008, after which the boundaries will be statutorily defined, and conform the unit and bedroom mix requirements in the existing Geographic Exclusion Area to those that will apply elsewhere in the expanded Geographic Exclusion Area pursuant to the State Amendments.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record June 12, 2009: These rule amendments address the current crisis in the financial markets by authorizing the Department, when it is determining whether a project has been completed without undue delay, to consider certain financial difficulties such as mortgage foreclosure or the inability to obtain the necessary financing to complete a project.

CHAPTER 6 TAX EXEMPTION PURSUANT TO §421-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW AND §11-245 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

§6-10 Applicability of Certain Provisions.

Except as otherwise specifically provided therein, the amendments to this chapter six that became effective on June 19, 2008, shall only apply to multiple dwellings that commence construction on or after July 1, 2008. For purposes of determining when any such multiple dwelling has commenced construction, the definition of "commence" in such amendments shall apply and, where it is determined that such multiple dwelling commenced construction on or after July 1, 2008, the definition of "commence" in such amendments shall supersede the definition of "commencement of construction" contained in §6-01 of this chapter.

HISTORICAL NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 23, 2009:

These proposed rule amendments provide that the new construction requirements for affordable units created in accordance with 28 RCNY §6-08(b)(1) adopted by amendments that took effect on June 19, 2008 ("June 19 Amendments") apply to multiple dwellings that commence construction on or after December 28, 2007. They also clarify the title of §6-09, also added by the June 19th Amendments, because such amendments also relate to certain changes to the 421-a requirements pursuant to Local Law 58 of 2006, which took effect on December 28, 2007. The proposed rule amendments revise the definition of "commence" in the June 19th Amendments by adding a provision that specifies that, under certain circumstances, such definition supersedes the definition of "commencement of construction" in §6-01 of the 421-a rules. Finally, the proposed rule amendments add a new applicability provision to Chapter 6 that relates specifically to the June 19 Amendments. Unless the June 19 Amendments specifically provide otherwise, they will only be applicble to multiple dwellings that commence construction on or after July 1, 2008 and the definition of "commence" in such amendments would then supersede the definition of "commencement of construction" in §6-01 of the 421-a rules."

On July 1, 2008, many major revisions to the Real Property Tax Law §421-a tax exemption program took effect. The new applicability provision would accomplish a more judicious implementation of the new requirements for benefits.

28 RCNY 6 - APPENDIX A

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

APPENDIX A ANNUAL SCHEDULE OF REASONABLE COSTS

APPENDIX A ANNUAL SCHEDULE OF REASONABLE COSTS

(a) Construction costs. The construction cost component of the Total Project Cost, excluding land acquisition costs, site preparation costs, and off-site costs, shall be determined by the use of the latest available Calculator Valuation Guide, published by Calculator Inc., or a comparable publication designated by the Office. Applicants whose construction costs include unique and special costs and are therefore at variance with the Calculator Valuation Guide will be required to produce detailed documentation establishing these costs. Except in cases where such unique costs are approved, the Construction Costs Allowance will be limited to the maximum established by the Calculator Valuation Guide, minus the Builder's Fee.

(b) Off-site and other costs. In recognition of the fact that off-site costs, including but not limited to legal, engineering, and architectural fees, insurance, interest and taxes during construction, and title and mortgage fees, may vary greatly with the size of a project, these costs as well as such other amounts as are ordinarily incurred in connection with the construction, conversion or rehabilitation of a multiple dwelling, will be reviewed and analyzed independently with respect to each building.

(c) Operating and maintenance schedule. (1) Real estate taxes. Projected real estate taxes shall equal the actual assessed value of the property in the tax year prior to the start of construction multiplied by the projected tax rate for the tax year in which completion is expected. The projected tax rate shall be determined by increasing the current tax rate at the time the application is received by 5 percent for each year between such current year and the projected year of completion.

(2) Replacement reserve. The replacement reserve shall equal six-tenths of 1 percent of construction costs approved pursuant to item (a) of the Annual Schedule of Reasonable Costs.

(3) Other operating and maintenance expense maximum allowances. The schedule of maximum allowances listed below shall apply except when the schedule amounts for each commodity shall be increased or decreased on a compounded annual basis for each year between publication of these rules and the year of projected project completion based upon the Price Indices of Operating Costs (PIOC) percentages published annually by the Rent Guidelines Board for each commodity. For the purposes of projecting future allowances in years for which the PIOC is not available, the Office will apply the percentage for the most recent year for which the Index is available for each subsequent year prior to the estimated completion date. The office will allow the lesser of the owner's claimed costs and the maximum allowance listed below for each commodity.

1. Categories are defined as specified by the Price Index of Operating Costs published by the Rent Guidelines Board.

2. To qualify for a Labor allowance, applicants must submit a list of all personnel to be employed in the maintenance and operation of each building along with corresponding projected wage and salary data. Projects with five units or less are not eligible for the Labor allowance.

3. Available only when the owner pays apartment gas bills.

4. Does not include electricity within apartments.

(d) Vacancy reserve and management and administration fee. The vacancy reserve allowance and the management and administration fee shall together be equal to 9 percent of the sum of the expenses determined pursuant to §§6-04(a)(1)(i), (iii), and (iv) of this Chapter less the amount determined pursuant to §6-04(a)(1)(v) of this Chapter.

(e) Room calculation. For purposes of this Appendix A's schedule of maximum allowances, the number of rooms shall be calculated in accordance with the definition of "room count" contained in subdivision (c) of §6-01 of this chapter.

CHAPTER 7 PARTIAL TAX EXEMPTION FOR PRIVATE DWELLINGS PURSUANT TO §421-B OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

The following terms shall have the following meaning:

Act. "Act" means §421-b of the Real Property Tax Law as amended.

Commencement of new construction. "Commencement of new construction" means the date upon which the foundation is started in good faith as certified in an affidavit by a licensed architect or professional engineer after the issuance of a new building permit by the Department of Buildings based upon plans approved by the Department of Buildings.

Commencement of reconstruction. "Commencement of reconstruction" means the date upon which work begins in good faith after the filing of a building notice with the Department of Buildings or the issuance of an alteration permit where required.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York or the chief executive officer of a successor thereto authorized to administer this chapter, or such representative of said Department as shall have been duly designated by the Commissioner to act on his behalf.

Completion of new construction. "Completion of new construction" means the date a Certificate of Occupancy is issued by the Department of Buildings for lawful residential use.

Completion of reconstruction. "Completion of reconstruction" means the date all work necessary to complete reconstruction is completed. Such completion may be confirmed by:

(1) Issuance or reissuance of a Certificate of Occupancy; or

(2) Issuance of a Letter of Completion by the Department of Buildings; or

(3) Issuance of a Certificate of Completion or Compliance or other evidence of completion by a City agency other than the Department of Buildings; or

(4) If none of the above is required by law, an affidavit by a registered architect, licensed professional engineer or attorney certifying to the date of completion or an affidavit by the applicant if the cost of work is less than five thousand ($5,000) dollars.

Department. "Department" means the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York.

Office. "Office" means the Office of Development of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York or any successor thereto authorized to administer this chapter.

Prior assessed valuation. "Prior assessed valuation" means the total assessed value of a tax lot (land and improvements) during the tax year immediately preceding the tax year of Commencement of New Construction or Commencement of Reconstruction.

Private dwelling. "Private dwelling" means a building or structure, including the land upon which it is situated, which is designed and occupied exclusively for residence purposes by not more than two families living independently of each other with separate cooking facilities.

Reconstruction. "Reconstruction" means reconstruction, alteration or improvement of a Private Dwelling if the actual cost thereof is not less than forty (40%) percent of Prior Assessed Valuation.

§7-03 Amount and Duration of Tax Exemption.

(a) Taxes on prior assessed valuation not subject to exemption. Taxes on prior assessed valuation are not eligible for exemption under the Act. The prior assessed valuation is subject to taxes at the tax rate in effect from time-to-time.

(b) Exemption during construction or reconstruction. (1) Eligible projects which have received a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall be exempt from taxes (other than assessments for local improvements) upon any increase in assessed valuation over the prior assessed valuation for the period specified in paragraph (2) of this §7-03(b).

(2) The period of exemption shall commence upon the first day of the tax year immediately following the taxable status date (January 25th) after the commencement of construction or reconstruction and shall extend for two years after commencement of construction or reconstruction, unless construction or reconstruction is completed in less than two years in which case the period of exemption will terminate on the first day of the first tax year following completion of construction or reconstruction.

(c) Exemption after construction or reconstruction. Following the period specified in paragraph (2) of §7-03(b), an increase in assessed valuation over the prior assessed valuation of eligible projects which have received a Final Certificate of Eligibility shall be exempt from taxes (other than assessments for local improvements) for eight consecutive tax years pursuant to the following schedule:

(a) False or misleading application. If the applicant has furnished information which is incorrect or misleading in any substantial respect or which fails to comply with these regulations and if the breach or omission has not been cured within ninety (90) days, or such lesser time as may be designated by the Office, after notice has been given to the applicant and any subsequent owner or mortgagee of the private dwelling registered with the Office, the Office shall revoke a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility.

(b) Failure to complete within required time. If the applicant fails to complete construction or reconstruction within the time provided in paragraph (2) of §7-03(b), the Office shall revoke a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility.

(c) Non-conforming use. If the Office determines that a private dwelling is not being used for residential purposes at any time after two years of tax exemption received pursuant to these regulations, the Office shall revoke a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility.

(d) Procedure upon revocation. The Office shall advise the Department of Finance that a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility has been revoked. The Department of Finance shall prospectively withdraw tax exemption granted to an eligible project unless revocation occurred pursuant to §7-04(a) in which case the Department of Finance shall reinstate the amount of taxes which have been exempted, together with interest, at the rate of fifteen (15%) percent per annum to be calculated from the day on which such taxes would have been payable but for the exemption.

(e) Criminal penalties. In addition to revocation of tax exemption, applicants who submit applications which

§7-05 Application Procedure.

(a) General requirements. All applicants must file an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility. An application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility must also be filed if tax exemption during new construction or reconstruction is requested. Applicants who do not file an application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall be required to furnish the information required in an application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility and pay the Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility filing fee at the time they submit their application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility. All applications must be filed with the Director of Tax Incentive Programs, 100 Gold Street, New York, N.Y. 10038 between March 16 and January 31. The Office will not accept applications between February 1 and March 15.

(b) New construction: Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility. An application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall be filed within ninety (90) days of commencement of new construction and prior to the issuance of a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy or a Certificate of Occupancy. The application shall include:

(1) A non-refundable filing fee in the amount of one hundred twenty-five ($125) dollars for each newly constructed private dwelling.

(2) Applicant's affidavit in the form required by the Department which shall certify that plans have been submitted to and approved by the Department of Buildings.

(3) Proof to the satisfaction of the Office of the Eligible Project's Prior Assessed Valuation.

(4) An affidavit by a licensed architect or professional engineer as to the date of commencement of new construction.

(c) Reconstruction: Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility. An application for a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility shall be filed within ninety (90) days of the date of Commencement of Reconstruction. The application shall include:

(1) A non-refundable filing fee in the amount of ten ($10) dollars for each reconstructed private dwelling.

(2) Applicant's certification as to the date of commencement of reconstruction and that the cost of reconstruction will be not less than forty (40%) percent of the prior assessed valuation.

(3) Applicant's certification of the cost or estimated cost of reconstruction and prior assessed valuation.

(d) New construction: Final Certificate of Eligibility. An application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility shall be filed within ninety (90) days of issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy. The application shall include:

(1) A copy of the building permit.

(2) A copy of the Certificate of Occupancy.

(e) Reconstruction:Final Certificate of Eligibility. An application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility shall be filed within ninety (90) days of completion of reconstruction. The application shall include:

(1) Confirmation of completion of reconstruction.

(2) Proof to the satisfaction of the Office that the actual cost of reconstruction is not less than forty (40%) percent of the prior assessed valuation which shall include but not be limited to: copies of paid bills, cancelled checks and work contracts.

(3) Copy of building permit or alteration permit where required.

(f) Filing with the Department of Finance. Upon receipt of the application for a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility, and upon the Office's determination that a private dwelling is entitled to tax exemption pursuant to the Act, the Office shall issue a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility. Applicants shall file with the Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility and the Final Certificate of Eligibility with the appropriate Borough officer of the Real Property Assessment Bureau of the Department of Finance on the next following February 1 through March 15 filing period, together with an application to said Department for tax exemption.

(g) All applicants for a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility must, in addition to the timely filing of an application, provide all of the required documentation for such application on or before December 31, 2010.

(h) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, the Department may waive the filing deadlines for an application for a Final Certificate of Eligibility set forth in §§7-05(d) and 7-05(e) of this chapter if (1) the Department, in its sole discretion, determines that the owner of such private dwelling reasonably relied upon a representation by the seller of such private dwelling that the seller would file or had filed the application for the Final Certificate of Eligibility, and (2) the owner of such private dwelling provides all of the required documentation for such application on or before December 31, 2010.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 22, 2006:

HPD's rules require applications for Final Certificates of Eligibility for 421-b tax benefits to be filed within 90 days of issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy for a new private dwelling. The rule amendment allows HPD to waive the filing deadline for such applications in certain instances in order to ensure that homeowners who purchase private dwellings with the reasonable expectation that their new homes will be eligible for 421-b benefits are not penalized due to the seller's misrepresentations regarding the filing of a 421-b application. The rule amendments also provide that all of the required documentation for any application for a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility must be filed on or before December 31, 2008.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 5, 2008: The RPTL §421-b tax incentive program currently applies to residences which commence construction before July 1, 2006. The program was not extended by the Legislature, so its application has ceased with the exception of unfinished units, which were previously required to obtain a certificate of occupancy by July 1, 2008. However, the State Legislature recently extended the deadline for completion of projects eligible for RPTL §421-b benefits from July 1, 2008 to July 1, 2009. The reason for this extension was that the downturn in the housing market coupled with the difficulty involved in obtaining construction financing had prevented some builders from completing projects which were commenced in compliance with the RPTL §421-b program. In 2006, HPD adopted rule amendments that allowed it to waive the filing deadline for RPTL §421-b applications in certain instances in order to ensure that homeowners who purchase private dwellings with the reasonable expectation that their new homes will be eligible for 421-b benefits are not penalized due to the seller's misrepresentations regarding the filing of a 421-b application. The 2006 rule amendments also provided that all of the required documentation for any application for a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility must be filed on or before December 31, 2008. Due to the above-mentioned completion extension, HPD is now extending the deadline for filing required documentation for such tax exemption benefits from December 31, 2008 to December 31, 2009.

3. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 18, 2009: The RPTL §421-b tax incentive program currently applies to residences which commence construction before July 1, 2006. The program was not extended by the Legislature, so its application has ceased with the exception of unfinished units, which were previously required to obtain a certificate of occupancy by July 1, 2009. However, the State Legislature recently extended the deadline for completion of projects eligible for RPTL §421-b benefits from July 1, 2009 to July 1, 2010. The reason for this extension was that the downturn in the housing market coupled with the difficulty involved in obtaining construction financing had prevented some builders from completing projects which were commenced in compliance with the RPTL §421-b program. In 2006, HPD adopted rule amendments that allowed it to waive the filing deadline for RPTL §421-b applications in certain instances in order to ensure that homeowners who purchase private dwellings with the reasonable expectation that their new homes will be eligible for 421-b benefits are not penalized due to the seller's misrepresentations regarding the filing of a 421-b application. The 2006 rule amendments also provided that all of the required documentation for any application for a Preliminary or Final Certificate of Eligibility must be filed on or before December 31, 2008. The State Legislature previously extended the completion deadline to July 1, 2009 and HPD amended its rules accordingly to extend to deadline for submission of documentation to December 31, 2009. Due to the above-mentioned additional completion extension, HPD is now extending the deadline for filing required documentation for such tax exemption benefits from December 31, 2009 to December 31, 2010.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 8*1 TAX LIEN SALES AND IN REM FORECLOSURE AFFECTING DISTRESSED PROPERTIES AND CERTAIN OTHER PROPERTIES

§8-01 Scope; Definitions.

Administrative Code §§11-301 et seq. and Administrative Code §§11-401 et seq. establish a procedure for sale of tax liens and a procedure for the Commissioner of Finance to deliver a deed conveying a tax delinquent property to a qualified Third Party after final judgment is rendered in an in rem foreclosure action. These rules clarify the circumstances under which certain property may be removed from tax lien sales and how Third Parties may be qualified and selected to acquire property from the Commissioner of Finance pursuant to a judgment rendered in an in rem foreclosure action.

Affiliate. "Affiliate" shall mean (a) any Person that has, directly or indirectly, a five percent (5%) or greater ownership interest in a Third Party, or any Person in which a Third Party, any partner or shareholder of a Third Party, or any partner or shareholder of any Person that is a partner or shareholder of a Third Party, has a five percent (5%) or greater ownership interest, and (b) any individual who is a member of the immediate family (whether by birth or marriage) of an individual who is an Affiliate, which includes for purposes of this definition a spouse, a domestic partner as defined in City Charter §1150(13), a brother or sister of the whole or half blood (including an individual related by or through legal adoption) of such individual or his/her spouse or domestic partner, a lineal descendant or ancestor (including an individual related by or through legal adoption) of any of the foregoing, or a trust for the benefit of any of the foregoing. Ownership of or by a Third Party referred to in this definition includes beneficial ownership effected by ownership of intermediate entities.

Distressed Property. "Distressed Property" shall mean any parcel of class one or class two real property that is subject to a tax lien or liens with a lien or liens to value ratio, as determined by the Commissioner of Finance, equal to or greater than fifteen percent and that meets one of the following two criteria:

(a) such parcel has an average of five or more hazardous or immediately hazardous violations of record of the Housing Maintenance Code per dwelling unit; or

(b) such parcel is subject to a lien or liens for any expenses incurred by HPD for the repair or the elimination of any dangerous or unlawful conditions therein, pursuant to Administrative Code §27-2144, in an amount equal to or greater than one thousand dollars.

HPD. "HPD" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

Neighborhood Preservation Consultant. "Neighborhood Preservation Consultant" shall mean an organization under contract with HPD to undertake activities in connection with the Third Party Transfer Process within a particular area.

Not-for-profit Qualified Developer. "Not-for-profit Qualified Developer" shall mean a not-for-profit entity that has been found eligible by HPD to participate in the Third Party Transfer Process.

Person. "Person" shall mean any natural person, business entity, trust or estate, or any federal, state, county or municipal government or any bureau, department or agency thereof; and any fiduciary acting in such capacity on behalf of any of the foregoing.

Regulatory Agreement. "Regulatory Agreement" shall mean an agreement between HPD and a Third Party selected for conveyance of property pursuant to the Third Party Transfer Process that restricts or conditions the use of such property.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean these Rules.

Tenants. "Tenants" shall mean legal residential Tenants of a property that is subject to the Third Party Transfer Process. Squatters and other unlawful occupants are not Tenants.

Third Party. "Third Party" shall mean an entity or individual that may be deemed qualified and selected by the Commissioner of HPD as eligible to acquire a property pursuant to the Third Party Transfer Process.

Third Party Transfer Process. "Third Party Transfer Process" shall mean the process under which certain properties are transferred to Third Parties pursuant to Administrative Code §§11-401 et seq. and these Rules.

CHAPTER 8*1 TAX LIEN SALES AND IN REM FORECLOSURE AFFECTING DISTRESSED PROPERTIES AND CERTAIN OTHER PROPERTIES

§8-02 Procedures for Distressed Property.

(a) The Commissioner of Finance shall, not less than sixty days preceding the date of the sale of a tax lien or tax liens, submit to the Commissioner of HPD a description by block and lot, or by such other identification as the Commissioner of Finance may deem appropriate, of any parcel of class one or class two real property on which there is a tax lien that may be sold by the City. The Commissioner of HPD shall determine, and advise the Commissioner of Finance, not less than ten days preceding the date of the sale of a tax lien or tax liens, whether any such parcel is a Distressed Property as defined in §8-01 of these Rules. Any tax lien on a parcel so determined to be a Distressed Property shall not be included in such sale.

In connection with a subsequent sale of a tax lien or tax liens, the Commissioner of Finance may, not less than sixty days preceding the date of the sale, resubmit to the Commissioner of HPD a description by block and lot, or by such other identification as the Commissioner of Finance may deem appropriate, of any parcel of class one or class two real property that was previously determined to be a Distressed Property pursuant to these Rules and on which there is a tax lien that may be included in such sale. The Commissioner of HPD shall determine, and advise the Commissioner of Finance, not less than ten days preceding the date of the sale, whether such parcel remains a Distressed Property. If the Commissioner of HPD determines that the parcel is not a Distressed Property, then the tax lien on the parcel may be included in such sale.

(b) The Commissioner of HPD may periodically review whether a parcel of class one or class two real property remains a Distressed Property. If the Commissioner determines that the parcel is not a Distressed Property as defined in these Rules, then the tax lien on the parcel may be included in a tax lien sale.

(c) The Commissioner of HPD may recommend to the Commissioner of Finance that a tax lien on a parcel of property other than a Distressed Property should not be included in a tax lien sale. The Commissioner of Finance, may, in his or her sole discretion, exclude such tax lien on such parcel from a tax lien sale, in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioner of HPD.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 8*1 TAX LIEN SALES AND IN REM FORECLOSURE AFFECTING DISTRESSED PROPERTIES AND CERTAIN OTHER PROPERTIES

§8-03 Qualification and Selection of a Third Party.

(a) In an in rem foreclosure action, the court shall make a final judgment authorizing the award of possession of any parcel of class one or class two real property described in the list of delinquent taxes not redeemed or withdrawn from the in rem foreclosure action as provided in Chapter 4 of Title 11 of the Administrative Code and as to which no answer is interposed as provided in such chapter, and authorizing the Commissioner of Finance to prepare, execute and cause to be recorded a deed conveying full and complete title to such property either to the City or to a Third Party deemed qualified and selected by the Commissioner of HPD.

(b) Such Third Party shall be deemed qualified and shall be selected pursuant to such criteria as are established in these Rules. The Commissioner of HPD shall not deem qualified any Third Party who has been finally adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction, within seven years of the date on which such Third Party would otherwise be deemed qualified, to have violated any section of articles one hundred fifty (relating to arson), one hundred seventy-five (relating to offenses involving false written statements), one hundred seventy-six (relating to insurance fraud), one hundred eighty (relating to bribery not involving public servants, and related offenses), one hundred eighty-five (relating to fraud on creditors) or two hundred (relating to bribery involving public servants and related offenses) of the Penal Law or any similar laws of another jurisdiction, or who has been suspended or debarred from contracting with the City or any agency of the City pursuant to §335 of the Charter, during the period of such suspension or debarment.

(c) Other bases for disqualification of a Third Party may include, but shall not be limited to, any of the following:

(1) Record of Housing Maintenance Code violations, including, but not limited to class B and class C violations, legal proceedings to enforce the Housing Maintenance Code including, but not limited to, litigation by HPD's Housing Litigation Bureau, or Emergency Repair Program charges with respect to any real property owned or managed by a Third Party or such Third Party's spouse or domestic partner, as defined in City Charter §1150(13), or by any Affiliate of such Third Party or of such Third Party's spouse or domestic partner;

(2) Arrears on taxes, water and sewer charges, or other governmental charges or tax, mortgage, or lien foreclosure or enforcement proceedings with respect to any real property owned by a Third Party or such Third Party's spouse or domestic partner, as defined in City Charter §1150(13), or by any Affiliate of such Third Party or of such Third Party's spouse or domestic partner;

(3) Arrears or defaults on other governmental obligations;

(4) Default or poor performance on a government contract;

(5) Re-designation or termination of negotiations after selection for a government project or contract;

(6) Non-responsibility determination by a government agency;

(7) Conviction or pending charges of fraud, bribery, grand larceny, any other felony, arson, or tenant harassment;

(8) Any other similar facts which demonstrate to HPD that a Third Party is not qualified for selection.

(d) HPD may select a Third Party for conveyance of a property pursuant to the Third Party Transfer Process by any method which it determines will best meet the purposes of such process, including, without limitation, selection:

(1) by a request for qualifications process;

(2) by a request for proposals process;

(3) from a pre-qualified list;

(4) by a request for offer process; or

(5) by a direct selection of an entity judged by HPD to be qualified.

(e) In selecting a Third Party, HPD shall consider:

(1) residential management experience;

(2) financial capacity;

(3) rehabilitation experience;

(4) ability to work with government and community organizations;

(5) neighborhood ties;

(6) ability to finance or obtain financing for the required rehabilitation; (7) whether the Third party is a not for profit organization or neighborhood-based-for-profit individual or organization;

(8) intent and ability to improve, manage and maintain the property to be transferred;

(9) whether an application has been submitted under sponsorship of a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer on behalf of the Tenants for eventual ownership by the Tenants of a property that is subject to an in rem judgment of foreclosure.

(i) Such an application must be submitted to HPD in such form as HPD shall approve, on or before the date that is specified by HPD in the written notice to Tenants made pursuant to subdivision (c) of §8-04 of these rules; (ii) Such application must be sponsored by a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer and accompanied by a letter from such Not-for-profit Qualified Developer indicating that the Not-for-profit Qualified Developer is applying for transfer of the foreclosed property, is prepared to acquire, manage and rehabilitate the foreclosed property, and is sponsoring the Tenants in their effort to eventually own such property; and

(iii) Such application shall only be considered where: (A) the foreclosed property contains at least 10 residential units, (B) such property is at least 50 percent occupied; and (C) the application is signed by 60% of the Tenant households of such property; and

(10) any other factors that HPD deems relevant to such selection.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 30, 2005:

These rules amend provisions relating to the timing of the notice provided to tenants of buildings that are in an in rem foreclosure action and setting the deadline for submission of tenant petitions. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) sends a notice to tenants to inform them about the in rem action and about options that may be available to them under the Third Party Transfer Program. The proposed rules remove the specific time periods within which the notice must be sent and within which the deadline for submissions of tenant petitions must be set. Both time periods were tied to the date of entry of the foreclosure judgment. However, since the date of entry of the judgment is within the court's discretion and is generally not controlled by the agency, it has sometimes proved difficult to strictly adhere to the regulatory time periods. With these amendments HPD has the flexibility to continue to provide ample time for notification to tenants and submission of tenant petitions.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 18, 2008: The proposed amendments clarify criteria for submission of a tenant petition application under sponsorship of a not-for-profit entity during the Third Party Transfer process. The amendments also clarify an interim evaluation period for buildings where a tenant petition application has been submitted, to ensure that the tenants in such buildings receive training and are made aware of the milestones that must be met for the building to eventually transfer to tenant ownership. Finally, the rules clarify the process for notifying tenants of buildings that are subject to a supplemental judgment of foreclosure.

§8-04 Third Party Transfer Process.

(a) After the four-month period following the entry of a final in rem judgment with respect to a parcel of real property, but prior to expiration of the time set forth in Administrative Code §§11-401 et seq. for the conveyance of title to such real property to a Third Party following such judgment, HPD may:

(1) request the Commissioner of Finance to execute a deed to a Third Party selected by HPD; or

(2) take such other action as may be permitted by Administrative Code §§11-401 et seq. as HPD deems appropriate.

(b) If HPD selects a Third Party to acquire a property, HPD may arrange a closing date and may deliver the deed to the Third Party provided that the proposed conveyance has not been disapproved pursuant to Administrative Code §11-412.2.

(c) HPD will provide a written notice to Tenants of properties that are the subject of an in rem judgment of foreclosure and eligible for the Third Party Transfer Program. Such notice will advise Tenants of the foreclosure action, briefly describe the Third Party Transfer Program, and advise Tenants of an opportunity to apply for eventual ownership of such property under the sponsorship of a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer. Such notice shall be provided prior to entry of such judgment for such property and will be posted in a common area of the property, provided, however, that in the case of a property that is subject to a supplemental judgment of foreclosure due to a default in an installment agreement or a property that is subject to a summary judgment of foreclosure due to dismissal of an owner answer, such notice shall be provided prior to entry of such judgment or as soon as practicable thereafter. In addition, HPD will make an effort to place such notice beneath the doors of individual units in such properties.

CHAPTER 8*1 TAX LIEN SALES AND IN REM FORECLOSURE AFFECTING DISTRESSED PROPERTIES AND CERTAIN OTHER PROPERTIES

§8-06 Interim Evaluation Period.

(a) A property that has been transferred to a Third Party for which a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer has sponsored a Tenant application pursuant to §8-03(e)(9) of these rules shall be subject to an interim evaluation period during which progress toward eventual ownership by Tenants will be monitored by HPD.

(b) No later than thirty days after transfer to a Third Party of a property for which a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer has sponsored a Tenant application pursuant to §8-03(e)(9) of these rules, such Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer shall inform the Tenants that the property has entered into an interim evaluation period, and shall provide information to the Tenants about the process toward eventual ownership by the Tenants. Such Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer shall make training available to such Tenants, no later than ninety days after such transfer. The training may include courses in building management, maintenance, and managing building finances. HPD may also provide notice to the Tenants regarding commencement of the interim evaluation period.

(c) The interim evaluation period shall include certain milestones for achievement which shall form the basis for HPD to either permit the property to move forward toward eventual ownership by Tenants, or to remove the property from the process toward such ownership. HPD shall evaluate progress toward eventual ownership by Tenants using the following milestones:

(i) whether Tenants have cooperated with the Third Party and Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer in renewing leases or establishing new leases where none exists;

(ii) whether at least 80% of the Tenants are actively paying rent;

(iii) whether Tenants have cooperated with relocation plans, where applicable;

(iv) whether Tenants have attended training programs offered by the Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer; and

(v) any additional factors that HPD considers appropriate in evaluating the tenants' progress toward ownership, provided that HPD notifies the Tenants of any such additional factors.

(d) Such interim evaluation period shall commence upon transfer of the property to the Third Party and shall continue upon the transfer of the property to the Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer. Such interim evaluation period shall end when any required rehabilitation of the property has been completed and permanent loan conversion has taken place, or at the conclusion of such longer period as HPD shall determine with notice to the Tenants.

(e) HPD shall evaluate compliance with the milestones listed in subdivision (c) of this section at regular intervals, and shall inform Tenants and the Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer of its findings. HPD may at any time remove a property from the process toward eventual ownership by Tenants based upon its evaluation. If HPD has not removed the property from such process, at the completion of the interim evaluation period it shall make a determination for such property pursuant to §8-07 of these rules.

§8-07 Transfer from Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer to Tenant Ownership.

(a) Unless a determination has otherwise already been made, HPD shall make a determination whether or not to approve the transfer from a Not-for-Profit Qualified Developer to Tenant ownership upon completion of the interim evaluation period. HPD will consider the following criteria when making such determination:

(1) That an application was submitted to HPD pursuant to and in accordance with §8-03(e)(9) of these rules;

(2) The time period that has elapsed since transfer of the property to the Not-for-profit Qualified Developer;

(3) Whether the property has been rehabilitated and permanent loan conversion has taken place;

(4) The number of Tenants who have signed a petition affirming that there is a functioning tenant organization, that they wish to own the property, and that they understand the extent of the responsibilities of ownership of the property;

(5) The amount of time that a Tenant organization has been in existence at the property;

(6) The number of members of the Tenant organization who have participated in any training offered by HPD, including, but not limited to, courses in building management, maintenance, and managing building finances;

(7) The number of Tenants who have attended a presentation by HPD regarding ownership of the property;

(8) The level of Tenant interest in ownership as indicated through subscriptions to buy units;

(9) The record of payment of all existing loans, status of rent payments, and adequacy of management of the property;

(10) HPD's evaluation of the progress made toward tenant ownership during the interim evaluation period as set forth in §8-06 of these rules; and

(11) Any other criteria that HPD deems relevant to the request, including, but not limited to, any information provided to it by the Not-for-profit Qualified Developer.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 8, 2002:

The rules amend Chapter 8 of Title 28 of the rules of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) concerning tax liens and in rem foreclosure actions.

The amendments provide for a notice to be given to tenants of properties that are subject to an in rem foreclosure judgment and are eligible for the Third Party Transfer Program. The notice informs the tenants about HPD's Third Party Transfer Program. The rule provides a time frame for issuing the notice, the content of the notice and the manner of communicating it to the tenants. The amendments also prescribe an application process that will allow tenants interested in eventual ownership of their property to apply to HPD under sponsorship of a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer. Finally, the amendments provide criteria to be used to determine when consent will be given to transfer of title to a property in the Third Party Transfer Program to a tenant association that applied for eventual ownership under the sponsorship of a Not-for-profit Qualified Developer.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Dec. 7, 2006:

The adopted rules amend certain sections of the Department's rules relating to removal of violations issued pursuant to the Housing Maintenance Code. The rules establish a new fee schedule for Dismissal Request applications based upon the dwelling classification and the number of violations subject to the re-inspection. The fee schedule reflects additional costs to the Department as the scope of a re-inspection broadens. The rules also provide for a longer time for completion of the re-inspection during the period from October 1st to May 31st, when the Department's inspectors are responding to critical complaints of lack of heat and hot water. The rules also add unpaid emergency repair charges to the list of circumstances for which the Department may reject a Dismissal Request application. Finally, the rules make certain other technical changes.

Whenever used in this chapter:

Administrative Code. "Administrative Code" shall mean the New York City Administrative Code.

Access authorizer. "Access authorizer" shall mean the person who authorizes HPD to enter the property, which person shall be an individual natural person who either (i) has legal possession of all common areas of the property, or (ii) is authorized to sign on behalf of and bind the persons or entities who have legal possession of all common areas of the property.

Affidavit of no future harassment. "Affidavit of no future harassment" shall mean an affidavit affirming that no future harassment will occur at the property during the period for which a certification or waiver remains in effect.

Applicant. "Applicant" shall mean the person who executes an application, which person shall be an individual natural person who is either (i) an owner, or (ii) a principal or officer of an owner who is authorized to sign on behalf of and bind such owner.

Application. "Application" shall mean an application for a certification, waiver, or exemption submitted to HPD, unless the context clearly indicates reference to an application for a permit submitted to DOB.

Building loan contract. "Building loan contract" shall have the meaning set forth in §22 of the Lien Law.

Certification. "Certification" shall mean a certification of no harassment.

Commencement of substantial work. "Commencement of substantial work" shall mean (i) if the alterations and/or demolition work for which a certification or waiver was granted is financed by a recorded building loan contract, the date upon which a lender has advanced funds in an amount that is not less than 50% of the total amount of such building loan contract and actual construction work has commenced at the property using such funds, or (ii) if the alterations and/or demolition work for which a certification or waiver was granted is not financed by a building loan contract, the actual performance and payment of not less than 50% of the total cost of such alteration and/or demolition work.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of HPD or his or her designee.

DHCR. "DHCR" shall mean the Division of Housing and Community Renewal of the State of New York.

DOB. "DOB" shall mean the Department of Buildings of the City of New York.

Dwelling unit. "Dwelling unit" shall mean a dwelling unit or rooming unit, as such terms are defined in Administrative Code §27-2004.

Exemption. "Exemption" shall mean a determination by HPD that a certification pursuant to the terms of the Administrative Code or the Zoning Resolution is not required.

Fee. "Fee" shall mean a sum in the amount of (i) $500 if the property contains 1 to 10 dwelling units, (ii) $1,500 if the property contains 11 to 30 dwelling units, (iii) $2,500 if the property contains 31 to 50 dwelling units, and (iv) $3,500 if the property contains more than 50 dwelling units, which amount is a fee to offset all or part of the administrative cost to HPD of processing the application.

HPD. "HPD" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York.

Inquiry period. "Inquiry period" shall mean (i) with respect to an application submitted pursuant to any provision of the Zoning Resolution, the period of time therein defined as the inquiry period, and (ii) with respect to an application submitted pursuant to Administrative Code §28-107.1 et seq. and Administrative Code §27-2093, a period commencing three years prior to submission of the application and ending on the date that HPD issues a final determination on the application.

Luxury hotel. "Luxury hotel" shall mean a single room occupancy multiple dwelling in which the rent on May 5, 1983, exclusive of governmentally assisted rental payments, charged for 75% or more of the total number of occupied individual dwelling units was more than 55 dollars per day for each unit rented on a daily basis, or more than 250 dollars per week for each unit rented on a weekly basis or more than 850 dollars per month for each unit rented on a monthly basis. For computation purposes, the rental value of units which were vacant on May 5, 1983 shall be deemed to be the rent charged for comparable occupied units in the property on such date.

Owner. "Owner" shall mean (i) the holder of title to the property, (ii) a contract vendee of title to the property, or (iii) the lessee pursuant to a net lease of the entire property with an unexpired term of not less than ten years from the date of submission of the application.

Property. "Property" shall mean the real property that is the subject of an application.

Residential kitchen. "Residential kitchen" shall mean (i) a kitchen that is located within a dwelling unit, or (ii) a kitchen serving residential occupants that is not located within a dwelling unit.

Residential bathroom. "Residential bathroom" shall mean (i) a bathroom that is located within a dwelling unit, or (ii) a bathroom serving residential occupants that is not located within a dwelling unit.

Waiver. "Waiver" shall mean a waiver of the requirement for a certification pursuant to the terms of the Administrative Code.

Zoning Resolution. "Zoning Resolution" shall mean the New York City Zoning Resolution, as amended.

§10-02 Scope of Rule.

(a) The requirements of this chapter apply to certifications, exemptions, and waivers pursuant to Administrative Code §28-107.1 et seq., Administrative Code §27-2093, Zoning Resolution §96-110, Zoning Resolution §93-90, Zoning Resolution §98-70, Zoning Resolution §23-013, and any subsequently enacted provision of the Administrative Code or Zoning Resolution which authorizes HPD to make determinations concerning certifications, exemptions, or waivers.

(b)(1) With regard to single room occupancy multiple dwellings, a certification shall be required where mandated pursuant to Administrative Code §28-107.1 et seq. and Administrative Code §27-2093. In accordance with the authority of the Commissioner pursuant to Administrative Code §28-107.3(4) to prescribe by regulation other types of alteration work, a certification shall be required where the application and plans filed with DOB seek to:

(i) increase or decrease the number of dwelling units;

(ii) alter the layout, configuration or location of any portion of a dwelling unit;

(iii) increase or decrease the number of residential kitchens or residential bathrooms;

(iv) alter the layout, configuration or location of any portion of a residential kitchen or residential bathroom;

(v) demolish or change the use or occupancy of any dwelling unit and/or any portion of the building serving the dwelling units.

(2) Where the application and the accompanying plans submitted to DOB do not provide for any such changes, a certification shall not be required pursuant to Administrative Code §28-107.3(4), but may be required pursuant to other provisions of Administrative Code §28-107.1 et seq. or pursuant to the Zoning Resolution.

(c) With regard to properties located in the Special Clinton District defined in Article XI, Chapter 6 of the Zoning Resolution (§96-00 et seq.), a certification shall be required where mandated pursuant to the terms of such Article and Zoning Resolution §96-110.

(d) With regard to multiple dwellings located in the anti-harassment area defined in Zoning Resolution §93-90 (Hudson Yards/Garment Center), a certification shall be required where mandated pursuant to the terms of such section.

(e) With regard to multiple dwellings located in the anti-harassment area defined in Zoning Resolution §23-013 (Greenpoint-Williamsburg), a certification shall be required where mandated pursuant to the terms of such section and New York City Zoning Resolution §93-90.

(f) With regard to multiple dwellings located in the anti-harassment area defined in Zoning Resolution §98-70 (West Chelsea), a certification shall be required where mandated pursuant to the terms of such section and New York City Zoning Resolution §93-90.

§10-03 Application.

(a) An application shall contain such information, in such form, as HPD shall require.

(b) An application shall be executed by an applicant. If the applicant is not an access authorizer, the application shall also be executed by an access authorizer.

(c) An application may be submitted to HPD (i) by hand delivery on business days, during such hours and in such location as HPD shall determine, (ii) by mail, or (iii) by private courier.

(d) The submission of any application shall be accompanied by certified check, bank check, or money order in the amount of the fee made payable to New York City Department of Finance.

(e) Following the submission of an application, HPD may request any additional information that HPD determines is relevant to the certification. If HPD sends a written request for additional information to the applicant by regular or certified mail at the address of the applicant set forth in the application, and HPD does not receive such additional information within thirty days following the mailing of such request, HPD may (i) reject the application, or (ii) review the application without such information and draw a negative inference with respect to the missing information.

(f) An application shall be deemed to be complete when the completed application, the fee, and the necessary supporting documentation have been received and acknowledged as sufficient by HPD.

(g) If HPD determines at any time that an application contains a material misstatement of fact, HPD may reject such application and bar the submission of a new application for a period not to exceed three years.

(h) HPD may refuse to accept, or to act upon, an application for a certification pursuant to the Zoning Resolution where HPD finds at any time that (i) taxes, water and sewer charges, emergency repair program charges, or other municipal charges remain unpaid with respect to the multiple dwelling, (ii) the multiple dwelling has been altered either without proper permits from DOB or in a way that conflicts with the certificate of occupancy for the multiple dwelling (or, where there is no certificate of occupancy, any record of HPD indicating the lawful configuration of the multiple dwelling) and such unlawful alteration remains uncorrected; or (iii) HPD has previously denied an application pursuant to the Zoning Resolution.

(i) If any information stated in an application changes at any time before HPD makes a final determination, the applicant shall promptly update the application with such new information and submit it to HPD. If such changed information includes any facts that would render the original applicant ineligible to submit the application, HPD may require that the amended application be executed by an individual who is at that time eligible to submit the application.

§10-05 Initial Determination.

(a) Upon the completion of the investigation of an application for a certification, HPD shall either (i) reject such application as provided in §10-03 of this Chapter, (ii) determine that there is not reasonable cause to believe that harassment occurred during the inquiry period at the property, (iii) determine that there is reasonable cause to believe that harassment occurred during the inquiry period at the property, or (iv) determine that DHCR or a court having jurisdiction has found that there has been harassment, unlawful eviction, or arson at the property during the inquiry period.

(b) If HPD rejects an application as provided in §10-03 of this Chapter, HPD shall send written notice of such determination to the applicant.

(c) If HPD determines that there is not reasonable cause to believe that harassment occurred during the inquiry period at the property, HPD shall (i) send written notice of such determination to the applicant, and (ii) grant the certification in accordance with the terms of §10-08 of this Chapter.

(d) If HPD determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that harassment occurred during the inquiry period at the property, HPD shall send written notice of such determination to the applicant and shall comply with the procedures set forth in §10-06 and §10-07 of this Chapter.

(e) If HPD determines that DHCR or a court having jurisdiction has found that there has been harassment, unlawful eviction, or arson at the property during the inquiry period, HPD may deny the certification without a hearing and issue a final determination in accordance with §10-07 of this Chapter. In such event, HPD may combine the initial

(a) HPD may rescind a certification, waiver, or exemption at any time if HPD determines that the application for such certification, waiver, or exemption contained a material misstatement of fact.

(b) If HPD determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that harassment has occurred after the date that HPD issued a certification or a waiver, HPD may suspend such certification or waiver. If the certification or waiver was granted solely pursuant to the Administrative Code, HPD shall not suspend such certification or waiver pursuant to the preceding sentence unless HPD determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that such harassment occurred before commencement of substantial work.

(1) If HPD determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that harassment has occurred after the date that HPD issued a certification or a waiver, HPD shall deliver a notice of suspension to the applicant and to the owner and will refer the matter for hearing at the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings.

(2) HPD shall serve a notice of hearing by regular mail upon the applicant and any other individual or entity as determined by HPD. Such notice shall state the date, time, and location of hearing and shall inform the applicant that he or she may be represented by counsel and may present witnesses and other evidence.

DERIVATION

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. ALJ permitted employees of tenants' advocacy group to testify about statements made by deceased tenant because rules permit "any person" to submit information about harassment after a certificate of no harassment has been issued. Group was not appearing as counsel for the deceased tenant but as an interested person. Dep't of Housing Preservation & Development v. 331 West 22nd Street LLC, OATH Index No. 912/06, mem. dec. (Dec. 29, 2006).

¶ 2. HPD may rescind a certificate of no harassment if it can show that harassment occurred after the certificate was issued but before substantial work has commenced. SRO building owner failed to show substantial work had commenced, as defined in this section. Dep't of Housing Preservation & Development v. 331 West 22nd Street LLC, OATH Index No. 912/06, mem. dec. (Dec. 29, 2006).

¶ 3. Substantial work has commenced upon the payment of the first advance by a lender on a building loan contract which is financing the alterations or demolition for which a certificate of no harassment or waiver was granted. SRO owner did not establish substantial work as loan received was not a building loan contract, as defined in section 2(13) of the Lien Law because the loan was not secured by a mortgage on the property, nor was it duly acknowledged or filed with the county clerk. Dep't of Housing Preservation & Development v. 331 West 22nd Street LLC, OATH Index No. 912/06, mem. dec. (Dec. 29, 2006).

¶ 4. Substantial work may be established under this section by proof of actual expenditure of more than fifty percent of the total cost of the alteration or demolition. Although the rule states that substantial work has occurred upon an "actual expenditure of more than fifty percent of the total cost of alteration or demolition," ALJ finds that clause is modified by the phrase "for which a certificate of no harassment or waiver was granted," included in the previous sentence. ALJ rejected SRO building owner's argument that proof of expenditure of more than fifty percent of the total cost of the demolition establishes substantial work where the owner expended less than 50 percent of the total cost of the work to be done (demolition and construction) under the certificate of no harassment. Dep't of Housing Preservation & Development v. 331 West 22nd Street LLC, OATH Index No. 912/06, mem. dec. (Dec. 29, 2006).

Whenever used in this chapter:

(a) Abatement. "Abatement" shall mean any set of measures designed to permanently eliminate lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards. Abatement includes: (i) the removal of lead-based paint and dust lead hazards, the permanent enclosure or encapsulation of lead-based paint, the replacement of components or fixtures painted with lead-based paint, and the removal or permanent covering of soil-lead hazards; and (ii) all preparation, cleanup, disposal and post abatement clearance testing associated with such measures. Abatement does not include renovation, remodeling, landscaping or other activities, when such activities are not designed to permanently eliminate lead-based paint hazards, but, instead, are designed to repair, restore, or remodel a given structure or dwelling, even though these activities may incidentally result in a reduction or elimination of lead-based paint hazards. Furthermore, abatement does not include interim controls, operations and maintenance activities, or other measures and activities designed to temporarily, but not permanently, reduce lead-based paint hazards.

(b) Applicable age. "Applicable age" shall mean under seven years of age for at least one calendar year from August 2, 2004. Upon the expiration of such one year period, in accordance with the procedures by which the health code is amended, the board of health may determine whether or not the provisions of article 14 of the housing maintenance code should apply to children of age six, and based on this determination, may redefine "applicable age" for the purposes of some or all of the provisions of such article 14 to mean under six years of age. In the event that the board of health makes such determination, the term "applicable age" shall mean under six years of age.

(c) CFR. "CFR" shall mean the Code of Federal Regulations.

(d) Chewable surface. "Chewable surface" shall mean a protruding interior window sill in a dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling where a child of applicable age resides and which is readily accessible to such child. "Chewable surface" shall also mean any other type of interior edge or protrusion in a dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling, such as a rail or stair, where there is evidence that such other edge or protrusion has been chewed or where an occupant has notified the owner that a child of applicable age who resides in that multiple dwelling has mouthed or chewed such edge or protrusion.

(e) Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of the New York city department of housing preservation and development or of its successor agency.

(f) Common area. "Common area" shall mean a portion of a multiple dwelling that is not within a dwelling unit and is regularly used by occupants for access to and egress from any dwelling unit within such multiple dwelling.

(g) Contractor. "Contractor" shall mean any person engaged to perform work that disturbs lead-based paint pursuant to this chapter.

(h) Department. "Department" shall mean the New York city department of housing preservation and development or its successor agency.

(i) Deteriorated subsurface. "Deteriorated subsurface" shall mean an unstable or unsound painted subsurface, an indication of which can be observed through a visual inspection, including, but not limited to, rotted or decayed wood, or wood or plaster that has been subject to moisture or disturbance.

(j) Disturb. "Disturb" shall mean any action taken, which breaks down, alters or changes lead-based paint. Lead-based paint disturbances shall include, but not be limited to wet sanding or scraping or routine painting and maintenance.

(k) Door. "Door" shall mean every door in a dwelling unit including, but not limited to, the entrance door to the unit, closet doors, and cabinet doors where such cabinets are affixed to the walls of the dwelling unit.

(l) Encapsulation. "Encapsulation" shall mean the application of a covering or coating that acts as a barrier between the lead-based paint and the environment and that relies for its durability on adhesion between the encapsulant and the painted surface, and on the integrity of the existing bonds between paint layers and between the paint and the substrate. Encapsulation may be used as a method of abatement if it is designed and performed so as to be permanent. Only encapsulants approved by the New York state department of health or by another federal or state agency or jurisdiction which the department has designated as acceptable may be used for performing encapsulation.

(m) Enclosure. "Enclosure" shall mean the use of rigid, durable construction materials that are mechanically fastened to the substrate in order to act as a barrier between lead-based paint and the environment.

(n) Firm. "Firm" shall mean a company, partnership, corporation, sole pro- prietorship, association, or other business entity that performs lead-based paint activities to which the United States environmental protection agency has issued a certificate of approval pursuant to 40 CFR 745.226(f).

(o) Friction surface. "Friction surface" shall mean any painted surface that touches or is in contact with another surface, such that the two surfaces are capable of relative motion and abrade, scrape, or bind when in relative motion. Friction surfaces shall include, but not be limited to, window frames and jambs, doors, and hinges.

(p) HEPA-vacuum. "HEPA-vacuum" shall mean a vacuum cleaner device equipped with a high efficiency particulate air filter capable of filtering out monodispersive particles of 0.3 microns or greater in diameter from a body of air at 99.97 percent efficiency or greater.

(q) Housing maintenance code. "Housing maintenance code" shall mean chapter two of title 27 of the administrative code of the city of New York.

(r) Impact surface. "Impact surface" shall mean any interior painted surface that shows evidence, such as marking, denting, or chipping, that it is subject to damage by repeated sudden force, such as certain parts of door frames, moldings, or baseboards.

(s) Lead-based paint hazard. "Lead-based paint hazard" shall mean any condition in a dwelling or dwelling unit that causes exposure to lead from lead-contaminated dust, from lead-based paint that is peeling, or from lead-based paint that is present on chewable surfaces, deteriorated subsurfaces, friction surfaces, or impact surfaces that would result in adverse human health effects.

(t) Lead-based paint. "Lead-based paint" shall mean paint or other similar surface coating material containing 1.0 milligrams of lead per square centimeter or greater, as determined by laboratory analysis, or by an x-ray fluorescence analyzer. If an x-ray fluorescence analyzer is used, readings shall be corrected for substrate bias when necessary as specified by the performance characteristic sheets released by the United States environmental protection agency and the United States department of housing and urban development for the specific x-ray fluorescence analyzer used. X-ray fluorescence readings shall be classified as positive, negative or inconclusive in accordance with the United States department of housing and urban development "Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing" (June 1995, revised 1997) and the performance characteristic sheets released by the United States environmental protection agency and the United States department of housing and urban development for the specific x-ray fluorescence analyzer used. X-ray fluorescence readings that fall within the inconclusive zone, as determined by the performance characteristic sheets, shall be confirmed by laboratory analysis of paint chips, results shall be reported in milligrams of lead per square centimeter and the measure of such laboratory analysis shall be definitive. If laboratory analysis is used to determine lead content, results shall be reported in milligrams of lead per square centimeter. Where the surface area of a paint chip sample cannot be accurately measured or if an accurately measured paint chip sample cannot be removed, a laboratory analysis may be reported in percent by weight. In such case, lead-based paint shall mean any paint or other similar surface-coating material.

(u) Lead-contaminated dust. "Lead-contaminated dust" shall mean dust containing lead at a mass per area concentration of 40 or more micrograms per square foot on a floor, 250 or more micrograms per square foot on window sills, and 400 or more micrograms per square foot on window wells, or such more stringent standards as may be adopted by the department of health and mental hygiene.

(v) Lead contaminated dust clearance test. "Lead contaminated dust clearance test" shall mean a test for lead-contaminated dust on floors, window wells, and window sills in a dwelling, that is made in accordance with §27-2056.11 of the housing maintenance code.

(w) Peeling. "Peeling" shall mean that the paint or other surface-coating material is curling, cracking, scaling, flaking, blistering, chipping, chalking or loose in any manner, such that a space or pocket of air is behind a portion thereof or such that the paint is not completely adhered to the underlying surface.

(x) Permanent. "Permanent" shall mean an expected design life of at least 20 years.

(y) Remediation or Remediate. "Remediation" or "Remediate" shall mean the reduction or elimination of a lead-based paint hazard through the wet scraping and repainting, removal, encapsulation, enclosure, or replacement of lead-based paint, or other method approved by the commissioner of the department of health and mental hygiene.

(z) Removal. "Removal" shall mean a method of abatement that completely eliminates lead-based paint from surfaces.

(aa) Replacement. "Replacement" shall mean a strategy or method of abatement that entails the removal of building components that have surfaces coated with lead-based paint and the installation of new components free of lead-based paint.

(bb) Rule or rules. "Rule" or "rules" shall mean a rule or rules promulgated pursuant to §1043 of the New York city charter.

(cc) Stabilization. "Stabilization" means repairing any physical defect in the substrate of a painted surface that is causing paint deterioration, and removing loose paint and other material from the surface to be treated.

(dd) Substrate. "Substrate" shall mean the material directly beneath the painted surface out of which the components are constructed, including wood, drywall, plaster, concrete, brick or metal.

(ee) Turnover. "Turnover" shall mean the occupancy of a dwelling unit subsequent to the termination of a tenancy and the vacatur by a prior tenant of such dwelling unit. Such term shall not mean temporary relocation of an occupant for purposes of performing work pursuant to article 14 of the housing maintenance code.

(ff) Underlying defect. "Underlying defect" shall mean a physical condition in a dwelling or dwelling unit that is causing or has caused paint to peel or a painted surface to deteriorate or fail, such as a structural or plumbing failure that allows water to intrude into a dwelling or dwelling unit.

(gg) Wet sanding or wet scraping. "Wet sanding" or "wet scraping" shall mean a process of removing loose paint in which the painted surface to be sanded or scraped is kept wet to minimize the dispersal of paint chips and airborne dust.

(hh) Window. "Window" shall mean the non-glass parts of a window, including but not limited to any window sash, window well, window jamb, window sill, or window molding.

(ii) Work. "Work" shall mean any activity performed in accordance with article 14 of the housing maintenance code that disturbs paint.

(jj) Work area. "Work area" shall mean that part of a building where paint is being disturbed.

Among the many provisions, the rules detail the responsibilities of owners of multiple dwellings and occupants of dwelling units in which children under the applicable age reside with reference to the prevention of lead-based paint hazards, maintenance of painted surfaces in such dwelling units, notification and investigation for the presence of children and of lead-based paint hazards and the correction of lead-based paint hazards and lead-based paint hazard violations using trained workers and safe work practices. The rules also specify work practices to be used by owners when disturbing lead paint or paint of unknown lead content in multiple dwelling units where a child of applicable age resides. Other provisions concern procedures for certification of correction of violations, exemption from the presumption of lead paint, applications for postponements of time to perform work to remediate violations, recordkeeping requirements, and audit of building records by the Department under certain circumstances. Finally, these rules amend the J-51 rules to provide for benefits when an abatement of lead-based paint hazards is performed under the specified circumstances. CHAPTER 11 [Lead-Based Paint Abatement; Dwellings; Children]*1

§11-03 Notice Inquiring About the Residency of a Child of Applicable Age.

(a) Notice upon signing of a lease, including a renewal lease, if any, or upon any agreement to lease or at the commencement of occupancy if there is no lease.

(1) The owner of a multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty or of a multiple dwelling erected on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, where an owner has actual knowledge of the presence of lead-based paint, shall provide to an occupant of a dwelling unit at the signing of a lease, including a renewal lease, if any, or upon any agreement to lease, or at the commencement of occupancy if there is no lease, a notice in English and Spanish inquiring whether a child of applicable age resides or will reside therein. If there is a lease, such notice will be attached as a rider to the lease. In addition, such owner shall deliver to the occupant at the time the occupant signs a lease, if any, or upon any agreement to lease, or, at the commencement of occupancy if there is no lease, the pamphlet developed by the department of health and mental hygiene pursuant to §17-179(b) of the administrative code of the city of New York. Such notice shall be printed on a single form, the content of which shall be as specified in Appendix A hereto, and shall be printed in not less than ten point type, and shall bear the title "Prevention of Lead-based Paint Hazards-Inquiry Regarding Child". Such notice shall be in duplicate, one copy of which will be for the occupant's records, and one copy of which will be returned to the owner. Such notice shall be kept for a period of ten years from the date of receipt by the owner or transferred to a subsequent owner and maintained by such subsequent owner during such time period, and made available to the department upon request. The notice provided at the signing of a lease, or upon any agreement to lease, or at the commencement of occupancy if there is no lease, shall also contain a statement, signed by such owner, stating that he or she has complied with the provisions concerning apartments at turnover pursuant to §27-2056.8 of Article 14 of the housing maintenance code and §11-05 of these rules, and that he or she has delivered such pamphlet developed by the department of health and mental hygiene to the occupant.

(2) No occupant in a dwelling unit in such multiple dwelling shall refuse or unreasonably fail to provide accurate and truthful information regarding the residency of a child of applicable age therein, nor shall an occupant refuse access to the owner at a reasonable time and upon reasonable prior notice to any part of the dwelling unit for the purpose of investigation and repair of lead-based paint hazards.

(3) Where an occupant has responded to the notice provided by the owner pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subdivision by indicating that no child of applicable age resides therein or has failed to respond to such notice, if a child of applicable age subsequently comes to reside in such dwelling unit at any time during the immediately following year prior to the delivery of the annual notice by the owner pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, the occupant shall have the duty to inform the owner in writing that such child has come to reside therein.

(b) Annual Notice.

(1) Each year an owner of a multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty shall cause to be delivered to each residential unit a notice in English and Spanish inquiring as to whether a child of applicable age resides therein and advising the occupant of his or her duty to report the presence of such child in writing.

(2) Such notice shall be delivered as provided in §27-2056.4(e) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, no earlier than January first and no later than January sixteenth, provided, however, that if such notice is enclosed with the January rent bill, such notice may be delivered no sooner than December fifteenth and no later than January sixteenth.

(3) Such notice shall be printed on a single form, the content of which shall be as specified in Appendix B hereto, and shall be printed in not less than ten point type, and shall bear the title "Prevention of Lead-based Paint Hazards-Inquiry Regarding Child". Such notice may be combined with the annual window guard notice required by 24 RCNY Chapter 12 in a form approved by the department of health and mental hygiene. Such notice shall be in duplicate, one copy of which will be for the occupant's records, and one copy of which will be returned to the owner. Such notice shall be kept for a period of ten years from the date of receipt by the owner or transferred to a subsequent owner and maintained by such subsequent owner during such time period, and made available to the department upon request.

(4) Upon receipt of such notice, the occupant shall have the duty to deliver a written response to the owner indicating whether a child of applicable age resides in the dwelling unit, by February fifteenth of the year in which the notice is sent. Where an occupant has responded to the notice provided by the owner pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision by indicating that no child of applicable age resides therein, or has failed to respond to such notice, if a child of applicable age subsequently comes to reside in such dwelling unit at any time prior to delivery of the next annual notice, the occupant shall have the duty to inform the owner in writing that such child has come to reside therein.

(5) If, subsequent to the delivery of such annual notice, the owner does not receive a written response by February fifteenth, and does not otherwise have actual knowledge as to whether a child of applicable age resides therein, then the owner shall at reasonable times and upon reasonable notice inspect the occupant's dwelling unit to ascertain whether a child of applicable age resides therein. Where, between February sixteenth and March first of that year the owner has made reasonable attempt to gain access to the dwelling unit and was unable to gain access, the owner shall notify the department of health and mental hygiene of that circumstance in writing.

(c) The wording of the notices specified in this section shall not be altered or varied in any manner, unless otherwise approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene, provided, however, that such owner may provide such notice in any languages in addition to English and Spanish as such owner believes will be of assistance in ensuring communication of the content of such notice to the occupants of the multiple dwelling.

§11-04 Investigation for Lead-based Paint Hazards.

(a) In any dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty where a child of applicable age resides, and in any dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling erected on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, where a child of applicable age resides and the owner has actual knowledge of the presence of lead-based paint, and in common areas of such multiple dwellings, the owner shall cause a visual inspection to be made for peeling paint, chewable surfaces, deteriorated subsurfaces, friction surfaces and impact surfaces. A visual inspection for lead-based paint hazards shall include every surface in every room in the dwelling unit, including the interiors of closets and cabinets. Such inspection shall be undertaken at least once a year and more often if necessary, such as when, in the exercise of reasonable care, an owner knows or should have known of a condition that is reasonably foreseeable to cause a lead-based paint hazard, or an occupant makes a complaint concerning a condition that is likely to cause a lead-based paint hazard or requests an inspection, or the department issues a notice of violation or orders the correction of a violation that is likely to cause a lead-based paint hazard.

(b) An owner shall maintain or transfer to a subsequent owner records of inspections of dwelling units performed pursuant to this section. Such records shall include the location of such inspection and the results of such inspection for each surface in each room, as specified in subdivision (a) of this section, and the actions taken as a result of such inspection pursuant to §11-02 of these rules. If an owner claims an inability to gain access to the unit for such inspection, such records shall contain a statement describing the attempt made to gain access, including, but not limited to providing a written notice to the tenant, delivered by certified or registered mail, or by first class mail with proof of mailing from the United States Postal Service, informing the tenant of the necessity of access to the dwelling unit to perform the inspection, and the reason why access could not be gained. Such records shall be kept for a period of ten years from either the date of completion of the inspection, or from the date of the last attempt to gain access by the owner, or transferred to a subsequent owner and maintained by such subsequent owner during such time period, and made available to the department upon request. In addition, the owner shall make such records available to the occupant of such dwelling unit upon request.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude an owner from conducting any additional types of inspections for lead-based paint hazards, provided, however, that such owner shall correct any lead-based paint hazards identified pursuant to such inspection in accordance with the work practices specified in §11-06 of these rules.

§11-05 Turnover of Dwelling Units.

(a) Upon turnover of any dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixty, or of a dwelling unit in a private dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred and sixty where each dwelling unit is to be occupied by persons other than the owner or the owner's family, the owner shall within such dwelling unit have the responsibility to:

(1) remediate all lead-based paint hazards and any underlying defects, when such underlying defects exist;

(2) make all bare floors, window sills, and window wells in the dwelling unit smooth and cleanable;

(3) provide for the removal or permanent covering of all lead-based paint on all friction surfaces on all doors and door frames; and

(4) provide for the removal or permanent covering of all lead-based paint on all friction surfaces on all windows, or provide for the installation of replacement window channels or slides on all lead-based painted friction surfaces on all windows.

(b) Such work shall be performed in the time period commencing with the vacancy of the unit and shall be completed prior to reoccupancy of such unit. All work performed pursuant to this section shall be performed using the applicable safe work practices set forth in §11-06(g)(3) of these rules.

(c) An owner shall maintain or transfer to a subsequent owner records of work performed in dwelling units pursuant to this section in accordance with the recordkeeping requirements of §11-06(c) of these rules. In addition, the owner shall make such records available to the new occupant of such dwelling unit upon request.

§11-06 Safe Work Practices.

(a) Filing procedures. Not less than ten days prior to commencement of work that will disturb lead-based paint pursuant to §27-2056.11(a)(2)(ii) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, an owner shall file with the department of health and mental hygiene a notice of the commencement of the work. Such notice shall be signed by the owner or by a representative of the firm performing the work. Where work is required to be commenced in a lesser period of time than that specified herein for the filing of a notice of commencement of work, then such filing shall be made as soon as practicable but prior to the commencement of work. Such notice shall be in a form satisfactory to or prescribed by the department of health and mental hygiene and shall set forth at a minimum the following information:

(1) The name, address and telephone number of the owner of the premises in which the lead-based paint work is to be performed;

(2) The address of the building and the specific location of the lead-based paint work within the building;

(3) The name, address and telephone number of the firm who will be responsible for performing the work;

(4) The date and time of commencement of the work, working or shift hours, and the expected date of completion;

(5) A complete description and identification of the surfaces and structures, and surface areas, subject to the work; and

(6) Any changes in the information contained in the notice required by this section shall be filed with the department of health and mental hygiene prior to commencement of work, or if work has already commenced, within 24 hours of any such change.

(b) Licensing and training.

(1) Abatement. All work conducted as part of an abatement as defined in this chapter shall be performed by firms and personnel certified to perform lead-based paint activities in accordance with regulations issued by the United States environmental protection agency at subpart L of 40 CFR part 745 for the abatement of lead hazards, or successor rule.

(2) Work ordered by the department to correct a lead-based paint hazard violation in accordance with §27-2056.11(a)(1) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, or work performed pursuant to §27-2056.11(a)(2)(ii) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, shall be performed in accordance with the following requirements:

(i) Firm requirements. Firms conducting such work shall be certified to perform lead abatement by the United States environmental protection agency in accordance with subpart L of 40 CFR part 745 for the abatement of lead hazards, or successor rule.

(ii) Worker requirements. Workers conducting such work shall be trained, at a minimum, in accordance with the regulations issued by the United States department of housing and urban development at 24 CFR §35.1330(a)(4), or successor rule, or under an equivalent program approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene.

(iii) Clearance dust testing. No person shall perform a lead-contaminated dust clearance test pursuant to this section unless such person is a third party, who is independent of the owner and any individual or firm that performs such work. All personnel performing lead-contaminated dust clearance testing after completion of such work shall be trained, at a minimum, in accordance with regulations issued by the United States department of housing and urban development at 24 CFR §35.1340(b)(1), or successor rule, or under an equivalent program approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene.

(3) Work performed in accordance with §27-2056.11(a)(2)(i) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, shall be performed in accordance with the following requirements:

(i) Worker requirements. Workers conducting such work shall be trained under regulations issued by the United States department of housing and urban development at 24 CFR §35.1330(a)(4), or successor rule, or under an equivalent program approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene.

(ii) Clearance dust testing. No person shall perform a lead-contaminated dust clearance test pursuant to this section unless such person is a third party, who is independent of the owner and any individual or firm that performs such work. Personnel performing lead-contaminated dust clearance testing after completion of such work shall be trained in accordance with regulations issued by the department of housing and urban development at 24 CFR §35.1340(b)(1), or successor rule, or under an equivalent program approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene.

(4) Work performed in a dwelling unit upon turnover in accordance with §27-2056.8 of article 14 of the housing maintenance code. No person shall perform a lead-contaminated dust clearance test pursuant to this paragraph unless such person is a third party, who is independent of the owner and any individual or firm that performs the work upon turnover. Personnel performing lead-contaminated dust clearance testing after completion of such work shall be trained in accordance with regulations issued by the department of housing and urban development at 24 CFR §35.1340(b)(1), or successor rule, or under an equivalent program approved by the department or the department of health and mental hygiene.

(c) Recordkeeping. An owner shall keep a record of the following information for all work performed pursuant to this section:

(1) The name, address, and telephone number of the person or entity who performed the work; the start date and completion date for the work;

(2) A copy of all licenses and training certificates, required pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, for the firms and personnel who performed work and lead-contaminated dust clearance testing;

(3) The location of the work performed in each room including a description of such work and invoices for payment for such work;

(4) Results of lead-contaminated dust clearance tests analyzed by an independent laboratory certified by the state of New York;

(5) Checklists completed pursuant to (g)(1)(ix)(F)(f) when occupants are allowed temporary access to a work area; and

(6) Such records shall be maintained by such owner for a period of ten years from the date of completion of such work or transferred to a subsequent owner and maintained by such subsequent owner during such time period, and made available to the department upon request.

(d) Work methods.

(1) Minimizing dust dispersion. Work that disturbs lead-based paint as defined in this chapter shall be carried out in such a manner as to minimize the penetration or dispersal of lead contaminants or lead-contaminated materials from the work area to other areas of the dwelling unit and building or adjacent outdoor areas.

(2) An area designated as a clean changing area shall be segregated from the work area by a physical barrier to prevent the penetration or dispersal of lead contaminants or lead-contaminated materials from the work area to other areas of the dwelling unit and building and to prevent occupant exposure to materials containing lead.

(3) Repair of lead-based paint hazard violations may be performed by wet sanding, wet scraping, removal, enclosure, encapsulation, replacement or abatement except where otherwise specified in article 14 of the housing maintenance code or these rules.

(e) Prohibited methods. The following methods shall not be used while performing work in accordance with these rules that disturbs lead-based paint or paint of unknown lead content:

(1) Open flame burning or torching.

(2) Machine sanding or grinding without HEPA local exhaust control.

(3) Abrasive blasting or sandblasting without HEPA local exhaust control.

(4) Heat guns operating above 1100 degrees Fahrenheit or charring the paint.

(5) Dry sanding or dry scraping.

(6) Paint stripping in a poorly ventilated space using a volatile stripper that is a hazardous substance in accordance with regulations of the United States consumer product safety commission at 16 CFR §1500.3, and/or a hazardous chemical in accordance with the United States occupational safety and health administration regulations at 29 CFR §§1910.1200 or 1926.59, as applicable to the work.

(f) Work practices and surface finishing.

(1) All tools and materials used when disturbing paint shall be used in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions.

(2) Wet sanding, wet scraping, removal, enclosure, encapsulation, replacement, abatement and other maintenance and repair activities shall be performed using standard construction and treatment methods, and in accordance with manufacturer's instructions, where applicable.

(3) All surfaces where paint has been disturbed shall be sealed and finished with appropriate materials. Underlying surface substrates shall be dry and protected from future moisture before applying a new protective coating or paint, and all paints and coatings shall be applied in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations.

(g) Occupant protection.

(1) Work ordered by the Department to correct a lead-based paint hazard violation in accordance with §27-2056.11(a)(1) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, or work performed pursuant to §27-2056.11(a)(2)(ii) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code.

(i) Postings. The following information shall be conspicuously posted no later than twenty-four hours prior to beginning work and shall remain in place until the work area has been cleared for re-occupancy:

(A) Notice of commencement of work information submitted to the department of health and mental hygiene pursuant to §27-2056.11(a)(2)(ii) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code. Such information shall be posted at the entrance to the dwelling and at the entrance to the dwelling unit.

(B) A warning sign of at least 8-1/2" by 11" with letters at least one inch high, reading as follows: WARNING: LEAD WORK AREA-POISON-NO SMOKING OR EATING. Such information shall be posted adjacent to the work area.

(ii) Pre-cleaning and protecting moveable items. All floors, moveable furniture, draperies, carpets, or other objects in the work area shall be HEPA-vacuumed or washed; all moveable items shall then be moved out of the work area or otherwise covered with two layers of six-mil disposable polyethylene sheeting before work begins. Such sheeting shall be taped together with waterproof tape, and taped to the floors or bottom of the walls or baseboards, so as to form a continuous barrier to the penetration of dust.

(iii) Sealing vents. Forced-air systems within the room where work that disturbs lead-based paint is occurring shall be turned off and covered with two layers of six-mil polyethylene sheeting and waterproof tape to prevent lead contamination and lead dispersal to other areas.

(iv) Affixing doorway entrance flap. After all moveable objects have been removed, the work area shall be sealed off from non-work areas by taping with waterproof tape, two layers of disposable, six-mil polyethylene sheeting over every entrance or doorway to the work area, as follows: To deter the dispersal of lead dust one sheet shall be taped along all sides of the doorway and a slit shall be cut down the middle of the sheeting, leaving intact at least six inches of sheeting on the top and six inches of sheeting on the bottom of the doorway. A second sheet of polyethylene large enough to cover the doorway, shall be attached to the top of the doorway in the room or area where work is being conducted and shall act as a flap opening into the work area.

(v) Covering floors. The floor of the work area shall be covered with at least two sheets of disposable six-mil polyethylene sheeting. Such sheeting shall be taped together with waterproof tape, and taped to the bottom of the walls or baseboard, so as to form a continuous barrier to the penetration of dust to the floor. The furniture and non-moveable furnishings, such as counters, cabinets, and radiators in the work area shall be removed or covered with such taped sheeting.

(vi) Sealing openings. All openings, including windows, except those required to be open for ventilation, not sealed off or covered in accordance with subdivision (g)(1)(iii) of the section, shall be sealed with two layers of six-mil polyethylene sheeting and waterproof tape to prevent the penetration or dispersal of lead contaminants or lead-contaminated material.

(vii) Instructing occupants. Occupants shall be instructed by the owner and contractor to avoid entering the work area until final clearance levels have been achieved.

(viii) Hazardous materials. All paints, thinners, solvents, chemical strippers or other flammable materials shall be delivered to the building and maintained during the course of the work in their original containers bearing the manufacturer's labels, and all material safety data sheets, as may be required by law, shall be on-site and shall be made available upon request to the occupants of the dwelling unit.

(ix) Clean-up and lead-contaminated dust clearance testing procedures.

(A) Daily clean-up. At the completion of work each day, the work area shall be thoroughly wet-mopped or HEPA-vacuumed. No polyethylene sheeting, drop cloths, or other materials that are potentially hazardous to young children or infants shall be accessible outside the work area. In addition, any work area and other adjoining area exposed to lead or lead-contaminated materials shall be cleaned as follows:

(a) Large debris. Large demolition-type debris (e.g., door, windows, trim) shall be wrapped in six-mil polyethylene, sealed with waterproof tape, and moved to the area designated for trash storage on the property to be properly disposed of in a lawful manner.

(b) Small debris. Small debris shall be HEPA-vacuumed or wet swept and collected. Before wet sweeping occurs, the affected surfaces shall be sprayed with a fine mist of water to keep surface dust from becoming airborne. Dry sweeping is prohibited. The swept debris and all disposable clothing and equipment shall be placed in double four-mil or single six-mil plastic bags which shall be sealed and stored with other contaminated debris in the work area and shall be properly disposed of in a lawful manner.

(c) Clean-up adjacent to the work area. On a daily basis, as well as during final clean-up, the area adjacent and exterior to the work area shall be examined visually to ensure that no lead debris has escaped containment. Any such debris shall be wet swept and HEPA-vacuumed, collected and disposed of as described above.

(d) Supply storage. Upon finishing work for the day, all rags, cloths and other supplies used in conjunction with chemical strippers or other flammable materials, or materials contaminated with lead dust or paint shall be stored at the end of each work day in sealed containers or removed from the premises, in a lawful manner.

(B) Final clean-up. Final cleaning shall be performed as follows, in the following sequence:

(a) The final cleaning process shall start no sooner than one (1) hour after lead-based paint disturbance activities have been completed, but before repainting, if necessary.

(b) First, all polyethylene sheeting shall be sprayed with water mist and swept prior to removal. Polyethylene sheeting shall be removed by starting with upper-level polyethylene, such as that on windows, cabinets and counters, folding the corners, ends to the middle, and placing in double four-mil or single six-mil plastic bags. Plastic bags shall be sealed and properly disposed of in a lawful manner.

(c) Second, all surfaces in the work area shall be HEPA-vacuumed. Vacuuming shall begin with ceilings and proceed down the walls to the floors and include furniture and carpets.

(d) Third, all surfaces in the work area shall be washed with a detergent solution. Washing shall begin with the ceiling and proceed down the walls to the floor. Wash water shall be properly disposed of in a lawful manner.

(e) Fourth, all surfaces exposed to lead dust generated by the lead-based paint disturbance process shall be HEPA-vacuumed again. Vacuuming shall begin with ceilings and proceed down the walls to the floors and include furniture and carpets.

(f) Fifth, all surfaces shall be inspected to ensure that all surfaces have been cleaned and all visible dust and debris have been removed. If all visible dust and debris have not been removed, affected surfaces shall be re-cleaned.

(C) Final inspection. After final clean-up, and re-painting if necessary, has been completed, a final inspection shall be made by a third party retained by the owner who is independent of the owner and the contractor. The final clearance evaluation shall include a visual inspection and lead-contaminated dust clearance testing. Three wipe samples shall be collected and tested from each room or area where work has been conducted; one wipe sample contaminated dust clearance samples shall be collected and tested from the floor in rooms or areas immediately adjacent to the work area.

(D) Clearance for re-occupancy. Lead-contaminated dust levels in excess of the following constitute contamination and require repetition of the clean-up and testing process in all areas where such levels are found. Areas where every lead-contaminated dust sample result is below the following levels may be cleared for re-occupancy:

Floors: 40 micrograms of lead per square foot.

Window Sills: 250 micrograms of lead per square foot.

Window Wells: 400 micrograms of lead per square foot.

Only upon receipt of laboratory test results showing that the above dust lead levels are not exceeded in the dwelling may the work area be cleared for permanent re-occupancy. However, temporary access to work areas may be allowed, provided that clean-up is completed and dust test samples have been collected in compliance with this section. The owner shall provide all lead-contaminated dust clearance test results to the occupants of the dwelling or dwelling unit.

(E) Relocation. An owner shall request that an occupant temporarily relocate from a unit pending completion of work where it appears that work cannot be performed safely with occupants in residence. Such owner shall offer a suitable, decent, safe and similarly accessible dwelling unit that does not have lead-based paint hazards to such occupants for temporary relocation. Unreasonable refusal by such occupants to relocate pursuant to such offer shall constitute a refusal of access under housing maintenance code §§27-2009 and 27-2056.4(b), and, where applicable, 9 NYCRR §2524.3(e). Relocation shall not be required provided that work can be done safely with occupants in residence, and provided further that at the end of each day of work, the work area is properly cleaned as specified in subdivision (g)(1)(ix)(A) of this section; occupants have safe access to areas adequate for sleeping; occupants have bathroom and kitchen facilities available to them; occupants have safe access to entry/egress pathways; and the work does not create other safety hazards (e.g., exposed electrical wiring or holes in the floor).

(F) Temporary access to the work area when occupants not relocated. When occupants are not relocated, temporary access may be allowed to areas in which work is in progress after work has ceased for the day, provided that at the end of each work day: (a) Any work area to be accessed is properly cleaned as specified in the daily clean-up requirements of subdivision (g)(1)(ix)(B)(b) through (d) and (f);

(b) There are no safety hazards (including, but not limited to, exposed electric wiring or holes in the floor) or covered vents;

(c) Floor coverings containing leaded dust and debris and hazardous materials are removed;

(d) Floors in the work area are re-covered with a non-skid floor covering securely taped to the floor;

(e) Work areas are prepared in accordance with the requirements above when work recommences; and

(f) At the end of each workday, and before access is permitted, a checklist indicating compliance with these conditions is completed and signed by the person responsible for overseeing the work. No person shall make a false, untrue or misleading statement or forge the signature of another person on any document or record required to be prepared pursuant to these rules.

(g) Temporary access in accordance with these provisions may be allowed for no longer than five days. If work has not resumed within five days, temporary access may continue only if the person responsible for overseeing the work has repeated the actions required by clauses (a) through (f) of this subparagraph (F). Nothing herein shall extend the time for compliance with any violation issued pursuant to article 14 of the housing maintenance code.

(2) Work performed in accordance with §27-2056.11(a)(2)(i) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code that disturbs lead-based paint.

(i) Postings. A warning sign shall be posted in accordance with subdivision (g)(1)(i)(B) of this section and caution tape shall be placed across the entrance to the work area.

(ii) Pre-cleaning and protecting moveable items. All floors, moveable furniture, draperies, carpets, or other objects in the work area shall be HEPA-vacuumed or washed; all moveable items shall then be moved out of the work area or otherwise covered with polyethylene plastic or equivalent sheeting. All plastic or equivalent sheeting used during the performance of the work shall be of sufficient thickness and durability to prevent tearing during the performance of the work. Such sheeting shall be of sufficient length and width to prevent dust and other debris generated by the work from spreading to areas unprotected by such sheeting. Such sheeting must be adequately secured to prevent movement of the sheeting during the performance of the work.

(iii) Covering floors. The floor of the work area shall be covered with polyethylene plastic or equivalent sheeting. All plastic or equivalent sheeting used during the performance of the work shall be of sufficient thickness and durability to prevent tearing during the performance of the work. Such sheeting shall be of sufficient length and width to prevent dust and other debris generated by the work from spreading to areas unprotected by such sheeting. Such sheeting must be adequately secured to prevent movement of the sheeting during the performance of the work. Multiple layers of polyethylene sheeting shall be used as needed to prevent dust from contaminating the floor.

(iv) Sealing openings. Where applicable, forced air systems in the work area shall be turned off and any openings in the work area shall be sealed with polyethylene or equivalent sheeting to prevent the penetration or dispersal of lead contaminants or lead-contaminated material.

(v) Instructing occupants. Occupants shall be instructed by the owner and contractor to avoid entering the work area until final clean up has been completed.

(vi) Hazardous materials. All paints, thinners, solvents, chemical strippers or other flammable materials shall be delivered to the building and maintained during the course of the work in their original containers bearing the manufacturer's labels, and all material safety data sheets, as may be required by law, shall be on-site and shall be made available upon request to the occupants of the dwelling unit.

(vii) Clean-up and lead-contaminated dust clearance testing shall be conducted in accordance with subdivision (g)(1)(ix) of this section.

(viii) Relocation and temporary access to work areas when occupants are not relocated, where provided, shall be performed in accordance with (g)(1)(ix)(E) and (F) of this section.

(3) Work performed in a dwelling unit on turnover in accordance §27-2056.8 of article 14 of the housing maintenance code.

(i) Preparation. The procedures described in subdivision (g)(2)(i)-(iv) of this section shall be followed.

(ii) Clean-up. At the completion of work, the work area shall be thoroughly wet-mopped or HEPA-vacuumed and a visual examination shall be conducted in the work area and the area adjacent and exterior to the work area. Any noted lead-contaminated dust or debris shall be wet-mopped or HPEA-vacuumed. All rags, cloths and other supplies used in conjunction with chemical strippers or other flammable materials, or materials contaminated with lead dust or paint shall be stored at the end of each work day in sealed containers or removed from the premises, in a lawful manner.

(iii) Lead-contaminated dust clearance testing. Lead-contaminated dust clearance testing shall be conducted in accordance with subdivision (g)(1)(ix)(C)-(D) of this section.

Note: Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record July 2, 2004: The purpose of these rules is to implement Article 14 of the Housing Maintenance Code relating to lead poisoning prevention and control. Among the many provisions, the rules detail the responsibilities of owners of multiple dwellings and occupants of dwelling units in which children under the applicable age reside with reference to the prevention of lead-based paint hazards, maintenance of painted surfaces in such dwelling units, notification and investigation for the presence of children and of lead-based paint hazards and the correction of lead-based paint hazards and lead-based paint hazard violations using trained workers and safe work practices. The rules also specify work practices to be used by owners when disturbing lead paint or paint of unknown lead content in multiple dwelling units where a child of applicable age resides. Other provisions concern procedures for certification of correction of violations, exemption from the presumption of lead paint, applications for postponements of time to perform work to remediate violations, recordkeeping requirements, and audit of building records by the Department under certain circumstances. Finally, these rules amend the J-51 rules to provide for benefits when an abatement of lead-based paint hazards is performed under the specified circumstances. These rules repeal and replace the rules promulgated pursuant to former LL #38 of 1999.

§11-07 Presumption.

(a) In any multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty, it shall be presumed that the paint or other similar surface-coating material in any dwelling unit where a child of applicable age resides or in the common areas of such multiple dwelling is lead-based paint.

(b)(1) The presumption established in this section may only be rebutted as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision by the registered owner, registered officer or director of a corporate owner or by a registered managing agent of such multiple dwelling by submitting to the department:

(i) a sworn written statement, supported by lead-based paint testing or sampling results, including a description of the testing methodology and manufacturer and model of instrument used to perform such testing or sampling;

(ii) a sworn written statement by the person who performed the testing if performed by an employee or agent of the owner which shall include a copy of the certificate of training as a certified lead-based paint inspector or risk assessor as provided in subdivision (d) of this section;

(iii) a copy of the inspection report provided by the person who performed the testing or sampling which shall include a description of the surfaces in each room where such testing or sampling was performed; and

(iv) a copy of the results of such testing and/or such laboratory tests of paint chip samples performed by an independent laboratory certified by the state of New York where such testing has been performed.

(2) Such written statement and all supporting documentation shall be submitted to the department not later than six (6) days before the date set for correction in the notice of violation in accordance with paragraph (1) of this subdivision, and may only be submitted to rebut the presumption where the department has not performed an XRF test prior to issuing such violation. Receipt by the department of a complete application in accordance with this subdivision including such written statement and such supporting documentation shall toll the time period to correct the violation. Receipt of an incomplete application shall not toll the time period for correction of the violation.

(3) The department shall notify the registered owner, registered officer or director of a corporate owner or registered managing agent of such multiple dwelling of its determination in writing, and, if the department determines that such presumption has not been rebutted, such notice shall set a date for correction of the violation.

(c) Where testing or sampling is performed to rebut the presumption established in this section, the performance of such testing shall be in accordance with the definition for lead-based paint established in §11-01(s) of these rules and §27-2056.2(7) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code. Laboratory analysis for paint chip samples shall be permitted only where XRF tests fall within the inconclusive zone for the particular XRF machine or where the configuration of the surface or component to be tested is such that an XRF machine cannot accurately measure the lead content of such surface or component. Laboratory tests of paint chip samples, where performed, shall be reported in mg/cm^2, unless the surface area of a paint chip sample cannot be accurately measured, or if an accurately measured paint chip sample cannot be removed, in which circumstance the laboratory test may be reported in percent by weight. Where paint chip sampling has been performed, the sworn written statement by the person who performed the testing shall include a statement that such sampling was done in accordance with 40 CFR §745.227 or successor provisions.

(d) Testing performed to rebut the presumption may only be performed by a person who has been certified as a lead-based paint inspector or risk assessor in accordance with subparts L and Q of 40 CFR part 745 or successor provisions and such testing shall be performed in accordance with 40 CFR §745.227(a) and (b) or successor provisions.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

§11-08 Exemption from Presumption.

(a) A registered owner or registered officer or director of a corporate owner or registered managing agent of a multiple dwelling erected prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty or, where title to such multiple dwelling is held by a cooperative housing corporation or the units in such multiple dwelling are owned as condominium units, a representative of the corporation or the condominium board of managers may apply to the department, in writing, for an exemption of the application of the presumption established under article 14 of the housing maintenance code and §11-07 of these rules with respect to such multiple dwelling or any part thereof, provided further, that where title to such multiple dwelling is held by a cooperative housing corporation or the units in such multiple dwelling are owned as condominium units, the shareholder of record on the proprietary lease or the owner of record of such condominium unit, as is applicable, may apply to the department for such exemption for his or her individual unit where such presumption is or may become applicable.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (c), such exemption shall be granted only where such owner or such other person specified in subdivision (a) of this section submits a written determination made by a lead-based paint inspector or risk assessor certified pursuant to subparts L and Q of 40 CFR part 745 or successor provisions, and in accordance with 40 CFR §745.227(b), or Chapter 7 of the department of housing and urban development's Guidelines for Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing that each tested surface and component in each dwelling unit in such multiple dwelling or in the individual dwelling unit, if applying for an exemption of a particular dwelling unit in such multiple dwelling, is free of lead-based paint as defined in §11-01(s) of these rules and §27-2056.2(7) of article 14 of the housing maintenance code, or, that as a result of a substantial alteration of each dwelling unit such lead-based paint on each surface and component in each dwelling unit has been contained so that each surface tested is negative for such lead-based paint. Where surfaces or components within the dwelling unit can be demonstrated by the owner, to the satisfaction of the department, to have a common construction and painting history, the lead-based paint inspector or risk assessor performing such testing may test a sample of the surfaces and components having such common construction and painting history within the dwelling unit to make such determination, in accordance with 40 CFR §745.227(b), or Chapter 7 of the department of housing and urban development's Guidelines for Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing. For purposes of this section, the term "contained" shall mean that every surface containing lead-based paint has been permanently covered, enclosed and sealed with sheetrock or similar durable construction material to eliminate gaps which may allow access to or dispersion of dust or other matter from the underlying surface.

(c) For any surface within a dwelling unit or dwelling where encapsulation has been applied to a surface for the purpose of qualifying such dwelling unit or dwelling for an exemption under this section, in addition to the information required to be provided to the department pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section, such application shall include: the location of each surface that has been encapsulated; the name of the encapsulant that has been used, which shall be limited to those approved by the New York state department of health or by another federal or state agency or jurisdiction which the department has designated as acceptable; and a statement by the person who applied such encapsulant, who shall be certified to perform abatement pursuant to 40 CFR part 745 or successor provisions, that it has been applied in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions. The surfaces to which such encapsulants are applied shall be subject to periodic monitoring by the owner to ensure that they remain undamaged and intact, provided further, that the owner of such dwelling unit or dwelling shall keep records of any monitoring of such encapsulated surfaces for a period of ten years and produced by the owner upon request by the department.

(d) In addition to the information required by subdivision (c) of this section, where applicable, an application for exemption shall include: the address of the multiple dwelling; the number of units; the dates, if known, when substantial alterations were made to the dwelling unit(s) and a description of the work performed; the date of the inspection resulting in the determination; and a copy of the inspection report. Such inspection report shall contain a description of the surfaces tested and the results of such testing. Such application shall also include a copy of the certificate of training of the person who performed such testing.

(e) Upon submission of a complete application for exemption to the department, such multiple dwelling or part thereof, or dwelling unit, shall be deemed to be exempt from application of the presumption established under article 14 of the housing maintenance code and §11-07 of these rules. The department may revoke an exemption granted pursuant to this section where the department determines, after inspection, that a surface in any dwelling unit for which lead-based paint was contained or to which an encapsulant was applied is no longer intact or sealed or that such exemption was determined to be based upon fraud, mistake or misrepresentation. The department shall provide written notification to the owner upon making such determination. Absent fraud, mistake or misrepresentation in the initial application, an owner may reapply for the exemption by showing that the surface for which the lead-based paint was no longer contained or encapsulated has been repaired and resealed.

(f) Results of lead-based paint testing or evidence of application of encapsulants to surfaces performed prior to the effective date of these rules, that conforms with the requirements of this section, may be submitted to qualify for an exemption from the presumption pursuant to this section.

§11-09 Certification of Correction of Lead-Based Paint Hazard Violation.

(a) A registered owner or registered officer or director of a corporate owner or registered managing agent shall submit a certification of correction of a lead-based paint hazard violation issued pursuant to §27-2056.6 of article 14 of the housing maintenance code and these rules within five (5) days of the date set for correction in the notice of violation. Such certification shall be made in writing, under oath by the registered owner, a registered officer or director of a corporate owner or by the registered managing agent and shall include the following:

(1) the date that the violation was corrected, and a statement that the violation was corrected in compliance with article 14 of the housing maintenance code and §11-06 of these rules;

(2) the results of laboratory tests performed by an independent laboratory certified by the state of New York for lead-contaminated dust clearance tests performed pursuant to §27-2056.11(b) and (d) of the housing maintenance code and §11-06(g)(1)(ix)(C) and (D) of these rules;

(3) a copy of the certificate of training required pursuant to §11-06(b)(2)(iii) qualifying the person who performed the lead-contaminated dust clearance testing; and

(4) a sworn statement by the person or firm who performed the work necessary to correct the violation that such work was performed in accordance with the applicable provisions of §27-2056.11 of article 14 of the housing maintenance code and the applicable provisions of §11-06 of these rules; and

(5) a copy of the certification by the United States environmental protection agency of the firm that performed the work as required pursuant to §11-06(b)(2)(i) of these rules.

(b) Certification of a lead-based paint hazard violation shall be rejected by the department unless the results of the laboratory tests for the required lead-contaminated dust clearance tests are submitted with the certification, and such laboratory test results comply with the standards specified in §11-06(g)(1)(ix)(D) of these rules.

(c) Failure to file a certification of correction of such violation shall establish a prima facie case that such violation has not been corrected.

Among the many provisions, the rules detail the responsibilities of owners of multiple dwellings and occupants of dwelling units in which children under the applicable age reside with reference to the prevention of lead-based paint hazards, maintenance of painted surfaces in such dwelling units, notification and investigation for the presence of children and of lead-based paint hazards and the correction of lead-based paint hazards and lead-based paint hazard violations using trained workers and safe work practices. The rules also specify work practices to be used by owners when disturbing lead paint or paint of unknown lead content in multiple dwelling units where a child of applicable age resides. Other provisions concern procedures for certification of correction of violations, exemption from the presumption of lead paint, applications for postponements of time to perform work to remediate violations, recordkeeping requirements, and audit of building records by the Department under certain circumstances. Finally, these rules amend the J-51 rules to provide for benefits when an abatement of lead-based paint hazards is performed under the specified circumstances. These rules repeal and replace the rules promulgated pursuant to former LL #38 of 1999.

(a) An owner may apply to the department in writing for postponement of the time to correct a lead-based paint hazard violation issued pursuant to §27-2056.6 of article 14 of the housing maintenance code within the five days preceding the date set for correction of such violation pursuant to §27-2115(l)(1).

(b) Grant of a postponement shall be in the sole discretion of the department, and will be limited to circumstances where a showing has been made by the owner, to the satisfaction of the department, that such owner has taken steps to correct the violation promptly but that full correction could not be completed expeditiously because of the existence of a serious technical difficulty, inability to obtain necessary materials, funds or labor, or inability to gain access to the dwelling unit or other area of the building necessary to make the required repair. An application for postponement shall contain a detailed statement by the registered owner or agent, or registered managing agent, explaining the steps taken to correct the violation promptly and the specific circumstances surrounding the inability to fully correct the violation within the time set for correction of the violation. Where an owner claims inability to gain access, such application shall include a description of the steps taken to gain access, including but not limited to providing a written notice to the tenant, delivered by certified or registered mail, informing the tenant of the necessity of access to the dwelling unit to correct the violation and the reason why access could not be gained.

(c)(1) The department shall make a determination in writing whether the post- ponement shall be granted or denied, and the reasons therefor. The department may include such other conditions as are deemed necessary to insure correction of the violation within the time set by the postponement. If the postponement is granted, a new date for correction shall be set, which shall not exceed fourteen days from the date set for correction in the notice of violation, provided, however, that the department may grant an additional postponement of fourteen days where the department determines that the conditions which is the subject of the violation has been stabilized.

(2) The department may grant a postponement of the time to correct a lead-based paint hazard violation in excess of the twenty-eight days provided for in paragraph (1) of this subdivision, where the department determines that the work to be done to remediate the violation includes one or more substantial capital improvements to be made in conjunction with such work, and that such improvements will significantly reduce the presence of lead-based paint in such multiple dwelling or dwelling unit, provided that the paint which is the subject of the violation is stabilized. An owner who applies for such longer postponement shall submit an application within the time period specified in subdivision (a) of this section, and shall include with such application such documentation as the department may require to make its determination, which may include, but is not limited to, written contracts for work, building permits, plans filed with the department of buildings; invoices for materials purchased; and evidence that work has commenced and substantial progress has been made.

§11-11 Audit and Inspection by the Department.

(a) Upon the issuance of a commissioner's order to abate by the commissioner of the department of health and mental hygiene pursuant to New York city health code §173.13, the department shall require that an owner submit to it all records required to be kept by such owner pursuant to article 14 of the housing maintenance code and these rules. At such other times as the department may deem it necessary, the department may require that an owner submit to it all records required to be kept by such owner pursuant to article 14 of the housing maintenance code and these rules. If such order to abate has been issued, such records shall be submitted to the department within 45 days of written demand for such records by the department. In all other cases, the time period for submission shall be stated in writing to the owner, and shall be in the discretion of the department.

(b) The department may undertake any inspection and enforcement actions it deems necessary under applicable law and these rules based upon its review of the records submitted by an owner pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section. The department may also undertake any inspection or enforcement action authorized by law where an owner refuses or fails to produce any of the records required to be kept pursuant to article 14 of the housing maintenance code, these rules, and other applicable law.

APPENDIX A LEASE/COMMENCEMENT OF OCCUPANCY NOTICE FOR PREVENTION OF LEAD BASED PAINT HAZARDS-INQUIRY REGARDING CHILD

You are required by law to inform the owner if a child under seven years of age resides or will reside in the dwelling unit (apartment) for which you are signing this lease/commencing occupancy. If such a child resides or will reside in the unit, the owner of the building is required to perform an annual visual inspection of the unit to determine the presence of lead-based paint hazards. IT IS IMPORTANT THAT YOU RETURN THIS FORM TO THE OWNER OR MANAGING AGENT OF YOUR BUILDING TO PROTECT THE HEALTH OF YOUR CHILD. If you do not respond to this notice, the owner is required to attempt to inspect your apartment to determine if a child under seven years of age resides there.

If a child under seven years of age does not reside in the unit now, but does come to live in it at any time during the year, you must inform the owner in writing immediately. If a child under seven years of age resides in the unit, you should also inform the owner immediately at the address below if you notice any peeling paint or deteriorated subsurfaces in the unit during the year.

Please complete this form and return one copy to the owner or his or her agent or representative when you sign the lease/commence occupancy of the unit. Keep one copy of this form for your records. You should also receive a copy of a pamphlet developed by the New York City Department of Health explaining about lead based paint hazards when you sign your lease/commence occupancy.

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 12 SMOKE DETECTING AND CARBON MONOXIDE DETECTING DEVICES AND SYSTEMS IN MULTIPLE DWELLINGS*1

Pursuant to §27-2045 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the owner of a Class A multiple dwelling which is required to be equipped with smoke detecting devices pursuant to Article 6 of Subchapter 17 of Chapter 1 of Title 27 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York shall: (a) Provide and install one or more approved and operational smoke detecting devices in each dwelling unit as prescribed in the rules and regulations relating to smoke detecting devices and systems of the Department of Buildings.

(b) Post a notice in a form approved by the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development in a common area of the building, readily visible and preferably in the area of the inspection certificate, informing the occupants of such building that the owner is required by law to install one or more approved and operational smoke detecting devices in each dwelling unit in the building and that each occupant is responsible for the maintenance and repair of such devices and for replacing any or all such devices which are stolen, removed, missing or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling unit. In addition, the notice should state that the occupant of a dwelling unit in which a battery-operated smoke detecting device is provided and installed shall reimburse the owner a maximum of ten dollars for the cost of providing and installing each such device. The occupant shall have one year from the date of installation to make such reimbursement. A sample of an approved notice is attached and made part of these regulations.

(c) The notice in §12-01(b) above:

(1) shall have letters not less than three-sixteenths of an inch in height;

(2) the lettering of the notice shall be of bold type and shall be properly spaced to provide good legibility and the background shall be of contrasting colors;

(3) the notice shall be durable and shall be substantially secured to the common area where posted;

(4) the notice shall be of metal, plastic, or decal;

(5) lighting shall be sufficient to make the notice easily legible.

(d) Replace any smoke detecting device which has been stolen, removed, missing or rendered inoperable during a prior occupancy of the dwelling unit and which has not been replaced by the prior occupant prior to the commencement of a new occupancy of a dwelling unit.

(e) Replace within thirty calendar days after the receipt of written notice any such device which becomes inoperable within one year of the installation of such device and through no fault of the occupant of the dwelling unit.

(f) Keep the following records, on the premises unless specifically exempted, relating to the installation and maintenance of smoke detecting devices in the building:

(1) date notice posted pursuant to §12-01(b) of this chapter;

(2) date of installation of each smoke detecting device;

(3) whether the smoke detecting device receives its primary power from the building wiring or whether it is a battery-operated device;

(4) apartment number and location within apartment where device installed;

(5) date device tested to see if it is in operable condition;

(6) maintenance work performed on device;

(7) date tenant requested replacement/repair;

(8) file a certification of satisfactory installation within 10 days after completion with the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Borough Division of Code Enforcement. This certification shall be set forth on a form available at the HPD Borough Office.

A sample for the keeping the above records is attached and made a part of these regulations. These records must be made available to the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development upon request.

[Footnote 1]: * Chapter 12 heading amended City Record Aug. 26, 2004 §1, eff. Aug. 26, 2004. Note: Statement of Basis and Purpose. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development is amending Chapter 12 to include new provisions relating to owner and occupant responsibilities with respect to installation and maintenance of carbon monoxie detecting devices in multiple and private dwellings. These amendments are made in order to implement Local Law #7 of 2004, known as the New York City Carbon Monoxide Detecting Device Act of 2004. The rules specify the obligations of owners to install, maintain, and keep records relating to such devices, and the duties of occupants to reimburse an owner for such installation under certain circumstances and to maintain or replace such devices as specified herein.

Statement of Substantial Need For Earlier Implementation I hereby find, pursuant to New York City Charter §1043(e)(1)(c), and hereby represent to the Mayor, that there is substantial need for the implementation of amendments to Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York governing carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, upon the publication in The City Record of the Notice of Adoption.

Local Law No. 7 of 2004 (Local Law No. 7), which becomes effective November 1, 2004, requires the installation of carbon monoxide detecting devices in buildings classified in Building Code occupancy groups G, H-2, J-1, J-2, and J-3. Local Law No. 7 further requires that the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, in consultation with the Fire Department and the Departments of Buildings and Health and Mental Hygiene, promulgate rules clarifying the duties of owners and occupants with respect to installing and maintaining carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems. Finally, Local Law No. 7 requires that the Department of Housing Preservation "take all actions necessary for . . . implementation, including the promulgation of rules" no later than forty-five days prior to the effective date. Thus, the Department is required to amend Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York on or before September 17, 2004.

Pursuant to the statutory mandate, the proposed rule sets forth the owners' responsibilities to install carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, provide certain notices to occupants, keep records relating to installation, file a certification of satisfactory installation with the Department, and replace such devices and systems under certain circumstances. The rule also sets forth the responsibilities of occupants to reimburse owners for installation of such devices, to keep and maintain the device in good repair, and replace any alarm that is stolen, removed, missing, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of the dwelling unit. A public hearing on the proposed rule was held on August 12, 2004. Early implementation of the rule is necessary to ensure that owners have advance notice of the requirement to install and maintain carbon monoxide detecting devices prior to the beginning of the heating season, and so that the Department may meet the statutory rule promulgation deadline set forth in Local Law No. 7.

§12-02 Occupant Responsibilities for Smoke Detecting Devices for Class A Multiple Dwellings.

Pursuant to §27-2045(2) of the Administrative Code of the City of New York it shall be the sole duty of the occupant of each unit in a Class A multiple dwelling in which a smoke detecting device has been provided and installed by the owner to:

(a) keep and maintain such device in good repair; and

(b) replace any and all devices which are either stolen, removed, missing or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling unit.

Note: Except as provided in §12-01(d) and (e) above, an owner of a Class A multiple dwelling who has provided and installed a smoke detecting device in a dwelling unit shall not be required to keep and maintain such device in good repair or to replace any such device which is stolen, removed, missing or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling unit. In addition, the occupant of a dwelling unit in which a battery-operated smoke detecting device is provided and installed shall reimburse the owner a maximum of ten dollars for the cost of providing and installing each such device. The occupant shall have one year from the date of installation to make such reimbursement.

¶ 1. Once the owner has equipped an apartment with a smoke detector, it is the responsibility of the tenant to check whether the detector is in working order. If the tenant notifies the landlord of a problem, the landlord is required to replace the detector within 30 days. However, if the tenant fails to notify the landlord, the responsibility falls entirely on the tenant. Rodriguez v. New York City Housing Authority, N.Y.L.J., Aug. 13, 2002, page 23, col. 2 (Sup.Ct. These amendments are made in order to implement Local Law #7 of 2004, known as the New York City Carbon Monoxide Detecting Device Act of 2004. The rules specify the obligations of owners to install, maintain, and keep records relating to such devices, and the duties of occupants to reimburse an owner for such installation under certain circumstances and to maintain or replace such devices as specified herein.

Statement of Substantial Need For Earlier Implementation I hereby find, pursuant to New York City Charter §1043(e)(1)(c), and hereby represent to the Mayor, that there is substantial need for the implementation of amendments to Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York governing carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, upon the publication in The City Record of the Notice of Adoption.

Local Law No. 7 of 2004 (Local Law No. 7), which becomes effective November 1, 2004, requires the installation of carbon monoxide detecting devices in buildings classified in Building Code occupancy groups G, H-2, J-1, J-2, and J-3. Local Law No. 7 further requires that the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, in consultation with the Fire Department and the Departments of Buildings and Health and Mental Hygiene, promulgate rules clarifying the duties of owners and occupants with respect to installing and maintaining carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems. Finally, Local Law No. 7 requires that the Department of Housing Preservation "take all actions necessary for . . . implementation, including the promulgation of rules" no later than forty-five days prior to the effective date. Thus, the Department is required to amend Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York on or before September 17, 2004.

Pursuant to the statutory mandate, the proposed rule sets forth the owners' responsibilities to install carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, provide certain notices to occupants, keep records relating to installation, file a certification of satisfactory installation with the Department, and replace such devices and systems under certain circumstances. The rule also sets forth the responsibilities of occupants to reimburse owners for installation of such devices, to keep and maintain the device in good repair, and replace any alarm that is stolen, removed, missing, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of the dwelling unit. A public hearing on the proposed rule was held on August 12, 2004. Early implementation of the rule is necessary to ensure that owners have advance notice of the requirement to install and maintain carbon monoxide detecting devices prior to the beginning of the heating season, and so that the Department may meet the statutory rule promulgation deadline set forth in Local Law No. 7.

§12-03 Owner Responsibilities for Smoke Detecting Devices for Class B Multiple Dwellings.

Pursuant to §27-2046 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York the owner of a Class B multiple dwelling which is required to be equipped with smoke detecting devices pursuant to Article 6 of Subchapter 17 of Chapter 1 of Title 27 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York shall:

(a) Provide and install one or more approved and operational smoke detecting devices in each dwelling unit or, in the alternative, provide and install a line-operated zoned smoke detecting system with central office tie-in for all public corridors and public spaces pursuant to rules and regulations promulgated by the Commissioner of the Department of Buildings.

(b) Keep and maintain smoke detecting devices in good repair.

(c) Replace any smoke detecting device which has been stolen, removed, missing or rendered inoperable prior to the commencement of a new occupancy of a dwelling unit.

(d) Keep the following records, on the premises unless specifically exempted, relating to the installation and maintenance of smoke detecting devices in the buildings:

(1) date of installation of each smoke detecting device;

(2) whether the smoke detecting device receives its primary power from the building wiring or whether it is a battery operated device or in the alternative whether it is a line operated zoned smoke detecting system with central annunciation and central tie-in for all public corridors and public spaces;

(3) room number and location within room where each smoke detecting device is installed;

(4) date device was tested to see if in operable condition;

(5) maintenance performed on each device;

(6) file a certification of satisfactory installation within 10 days after completion with the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Borough Division of Code Enforcement. This certification shall be set forth on a form available at the HPD Borough Office.

§12-06 Owner Responsibilities for CO Alarms for Class A Multiple Dwellings.

Pursuant to §27-2046.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York, the owner of a Class A multiple dwelling that is required to be equipped with carbon monoxide detecting devices pursuant to article 7 of subchapter 17 of chapter 1 of title 27 of the administrative code of the city of New York and as prescribed by the Department of Buildings ("DOB") pursuant to chapter 28 of title 1 of the rules of the city of New York shall comply with the following requirements:

(a) Provide and install one or more approved and operational CO alarms in each dwelling unit, provided that there shall be installed at least one approved and operational CO alarm within 15 feet of the primary entrance to each room lawfully used for sleeping purposes;

(b) Post a notice in a form approved by the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD" or "the Department") in a common area of a Class A multiple dwelling, readily visible and preferably in the area of the inspection certificate informing the occupants of such building that:

(1) the owner is required by law to install one or more approved and operational CO alarm in each dwelling unit in the building within 15 feet of the primary entrance to each room lawfully used for sleeping purposes;

(2) each occupant is responsible for the maintenance and repair of such alarms and for replacing any or all such alarms that are stolen, removed, missing, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling unit; and

(3) the occupant of a dwelling unit in which a CO alarm is newly installed or in which a CO alarm is installed by the owner as a result of such occupant's failure to maintain such alarm or where such alarm has been lost or damaged by such occupant, shall reimburse the owner in the amount of $25.00 per device for the cost of such work, and such occupant shall have one year from the date of installation to make such reimbursement.

(4) An owner may choose to post a single notice that complies with this provision as well as the provisions of 28 RCNY §12-01(b).

(5) The notice required by this subdivision shall conform with the following requirements:

(i) the notice shall have letters not less than three-sixteenths of an inch in height;

(ii) the lettering of the notice shall be of bold type and shall be properly spaced to provide good legibility and the background shall be of contrasting colors;

(iii) the notice shall be durable and shall be substantially secured to the common area where posted;

(iv) the notice shall be of metal, plastic, or decal; and

(v) lighting shall be sufficient to make the notice easily legible; and

(vi) A sample of an approved notice is attached and made part of these rules.

(c) Replace any CO alarm that has been stolen, removed, found missing, or rendered inoperable during a prior occupancy of the dwelling unit and which has not been relaced by the prior occupant before the commencement of a new occupancy of the dwelling unit;

(d) Replace within 30 calendar days after receipt of written notice any such alarm that becomes inoperable within one year of the installation of such alarm due to a defect in the manufacture of such alarm through no fault of the occupant of the dwelling unit;

(e) Provide written information regarding the testing and maintenance of CO alarms to at least one adult occupant of each dwelling unit, including, but not limited to, general information concerning carbon monoxide poisoning and what to do if a CO alarm goes off. Such information may include material that is distributed by the manufacturer or any material prepared or approved by DOB;

(f) Keep the following records, on the premises unless another location is approved by HPD, relating to the installation and maintenance of CO alarms in the building:

(1) date notice posted pursuant to §12-06(b) of this chapter;

(2) date of installation of each CO alarm;

(3) whether each CO alarm receives its primary power from the building wiring with secondary battery back-up, is a battery-operated alarm, or is a plug-in type CO alarm with a back-up battery;

(4) apartment number and location within apartment where each alarm was installed;

(5) date each alarm tested to determine if it is in operable condition;

(6) maintenance work performed on each alarm; and

(7) date occupant requested replacement/repair.

These records must be made available to HPD, DOB, the Fire Department, or the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene ("DOHMH") upon request; and

(g) File a certification of satisfactory installation within 10 days after completion with the HPD Borough Division of Code Enforcement in the borough where the dwelling is located. This certification shall be set forth on a form available at each HPD Borough Office and/or on HPD's website.

§12-08 Occupant Responsibilities for CO Alarms for Class A Multiple Dwellings and Private Dwellings.

(a) Pursuant to §27-2046.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York, it shall be the sole duty of the occupant of each unit in a Class A multiple dwelling and the occupant of a dwelling or dwelling unit in a private dwelling in which a CO alarm has been provided and installed by the owner to:

(1) keep and maintain such CO alarm in good repair; and

(2) replace any alarm that is either stolen, removed, missing, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling or dwelling unit.

(b) The occupant of a dwelling or dwelling unit in which a CO alarm is newly installed or in which a CO alarm is installed by the owner as a result of such occupant's failure to maintain such alarm where such alarm has been removed or damaged by such occupant shall reimburse the owner in the amount of $25.00 per alarm for the cost of such work. Such occupant shall have one year from the date of installation to make such reimbursement.

(c) Except as provided in §12-06(c) and (d) and §12-07(d) and (e) above, an owner who has provided and installed a CO alarm in a dwelling or dwelling unit shall not be required to keep and maintain such alarm in good repair or to replace any such alarm that is stolen, removed, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of such dwelling or dwelling unit.

[Footnote 1]: * Chapter 12 heading amended City Record Aug. 26, 2004 §1, eff. Aug. 26, 2004. Note: Statement of Basis and Purpose. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development is amending Chapter 12 to include new provisions relating to owner and occupant responsibilities with respect to installation and maintenance of carbon monoxie detecting devices in multiple and private dwellings. These amendments are made in order to implement Local Law #7 of 2004, known as the New York City Carbon Monoxide Detecting Device Act of 2004. The rules specify the obligations of owners to install, maintain, and keep records relating to such devices, and the duties of occupants to reimburse an owner for such installation under certain circumstances and to maintain or replace such devices as specified herein.

Statement of Substantial Need For Earlier Implementation I hereby find, pursuant to New York City Charter §1043(e)(1)(c), and hereby represent to the Mayor, that there is substantial need for the implementation of amendments to Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York governing carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, upon the publication in The City Record of the Notice of Adoption.

Local Law No. 7 of 2004 (Local Law No. 7), which becomes effective November 1, 2004, requires the installation of carbon monoxide detecting devices in buildings classified in Building Code occupancy groups G, H-2, J-1, J-2, and J-3. Local Law No. 7 further requires that the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, in consultation with the Fire Department and the Departments of Buildings and Health and Mental Hygiene, promulgate rules clarifying the duties of owners and occupants with respect to installing and maintaining carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems. Finally, Local Law No. 7 requires that the Department of Housing Preservation "take all actions necessary for . . . implementation, including the promulgation of rules" no later than forty-five days prior to the effective date. Thus, the Department is required to amend Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York on or before September 17, 2004.

Pursuant to the statutory mandate, the proposed rule sets forth the owners' responsibilities to install carbon monoxide detecting devices and systems, provide certain notices to occupants, keep records relating to installation, file a certification of satisfactory installation with the Department, and replace such devices and systems under certain circumstances. The rule also sets forth the responsibilities of occupants to reimburse owners for installation of such devices, to keep and maintain the device in good repair, and replace any alarm that is stolen, removed, missing, or rendered inoperable during the occupancy of the dwelling unit. A public hearing on the proposed rule was held on August 12, 2004. Early implementation of the rule is necessary to ensure that owners have advance notice of the requirement to install and maintain carbon monoxide detecting devices prior to the beginning of the heating season, and so that the Department may meet the statutory rule promulgation deadline set forth in Local Law No. 7.

§12-09 Owner Responsibilities for CO Alarms for Class B Multiple Dwellings.

Pursuant to §27-2046.2 of the administrative code of the city of New York, the owner of a Class B multiple dwelling that is required to be equipped with one or more CO alarms pursuant to article 7 of subchapter 17 of chapter 1 of title 27 of the administrative code of the city of New York and as prescribed by DOB pursuant to chapter 28 of title 1 of the rules of the city of New York shall:

(a) Provide and install one or more approved and operational CO alarm in each dwelling unit or in the alternative, provide and install a line operated zoned CO detecting system with central annunciation and central office tie-in for all public corridors and public spaces;

(b) Keep and maintain CO alarms or systems in good repair;

(c) Replace any CO alarm that has been stolen, removed, found missing, or rendered inoperable prior to the commencement of a new occupancy of a dwelling unit;

(d) Keep the following records, on the premises unless another location is approved by HPD, relating to the installation and maintenance of CO alarms or systems:

(1) date of installation of each CO alarm or system;

(2) whether the CO alarm receives its primary power from the building wiring with secondary battery back-up, is a battery-operated alarm, is a plug-in type CO alarm with a back-up battery, or in the alternative whether it is a line operated zoned CO detecting system with central annunciation and central office tie-in for all public corridors and public spaces;

(3) room number and location within room where each CO alarm was installed;

(4) date each alarm was tested to determine if it is in operable condition;

(5) maintenance work performed on each alarm;

These records must be made available to HPD, DOB, the Fire Department, or DOHMH upon request; and

(e) File certification of satisfactory installation within 10 days after completion with the HPD Borough Division of Code Enforcement in the borough where the dwelling is located. This certification shall be set forth on a form available at each HPD Borough Office and/or on HPD's website.

CHAPTER 13 STAYS OF LEGAL ACTION REGARDING VIOLATIONS OF THE MULTIPLE DWELLING LAW AND THE HOUSING MAINTENANCE CODE

§13-01 Purpose and Scope.

It is the purpose of this chapter to set forth an administrative procedure to allow new owners of multiple dwellings and other appropriate units in the City of New York the opportunity to correct violations while being assured that legal actions will not be brought against such new owners and that civil penalties accruing to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development will be stayed during the correction period. Pursuant to the procedure set forth herein, a new owner may seek to limit his or her liability while attempting to achieve correction of violations. The regulations created herein institute uniform procedures for an application for such a stay of legal actions, the basis upon which a determination of such application shall be made, the condition upon which a stay may be granted, the revocation of a stay, and the effect of compliance and non-compliance by a new owner with the conditions of a stay.

§13-02 Definitions.

In these regulations, the following terms shall have the meanings specified:

Department. "Department" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or any successor to that Department.

New owner. "New owner" shall mean a person, entity, firm or corporation or agent or principal thereof who has achieved the status of the owner of the freehold or lesser estate therein, receiver, administrator, managing agent, mortgagee in possession, assignee of rents, executor, trustee, or lessee of the subject building who shall demonstrate that such change in ownership was not for the purpose of establishing eligibility for a stay under these regulations, and that:

(1) such status was attained not more than sixty (60) days prior to the making of its application herein; or,

(2) such status was attained not more than six (6) months prior to the effective date of these regulations if the application is made within sixty (60) days of such effective date.

Subject building. "Subject building" shall mean the dwelling in which the violations set forth in the notice of violation are to be found.

§13-03 Application and Prerequisites.

(a) An application for a stay shall be made during regular business hours to the Department's Agreements and Compliance Unit, 150 William Street, 6th Floor, New York, N.Y. 10038.

(b) A new owner must submit, in support of an application for a stay of legal action, documentary proof that:

(1) the applicant is a new owner as defined in §13-02 "New owner" of this chapter; and

(2) a registration statement has been filed with the Department's Office of Code Enforcement by the new owner, or proof that registration is not required for or allowed to be filed by the applicant.

(c) A new owner seeking a stay or an extension thereof may submit in support of the application any additional statements, information, documents, affidavits, records or reports as he or she may consider desirable to assist the Department in reaching its determination as to whether a stay or an extension thereof should be granted or the length of such stay or extension thereof.

(d) All written materials shall be submitted with a certification by the new owner, or if such an application is submitted by a corporation or partnership, by an office or partner thereof, that all statements contained in all forms and documents submitted in support of the application are true and correct, and an acknowledgement that the applicant is aware that, under §27-2118(a)(3) of the Housing Maintenance Code, any false or misleading statement in an application or an accompanying document, relating to an action to be taken or determination to be made by the Department shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by fine of not less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), for each such violation or by imprisonment up to one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

§13-04 Determination of Stay.

Upon application by a new owner, the Department shall make a determination as to whether a stay shall be granted. The Department may take into consideration in determining whether to grant a stay, and the new owner may submit in attempting to establish his or her entitlement to a stay, the following information:

(a) That the new owner has demonstrated, by his or her past and present conduct, that there is a substantial probability that he or she will utilize a postponement to achieve correction of each violation for which a stay is sought. In assessing whether the past conduct of the new owner demonstrates that such a substantial probability exists, the following information may be considered:

(1) whether the new owner has complied with prior orders of the Department;

(2) whether the new owner has complied with prior orders of other City departments concerning building conditions;

(3) whether the new owner has any outstanding debts to the City for emergency repairs or has incurred such debts within five (5) years prior to the date of the applications; and

(4) what the new owner is doing to correct other violations for which he or she is not seeking a stay.

(b) The financial ability of the new owner to achieve correction of each violation for which a stay is sought.

Following a new owner's application for a stay, the Department shall prepare a written statement setting forth the reasons for the granting or the denial of such application. The statement shall be signed and dated by the person making the determination and shall be made part of the records of the Department. A copy of the determination shall be delivered to the new owner or mailed to him or her by regular mail.

(a) In the event the Department determines that a stay could appropriately be granted to the new owner, the Department shall require the new owner to execute an agreement prepared by the Department which shall set forth an exact schedule of removal of all violations for which the new owner is seeking a stay and in which the new owner acknowledges his or her responsibility to correct each violation by those dates. Such agreement may also:

(1) require the new owner to take a particular course of action to correct specified violations;

(2) require a new owner to deposit the rental income of the subject building into an escrow account from which expenditures for scheduled repairs are made; and

(3) may contain other conditions, as the Department finds appropriate, including repayment of Emergency Repair Program expenditures.

(b) In the event the Department determines, after consideration of information described in §13-04 of this chapter, that a stay might be granted but that a further assurance of violation removal is required from the new owner, a stay may be granted on the condition that the new owner accept service of a summons and complaint or a summons with notations and agree to allow the agreement described in §13-06(a) above to be entered in the New York City Civil Court as an order of that court.

(c) If the Department reasonably concludes from the data submitted that the new owner will acquire additional funds, or may be able to acquire the necessary financing from a particular lending institution or type of lending institution to which the new owner has not applied, the Department may require the new owner to make one or more applications for such financing as a condition precedent to the granting of a stay. The Department shall grant an interim stay sufficient in length for a reply, in the ordinary course of business, to any such application upon the condition that the new owner shall inform the Department of such a reply within five (5) days of its receipt. (a) Makes an application for such extension at least five (5) days prior to the expiration of the correction date set forth in the agreement described in §13-06 of this chapter;

(b) Clearly demonstrates to the Department that:

(1) the inability to correct in a timely manner was caused by circumstances substantially beyond the control of the new owner, or that the impediments were not reasonably foreseeable at the time the new owner applied for and was granted the original stay;

(2) no course of action, other than the one undertaken by the new owner could have achieved correction within the time set forth in the original stay agreement; and,

(3) the new owner has devised a reasonable course of action which he or she intends to pursue if an extension of the stay is granted by the Department, which course of action would remove or circumvent any impediments to correction within the time allowed for an extension of the stay;

(c) Submits any data or information requested by the Department which may include the following:

(1) any information described in §§13-05 or 13-07(b) of this chapter;

(2) documentation of the actions taken to achieve correction, including receipted bills and/or cancelled checks for any work performed or materials supplied;

(3) a statement by the new owner as to the impediments to correction which presently exist; or,

(4) such additional information of any nature as the Department may request to assist it in making a determination as to whether and how long an extension in the stay should be granted; and

(d) Executes an agreement prepared by the Department which sets forth an exact schedule of removal of all violations for which the new owner is seeking an extension of a stay and in which the new owner acknowledges the new dates for correction and his or her responsibility to correct by those dates and, where applicable or required, consents to the extension agreement being entered as an amendment to an order of the New York City Civil Court.

§14-01 General Provisions.

(a) All notices required by this chapter shall be in English and Spanish.

(b) For the purposes of this chapter, unless the context indicates otherwise, the following definitions apply:

DAMP. "DAMP" shall mean to the Division of Alternative Management Programs, or any successor division, of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

DAMP Lessee. "DAMP Lessee" shall mean a person or entity with whom HPD has entered into a lease for the management of a building under any DAMP Program.

DAMP Programs. "DAMP Programs" shall mean the programs administered by DAMP.

DAMP Program Director. "DAMP Program Director" shall mean the individual at HPD responsible for the operation of an individual DAMP Program or his or her designee.

Room. "Room" shall mean the basic living space of a dwelling unit (i.e. living room, kitchen, dining room, and bedroom). Each bathroom shall be considered as one-half of a room. In studio apartments or apartments in which the kitchen (or kitchenette) and living area occupy the same space, that space shall be considered as two Rooms.

Tenant. "Tenant" shall mean a residential tenant of record occupying a dwelling unit pursuant to a lease with the City or with a net lessee which has entered into a net lease with the City for the building in which such dwelling unit is located. Other residential occupants, such as squatters and licensees, are not Tenants. Non-residential tenants or occupants, such as those who occupy space for retail, commercial, manufacturing, or community facility purposes, are not Tenants.

(c) Unless otherwise provided in this title, the provisions of this chapter govern the procedures for setting and increasing rents for Tenants of City-owned buildings participating in DAMP Programs.

(d) No Tenant shall receive more than one rent increase within a twelve-month period unless additional increases in the maximum rental charge-per-Room are requested or approved by no fewer than sixty percent (60%) of the Tenants.

(e) DAMP shall assist eligible Tenants in applying for existing rental assistance programs.

(a) To facilitate a particular building's operation and as a condition of admission to a DAMP Program, the appropriate DAMP Program Director may establish a minimum per Room rent level for all dwelling units in such building.

(b) The determination to establish a minimum per Room rent level for all dwelling units in a particular building shall be based on the DAMP Program Director's estimate of the maintenance and operating expenses of the particular building upon admission to a DAMP Program. The DAMP Program Director shall consider the existing rent roll for the particular building or project, the number of vacant dwelling units at the time of admission to a DAMP Program and the maintenance and operating expenses incurred by other buildings presently or previously in that or other DAMP Programs.

(c) The DAMP Program Director shall notify each Tenant that the particular building has been accepted into a DAMP Program, the effective date of entry, to whom rent payments are to be made after that date, and what the initial rent for the dwelling unit will be upon entry and shall provide information on any rental assistance which may be available to the Tenants and the procedures to apply for such assistance. The notice shall be in writing and sent by regular mail to the affected Tenants at least thirty (30) days before the date of entry into a DAMP Program.

CHAPTER 14 RENT SETTING AND INCREASES TO TENANTS IN DIVISION OF ALTERNATIVE MANAGEMENT PROGRAM BUILDING*1

§14-03 Interim Rent Increases.

(a) One or more interim rent increases may be necessary to raise rents to a level sufficient to cover the maintenance and operating expenses of a particular building during the period of City ownership and alternative management.

(b) The DAMP Lessee may prepare a request to the appropriate DAMP Program Director for an interim increase in the rent level per Room for Tenants of a particular building. If the DAMP Lessee fails to submit a request for an interim rent increase, the DAMP Program Director may propose an increase in the rents in accordance with the provisions of these rules.

(c) The DAMP Lessee or DAMP Program Director shall prepare a statement of the maintenance and operating expenses which form the basis for the rent increase, a history not to exceed the prior year of billing and collection of rents in the particular building and a current rent roll. The statement shall contain:

(1) the past actual expenditures for maintenance and operation of a particular building for the period it has participated in a DAMP Program for a period not to exceed the prior year, including, but not limited to: the cost of fuel for heat and hot water, expenditures for common space utilities, repair and maintenance, supplies, insurance, and custodial services; and fees for management and professional services.

(2) a projection of maintenance and operating expenses of the particular building for a period of one (1) year following the effective date of the rent increase, including, but not limited to: the cost of fuel for heat and hot water; expenditures for common space utilities, repair and maintenance, supplies, insurance and custodial services; and fees for management and professional services to be rendered.

(3) a calculation of the rent required on a per room per month rate and per dwelling unit per month rate.

§14-05 Notice of Interim and Disposition Rent Increases.

(a) All Tenants who are subject to the proposed increase will be sent a notice in writing of the proposed rent increase by regular mail, with a duplicate copy delivered to the Tenant's apartment not less than sixty (60) days before the anticipated effective date of the rent increase. The date of notice shall be deemed to be either five (5) days from the date of postmark, or the actual date of delivery to the Tenant's apartment, whichever is earlier. Each affected Tenant will have thirty (30) days from the date of the notice to submit by mail to DAMP or by hand-delivery to the place designated by DAMP in the notice written comments on the proposed rent increase. The date of submission shall be deemed to be five (5) days after the date of postmark or the actual date of the hand-delivery receipt, whichever is earlier. During the comment period, the financial data pertinent to the proposed rent increase shall be available for inspection upon request.

(b) The notice of proposed rent increase in DAMP Programs shall be addressed to each affected Tenant and shall include the proposed new rent level, the statement of estimated maintenance and operating expenses upon which the rent increase was calculated, the anticipated effective date of the rent increase, and shall provide information on any rental assistance which may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance. The notice of proposed rent increase in DAMP Programs shall also inform each affected Tenant of the opportunity and procedure for commenting on the proposed rent increase by submitting written comments.

(c) A final notice of rent increase shall be addressed to each affected Tenant and sent by regular mail with a duplicate copy delivered to the Tenant's apartment, at least thirty (30) days before the effective date of the rent increase, after consideration by the DAMP Program Director of any written comments submitted by the Tenants of a particular building participating in a DAMP Program. The final notice of rent increase shall include the specific amount of the rent increase and its effective date, and shall provide information on any rental assistance which may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance.

CHAPTER 17 AMOUNTS TO BE FILED AS TAX LIENS PURSUANT TO THE HOUSING MAINTENANCE CODE

§17-05 Determination of Definitely Computed Amount.

(a) Statement of account. Whenever the Department has incurred expenses for the repair of a dwelling or for the elimination of any dangerous or unlawful conditions therein, pursuant to this article or any other provision of the Administrative Code, it may serve upon the owner or the registered managing agent at his address registered with the Department in the manner provided in §27-2095 of the Housing Maintenance Code a statement of the expense incurred including administrative fees and sales tax and a demand for payment thereof. If the owner does not within thirty (30) days of service of such statement, notify the Department in writing of his objection to the statement of expenses or any individual item therein, such owner or his successor in interest may not in any subsequent judicial or administrative proceeding contest any item contained in such statement. Such objection shall specify the items objected to and the nature of such objections and shall include any documentary evidence supporting such claim. Those items not specifically objected to shall be deemed admitted.

(b) Failure to object. Upon the failure to object in writing within thirty (30) days to the Statement of Account, such sum shall be considered definitely computed.

(c) Determination to be made upon receipt of objection. Within a reasonable time after receipt of a written objection to the Statement of Account, the Commissioner shall make a determination of the sums lawfully expended:

(1) Upon receipt of an objection to the Statement of Account, the Department shall issue to the objecting party a notice stating that a determination is to be made and specifying a date by which additional evidence supporting the objection may be submitted.

(2) The Commissioner shall make a determination based on all the evidence received from the objecting party as well as the records of the Department.

(3) After the Commissioner has made a determination he shall inform the objecting party of such determination in writing and state the reasons therefor. Such determination shall become final and the amount definitely computed when no application for judicial review has been made in the time and manner provided by law.

(d) Determination to be made on hearing. (1) Where the Commissioner determines that substantial issues of fact are raised which cannot be determined by documentary evidence, a Hearing Officer shall hold a hearing pursuant to §17-05(d) of these regulations as regards such question of fact.

(2) Persons appointed by the Commissioner pursuant to this chapter shall have the duty to conduct fair, impartial, and informed hearings, to maintain order and avoid unnecessary delay. They shall have all powers necessary to achieve these ends, and all powers granted to the Department by §§27-2091 and 27-2092 and Article 8 of Subchapter 5 of Chapter 2 of Title 27 of the Housing Maintenance Code, including the following powers:

(i) To hold hearings and make recommendations, specify and modify the course, time, and place of the hearing and regulate the conduct of parties or counsel;

(ii) To call or hold conferences before, during, or after the hearing, on or off the record, for simplification of issues or any other purpose;

(iii) To sign and issue any orders relating to the proceeding on its own motion or on motion of any party, including but not limited to orders of consolidation, severance, inspection, subpoena, and adjournment, and to rule upon the objections to motions for such orders or objections to the orders themselves;

(iv) To administer oaths and to take testimony;

(v) To rule upon offers of proof, motions, and objections, to receive evidence, to determine the order of proof, and to take any actions or issue any order which will prevent surprise at the hearing;

(vi) To question witnesses; and

(vii) To present a written recommendation to the Commissioner as to the definitely computed amount of monies expended at the premises by the Department.

(3) The Commissioner may appoint himself, or any other person, to serve as a Hearing Officer.

(4) (i) The Department shall issue a notice of hearing which shall include:

(A) a date, time and place scheduled for the hearing;

(B) the appointment of a Hearing Officer;

(C) a place and method for service of applications for orders and subpoenas on the Hearing Officer;

(D) the name, business address and telephone number of the Department's representative;

(E) a statement informing the party of the consequences of default pursuant to subparagraph (4)(ii) of this section and

(F) his right to be represented by counsel. The notice of hearing shall be served on the objecting party as provided by §27-2095 of the Administrative Code.

(ii) Should the objecting party fail to appear at the hearing after being properly notified pursuant to §17-05(d)(4)(i) the Hearing Officer shall recommend a determination to the Commissioner based upon the objection and other evidence submitted by the objective party as well as the records of the Department.

(5) (i) All motions made prior to a hearing shall be

(A) made in writing;

(B) supported by affidavits or other documentary evidence;

(C) served upon all parties; and

(D) filed with the Hearing Officer, with copies of affidavits of service upon the other parties at least ten days before the hearing unless the Hearing Officer permits a motion to be made at a later time in the proceedings. Responses to written motions shall be made within five (5) days after service of the motion, unless the Hearing Officer prescribes another period in an order served with the motion.

(ii) The Hearing Officer may at any time call a conference to consider any motion and dispose of the motion after the conference. The Hearing Officer may reserve decision on any motion made under this subdivision (d) until, during, or after the hearing in which case objection shall be allowed at the hearing. The Hearing Officer may dispose of such motion in the recommendation or order following the hearing, provided, however, that a motion for an adjournment, for a change of parties or for a subpoena shall be ruled upon prior to the submission of evidence at the hearing.

(6) (i) Subpoenas, including subpoenas duces tecum as they are defined in the Civil Practice Law and Rules shall be issued only by the Hearing Officer, in the name of the Commissioner.

(ii) Subpoenas, shall be served as specified in the Civil Practice Law and Rules and shall be accompanied by such fees as may be required by law. When the Hearing Officer issues a subpoena the Hearing Officer may direct the party seeking the issuance of the subpoena to serve such subpoenas and pay such fees.

(iii) Any party or person objecting to or seeking recision or modification of a subpoena or a subpoena duces tecum must serve written objection on the Hearing Officer within five (5) days from the date of service, or at the hearing, whichever is sooner.

(7) All relevant material and reliable evidence shall be admitted which bears upon the propriety and lawfulness of the sums expended including but not limited to the existence of dangerous or emergency conditions, notification of owner, where necessary, performance of the repair by the Department's contractor and propriety and amount of the expenses.

(8) (i) After due consideration of the evidence and arguments the Hearing Officer shall make a written recommendation to the Commissioner in which he shall detail his recommendations and the reasons therefor.

(ii) The Commissioner shall determine the sums lawfully expended based on the recommendations of the Hearing Officer. He shall inform the objecting party of such determination in writing and the reasons therefor. Such determination shall become final when no application for judicial review has been made in the time and the manner provided by law.

(iii) Such determination shall be part of the official record of the Department and shall be available for public inspection.

(iii) Fire Department vacate orders issued pursuant to §15-227 of the Administrative Code or other provision of law.

(iv) Code enforcement vacate order issued by the Division of Code Enforcement of HPD.

(b) Department duties upon issuance of Vacate Order. Upon receiving notice of a Vacate Order, the Department shall offer temporary shelter to relocatee. The Department may order a relocatee to move from one temporary shelter to another if, in the judgment of the Department this shall facilitate the work of the Department or reduce the costs of temporary shelter payable by the Department. After offering such temporary shelter to relocatee, the Department shall offer temporary shelter to relocatee. The Department may order a relocatee to move from one temporary shelter to another if, in the judgment of the Department this shall facilitate the work of the Department or reduce the costs of temporary shelter payable by the Department. After offering such temporary shelter to relocatee, the Department shall:

(1) furnish relocatee with a copy of this section in English and Spanish and shall notify him/her of the name, office address and telephone number of the Relocation Manager assigned to the relocatee;

(2) submit an application to the New York City Housing Authority on behalf of the relocatee within seven (7) days after relocatee's entry into temporary shelter;

(3) pay temporary shelter benefits in the amounts provided in subdivision (c) of this section and subject to the other conditions stated in these regulation; and

(4) refer relocatee to at least three Standard Apartments in the borough of relocatee's choice, if available. Copies of this section in English and Spanish shall be posted in the offices of Relocation Managers.

(c) Temporary shelter benefits. The Department shall pay the actual cost of temporary shelter up to $12 per day for one adult and $7 per day for each additional person residing with the relocatee in the room or, if suitable substitute shelter is unavailable for these amounts, the Department may pay such additional sums as are necessary to obtain suitable shelter for the relocatee.

(d) Moving expenses. Upon moving to suitable permanent accommodations, a relocatee not entitled to payment of moving expenses from another City Agency shall be entitled to reimbursement from the Department of his/her moving expenses to the extent of either of the following:

(1) actual expenses up to $300.00, upon relocatee's submission of a paid bill immediately following the move or;

(2) a scheduled amount based on the number of rooms vacated, as follows:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(e) Obligations of relocatee. (1) Unless this section specifically requires otherwise, any notice required to be given by a relocatee must be given in writing to the Relocation Manager.

(2) Relocatee must actively seek out suitable permanent accommodations and report his/her progress to the Relocation Manager weekly or at such longer intervals as the Department shall require.

(3) Prior to moving from temporary shelter to permanent accommodations found by his/her own efforts or to signing a lease for such accommodations, relocatee must notify the Relocation Manager. This notice shall include the address from which relocatee was vacated, the new permanent address and the name of relocatee.

(4) The relocatee has the duty to submit a copy of the Tenant Introduction Letter signed by a landlord, agent or superintendent, to the Department, within three working days of any apartment referral made by the Department and, in the event the relocatee is of the opinion that the accommodations are unavailable, unsuitable or otherwise unacceptable, (s)he shall, at the time of submitting the Letter, specifically state in writing the facts upon which his/her conclusions are based.

In the event the relocatee is of the opinion that the accommodations are unavailable, unsuitable or otherwise unacceptable, (s)he shall specifically state in writing the fact upon which his/her conclusions are based.

(5) The relocatee has a duty to advise the Department whenever (s)he finds permanent accommodations and to keep the Department advised regarding the date of expected occupancy.

(6) The Department is entitled to withdraw its offer and the relocatee is entitled to withdraw his/her acceptance of an apartment if the apartment is not prepared for occupancy within 21 days after the initial acceptance.

(7) After having accepted a unit offered through the efforts of the Department and having been notified that it is prepared for occupancy, the relocatee has a duty to report to the Department in writing, if possible, or orally, within three working days of such notification any facts which in his/her opinion would constitute grounds for a determination that the accommodations have not been prepared for occupancy.

(8) The relocatee has a duty to respond to all reasonable notices for appointments with the Department.

(f) Non-occupancy in temporary shelter; termination of benefits. (1) Before an emergency relocatee ceases to reside at his/her assigned temporary shelter accommodations, it shall be his/her duty to notify the Department immediately in writing. The Department shall forthwith terminate temporary shelter benefits.

(2) Whenever an emergency relocatee is absent from his/her temporary accommodations for a period of four consecutive days or more, it shall be his/her duty to inform the Department of the date upon which (s)he will return. The Department shall, during the period of absence, suspend temporary shelter benefits.

(3) Except where an emergency relocatee has notified the Department in compliance with paragraph (1) or (2) above, the Department, whenever it is of the opinion that the emergency relocatee is not residing at his/her temporary shelter accommodations, may suspend temporary shelter benefits upon four days notice. This notice shall advise that the relocatee's temporary shelter benefits, shall be suspended unless (s)he notifies the Relocation Manager during business hours, or the hotel management at other times, of his/her continuing occupancy within four calendar days of the delivery of the notice.

(4) Temporary shelter benefits suspended under the provisions of paragraph (3) above shall be suspended for a period of seven days, at which time such benefits will be terminated unless the relocatee, within that seven day period, has advised the Department during business hours, or the hotel management at other times, of his/her intention to continue in occupancy, in which case the relocatee shall be reinstated.

(5) The provisions of paragraphs (3) and (4) above shall be applied to a relocatee and his/her household only once. Thereafter, the Department may terminate a relocatee's temporary shelter benefits upon four days' notice except where the relocatee has notified the Department of his/her intended absence, as required in paragraph (2) above. Such notice of termination shall advise that the relocatee's temporary shelter benefits shall be terminated unless (s)he notifies the Department during business hours or the hotel management at other times, of his/her continuing occupancy within four calendar days of the delivery of the notice.

(g) Refusal to relocate; termination of benefits. (1) Relocatee's temporary shelter benefits shall be terminated after notice and hearing (as provided in subdivisions (i)-(m) of this section upon his/her unjustified refusal of three Standard Apartments or, if the relocatee is to be relocated to a rooming unit, three rooming units which are suitable accommodations, to which (s)he has been referred by the Department unless any of the following is true:

(i) The relocatee has been offered and has agreed to rent an accommodation from New York City Housing Authority, which accommodation is not yet prepared for occupancy.

(ii) An accommodation previously accepted by the Relocatee and not withdrawn by the Department is not prepared for occupancy;

(iii) The Department has failed to process a public housing application expeditiously; or

(iv) Physical incapacity or illness of the relocatee or member of his/her household prevents the relocatee from complying with his/her obligations under subdivision (e) hereof.

(2) A termination hearing (pursuant to subdivisions (i)-(m)) of this section) based on relocatee's unjustified refusal as provided in subdivision (g)(1) above, shall be adjourned for seven days if:

(i) The relocatee has an application for public housing pending with the New York City Housing Authority; and the Authority, through no fault or delay of the relocatee, has not certified, rejected, or given notice of deferral of certification regarding such application; or;

(ii) Other good cause is shown.

(h) Other grounds of termination. Relocatee's temporary shelter benefits may be terminated immediately, after notice and hearing (pursuant to subdivisions (i)-(m) of this section) upon occurrence of any of the following:

(1) The relocatee refuses, without good cause, to accept an offer to rent suitable accommodations made by the New York City Housing Authority.

(2) The relocatee refuses, without good cause, to move into accommodations which the relocatee has agreed to rent from the New York City Housing Authority and which are prepared for occupancy;

(3) The relocatee refuses, without good cause, to move into accommodations which were offered through the efforts of the Department which the relocatee has agreed to accept, and which have been prepared for occupancy;

(4) The relocatee has refused without good cause, a request by the Department or by the New York City Housing Authority to provide pertinent information relevant to the agency's relocation efforts or the relocatee's eligibility for benefits and services;

(5) The relocatee has failed without good cause, to comply with the obligation to actively seek out suitable accommodations and to report his/her progress on a weekly basis, as required under subdivisions (i)-(m) of this section above.

(6) The relocatee or any member of his/her household dwelling in temporary shelter has engaged in conduct which threatens the health, safety or property of: other residents, guests or visitors in the facility; city personnel, agents or employees; or of the proprietor of the facility, his/her agents or employees.

(7) The relocatee has made material misstatements or concealed material facts from the Department concerning his/her initial or continued eligibility for relocation services.

(8) The relocatee has available to him/her suitable and habitable permanent accommodations at the time of notice of the intention to terminate.

(9) The relocatee has failed to respond to a notice for appointment with employees of the Department, as required under subdivisions (i)-(m) of this section above.

(10) The relocatee is ineligible for relocation benefits or services:

(i) because (s)he did not in fact dwell in the vacated premises;

(ii) because the vacated premises were not uninhabitable, unless the prior accommodations are no longer available to the relocatee through no fault of his/her own; or

(iii) because (s)he is otherwise ineligible.

(i) Hearing procedures; notice of hearing and other matters. Prior to the termination of temporary shelter benefits paid on behalf of any relocatee, the Department shall give relocatee notice of the intended termination and an opportunity to be heard, according to the procedures stated in subdivision (i) and the following subdivisions.

(1) Notice of intention to terminate benefits shall be delivered to relocatee in the manner provided in subdivision(p) of this section for the giving of notice and within the time stated in subdivision (i)(2) below. This notice shall be given in Spanish and English and shall advise relocatee:

(i) of the date upon which the Department intends to terminate temporary shelter benefits and of the factual and legal basis upon which the Department intends to terminate temporary shelter benefits;

(ii) the time, date and place which the Department will make available for a hearing if requested.

(iii) that if the relocatee desires a hearing, (s)he must make a written request therefor which must be received by the Department at least three days before the date which the Department has indicated it will make available for a hearing; except, in the case of a termination under subdivision (i)(2) below, relocatee's request for a hearing must be received by the Department at least one day before the date which the Department has indicated it will make available for a hearing.

(iv) that for good cause the relocatee may request a change in the time, date and/or place which the department has indicated it will make available for a hearing;

(v) that a timely request for a hearing and appearance at the hearing will stay any intended termination until at least seven days after a hearing officer's decision;

(vi) that, if the relocatee requests a hearing, (s)he has the right to be represented by an attorney or other representative, to provide a translator, to testify, to produce witnesses to testify, to offer documentary evidence, to cross-examine opposing witnesses, and to examine the site occupancy record prior to or at the hearing.

(2) Notice of the hearing shall be served no fewer than seven days prior to the scheduled date of the hearing except that notice of the hearing shall be served no fewer than three days prior to the scheduled date of the hearing when termination is intended by reason of:

(i) threatening conduct of the relocatee or member his/her family as described in subdivision (h)(6) above;

(ii) the fact that relocatee did not dwell in the vacated premises, as provided in subdivision (h)(10) above; or

(iii) the fact that the vacate premises were not uninhabitable, as provided in subdivision (h)(10) above.

(3) Relocatee or his/her attorney or representative shall be entitled upon request to examine his/her site occupancy records at a reasonable time before the hearing.

(j) Hearing procedures; conduct of hearing. (1) The hearing shall be conducted by an impartial hearing officer appointed by the Department in accordance with the Manual for Hearing Officers in Administrative Adjudication. The hearing officer shall have the power to administer oaths and shall have no prior personal knowledge of the facts concerning the proposed termination of relocatee.

(2) The hearing shall be informal, all relevant and material evidence shall be admissible and the legal rules of evidence shall not apply. The site occupancy record shall be part of the evidence at any hearing whether or not the Relocation Manager is or can be present. The hearing shall be confined to the factual and legal issues raised in the notice of intention to terminate benefits.

(3) Relocatee shall have a right to be represented by counsel or other representative, to testify, to produce witnesses to testify, to offer documentary evidence, to cross-examine opposing witnesses and to examine the site occupancy record.

(4) For good cause, the hearing may be adjourned by the hearing officer on his/her own motion or at the request of an emergency relocatee or the Department.

(5) The hearing officer shall make a written summary of the proceedings including a statement of the relocatee's oral and written position and shall annex any documentary evidence offered at the hearing in support thereof. The relocatee shall be shown this summary and given the opportunity to object. In the case of a Spanish-speaking relocatee the summary shall be read to the relocatee in Spanish. In the event the objection is not resolved at the hearing, that objection shall be made part of the summary. The relocatee shall promptly be provided with a copy of the completed summary. The hearing officer may, in his discretion, combine this summary with his findings of fact.

(6) The Department will provide adequate translation services for Spanish-speaking relocatees.

(k) Hearing procedures: decision. (1) The hearing officer shall render a decision which shall include written findings of fact and shall state the legal basis for any decision to terminate and shall set the termination date in the event that termination is ordered. The decision shall be final absent a timely appeal as described in subdivision (m) below.

(2) A copy of the decision shall be delivered to the relocatee no fewer than seven days prior to the termination date set by the hearing officer, except in the case of termination under subdivision (i)(2) of this section delivery shall be at least 24 hours before termination. Delivery shall be effected in the manner for giving notice provided in subdivision (p) of this section.

(3) In setting a termination date the hearing officer shall take into consideration all the surrounding circumstances, including in appropriate cases:

(i) the ground(s) for the termination;

(ii) the number of offerings of standard apartments to relocatee;

(iii) the relocatee's cooperation with the Department;

(iv) the status of any public housing application;

(v) any delay in the processing of such application that may be due to the Department or the relocatee; and

(vi) the hardship which will result to the relocatee or his/her family.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the hearing officer may not stay termination for a period greater than 14 days after the date of his/her decision, unless the relocatee establishes that the termination would result in exceptional hardship to the relocatee or his/her household.

(l) Hearing procedures; default. Failure to appear at the scheduled termination hearing shall result in termination of temporary shelter benefits unless upon written application to the Department, the relocatee establishes either:

(1) That the relocatee was not properly served with a notice of intention to terminate an opportunity for a hearing; or

(2) That the default was excusable and that relocatee has a meritorious defense to the intended termination.

Termination shall be stayed if such written application is made prior to the scheduled date of termination. If termination has occurred, the relocatee may make written application to the Department within four days of termination for temporary accommodations which shall be granted if the relocatee set forth facts establishing either of the grounds set forth above. The Department shall issue and serve the relocatee a notice of intention to terminate and opportunity for a hearing, in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (i) above, except that the hearing shall be scheduled on the third business day after service of such notice and that the relocatee need not make a separate request for such hearing.

(m) Appeal. An appeal from a decision of a hearing officer may be made in writing to the Assistant Commissioner of Division of Relocation Services or his designee provided it is received by the Department within at least five days after the delivery of the hearing officer's decision. The record before the Assistant Commissioner shall consist of the summary of proceedings, the site occupancy record, the hearing officer's decision and any affidavits or documentary evidence or written arguments which the appellant may wish to submit. Termination shall be stayed pending at determination of the appeal. A copy of the decision on appeal will be delivered in the manner for giving notice provided in subdivision (p) of this section. In no event shall termination be ordered during the seven-day period immediately following the delivery of the decision on appeal, except in the case of termination under subdivision (i)(2) of this section, termination shall occur within 24 hours after delivery of notice of an adverse decision on appeal.

(n) Application for relief. If, at any time, a relocatee believes he has been or will be harmed by any action of the Department which he believes is in violation of any law or regulation and if no other provision of this section provides an opportunity for a hearing, he may make application for a hearing to the Commissioner of the Department or his designee in writing setting forth the Department's action and the manner in which he will be harmed. Notice of the time, date, and place of the hearing and the hearing procedures will be as set forth in subdivisions (i)-(m) of this section.

(o) Relocation benefits. A relocatee may be eligible for relocation payment as described in paragraphs (1) and (2).

(1) Relocation allowance: A relocatee shall be awarded a relocation allowance payment as shown on the schedule below if the relocatee satisfies the following criteria:

(i) The relocatee must be certified by the Red Cross, Fire Department as having lost all or most of his/her possessions as a result of a fire or other disaster.

(ii) The relocatee must not be under investigation by the Fire Department in relation to a fire of suspicious origin.

(iii) The relocatee must be moving into an apartment which has been certified by the Department as a standard apartment as defined in §18-01(a) "standard apartment."

Notwithstanding the above:

(iv) A relocatee who moves to a rooming house that is certified by the Department as a suitable accommodation and prepared for occupancy is eligible for a relocation allowance payment of $100.00.

(v) No payment will be made to a relocatee whose temporary benefits have been terminated under subdivisions (f)(3) or (f)(5), (g), or (h) of this section.

(2) Relocation incentive: A relocatee shall be awarded a relocation incentive payment, calculated as set forth below, if the relocatee satisfies the following criteria:

(i) The relocatee must be moving from temporary shelter furnished by the Department into a unit found through his/her own efforts which is not a unit listed by the Department offered to relocatee by the Department or a unit under the jurisdiction of the New York City Housing Authority.

(ii) The relocatee must be moving into an apartment that has been certified by the Department as a standard apartment as defined in §18-01(a) "Standard Apartment" or, if into a rooming house, into an accommodation certified by the Department as a suitable accommodation and prepared for occupancy as defined in §18-01(a) "Suitable accommodation" and "Prepared for occupancy."

(iii) The relocatee must not be under investigation by the Fire Department in relation to a fire of suspicious origin.

(iv) Relocatee's temporary shelter benefits shall not have been terminated under subdivisions (f)(3) or (f)(5), (g), or

(h) of this section.

(v) The relocatee must move from temporary housing within thirty (30) days after he/she moved into temporary housing or the date of the Vacate Order, whichever is later.

An eligible relocatee shall receive a relocation incentive payment equal to one-half the difference between (x) the projected cost of temporary housing for the relocatee for a period of forty-five days, and (v) the actual cost of temporary housing for the relocatee for the period he/she stayed in temporary housing provided however, such payment shall not exceed the Maximum Monthly Shelter Allowance schedule as established under Human Resources Administration Department Regulations, Chapter II, §352.3 (2)-1, as set forth below:

The above schedule shall be revised, without further amendment to these whenever HRA amends its Maximum Monthly Shelter Allowance Schedule.

(3) Disallowance. Within thirty (30) days of receiving written notification of a disallowance of relocation benefits because an apartment was not a Standard Apartment or, if a rooming unit, was not a suitable accommodation or was not prepared for occupancy, the relocated tenant may furnish, in writing to HPD evidentiary matter indicating the cure of the defect, or in the alternative, the tenant's reason for disagreement with the finding of HPD. Within thirty (30) days of receipt of said documentation from the tenant HPD shall issue its final determination to the tenant, and reasons therefore.

(p) Notice. Any notice required under this section to be given by the Department shall be:

(1) personally served on relocatee; or

(2) left with a person of suitable age and discretion in relocatee's place of residence in temporary shelter or other residence; or

(3) placed under the door of relocatee's place of residence and a copy with the desk clerk or other responsible representative of the proprietor or lessee of temporary shelter.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Section in original publication July 1, 1991.

¶ 1. The City can recover hotel expenses incurred for relocating tenants who vacated the subject premises pursuant to a vacate order. Moreover, the term "tenant includes the members of the tenant's household who permanently resided with him or her at the time the vacate order was issued. Retek v. City of New York, 14 A.D.3d 708, 789 N.Y.S.2d 263 (2d Dept. 2005).

¶ 2. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development has the duty to provide relocation services for a tenant where the displacement of the tenant results from the enforcement of laws or regulations. The regulations promulgated by HPD define the term "relocatee" to include a person deprived of a permanent residence as a result of the enforcement of a vacate order. Thus, where a tenant was required to vacate an illegal basement apartment, HPD was required to offer him temporary shelter, and thereafter to provide relocation services, including referral to at least three other apartments. The court rejected HPD's argument that the occupant of an illegal apartment could not be deemed a permanent resident for purposes of the relocation statute. Cupidon v. Donovan, 8 Misc.3d 1024(A), 803 N.Y.S.2d 17 (Sup.Ct. New York Co. 2005).

(2) Moving expense allowance. An eligible relocatee shall receive the following assistance:

(i) The Department may move the relocatee's belongings at the Department's expense, or

(ii) If the relocatee notifies the Department prior to the date of the move that the relocatee wishes to arrange for moving independently, the Department may grant financial assistance in accordance with a schedule of moving allowances prepared by the agency, which shall provide for an allowance based on the number of rooms vacated as follows:

[See tabular material in printed version]

Such financial assistance shall be:

(A) By credit against future rent if the relocatee is moving into a City-owned building, or

(B) By reimbursement to the relocatee if the relocatee is moving into a building which is not City-owned, provided that prior to such reimbursement relocatee shall submit a paid bill within ten (10) working days following the move.

(f) Relocation incentive allowance. (1) Eligible persons. A relocatee shall be awarded a relocation incentive payment, calculated as set forth below, if the relocatee satisfies the following criteria.

(i) The relocatee must either (A) accept an apartment to which the relocatee has been referred by the Relocation Manager within 10 days of having been referred to three Standard Apartments by the Relocation Manager and move into that apartment within 10 days of the date on which that apartment is prepared for occupancy; or (B) move within 30 days from the initial verbal or written contact of the relocatee by the Relocation Manager after issuance of the Vacate Order; whichever is later;

(ii) The relocatee must move to an accommodation to which the relocatee has been referred by or which has been approved by the Relocation Manager;

(iii) The relocatee must not be under investigation by the Fire Department in relation to a fire of suspicious origin;

(iv) The Department has not determined the relocatee to be ineligible pursuant to subdivision (g) of these regulations.

(2) Incentive allowance. An eligible relocatee shall receive a relocation incentive payment in accordance with the Maximum Monthly Shelter Allowance schedule established under Human Resources Administration Regulations, Chapter II, §352.3(2)-1 as set forth below:

[See tabular material in printed version]

The above schedule shall be revised without further amendment to these regulations, whenever HRA amends its Maximum Monthly Shelter Allowance Shelter.

(g) Determination of Ineligibility for Benefits. The Department may determine that a relocatee is ineligible for benefits if:

(1) A relocatee unjustifiably refuses to accept three (3) standard apartments or, if the relocatee is to be relocated to a rooming unit, three (3) rooming units which are suitable accommodations, to which the relocatee has been referred by the Department.

(2) The relocatee has made material misstatements or concealed material facts from the Department concerning the relocatee's initial or continued eligibility for relocation services;

(3) Suitable and habitable permanent accommodations are available to the relocatee at the time of notice of determination;

(4) The relocatee has failed to respond to a notice for appointment with employees of the Department, as required;

(5) The relocatee did not in fact dwell in the vacated premises;

(6) The relocatee, if in temporary shelter, has had temporary shelter benefits terminated under subdivisions (f)(3) or (5), (g) or (h) of §18-01 of these regulations;

(7) The relocatee or a member of the family or household has engaged in conduct which threatens the health, safety or property of the residents, guests or visitors of residents of the building to be vacated or the staff of the Department;

(8) The relocatee was subject to legal action by the Department which is resolved in the Department's favor;

(9) The relocatee has refused, without good cause, a request by the Department to provide pertinent information relevant to the agency's relocation efforts, or the relocatee's eligibility for benefits or services; or

(10) The relocatee is otherwise ineligible.

(h) Review of agency determination. (1) Protest of determination ineligibility. If it is determined by the agency that the relocatee is ineligible for benefits, the relocatee may, within thirty (30) days of receiving written notification of ineligibility, file with the Assistant Commissioner of the Division of Relocation Services a written protest and request that the determination be reviewed. The relocatee's protest shall set forth the basis for the protest and the reasons claimed as the grounds on which such determination should be reversed. The protest shall be reviewed by the Assistant Commissioner unless the relocatee indicates that he or she desires a hearing or the Assistant Commissioner, in his or her discretion, directs that a hearing be held. Upon receipt of a request for a hearing or if a determination is made that a hearing would be appropriate, the Department shall establish the time, date and place for the hearing and provide notice of the hearing to the relocatee. The provisions of subdivisions (i) to (m) of this section of the regulations shall apply to the notice of hearing and the hearing procedures.

(2) Other claims for review of an agency action. In situations other than a determination of ineligibility, if a relocatee believes he or she has been or will be harmed by any action of the Department which the relocatee believes is in violation of any law or regulations, the relocatee may make application for relief to the Assistant Commissioner of the Division of Relocation Operations. The relocatee shall file a written request setting forth the action and the manner in which he or she believes he or she will be harmed. The Assistant Commissioner, in his or her discretion, may issue a determination on the request or direct that a hearing be held on the application. If a hearing is to be held, the provisions of subdivisions (i) to (m) of this section shall apply to the notice of hearing and hearing procedures.

(i) Hearing procedures: Conduct of hearing. (1) A hearing held pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section shall be conducted by an impartial hearing officer appointed by the Department in accordance with the Manual for Hearing Officers in Administrative Adjudication. The hearing officer may be an employee of the agency. The hearing officer shall have the power to administer oaths and shall have no prior personal knowledge of the particular facts concerning the denial of benefits or the claim to be reviewed.

(2) The Department shall establish the date, time and place of any hearing and shall provide notice of the date, time and place of the hearing to the relocatee in the manner provided in subdivision (m) of this section at least three (3) days prior to the hearing date.

(3) A hearing shall be informal. All relevant and material evidence shall be admissible. Any site occupancy record shall be part of the evidence at any hearing whether or not the Relocation Manager is or can be present. A hearing shall be confined to the factual and legal issues raised in the determination for which review has been sought by the relocatee.

(4) A relocatee shall have a right to be represented by counsel or other representative, to testify, to produce witnesses to testify, to offer documentary evidence to cross-examine opposing witnesses and to examine the site occupancy record.

(5) For good cause, a hearing may be adjourned by the hearing officer on the hearing officer's own motion or at the request of a relocatee or the Department.

(6) A hearing officer shall make a written summary of the proceedings including a statement of the relocatee's oral and written position and shall annex any documentary evidence offered at the hearing in support thereof. The relocatee shall be shown this summary and given the opportunity to object. In the case of a Spanish-speaking relocatee, the summary shall be read to the relocatee in Spanish. In the event any objection is not resolved at the hearing, that objection shall be made part of the summary. The relocatee shall promptly be provided with a copy of the completed summary. The hearing officer may, in the hearing officer's discretion, combine this summary with any findings of fact.

(7) The Department will provide adequate translation services for a Spanish-speaking relocatee.

(j) Hearing procedures: decision. (1) The hearing officer shall render a decision which shall include written findings of fact and shall state the legal basis for any decision. The decision shall be final absent a timely appeal as described in subdivision (l) below.

(2) A copy of the decision shall be mailed or delivered to the relocatee within seven (7) business days after the hearing. Delivery shall be made in the manner for giving notice provided in subdivision (m) of this section.

(3) The hearing officer may take into consideration relevant circumstances, including, in appropriate cases:

(i) The relocatee's cooperation with the Department;

(ii) That the accommodation previously accepted by the relocatee and not withdrawn by the Department is not prepared for occupancy;

(iii) That physical incapacity or illness of the relocatee or member of the family or household prevented the relocatee from complying with the relocatee's obligations under subdivision (d) hereof; and

(iv) The hardship which will result to the relocatee or the family or household.

(k) Hearing procedures: default. Failure to appear at a scheduled hearing shall result in dismissal of the claim for review of an agency action unless, upon written application to the Department, the relocatee establishes either:

(1) That the relocatee was not properly served with a notice of hearing; or

(2) That the default was excusable and that relocatee has a meritorious defense to action taken by the agency.

(l) Appeal of hearings. An appeal from a decision of a hearing officer may be made in writing to the Assistant Commissioner of Division of Relocation Services or the Assistant Commissioner's designee provided it is received by the Department not less than five (5) days after service of the hearing officer's decision. The record before the Assistant Commissioner shall consist of the summary of the proceedings, the site occupancy record, the hearing officer's decision and any affidavits or documentary evidence or written arguments which the appellant may wish to submit. A copy of the decision on appeal will be delivered in the manner for giving notice provided in subdivision (m) of this section.

(m) Notice. Unless this article provides for another method of notice, any notice required under these regulations to be given or served by the Department shall be:

(1) Personally served on the relocatee;

(2) Left with a person of suitable age and discretion at the relocatee's place of residence and mailed to the relocatee; or

(3) Affixed to the door of the relocatee's place of residence and mailed to the relocatee.

(n) Temporary shelter. (1) The Department, in its discretion, may provide temporary shelter prior to or after the effective date of the vacate order. The Department may limit the granting of such benefits to situations in which the relocatee has selected a permanent accommodation and the dwelling is not yet ready for occupancy.

(2) The Department, if it provides temporary shelter, shall pay the actual cost of temporary shelter up to $12 per day for one adult and $7 per day for each additional person residing with the relocatee in the room or, if suitable substitute shelter is unavailable for these amounts, the Department may pay such additional sums as are necessary to obtain suitable shelter for the relocatee.

(3) If a relocatee is provided temporary shelter, the relocatee shall be provided with a copy of §18-01 of these regulations, in English and in Spanish, upon moving into temporary shelter and only the provisions of that section relating to termination of temporary shelter benefits and the obligations of a relocatee in temporary shelter shall apply to the relocatee.

(o) Waiver. The Department may waive all or part of the foregoing rules and regulations where the circumstances warrant such exemption. Any waiver to be effective shall require the written approval of the Assistant Commissioner of the Division of Relocation Operations or his or her designee and shall include a specific statement of the reason(s) for such waiver.

CHAPTER 18 RELOCATION PAYMENTS AND SERVICES

§18-03 Finder's Fees.

(a) General. Under certain circumstances, the Department will make a payment, termed a "finder's fee," to a person or entity furnishing permanent accommodations to a relocatee. Such payments shall be made pursuant to the provisions of this §18-03.

(b) Definitions. The definitions stated in §18-01 of this chapter (concerning relocation assistance (to persons displaced by Vacate Orders) are incorporated into this section unless a contrary definition is indicated.

(c) Notification of availability of apartment inspection. A person or entity desiring payment of a finder's fee (a "finder") shall notify the Department of the availability of an apartment for which the fee is sought. Said apartment will be approved as eligible for payment of a finder's fee if, after inspection by the Department, it is determined that:

(1) The apartment is a Standard Apartment.

(2) The neighborhood of the apartment does not, in the judgment of the Department, have an excessive number of abandoned buildings or consist predominantly of vacant land; and

(3) If the apartment has been formed by combining two adjacent apartments, only one kitchen may be left operable; in the other kitchen, the sink and stove must be removed and the gas and water lines capped. An apartment so inspected and approved shall be deemed an "Approved Apartment" and the finder shall be notified whether or not the apartment has been so approved.

(d) Application for payment of fee. If a relocatee shall move into an Approved Apartment, the finder may make application to the Department for payment of a finder's fee and payment shall be made in an amount determined pursuant to subdivision (e) below if each of the following shall be established:

(1) the relocatee was referred to the Approved Apartment by the Department; (2) the relocatee is in physical occupancy of the Approved Apartment as certified by his/her Relocation Manager;

(3) a lease with a minimum term of two years must have been executed by a relocatee and the owner of the Approved Apartment and a copy of same has been filed with the Department; and

(4) the Approved Apartment must have been freshly painted and any repairs required by the Department shall have been completed by the finder, provided, however, that an extension of time for said painting or repairs may be granted by the Department if it is established that performance thereof was prevented by the actions or lack of cooperation of relocatee.

(e) Schedule of finder's fees. The amount of a finder's fee payable under this section shall be determined according to the following schedule, except as noted in the final sentence of subdivision (e):

The finder's fee otherwise payable under the schedule may be reduced in the discretion of the Assistant Commissioner of Relocation Services if the apartment has more than one bedroom for every two persons in the family of the relocatee moving into the apartment.

(f) No other fees to be collected by finder. No broker's fee, apartment fee or fee of any other kind shall be charged to or be collected from relocatee by a finder or anyone affiliated with or claiming through a finder. By acceptance of a finder's fee from the Department, a finder waives any right or claim (s)he or it might otherwise have had to any such fee from relocatee.

(g) Limitation. (1) No second finder's fee may be paid for any apartment if a previous finder's fee has been paid for said apartment within six months previous to the date of execution of the lease with the relocatee with respect to whom the second fee is claimed.

(2) No finder's fee shall be paid for any apartment if it is established that:

(i) the prior tenant in the apartment departed prior to expiration of his/her lease; and

(ii) said departure followed harassment by the landlord thereof or termination of services to said apartment.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 18 RELOCATION PAYMENTS AND SERVICES

§18-04 Relocation of Tenants from Public Improvements and Quasi-public Sites and City Assisted Urban Renewal Sites.

(a) Purpose. The purpose of this section is to implement for the City of New York the rules and regulations affecting relocation practices and benefit payments for those eligible site occupants who are displaced from public improvement and quasi-public sites or from urban renewal sites which are not federally assisted.

(b) Definitions.

Business concern. "Business concern" refers to a corporation, partnership, individual proprietor or other private entity, including a nonprofit organization, engaged in some type of business, professional or institutional activity necessitating fixtures, equipment, stock in trade, or other tangible property for the carrying on of the business, professional or institution.

City assisted urban renewal site. "City assisted urban renewal site" refers to undertakings and activities of the City of New York in a designated area, under an urban renewal plan as authorized under the provisions of Article 15 of the General Municipal Law, and which is not assisted by the Federal Government.

Displaced person. "Displaced person" refers to any family, individual, or partnership, corporation or association who is displaced or moves from real property, or who moves his personal property from such real property, in or after the date of the acquisition of the real property for the site or project.

Dwelling. "Dwelling" refers to the purpose of determining payments to residential tenants or persons in occupancy under regulations governing all benefit payments other than moving expenses, the term "dwelling" shall mean the primary place of permanent abode of a person and does not include seasonable or part time dwelling units such as beach houses or vacation bungalows.

Family. "Family" refers to two or more individuals who by blood, marriage, adoption or mutual consent live together as a family unit. For example, two roommates would not be a family, but a couple, who live together as a family, even if not formally married, would be entitled to benefits as if they were married. A certificate of registration as domestic partners in the City of New York shall be evidence of a family relationship for the purposes of this section.

Finder's fee apartment. "Finder's fee apartment" refers to a standard dwelling unit which is provided to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development by any owner, agent or broker for a fee, and into which a relocatee has been moved by the Department.

Furnished room. "Furnished room" is a room rented furnished, usually by the week, which does not have a toilet and bath for the exclusive use of the tenant. Unit must be in conformance with local code standards for boarding houses, or other dwellings for congregate living.

Individual. "Individual" refers to a person who is not a member of a family.

Institutionalized. "Institutionalized" refers to a term to mean the placement of a residential tenant to any hospital, nursing him, or other institution on an indefinite basis.

Property. "Property" refers to tangible personal property, excluding fixtures, equipment and other property which under State or local law are considered real property, but including such items of real property as the site occupant may lawfully remove.

Public housing. "Public housing" refers to housing operated, maintained or leased by the New York City Housing Authority.

Public improvement site. "Public improvement site" refers to an area which the City of New York has condemned for a public use; such public uses may be schools, libraries, hospitals, parks, playgrounds, road widening, police stations, fire houses, etc.

Standard Unit. "Standard unit" refers to one which is decent, safe and sanitary and must:

(i) have a window or adequate light and ventilation in every room.

(ii) have central heat and central hot water system.

(iii) have a kitchen or kitchenette for the exclusive use of the tenant.

(iv) have a fully enclosed bathroom containing toilet and bath for the exclusive use of the tenant.

(v) have no hazardous violations as recorded by the Department of Buildings against the premises.

(vi) be inspected and approved as standard by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(vii) rental should not exceed 25 percent of the relocatee's gross income or within the financial means of the displaced person.

(viii) not be generally less desirable than the acquired dwelling with respect to public utilities, public and commercial facilities, and be reasonably accessible to the displaced persons present or potential place of employment.

(c) Basic eligibility conditions for relocation payments. In order to qualify for benefits as a displaced person all the following conditions must be fulfilled:

(1) The real property in which the person resides or does business must have been acquired by the City of New York; and the person must have moved as a result of its acquisition.

(2) The person must be an occupant of the real property on the date title vested in the City of New York.

(3) Displacement is made necessary by the acquisition of such real property by the City of New York.

(d) Determinations and appeals. Determinations by the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee, shall be final as to payments under these rules and regulations. However, in the event of dissatisfaction by any displaced person, such person shall have the following right of review:

(1) In case of any disputed questions of eligibility or determinations of the amount of a relocation payment, which is not disposed by agreement, the displaced person may request and will receive a review by the Commissioner or his designee, which designee shall not be one who has participated in the original decision.

(2) Upon such review, the displaced person may submit any and all additional material in writing for consideration in the matter.

(3) Such review as provided in paragraph (1) above, must be requested in writing within 30 days of the date of the original determination by the Department. The request shall be sent to Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, 100 Gold Street, New York, N.Y. 10038.

(4) The decision of the Commissioner shall be made in writing to the displaced person making such appeal, which decision shall be final.

(e) Moving and related expenses. Whenever the acquisition of real property for a program or project will result or has resulted in the displacement of any displaced person from the required site on or after the effective date of these rules, the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee, shall make a payment to any displaced person upon application as approved by such official for:

(1) The actual reasonable expenses in moving himself, his family, business, or other personal property;

(2) The actual direct loss of tangible personal property incurred as a result of moving or discontinuing a business but not to exceed an amount equal to the reasonable expenses that would have been required to relocate such property, as determined by the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, or his designee;

(3) The actual reasonable expense of searching for a substitute business site. The amount of this payment is limited to $500. Payment for expenses related to the finding of replacement housing is not authorized.

(f) Actual reasonable expenses in moving. (1) Allowable expenses.

(i) Packing and crating of personalty.

(ii) Advertising for packing, crating and transportation as the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee may require.

(iii) Storage of personal property for a period not to exceed 6 months when the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, or his designee, determines that storage is necessary.

(iv) Insurance premiums covering loss and damage of personal property while in storage or transit.

(v) Removal, dismantling and reassembly of machinery, equipment, appliances and other items, not acquired as real property, including reconnection of utilities which do not constitute an improvement to the replacement site, and which were not acquired by the City of New York.

(vi) Such other reasonable expenses as determined by the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, including expenditure incurred by and in behalf of the City incidental to the move.

(2) Limitations. (i) When the displaced person accomplishes the move himself, the amount of payment shall not exceed the estimated cost of moving commercially established by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development unless the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determines that documentation submitted by the displaced person justifies a larger amount.

(ii) When an item of personal property used in connection with any business is not moved but sold and promptly replaced with a comparable item, reimbursement shall not exceed the replacement cost minus the proceeds received from the sale, or the cost of moving, whichever is less.

(iii) When personal property used in connection with any business to be moved is of law value and high bulk, and the cost of moving would be disproportionate in relation to the value, in the judgement of the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee, the allowable reimbursement for the expense of moving the personal property shall not exceed the difference between the amount which would have been received for such item on liquidation and the cost of replacing the same with a comparable item available on the market.

(iv) The owner of an outdoor advertising display who does not receive either a fixture award or a fee award, and who does not conduct a business on the site, shall be entitled only to moving expenses. However, the amount of the moving expense to be paid shall be limited to the less of

(A) The value of the sign or

(B) The actual moving cost.

(v) In the event any tenant who moves chooses to take actual moving expense allowances, the following notice to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development is required:

(A) Residential tenants must provide not less than 5 days written notice with moving estimate before the move takes place of tenant's intention.

(B) Commercial tenants must provide notice of intention to move not less than 30 days nor more than 90 days prior to the commencement of the move, and must submit 3 independent bona-fide estimate or bids at least 15 days prior to the commencement of the move.

(g) Exclusions from moving expenses and losses. The following items are excluded from moving expenses and losses:

(1) Cost of moving structures, improvements or other real property in which the displaced person reserved ownership.

(2) Interest on loans to cover moving expenses.

(3) Loss of good will.

(4) Loss of profits.

(5) Loss of trained employees.

(6) Personal injury.

(7) Cost of preparing the application for moving and related expenses.

(8) Modification of personal property to adapt it to the replacement site, except when required by law.

(9) Additional expenses incurred because of living in a new location.

(10) Such other items as the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determined should be excluded.

(h) Actual direct loss of property by business. (1) When the personal property other than stock kept for sale is abandoned, the displaced person is entitled to payment for the difference between the in-place value and the amount which he receives from the sale of the item, or the cost of moving, whichever is less.

(2) When the displaced person does not move personal property and claims direct loss, he shall be required to make bonafide effort to sell it.

(3) When personal property is sold and the business reestablished, the displaced person is entitled to payment as provided in §18-04(f)(2)(ii).

(i) Expenses in searching for replacement business site. (1) Subject to the limitation herein, the following items are allowed:

(i) Travel costs.

(ii) Reasonable cost for meals and lodging.

(iii) Time spent in searching at the rate of the displaced person's salary or earnings, but not to exceed $10 per hour.

(iv) Broker or realtor fee to locate a replacement business with the advance approval of the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee.

(2) Limitation on such expenses. The total amount which a displaced person may be paid for searching expense shall not exceed $500.

(j) Payments in lieu of moving and related expenses. (1) Residential tenants.

(i) Any displaced person eligible for moving expense payments who is displaced from a dwelling may, in lieu of actual moving expense, elect to accept a fixed moving expense allowance not to exceed $300 according to the following schedule:

(A) For persons who own furniture:

No. of Rooms	Amount	No. of Rooms	Amount
1-1/2	$120	5-5/2	$300.00
2-2/2	170	6-6/2	300.00
3-3/2	215	7-7/2	300.00
4-4/2	260	8-more	300.00

(B) For persons who do not own furniture:

$25, for the first room and $15 additional for each additional room.

(ii) Every displaced residential tenant who chooses a fixed payment moving expense in lieu of actual moving expense shall also be entitled to a Dislocation Allowance of $200. This Dislocation Allowance is not subject to any set off by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(iii) In the event any residential tenant is required by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development to move to another unit within the same site, whether through emergency or furtherance of clearance, such tenant can at his option elect to receive actual money expenses or the fixed "in lieu of payment. No Dislocation Allowance can be paid for an on-site move.

(2) Business fixed payment. Any displaced person otherwise eligible for moving expense payment who is displaced from his place of business may elect to choose one of three types of fixed payments in lieu of actual moving and related expenses:

(i) Six times the monthly rental. This choice may be elected by any commercial tenant. The maximum payment if $4,000, the minimum is 400, and such choice replaces actual moving expenses and related expense. It is not necessary to submit moving estimates.

(ii) "In lieu of" payment. This choice may be selected by a commercial tenant who satisfies the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, or his designee, that:

(A) The business cannot be relocated without a substantial loss of its existing patronage. Loss of existing patronage to a business must include the following factors: the type of business conducted by the displaced concern; the nature of the clientele of the displaced concern; and the relative importance of the present and proposed location to the displaced business; and

(B) The business is not a part of a commercial enterprise having at least one other establishment not being acquired by the City of New York, which is in the same or similar business; and

(C) The business contributes materially to the income of the displaced owner. This standard eliminates those part-time family occupations such as newspaper routes, part-time typing, etc. unless they contribute substantially to the displaced person's income.

This "in lieu of" payment shall be in the amount equal to the average annual earnings of the business, except that such payment shall not be less than $2,500 nor more than $10,000. Any "in lieu of" payment to an eligible non-profit making organization shall be limited to $2,500 unless it is in fact operating a profit making business. The definition of "contributes materially to the income of the displaced owner" shall mean:

(a) That the business had average annual gross receipts of at least $2,000, or

(b) That the business had average annual net earnings of at least $1,000 or

(c) That the business contributed at least 33 1/3 percent of the average total annual income of the owner or owners.

The average annual receipts, earning or income is determined by one half the sum during the 2 taxable years immediately preceding the taxable year in which the business moves, or during such other period as the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development may determine. In the event this choice is taken by the tenant no moving estimates or bids are necessary to be submitted by tenant. This choice replaces actual moving expenses and related expense.

(iii) A negotiated payment. This choice may be selected by commercial tenants only upon prearrangement and consent of the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, or his designee. This choice replaces actual moving expenses and related expenses. The negotiated amount is the specific amount approved for payment(s) by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development prior to any actual move and requires the submission by the tenant of at least three acceptable estimates or bids for moving, the physical inspection by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, the written offer by the tenant to accept a stipulated amount, and the written approval, prior to the move, from the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. The stipulated amount must be considerably below the lowest estimated cost of the move. If this choice is taken, no detailed bills need be submitted by the tenant.

(k) Replacement housing for homeowner. (1) The addition to payments otherwise authorized pursuant to subdivisions (e), (f), (j) and (t) of this section, the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or his designee, shall make an additional payment not in excess of $15,000, to any displaced person who is displaced from a dwelling actually owned and occupied by such displaced person for not less than 180 days prior to the acquisition of the property. Such additional payment shall include the following elements:

(i) The amount, if any, which when added to the amount of condemnation award or purchase price (if by negotiation) of the dwelling acquired by the City of New York, equals the reasonable cost of a comparable replacement dwelling which is decent, safe and sanitary dwelling adequate to accommodate such displaced person, reasonably accessible to public services and places of employment and available on the private market.

(ii) The amount, if any, which will compensate such displaced person for any increased interest costs which such person is required to pay for financing the acquisition of any such comparable replacement dwelling. Such amount shall be paid only if the dwelling acquired by the City of New York was encumbered by a bonafide mortgage which was a valid lien on such dwelling for not less than 180 days prior to the acquisition of dwelling. Such amount shall be equal to the excess in the aggregate interest and other debt service costs of the amount of the principal of the mortgage on the replacement dwelling which is equal to the unpaid balance of the mortgage on the acquired dwelling, over the remainder term of the mortgage on the acquired dwelling, reduced to discounted present value. The discount rate shall be the prevailing interest rate paid on saving deposits by commercial banks in the general area in which the replacement dwelling is located.

(iii) Reasonable expenses incurred by such displaced person for evidence of title, recording fees and other closing costs incidents to the purchase of the replacement dwelling, but not including prepared expenses. Attorneys fees shall be not more than one percent of the purchase price, with a minimum of $200.

(2) The additional payment of replacement housing for homeowners shall be made only to such displaced person who purchases and occupies a replacement dwelling which is a decent, safe and sanitary dwelling, not later than the end of the one year period beginning on the date on which he receives from the City of New York payment for the acquired dwelling, or on the date on which he moves from the acquired dwelling whichever is the later date.

(3) Whenever a displaced person is eligible for a payment but has not yet purchased a replacement dwelling, the head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development shall at the request of the displaced person, provide a written statement to any interested person, financial institution or lending agency as to such person's eligibility for a payment and the requirements that must be satisfied before such payment can be made.

(l) Eligibility for homeowners replacement housing. (1) A displaced owner. Occupant is eligible for a replacement housing payment if he meets the eligibility requirements enumerated under subdivision (k) of this section.

(2) A displaced owner-occupant of a dwelling who is determined to be ineligible for a homeowners replacement housing payment may be eligible for a replacement housing payment for tenants and others as more fully set forth in subdivision (n) of this section.

(m) Computation of homeowners replacement housing payment. (1) Differential payment for replacement housing. (i) Displaced owner. Occupants shall have the right to elect to use either a schedule method or comparative method in determining the amount to be paid.

(A) The schedule method: The schedule of average prices of comparable sales housing in the locality, is as follows:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) The Comparative Method: The cost of comparable unit is determined on a case by case basis through the use of the sales price (together with any adjustments necessary to reflect the market sales experience) of one or more dwelling determined to be the most representative of the acquired dwelling and conforming to the definition of "comparable replacement housing". The comparable dwellings may be selected by the Relocation Agency, or by the displaced person with the approval of the Relocation Agency.

(ii) Limitations. (A) If the displaced person, of his own volition, purchases and occupies a decent, safe and sanitary dwelling at a price less than the acquisition price of the acquired building, no differential payment shall be made.

(B) If the displaced person, of his own volition, purchases and occupies, a decent, safe and sanitary dwelling at a price less than the average sale price, as above, of a comparative replacement dwelling, the differential payment will be reduced to that amount required to pay the difference between the acquisition price of the acquired dwelling and the actual purchase price of the replacement dwelling.

(C) If the dwelling unit occupied by the claimant was part of a structure owned by the claimant which also included space used for non-residential or multi-residential purposes, the amount of the differential payment shall be determined by using as the acquisition payment of the dwelling unit only that part of the total payment which relates to the value of the claimant's residential use portion of the structure.

(D) When an eligible claimant, who has received all or a portion of a rental assistance payment (because he elected to rent), subsequently files a claim for replacement housing payment for homeowners, the total amount of the rental assistance payment he has received must be deducted from the amount of the payment to which he may be entitled.

(2) Interest payment. The interest payment shall be based on present value of the reasonable cost of the interest differential, including points paid by the purchaser on the amount refinanced not to exceed the amount of the unpaid debt for its remaining term at the time of acquisition of the real property.

(3) Incidental expenses. (i) The incidental expense payment is the amount necessary to compensate the homeowner for costs incident to the purchase of the replacement dwelling such as:

(A) Legal, closing and related costs including title search, preparing conveyance contracts, notary fees, surveys, preparing drawings of plats, and charges incident to recordation. Attorney fees are limited to one percent of the purchase price but not less than $200.

(B) Lenders, Federal Housing Administration, or Veterans Administration appraisal fees.

(C) Federal Housing Administration application fee.

(D) Certification of structural soundness when required by lender, Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration.

(E) Credit report.

(F) Title policies or abstracts of title.

(G) Escrow Agent's Fee (mortgage fee).

(H) State revenue stamps, or sale or transfer taxes.

(ii) No fee, cost, charge or expenses is reimbursable which is determined to be a part of the finance charge under Title I of the Federal Truth in Lending Act and Regulation "Z" issued pursuant thereto.

(n) Replacement housing payment for tenants and certain others-eligibility. (1) A displaced tenant or owner-occupant of less than 180 days before condemnation date, is eligible for a replacement housing payment if he actually occupied the dwelling for not less than 90 days immediately prior to the acquisition of the property, and meets the other eligibility requirements.

(2) In addition to amounts otherwise authorized, the Relocation Agency shall make a payment to or for any displaced person from any dwelling not eligible to receive a payment under subdivision (k) of this section which dwelling was actually and lawfully occupied by such displaced person for not less than 90 days prior to the acquisition of such dwelling. Tenant or other occupant of the property shall be notified of the actual date of title vesting in the City.

(3) Payment under subdivision (n) shall be either:

(i) The amount necessary to enable such displaced person to lease or rent for a period not to exceed 4 years, a decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling of standards adequate to accommodate such person in areas not generally less desirable in regard to public and commercial facilities, and reasonably accessible to his place of employment, but not to exceed $4,000, or

(ii) The amount necessary to enable such person to make a down payment and including incidental expenses described in subdivision (m)(3) of this section (incidental expense), on the purchase of a decent, safe, and sanitary dwelling of standards adequate to accommodate such person in areas not generally less desirable in regard to public and commercial facilities, but not exceeding $4,000 except that, if such amounts exceed $2,000 such person must equally match any such amount in excess of $2,000 in making the down payment.

(A) The displaced person is required to apply all of the portion of the total down payment which was not needed to meet the cost of incidental expenses, toward the purchase of the dwelling.

(B) The down payment for the replacement housing shall be limited to that amount which would normally be required for a conventional loan, unless otherwise approved by the head of the Relocation Agency, or his designee.

(4) An owner-occupant otherwise eligible for payment of a Homeowners Replacement Housing Payment but who rents instead of purchases a replacement dwelling is eligible for replacement housing payment for tenants.

(5) The additional payment of Replacement Housing Payment for Tenants and Certain Others shall be made only to such displaced person who moves into a unit which is decent, safe and sanitary, and a standard dwelling, not later than six months from the date he moves from the site dwelling or six months from the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later.

(6) If individuals, not a family, are joint occupants of a single family unit acquired for a project, each eligible claimant shall be paid a prorated share of the total payment applicable to single individual. The total payment made to all such claimants shall not exceed the total applicable to a single individual.

(o) Computations of replacement housing payment for displaced tenants. (1) Displaced tenants who rent shall have the right to elect to use either a Schedule Method or a Comparative Method to determine the payment due them.

(2) Schedule: The Schedule of Average Rents in the City of New York is as follows:

No. of Bed-	Average Contract Monthly	Average	Average Gross Monthly	Average Gross Annual

rooms	Rental	Utilities		Rentals	Rentals
		Gas	Elec
0	214	5	17	$236	$2,832
1	240	5	21	266	3,192
2	283	7	25	315	3,780
3	328	8	28	364	4,368
4	372	9	31	412	4,944
5 or more	372	9	31	412	4,944

Replacement housing payment under the schedule method is computed by determining the amount necessary to rent a suitable replacement dwelling unit for 4 years (the average monthly cost from the schedule) or the new actual rent paid, whichever is lower, and subtracting from such amount 48 times the average month's rent paid by the displaced tenant in the last 3 months prior to condemnation if such rent is reasonable, or if not reasonable, 48 times the monthly economic rent for the dwelling unit as established by the Relocation Agency. For purpose of these regulations, economic rent is defined as the amount of rent the displaced tenant would have had to pay for a similar dwelling unit in areas not generally less desirable than the dwelling unit to be acquired.

(3) Comparative method. The cost of a comparable unit may be determined on a case-by-case basis by using the average month's rent for one or more dwellings determined to be the most representative of the acquired dwelling conforming to the definition of "comparable replacement housing." The comparable dwellings may be selected by the Relocation Agency, or by the displaced person with the approval of the Relocation Agency. The payment is to be computed by determining the amount necessary to rent for 4 years a suitable replacement dwelling or the new actual rent paid, whichever is lower, and substracting from the amount so determined the lesser of 48 times the average month's rent paid by the displaced tenant in the last 3 months prior to initiation of condemnation, or if not reasonable, 48 times the monthly economic rent for the dwelling unit established by the Relocation Agency.

(4) Exceptions. (i) The head of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development may establish the average month's rent by using more than 3 months, if he deems it advisable.

(ii) Notwithstanding any of the provisions herein, payments for persons displaced on or after the effective date of this regulation shall not exceed 48 times the difference between the base monthly rental and the lesser of (A) the comparable monthly rental (whether Comparative or Schedule) for a replacement dwelling or (B) the actual monthly rental for the replacement dwelling into which the displaced person is relocated. The $4,000 limitation shall as apply.

(5) Disbursement of rental replacement housing payment. All rental replacement housing payments in excess of $500 will be made in 4 equal installments on an annual basis. Before making each installment payment, the Relocation Agency must verify that the tenant is in decent, safe and sanitary housing.

(p) Replacement housing payment to purchaser. If the tenant elects to purchase instead of rent, the payment shall be computed by determining the amount necessary to enable him to make a down payment and to cover incidental expenses on the purchase of replacement housing.

(1) The down payment shall be the amount necessary to make a down payment on a suitable replacement dwelling. Determination on the amount "necessary" for such down payment shall be based on down payment that would be required for a conventional loan.

(2) Incidental expenses of closing the transaction are those as described in subdivision (m)(3) of this section.

(3) The full amount of the down payment must be applied to the purchase price and such down payment and incidental costs shown on the closing statement.

(q) Computation of replacement housing payment for certain others. (1) A displaced owner-occupant not eligible under subdivision (k) of this section, replacement housing payment for homeowner, because he elects not to purchase a replacement dwelling, but wishes to rent, may receive a rental replacement housing payment not to exceed $4,000. The payment shall be computed in the same manner as indicated in subdivision (o) of this section except that the present rental rate for the original dwelling shall be the economic rent as determined by market data.

(2) A displaced owner-occupant who does not qualify for a replacement housing payment under subdivision (k) herein, because of the 180 day occupancy requirement and elects to rent, is eligible for rental replacement housing not to exceed $4,000. The payment will be computed in the same manner as indicated herein, except that the present rental rate for the original dwelling shall be the economic rent as determined by market data.

(3) A displaced owner-occupant who does not qualify for a replacement housing payment under subdivision (k) herein because of the 180 day occupancy requirement and elects to purchase a replacement dwelling, is eligible for a replacement housing downpayment and closing cost not to exceed $4,000. The payment will be computed in the same manner as shown herein.

(r) Bonus assistance for tenants. In the addition to payments otherwise authorized, and subject to the limitations below, the head of the Relocation Agency shall make an additional payment to every displaced person who moves into permanent decent, safe and sanitary accommodations according to the following schedule:

No. of Rooms	Tenant Found Apts.	Public Housing and Finders Fee Apts.
1 to 3	$300	$150
4	400	200
5	500	250
6	600	300
7	700	350
8 or more	800	400

The above bonus or relocation allowance payments are subject to the following limitations and criteria:

(1) Payments are calculated on the basis of the number of rooms required by the tenant based on family composition, and into which the tenant moves.

(2) Two or more families occupying one apartment and being relocated shall each be entitled to the benefits contained herein upon their permanently relocating off-site to separate standard accommodations.

(3) Payments under subdivision (r) herein are not payable and available to displaced persons unless the person moves after title to the property occupied vests in the City of New York.

(4) The actual amount of the bonus or relocation allowance payment provided in this subdivision (r) to be paid to displaced persons shall be reduced by any amounts paid or credited to that displaced person for a Dislocation Allowance (subdivision (j), a Replacement Housing Payment for Homeowners of this section, and/or a Replacement Housing Payment for Tenants and Certain Others (subdivision (n) of this section).

(5) Bonus payment is limited to $100 where the tenant is institutionalized.

(6) For the purpose of this section, Public Housing is defined as all housing is provided in the "Definitions" herein and to all types of equivalent housing including, Rent Supplement and Capital Grant Assistance.

(s) Finder fee payments. Finders fee payment are to be paid to owners, agents or brokers who have listed with the Relocation Agency standard apartment into which relocatee have moved. The schedule is as follows:

[See tabular material in printed version]

Finders fee for furnished room in a rooming house-$50 per room.

(t) Settlement costs. (1) General. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development as soon as practical after the date of payment of the purchase price or the date of deposit in court of funds to satisfy the award of compensation in a condemnation proceeding to acquire real property, whichever is earlier, shall reimburse the owner to the extent the head of the Relocation Agency deems fair and reasonable for expenses such owner necessarily incurred, if not paid through some other source for:

(i) Recording fees, transfer taxes, and similar expenses incidental to conveying such real property to the City of New York; and

(ii) Penalty costs for prepayment of any preexisting recorded mortgage entered into in good faith encumbering such real property; and

(iii) The pro rata portion of real property taxes paid which are allocable to a period subsequent to the date of vesting of title in the City of New York, or the effective date of possession of such real property by the City of New York, whichever is earlier.

(2) Documentation in support of a claim. If real property is acquired by condemnation, a claim for payment under paragraph 1 of this subdivision shall be submitted to the Relocation Agency and supported by such documentation as may be required by the head of the Relocation Agency. If the real property is acquired by purchase, payment shall be made at settlement of the acquisition and accounted for in the settlement statement, on the basis of such documentation as may be required by the Relocation Agency.

(3) Time for filing settlement cost claims. Each such claim shall be submitted to the relocation agency within a period of 6 months after either the acquisition of the property or the effective date of these rules and regulations, whichever is later.

(u) Time for filing claims. All relocation payment claims of eligible tenants must be submitted to the Relocation Agency within a period of six months from the date of the permanent move from the site or six months from the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later, except where provided otherwise herein:

(v) Relocation assistance and advisory services. (1) The head of the Relocation Agency shall provide relocation assistance for displaced persons and shall offer services which should include:

(i) Determine the need, if any, of displaced persons for relocation assistance.

(ii) Provide current and continuing information on the availability, prices and rentals of comparable decent, safe and sanitary sales and rental housing, and of comparable commercial properties and locations for displaced businesses.

(iii) Assist a person displaced from his business in obtaining and becoming established in a suitable replacement location.

(iv) Supply information concerning Federal, State and City housing program disaster loan programs and other Federal, State or City programs offering assistance to displaced persons.

(v) Provide other advisory services to displaced persons in order to minimize hardships to such persons in adjusting to relocation.

(vi) The Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development shall coordinate all relocation activities with project work, and other planned or proposed governmental actions in the community or nearby areas which may affect the carrying out of relocation assistance programs.

(2) If the Commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determine that any person occupying property immediately adjacent to the real property acquired is caused substantial economic injury because of the acquisition, he may offer such person relocation advisory services under such program.

(3) The head of the Relocation Agency shall make every effort to pay promptly any displaced person who makes application for payments authorized by these regulations after a move, or in hardship cases, advance payments may be authorized.

§19-03 Interview.

(a) The Real Property Manager (RPM) shall make at least three (3) attempts to interview each occupant.

(b) If no one is available at the time of visit, the RPM shall leave a Notice of Attempted Interview, indicating the date and time of the next visit (if known) and a contact name, phone number and mailing address. If no contact is made after three attempted visits the RPM shall send a Notice of Attempted Interview to the occupant by certified mail notifying them of the attempted visits and indicating that legal proceedings will begin if the occupant does not contact the manager within one week to complete an interview. The Notice shall include a contact name, phone number and address. The manager shall also double check with the building superintendent and/or neighboring tenants to make sure the occupant is not mentally or physically incapable of understanding or dealing with the attempted visits and written notice.

(c) If the RPM is able to contact the occupant, an Evaluation Questionnaire shall be filled out appropriately. Documentation provided by the occupant for all claims concerning household members, length of residence and relationship to or residence with the tenant of record shall be noted by the RPM. Documentation may include copies of a birth certificate or marriage license, stamped envelopes received at the address, utility bills in the occupant's name at the address, an old lease from the former owner with the present occupant's name or the name of an immediate family member, a letter from the tenant of record, public records, etc.

(d) Allegations of unacceptable activity must be confirmed by at least three independent sources (e.g. two residents and the superintendent) and documented by the RPM in the Unacceptable Activity Affidavit. Examples of unacceptable activity include, but are not limited to, drug trafficking, prostitution, organized gambling, attacking or threatening other residents of the building, damaging or defacing any portion of the building, generating excessive traffic of people and/or materials in and out of the building, and generating loud noise which is disturbing to other residents. Allegations of unacceptable activity which is illegal will be referred to the Narcotics Control Unit to be checked against their database and, if possible, against Police Department Records.

CHAPTER 19 UNAUTHORIZED OCCUPANT POLICY FOR THE DIVISION OF PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

§19-04 Evaluation of Occupants--Procedures.

(a) If the occupants refused to cooperate with the RPM or were repeatedly unavailable despite a good faith attempt by the RPM to contact them, the occupants will be referred to TLAU for legal action by the Area Director.

(b) If the occupants cooperated with the RPM and a questionnaire was completed, the occupants will be evaluated based on household circumstances, involvement in unacceptable activities and willingness to pay rent and arrears.

(c) Priority households and households with a claim of right to their apartment will be presumed acceptable candidates for legal tenancy and will be screened for involvement in unacceptable activities and willingness to pay rent and arrears. Priority households are those which include senior citizens (age sixty-two or older), mentally or physically handicapped individuals, pregnant women and children under the age of eighteen. Households which have a claim of right to their apartment include those which a member lived in the apartment with the legal tenant and has continuously resided there since the legal tenant's departure; and those which lived in the apartment at the time of vesting and have continuously resided therein since the date of vesting.

(d) Households not identified as "priority" or "claim of right" may also be considered for legal tenancy, but only if special circumstances (i.e., fairness, equity, and the best interests of the building and its residents dictate that the unauthorized occupant be set up as a legal tenant) are involved. Households determined by the Assistant Commissioner to involve special circumstances will be presumed acceptable candidates for legal tenancy and further screened for involvement in illegal activities and willingness to pay rent.

(e) All other households will be referred to TLAU for legal action.

(f) Priority, claim of right and special circumstances households which are not involved in unacceptable activities and are willing to pay rent and arrears will be referred to the Bureau of Vacant Apartment Repair and Rental (BVARR) to be set up as legal tenants. Any such households which are involved in unacceptable activities (as attested to in an Unacceptable Activities Affidavit) and/or are not willing to pay rent and arrears, will be referred to TLAU for legal action.

(g) HRA-occupants must agree to pay rent equal to the HRA approved maximum shelter allowance for their household size.

(h) Non-HRA occupants must be willing to pay rent as follows:

Studio	(2.5 rooms):	$250;	2 Bedroom	(4.5 rooms):	$312;
1 Bedroom	(3.5 rooms):	$286;	3 Bedroom	(5.5 rooms):	$349;

and so forth. If the specified rent is more than 30 percent of the occupant's income, the occupant must be willing to pay a rent equal to 30 percent of their income.

(i) Payment of arrears equal to the lesser of 12 months or the period of occupancy must be made within two years. Acceptable terms of payment include an emergency housing grant from HRA, payment in full at the time of leasing, or a minimum of three months or one-third of the total arrears paid at the time of leasing with the remainder to be paid within two years according to an agreed upon schedule. The specific terms of payment will be negotiated by BVARR staff.

(a) Occupants referred to BVARR as acceptable for legal tenancy will negotiate and sign a lease agreement with BVARR staff stipulating monthly rent, the total amount of arrears to be paid, and the dates and amounts for payment of such arrears.

(b) In most cases occupants will be set up in their existing apartment. Some occupants may be set up in a smaller apartment if they underoccupy their existing apartment. Underoccupancy is defined as less than one household member per apartment bedroom. Households which are determined to underoccupy their existing apartment should be relocated to the nearest available apartment of appropriate size, preferably in the same building or neighborhood. Claim of right households will always have the right to be set up in their existing apartment. The possibility of relocation due to underoccupancy will be addressed during negotiations prior to lease signing.

§19-07 Post Termination Provision.

(a) Post termination eligibility. (1) Any person who submitted an application for legal tenancy pursuant to the procedures set forth in §19-06(b)(1) by May 31st, 1992, or is the occupant of an apartment identified on HPD's tenant accounting system as being occupied by unauthorized occupants as of May 31st, 1992 is eligible for a tenancy pursuant to this section. No other unauthorized occupants are eligibile for tenancy pursuant to this section.

(2) Tenancy will be offered to unauthorized occupants, as specified in subdivision (a)(1) above, who, in the judgment of HPD, will make good tenants. Tenancy will not be offered to those occupants who have engaged in unacceptable activity, or who fail to pay any accured arrears which they have been advised by HPD are due for the apartment, or who fail to sign a lease. Occupants will be responsible for arrears payments for the lesser of 12 months or the period of occupancy. Conduct that constitutes unacceptable activity shall be solely within HPD's discretion to determine.

(3) Tenancy will be offered only for residential apartments in "occupied" buildings owned by the City of New York and managed by HPD's Division of Property Management (DPM), except those deemed by HPD to be substandard, or too costly or impractical to repair. The definition of "occupied" building does not include buildings that have no legal residential tenants as recognized by DPM, and does not include buildings categorized by DPM as "vacant" buildings. Buildings not managed by DPM are excluded from this rule.

(b) Remaining unauthorized occupants. Unauthorized occupants not covered by this section and who do not qualify under Chapter 24 of this title (Successor Tenants), will be removed from City-owned buildings, except in extraordinary circumstances as determined solely in the discretion of HPD.

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 27, 2004 These amended rules implement newly enacted State legislation (Chapter 387 of the Laws of 2003). The law permits that certain outstanding liens may be reduced to zero pursuant to a regulatory agreement with the new owner of a building for which an administrator had been appointed pursuant to Article 7-A of the Real Property Actions and Proceedings Law. The regulatory agreement requires that the owner provide adequate, safe and sanitary housing accommodations for persons of low income for a period of not less than thirty years.

CHAPTER 20 RULES CONCERNING ARTICLE 7-A OF THE REAL PROPERTY ACTIONS AND PROCEEDINGS LAW*1

(a) When a building covered by these rules is transferred to a new owner at any time following appointment of such administrator, §778(10) of the RPAPL authorizes the Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("Department") to enter into a regulatory agreement ("Regulatory Agreement") with the new owner.

(b) A Regulatory Agreement shall require the new owner to provide adequate, safe and sanitary housing accommodations for persons of low income, as such term is defined in Subdivision 19 of §2 of the Private Housing Finance Law, for a period of not less than thirty years and may require such additional provisions as the Department deems appropriate, including, but not limited to, income and occupancy restrictions and a plan for the continuing repair and maintenance of the property.

(c) A Regulatory Agreement shall include a certification by the new owner of the real property containing such building that (i) the prior owner has no direct or indirect interest in such real property, and (ii) the prior owner has no direct or indirect interest in such new owner.

(d) A Regulatory Agreement may provide that, upon transfer of such building to the new owner, any outstanding liens filed with and recorded by the City pursuant to §778(1) of the RPAPL and §309 of the Multiple Dwelling Law shall immediately be reduced to zero upon execution of such Regulatory Agreement.

CHAPTER 21*1 DIVISION OF ALTERNATIVE MANAGEMENT PROGRAMS

SUBCHAPTER B RIGHTS OF TENANTS AND TERMINATION OF TENANCIES

§21-23 Rights of Tenants.

(a) Tenancy. All Tenants of a building in DAMP shall be month-to-month Tenants.

(b) Continuation of Tenancy. As long as a Tenant continues to pay the rent, in accordance with §21-24(b), his/her month-to-month tenancy shall be renewed, unless the DAMP Lessee asserts grounds for termination or non-renewal under these Rules.

(c) Eviction Proceedings (Failure to Pay Rent). A DAMP Lessee may commence eviction proceedings when a Tenant has failed to pay the rent due in accordance with §21-24(b). If the DAMP Lessee has any reason to know that the Tenant's rent has ever been paid by DSS, then the DAMP Lessee must ascertain the Tenant's public assistance status from HPD prior to instituting non-payment proceedings.

(d) Eviction Proceedings (Termination of Tenancy). Without the approval of HPD, the DAMP Lessee may refuse to renew a Tenant's lease or may commence an action or proceeding to recover possession of any housing accommodation upon one or more of the following grounds:

(1) The Tenant, other Occupant or Guest is violating a substantial obligation of the Tenant's tenancy.

(2) The Tenant, Occupant or Guest is committing or permitting a nuisance in such housing accommodation or the building containing such housing accommodation.

(3) Occupancy of the housing accommodation by the Tenant is illegal because of the requirements of law, or such occupancy is in violation of contracts with governmental agencies.

(4) The Tenant, Occupant or Guest is using or permitting such housing accommodation to be used for an illegal purpose.

(5) The Tenant has unreasonably refused the DAMP Lessee or HPD access to the housing accommodation for the purpose of making necessary inspections, repairs or improvements required by law or authorized or required by HPD.

(6) The Tenant has refused, after at least twenty days written notice, to move to a substantially similar housing accommodation at the same rent provided:

(i) that the DAMP Lessee has a plan approved by DAMP to reconstruct, renovate or improve the housing accommodation currently occupied by the Tenant or the building in which it is located; and

(ii) that the move is reasonably necessary to permit such reconstruction, renovation or improvement; and

(iii) that the DAMP Lessee offers the Tenant in writing the right of reoccupancy of a reconstructed, renovated, or improved housing accommodation at the same rent or at a rent set pursuant to applicable rules for the respective DAMP Program or other rent restructuring authority.

(7) The housing accommodation is not occupied by the Tenant, not including subtenants or occupants, as his or her primary residence, unless the subtenant or assignee has been approved pursuant to §21-24(i) of these Rules.

(8) The building is to be placed in a program of rehabilitation or reconstruction which requires the vacating of the entire building.

(9) The building is to be sealed or demolished.

(10) The Tenant has refused to reoccupy a housing accommodation that has been renovated, reconstructed or improved, and continues to occupy a housing accommodation which was offered for the purposes of relocation pursuant to paragraph (6) above.

(11) For any other reason permitted by law.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Where the property is under the Neighborhood Redevelopment Plan, a landlord can remove a tenant in order to perform the necessary work, provided that the tenant is offered suitable relocation. The landlord serves the tenant with a 20 day notice prior to the date at which the tenant is to vacate the premises, and can bring a holdover proceeding against a tenant who refuses to move. A court held that it was insufficient for the landlord to merely contact a tenant about a "possible" relocation; the owner must propose a specific alternative apartment for the tenant. RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 21*1 DIVISION OF ALTERNATIVE MANAGEMENT PROGRAMS

SUBCHAPTER B RIGHTS OF TENANTS AND TERMINATION OF TENANCIES

§21-24 Conditions of Residential Tenancy.

(a) Conditions of Residential Tenancy. All Tenants of a building in DAMP shall be subject to the terms of the Conditions of Tenancy contained in these Rules and contained in any City-approved leases they have been issued. Where a City-approved lease has been issued, the terms of such lease shall govern, to the extent that they differ from these Rules. Where no City-approved lease has been issued, the terms of this section shall govern.

(b) Rent and Term. (1) The DAMP Lessee shall lease an apartment to a Tenant for the lease term. The Tenant shall pay the rent for each month in advance on the first day of that month during the term of such rental at the DAMP Lessee's office or at such other place or address as the DAMP Lessee shall designate.

(2) HPD shall have the right to implement rent restructuring plans pursuant to the applicable rules for the respective DAMP Program. If the Tenant refuses to pay the increased rent, the DAMP Lessee shall have the right to terminate the tenancy.

(c) Occupancy. The apartment leased to the Tenant shall be occupied for residential purposes only, subject only to applicable laws, the lease and these Rules. The Tenant, the members of the Tenant's immediate family, and any other person permitted by law, may reside in the Tenant's apartment.

(d) Maintenance and Repair by Tenant. The Tenant shall take good care of his/her apartment and fixtures in the apartment and keep it clean, safe and orderly. The Tenant shall be responsible, at the Tenant's expense, for all repairs and replacement whenever the need results from any act or neglect of the Tenant or Guest.

(e) Improvements. The Tenant and the Guest shall make neither improvements nor alterations without the DAMP Lessee's prior written consent. Any and all such improvements or alterations shall, upon installation, become the property of the DAMP Lessee at the option of the DAMP Lessee, if approved by HPD. Improvements or alterations of any kind or nature built or placed within the apartment by the Tenant or Guest during the Lease Term shall be removed by the Tenant before the termination of the lease term at the option of the DAMP Lessee. If the Tenant fails to remove such improvements or alterations from his or her apartment at the direction of the DAMP Lessee or fails to repair any damages or defacement to the apartment caused by such removal or construction by the end of the lease term, the Tenant shall be and remain liable to the DAMP Lessee for all costs incurred by the DAMP Lessee in removing same from the apartment and all costs incurred by the DAMP Lessee to repair any damage or defacement to the apartment as a result thereof after the Tenant's lease term has expired.

(f) Services. The DAMP Lessee shall supply heat as required by law, and hot and cold water. The Tenant shall pay for all electricity, gas, telephone and other utility services used in his or her apartment and arrange for services with the public utility and telephone company (except for utility services that are master-metered in buildings that are master-metered). The Tenant shall obtain and pay for any meters, permits or approvals needed to comply with this provision (other than master meters), as may be required by law.

(g) Liability. The DAMP Lessee shall not be responsible to the Tenant or the Guest for any loss of property or injury to the Tenant or any other person resulting from theft or any crime in the apartment or elsewhere in the building or for loss or damage to persons or property sustained by smoke, fire or water coming on or being within said apartment or building. The DAMP Lessee shall only be liable for loss, expense or damage to any person or property due to the DAMP Lessee's negligence. The Tenant shall reimburse the DAMP Lessee for any expenses incurred or loss suffered by the DAMP Lessee, as a result of the action or inaction of the Tenant or Guest.

(h) Entry to Apartment. (1) The DAMP Lessee and its agents may (but shall not be obligated to) enter the Tenant's apartment at any time in case of an emergency, and at any reasonable hour to: repair, inspect, exterminate, improve or perform other work, including rehabilitation to the apartment or building determined to be necessary by the DAMP Lessee. The DAMP Lessee may take into the Tenant's apartment all materials and equipment required for such purposes.

(2) The Tenant shall furnish unhindered access to the DAMP Lessee and its agents to all areas of the Tenant's apartment and building for the purpose of making tests or repairs. If there should be any loss of usable space, the Tenant may request, in writing, a proportionate rent reduction for such loss, provided, however, that such reduction shall only be for the period until the area involved has been restored to the Tenant.

(i) Assignment and Sublease. The Tenant may not assign the Tenant's tenancy rights, or the Tenant's lease, or sublet the Tenant's apartment or grant any license as to the whole or any part, without first obtaining the written permission of the DAMP Lessee. If the Tenant shall assign such tenancy rights or such lease or sublet the Tenant's apartment or any part thereof, without the written consent of the DAMP Lessee, the Tenant's tenancy may be terminated. Any permitted assignment of tenancy rights or of the Tenant's lease or sublet of the apartment shall not relieve or release Tenant from any obligations under these Conditions of Tenancy. Any subtenant or assignee shall be bound by and be subject to all the terms of these Conditions of Tenancy. In the event that the Tenant's tenancy rights or lease is terminated for any reason, it shall be the duty of the Tenant to remove any subtenants. The DAMP Lessee may collect rent from the assignee, subtenant or occupant if the Tenant fails to pay the rent. The DAMP Lessee shall credit the amount collected against the rent owed by the Tenant. However, the DAMP Lessee's acceptance of such rent does not change the status of the assignee, subtenant or occupant to that of a direct Tenant of the DAMP Lessee.

(j) Notices. Any bill, statement or notice must be in writing. If to the Tenant, it must be delivered or mailed to the Tenant at the Tenant's apartment or such other address as the Tenant designates. If to the DAMP Lessee, it must be mailed to the DAMP Lessee's address.

(k) End of Term. At the end of the tenancy, the Tenant shall remove all of the Tenant's and the Guest's personal property and leave the Tenant's apartment broom clean and in good condition, subject to ordinary wear and tear. All property and additions which remain after the Tenant leaves the apartment may either be retained by the DAMP Lessee as the DAMP Lessee's property, or be removed by the DAMP Lessee at the Tenant's expense.

(l) Liens and Encumbrances. The Tenant shall not mortgage or place or cause to be placed, any liens or encumbrances upon or affecting the fee title or any interest in the apartment or building.

(m) Termination. Tenant's lease shall terminate immediately in the event that a vacate order is issued by any governmental agency certifying that the building or any part thereof is in a condition which endangers the life, health or safety of the Tenant or other occupants. In the event that the vacate order is rescinded as a result of repairs made to the building or part thereof, while the building is under the jurisdiction of DAMP, the Tenant's tenancy shall be reinstated.

(n) Attorneys' Fees. Neither the DAMP Lessee nor the Tenant, in any action or summary proceeding, may recover, against the other, attorneys' fees or other costs for legal action.

(o) Application of Arrears. If the Tenant pays to the DAMP Lessee less than the full monthly rent, any subsequent payments shall first be applied to arrears. The DAMP Lessee's acceptance of partial or full payment of rent or failure to insist in any one or more cases upon the strict performance of any of the Tenant's obligations shall not be construed as a waiver or relinquishment for the future of such obligation, right or remedy.

(p) Rules. The Tenant shall observe and comply with such rules as the DAMP Lessee, with HPD's prior approval, may determine are needed for the safety, care and cleanliness of the Tenant's apartment and building and the comfort, quiet and convenience of other occupants of the building.

(1) A husband, wife, son, daughter, stepson, stepdaughter, father, mother, stepfather, stepmother, brother, sister, nephew, niece, uncle, aunt, grandfather, grandmother, grandson, granddaughter, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law of a tenant;

(2) Any other person residing with the tenant in the apartment as a primary residence, who can prove emotional and financial commitment, and interdependence between such person and the tenant. Although no single factor shall be determinative, evidence which is to be considered in determining whether such emotional and financial commitment and interdependence existed may include, without limitation, such factors as listed below. In no event is evidence of a sexual relationship between such persons to be required or considered.

(A) longevity of the relationship;

(B) sharing of or relying upon each other for payment of household or family expenses, and/or other common necessities of life;

(C) intermingling of finances as evidenced by, among other things, joint ownership of bank accounts, personal and real property, credit cards, loan obligations, sharing a household budget for purposes of receiving government benefits, etc.;

(D) engaging in family-type activities by jointly attending family functions, holidays and celebrations, social and recreational activities, ect.;

(E) formalizing of legal obligations, intentions, and responsibilities to each other by such means as executing wills naming each other as executor and/or beneficiary, granting each other a power of attorney and/or conferring upon each other authority to make health care decisions each for the other, entering into a personal relationship contract, making a domestic partnership declaration, or serving as a representative payee for purposes of public benefits, ect.;

(F) holding themselves out as family members to other family members, friends, members of the community or religious institutions, or society in general, through their words or actions;

(G) regularly performing family functions, such as caring for each other or each other's extended family members, and/or relying upon each other for daily family services;

(H) engaging in other patterns of behavior or other action which evidences the intention of creating a long-term, emotionally-committed relationship.

Occupant. "Occupant" shall mean a person occupying an apartment, other than a tenant.

Occupied building. "Occupied building" shall mean a City owned building, occupied by tenants.

Senior Citizen. "Senior Citizen" shall mean a person who is sixty-two years of age or older.

Tenant. "Tenant" shall mean an HPD authorized residential tenant of record. Occupants such as squatters and licensees are not tenants of record.

Unacceptable activity. "Unacceptable activity" shall include, but not be limited to, drug trafficking, prostitution, unlawful possession of a firearm, organized gambling, attacking or threatening other residents of a building or employees, contractors or agents of HPD, damaging or defacing any portion of a building, generating excessive traffic of people or materials in and out of a building, generating loud noise which is disturbing to other residents or engaging in any activity which constitutes a nuisance, or creates a hazard to other tenants of the building.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. An occupant seeking to become a tenant must apply for tenancy within 30 days the tenant of record permanently vacates the premises. The proper procedure is to make a timely application to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) for tenant status , not to make a belated claim of tenant status in response to a summary holdover proceeding brought by the landlord. PART 2 DEPARTMENTAL PROCEDURES

§25-06 Applications and Plans.

(a) Before commencing the installation of a gas-fueled space or water heater in a dwelling a plumbing repair slip or building notice, as specified below must be filed in the borough office of the Department of Buildings where the installation is to be made, giving the address of the dwelling and all pertinent information required on the forms.

(b) Before filing these forms in the offices of the Department of Buildings the applicant shall have the house numbers and the block and lot checked in the offices of the borough president where that procedure is followed in a particular borough, and in addition obtain a certification from the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the classification of the multiple dwelling in which the appliances are to be installed.

(c) When applications are filed for permits to install gas-fueled space and water heaters the plumbing repair slips, the building notice forms and the envelopes in which they are placed shall be stamped by the plan clerk with a stamp reading: "GAS AP- PLIANCES".

(d) Plumbing repair slips shall be accepted only where gas appliances will be connected to flues in existing brick chimneys, and where no other venting or other work is required to be done. They shall not be accepted for installation of gas-fueled heaters in sleeping rooms. Plumbing repair slips shall clearly state the type of appliance to be installed, the floors, apartments and rooms in which they are to be placed, including the number of rooms in the apartment and the occupancy of each room, whether sleeping room or otherwise. They shall describe the condition of the chimney flue to be used and state whether the draft is satisfactory. If a gas meter is to be installed its location shall be given.

(e) Where vent pipes are to be installed, or other work done in connection with the installation of gas-fueled heaters, a building notice application shall be filed. It shall indicate the type of each such device, the floor on which, and the apartment and the occupancy of the room in which such appliance is to be installed, the material and dimensions of the vent pipe or flue, and the dimensions of the court or yard to which the exhaust vent will be carried. If a gas meter is to be installed, its location shall be shown. No plumbing specification sheet or plumbing repair slip need be filed with such a building notice.

(f) Application for permits to install gas-fueled space heaters and water heaters may be made separately or together on one application but each such application shall indicate that all apartments in the building will be provided with gas-fueled space and/or water heaters as the case may be. The location, type, make, and capacity of all such appliances previously installed or to be installed in a building shall be specified. If any of the appliances have been installed in multiple dwellings prior to December 9, 1955, which the owner desires to maintain, the necessary work to make them comply with these rules should be indicated.

(a) Plumbing repair slips, when filed, shall be processed in the usual manner and forwarded to the inspectors of plumbing.

(b) Building notices calling for the installation of gas-fueled space and water heaters shall be expedited and may be taken out of turn, except that they shall be processed in the order in which they were received. They shall be examined for compliance with these rules and all other laws and regulations applicable to such installations. If any chimney or metal stack is to be installed, examiners shall check such construction for compliance with subchapter 15 of chapter 1 of Title 27 of the Administrative Code (Building Code). They shall require that the foundations shall be carried not less than four feet below the surface of the ground, and that the soil on which it is build to be not overloaded. They shall require that new chimneys be strapped to the existing walls.

(c) Only applications calling for the installation of gas-fueled space or water heaters, approved by the Department of Health, specifying the make and model shall be approved. All such gas appliances shall be of types approved also by the American Gas Association. However, where an owner desires to continue to use any gas appliance installed in a multiple dwelling prior to December 9, 1955, clearly shows on the plan the data required by paragraph f of §25-06 of these rules and prominently marks the appliances that have not been approved by the Department of Health, the application may be conditionally approved pending the approval of the appliances by the Department of Health.

§25-09 Inspection of Gas-Fueled Space and Water Heaters.

(a) Where a plumbing repair slip has been filed it shall be the responsibility of the inspectors of plumbing to see that gas-fueled space and water heaters are installed in dwellings, apartments and rooms where such heaters are permitted to be installed in lieu of central heat or supply of hot water. They shall see to it that the appliances are of types approved by the Department of Health and the American Gas Association, and are installed in compliance with these rules. Inspectors shall require the filing of a building notice where an appliance is to be placed in sleeping room where vent pipes are to be installed, or other work done.

(b) A building notice covering the installation of these appliances in dwellings shall be forwarded directly to the plumbing inspectors when approved as a permit. The installation of such appliances including Type B and other gas vents, but not chimneys, shall be inspected by inspectors of plumbing. If a building notice application does not call for construction of a masonry or metal chimney, it shall be reported as completed, by the plumbing inspector, provided the work was satisfactory with a note on his report "no structural work".

(c) If the building notice calls for the erection of a masonry or metal chimney, it shall be forwarded by the plumbing inspector to the construction inspector as soon as the plumbing inspector has found the installation of these gas appliances and vent connections satisfactory. The construction inspector shall report such an application completed if the construction of the chimney has been satisfactorily performed

(a) A gas-fueled space or water heater installed after December 18, 1957, and a gas-fueled space heater installed prior to that date, in the residence portion of a multiple dwelling and installed after October 1, 1964, in one and two family dwellings, shall be approved by the Department of Buildings only if it is of a type approved by the Department of Health and the American Gas Association, and if it has been installed in compliance with these rules. A gas-fueled water heater installed in a multiple dwelling prior to December 18, 1957, and in a one or two family dwelling prior to October 1, 1964 shall be approved by this department only after it has been made to comply with all the requirements of these rules. The certification of approval of type of appliance by the Department of Health of such water heaters shall be attached to the plumbing repair slip or building notice.

(b) A building notice or plumbing repair slip which has been filed to cover the installation of only gas-fueled space heaters or only gas-fueled water heaters shall be reported as being satisfactorily completed only if all apartments in the building have been provided with either space or water heaters as the particular application specified. If an application calls for the installation of both space heaters and water heaters it shall be reported as being satisfactorily completed only if all apartments in the building have been provided with both space heaters and water heaters. Nor shall any application be reported as being satisfactorily completed unless all new appliances have been installed in compliance with these rules and all existing appliances have been made to conform with them.

(c) When the plumbing section signs off, as satisfactorily completed, a plumbing repair slip or a building notice application which provides for the installation of gas-fueled space heaters in all apartments of a multiple dwelling, including the apartments where gas-fueled space heaters may have been installed prior to December 18, 1957, they shall make a list of such premises and send a copy of the list to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. Where water heaters also have been satisfactorily installed, that fact should be noted on the list. The list shall contain the premises and the application number under which the appliances have been installed, and shall be forwarded weekly.

§25-27 Appliances in Sleeping Rooms.

(a) Gas-fueled water heaters shall not be installed in a room occupied for sleeping purposes, in bathrooms, or in any occupied room normally kept closed.

(b) It shall be unlawful to install a gas-fueled space heater in a room occupied for sleeping purposes except when the space heater is so designed, installed and operated for it:

(1) Obtains combustion air directly from the outside of the building or through a duct leading to the outside.

(2) It vents directly to space outside of the building other than an inner court, or is connected through a flue or outlet pipe with an outside chimney which conforms with the requirements of sub-article three of article twelve of the Building Code.

A flue in an existing brick chimney may be used if it is in good condition and tests show that it will provide adequate draft.

SUBCHAPTER A INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE OF GAS-FUELED WATER AND SPACE HEATERS IN ALL PORTIONS OF DWELLINGS USED OR OCCUPIED FOR LIVING PURPOSES

PART 4 INSTALLATION OF GAS-FUELED HEATERS

§25-29 Venting of Gas Appliances.

(a) Definitions. A flue, vent or outlet pipe is a conduit or passageway, vertical or nearly so, for conveying flue gases to the outer air.

A vent connector is a pipe connecting an appliance with the flue, vent, outlet pipe or chimney.

(b) Every vent or outlet pipe serving a gas space or water heater shall be provided with a draft hood of a type approved by the American Gas Association, Inc., laboratories of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., as conforming to accepted standards, unless the heater has an approved built-in draft hood, or has been approved by the American Gas Association without a draft hood. The draft hood shall be installed at the flue collar or as near to the appliance as possible and in the position for which it was designed, with reference to horizontal and vertical planes. The relief opening of the draft hood shall not be obstructed. A suitable cap shall be provided at top of vent pipes.

(c) Each gas-fueled space or water heater installed in an apartment in lieu of the required centrally supplied heat and hot water supply, respectively, shall be connected to a chimney flue, outlet pipe, or type B vent, complying with the requirements of subdivision (h) of this section, which shall be carried four feet above a flat roof and two feet above the highest part of a peaked roof, except that type B vents need not comply with this provision when equipped with a vent cap approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for the prevention of downdraft. A flue in an existing chimney may be used if a licensed plumber certifies that he has made a smoke test of the flue and found no gas escaping through its walls, and made a test of the draft and found it adequate. However, window or wall type heaters of the sealed combustion chamber type which have been approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals may be vented in accordance with the approval of the Board, except as provided in subdivision (d) of this section.

(d) No gas-fueled space heater, including a window or wall type recessed heater and no gas-fueled water heater, installed in a dwelling, shall be vented to an inner court unless it is connected to a chimney complying with the requirements of subchapter 15 of Chapter 1 of title 27 of the Administrative Code (Building Code). Standard steel steam or water pipes are acceptable in such locations.

(e) Gas-fueled water heaters shall be located as close as practicable to a vent or flue. They should be so located as to provide short runs of piping to fixtures.

(f) Vent connectors shall consist of galvanized iron of not less than No. 26 U.S. gauge in thickness, cement-asbestos pipe, approved type B vents, enameled steel pipe of a quality acceptable to the superintendent as heat and corrosion resistant, or other materials satisfactory to the superintendent.

(g) Vent connectors shall have a cross-sectional area at least equal to the area of the vent outlets of the appliance and shall have a minimum diameter or dimension of three inches.

(h) Outlet pipes and vents, on the exterior of a building, shall consist of standard water, steam or soil pipes, cement-asbestos pipe, type B vents approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals, or other corrosion resistant materials satisfactory to the superintendent, all so connected as to prevent leakage at joints. Outlet pipes and vents on the exterior of a building shall be adequately supported and braced. Flues inside of building shall be constructed as low temperature chimneys. Type B vents may be used inside buildings when installed in accordance with the requirements of §27-887(d) of the Administrative Code (Building Code) and with the conditions of their approval.

(i) Only vent connections serving appliances located in one story of a building may be made to any flue. The cross-sectional area of any flue shall be equal to or greater than the total cross-sectional area of all vents connected to it, but in any case the least internal dimensions shall be three inches.

(j) Vent connections may be made to a flue serving other heat producing appliances, above the connection of the other heat producing appliances, or the smoke pipe or vent connection from the gas appliance and the other heat producing device may enter the flue through a single opening if joined together by a Y fitting located as close as practical to the flue. The angle of intersection between the branch and the stem of the Y shall not exceed forty-five degrees. The area of the common outlet pipe shall not be less than the combined areas of the outlet pipes joined by the Y fitting.

(k) The horizontal run of vent pipe connectors shall not exceed three-fourths of the vertical rise of the flue to which the vent is attached, measured from the connection of the appliance to the top of the flue. A vent connector shall be pitched upward from the gas appliance with a slope of not less than one-fourth inch vertically for each foot of horizontal run.

(l) No dampers, steel wool or other obstructions shall be placed in any vent pipe or flue.

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER C CONDUCT AND MAINTENANCE OF LODGING HOUSES

§25-51 Conduct and Maintenance of Lodging Houses.

(a) Lodging house, defined. As used in these rules, the term lodging house shall mean any house or building or portion thereof, in which persons are harbored, or received, or lodged, for hire for a single night, or for less than a week at one time, or any party of which is let for any person to sleep in, for any term less than a week. The term lodging house shall not be deemed to include a Class A multiple dwelling used or let for single room occupancy.

(b) Permits required. It shall be unlawful to conduct, maintain or operate a lodging house containing rooms in which there are more than three beds for the use of lodgers, or in which more than six persons are allowed to sleep unless a permit therefor has been issued by the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development.

(c) Procedure for obtaining a permit.

(1) Information to be given in application. Each application for a permit shall file with the Department of Housing Preservation and Development in duplicate, a written application, dated, signed by himself, and correctly setting forth:

(i) The full name and address of the proprietor of the lodging house and of the owner of the premises.

(ii) The location of the lodging house.

(iii) The portions of the building intended to be used as a lodging house.

(2) Certificate from the Fire Department. The applicant shall procure from the Fire Department of the City of New York a certificate to the effect that the premises for which a permit is desired complies with all laws, rules and regulations enforceable by the Fire Department.

(d) Conduct, maintenance and operation of lodging houses. (1) Every permittee shall conduct, maintain and operate such lodging house in accordance with the terms of his permit and the rules and regulations of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(2) Permit to be displayed. The permit of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development issued for such lodging house shall be continuously and conspicuously displayed in the office or hall of such lodging house.

(3) Numbers of lodgers permitted. (i) No keeper of a lodging house shall receive lodgers therein without displaying continuously and conspicuously in each room a card issued for such room by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development setting forth the maximum number of lodgers permitted to be accommodated in such room, and also a copy of these rules and regulations.

(ii) No keeper of a lodging house shall accommodate in any sleeping room thereof a number of lodgers greater than the number set forth on the card issued for such room by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development; nor shall he accommodate any lodgers in any room in which a card, duly issued therefor, is not displayed as above described.

(4) Ventilation. (i) In every lodging house each room shall be adequately ventilated as required by law and to the satisfaction of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(ii) In every sleeping room there shall be provided not less than 400 cubic feet of air space per bed.

(iii) Neither side of any bed shall at any time be nearer than two feet to the side of any other bed.

(iv) All beds shall be so arranged that the air shall circulate freely under each of them.

(v) In the ease of all lodging houses for which permits are for the first time applied for after the year 1919, no beds or bunks shall be placed one above another.

(5) Airing, etc. (i) Except when extreme severity of the weather prevents, all windows of sleeping rooms, waterclosets, washrooms and bathrooms shall be kept open not less than one foot at the bottom and one foot at the top at least four hours daily.

(ii) Beds occupied at night shall be vacated by 10 A.M. or 12 M., and the bedding thereof shall be turned over and exposed to the air from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. or from 12 M. to 4 P.M. daily, as prescribed by the permits issued for each lodging house.

(iii) For the accommodations of lodgers working by night, special beds or rooms shall be set apart for their use during the day, but the bedding of suc beds must be turned over and exposed to the air in a room with outside windows, open as above prescribed, for at lease four consecutive hours daily.

(iv) Only servants at work or lodgers accommodated as per-subparagraph (iii) of this subdivision, shall be allowed in sleeping rooms during the four-hour period for airing, as specified in the permit issued for such lodging house, in any lodging house in which accommodations are provided for male lodgers, no female servants shall be employed; likewise, where accommodations are provided for female lodgers, no male servants shall be employed.

(6) Beds and bedding. (i) In every lodging house there shall be provided for each lodger a separate bed with bedspread, bedding and bedclothes satisfactory to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(ii) All portions of the building, including all furniture, bed clothing, matresses and pillows shall always be kept clean and free from vermin.

(iii) Sheets and pillow cases shall be kept in a condition clean and satisfactory to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(iv) In the case of all lodging houses for which permits are for the first time applied for after the year 1910, the frames of all beds shall be of metal.

(7) Waterclosets. (i) In every lodging house there shall be provided waterclosets in the ratio of at least one watercloset to every fifteen beds or fraction thereof.

(ii) In every lodging house for which a permit shall be first applied for after February 1st, 1911, there shall be provided at least one watercloset on each floor, and watercloset shall be provided on every floor in the ratio of at least one to every fifteen beds or fraction thereof on such floors.

(iii) Every watercloset shall be properly ventilated by an unobstructed opening to the outer air.

(iv) No gas or offensive odors shall be allowed to escape from any water closet, sewer or outlet into any sleeping room or part thereof. Each watercloset shall be provided with a self-closing door, which shall be cut away at the bottom so as to provide adequate ventilation.

(v) In no lodging house shall any person be allowed to sleep in a room in which there is a watercloset.

(vi) In every lodging house for which a permit shall be first applied for after February 1st, 1911, there shall be provided at least one washroom on each floor.

(vii) In every lodging house there shall be provided washrooms with running water, set wash basins or other individual washing appliances satisfactory in character to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. Such individual appliances shall be provided in proportion to the number of beds in the lodging house as follows: One such appliance for every ten beds or fraction thereof.

(8) Baths. (i) In every lodging house shower baths shall be provided in the ration of at least one shower bath to every fifty beds or fraction thereof, or tub baths shall be provided in the ration of at least one tub bath to every twenty-five beds or fraction thereof.

(ii) All such baths shall be provided with hot and cold running water, and shall be at all times accessible for the use of lodgers free of charge.

(9) Water and towels. An adequate supply of water and clean individual towels shall be provided. The use of common towel is prohibited.

(10) Floors and walls of waterclosets, etc. In every lodging house the floors of all waterclosets, washrooms and bathrooms, and the walls thereof to a height of at least four feet above the floor shall be constructed of such durable, waterproof material as may be approved by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(11) Cleanliness and repair. (i) Every lodging house and every part thereof shall be at all times kept clean and free from dirt, filth garbage and rubbish in or on the premises belonging to or connected with the same.

(ii) All waterclosets, washbasins, baths, windows, fixtures, fitting and painted surfaces shall be at all times kept thoroughly clean and in good repair.

(iii) The floors, walls and ceilings of all rooms, passages, and stairways must be at all times kept clean and in good repair.

(iv) If painted with oil, all walls and ceilings shall be thoroughly washed with soap and water at least twice yearly, and at such other times as the Department of Housing Preservation and Development may direct.

(12) Spitting and cuspidors. (i) In each hall, room, cubicle, watercloset, washroom and bathroom of every lodging house there shall be provided a sufficient number of cuspidors or spittoons.

(ii) In every such room, etc., there shall be continuously and conspicuously a sing: "SPITTING FORBIDDEN EXECPT IN PROPER RECEPTACLES."

(iii) All such cuspidors or spittoons shall be of durable waterproof material and shall be thoroughly cleaned at least once daily, and shall be at all times maintained in a condition satisfactory to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(13) Method of sweeping regulated. Sweeping of any portions of such lodging houses shall be so performed as to avoid the raising of dust in the process. Dry sweeping prohibited.

(14) Illness. It shall be the duty of the keeper, agent, or owner of every lodging house to immediately report to the Department of Health the occurance of any illness in such house.

(15) No Women or Children lodged. In no lodging house in which men are lodged shall any women or girl be lodged or any boy under the age of sixteen years, unless accompained by his father or legal male guardian.

(e) Violations, revocation or suspension of permit. A violation of any of the foregoing rules and regulations shall constitute sufficient cause for the revocation or suspension of a permit by the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development.

SUBCHAPTER E SIGNS SHOWING THE MAXIMUM LAWFUL OCCUPANCY FOR SLEEPING PURPOSES OF APARTMENTS, SUITES OF ROOMS AND SINGLE-ROOM UNITS CONSTITUTING "ACCOMMODATIONS FOR TRANSIENTS"

§25-71 Signs Showing the Maximum Lawful Occupancy for Sleeping Purposes of Apartments, Suites of Rooms and Single-Room Units Constituting "Accommodations For Transients."

(a) (1) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (5) of this subdivision (a), the owner of every multiple dwelling containing any accommodations for transients (see definition of accommodations for transients' in subd(b) hereof), except structures containing not less than 200 rooms and classified by the department as hotels (whether a class A or class B multiple dwelling), shall install and maintain signs therein in accordance with the applicable requirements set forth in paragraph two, three, four and five of this subdivision.

(2) There shall be displayed in each apartment, suite of rooms and single-room unit constituting such accommodations for transients, a sign which shall show both the currently applicable total maximum lawful occupancy, for sleeping purposes, of such apartment, suite or unit, and the currently applicable maximum lawful occupancy, for sleeping purposes, of each living room constituting a part of each such apartment or suite.

(3) In addition, in each room in any such apartment or suite, there shall be displayed a sign showing the maximum lawful occupancy, for sleeping purposes, of such room.

(4) Such signs shall be displayed in each such apartment, suite of rooms, single-room unit and living room, in conformity with the applicable requirement of paragraphs two, three and four of this subdivision.

(5) Such signs need not be displayed in any apartment, suite of rooms, single-room unit or dormitory in a hotel (whether a class A or class B multiple dwelling), which apartment, suite, unit or dormitory consists of a room or rooms used for class B occupancy (see definitions of `room used for class B occupancy') lawfully, during any time while such apartment, suite, unit or dormitory is occupied for sleeping purposes by any person or persons, none of whom has occupied same for such purposes for a continuous period exceeding eighty-five days.

(b) Accommodations for Transients. (1) Any apartment, suite of rooms or single-room unit, consisting in whole or in part of any room or rooms used for class B occupancy, or any portion of any such apartment or suite, or

(2) any dormitory, or

(3) any apartment or portion thereof used for single room occupancy.

(c) Application. These rules shall apply to the signs which are required by §27-2080 of the Administrative Code to be installed and maintained in each apartment, suite of rooms and single-room unit constituting "accommodations for transients" as described in subdivision (b) of this section.

(d) Material. Signs shall be constructed of metal, slow-burning plastic or other material approved by the Commissioner, and shall be substantial, rigid and durable in construction. Signs of cardboard or heavy paper may be used if such material is encased in strong metal, wood or plastic frames and is covered by clear plastic or glass not less than one sixteenth inch (1/16") in thickness and if provided with substantial backing. Signs shall be provided with means for fastening securely to the wall.

(e) Room signs. The following information shall appear on signs required in rooms in which not more than one (1) adult is permitted to sleep:

Department of Housing Preservation and Development

City of New York

Premises: _____

(address of building)

Room No. _____ on _____ story.

Not more than ONE (1) ADULT permitted to sleep in this room. §27-2075, Administrative Code.

The following information shall appear on signs required in rooms in which not more than two (2) adults are permitted to sleep:

Department of Housing Preservation and Development

City of New York

Premises: _____

(address of building)

Room No. _____ on _____ story.

Not more than TWO (2) ADULTS permitted to sleep in this room. §27-2075 of the Administrative Code.

In both of the above instances the address of the premises and the location of the room must be shown, in addition to the number of persons permitted to sleep in such room.

(f) Apartment signs. The following information shall appear on signs required in apartments and suites of rooms showing the total maximum occupancy for sleeping purposes of entire apartment or suite of rooms:

Department of Housing Preservation and Development

City of New York

Premises: _____

(address of building)

Apartment

(or suite) No. _____ on _____ story.

Not more than a TOTAL OF _____ ADULTS permitted to sleep in this apartment (or suite). §27-2075, Administrative Code.

The permitted lawful occupancy for sleeping purposes of each room in this apartment is as follows:

Room No. _____ not more than _____ ADULTS

Room No. _____ not more than _____ ADULTS

(Provide separate line for each room in apartment or suite.)

The above sign must show the address of the premises, the location of the apartment or suite of rooms, the total maximum lawful occupancy for sleeping purposes of the entire apartment or suite, and the permitted lawful occupancy for sleeping purposes of each individual room in said apartment or suite. The maximum lawful occupancy for sleeping purposes of each room shall be shown on a separate line, with a proper designation by room number in order to identify each room.

(g) Size of sign and lettering. The lettering shall be of the Gothic type.

The letters forming "DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING PRESERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT", and the letters and numerals showing the number of ADULTS, shall be not less than one-quarter inch (1/4") in height. All other letters and numerals shall be not less than three-sixteenths inch (3/16") in height. Letters shall be of such width and spacing as will provide the greatest legibility.

The letters and the background of the sign shall be of contrasting colors.

The size of sign shall be sufficient to accommodate the required lettering and to provide a margin of not less than one-quarter inch (1/4") about the lettering on all sides.

(h) Location of signs. Signs shall be located at a distance of not less than five feet (5') or more than six feet (6') above the floor.

Where a sign is required to be displayed in a room, same shall be so located that it is visible at all times to the occupant or occupants of such room.

Where a sign showing the total maximum occupancy for sleeping purposes of an entire apartment or suite of rooms is required to be displayed in such apartment or suite, such signs shall be located in a portion of such apartment or suite through which it is necessary for every occupant to pass after entering or before departure from such apartment or suite. Such sign shall be visible at all times to the occupants of such apartment or suite.

(i) Lighting. Sufficient lighting shall be provided so that the sign will be plainly legible at all times when the apartment or room is occupied.

(j) Maintenance. Signs shall be maintained in a clean and legible condition. Signs that are damaged shall be repaired or replaced immediately. Signs that are painted over shall be replaced or restored to the original condition. Signs that become loose shall be securely fastened.

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER F SIGNS IDENTIFYING OWNER, MANAGING AGENT AND SUPERINTENDENT OF MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§25-81 Signs Identifying Owner, Managing Agent and Superintendent; Plans on Premises.

(a) (1) Identification signs for the purpose of identifying the owners and managing agents of multiple dwellings by the display of the serial number, shall comply with the applicable provisions of these rules.

(2) Identification signs for the purpose of identifying the superintendents, janitors or housekeepers of multiple dwellings, wherein such employees are required by the provisions of §83, Multiple Dwelling Law, shall comply with the applicable provisions of these rules.

(b) Signs shall be constructed of metal, slow-burning plastic or other material approved by the Commissioner and shall be substantial, rigid and durable, in construction. Signs of cardboard or heavy paper may be used if such material is encased in strong metal, wood or plastic frames and is covered by clear plastic or glass not less than one-sixteenth inch in thickness and if provided with substantial backing. Signs shall be provided with means for fastening securely to the wall.

(c) (1) The following information shall appear on the sign, prescribed in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of this section, in four lines of lettering as indicated and in the order indicated:

Department of Housing Preservation and Development

City of New York

Serial Number

Street Address of Building

(2) The following information shall appear on the sign, prescribed in paragraph (2) of subdivision (a) of this section, in four lines of lettering as indicated and in the order indicated:

Title (Superintendent, Janitor or Housekeeper) Name of Superintendent, Janitor or Housekeeper Address of Superintendent, Janitor or housekeeper (including apartment number, if any)

(d) Telephone number of superintendent, janitor or housekeeper. The size of sign shall be sufficient to accommodate the required lettering and provide a margin of not less than one-fourth inch about the lettering on all sides.

(e) (1) Serial numbers, as specified in §27-2104 shall be determined and assigned by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. No serial number shall be changed or ordered without the approval of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. The serial number shall be placed on the sign by the owner or his representative.

(2) The street address of the building consisting of the house number and the street shall be placed on each sign by the owner or his representative.

(3) The lettering shall be gothic type. The numbers composing the serial number shall be not less than one-half inch in height. The letters forming "Department of Housing Preservation and Development" and the street address shall not be less than one-fourth inch in height. All other letters shall be not less than three-sixteenth of an inch in height. Letters shall be of such width and whatever as will provide the greatest legibility.

(f) The lettering of signs, as specified in §27-2104, shall be Gothic type and shall not be less than three-sixteenths of an inch in height. Letters shall be of such width and spacing as will provide the greatest legibility.

(g) The letters and the background of the sign shall be of contrasting colors.

(h) Signs shall be approved by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development before installation.

(i) Signs shall be located in the entrance hall at the main entrance to the building at the street floor. Signs shall be placed preferably over the mail boxes but, in any case, shall be conspicuously displayed in a prominent location in the entrance hall. Signs shall be located between 7 feet and 9 feet above the floor.

(j) Signs shall be fastened directly to the wall by screws or bolts in a rigid, substantial manner, or by other means as may be approved by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

(k) Sufficient lighting shall be provided so that the sign will be plainly legible at all times.

(l) Signs that are defaced, damaged or removed, shall be promptly repaired or replaced. Signs shall be maintained in such manner as to be easily read at all times.

§25-91 Rules for Enforcement of Subdivision 4 of §27-2098 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York.

(a) The words "may be reached at all hours and time" within the meaning of subdivision (4) of §27-2098 of the Administrative Code shall be construed to mean a telephone number at or through which in the normal course of events a person might reasonably be expected to be reached at all times and this shall be deemed to include:

(1) the telephone number of the residence of such person; or

(2) the telephone number of an agent fully authorized to act on behalf of the owner; or

(3) the telephone number of a person, firm or corporation, including an answering service, which has in its possession at all times a telephone number at which the person or agent can be reached at all times.

A corporation may comply with this subdivision by any of the means as hereinabove set forth.

(b) The term "emergency repairs" within the meaning of this subdivision shall be construed to designate a condition in a multiple dwelling which, in the opinion of the department, constitutes, or if not properly corrected, will constitute, a fire hazard or a serious threat to the life, health or safety of occupants thereof.

SUBCHAPTER H OWNER'S RIGHT TO ACCESS TO APARTMENTS OR ROOMS IN MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§25-101 Owner's Right of Access.

(a) Owner to give notice. Where an owner seeks access to an apartment, suite of rooms or to a room, under the provisions of §27-2008 in order to make inspection therein for the purpose of determining whether such places are in compliance with the provisions of the multiple dwelling law of the administrative code, he shall notify the tenants that he will seek access to the apartment, suite of rooms, or rooms, not less than twenty-four hours in advance of such time. Where an owner, contractor or agent of the owner seeks access to make improvements required by law or to make repairs, notice shall be given to the tenant not less than one week in advance of the time when the improvements or repairs are to be started. However, where repairs are urgently needed in emergencies to prevent damage to property or to prevent injury to persons, such repairs of leaking gas piping or appliances, leaking water piping, stopped-up or defective drains or leaking roofs, broken and dangerous ceiling conditions, no advance notice shall be required from the owner, agent, contractor or workman.

(b) Notices to be in writing. Where an owner is required to give notice in advance of seeking access to an apartment, suite of rooms or to a room, as required by subdivision (a) of this section, such notice shall be in writing and shall contain a statement of the nature of the improvement or repairs to be made.

(c) Authorization to be in writing. Where an authorized agent or employee of an owner seeks access to an apartment, suite of rooms, or rooms, the authorization of the owner shall be in writing and the agent or employee shall exhibit such authorization to the tenant when access is requested.

(d) Hours when access to be permitted. Except in emergencies, access to an apartment, suite of rooms, or rooms, shall be limited, to the hours between nine antemeridian and five post-meridian. Access shall not be required on Saturdays, Sundays or legal holidays except in emergencies.

SUBCHAPTER M ENTRANCE DOORS, LOCKS AND INTERCOMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

§25-151 Entrance Doors, Locks and Intercommunication Systems.

(a) Bulkhead doors and scuttles shall have no key locks and shall not be locked by a key at any time. The only permissible and acceptable means of securing a bulkhead door or scuttle is by means of a movable bolt or hook on the inside.

(b) Subdivision (n) of §25-174 of the current departmental rules and regulations in its last un-numbered paragraph provides as follows:

"All passageways required under these rules shall be not less than seven feet (7'0") in height and not less than three feet (3'0") in width and shall at all times be kept clear and unobstructed. Doors and gates at the end of such passageways are prohibited, except that a door or gate equipped with an approved-type knob or panic bolt which shall be readily openable from the inside will be permitted at the building line. Doors and gates provided with key locks or padlocks are prohibited."

(c) Where an entrance door leading from a vestibule to the main entrance hall or lobby is equipped with one or more automatic self-closing and self-locking doors, the entrance door from the street to the vestibule need not be equipped with automatic self-closing and self-locking doors.

(d) Every entrance from the street, court, yard or cellar to a class A multiple dwelling erected or converted after

January 1, 1968 containing eight or more apartments shall be equipped with automatic self-closing and self-locking doors. Such multiple dwelling, as aforesaid, shall also be equipped with an intercommunication system to be located at the required main entrance door.

(e) On or after January 1, 1969, every entrance from the street, court, yard or cellar to a class A multiple dwelling erected or converted prior to January 1, 1968 containing eight or more apartments, provided that a majority of tenants in occupancy request or consent in writing, shall be equipped with automatic self-closing and self-locking doors and shall also be equipped with an intercommunication system.

(f) Every self-locking door required under this section shall be installed and maintained so as to be readily openable from the inside without the use of keys.

(g) The minimal devices acceptable for the intercommunication system shall be a bell or buzzer system, or a speaking and listening device to permit communication by voice between the occupant of each apartment and a person outside such required main entrance door, and a return buzzer mechanism to release or open the lock to the aforesaid required door.

(h) The bell and intercommunication system shall be located at the required main entrance door so that a person may readily reach the door when the unlocking buzzer is activated.

(i) No push button device shall be more than six feet from the floor and the speaking and listening device shall be installed to be not less than four feet and not more than five feet from the floor.

(j) The device or devices for the intercommunication system installed in the apartment shall be readily accessible to the occupant.

(k) The device or devices for the intercommunication system installed hereunder shall be of a type and kind approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals.

(1) Devices which have been previously installed and which are in good condition and performing in an adequate manner may, in the discretion of the department, be accepted.

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER O FIRE-RETARDING OF ENTRANCE HALLS, STAIR HALLS AND PUBLIC HALLS IN OLD LAW TENEMENTS AND CONVERTED DWELLINGS

§25-171 Fire-Retarding of Entrance Halls, Stair Halls and Public Halls in Old Law Tenements and Converted Dwellings.

(a) Intent. The fire-retarding rules herewith set forth are approved by the Department of Buildings for old law tenements and converted dwellings where their entrance halls, stair halls and public halls are required, by §189, subdivisions 1 and 4, §238, subdivision 4, and §218, subdivisions 5 and 6, Multiple Dwelling Law, and §27-2044, Housing Maintenance Code, to be fire-retarded in a manner approved by the Department of Buildings.

(1) All entrance halls, stair halls and public halls, including service halls and stairs, shall be fire-retarded to the extent required by the Multiple Dwelling Law and the Multiple Dwelling Code and the Housing Maintenance Code.

(2) It is the intent that all wood structural members of partitions, ceilings and stair soffits shall be completely protected with fire-retarding materials where they may be exposed to fire in entrance, stair and public halls. To this extent these rules and regulations cover only general conditions and are not designed to cover specific or special cases. Where such may occur the owner is required to consult the Department of Buildings and receive instructions before work is started.

(3) Where existing dumbwaiter shafts are located in, or open on public halls which are required to be fire-retarded, such dumbwaiter shafts, when not constructed of fireproof or fire-retarding materials, shall be fire-retarded on the inner side, from the lowest story to the roof inclusive, in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of this section or paragraph (2) of subdivision (b) of this section, except in cellar where such shafts shall be enclosed with fireproof materials.

All doors opening from such dumbwaiter shafts shall be self-closing, and doors and assemblies when of wood or other non-fireproof construction shall be lined on both sides with No. 26 U.S. gauge metal, except in cellar where doors and assemblies shall have a fire-resistive of at least one (1) hour.

(4) It is not intended that these rules and regulations in themselves require plans to be filed. However, should any work involve structural changes, then plans are required to be filed in the Department of Buildings and such changes shall be subject to all other Rules and Regulations applicable thereto.

(5) Work shall not commence until satisfactory evidence has been submitted to the Department of Buildings that compensation insurance has been obtained in accordance with the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

It is the intent of 238, subdivision 4, Multiple Dwelling Law, that every entrance hall, public hall and stair hall in every old law tenement four stories or more in height shall be fire-retarded.

Every old law tenement three stories and a basement, or three stories, basement and cellar in height shall be deemed to be four stories in height when the main entrance from the grade is to the basement, and every entrance hall, public hall and stair hall in such building shall be fire-retarded.

In old law tenements where the entrance halls, public halls and stair halls are required to be fire-retarded, existing wood stairs shall be fire-retarded in conformity with the requirements of these rules and regulations, whether or not such halls had been fire-retarded in accordance with plans filed with and approved by the former Tenement House Department or Department of Buildings, prior to the enactment of subdivision 4 of §238 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(b) Partitions. All existing partitions separating from entrance halls, stair halls and public halls, or otherwise forming enclosing partitions of entrance halls, stair halls and public halls, shall be fire-retarded by any one of the following methods:

(1) Metal lath and cement of gypsum mortar. Completely remove all existing materials to face of studs or other structural members on hall side of partitions and recover with metal lath and two coats of cement of gypsum mortar. If cement mortar is used it shall be three-quarters inch (3/4") thick, if gypsum mortar is used it shall be one inch (1") thick. The second coat of mortar shall not be applied until the first coat has thoroughly set and in no case shall the second coat be applied on the same day that the first coat of mortar is applied.

In lieu of the above method, completely remove all combustible materials from plaster face of partitions on hall side and repair existing plaster. After inspection, cover existing plaster with herringbone or similar approved type metal lath with rigid rib reinforcement to provide good bond between new and existing plaster. Cover lath with two coats (scratch and brown) of cement of gypsum mortar as above.

The first coat of cement mortar (scratch) shall be composed of one (1) part of Portland cement to one and one-half (1 1/2) parts of sand, with an additional volume of hydrated lime not greater than ten (10) percent of the volume of Portland cement. The second coat (brown) shall be composed of one (1) part of Portland cement to three parts (3) of sand, with an additional volume of hydrated lime not greater than ten (10) percent of the volume of Portland cement.

The first coat (scratch) of gypsum mortar shall be composed of one (1) part of gypsum to one (1) part of sand. The second coat (brown) of gypsum mortar shall be composed of one (1) part of gypsum to one and one-half (1 1/2) parts of sand.

(2) Plaster boards and gypsum mortar or stamped metal. Completely remove all existing materials to face of studs or other structural members on hall side of partitions and recover with plaster boards or perforated rock lath three-eights inch (3/8") thick, covered with two coats of gypsum mortar (scratch and brown) so that the aggregate thickness shall be at least one inch (1"), or in lieu thereof, recover same with plaster boards one-half inch (1/2") thick, covered with No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal.

In lieu of the above method, completely remove all combustible material from plaster face of partitions on hall side and repair existing plaster. After inspection, plaster boards or perforated rock lath may be applied directly over the existing plaster face of partitions on hall side. Cover plaster boards or perforated rock lath with two coats of gypsum mortar as above, or plaster boards may be covered with No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal.

(3) Mineral wool. Fill solidly between partition uprights, from underside of flooring to ceiling with mineral wool blown in place by the pneumatic method, packed solidly to fill all spaces and voids.

(4) Brick, gypsum, etc. Fill solidly between partition uprights from underside of flooring to ceiling with brick, gypsum, or other acceptable material packed solidly to fill all spaces and voids. Where brick, gypsum, or other masonry material is intended to be used, application must be filed before installation with the Department of Buildings for approval of strength of existing members intended to support the proposed masonry fire-retarding.

(5) Other methods. No other method may be used unless same is acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

(6) Removal of windows in public hall partitions. When windows in walls or partitions are removed, both sides of the openings shall be sealed with fire-retarding materials, except that wood lath and plaster may be used on the room side of the opening when the existing surface of the room is constructed of wood lath and plaster.

(7) Electric meters. Where direct current (DC) electric meters of public utility companies are present or installed on partitions of public halls the fire-retarding shall continue unbroken behind the meters or the meters shall be mounted on a heavy slate back or non-magnetic fireproof equivalent, such as transite, asbestos board, etc., against which fire-retarding finished up tightly.

(8) Partitions in class B converted dwellings. Where fire-retarding is required in any class B converted dwelling referred to in paragraph (7) of subdivision (a) of this section, both sides of all enclosure partitions of entrance halls, stair halls and public halls throughout such building shall be fire-retarded in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (3) or (4) of subdivision (b) of this section.

(9) Partitions in altered old law tenements. In any old law tenement where the occupancy is increased on any story, the enclosing partitions of any entrance hall, stair hall or public hall on the story where the occupancy has been increased, shall be fire-retarded on both sides. Such requirements shall apply only to the walls of the entrance hall, stair hall or public hall adjoining the altered apartment. The enclosing partitions of such halls other than those adjoining the altered apartment, and the partitions on any story where the occupancy has not been increased, shall be fire-retarded on the hall side. The method of fire-retarding shall be as set forth in paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) of this section, or said partitions shall be fire-retarded in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (3) or (4) of subdivision (b) of this section.

(10) Newly constructed partitions. In any entrance hall, stair hall or public hall where any partition or part thereof is newly constructed, and where the plaster has been removed from any partition or part thereof, such partition shall be fire-retarded on both sides.

(c) Ceilings. Any approved method for fire-retarding partitions shall be acceptable for fire-retarding ceilings, provided that all existing materials are completely removed to face of joists. Mineral wool, brick gypsum or other masonry fill will not be accepted.

(1) Where any entrance hall, public hall or stair hall, or any other portion thereof, in any part of any old law tenement or converted dwelling is required to be fire-retarded that portion of any ceiling directly underneath any such entrance hall, public hall or stair hall shall be fire-retarded. Where such ceiling is located in any store, apartment or other space it shall also be fire-retarded as required for partitions by paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) of this section.

Where the above method is impractical due to the existing ceiling construction in any such store, apartment or other space, the Department of Buildings may permit the fire-retarding of such ceilings to be applied from above by removing the floor of any such entrance hall, public hall or stair hall and installing between the floor beams, and directly against the ceiling below, a layer of heavy building paper over which there shall be placed a basket made of reinforced ribbed expanded metal lath weighing at least 3.4 pounds per square yard. Such basket shall be lined with Portland cement or gypsum mortar not less than one inch (1") in thickness. The building paper, metal lath and cement or gypsum mortar shall be carried at least halfway up on the sides of the beams. However, this method will not be accepted for the fire-retarding of any such ceiling located in a space used for a hazardous purpose or business, nor will it be accepted for the fire-retarding of any such ceiling located in the cellar or for the fire-retarding of any ceiling located in any store, apartment or other space when such ceiling is constructed of wood or of wood and metal applied directly to the beams. In such cases the ceilings shall be fire-retarded according to the requirements of paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (b) of this section.

(d) Existing wood stairs. Except where stairs of incombustible material are required in class B converted dwellings as set forth in paragraph (7) of subdivision (a) of this section, all wood railings, balustrades and newel posts shall be completely removed from every existing wood stairs and such stairs shall be provided with railings, balustrades and newel posts of metal or other hard incombustible material, of such size are secured in such manner to the existing stairs as may be approved by the Department of Buildings, except handrails may be hardwood.

Soffits and stringers of existing wood stairs shall be fire-retarded in accordance with the methods set forth in subdivisions (e) and (f) of this section.

(e) Stair soffits. The soffits of every stair in every entrance hall, public hall, and stair hall, including any soffit extending beyond the enclosure partitions of any such hall, shall be fire-retarded.

Any approved method for fire-retarding partitions shall be acceptable for fire-retarding stair soffits provided that all existing materials are completely removed to face of structural members of stair soffits.

(f) Fascia-stair and well. Fascia of outside stringer on rake of stairs, and well fascia at floor level, shall be fire-retarded their full depth to form complete seals with the soffits of stairs and ceilings of halls, respectively. Type of fire-retarding shall be one of those herein approved for ceilings of halls, or in lieu thereof, cover fascia with sheet asbestos not less than three-sixteenths inch (3/16") thick with joints well pointed over which there shall be an additional single layer of No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal or cover fascia with a single layer of No. 14 U.S. gauge steel.

(g) Fire-stopping. All partitions required to be fire-retarded shall be fire-stopped with incombustible material at floors, ceilings and roofs. Fire-stopping over partitions shall extend from the ceilings to the underside of the flooring or roofing above. Fire-stopping under partitions shall extend from the underside of flooring to ceiling below. All spaces between floor joints (directly over and under partitions) shall be completely filled the full depth of the joists. Any space from top of partition to underside of roof boarding shall be completely fire-stopped.

Fire-stopping shall be done with brick, cinder concrete, gypsum, metal lath and Portland cement or gypsum mortar, mineral wool, or other materials acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

(h) Door openings. Except as provided in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision, all door openings into any public hall, entrance hall or stair hall which required to be fire-retarded shall be equipped with self-closing protective assemblies having a fire resistive rating of at least one hour.

(1) In old law tenements where the number of apartments is not being increased, existing wood doors opening into public halls, entrance halls or stair halls may remain provided such doors are made to be self-closing ("butterfly" spring hinges are not acceptable) and, provided further, all glazed transoms and panels in every such door are glazed with wire glass. All such transoms shall be made stationary.

(2) Where, in any old law tenement, the number of apartments is being increased on one or more stories, door openings into public halls, entrance halls or stair halls on each story or stories shall be equipped with self-closing protective assemblies having a fire-resistive rating of at least one hour.

In such old law tenements existing wood doors opening into public halls, entrance halls or stair halls may remain on any story where there is no increase in the number of apartments, provided such doors and every transom and panel in same are made to conform to the requirements set forth in paragraph (1) of subdivision (h) of this section.

(3) All doors shall be properly fitted to their assemblies and there shall be no unnecessary spaces between doors and door bucks or saddles.

(i) Materials. All materials used in the process of fire-retarding shall be of a type and manufacture acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

The following shall be considered as minimum requirements:

(1) Metal lath. Metal lath shall weigh at least 30 pounds per square yard, except lath used over existing plaster which lath shall weigh at least 3.4 pounds per square yard and be reinforced with rigid ribs not less than three eights inch (3/8") deep, spaced not more than eight (8") on center running full length of sheets. Where ribs exceed 4.8 inches on center, same shall have at least one intermediate one eight inch (1/8") inverted rib running the full length of sheets.

Metal lath fastened to stubs shall be attached at least at six inch (6") intervals with 4-penny nails or one inch (1") roofing nails or No. 14 steel wire gauge wire staples, and to wood joists by at least 6-penny nails, one and one-quarter inch (1 1/4") roofing nails, or one inch (1") No. 14 steel wire gauge wire staples. When metal lath is applied over existing plastered surfaces, same shall be fastened with nails or staples of the same gauge and such nails or staples have anchorage of at least one-half inch (1/2")in studs and three-quarters inch (3/4") in joists. Laps between the studs or joists shall be securely tied or laced. Stiffened metal lath on wood studs, or joists, shall be nailed or stapled at least at eight inch (8") intervals, and the laps between studs similarly tied or laced.

Metal lath shall be galvanized or painted.

(2) Plaster boards or perforated rock lath. Plaster boards or perforated rock lath shall be of type and manufacture acceptable to the Department of Buildings. Each board shall bear the name of manufacturer and brand stamped thereon for inspection after erection.

Plaster boards or perforated rock lath nailed directly to wood studding or joists shall be fastened with one and one-eighth inches (1 1/8") wire nails of at least No. 13 steel wire gauge, with flat three-eighth inch (3/8") heads. When such boards are applied over existing plastered surfaces, same shall be fastened with nails of the same gauge and such nails shall have anchorage of at least one-half inch (1/2") in studs and three-quarters inch (3/4") in joists. The maximum space between nails shall be four inches (4"). The joints shall be broken at every other board. The wetting of such boards before plastering is forbidden.

(3) Stamped metal. Stamped metal shall be No. 26 U.S. gauge (equivalent thickness .018 inches or 3/160 inches) with one inch (1") lapped seams. Size of sheets shall be not more than twenty-four inches by ninety-six inches (24" x 96"), having a selvage consisting of a half-round bead sufficient to create a one inch (1") overlap at both seams. Nailing shall be secured direct to studs or joists with 6-penny smooth box nails (two inches (2") or No. 12 1/2" gauge) with nails on end seams spaced not more than three inches (3")apart. Nailing to plaster is forbidden and in all cases nails shall have anchorage of at least one-half inch (1/2") in studs and three-quarters inch (3/4") in joists. All beads at seam shall be chisel sealed, making a tight joint. All sheets shall be marked "26 U.S. Gauge" for identification and inspection after erection.

(4) Mineral wool. Mineral wool shall be of a type and manufacture acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

Holes shall be cut approximately three inches (3") in diameter through the wood lath and plaster near the ceiling, in the panels between each two adjacent studs. As an alternative, holes may be cut approximately three inches by six inches (3" x 6") on every second stud. Check each stud panel with a weight and line to find out whether there is any obstruction. If any cross-bridging or other obstruction is encountered additional holes shall be cut until access has been gained to all open spaces within the stud panel in all specified partitions. Mineral wool shall then be blown into all spaces by the pneumatic method with air pressure sufficient to pack the insulation to a density acceptable to the Department of Buildings. Mineral wool for this work shall be in bags or containers marked with the manufacturer's name and label specifying its type.

(5) Other materials. No other material may be used unless same is acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

(j) Exceptions. Where any portion of any entrance hall, stair hall or public hall has been previously fire-retarded under the supervision of this department, the former Tenement House Department or various former Departments of Buildings, such fire-retarding will be accepted only to the extent that same has been previously approved, provided, however, that such entrance hall, stair hall or public hall is otherwise made to conform to all the requirements set forth in these rules.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER O FIRE-RETARDING OF ENTRANCE HALLS, STAIR HALLS AND PUBLIC HALLS IN OLD LAW TENEMENTS AND CONVERTED DWELLINGS

§25-172 Fire-Retarding of Cellar Ceilings in Old Law Tenements and Converted Dwellings.

(a) Intent. The fire-retarding rules herewith set forth are approved by the Department of Buildings for the existing multiple dwellings where the ceilings of the cellar or other lowest story is required, by §185 and §240, subdivision 3, Multiple Dwelling Law, and by §27-2044, Housing Maintenance Code, to be fire-retarded in a manner approved by the Department of Buildings.

(1) It is the intent of the law to provide a continuous fire-retarded covering over the entire ceiling of the cellar, or other lowest story, so as to prevent fire communicating with upper stories of a multiple dwelling.

Where there is a space less than four feet six inches (4'-6") in height from the ground or floor level to the underside of the first tier of beams, such space shall be considered as an "air space" and not as a cellar. However, when such space opens to a cellar where fire-retarding of the ceiling is required, then such space shall be separated from the cellar with a partition constructed of incombustible material in which there is provided a self-closing door and assembly having a fire-resistive rating of at least one hour.

Where the ceiling of the cellar or other lowest story is required to be fire-retarded, all openings in such ceilings for stairways not located directly under a main stair, also openings in ceiling such as pipe shafts, vent shafts, unenclosed dumbwaiter shafts, disused flues, etc., shall be properly closed. (Private stairs within duplex apartments extending into cellar or basement are not required to be enclosed.)

New partitions erected to enclose existing stair referred to in the preceding paragraph shall be of incombustible materials. Existing partitions enclosing any such stair will be acceptable where same are of incombustible materials or where same are fire-retarded on both sides in accordance with the methods set forth in or §25-171(b)(1) or (2) and with materials conforming with the requirement of §25-171(i) of these rules and regulations. Door openings in such enclosure partitions shall be equipped with self-closing protective assemblies having fire-resistive ratings of at least one hour.

When existing shafts, including dumbwaiter shafts, extend below the ceiling a distance less than one-half (1/2) the height of the cellar, such shafts shall be considered as being part of the cellar ceiling and the enclosures of said shafts shall be fire-retarded in the same manner as required for cellar ceilings. All existing shafts, including dumbwaiter shafts, which extend below the ceiling a distance more than one-half (1/2) the height of the cellar shall be enclosed with incombustible materials. All shafts referred to in this paragraph shall have adequate cleanout at base consisting of fire-proof self-closing door and assembly having a fire-resistive rating of at least one hour.

Where new partitions or enclosures are erected in a cellar they shall be constructed of incombustible materials.

(2) Wood girders, columns, posts, etc. The fire-retarding material of ceiling of cellar or other lowest story shall be carried down and around all non-fireproof ceiling projections, such as wood girders, etc., which are less than six inches (6" x 6") in diameter.

The fire-retarding material also shall be turned down at least three inches (3") on all non-fire-retarding columns, posts, etc., which are less than six inches (6") in diameter.

(3) Non-fire-retarded cellar partitions. When non-fire-retarded partitions in cellar, or other lowest story, extend to the ceiling, the fire-retarding material of the ceiling shall be turned down at least three inches (3") on said partitions, or the partitions shall be cut off at top to permit the fire-retarding of the ceiling to be continuous.

Where, in any old law tenement three (3) stories and basement in height, there is also a cellar under the basement story, the ceiling of such cellar shall be fire-retarded; and also, in any such old law tenement, where the main entrance from the grade is to the first story that portion of the basement ceiling which is directly under the first story entrance hall, public hall and stair hall shall be fire-retarded.

In every old law tenement three (3) stories and basement in height with no cellar under the basement, where the main entrance from the grade is to the basement story, the ceiling of the basement story shall be fire-retarded throughout. In any such old law tenement where the main entrance from the grade is to the first story no such fire-retarding will be required.

(4) Heating appliances. The portion of the ceiling over any furnace, boiler or hot water heater shall be fire-retarded in accordance with the methods set forth in §25-171(b)(1) or (2) and such fire-retarding shall extend for a distance of at least four feet (4'-0") beyond the sides and rear, and eight feet (8'-0") in front of such furnace or boiler.

(5) It is not intended that these rules and regulations in themselves require plans to be filed. However, should any work involve structural changes, then plans are required to be filed in the Department of Buildings and such changes shall be subject to all other rules and regulations applicable thereto.

(6) Work shall not commence until satisfactory evidence has been submitted to the Department of Buildings that compensation insurance has been obtained in accordance with the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

(b) Methods. Cellar ceilings shall be fire-retarded according to any of the following methods:

Metal lath and cement or gypsum mortar conforming to §25-171(b)(1) of these rules.

Plaster boards and gypsum mortar or stamped metal conforming to §25-171(b)(2) of these rules and regulations.

No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal over existing plastered ceiling, when erected without damage to the plaster. Furring strips are not required, but if used, they shall be metal covered on both sides and on face surface. Stamped metal shall not be applied until after existing plastered ceiling has been inspected and approved by an inspector of the Department of Buildings.

(c) Materials. No other method may be used unless same are acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

Materials used shall be in accordance with the provisions of §25-171(i)(1), (2) or (3) of these rules and regulations.

Mineral wool, brick, gypsum or other masonry fill will not be accepted for fire-retarding cellar ceilings.

No other materials may be used unless same are acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER O FIRE-RETARDING OF ENTRANCE HALLS, STAIR HALLS AND PUBLIC HALLS IN OLD LAW TENEMENTS AND CONVERTED DWELLINGS

§25-173 Fire-Retarding of Cooking Spaces in all Multiple Dwellings.

(a) Intent. The rules herewith set forth are approved by the Department of Buildings for the protection of cooking spaces under §§33 and 176 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

As set forth in §33 of the Multiple Dwelling Law, nothing in these rules shall be construed as permitting fire-retarding partitions in fireproof multiple dwellings.

(b) Section 33, Multiple Dwelling Law. Execpt when sprinkler heads are installed in conformity with subdivision (e) of this section, §33 of the Multiple Dwelling Law requires fire-retarding of cooking spaces in existing and newly constructed class A and class B multiple dwellings.

(c) Ceilings and walls exclusive of doors. Walls and ceilings shall be fire-retarded according to any of the following methods:

Metal lath and cement or gypsum mortar conforming to §25-171(b)(1) of these rules and regulations.

Plaster boards and gypsum mortar or stamped metal conforming to §25-171(b)(2) of these rules and regulations.

No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal over existing plaster when erected without damage to the plaster. Furring strips are not required, but if used, they shall be metal covered on both sides and on face surface. Stamped metal shall not be applied until after existing plaster has been inspected and approved by an inspector of the Department of Buildings.

Materials used shall be in accordance with the provisions of §25-171(i)(1), (2) or (3) of these rules and regulations.

No other methods or materials may be used unless same are acceptable to the Department of Buildings.

(d) Combustible material. In every cooking space, all combustible material immediately underneath or within one foot of any apparatus used for cooking or warming of food shall be fire-retarded in conformity with the applicable provisions of these rules or covered with asbestos at least three-sixteenths inch (3/16") in thickness and twenty-six gauge metal or with fire-resistive material of equivalent rating. There shall always be at least two feet (2'-0") of clear space above such apparatus.

(e) Sprinkler heads installed in ceilings of cooking spaces in lieu of fire-retarding the ceilings and walls. Where sprinkler heads are installed in the ceilings of cooking spaces in lieu of fire-retarding the ceilings and walls, all of the provisions of subdivisions (a) to (f) of this section inclusive, shall be complied with, except that it will not be required that the fire-retarding of the walls and ceilings of cooking spaces be complied with.

Before the installation of sprinkler heads is begun a "Plumbing Repair Slip" shall be filed with and approved by the Department of Buildings.

Sprinkler heads shall be of a type and manufacture approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals or by the Underwriters Laboratories Limited, and shall have fusible struts constructed to fuse at a temperature not higher than two hundred twelve degrees (212°) Fahrenheit.

Every sprinkler head shall bear the year of manufacture clearly on its surface. No sprinkler head may be installed after December 31st of the year following the year of manufacture.

There shall be provided at least one (1) sprinkler head for every fifty-nine (59) square feet or fraction thereof of the floor area of the cooking space.

Sprinkler heads shall be connected with the water supply of the building through a pipe of at least one-half (1/2) inch inside diameter.

Where practicable, sprinkler heads shall be located in an upright position on top of the sprinkler piping.

There shall be kept available on the premises at all times a sufficient supply of extra sprinkler heads and also a sprinkler wrench for use to replace promptly any fused or damaged sprinkler heads.

Any head which has opened or has been damaged shall be replaced immediately with a good sprinkler head.

Painting or kalsomining of sprinkler heads is prohibited.

(f) Cooking spaces constructed after July 1, 1949. Application and plans must be filed with and approved by the Department before any work is started in connection with the construction of any cooking space after July 1, 1949.

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER O FIRE-RETARDING OF ENTRANCE HALLS, STAIR HALLS AND PUBLIC HALLS IN OLD LAW TENEMENTS AND CONVERTED DWELLINGS

§25-174 Fire-Escapes, Fire-Stairs and Fire-Towers.

(a) Intent. These rules have been approved by the Department of Buildings to supplement the provisions of §53 of the Multiple Dwelling Law in relation to fire-escapes, fire-stairs, etc.

Where fire-escapes serve as a means of exit from other than multiple dwellings, such fire-escapes shall comply with the laws governing such occupancy.

The voluntary erection of fire-escapes on private residence buildings or business and residence buildings shall be in conformity with these rules and regulations unless otherwise directed by the Borough Superintendent of the Department of Buildings.

It is the intent of these rules to cover only general conditions and they are not designed to cover specific or special cases. When such may occur the owner is required to consult the Department of Buildings and receive instructions before starting of work.

(1) Fire-escapes on multiple dwellings requiring new certificate of occupancy. Except as provided in paragraph (2) of subdivision (g) of this section re lodging houses, double-rung ladder type fire-escapes will not be accepted when a new certificate of occupancy is required.

(2) Alterations for increased occupancy. Where an alteration is made increasing occupancy on any story and a fire-escape is required such fire-escape shall conform to the provisions of §53 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and to the applicable provisions of these rules.

(b) General provisions. (1) Caution. No fire-escapes shall be removed from any apartment without due precaution against leaving occupants without fire-escape protection as required by subdivision 9 of §53 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(2) Entrance story, etc.-second means of egress. Where the distance to safe landing, from the window sill of any apartment on any story, including the entrance story, is more than twelve feet (12'-0"), a balcony and sliding drop-ladder or other approved second means of egress shall be provided for such apartment. Safe egress to street or other safe place shall be provided from the termination of such means of egress.

(3) Application blanks and plans. Before the erection of new fire-escapes or alteration of existing fire-escapes upon any multiple dwelling, application must be filed with and approved by the Department of Buildings.

(4) Projections beyond the building line. Every part of fire-escapes or balconies erected on the fronts of multiple dwellings shall be at least ten feet (10') above the sidewalk when such fire-escapes or balconies project beyond the building line.

(c) Illegal fire-escapes shall be removed. All vertical ladder, wire, chain or cable fire-escapes if required as a means of egress shall be removed and replaced with a legal means of egress.

(d) Acceptable existing means of egress on existing multiple dwellings. Except as provided in subdivision (c) of this section, in any existing multiple dwelling any existing means of egress which was lawfully permitted prior to the time the Multiple Dwelling Law became effective may be continued as a legal means of egress as hereinafter enumerated.

If located on the front or rear wall of the building and properly connected with stairs with proper openings.

If located in an outer court at a point distant not more than thirty feet (30'-0") from the outer end of such court and provided such court is not less than five feet (5'-0") in width from wall to wall at any point between such fire-escape and the outer end of said court.

If located in an inner court whose least horizontal dimension is not less than fifteen feet (15'-0") measured from wall to wall.

If a party-wall balcony on the front or rear wall of the building and there are no doors or openings in the walls between the two buildings other than windows in fireproof air shafts.

If a party-balcony located in an outer court not more than fifteen feet (15'-0") in length measured from the outer end of such court to the innermost point thereof, and not less than five feet (5'-0") in width from wall to wall at any point between the fire-escape and the outer end of said court, and provided also that there are no doors or openings in the walls between the two buildings other than windows in fireproof air-shafts.

No fire-escape, however, shall be deemed sufficient unless all the following conditions are complied with:

All fire-escapes, whether a required means of egress or not, shall be maintained in good order, repair and structurally safe.

All parts shall be of iron or stone.

Except as provided in subdivision (bb) of this section every apartment above the ground floor in each multiple dwelling shall have direct access to a legal fire-escape without passing through a public hall.

Except party-wall balconies, all balconies shall be connected to each other by means of a stair or, when permitted, by double-rung ladders.

All fire-escapes, except party-wall balconies, shall have proper drop-ladders in guides from the lowest balcony of sufficient length to reach a safe landing place beneath.

All fire-escapes not on the street shall have a safe and adequate means of egress from the yard or court to the street or the the adjoining premises.

Prompt and ready access shall be had to all fire-escapes. Except as provided in subdivision (bb) of this section, such access shall be through a living room or private hall in each apartment or suite of rooms at each story above the ground floor and shall not include the window of a stairhall, nor shall any such egress be obstructed by sinks or other kitchen fixtures, or in any other way.

No existing fire-escape shall be extended or have its location changed except with the written approval of the Department of Buildings. Where an existing apartment in a tenement house erected prior to April twelfth, nineteen hundred and one, is located entirely on a court and has no rooms opening on the street or yard, fire-escapes hereafter provided for such apartments may be located in courts under the same conditions as prescribed for existing fire-escapes in this subdivision.

When wire, chain cable or vertical ladder fire-escapes are permitted to remain on multiple dwellings under the provisions of subdivision 9 of §53, they shall be considered only as supplemental fire-escapes.

Such fire-escapes shall be maintained in a safe condition of repair at all times and shall be subject to the applicable requirements of all laws and to these rules in relation to maintenance of existing fire-escapes.

Before a pending violation requiring the removal of such existing fire-escapes is superseded or cancelled, an inspection shall be made in accordance with the specific requirements as set forth in the preceding paragraph.

Each of the owners of adjoining structures, commonly served by party-wall balconies serving as a required means of egress, shall maintain in good order and repair that portion of each such balcony which is on his property, and each such owner shall maintain egress normally unobstructed and unimpeded from each such balcony to and through his stucture.

It shall be unlawful for the owner of a structure on which there is a party-wall balcony serving as a required means of egress from an adjoining structure, to remove such party-wall balcony or any portion thereof or to prevent, eliminate or obstruct egress from such party-wall balcony to and through his structure, unless and until such owner has had erected a legal fire-escape or other approved means of egress.

See also subdivision (bb) of this section.

(e) Party-wall balconies. (1) New party-wall balconies. The erection of new party-wall balconies shall be subject to the discretion and jurisdiction of the Department of Buildings, provided, however, that there shall be no doors or openings in the wall between the buildings served by such balconies other than windows in fireproof airshafts. New party-wall balconies will not be permitted on adjoining frame multiple dwellings.

(2) Existing party-wall balconies. Party-wall balconies existing on any multiple dwelling shall afford safe egress, be kept in good order and repair, be constructed so as to be structurally strong and shall be maintained in conformity with all other applicable laws, rules and regulations. Such fire-escapes are acceptable on occupied multiple dwellings.

(f) Party-wall fire-escapes. The Department of Buildings may consent to the erection of party-wall fire-escapes on adjoining multiple dwellings, to which the occupants have safe, unobstructed access in common, when such party-wall fire-escapes are constructed and maintained in accordance with the law and these rules and regulations.

(1) Any existing party-wall fire-escape (stairways) connection with and used in common by a multiple dwelling and a non-multiple dwelling is acceptable when such fire-escape is maintained in good order and repair and affords safe egress.

(g) Double-rung ladders. (1) Double-rung ladders will not be permitted on new fire-escapes.

(2) Any fire-escape existing prior to the enactment of the Multiple Dwelling Law on any multiple dwelling that does not require a certificate of occupancy resulting from an alteration, if structurally sound and in good condition and provided with existing ladders inclined at an angle not exceeding eighty (80) degrees and equipped with double-rung steps and which affords safe egress, shall be deemed to be a legal fire-escape.

When a certificate of occupancy is requested or required in connection with a lodging house which is equipped with a double-rung ladder fire-escape and such fire-escape is in good repair and adequate, except as to type, and only minor violations exist the correction of which will make the premises conform to all other law requirements, the existing double-rung ladder fire-escape may be accepted.

(3) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of subdivision (g) of this section re lodging houses, double-rung ladders are not acceptable when a new certificate of occupancy is to be issued.

(h) Alteration of existing two-balcony fire-escapes on existing multiple dwellings. When a building is not more than three (3) stories in height and provided with a balcony on each of the second and third stories, with connecting vertical ladders, and balconies not less than two feet five inches (2'-5") in width and of adequate length, the Department of Buildings may permit the removal of vertical ladders and replacing of the said ladders with regulation sixty (60) degree connecting stairs. Standards shall be one-half inch (1/2") round or square and height of rail at least two feet nine inches (2'-9").

The stairs shall be not less than seventeen inches (17") wide with a passageway between string and wall or string and top rail of not less than fourteen inches (14"). In lieu of such passageway, the Department of Buildings will permit a drop-ladder to be installed and placed at each end of the lowest balcony in those cases where it is impractical to provide a passageway of such minimum width.

New brackets shall be provided where necessary.

The gateway shall be cut in the front rail with a drop-ladder and guides from second (2nd) story to safe landing. Where fire-escapes are located at rear of building a gooseneck ladder shall be provided. The gooseneck ladder may be placed at an angle from the top floor balcony to the roof. When placed at an angle a minimum space of twenty-four inches (24") shall be maintained between the strings and front top rail and a minimum space of at least twenty-four inches (24") between the string of the gooseneck ladder and the frame of the window.

Conditions may be found where this modification will not exactly apply. When such a condition is found it should be brought to the attention of the Department of Buildings for decision.

When fire-escapes are at the front no gooseneck ladder shall be required.

When access to such existing two-balcony fire-escape is solely by means of a window in a bathroom, the doors of such bathrooms shall be glazed with glass or other than wire glass and all key or cylinder locks shall be removed from doors. In such bathrooms there shall be no fixture located in front of the window opening to fire-escape.

Such altered two-balcony fire-escape shall conform to all other requirements of law and these rules and regulations.

(i) Accessibility of fire-escapes from apartments, rooms, kitchenettes and other spaces. Prompt and ready access shall be had to all fire-escapes and, except as provided in subdivision (bb) of this section, such access shall be through a living room, kitchenette or private hall in each apartment or suite of rooms at each story above the ground floor.

Access to fire-escapes shall not include the window of a stairhall, nor shall any such egress be obstructed by sinks or other kitchen fixtures, or in any other way.

A clear space of at least twenty-one inches (21") must be maintained as a passageway between any fixtures and the side of an opening leading to fire-escapes.

In any apartment which is occupied by a "family" as defined in §4, paragraph 5, Multiple Dwelling Law, and in which one or more living rooms are rented to boarders or lodgers, every such room shall be directly accessible to a fire-escape without passing through a public hall, and for separately occupied living rooms access to fire-escapes shall be direct from such rooms without passing through a public hall or any other separately occupied room, except as may be permitted in sections sixty-six, sixty-seven and two hundred forty-eight of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(1) Egress from apartments used for "single room occupancy." No room in any apartment shall be so occupied for "single room occupancy" unless each room therein shall have free and unobstructed access to each required means of egress from the dwelling without passing through any sleeping room, bathroom or water-closet compartment.

In apartments used for "single room occupancy" there shall be access to a second means of egress within the apartment without passing through any public stair or public hall. On and after July 1, 1957, every tenement used or occupied for single room occupancy in whole or part under the provisions of §248, Multiple Dwelling Law, and which does not have at least two means of egress accessible to each apartment and extending from the ground story to the roof, shall be provided with at least two means of egress, or, in lieu of such egress, every stair hall or public hall, and every hall or passage within an apartment, shall be equipped on each story with one or more automatic sprinkler heads approved by the department. Elevator shafts in such tenements shall be completely enclosed with fireproof or other incombustible material and the doors to such shafts shall be fireproof or shall be covered on all sides with incombustible material.

In apartments used for "single room occupancy" where access to a required means of egress is provided through a room such access to such room shall be through a clear opening at least thirty inches (30") wide extending from floor to ceiling and such opening shall not be equipped with any door frame, or with any device by means of which the opening may be closed, concealed or obstructed.

(j) Window bars, gates, etc. No iron bars, gates or other obstructing devices will be permitted on any window giving access to fire-escapes or where such window provides a secondary means of egress in case of fire on any story, including the ground floor, basement, cellar, etc.

Windows on grade level at sidewalk, yard or court, or a roof level of an adjoining building, may have bars, but at least, one window in any apartment or suite of rooms shall be without bars or obstructions of any kind in order to afford a second means of egress and such window shall conform to the provisions of subdivision (k) of this section.

(k) Windows and doors to fire-escapes. The window or door giving access to fire-escapes shall not be less than two feet (2') in width and the sill of the window shall not be more than three feet (3') above the floor. Window openings shall be not less than two feet six inches (2'-6") high in the clear.

(1) Steel casement sash. Steel casement sash opening outward onto any fire-escape balcony three feet six inches (3'-6") in width will be permitted, provided such sash is equipped with approved extension hinges so that, when opened, the sash will be flat against the wall, and further provided that there will be no adjusters on the sash as part of its equipment. Passageway of fourteen inches (14") clear width is required to be maintained between the sash or hinges and any portion of the fire-escape when the sash lies flat against the wall.

When casement sash is set at right angle to the fire-escape stairway a clear radial width of twenty inches (20") must be provided.

(2) Wire screens and storm windows. Wire screens are permitted on a door or window giving access to a fire-escape. Such screens may be of the rolling type, casement or of a type that slides vertically or horizontally in sections, providing that there shall be a clear unobstructed space two feet (2') in width and two feet six inches (2'-6") in height when the screens are opened and further provided that no such screen shall be subdivided with muntins or other dividing or separating bars into spaces less than two feet (2') in width by two feet six inches (2'-6") in height.

Storm sash and storm doors are permitted on openings giving access to fire-escapes provided they are arranged so as to be easily and readily opened from the inside and do not obstruct or interfere with safe egress.

(l) Egress from fire-escape balconies not to be obstructed. Egress from fire-escape balconies must not be obstructed by signs, fixed awnings or any other obstruction.

(m) Extension roofs used as means of egress or directly under fire-escape balcony.

(1) Hereafter erected extension roofs. Where the roof of an extension hereafter erected is to be used as a means of egress from a fire-escape, or where a fire-escape balcony is located directly above said roof, such roof shall be of fireproof constuction.

(2) Existing extension roofs. Except in converted dwellings where sprinklers may be installed, in every multiple dwelling where a fire-escape balcony is situated over and not more than eight feet (8') above a non-fireproof roof, or where a non-fireproof roof of an extension is to be used as egress from fire-escapes, the entire ceiling of said extension must be fire-retarded with metal lath and cement or gypsum mortar in the manner prescribed in §25-171(b)(1) and (i)(1) of these rules and regulations, or with one-half inch (1/2") approved plaster boards lined with No. 26 U.S. gauge stamped metal. In buildings requiring the issuance of a certificate of occupancy as a result of being altered structurally, the only approved method shall be with cement of gypsum mortar and metal lath weighing not less than three (3.0) pounds per square yard which shall be applied directly to the beams or other structural members.

Where the roof of an existing extension is used as fire egress, a balcony shall be provided at the level of the roof and, if the distance between the said balcony and a safe landing is more than sixteen feet (16'-0"), a landing platform must be provided not more than ten feet (10'-0") from said safe landing and this landing platform and the balcony on the roof level must be connected by a regulation stairway. From the landing platform a drop-ladder in guides must be provided so as to reach the safe landing.

A balcony and drop-ladder in guides as per paragraph (11) of subdivision (r) of this section shall be provided for every two fire-escape stacks or fraction thereof using an extension roof for landing and fire egress.

(3) Skylights on extensions. Any existing skylights in said roof must be constructed of incombustible material whenever deemed necessary.

Where skylights exist or are hereafter constructed on the roof of an extension used as a means of egress from a fire-escape, they must not interfere with egress in any way and if in the line of said egress, they must be provided with a substantial guard-rail not less than three feet six inches (3'-6") high.

(n) Egress to street required from fire-escapes located in yards and courts not extending to the street. In an old law tenement or a converted dwelling where fire-escapes are located in a yard less than thirty feet (30'-0") in depth, or in a court which does not extend to such a yard or to the street, there shall be egress to the street by means of a fire-proof passageway. In such multiple dwellings, where the yard is less than thirty feet (30'-0") in depth and where the consent of the owner of the adjoining premises is obtained, in lieu of providing such fire-proof passageway, a door or gate in a lot-line fence leading from such yard or court to the yard or court of the adjoining premises may be accepted, provided, however, that such door or gate provides adequate egress and is not locked or secured in any manner except by a readily-accessible, easy to open hook or bolt.

Where fire-escapes are located in the yard of a new law tenement or of a multiple dwelling erected after April 18, 1929, access shall be provided from the street to the yard either in a direct line or through a court as provided in paragraph c of subdivision 2 of §238 and paragraph i of subdivision 2 of § 27, Multiple Dwelling Law.

Where fire-escapes are located in a court of a new law tenement or of a Multiple dwelling erected after April 18, 1929, and such court does not extend to the street, a fireproof passageway leading directly to the street shall be provided as required by paragraph b of subdivision 2 of §53, Multiple Dwelling Law.

All passageways required under these Rules shall be not less than seven feet (7'-0") in height and not less than three feet (3'-0") in width and shall at all times be kept clear and unobstructed. Doors and gates at the end of such passageways are prohibited, except that a door or gate equipped with an approved-type knob or panic bolt which shall be readily openable from the inside will be permitted at the building line. Doors and gates provided with keylocks or padlocks are prohibited.

(o) Location for new fire-escapes. No required fire-escape shall be permitted to be placed on an adjoining property without the written consent of the Department of Buildings. No fire-escape shall be erected within ten feet (10') of the termination of a duct. Fire-escapes for existing multiple dwellings shall be located as required by the department and arranged so as to provide legal egress for all rooms and apartments.

(1) Fire-escapes in court (side yard). Except as provided in paragraph (6) of subdivision (bb) of this section where an apartment has a street frontage and extends also to a yard, fire-escapes may be permitted to be placed in a court (side yard) if the court (side yard) is not less than seven feet (7'-0") wide. In any multiple dwelling where exterior structural conditions are such as to prevent the erection of a fire-escape on the street or yard, new fire-escapes may be permitted to be erected in a lot-line court (side yard) providing the lot-line court (side yard) extends from street to rear yard and is not less than three feet (3'-0") in width for its full length. Fire-escapes erected in such court may be three feet (3'-0") wide when the width of such court does not permit balconies three feet four inches (3'-4") in width.

The width of stairways and passageways and other arrangement details affected by the permitted reduction in the width of balconies will be determined and furnished to contractor by the Department upon request.

(2) Where an existing apartment in a tenement erected prior to April 12, 1901, is located entirely on a court and has no rooms opening on the street or yard, fire-escapes hereafter provided for such apartments may be located in courts under the same conditions as prescribed for existing fire-escapes in subdivision (d) of this section.

(p) Materials. All fire-escapes hereafter constructed shall consist of outside open balconies and stairways of iron, stone, or other approved materials. Wherever the term wrought iron is used in these rules it shall be deemed to include all other especially approved metals.

Cast iron will not be permitted to enter into the construction of fire-escapes.

The use of old material in the construction of new fire-escapes is prohibited.

Bolts used in the construction or repair of fire-escapes shall be machine bolts. The use of stove bolts is prohibited.

The strength and construction of stone balconies hereafter erected forming part of the fire-escape shall be subject to the approval of the Department of Buildings.

All structural steel used in the construction of fire-escapes shall be at least one-quarter (0.25) inch in thickness.

(q) Types of fire-escapes. There shall be two types of fire-escapes: "Type A" and "Type B". Except for brackets and braces as hereafter described, what is applicable to one type is equally applicable to the other whether or not it is so stated specifically.

(1) Definition of "Type A" and "Type B" fire-escapes.

Type A. "Type A" shall mean fire-escape is one which has a supporting bracket at each end of the balcony or platform.

Type B. "Type B" fire-escape is one which has brackets not more than four feet (4') apart supporting the balcony or platform.

(2) Cantilever brackets will not be accepted for new fire-escapes on existing buildings.

(3) Details of other types of structural supports for fire-escapes must be submitted to and approved by the Department before being used in the construction of fire-escapes.

(4) "Type A" fire-escapes are not permitted on frame buildings, walls or hollow masonry constructions, on walls of solid masonry less than eight inch (8") in thickness nor on hollow walls of solid masonry unless complete construction details are submitted to and approved by the Department before the construction of fire-escapes.

(r) Balconies. All balconies, except those erected upon frame buildings and buildings having eight inch (8") brick walls, shall be not less than three feet four inches (3'-4") in width over all and may project into the public highway to a distance not greater than four feet (4') beyond the building line. Balconies erected upon frame buildings and buildings having eight inch (8") brick walls shall be thirty-six inches (36") in width. Balcony railings must be not less than two feet nine inches (2'-9") high.

(1) Passageway. Seventeen inches (17") in width is required between the strings of stairs and the wall, or between the strings of stairs and railings, clear of all projections to a height of six feet six inches (6'-6").

Fourteen inches (14") clear width is required between the hatchway railing and the window sill.

Seventeen inches (17") in width is required between the gooseneck ladder and the hatchway on the upper balcony.

(2) Openings. The openings for stairways in all balconies shall be not less than twenty-one inches (21") wide, and of such length as to provide at least six feet six inches (6'-6") clear headroom on all stairways at every tread, and shall have no covers of any kind.

A round, iron guard rail, three-quarters inch (3/4") in diameter shall be provided around all hatchways on all new balconies, and also, when necessary, around hatchways on existing balconies. Such guard rails shall be at least two feet six inches (2'-6") high and shall be properly braced at intervals of three feet (3'). The brace from guard rail to the front top rail shall be so arranged to allow six feet six inches (6'-6") of headroom on the stairway.

Openings are not permitted in the floor of the lowest balcony of any new fire-escapes. Egress must be from a gateway in the front or end rail.

(3) Top rails. New top rails must be one and three-quarters inches by one-half inch (1 3/4" x 1/2") wrought iron or steel. Angle iron top rails will not be accepted. Separate bolt ends must be one and one-half inches by one-half inch (1 1/2" x 1/2") at connection with top rails and secured to the same by two three-eighths inch (3/8") bolts well upset.

No welded connections, other than shop welding, for top rails, will be permitted.

Top rails must go through the wall. When the wall is of brick, stone or concrete they must be anchored on the inner face thereof by means of nuts and four-inch by four-inch by three-eighths inch (4" x 4 x 3/8") washers. Where a masonry wall is eight inches (8") in thickness the washers shall be continuous and shall extend vertically from four inches (4") below the bracket anchorage to four inches (4") above the top rail.

Bolt ends must be at least three-quarters inch (3/4") in diameter.

Top rails must be anchored in the wall at least nine inches (9") from the window or door opening.

On recess fire-escapes the top rails need not go through the wall, but must be hot leaded six inches (6") in brick or stone and at least twelve inches (12") from the outside face of the wall.

The front and return top rail, unless in one (1) piece, must be secured at the angle in the following manner: (1) with lap joint, by one-half inch (1/2") rivet and a strap of same dimension as the top rail, with one (1) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivet or bolt in each end of the strap; (2) with butt joint, by a triangular plate four inches by six inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 6" x 3/8") secured to each member of the top rail by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") bolts or rivets.

Where front rails are not rigid they must be braced with outside braces. Said braces must be wrought iron not less than one and three-quarters inches by one-half inch (1 3/4" x 1/2") placed on edge. The braces must be properly spaced and secured to the extended brackets and top rails by three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts. Where brackets are extended to receive outside braces the extended portion must never be less than two inches by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") and secured to the bracket by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts.

Bow braces and overhead braces will not be accepted.

(4) Bottom rails. Bottom rails must be one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8") wrought iron and front rail of same must be secured to brackets three-eighths- inch (3/8") rivets or bolts.

Return bottom rails must be leaded or cemented in the wall when the latter is of brick, or may be secured to the brackets when this is practicable.

The bottom front and return rails must be connected at angles by at least one (1) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivet or bolt well burred.

(5) Standards. Standards must be not less than one-half inch (1/2") round or square set vertically, riveted to the top and bottom rails, not more than six inches (6") apart on centers. Special designs must be submitted for any variation, and approved before work is begun.

(6) Floor slats. Floor slats must be of wrought iron one and one-half inches (1 1/2") in width and three-eighths inch (3/8") thick and placed not more than one and one-quarter inches (1 1/4") apart.

In new balconies floor slats shall not project more than six inches (6"), and in old balconies not more than eighteen inches (18"), beyond the end bracket and shall not be supported by the bottom rail.

All floors must be well secured to the brackets by three-eighths inch (3/8") "U" or clamp bolts.

Floor slats may be spliced with a four-inch (4") splice plate three-eighths inch (3/8") thick, secured by three-eighths inch (3/8") countersunk or roundhead bolts or rivets on each side of the joint.

The ends of the floor slats must not project over stairs so as to overhang the top tread more than one-half inch

(1/2"). The ends of such floor slats shall not be cut or burned off so as to be jagged or uneven. The floor slats shall be in true alignment.

(7) Battens. Battens must be one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8") not more than three feet (3') apart, riveted to the slats by five-sixteenth inch (5/16") rivets and so spaced as to secure rigidity.

No welded connections, other than shop welding, for top rails will be permitted.

Top rail must go through the wall. When the wall is of brick, stone or concrete they must be anchored on the inner face thereof by means of nuts and four-inch by four-inch by three-eighths inch (4" x 4"x 3/8") washers. Where a masonry wall is eight inches (8") in thickness the washers shall be continuous and shall extend vertically from four inches (4") below the bracket anchorage to four inches (4") above the top rail.

Bolt ends must be at least three-quarters inch (3/4") in diameter.

Top rails must be anchored to the wall at least nine inches (9") from the window or door opening.

On recess fire-escapes the top rails need not go through the wall, but must be hot leaded six inches (6") in brick or stone and at least twelve inches (12") from the outside face of the wall.

The front and return top rail, unless in one (1) piece, must be secured at the angle in the following manner: (1) with lap joint, by one-half inch (1/2") rivet and a strap of same dimension as the top rail, with one (1) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivet or bolt in each end of the strap; (2) with butt joint, by a triangular plate four inches by six inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 6" x 3/8") secured to each member of the top rail by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts.

Top rails may be spliced with iron of the same dimensions as the rails with two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts on each side of the splice, or may be overlapped not less than eight inches (8") and secured by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") bolts or rivets.

Where front rails are not rigid they must be braced with outside braces. Said braces must be wrought iron not less than one and three-quarters inches by one-half inch (1 3/4" x 1/2") placed on edge. The braces must be properly spaced and secured to the extended brackets and top rails by three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts. Where brackets are extended to receive outside braces the extended portion must never be less than two inches by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") and secured to the bracket by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets or bolts.

Bow braces and overhead braces will not be accepted.

(8) Landings. Landings at the head and foot of stairs shall be at least forty inches by twenty inches (40" x 20"), except on the balcony on the top story where the gooseneck ladder is located such landing shall be not less than forty inches by thirty inches (40" x 30"). On the lowest balcony where the opening to drop-ladder is in the return rail at front of the lowest tread the landing must be at least forty inches by thirty-six inches (40" x 36").

(9) Egress from lowest balcony. The gateway in the rail must be of sufficient width to permit the proper installation of the drop-ladder and guide-rods.

Where the opening to the drop-ladder is in the return rail and at front of the lowest step, the landing at the foot of the stairs must be at least three feet by three feet, four inches (3' x 3'- 4").

Top rails must be well braced at the gateway.

(10) Distance from lowest balcony to ground. The distance from the lowest balcony to the ground or safe landing shall be not more than sixteen feet (16'-0"), except that in existing multiple dwellings where due to structural conditions, such as plate glass store fronts, etc., it is not possible to erect such lowest balcony within sixteen feet (16'-0") of the ground, the Department of Buildings may permit such balcony to be erected at a height of not more than eighteen feet (18'-0") above the ground.

(11) Termination of fire-escapes on extension roofs. Where fire-escape stairs or ladders rest upon a fireproof roof, no balcony need be provided at the foot of such stairs or ladders.

Where fire-escapes terminate on the roof of an existing extension, a guide-rod drop-ladder shall be provided at the level of the roof of such extension. Where the distance from such roof to a safe landing is more than sixteen feet (16'-0"), an intermediate balcony not more than ten feet (10'-0") above a safe landing shall be provided, and such intermediate balcony shall equipped with a guide-rod and drop-ladder and connected by means of a regulation stairway and balcony at the level of the extension roof.

Balconies, where required, must be anchored and constructed in a manner satisfactory to the Department of Buildings.

The roof of every extension used for egress, or upon which fire-escapes terminate, shall be fireproof or fire-retarded according to the provisions of subdivision (m) of this section of these rules and regulations.

(s) Brackets and braces. (1) "Type A". All horizontal members of brackets and all cross beams shall be not less than four-inch (4") channels weighing not less than seven and one-quarter (7.25) pounds to the linear foot.

The end bracket members shall enter the wall at a point not less than nine inches (9") from a door or window and shall be anchored on the inside face of the wall with an eight inch by eight inch by three-eighths inch (8" x 8" x 3/8") washer and one-inch (1") bolt and nut. Where the wall is eight inches (8") in thickness the washer shall be continuous and shall extend across all brackets and cross beams. The bolt end shall be wrought iron not less than two inches by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") which shall be drawn out to form the necessary bolt end without welded connections. The bolt end shall be secured to the bracket with two (2) one-half inch (1/2") rivets. On eight-inch (8") walls the bolt end shall not be less than nine inches (9") long. On twelve-inch (12") walls the bolt end shall not be less than eleven inches (11") long. On sixteen-inch (16") walls the bolt end shall not be less than fifteen inches (15") long.

When the wall is eight inches (8") in thickness the bracket member shall enter the wall not less than seven inches (7").

When the wall is twelve inches (12") in thickness the bracket member shall enter the wall not less than eleven inches (11").

When the wall is sixteen inches (16") in thickness the bracket member shall enter the wall not less than fifteen inches (15").

The intermediate cross beams shall enter the wall not less than eight inches (8") except where they enter the wall under a window. In such case the cross beam shall enter the wall not less than four inches (4").

The member forming the hatchway opening shall be a four-inch (4") channel iron weighing not less than seven and one-quarter (7.25) pounds per foot. It shall be secured to the intermediate cross beam with a three-inch by three-inch by one-quarter inch (3" x 3" x 1/4") lug and two (2) one-half inch (1/2") rivets or bolts.

The front bottom member of the fire-escape shall be of the following size and weights:

Length of Balcony	Weight of Channels	Size of Channels
Up to 11 feet	9.0 pounds per foot	5 inches
Up to 13 feet	10.5 pounds per foot	6 inches

Up to 15 feet	12.25 pounds per foot	7 inches
Up to 17 feet	13.75 pounds per foot	8 inches

The bracket braces shall be angle iron not less than two and one-half inches by two and one-half inches by one-quarter inch (2 1/2" x 2 1/2"x 1/4"). The braces shall drop not less than twenty-four inches (24") from the top of the bracket and shall extend out to a point not less than three-quarters (3/4) of the length of the bracket.

Each member of the brace shall be secured to the bracket with two (2) one-half inch (1/2") rivets.

The drop member of the brace shall be secured to the extended member with two (2) one-half inch (1/2") rivets.

The heel of the brace shall be cut out one-half inch (1/2") to allow for the drainage of water.

Where, owing to cornices, water-tables and porticos, it is impossible to use the standard brackets, inverted brackets may be used. When inverted brackets are used they shall be constructed with an upright wall member and a diagonal member. The wall member shall be an angle iron not less than three inches by four inches by three-eighths inch (3" x 4"x 3/8") and the diagonal member shall be an angle iron not less than three inches by three inches by three-eighths inch (3" x 3"x 3/8").

Each member shall be secured to the bracket with two (2) one-half inch (1/2") rivets.

The wall members shall be secured to the wall with two (2) one-inch (1") bolts which shall pass through the wall and be anchored on the inside face of the wall with a washer four inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") which shall extend across the two (2) bolts. A one-inch (1") nut shall secure the washer to the bolt. The bolts shall be placed sixteen inches (16") apart on centers. The four-inch (4") member of the wall brace shall bear against the wall and shall extend from the bracket to and above the top return rail of the balcony. The top return rail of the balcony shall be secured to the wall member of the brace with two (2) one-inch (1") rivets or nuts and bolts.

When inverted braced are used the bracket member shall enter the wall not less than four inches (4").

All other portions of "Type A" fire-escapes, except roof balconies, shall be constructed and erected as specified for the construction and erection of "Type B" fire-escapes.

(2) "Type B". The horizontal members of brackets shall consist of a one-piece wrought iron bar two inches by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") set so that the two inch (2") dimension is vertical.

Brackets shall be not more than four feet (4'-0") apart.

Welded brackets will not be accepted.

Angle iron brackets will not be accepted.

The top member of the bracket must be drawn out to form the necessary bolt end without welded connection.

Brackets shall be placed not less than eight inches (8") nor more than sixteen inches (16") below the window sill, except by special permission from this Deparment.

The top member of the bracket must go through the wall, and when the wall is of brick, must be anchored as specified for brackets in new buildings.

Brackets on buildings in course of erection must be built into the wall. They must be carried through the wall and turned down three inches (3"), or the top member must be drawn out so as to form a bolt end one inch (1") in diameter and provided with nuts and with washers four inches by six inches (4" x 6") and three-eighths-inch (3/8") in thickness, or where brackets on existing buildings or buildings in the course of erection pass through the walls under window or door openings, such brackets shall be anchored on the inside face of the wall with a four-inch by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") plate extending across the opening and bearing nine inches (9") on the inner face of each pier. In such case as additional one-half inch (1/2") bolt passing through wall and anchored to plate with one-half inch (1/2") nut shall be provided. If wall is recessed said bar must be shaped so as to bear on inner face of recessed wall and the ends of said bar to bear nine inches (9") on inner face of each pier. In addition a four-inch (4") steel channel stiffener must be provided to extend across the entire recessed portion. Blocking the recessed portion will not be permitted. Where walls are eight inches (8") in thickness the four-inch by three-eighths-inch (4" x 3/8") plate must extend across and take in all brackets.

Special designs must be submitted for fire-escape framing other than standard and for masonry openings not included in above schedule.

Horizontal members of brackets must be braced with one-inch (1") square braces and shall rest on a shoulder. The braces shall be secured to the horizontal member with a rivet one-half inch (1/2") in diameter, at a point two-thirds (2/3) of the length of the horizontal member from the wall. The heel of the brace must be secured to the top member by a rivet of the same size.

The brace when entering the wall must be hot leaded in brick or stone three inches (3") and have a proper bearing on the face of the wall for at least eight inches (8").

If wedges are used to obtain full bearing against the wall, they must be of iron and well secured to the brace and must fill in solidly the space between brace and wall.

Anchorage in or bracing in terra cotta is not permitted.

Braces must drop at least one-third (1/3) of the length of the long brackets and must drop not less than eight inches (8") for short brackets.

Where a bracket is to receive additional weight on account of suspension rod for lower balconies, said bracket must be reinforced by an additional one-inch (1") square bracing running from the end of the bracket parallel to the regulation brace.

Where it is impossible to brace the brackets in the manner described above, angle iron and tie rod supports must be used.

(3) Anchorages for mullion windows, both "Type A" and "Type B".

Masonry Span	Brackets	Anchorage Member
5'-0"	3'-6" Long	6" Channel 10.5 pounds or 6" x 4" x 9/16" Angle
6'-0"	3'-6" Long	7" Channel 9.8 pounds or 6" x 4" x 11/16" Angle
7'-0"	3'-6" Long	8" Channel 11.5 pounds or 7" Channel 12.25 Angle
8'-0"	3'-6" Long	8" Channel 11.5 pounds
9'-0"	3'-6" Long	8" Channel 13.75 pounds
5'-0"	4'-0" Long	8" Channel 11.5 pounds or 6" x 4" x 3/4" Angle
6'-0"	4'-0" Long	8" Channel 11.5 pounds

7'-0"	4'-0" Long	8" Channel 13.75 pounds
8'-0"	4'-0" Long	8" Channel 16.25 pounds
9'-0"	4'-0" Long	8" Channel 21.25 pounds

Notes:

1-Working stresses taken at 16,000 pounds per square inch.

2- Load taken at 100 pounds per sq. ft. and includes live and dead loads.

3- Loads on anchorage members due to bracket reaction placed for maximum bending moment produced in member.

4- Bearing plates of suitable size must be provided for brackets taking ladder load and for anchorage members.

6" x 4" x 9/16" angle weighs 18.1 pounds per lin. ft.

6" x 4" x 11/16" angle weighs 21.8 pounds per lin. ft.

6" x 4" x 3/4" angle weighs 23.6 pounds per lin. ft.

Angle irons to support balconies where regulation braces cannot be used shall not be less than four inches by four inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 4" x 3/8"). Tie rods shall not be less than one inch (1") in diameter and shall be anchored through the wall in the same manner as brackets.

The angle iron support in such cases shall be set so that the tie rods will pull toward the heaviest part of the webs.

When it becomes necessary to shift a bracket from one location to another in order to carry the stairs, a new regulation two inch by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") bracket shall be installed.

No welded brackets, corroded brackets or brackets set flat with cast iron under-bracing will be accepted. Such brackets shall be replaced, wherever found, by a two-inch by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") bar bracket with cast iron under-bracing is found, said bracket may be permitted to remain if proper one inch (1") square under-bracing is provided.

(t) Stairways. All stairways shall be placed at an angle of not more than sixty (60) degrees with flat open steps not less than six inches (6") in width and twenty inches (20") in length and with a rise of not more than nine inches (9").

(1) Treads. Treads of such construction as may be approved by the Department from time to time will be permitted.

Flat iron bars forming treads must be one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8") and spaced not more than three-quarters of an inch (3/4") apart.

Bars forming treads must be secured to supporting angle irons by three-eighths-inch (3/8") rivets and these angle irons must be fastened to the strings by two (2) three-eighths-inch (3/8") rivets or bolts, well burred. Galvanized angle irons one and one-half inches by one and one-half inches by one-quarter inch (1 1/2" x 1 1/2" x 1/4") will be accepted but if not galvanized, said angle irons shall be one and one-half inches by one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 1/2" x 3/8").

In all cases the vertical legs of the angle irons must be set tightly against the strings so that there will be no intervening spaces.

All treads must be set level and must not overhang so as to interfere with foot room on the tread below.

(2) Patented treads. Patented treads approved by the Department of Buildings or previously approved by Board of Standards and Appeals for new installations will be accepted by the Department of Buildings as legal for use in buildings under its jurisdiction. Five samples of approved treads to be furnished to the Department of Buildings (once delivered to each Borough) as a permanent record.

(3) Strings. Where the strings of the stairs are adjacent to the front rails the strings must be securely fastened to the top rails.

Strings must be braced by round bars three-quarters-inch (3/4") in thickness, properly hot-leaded or secured by four inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") expansion bolts in brick or stone wall at a height of not less than six feet six inches (6'-6") in the clear above the floor of the balcony. Strings of stairways shall be four inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") wrought iron and shall rest on a bracket at the bottom and be bolted to a bracket at the top.

Welded strings, other than shop welded, will not be accepted.

(4) Hand rails. Hand rails must be of wrought iron, three-quarters-inch (3/4") round or one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8") bar, well braced with intermediate braces not more than five feet (5'-0") apart, and of the same size and material as the handrail, and secured to the strings with two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets at each end and at each brace; or handrails may be secured to the bottom rail of the upper balcony and top rail of the lower balcony by two (2) three-eighths inch (3/8") rivets at each end.

On all fire-escapes hereafter erected double handrails must be provided for all stairways.

(u) Drop-ladder. A drop-ladder shall be provided from the lowest balcony and be of sufficient length to reach a safe landing place beneath. The drop-ladder shall be fifteen inches (15") in width, shall be placed in guides and shall be not more than sixteen feet (16'-0") in length.

Except in multiple dwellings hereafter erected or converted, where the distance from the lowest balcony to a safe landing place is more than sixteen feet (16'-0") but because of structural conditions, such as plate glass store fronts, etc., a balcony is not possible, the Department may accept a drop-ladder in guides, if the distance from the floor of the lowest balcony to a safe landing place is not more than eighteen feet (18'-0").

No drop-ladder is required where the distance from the lowest balcony to a safe landing place does not exceed five feet (5'-0").

No drop-ladder will be permitted to land or terminate on a stoop or any part thereof unless the written approval of the Department of Buildings is obtained.

(1) Guides. All drop-ladders shall have guides provided with stops so that the ladders cannot be raised above the same. The drop-ladder must be suspended from a point directly over the opening in the rail of the balcony and arranged to slide in the guides so as to drop in position for use. All drop-ladders shall be provided with a shoe at the bottom.

The guides shall be constructed of one and one-half inches by one and one-half inches by one-quarter inch (1 1/2" x 1 1/2" x 1/4") angle iron, and shall be not less than twenty-one inches (21") apart.

(2) Strings. Strings of drop-ladders must be one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8") bar. No welded drop-ladders will be accepted unless shop welded.

(3) Rungs. The rungs must be five-eighths inch (5/8") in thickness, not over twelve inches (12") apart and must be riveted to the strings.

(v) Gooseneck ladder. The top balcony of every fire-escape shall be provided with a stair or with a gooseneck ladder leading from said balcony to and above the roof, except that no such stairs or gooseneck ladders will be required in the following locations or under the following conditions:

(1) On multiple dwellings with peak roofs having a pitch of more than twenty (20) degrees.

(2) Where fire-escapes are located on the fronts or in street courts of multiple dwellings facing upon the street.

Where a multiple dwelling does not face upon the street, such as a multiple dwelling located at the rear of a lot upon which there is another building, every fire-escape on such multiple dwelling shall be provided with a stair or gooseneck ladder as required above, except where the roof of such building has a pitch of more than twenty (20) degrees as stated in exception A above.

Except as provided in paragraph (1) and (2) above, every fire-escape on every hereafter erected or converted multiple dwelling, and every new fire-escape hereafter provided on every existing multiple dwelling, shall be provided with a regulation stairway from the top balcony to the roof when such buildings exceed four (4) stories in height. In such multiple dwellings exceeding four (4) stories in height when due to special structural conditions which would not permit the erection of a stair from the top balcony to the roof or where the height from the top balcony to the roof may be such as to make the installation of a stair impractical, the Department of Buildings may accept a gooseneck ladder in lieu of a regulation stairway.

The top balcony of a fire-escape on every multiple dwelling not exceeding four (4) stories in height may be equipped with a gooseneck ladder.

(i) Construction and location of gooseneck ladders. The gooseneck ladder shall be fifteen inches (15") wide and shall be so located that it will not obstruct egress from the apartment or apartments on the top floor. The effective opening between the side of any window and the string of gooseneck ladder shall be not less than twenty-four inches (24").

The gooseneck ladder must be fourteen inches (14") from the front rail on existing balconies and twenty-one inches (21") on balconies hereafter erected.

(ii) Strings. The gooseneck ladder must be constructed with one piece strings of two inch by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") wrought iron.

Strings must be directly secured to the brackets or secured to a two inch by one-half inch (2" x 1/2") bar bearing on two (2) brackets and well secured to strings and brackets by three-eighths inch (3/8") bolts or rivets.

Strings must spread at the parapet wall or roof to give a passageway of eighteen inches (18").

Strings must be tied through the wall by braces going through the parapet immediately above the roof, or, in the absence of the parapet wall, the said braces must go through the wall immediately below the ceiling of the top floor and be secured by three-quarters-inch (3/4") bolts and four inches by four inches by three-eighths-inch (4" x 4" x 3/8") washers.

The gooseneck ladder strings must extend thirty inches (30") above the roof level. Where there is a parapet, a gateway at the roof level shall be provided.

The strings of the gooseneck ladder must be secured to and braced at the roof.

(iii) Rungs. Rungs shall be of wrought iron five-eighths inch (5/8") thick, spaced not more than twelve inches (12") apart and shall be riveted through the strings.

The top rung of all gooseneck ladders shall be level with the roof.

(w) Painting. Section 53, Multiple Dwelling Law, required new fire-escapes to have two (2) coats of paint. The Department of Buildings will require these two (2) coats to be applied on contrasting colors, the first coat at the shop before erection, and the second coat applied after erection.

Existing fire-escapes shall be repainted whenever deemed necessary, in a manner satisfactory to the Department. Notice shall be given by the owner to the Borough Superintendent prior to the painting of fire-escapes.

(x) Exceptions. Any deviations or exceptions from these rules other than those specifically mentioned herein shall be submitted to the Department of Buildings for approval. Consent and approval shall be in written form and bear the signature of the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, Superintendent or the person designated to sign such consent by the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner or Superintendent.

(y) Fire-escapes on frame buildings. Fire-escapes shall be constructed as for brick or stone buildings with following exceptions, and except also that balconies three feet (3'-0") wide will be acceptable to the Department.

(1) Brackets. Horizontal members of brackets must be one and three-quarters inches by one-half inch (1 3/4" x 1/2") wrought iron set on edge; one inch (1") bolt end through a four inches by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") iron plate, long enough to take in all brackets, secured to and bearing directly on the inside of the studs. Spaces between the studs behind such plates shall be filled in solidly with timber secured to the studs.

The heel of bracket braces must rest against one and three-quarter inches by one and three-quarter inches by one-quarter inch (1 3/4" x 1 3/4" x 1/4") angle iron extended across and well secured to studs.

(2) Top rails. Top rails shall be anchored by three-quarters inch (3/4") bolt ends, through a four inch by three-eighths inch (4" x 3/8") wrought iron plate spanning at least two (2) studs. Space behind plate and between studs shall be blocked solidly.

(3) Bottom rails. Bottom rails shall be secured to the siding in a substantial manner with two (2) one and one-quarter inch (1 1/4") No. 14 wood screws, or may be secured to the brackets where practicable.

(4) Stairways. Stair braces shall be secured to the wall of the building by two (2) No. 14 wood screws.

(z) Outside fireproof stairs. Outside fireproof stairs shall be constructed according to approved plans and applications of the Department of Buildings. Such regulations as govern the measurements of inside stairs shall be applied to outside fireproof stairways except that in multiple dwellings not exceeding three (3) stories and basement in height, a fireproof stairway leading from a front porch roof which is fireproof to the fireproof floor of an unenclosed porch will be deemed an outside fireproof stairway and such stairways may be of the same width as the ordinary fire-escape stairs. Area covered by fireproof outside stairs must not encroach upon the minimum dimensions of yards or courts.

(aa) Fire-towers. Fire-towers shall be constructed according to approved plans and applications filed with the Department of Buildings.

(bb) Egress: hotels and certain other class A and class B dwellings which are subject to the provisions of §67, Multiple Dwelling Law.

(1) Exceptions. Any such multiple dwelling, altered or erected after April fifth, nineteen hundred forty-four, and which is required to conform to the provisions of articles one, two, three, four, five, eight, nine and eleven of Multiple Dwelling Law, shall not be required to conform to the provisions of paragraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4) of subdivision (bb) of this section.

(i) Except in fireproof class A multiple dwellings erected under plans filed after January first, nineteen hundred twenty-five, and which were completed before December thirty-one, nineteen hundred thirty-three, and except as otherwise provided in paragraph (4) of subdivision (bb) of this section, in every such dwelling three (3) or more stories in height there shall be from each story at least two (2) independent means of unobstructed egress located remote from each other and accessible to each room, apartment or suite.

(2) First means of egress. The first means of egress shall be an enclosed stair extending directly to a street, or to a yard, court or passageway affording continuous, safe and unobstructed access to a street, or by an enclosed stair leading to the entrance story, which story shall have direct access to a street. That area of the dwelling immediately above the street level and commonly known as the main floor, where the occupants are registered and the usual business of the dwelling is conducted, shall be considered a part of the entrance story; and a required stair terminating at such main floor or its mezzanine shall be deemed to terminate at the entrance story. An elevator or unenclosed escalator shall never be accepted as a required means of egress.

(3) Second means of egress. The second means of egress shall be by an additional enclosed stair conforming to the provisions of paragraph (2) of subdivision (bb) of this section, a fire-stair, a fire-tower or an outside fire-escape. In a non-fireproof dwelling when it is necessary to pass through a stair enclosure which may or may not be a required means of egress to reach a required means of egress, such stair enclosure and that part of the public hall or corridor leading thereto from a room, apartment or suite, shall be protected by one (1) or more sprinkler heads; in a fireproof dwelling only that part of the hall or corridor leading to such stair enclosure need be so protected.

(4) Required second means of egress-impractical. Where it is impractical in such existing dwellings to provide a second means of egress, the department may order additional alteration to the first means of egress and shafts, stairs and other vertical openings as the department may deem necessary to safeguard the occupants of the dwelling, may require the public hall providing access to the first means of egress to be equipped on each story with one (1) or more automatic sprinkler heads, and, in non-fireproof dwellings may also require automatic sprinkler heads in the stair which serves as the only means of egress.

(5) Public halls and corridors providing access to fire-escapes. Public halls and corridors providing access to fire-escapes, existing and new, are acceptable when a direct and uninterrupted line to travel to the fire-escape is provided.

Public halls and corridors providing access to fire-escapes shall be fire-retarded or shall be equipped with automatic sprinkler heads. The fire-retarding and sprinkler installation shall be in conformity with the rules and regulations of this Department and as required by subdivision 3 of §67 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

All openings which provide direct access to an existing fire-escape from a public hall or corridor shall be equipped with fireproof doors and assemblies with the doors self-closing or fireproof windows glazed with clear wire glass. Access to new fire-escapes from such halls or corridors shall be by means of fireproof doors and assemblies with doors self-closing. Doors providing access to fire-escapes from public halls or corridors may be glazed with clear wire glass.

(6) Fire-escapes-existing and new. Existing fire-escapes which are structurally strong and in good repair, having connecting stairways set at an angle or not more than sixty-five (65) degrees, may be accepted as a secondary means of egress.

Except as otherwise required herein, new and existing fire-escapes shall be provided with a safe landing and the termination shall lead directly to a street or to a passageway which provides access to a street.

When it is impractical to provide a termination for fire-escapes as specified in these rules, the Department may accept a termination from such fire-escapes which leads to safety.

(7) Supplementary means of egress. A stair, fire-stair, fire-tower, or fire-escape which is supplementary to the egress requirements of paragraphs (2), (3) and (4) of subdivision (bb) of this section, need not lead to the entrance story or to a street, or to a yard or a court which leads to a street, provided the means of egress therefrom is approved by the department.

Fire-escapes which are supplementary to the required second means of egress, including fire-escapes of the inclined ladder and vertical ladder types, may remain on the dwelling if maintained in good order and repair, are structurally strong and safe and are provided with safe landing and the termination thereof leads to safety in a manner satisfactory to this Department.

(8) Signs-supplementary means of egress. Supplementary stairs, fire-stairs, fire-towers or fire-escapes which do not lead to the entrance story or to a street, or to a yard or court leading to a street, shall be clearly marked "NOT AN EXIT" in black letters at least four inches (4") high on a yellow background and at the termination of each such stair, fire-stair, fire-tower or fire-escape, there shall be a directional sign indicating the nearest means of egress leading to a street. All signs shall be constructed, located and illuminated in a manner satisfactory to the department.

(9) Signs-general provisions. Every means of egress shall be indicated by a sign reading "EXIT" in red letters at least eight inches (8") high on a white background, or vice versa, illuminated at all times during the day and night by a red light of at least twenty-five (25) watts or equivalent illumination. Such light shall be maintained in a keyless socket. On all stories where doors, openings or passageways giving access to any means of egress are not visible from all portions of such stories, directional signs shall be maintained in conspicuous locations, indicating in red on a white background, or vice versa, the direction of travel to the nearest means of egress. At least one sign shall be visible from the doorway of each room or suite of rooms. Existing signs and illumination may be accepted if, in the opinion of the department, such existing signs and illumination serve the intent and purpose of this subdivision.

(10) Stairs, fire-stairs and fire-towers. Stairs, fire-stairs and fire-towers hereafter provided shall be constructed according to plans and applications approved by the Department of Buildings.

(cc) Egress: lodging houses. (1) Arrangement. There shall be at least two (2) means of unobstructed egress from each lodging-house story, which shall be remote from each other. The first means of egress shall be to a street either directly or by an enclosed stair having unobstructed direct access thereto. If the story is above the entrance story, the second means of egress shall be by an outside fire-escape constructed in accordance with the provisions of section fifty-three, Multiple Dwelling Law, or by an additional enclosed stair. Such second means of egress shall be accessible without passing through the first means of egress.

(2) Doors and windows. All doors opening upon entrance halls, stair halls, other public halls or stairs, or elevator, dumbwaiter or other shafts, and the door assemblies, shall be fireproof with the doors made self-closing by a device approved by the department, and such doors shall not be held open by any device whatever. All openings on the course of a fire-escape shall be provided with such doors and assemblies or with fireproof windows and assemblies, with the windows self-closing and glazed with wire glass, such doors or windows and their assemblies to be acceptable to the department.

(3) Aisles. There shall be unobstructed aisles providing access to all required means of egress in all dormitories. Main aisles, approved as such by the department to provide adequate approaches to the required means of egress, shall be three feet (3'-0") or more in width, except that no aisles need be more than two feet six inches (2'-6") wide if it it is intersected at intervals of not more than fifty feet (50'-0") by cross-over aisles at least three feet (3'-0") wide leading to other aisles or to an approved means of egress.

(4) Signs. Every required means of egress from the lodging-house part of the dwelling shall be indicated by a sign reading "EXIT" in red letters at least eight inches (8") high on a white background illuminated at all times during the day and night by a light of at least twenty-five (25) watts or equivalent illumination. Such light shall be maintained in a keyless socket. On all lodging-house stories where doors, openings, passageways or aisles are not visible from all portions of such stories, and in other parts of the dwelling which may be used in entering or leaving the lodging-house part and in which a similar need exists, signs with easily readable letters at least eight inches (8") in height, and continuously and sufficiently illuminated by artificial light at all times when the natural light is not sufficient to make them easily readable, shall be maintained in conspicuous locations, indicating the direction of travel to the nearest means of egress. At least one (1) such sign shall be easily visible from the doorway of each cubicle.

(5) Roof egress. Access from the public hall at the top story to the roof shall be provided by means of a bulkhead or a scuttle acceptable to the department. Every such scuttle and the stair or ladder leading thereto shall be located within the stair enclosure.

(6) Persons accommodated. The number of persons accommodated on any story in a lodging-house shall not be greater than the sum of the following components:

(i) Twenty-two (22) persons for each full multiple of twenty-two inches (22") in the smallest clear width of each means of egress approved by the department, other than a fire-escape.

(ii) Twenty persons (20) for each lawful fire-escape accessible from such story if it is above the entrance story.

(7) In view of the fact that §66, subdivision 3 (formerly §13, subdivision m), Multiple Dwelling Law, required lodging-houses to be sprinklered throughout, including public halls, the Department will accept existing double-rung ladder type fire-escapes on the condition that such fire-escapes are maintained in a good state of repair.

(dd) Ladders leading to roof scuttles. Ladders to roof scuttles as required under the provisions of§§187 and 233 of the Multiple Dwelling Law, shall be of incombustible material, not less than fifteen inches (15") wide, with strings not less than one and one-half inches by three-eighths inch (1 1/2" x 3/8"), with five-eighths inch (5/8") rungs not more than twelve inches (12") apart. Strings of such ladders shall be secured at top and bottom and ladder must be so arranged as to permit sufficient toe hold.

SUBCHAPTER R COLLECTION, RETENTION AND DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE, RUBBISH AND REFUSE IN MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§25-201 Collection, Retention and Disposal of Garbage, Rubbish and Refuse in Multiple Dwellings.

(a) The owner, lessee or person in charge of every multiple dwelling shall keep upon the premises sufficient, proper and separate metal receptacles for the deposit of garbage, rubbish and other waste materials of such capacity and construction as provided for in these rules.

(1) Where dumbwaiter service is provided all garbage, rubbish, refuse and other waste matter in the building shall be collected at least once daily and deposited in separate metal receptacles. These receptacles shall be provided with tight fitting covers and shall be located in the cellar, basement or other lowest story except when placed outside the building for regular collection by the Department of Sanitation. Such receptacles shall always be kept covered with tight fitting covers. They shall be regularly disinfected and kept in a clean sanitary condition.

(b) Where no dumbwaiter service is maintained the following regulations shall apply: (1) Between the hours of 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. or between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at least two metal receptacles of such capacities as are provided for in these rules shall be placed within the building so as to be accessible to every occupant therein. Such receptacles shall not be placed so as to obstruct egress or create a nuisance. The owner shall notify all tenants concerning location of receptacles and hours of collection.

(i) Occupants of the respective floors shall deposit all garbage, rubbish and refuse only in the receptacles referred to in the foregoing rule, and during the hours indicated therein. Throwing garbage or other waste matter out of windows or depositing same in any place other than in receptacles provided for in these rules is forbidden.

(ii) The receptacles referred to in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of this section shall be promptly removed from their locations upon the expiration of the period indicated and taken to the cellar, basement or other lowest story and there disposed of in accordance with paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of this section.

(iii) All receptacles referred to in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of this section shall be provided with tight fitting covers and shall be maintained in a sanitary condition as provided in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of this section. Capacity of receptacles shall be based upon an allowance of at least one receptacle of a two cubic foot content for every five living rooms.

(iv) Newspapers, periodicals, magazines, paper bags, or similar waste paper shall first be tightly wrapped in small bundles and then placed for collection at the location and during the hours indicated in paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of this section. Throwing loose paper into public halls, shafts, courts or yards is prohibited.

(c) In lieu of complying with the foregoing rules, §25-201(b)(1) to §25-201(b)(iv), inclusive, an owner, lessee or other person in charge of the building may elect to call at each apartment or room at least once daily and collect such garbage, rubbish or refuse for deposit in receptacles referred to in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of this section.

(d) The provisions of these rules shall not apply to any multiple dwelling where regular incinerator services are provided and maintained.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 25 MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

SUBCHAPTER S CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF REFUSE CHUTES AND REFUSE ROOMS

§25-211 Construction and Maintenance of Refuse Chutes and Refuse Rooms.

(a) Refuse chute enclosures. Refuse chutes used for conveyance of garbage and rubbish from upper floors of a building to a cellar or other location shall be constructed with an enclosure of brick masonry at least eight inches in thickness or of reinforced concrete at least six inches in thickness, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(b) Height and service openings. Refuse chutes shall extend from the refuse collection room to a height of at least six feet above the roof. Service openings into the chute shall be equipped with approved self-closing hoppers so constructed that the chute is closed off while the hopper is being loaded and so that no part will project into the chute. The area of the service opening shall not exceed one third the are of the chute. Hopper doors shall have a fire resistive rating of at least one hour, unless separated from the corridor by a fireproof, self-closing door in which case they shall be constructed of incombustible material.

(c) Existing flues and refuse chutes. Flues for existing incinerators may be used for refuse chutes provided such flues are in good condition and provided the flues comply with the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section. Existing refuse chutes may be continued in use provided they conform to the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, except that existing refuse chutes of other construction, which have been approved by the department may be retained.

(d) Refuse chutes in new construction. Where refuse compacting systems are required hereafter in new construction, refuse chutes shall be required for conveyance of garbage and rubbish to refuse collection rooms, except that refuse chutes will not be required in class A multiple dwellings which are four stories or less in height. Refuse chutes erected hereafter in new construction shall be of a type approved by the board or shall comply with the requirements of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section. Chutes shall be constructed straight and plumb, without projections of any kind within the chute. Refuse chutes shall have an inside dimension of at least twenty-four inches for the full height of the chute. All chutes shall be supported on fireproof construction having at least a three hour fire resistive rating.

(e) Refuse collection rooms. A refuse collection room shall be provided at the bottom of all chutes at the cellar or lowest story level to receive the refuse. Such rooms shall be enclosed with walls and roofs constructed of material having a minimum fire resistive rating of three hours, except that gypsum masonry may not be used for such enclosure walls. Openings to such rooms shall be provided with fireproof, self-closing doors having a minimum fire resistive rating of one and one-half hours. It shall be unlawful to keep such doors open. Refuse chutes shall extend to the underside of the roof of the refuse room or lower. Roofs shall be at least six inches away from combustible floor or wall construction. Refuse rooms shall be used only for receipt of refuse and for refuse compacting equipment. Refuse rooms shall be provided with sufficient sprinklers to sprinkle all parts of the room, with at least two sprinkler heads provided and with sprinklers so separated as to sprinkle a maximum area of the room when one of the sprinklers is blocked or not operating. A hose connection shall be provided with the refuse room. Existing refuse rooms and incinerator rooms that have been approved by the department for such use may be retained as approved.

(f) Collection room floors. The floor within the room for the collection of refuse shall be constructed of concrete and shall be sloped to a floor drain within the room connected to the house drain. The drain shall be provided with a protective screen to retain solid material. Floor drain traps shall be readily accessible for cleaning.

(g) Use of existing combustion chambers. Existing incinerator combustion chambers may be used in whole or in part as refuse collecting rooms for collection of refuse and for compacting equipment provided the grates are removed and provided they comply with the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section.

(h) Sprinkler operation and water supply. Sprinklers shall be designed to operate automatically at a temperature not exceeding one hundred sixty-five degrees Fahrenheit. They may be electrically controlled provided such sprinklers are approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals. Sprinklers may be connected to the cold water supply of the building at the point where such service enters the building or at the base of a water supply riser provided the piping of such service or riser is of adequate size. No connections, except those for sprinklers, shall be made to the sprinkler piping.

(i) Hoppers, cut off door and compactors. A hopper and cut off door shall be provided at the bottom of the refuse chute to regulate and guide the flow of refuse into containers. Where compactors are installed so that the refuse flows directly into the compacting equipment, the equipment may be used in place of the hopper and cut off door. Compacting equipment shall be arranged to operate automatically when the level of rubbish is not higher than three feet below the lowest door.

Compactors shall be located entirely within the enclosure of the refuse room and former combustion chamber where the latter is retained, except that motors, pumps and controls may be installed in adjacent rooms.

(j) Number of sprinkler heads. Sufficient sprinklers shall be installed in the refuse room and former combustion chamber to provide sprinkler coverage for the entire area of each unit.

(k) Lighting. Adequate lighting shall be provided in refuse rooms.

(l) Maintenance. Refuse chutes, refuse rooms, hoppers and all parts of the refuse collecting system shall be maintained in a clean and sanitary condition at all times, free of vermin, odors and defects, and shall be maintained in good operating condition. Fused sprinkler heads shall be replaced promptly.

(m) Pest control. The owner shall establish a program to ensure that the refuse chute and the refuse room and appurtenances will be treated as often as may be necessary to prevent infestation with insects and rodents. The owner shall maintain a record of such treatments which shall be available at all times for the inspection by the department.

(n) These rules shall apply only to refuse chutes in new construction and to refuse chutes resulting from the conversion of existing incinerator flues and to existing refuse chutes.

(o) Collection and disposal of refuse within premises. The collection and disposal of refuse within any building or on any premises shall be performed as deemed necessary to provide for the safety, health and well being of the occupants of buildings and of the public. The construction, operation, maintenance, cleanliness and sanitation of refuse chutes and refuse rooms and extermination treatment for insects and rodents, and the keeping of records of such treatments for refuse chutes and refuse rooms shall be in accordance with regulations established by this department in consultation with the department of health.

SUBCHAPTER T OBSTRUCTION OF FIRE EXITS IN MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§25-221 Obstruction of Exits Used as Means of Egress in Case of Fire in Various Multiple Dwellings.

(a) In every multiple dwelling, public halls, stairs, corridors and passageways and every part thereof used as means of egress shall be kept free and clear of encumbrances at all times in order that free, safe and unobstructed egress to the outside of the building may be maintained during all hours of the day and night.

(b) Passageways required by the Multiple Dwelling Law which provide egress from yards and courts shall, at all times, be kept clear and unobstructed. Doors and gates at the ends of such passageways are prohibited except that a door or gate equipped with an approved type knob or panic bolt protected by a steel plate and readily openable from the inside may be permitted at the building line. Doors and gates provided with key locks are prohibited. Windows on grade level at sidewalk, yard or court or at roof level of an adjoining building may have bars, but at least one window in any apartment or suite of rooms shall be without bars or obstructions of any kind in order to afford a second means of egress.

SUBCHAPTER V POSTING OF CERTIFICATE OF INSPECTION VISITS IN MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§25-241 Posting of Certificate of Inspection Visits in Multiple Dwellings.

(a) In multiple dwellings consisting of more than six families or whenever a certificate of inspection visits is posted, a certificate frame shall be provided inside the building in a conspicuous place within view of the place at which mail is delivered to the building and in a place readily accessible for signature by Office of Code Enforcement inspectors.

(b) The bottom of the certificate frame shall be not less than 48 nor more than 62 inches above the floor.

(c) The frame shall be constructed of corrosion-resistant metal or durable, impact and flame-resistant plastic.

(d) The certificate frame shall be of a size to accommodate properly a standard 6 x 9 certificate.

(e) The certificate frame shall be faced with plastic or other transparent lacing but not glass, adequate to permit the certificate of inspection visits to be read without difficulty.

(f) The frame shall be of tamperproof construction and shall be provided with a six thirty-two (6-32) "Allen Set Screw" located in the center of the top part of the frame to permit removal of the transparent facing and the inspection certificate for inspector's endorsement.

(g) Any replacement of certificate frames shall comply with all requirements specified herein.

(h) Sufficient lighting shall be provided to make the certificate of inspection visits legible at all times.

(i) The owner has a continuing duty to maintain complete and correct information on the certificate of inspection as the premises' address, registration number, name and address of owner or managing agent registered with the Office of Code Enforcement, and a telephone number which tenants may call for service and repairs.

(j) Where the certificate of inspection visits is destroyed or defaced, the owner shall notify the registration unit of the borough Code Enforcement Office requesting a replacement within five days by certified mail, return receipt requested, or in person on the form prescribed by the Department.

SUBCHAPTER W SEALING AND PROTECTION OF VACANT AND UNGUARDED BUILDINGS

§25-251 Sealing and Protection of Vacant and Unguarded Buildings.

(a) Where buildings are vacant, unguarded, open to unauthorized entry and are required to be sealed by the provisions of an unsafe building order, they shall be sealed and protected in the following manner:

(1) Buildings with exterior walls constructed of brick or other masonry.

(i) All exterior openings including door openings, in the cellar, in the story at street level, in the second story above street level, on the course of a fire escape, or which are less than 12 feet measured horizontally from an opening in an adjoining building, shall be sealed with concrete block. One door opening, readily visible from the street, may, at the discretion of the owner, be sealed with a door. The door shall be of solid wood covered with 26 gauge metal or constructed of 1-inch by 6-inch tongue and groove boards with cross and diagonal battens of 1-inch boards and covered on the outside with 26 U.S. gauge galvanized steel with edging turned over and nailed with flat heads galvanized nails. The door shall be hung in such a manner that no screws are exposed on the outside of the door on either the hinges or the hasps. Hinges shall not have removable hinge pins. Two hasps and locks shall be provided, located so as to divide the height of the door in equal sections.

(ii) Concrete block shall conform to the provisions of Reference Standard RS-10 of the Administrative Code.

(iii) All door and window frames shall be removed before concrete blocks are installed. Brickwork which new concrete blocks will abut, shall be cleaned and thoroughly wetted before blocks are installed.

(iv) Doors and windows, not exceeding 6 feet in width, shall be sealed with concrete block at least 4 inches in thickness. Openings exceeding 6 feet in width shall be sealed with concrete blocks at least 8 inches in thickness.

(v) Concrete blocks shall be laid in masonry cement mortar with a mix of not more than three parts of sand for each part of masonry cement by volume. Joints in masonry shall be broken. Masonry cement shall conform to the provisions of Reference Standard RS-10. Joints on the exterior faces shall be struck and shall be provided with a smooth finish.

(vi) Openings in masonry walls, which are not required to be enclosed with concrete block in accordance with subparagraph (i) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, shall be sealed with boards covered by sheet metal in the manner specified in paragraph (4) of this subdivision.

(2) Buildings with exterior walls constructed of material other than masonry.

(i) All exterior openings in walls of buildings which do not have walls constructed of masonry, shall be sealed with boards covered by sheet metal in the manner specified in paragraph (a)(4) of this subdivision.

(3) Openings in roofs shall be sealed as follows:

(i) Roof bulkheads, skylights, ventilating equipment and similar structures shall be completely removed. Openings remaining after removal of structures shall be sealed with 1-inch tongue and groove boards, not less than 6 inches in nominal width, laid on 3-inch by 6-inch joists, not more than 16 inches on center. Joists shall be secured to the roof timbers framed about the openings in a sound and secure manner. Boards shall be covered with roofing to provide a watertight durable cover.

(4) Sealing of openings by boards covered with sheet metal, where permitted under subparagraph (vi) of paragraph (l) in masonry walls and under subparagraph (i) of paragraph (4) in walls of material other than masonry, shall be done in the following manner:

(i) Boards shall be 1-inch by 6-inch cut to a length to fit the height and width of the wall opening, with a cross and diagonal battens of l-inch boards, on the inside, or shall be exterior grade plywood, at least 5/8 inches in thickness, cut to fit the wall opening on the inner side of the window frame.

(ii) Outside or exposed surfaces of the boards or plywood shall be covered with No. 26 U.S. gauge galvanized steel, with edging turned over and nailed with flat head galvanized nails.

(iii) Boards shall be nailed to the sides, top and bottom of the window frame with 16-penny, 3 1/2-inch nails, where the window frame is in good, firm condition. Where the window frame is loose or defective, the boards shall be securely fastened to the brick wall.

(5) Utilities and service lines. All gas, electric, water, steam and other service lines to the building except sewer lines shall be disconnected and certifications to that effect by the respective utility companies or city agencies having jurisdiction shall be filed with the department.

(6) Prior to the completion of required sealing of exterior openings as detailed pursuant to paragraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4), above, all combustible debris, rubbish, abandoned furniture or materials capable of supporting combustion shall be removed from the premises.

CHAPTER 26 COMMERCIAL RENT RESTRUCTURING

§26-01 Definitions.

Appeals Committee. "Appeals Committee" shall mean the Commercial Rent Appeals Committee established pursuant to these rules.

City-owned building. "City-owned building" shall mean any building owned by the City of New York and assigned to HPD for management.

Committee. "Committee" shall mean the Commercial Rent Committee established pursuant to these rules.

Cost of Operation. "Cost of Operation" shall mean the amount, as determined by HPD, from time to time, that represents HPD's cost of maintenance of such units and making them available for commercial use.

DPM. "DPM" shall mean the Division of Property Management of the Office of Property Management of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

DRO. "DRO" shall mean the Division of Relocation Operations of the Office of Property Management of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

Fair Market Rent (FMR). "Fair Market Rent" ("FMR") shall mean the rent that would be paid for the commercial unit, in a bona fide arms length transaction, at the highest and best use of the commercial unit, but in no event shall fair market rent be less than the cost of operation or the current rent.

Governmental Tenant. "Governmental Tenant" shall mean a tenant who is a Community Board, Municipal Hospital Advisory Board, Mayoral governmental agency, city professional employee association, or any board, commission, or advisory body established by the City Charter, or Executive Order of the Mayor.

Qualified Not-For-Profit Organization. "Qualified Not-For-Profit Organization" shall mean an organization:

(1) that has tax exempt status under §501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, the New York State Non-For-Profit Corporation Law, or local laws governing real estate tax exemption eligibility; and

(2) that is in good standing with all governmental funding and oversight agencies; and

(3) whose activities provide a service to a substantial segment of the public at large, at nominal cost, and not for the exclusive use of members of the organization; and

(4) whose membership in the organization, and access to its services are not restricted by unrelated or discriminatory criteria, including but not limited to race, sex, ethnicity, political affiliation or sexual orientation; and

(5) that provides on-going programs which fully utilize the city property for non-profit purposes; and

(6) that utilizes the property for non-profit purposes exclusively, without subleasing to for-profit uses.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean these rules.

Sale of the Business Occupying a Commercial Unit. "Sale of the Business Occupying a Commercial Unit" shall occur when a substantial portion of the assets, shares of stocks, partnership interest or other significant indicia of ownership or control passes from the existing tenant, or any principal of the existing tenant, to any other person or entity.

Tenant. "Tenant" shall mean authorized commercial tenant of record. Occupants such as squatters and licensees are not tenants of record.

§26-02 General.

The Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York (HPD) is responsible for managing, rehabilitating, and disposing of buildings owned by the City of New York that were acquired through tax foreclosure and other means. HPD recognizes that it has not increased rents to commercial tenants on a regular basis and the result is that some businesses pay less to HPD than the cost of similar space leased by competing businesses, thus providing such commercial tenants an unfair competitive benefit.

§27-02 Specifications For Paper Bags Used For Containing Uncompacted Refuse and Incinerator Residue.

(a) Substance: Paper bags shall be fabricated from wet-strength*2 kraft paper, wholly extensible or wholly non-extensible or equivalent.

(b) Strength: The non-extensible paper used to construct single-ply or multi-ply bags must have a nominal basis weight of 100 pounds per 500 sheets, each 24 inches by 36 inches, and a minimum basis weight of 95 pounds per 500 sheets, each 24 inches by 36 inches.

The extensible or equivalent paper used to construct single-ply or multi-ply bags must have a nominal basis weight of 90 pounds per 500 sheets, each 24 inches by 36 inches, and a minimum basis weight of 85.5 pounds per 500 sheets, each 24 inches by 36 inches.

Minimum tensile energy absorptions for dry and wet extensible or equivalent paper used in single and multi-ply bags are set forth in Table I.

Table I

Minimum Tensile Energy Absorption-Extensible

	Dry	Wet
Cross Direction of Paper (Single-ply or Multi-ply)	9.3 ft. lb./sq. ft.	2.7 ft.lb./sq. ft.
Cross Direction Plus Machine Direction of Paper (Single-plyor Multi-ply)	30.8 ft. lb./sq. ft.	Not specified

Table II

Minimum Tensile Breaking Strengths-Non-Extensible

	Dry	Wet
Cross Direction of Paper (Single-ply or Multi-ply)	34.0 lbs./in. width	9.0 lbs./in. width
Cross Direction Plus Machine Direction of Paper (Single-plyor Multi-ply)	95.0 lbs./in. width	Not specified

The method of testing for nominal and minimum basis weight shall be the Tappi Standard Method T-410 which shall be conducted in accordance with Section 4 of Federal Specification UU-S-48-E. Tensile breaking strength and tensile energy absorption tests shall be performed according to Tappi Standard Methods T-404, T-456, and T-494.

Wet tensile breaking strength and tensile energy absorption are to be determined by using one inch width specimens that have been immersed in water for two hours at 73 degrees Fahrenheit 3.5 degrees Fahrenheit.

(c) Adhesives: Any Adhesive used for seams and closures must meet the water resistant requirements for Federal Specification UU-S-48E.

(d) Any tape used on sewn ends of bags shall be 2 1/8 inches wide (1/8 inch minus tolerance unlimited plus tolerance) and shall be made from kraft paper having a nominal basis weight of not less than 70 pounds per 500 sheets each 24 inches by 36 inches.

(e) Thread: The strength of any stitching on the ends of sewn bags shall be not less than that of 12/5 cotton needle and 12/4 cotton looper thread or equivalent.

(f) Capacity: The usable capacity of bags shall not exceed four cubic feet. Measurement of capacity will be determined by the application of the following formula, applying the prescribed measurements of the unfilled bag.

Cubic Foot Capacity = [T-0.4 (FG)] [(FG)]

Where: T = Inside Tube Tube Length of Bag (in inches) Where: F = Inside Face Width of Bag (in inches) Where: G = Inside Gusset Width of Bag (in inches)

No restrictions are made on bag dimensions provided that they do not deviate from the prescribed dimensions by more than the following tolerances:

Width: ±3/16 inch

Bottom: ±3/16 inch

Length: ±1/4 inch

(g) Labeling: On and after January 1, 1971, but prior to April 1, 1971, all bag packaging shall be labeled with an approved logo imprinted or pasted onto the principal panel of all such packaging. On or after April 1, 1971, each bag and all bag packaging shall be labeled with an approved logo marked and imprinted visibly, respectively, along the center of the face of such bag and on the principal display panel of all bag packaging. Such logo shall not be less than one square inch in size. Display of such logo on bags and all bag packaging shall be deemed the manufacturer's certification that such bags and all bags contained in such packages conform to these specifications and testing procedures.

Each bag and all bag packaging shall have marked thereon the name and address of the principal place of business of the manufacturer or distributor of the same and a code identifying the date and location of bag manufacture.

Each bag and retail package of bags shall be prominently marked with the words, "NOT LAWFUL FOR COMPACTED WASTE IN NEW YORK CITY", in block letters not less than 1/4 inch high.

(b) Film Strength: The film used to fabricate plastic bags shall have a dart impact strength at folds and seals not less than 40 grams per 1.0 mil when tested in accordance with ASTM D-1709, Method A.

(c) Film Thickness: The gauge of the film used to fabricate plastic bags shall have an average of no less than 1.5 mils with a point-to-point variation not exceeding ± 20 percent.

(d) Film Flammability: The film used to construct plastic bags shall be capable of incineration under normal municipal incinerator practices.

(e) Bag Dimensions: From inside or seals, plastic bags shall have a minimum inside circumference of 40 inches and a minimum inside length of 22 inches and a maximum inside circumference of 60 1/2 inches and a maximum length of 37 1/2 inches.

(f) Heat Seal Strength: Any heat seal shall withstand a ten-minute tensile loading of 1 lb./inch of seal without failure in accordance with ASTM F-88-68.*3

(g) Slip Coefficient: Plastic bags shall be readily opened by hand and shall have a slip coefficient between 0.1 and 0.25 when tested in accordance with ASTM D-1894.

(h) Closures: Each package of plastic bags shall contain a number of tie closures (at least five inches in length) equal to the number of bags.

(i) Drop Resistance: Plastic bags shall be capable of withstanding a drop of five feet onto smooth concrete when filled with a material having weight density of twenty pounds, per cubic foot, and when securely closed with a twist tie and when tested in accordance with the National Sanitation Foundation test method.4

(j) Labeling: On and after January 1, 1971, but prior to April 1, 1971, all bag packaging shall be labeled with an approved logo imprinted or pasted onto the principal panel of all such packaging. On or after April 1, 1971, each bag and all bag packaging shall be labeled with an approved logo marked and imprinted visibly, respectively, along the center of the face of such bag and on the principal display panel of all bag packaging. Such logo shall not be less than one square inch in size. Display of such logo on bags and all bag packaging shall be deemed the manufacturer's certification that such bags and all bags contained in such packages conform to these specifications and testing procedures.

Each bag and all bag packaging shall have marked thereon the name and address of the principal place of business of the manufacturer or distributor of the same and a code identifying the date and location of bag manufacture.

Each bag and retail package of bags shall be prominently marked with the words, "NOT LAWFUL FOR COMPACTED WASTE IN NEW YORK CITY", in block letters not less than 1/4 inch high.

(k) Plastic bags larger than the sizes specified in subdivision (e) above shall have an average of no less than 3.0 mils gauge with a point-to-point variation not exceeding 20 percent and shall not exceed an inside circumference of 66 inches and an inside length of 48 inches. The bags exclusive of packaging and ties shall have a minimum weight of 210 pounds per 1,000 bags.

(l) Bag opacity: Plastic refuse bags shall be of high opacity with a minimum reading of 65 percent as determined by a hazemeter or recording spectrophotometer when tested in accordance with ASTM D-1003.

CHAPTER 27 TRIPARTITE GENERAL ORDERS*1

SUBCHAPTER A TRIPARTITE GENERAL ORDER NO. 1: APPROVAL OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR PAPER BAGS USED FOR CONTAINING UNCOMPACTED REFUSE AND INCINERATOR RESIDUE; APPROVAL OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR PLASTIC BAGS USED FOR CONTAINING UNCOMPACTED REFUSE; AND APPROVAL OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR CONTAINERS USED FOR CONTAINING COMPACTED REFUSE

§27-04 Specifications for Containers Used for Containing Compacted Refuse.

(a) As used herein the term "container" shall mean any container used for the storage of compacted refuse, including, but not limited to any such bag, sack, box, bin, barrel, tub, or tube.

(b) Containers shall have been evaluated and approved by the Department of Sanitation pursuant to the performance standards and specifications of the Department for the approval of refuse compactor systems. The manufacturer or distributor of such containers shall submit a certification with his request for container approval listing detailed specifications of such containers attesting to the container's compliance with the performance standards and specifications of the Department and setting out any conditions relevant to the use of such container, including a list of compactor systems with which the container is compatible. Such performance standards shall include without limitation the following:

(1) Containers shall be capable of containing refuse with an output density range of from 450 pounds to 700 pounds per cubic yard (16.7 pounds to 25.9 pounds per cubic foot) unless specific approval of an alternate capability is made by the Department of Sanitation.

(2) Containers shall during filling in the course of evaluation not allow tears or punctures in excess of one (1) inch in more than ten (10) percent of observed samples, and shall during handling in the course of evaluation not allow tears or punctures in excess of one (1) inch in more that ten (10) percent of samples.

(3) Containers shall not allow their contents to spill from tears or punctures.

(4) Returnable containers shall be capable of easily discharging their contents by gravity.

(5) Containers shall be of unit construction when supplied to users and shall not require additional components to be considered ready for use, unless specific exception to this requirement is given by the Department of Sanitation pursuant to §27-04(b) above.

(c) Containers shall not exceed four (4) cubic feet in capacity unless specific approval of a larger capacity is made by the Department of Sanitation pursuant to §27-04(b) above.

(d) Containers shall be free of jagged or sharp edges.

(e) Containers shall be of high opacity and not transparent.

(f) Labeling: On or after January 1, 1974, each approved disposable container or sealable separate section shall be marked with an approved logo along the center of its widest side and the applicable identifying model number registered with the Department of Sanitation. If enclosed in an outer wrapping, said wrapping shall be similarly marked. Such logo shall be no less than 1 percent of the area on which it is marked, but not be less than one square inch in size. Display of such logo on disposable containers and wrappings or sealable separate sections shall be deemed the manufacturer's or distributor's certification that such disposable containers and wrappings or sealable separate sections conform in detail to the specifications of the prototypes evaluated and approved by the Department of Sanitation and to the specification set forth in the certification submitted pursuant to §27-04(b) above.

Each disposable container and wrapping or sealable separate section shall have marked thereon the name and address of the principal place of business of the manufacturer or distributor of the same and a code identifying the date and location of container manufacture.

From and after the respective dates of the foregoing amendments, the approved logo for bags and retail packages of bags which meet the specifications set forth in §27-02 or §27-03 of the said Tripartite General Order No. 1 shall be as illustrated in Box A below, and the approved logo for disposable containers, wrappings and sealable separate sections which meet the specifications set forth in §27-04 of the said Tripartite General Order No. 1 shall be as illustrated in Box B below.

§27-05 Requirements for Employment of Bags and Containers Meeting Specifications Set Out in §§27-02, 27-03 and 27-04.

(a) Bags and containers which meet the specifications approved under this order:

(1) shall not be filled so as to prevent the effective closure thereof:

(2) shall not weigh more than 100 pounds when filled:

(3) shall be in such condition as to hold their contents without leakage:

(4) shall be effectively closed:

(5) when stored in the building shall be kept in a metal receptacle or rat-proof and fire-proof room:

(6) when awaiting collection outside the building, shall be removed from any metal receptacle and shall be neatly stacked in front of such building.

(b) Containers which meet the specifications approved under this order: shall not contain compacted refuse bound with non-combustible ties.

(c) The Commissioners of the Department of Sanitation or Housing Preservation and Development or Health may conduct or order the manufacturer or distributor of any product displaying a logo as provided in §27-04(f) to conduct in an independent testing laboratory selected by any such administrator or commissioner, such tests as are necessary to determine whether such product is in conformity with the provisions of this order. The expenses for all such tests shall be borne by the aforementioned manufacturer or distributor. Such Commissioner may require such appearance of any manufacturer, distributor, retailer or user of any product displaying a logo as provided in §27-04(f) as are necessary to determine if a violation of any of the provisions of this order has occurred.

SUBCHAPTER B TRIPARTITE GENERAL ORDER NO. 2: APPROVAL OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR WASTE CONTAINERIZATION SYSTEMS

§27-11 Purpose and Scope.

The Departments of Sanitation, Housing Preservation and Development and Health find that the use of systems for the disposal of waste that utilize large containers which are mechanically lifted and emptied into, loaded onto or attached to collection vehicles (hereinafter "waste containerization systems") will tend to improve waste containment and increase the efficiency of waste collection operations, and accordingly approve as to specifications, pursuant to §27-2021 of the Housing Maintenance [Administrative] Code, any waste containerization system that meets the specifications set forth below.

Nothing contained in this order shall constitute an agreement by the Department of Sanitation to provide hoist compactor, hoist-fitted chassis, roll-on roll-off or any other specialized service to any person using containers covered by this order. Such service shall continue to be available only by contract with the Department of Sanitation and subject to such conditions as the Department of Sanitation may impose.

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 27 TRIPARTITE GENERAL ORDERS*1

SUBCHAPTER B TRIPARTITE GENERAL ORDER NO. 2: APPROVAL OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR WASTE CONTAINERIZATION SYSTEMS

§27-12 Specifications for Waste Containerization Systems.

(a) The owner or other person in charge of the premise served by a waste containerization system (hereinafter the "premises") shall maintain in a safe, clean, odor-free and properly operating condition all containers and other equipment kept on such premises in connection with the operation of such system and shall keep the place of storage for the containers safe, clean and odor-free at all times. There shall be kept on the premises a hose and brush or a steam cleaner and all other necessary equipment to properly clean the containers, unless such containers are regularly cleaned at a location off the premises and such equipment is not required by any other law or regulation. Each container shall be cleaned on a concrete or other paved surface properly drained into the sewer or a septic system. Such surface and drainage system shall be maintained in a safe, clean, odor-free and properly operating condition.

(b) A waste containerization system shall be of sufficient capacity to permit the safe and sanitary storage of 150 percent of all waste normally accumulated on or generated within the premises between any regularly scheduled collections, unless otherwise agreed by the Commissioner of the Department of Sanitation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, unless a waste containerization system is sufficient to permit the safe and sanitary storage of all waste normally accumulated on or generated within the premises during a period of 72 hours, the owner or person in charge of the premises shall keep on hand sufficient additional lawful waste receptacles to permit such storage.

(c) Except when in the process of being collected or emptied, all containers shall be kept and stored on the premises at all times, in rooms or compartments which comply with §27-837 of the Building [Administrative] Code or in any other location not prohibited by law. If the place of storage is outside the premises, the containers shall be kept in location where they will not be unsightly and will not cause a nuisance to residents of the premises or of neighboring premises. If possible they should be screened from view by an attractive enclosure. The place of storage of the containers shall be one from which the containers may be safely moved to the location where they are emptied or collected. Such location shall be one to which collection vehicles have safe and convenient access and which shall be suitably equipped, adequately lit and of sufficient size for the safe loading or emptying of the containers. The place of storage of the containers and the location where the containers are emptied or loaded shall be subject to the approval of the Department of Sanitation on behalf of itself, the Department of Housing Preservation and Development and the Department of Health.

(d) Containers shall be compatible in all respects, including without limitation dimensions and loading mechanisms, with the collection vehicles which service them.

(e) Containers in which tenants are required or permitted to deposit waste shall be of types which can safely, easily, and conveniently be opened and closed by all tenants using them and while available for tenant use shall be kept in a place which provides safe and convenient access for tenants.

(f) Containers shall:

(1) be made of continuously welded steel with all welds and edges ground smooth;

(2) be capable of holding 700 pounds of waste per cubic yard of capacity, when at rest and during loading and unloading, without permanent distortion;

(3) have adequate provision for reinforcement, stiffening and protection at points of high stress or wear;

(4) hold liquids without leaking and be equipped with a drain plug at the bottom on one end; and

(5) have heavy duty skids or rollers or other devices to keep the bottom of the container off the ground and reduce wear when it is moved.

(g) Containers shall have tight-fitting doors and/or lids which shall

(1) be attached by means of heavy duty hinges;

(2) be equipped with counterbalance springs whenever necessary to prevent destructive or dangerous overswinging;

(3) be reinforced to prevent bending and warping; and

(4) completely seal the containers to prevent rodents, insects and other pests from entering.

(h) The Department of Sanitation shall keep and make available to the public a list of containers which in the opinion of such Department, the Department of Housing Preservation and Development and the Department of Health meet the physical specifications of subdivisions (f) and (g) of this section.

(i) Unless made of stainless steel or another material not subject to corrosion or wear, containers shall be completely primed and painted inside and out with corrosion-resisting primer and paint. They shall be repainted whenever the metal shows through the paint and whenever necessary to prevent them from becoming unsightly. Containers shall have painted in block letters on one vertical side (and in the case of a container that is loaded onto or attached to a collection vehicle, in a position where it is easily visible when loaded or attached) the name and principal business address of the owner of the container, the capacity of the container in cubic yards and the gross allowed weight of the container (calculated on the basis of 700 pounds per cubic yard of capacity plus the tare weight of the container). The words "STAND CLEAR WHEN CONTAINER IS BEING SERVICED" shall be painted in a prominent position on all four vertical sides in block letters at least four inches high.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-01 General Provisions.

(a) Definitions.

Action. "Action" shall mean the Agency's selection of a community group, approval of a project, or execution of an EDA.

Agency. "Agency" shall mean the city's Department of Housing Preservation and Development and any successor agency, or its designee.

Agreements. "Agreements" shall mean escrow agreements, syndication agreements, NSA syndication agreements and any other agreements through which developers are obligated to provide syndication funds.

Applicant. "Applicant" shall mean any entity applying for designation as a community group.

CAPA. "CAPA" shall mean the City Administrative Procedure Act set forth in §1041 et seq. of the city charter, as amended from time to time.

City. "City" shall mean city of New York.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the commissioner of the agency or his or her designee.

Community Group. "Community Group" shall mean a locally-based not-for-profit corporation formed pursuant to the not-for-profit corporation law of the State of New York which has been selected by the agency to receive syndication funds to perform a project.

Comptroller. "Comptroller" shall mean the comptroller of the city.

Developer. "Developer" shall mean the business entity which received certain tax benefits as general partner of the business entity which developed a development.

Development. "Development" shall mean a housing development in New York City funded pursuant to §8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. §1437f) and rules promulgated pursuant thereto by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

EDA. "EDA" shall mean an escrow disbursement agreement by which syndication funds are distributed to a community group in order to fund eligible improvements as approved by the agency.

Eligible Activities. "Eligible Activities" shall mean those improvements or services approved by the agency to be performed by community groups with syndication funds, as set forth more fully in the scope of work of the EDA for each such project.

Encumbered Funds. "Encumbered funds" shall mean syndication funds which have been appropriated or otherwise set aside to be used for a project pursuant to a currently valid and binding EDA.

EO Clearance. "EO clearance" shall mean that (i) the community group and, if required by the agency, its principals (and, where the agency deems such additional review to be appropriate, the contractors retained by such community group and all of their respective principals) have completed, executed, and submitted the required forms to and attended any required meetings with the agency's office of equal opportunity, and (ii) the agency's office of equal opportunity, after review of such information and any other available information, has made no finding of noncompliance with the applicable laws regarding equal opportunity, labor compensation, locally based enterprises, and other matters monitored by the agency's office of equal opportunity.

Escrow Account. "Escrow account" shall mean one or more escrow accounts administered by the city to retain the syndication funds until distribution.

Escrow Agreement. "Escrow agreement" shall mean an instrument by which some developers were required to provide syndication funds.

Guidelines. "Guidelines" shall mean the §8 syndication sharing program guidelines governing the program, which were approved by the city's board of estimate on September 19, 1985 (Cal. No. 644) and thereafter annually renewed until 1990. These rules replace and supersede the guidelines, which expired by their own terms on December 31, 1990.

IG Clearance. "IG clearance" shall mean that (i) the community group and, if required by the agency, its principals (and, where the agency deems such additional review to be appropriate, the contractors retained by such community group and all of their respective principals) have completed, executed, and submitted the required forms to and attended any required meetings with the agency and/or the department of investigation's office of the inspector general, and (ii)the agency and/or the department of investigation's office of the inspector general, after review of such information and any other available information, has made no findings of derogatory information, which indicates that the city should not do business with the community group, or if applicable, its contractors.

Laws. "Laws" shall mean any applicable laws, ordinances, orders, rules, and regulations promulgated by any local, state, or federal authority having jurisdiction over the subject matter thereof, as amended from time to time.

NSA Syndication Agreement. "NSA syndication agreement" shall mean an instrument by which some developers were required to provide syndication funds.

Program. "Program" shall mean the tax syndication sharing program governed by these rules.

Project. "Project" shall mean the activities set forth in the scope of work of an EDA which are to be undertaken by a community group using syndication funds.

Public Hearing. "Public hearing" shall mean a meeting convened by the agency in accordance with §28-06(c) at which interested persons shall be afforded the opportunity to comment upon the community group(s), project(s), and EDA(s) which are the subject of one or more actions proposed by the agency. A public hearing shall be held only if the agency determines, based upon the written comments received by it in accordance with §28-06(b) that further consideration of the proposed action(s) is required.

RFP. "RFP" shall mean a request for proposals.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean these rules, which replace and supersede the guidelines.

Syndication Agreement. "Syndication agreement" shall mean an instrument by which some developers were required to provide syndication funds.

Syndication Funds. "Syndication funds" shall mean the funds which the agreements required developers to provide from either (i) shares of the proceeds of the sale or syndication of the developments, or (ii) any equivalent amounts (where developers elected to retain rather than sell or syndicate development equity).

Unencumbered Funds. "Unencumbered funds" shall mean syndication funds in an escrow account which have not been appropriated or otherwise set aside to be used for a project pursuant to a currently valid and binding EDA, including, but not limited to, funds which never were the subject of an EDA and funds which were the subject of an EDA which has been terminated.

(b) Program. Under the program, the city administers the syndication funds paid into the escrow account by developers pursuant to syndication agreements and disburses such syndication funds to groups for projects pursuant to these rules.

(c) Purpose of rules. These rules set forth the standards for, inter alia, selection of community groups, approvals of projects, execution of EDA's, and disbursements of syndication funds.

(d) Purpose of tax syndication sharing program. The agency may undertake actions for any public purpose, provided that all actions undertaken in connection with the tax syndication sharing program are authorized by applicable laws. Such public purposes shall include, but shall not be limited to:

(1) promoting the preservation and rehabilitation of existing residential housing,

(2) eliminating conditions in existing residential housing which are unsafe or detrimental to health,

(3) facilitating the creation and maintenance of open spaces, parks, playgrounds, and trees in neighborhoods,

(4) providing technical assistance and support to community groups in creating and implementing projects,

(5) furthering neighborhood preservation,

(6) administering and maximizing revenue upon the accounts containing syndication funds,

(7) minimizing city expenses, and

(8) otherwise furthering the best interest of the city.

(e) General authority. (1) General. The agency may take actions and otherwise act for the purposes of an in accordance with the procedures described in these rules.

(2) Escrow account. The agency or the city may retain syndication funds in an escrow account pending disbursement. The provisions regarding the escrow account are contained in §28-02.

(3) Selection of community groups. The agency may from time to time select community groups to receive syndication funds through any competitive or non-competitive process authorized by these rules or applicable laws which the agency deems to be in the best interest of the city. The provisions regarding the selection of community groups are contained in §28-03.

(4) Conditional designation. The agency may conditionally designate applicants as community groups, and may subsequently terminate such conditional designations. The provisions regarding the conditional designation of community groups are contained in §28-04.

(5) Projects. The agency may negotiate with any conditionally designated community group concerning the terms of the EDA pursuant to which such community group will perform one or more projects. The provisions regarding such projects are contained in §28-05.

(6) Disbursement. The agency may disburse syndication funds pursuant to EDA's, these rules, and applicable laws. The provisions regarding disbursement procedures are contained in §28-06.

(7) Project administration. The agency shall require community groups to utilize syndication funds in accordance with these rules, the agreements, the EDA's and applicable laws. The provisions regarding project administration are contained in §28-07.

(f) Other rules. With respect to this program, these rules shall preempt and supersede any other rules promulgated by the agency (unless such other rules specifically refer to, and state that they apply to, the program). These rules replace and supersede the guidelines.

(g) Borough president consultation. With respect to any proposed action pursuant to these rules, the commissioner may consult with the borough president for the borough in which the development which generated the syndication funds and/or the project for which such syndication funds will be used are located and with such other parties as the commissioner shall deem appropriate.

§28-02 Escrow Account.

(a) General. The city or the agency shall establish an interest-bearing escrow account into which syndication funds received from developers shall be deposited and held until such syndication funds are disbursed pursuant to these rules.

(b) Trust and agency account. Syndication funds received by the agency shall be deposited into:

(1) The trust and agency account administered by the comptroller pursuant to the resolution adopted by the city's board of estimate on September 19, 1985 (Cal. No. 644), as renewed and/or amended on February 6, 1986 (Cal. No. 33), April 30, 1987 (Cal. No. 55), February 25, 1988 (Cal. No. 325), March 9, 1989 (Cal. No. 35), and March 8, 1990 (Cal. (2) Any other interest bearing escrow account established and administered pursuant to these rules and applicable laws.

(c) Interest. Any interest accruing from the syndication funds deposited into the escrow account shall become, and shall remain, the property of the city. The city shall retain or utilize such interest for any lawful purpose determined by the city to be in the best interests of the city.

(d) Principal. Encumbered funds shall be disbursed from the escrow account in accordance with the applicable EDA, these rules, and all applicable laws. Unencumbered funds shall be disbursed from the escrow account in accordance with these rules and all applicable laws.

(e) Beneficiaries. The syndication funds have been provided by developers for the benefit of the citizens of New York City, who are the sole intended beneficiaries of the syndication funds, the program, and these rules. The agency shall determine, in its sole discretion, whether to apply syndication funds for the benefit of any geographical area in New York City or for the benefit of the citizens of the city as a whole. Notwithstanding any provision of these rules or any agreement or EDA to the contrary, the agency may require, in connection with any selection pursuant to §28-03 or any designation pursuant to §28-04, that any applicant or community group sign an agreement or other statement acknowledging that the syndication funds are for the benefit of the citizens of New York city and not for the benefit of any other individual or group (or any subset of such group).

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-03 Selection of Community Groups.

(a) General. This §28-03 sets forth standards for the selection of community groups to receive syndication funds for projects. Such determinations shall be made by the agency, in accordance with the standards set forth herein, for the purposes of (i) ascertaining whether a community group meets the requirements of the program and has the ability to perform the project, and (ii) furthering the best interests of the city. The agency may select a community group to receive syndication funds by any method permitted by law which it determines will best meet the program's objectives, including, but not limited to, sole source, application, RFP, selection by a process mandated by an entity other than the agency, and selection by an entity other than the agency.

(b) Grandfathered selection. Notwithstanding any provision of these rules to the contrary, the agency may select:

(1) Any community group which was the co-sponsor of a development; or

(2) Any community group with which it began to negotiate before the date upon which the guidelines ceased to be effective; or

(3) Any community group which was selected by a developer in accordance with an agreement prior to the agency's use of EDA's as if, and to the same extent as if, such community group had been selected by the agency pursuant to these rules.

(c) Sole source. Where the agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a community group may be selected to receive syndication funds without any competitive process. In such event, the agency shall, prior to taking any action with respect to disbursement of such syndication funds, prepare a written statement signed by the commissioner setting forth the reasons why a more competitive process was not appropriate or desirable. Such statement shall thereafter be placed with the records concerning the project which are retained by the agency and shall be kept on file in accordance with the agency's usual record retention procedures.

(d) Application. Where and at such time as the agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a community group may be selected via an application process.

(1) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the agency commences an application process for selection of one or more community groups, the agency shall place advertisements in The City Record and such other publications as the agency shall deem appropriate. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the program, the availability of syndication funds, any required or suggested project, the place where application forms can be obtained and the deadline for submission of applications.

(ii) Application forms. The agency or its designee shall prepare or cause to be prepared the forms upon which application are to be submitted, which forms may require such information as the agency deems to be necessary or desirable to effectuate the purposes of the program. Application forms shall be made available by the agency to all potential applicants.

(iii) Amendments. The agency may change any aspect of the information set forth in the advertisement at any time. The agency shall amend the advertisement accordingly and shall place such amended advertisement in The City Record, the publications in which the original advertisement appeared, and such other publications as the agency shall deem appropriate. If it is infeasible for the agency to publish the amended advertisement in the publications in which the original advertisement appeared, the agency shall endeavor to provide substantially the same type of notice as was provided with respect to the original advertisement. The agency may also mail copies of such amended advertisement to potential applicants who have done prior business with the agency or who have requested to be on a mailing list for such purpose. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an application process may be terminated by the agency at any time without adver- tisement.

(2) Submissions. (i) Time period. The agency may impose a deadline for submission of applications, which shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears. The agency may, in the alternative, impose no deadline, in which case the agency shall receive, review, and approve or reject applications on a rolling basis as and when such applications are received.

(ii) Completeness. The agency shall require applications to be submitted on the required forms and to be completed and executed in the manner set forth therein.

(3) Selection. (i) Completeness. The application must include all required forms, and such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, at the time of submission. The agency may reject an application if it determines that such requirements are not met.

(ii) Selection. The agency may review and judge applications and select community groups by any method and upon any criteria permitted by law or these rules.

(4) Limitations. (i) No obligation. The publication of an advertisement and the provision and acceptance of application forms shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the city or the agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by an EDA approved by the law department and duly executed by both parties. The city and the agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of preparing an application.

(ii) No warranty. The agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any advertisement.

(5) Rights retained by agency. Where it is deemed by the agency to be in the best interests of the city:

(i) The agency may terminate any application process in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The agency may reject any and all applications.

(iii) The agency may at any time allow applicants to make modifications or additions to their applications.

(iv) The agency may negotiate with applicants and may negotiate with parties which have not submitted applications.

(v) The agency may negotiate on terms other than those set forth in the advertisement.

(e) RFP. Where the agency deems it to be feasible and desirable, a community group may be selected to receive syndication funds via an RFP. The RFP shall state that it is the type of selection process which the agency deems appropriate and shall describe the program, the availability of syndication funds, any required or suggested project(s), the selection process, and such other matters as the agency deems to be relevant. Where a potential community group has previously submitted a proposal and the agency has issued an RFP soliciting additional proposals to compete with such proposal, such RFP shall contain a copy or summary of such proposal and shall set forth in detail the standards by which the competition shall be judged.

(1) Issuance. The agency may issue RFP's at any time it deems appropriate and desirable.

(2) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the agency issues an RFP for selection of one or more community groups, the agency shall place advertisements in The City Record and such other publications as the agency shall deem appropriate. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the program, the availability of syndication funds, any required or suggested project, the place a copy of the RFP can be obtained and the deadline for submission of proposals.

(ii) Availability. A copy of the RFP shall be made available to all potential applicants prior to the submission deadline. The agency shall require all recipients of any RFP to furnish identification and shall cause a list of recipients to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process.

(iii) Amendments. The agency may issue written amendments to the RFP at any time prior to the submission deadline. The agency shall provide copies of such amendments to all recipients of the RFP.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the submission deadline, the agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where agency staff answer questions about submission and program requirements. The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the RFP solicitation.

(ii) Agency contacts. Agency staff shall be available during the submission period by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the RFP. The agency may require that contact with agency personnel by prospective applicants with respect to an RFP be limited to one or more person(s) designated in the RFP and/or that such contact be in writing.

(4) Submissions. (i) Deadline. The deadline for submissions shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears and shall be stated in the RFP.

(ii) Completeness. The agency shall require proposals to be submitted in the format and number prescribed in the RFP and to contain all information and forms required therein.

(5) Selection. (i) Basic requirements. The agency may reject a proposal if it determines that either of the following basic requirements are not met:

(A) Completeness. The proposal must include all required forms, and such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, at the time of submission.

(B) Compliance. The proposal must comply in all respects with all material terms of the RFP.

(ii) Threshold criteria. The agency may impose such additional threshold criteria in the RFP as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a proposal has passed all basic requirements, the agency shall consider such threshold criteria as are established in the RFP. Such threshold criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload), those characteristics of the applicant's proposal which have a bearing on the performance of the project, and any other factors which the agency deems appropriate.

(iii) Competitive criteria. The agency may impose such additional competitive criteria in the RFP as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a proposal has passed all threshold criteria, the agency shall consider such competitive criteria as are established in the RFP. Such criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, and current and expected workload), those characteristics of the applicant's proposal which have a bearing on the performance of the project, and any other factors which the agency deems appropriate.

(6) Limitations. (i) No obligation. An RFP shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the city or the agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written EDA approved as to form by the city's law department and duly executed by both parties. The city and the agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to the RFP.

(ii) No warranty. The agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any RFP.

(7) Rights retained by agency. Where it is deemed by the agency to be in the best interests of the city:

(i) The agency may withdraw any RFP in whole or in part prior to conditional designation of a community group.

(ii) The agency may reject any and all proposals submitted in response to an RFP.

(iii) The agency may at any time waive compliance with an RFP, change any of the terms and conditions of an RFP, or allow certain applicants to make modifications or additions to their respective proposals.

(iv) The agency may negotiate with one or more applicants who have submitted proposals pursuant to an RFP, and may negotiate with parties which have not responded to the RFP.

(v) The agency may negotiate and execute an EDA on terms other than those set forth in the RFP.

(f) Non-agency selection. The agency may select an applicant to be a community group without any agency selection process where such applicant has already been selected or designated by (i) another agency or instrumentality of the city, (ii) any agency or instrumentality of the state or federal government, (iii) any public authority, public benefit corporation, or other quasi-governmental entity, (iv) a developer pursuant to an agreement, or (v) any other entity designated by the agency to perform such selection. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence or elsewhere in these rules, the agency shall only select a community group pursuant to this §28-03(f) where the agency deems such method of selection to be necessary or desirable, and the agency shall not be required to select any applicant solely because such applicant has been selected by any other entity.

(g) Non-agency process. The agency may select a community group by a process not set forth in these rules where funding for the project is provided by, and/or the alternative selection process is mandated by, either (i) another agency or instrumentality of the city, (ii) any agency or instrumentality of the state or federal government, (iii) any public authority, public benefit corporation, or other quasi-governmental entity, (iv) a developer pursuant to an agreement, or (v) any other entity designated by the agency to perform such selection. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence or elsewhere in these rules, the agency shall only select a community group pursuant to this §28-03(g) where the agency deems such method of selection to be necessary or desirable, and the agency shall not be required to utilize any selection process solely because such selection process has been mandated by any other entity.

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-04 Conditional Designation of Community Groups.

(a) Rejection letters. The agency shall notify all unsuccessful applicants in writing. Such letter shall state the reasons for the rejection of such applicant's proposal or other submission.

(b) Conditional designation. The agency shall notify all successful applicants of their conditional designation as community groups. Such notification may be, but shall not be required to be, in writing and may be in any form which the agency deems to be appropriate, including, but not limited to, a conditional designation letter. Such letter, if any, shall be signed by the commissioner and shall constitute the selection and conditional designation of the applicant, subject to satisfaction of all conditions stated in the letter or in these rules or imposed by the agency or by applicable law. The letter may include, but shall not be limited to, the following matters:

(1) Acceptance deadline. The letter may require the applicant to unconditionally accept the designation within a time period for acceptance established therein.

(2) Program requirements. The letter may set forth program requirements and conditions upon which the designation was made and may state that any non-conformance or change in any of such requirements may be deemed by the agency to constitute a default.

(3) Schedule. The letter may contain a schedule of activities which must be completed as pre-conditions for the actions to be taken in connection with the disbursement of syndication funds.

(c) No liability. Conditional designation shall mean only that the agency intends to negotiate with the community group concerning a project and EDA until such conditional designation is terminated, a requirement of the agency or the city is not satisfied, or an EDA is executed. Conditional designation is not a contract or agreement and shall not create any rights on the community group's part, including, without limitation, rights of enforcement, equity, or reimbursement. No such contract or agreement shall exist, and no such rights shall be created, until the city and the community group enter into a written EDA approved as to form by the law department and duly executed by both parties.

(d) Termination of conditional designation. (1) Causes for termination. After conditional designation of a community group, the agency may terminate such conditional designation at any time if the agency determines that the city should not enter into an EDA with the community group for any reason, including, but not limited to, the following:

(i) Failure to comply with terms of designation. The community group has failed to comply with any term or condition of the conditional designation letter.

(ii) Failure to meet city requirements. The community group has either (A) failed to clear one or more of the required city reviews, including, but not limited to, IG clearance and EO clearance, or (B) failed to satisfy other requirements established by the agency or the city.

(iii) Lack of resources. The community group lacks the necessary expertise, administrative or other resources, or legal capacity to perform the project.

(iv) Lack of funding. Adequate funding for the entire project, whether from syndication funds, other city funds, or any other public or private source, is not available or is not provided in a timely manner.

(v) Best interests of city. The agency or the city has not approved the required actions for any reason determined by the agency or the city to be in the best interests of the city.

(2) Notice of termination. If the agency elects to terminate the conditional designation of a community group, the agency shall notify the community group of such termination in writing.

(3) Right to comment. The agency shall give any terminated community group an opportunity to comment on the reasons for such termination, either in writing or by a conference with a responsible official of the agency. The agency shall give due consideration to any comments made by such community group, but shall retain the sole discretion whether to revoke the termination, set specific conditions for a revocation of the termination, or retain the termination. If the agency decides to revoke or conditionally revoke the termination, the agency shall notify the community group of its decision in writing. Nothing in this §28-04(d)(3) or this §28-04 shall be deemed to restrict the power and authority of the agency to negotiate with other parties, to enter into EDA's, or to take such other actions with respect to the syndication funds as the agency shall determine to be necessary or desirable, prior to receipt of comments from a terminated community group.

28 RCNY 28-05

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-05 Projects.

(a) EDA. The agency shall negotiate with each conditionally designated community group concerning the terms of the EDA pursuant to which such community group will perform one or more projects. Such negotiation shall continue until either the community group's conditional designation is terminated pursuant to these rules or an EDA is executed by the city and the community group. The city and the agency shall not disburse any syndication funds from the escrow account to the community group for any project until the city and the community group have executed an EDA in form approved by the law department and in form and substance acceptable to the agency. Each disbursement of syndication funds from the escrow account to a community group for a project shall be made in accordance with such EDA. The agency shall not be obligated to disburse any funds pursuant to an EDA beyond those syndication funds received from the developer of the applicable development.

(b) Scope of work. Each EDA shall include a scope of work describing the project in form and substance satisfactory to the agency. Such scope of work shall include, without limitation, a detailed description of the eligible activities to be performed with the syndication funds, and timetables for commencement, progress, and completion of the project.

(c) Eligible activities. The eligible activities to be included in the scope of work of any EDA may include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(1) Project activities: (i) Acquisition, rehabilitation (including all costs of maintenance and operation of occupied residential buildings during rehabilitation), and/or construction of housing accommodations and/or community facilities.

(ii) Rehabilitation or repair of city-owned occupied residential buildings.

(iii) Community improvements, including, but not limited to,

(A) demolition or resealing and securing of buildings in accordance with an area improvement plan or housing strategy,

(B) development and/or maintenance of permanent site improvement projects,

(C) facade and street improvements, and

(D) development, enhancement or maintenance of new or existing community facilities or open spaces.

(iv) Landlord/tenant activities, including, but not limited to,

(A) tenant organizing, education and counseling,

(B) negotiations and mediations of landlord-tenant disputes,

(C) landlord-tenant referral services.

(2) Related administrative costs. Not more than twenty percent (20%) of the syndication funds disbursed to a community group shall be used for administrative expenses incurred by the community group in connection with the project, including, but not limited to,

(i) salaries for staff who provide services which are particular to the project,

(ii) consultant fees,

(iii) office supplies,

(iv) rent,

(v) insurance,

(vi) other costs directly related to the performance of the project.

(3) Other approved use. The agency may approve any other use of syndication funds which is consistent with these rules, even though such use is not listed in §28-05(c)(1) or §28-05(c)(2).

28 RCNY 28-06

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-06 Disbursements.

(a) General. The agency may disburse syndication funds from the escrow account pursuant to these rules and applicable laws.

(b) Written comment.

(1) Notice to public. At such time as the agency proposes to execute an EDA with a community group, the agency shall place an advertisement in The City Record and such other publication as the agency shall deem appropriate, which advertisement shall include, at a minimum:

(i) a description of the program,

(ii) a description of the proposed project,

(iii) the designated community group(s) or other proposed recipient of the syndication funds,

(iv) where and when the public may inspect the proposed EDA, and

(v) where and when members of the public may comment in writing on any action described in the advertisement and/or EDA.

(2) Notice to borough president. Prior to or simultaneously with publication of the advertisement required pursuant to §28-06(b)(1), the agency shall mail copies of the advertisement and proposed EDA to the following officials or their designees:

(i) the borough president in the borough in which the project is located,

(ii) the community board in the community district in which the project is located, and

(iii) such other public officials or agencies as the agency shall deem appropriate.

(3) Submission of written comments. The agency shall impose a deadline for submission of written comments, which shall be a reasonable time after the advertisement first appears, but in no event less than fourteen (14) calendar days.

(4) Review of written comments. After the deadline for submission of written comments, the agency shall review the written comments received by it and shall determine whether such comments raise substantive issues which require further consideration. If the agency concludes that further consideration is required, the agency shall convene a public hearing in accordance with §28-06(c). If the agency concludes that further consideration is not required, the agency shall either (i) approve the proposed EDA, (ii) approve the proposed EDA with modifications, or (iii) disapprove the proposed EDA. If the agency approves the proposed EDA, the agency may, but shall not be required to, proceed with the execution of the EDA. If the agency approves the proposed EDA with modifications, the agency may, but shall not be required to, proceed with the execution of the modified EDA, and no additional public comment procedure shall be required concerning such modifications. If the agency disapproves the proposed EDA, the agency shall thereafter either (i) resume negotiations with the community group on a new or modified EDA, or (ii) terminate the conditional designation of the community group.

(c) Public hearing. If the agency determines, based upon the written comments received by it, that further consideration of the proposed action(s) is required, the agency shall convene a public hearing in accordance with this §28-06(c).

(1) Notice to public. The agency shall place an advertisement in The City Record and such other publications as the agency shall deem appropriate, which advertisement shall include, at a minimum, (i) a description of the program, (ii) a description of the proposed project, (iii) the designated community group(s) or other proposed recipient of the syndication funds, (iv) where and when the public may inspect the proposed EDA, and (v) the date, time, and location at which members of the public may comment in person on any action described in the advertisement and/or EDA. The agency shall endeavor to mail copies of such advertisement to (i) the borough president in the borough in which the project is located, (ii) the community board in the community district in which the project is located, (iii) such other public officials or agencies as the agency shall deem appropriate, and (iv) if feasible, all parties who submitted written comments pursuant to §28-06(b).

(2) Conduct of public hearing. A representative of the agency shall commence the public hearing by describing the action proposed by the agency. The agency shall then afford all persons attending who desire to comment upon such action a reasonable opportunity to speak; provided, however, that the agency may establish and enforce a uniform time limit upon the comments of all speakers; provided further, however, that such time limit shall in no event be less than two (2) minutes per speaker. An audio tape or transcript shall be made of the proceedings and a record shall be made of persons in attendance at the hearing.

(3) Review of public comments. After the public hearing, the agency shall review the comments of the speakers and shall determine whether to (i) approve the proposed EDA, (ii) approve the proposed EDA with modifications, or (iii) disapprove the proposed EDA. If the agency approves the proposed EDA, the agency may, but shall not be required to, proceed with the execution of the EDA. If the agency approves the proposed EDA with modifications, the agency may, but shall not be required to, proceed with the execution of the modified EDA, and no additional public comment procedure shall be required concerning such modifications. If the agency disapproves the proposed EDA, the agency shall thereafter either (i) resume negotiations with the community group on a new or modified EDA, or (ii) terminate the conditional designation of the community group.

(d) Unencumbered funds. The agency may disburse unencumbered funds in any manner permitted by law and these rules, including, without limitation, the following methods:

(1) New community group. The agency may select a new community group and make disbursements to it in accordance with these rules;

(2) Agency project. The agency may prepare a scope of work and EDA for a project and/or disburse unencumbered funds for the performance of such project to the agency rather than to a community group;

(3) Tax levy. The agency may apply unencumbered funds toward the cost of providing city services in the borough of the development which generated such syndication funds; and

(4) Best interests of the city. The agency may utilize unencumbered funds in any other manner deemed by the agency to be in the best interests of the city, including, but not limited to, disbursement of such unencumbered funds into the general fund of the city.

(e) Non-escrowed syndication funds. Where developers and community groups entered into agreements which provided for the payment of syndication funds directly from the developers to the community groups, the agency shall seek to enforce these rules to the extent practicable. Where the respective agreements provide the agency with sufficient authority to do so, the agency may (1) order developers to thereafter make all payments of syndication funds to the city rather than directly to community groups, and (2) order community groups to surrender all syndication funds in their possession to the city. Any syndication funds so obtained or recovered shall be deposited into the escrow account and made subject to the requirements of these rules.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-07 Project Administration.

(a) Accounts established by community groups. The community group shall establish a separate checking or savings account and shall submit a banking resolution to the agency which shall provide that (1) the commissioner shall be authorized to stop all disbursements from each such account or seize all funds therein, in the event of any failure to comply with the applicable EDA or agreement, or for any other reason deemed necessary or desirable by the agency to protect the best interests of the city consistent with these rules and applicable laws, and (2) checks or drafts shall be signed by at least two officers or designated, authorized signatories of the community group before a check or draft may be negotiated or funds withdrawn. Any syndication funds received by a community group, whether from the escrow account pursuant to an EDA or directly from a developer pursuant to an agreement, or monies repaid to the community group from any project activities, shall be deposited into such account and shall be held and utilized strictly in accordance with these rules. No syndication funds shall be disbursed to the community group and no funds shall be disbursed by the community group from such account until and unless the agency shall approve such banking resolution in writing.

(b) Reporting requirements and audits. (1) Reports. At the end of the first six-month period after a community group receives its first disbursement, and every six months thereafter for as long as syndication funds remain in use by the community group, it shall provide the agency with a report and interim financial statement summarizing the use of the syndication funds received by it, together with copies of all bank statements and cancelled checks, and with a reconciliation of the checking and/or savings account.

(2) Audits. Starting with the end of the first full calendar year in which syndication funds were available to the community group for six months or longer, (i) the community group shall provide yearly audited financial statements to the agency, and (ii) all of the books and records of the community group shall be subject to review and audit by the agency or the comptroller. The community group shall maintain such books and records and shall make them available for audit for a period of six (6) years after the expiration of its EDA. Any agreements between a community group and its contractors shall contain substantially the same language as contained in this §28-07(b)(2). The community group shall require the certified public accountant retained by it to prepare its audited financial statement to (i) make its "work papers" available upon demand to the agency or the comptroller, and (ii) register with the comptroller upon demand by the city.

(c) EDA defaults. In the event that a community group defaults on its obligations pursuant to an EDA, the agency may terminate such EDA and/or invoke any other remedy available to the city pursuant to the EDA, these rules, or applicable laws.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 28 TAX SYNDICATION SHARING PROGRAM RULES

§28-08 Miscellaneous Provisions.

(a) Adverse findings. Nothwithstanding any provision to the contrary in these rules or in any document concerning any selection process, any project, or the program, the agency may reject any applicant or terminate any conditional designation of a community group if the agency determines at any time that good and sufficient reasons exist why the city should not do business with such party or should not allow such party to act as community group for the particular project in question. Such reasons shall include, but shall not be limited to, evidence with respect to the applicant or any member of its development team or any contractor retained by such applicant or any of its principals of:

(1) Arson conviction or pending cases,

(2) Harassment conviction or pending cases,

(3) Arrears or default upon any debt, lease, contract, tax, lien, fee, charge, or obligation to the city,

(4) City mortgage or tax foreclosure proceedings or arrears,

(5) Unsuccessful record with comparable projects, including, but not limited to, poor workmanship, failure to complete a project expeditiously, building violations or litigation history against other properties, or unsuccessful record of managing residential real property,

(6) Inability, due to lack of organizational capacity, competing demands from other projects, or any other factor to perform all work required to successfully complete the project,

(7) Bankruptcy or insolvency,

(8) Violation of the conflict of interest provisions of the city charter or any other applicable laws, or

(9) Failure to obtain IG clearance and/or EO clearance.

(b) Agency discretion. All determinations to be made by the agency and/or the commissioner in accordance with these rules shall be in the sole discretion of the agency and/or the commissioner; provided, however, that the agency and/or the commissioner shall comply in all respects with applicable laws.

(c) Statutory authority not limited. Nothing in these rules shall be deemed to prevent the agency from exercising such greater or additional rights, remedies, privileges, powers, and authority as shall be provided by law.

(d) Rights not conferred. These rules are not intended to confer rights or benefits upon the general public or upon any individual, entity, or actual or potential community group. Nothing in these rules shall be deemed to confer any rights or benefits whatsoever upon any party which are in addition to any rights deriving from applicable laws or written contracts with the agency.

(e) No legal obligation. At any time prior to the execution of a legally binding written EDA by the agency and the community group, the agency may withdraw its approval of all or any portion of a project, change the contemplated actions and project, change the community group selection process for a project, terminate the designation of a community group, select a new community group, or take any other action deemed by the agency to be necessary or appropriate. A selection process shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the city or the agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written EDA approved as to form by the law department and duly executed by both parties. The city and the agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of applying for selection as a community group. Conditional designation of a community group shall mean only that the agency intends to negotiate with such community group concerning one or more potential projects until either an EDA is executed or such conditional designation is terminated. Conditional designation of an applicant is not a contract or agreement and shall not create any rights on the applicant's part, including, without limitation, rights of enforcement, equity or reimbursement. No such contract or agreement shall exist, and no such rights shall be created, until the city and the community group enter into an EDA approved as to form by the law department and duly executed by both parties. Approval of a project and/or EDA by any party pursuant to these rules shall not obligate the agency to proceed with the project or with the execution of such EDA.

(f) Technical violations. Technical violations of these rules shall not invalidate the selection of any community group, any EDA, or any other action taken pursuant to these rules, nor shall such technical violations give rise to any rights, claims, or causes of action in favor of members of the general public or potential community groups.

(g) Compliance with laws. All actions by the agency pursuant to these rules shall be made in accordance with applicable laws. Each community group selected and project undertaken pursuant to these rules shall meet the eligibility criteria of the laws which authorize the agency to undertake the actions necessary or incident to the performance of such project.

(h) Amendments. These rules may be amended pursuant only to the procedures and requirements contained in CAPA.

(i) Waivers. The commissioner may at any time waive in writing one or more of the provisions of these rules with respect to any community group or project. Such writing shall state the reasons for such waiver.

(j) Singular and plural. With respect to any of the terms used in these rules, the singular shall be deemed to include the plural and the plural shall be deemed to include the singular, unless the context requires otherwise.

CHAPTER 29 SIP OCCUPIED SALES PROGRAM

§29-02 Sponsor Selection.

(a) General. The SIP program utilized vacant City-owned buildings to develop homeless housing. Most of these buildings remain under City ownership and management. The purpose of the SIP occupied sales program is to dispose of these buildings to qualified sponsors. Sale of the buildings is anticipated to be pursuant to Article 16 of the General Municipal Law and each disposition will require approval of the Mayor and the City Council, acting in their respective capacities pursuant to applicable Laws. HPD may select a sponsor for a project by any method it determines will best meet the purposes of the program including, without limitation, a request for proposal process, a request for qualifications process or, in the discretion of HPD, by a direct designation of an entity judged by HPD to be suitable for the task. HPD, in selecting an applicant, may consider any relevant factors, including, but not limited to, the applicant's prior record in housing projects done under other City programs, the applicant's prior selection by the City as a sponsor in another program, the applicant's record as a property owner or manager, the applicant's relevant experience in and knowledge of the neighborhood where the project is located and any relevant written comment by tenants.

(b) Joint venture sponsors. In selecting sponsors, HPD may give a preference to qualified not-for-profit community-based organizations which apply as joint venturers with qualified for-profit organizations with experience in management of real estate. Such preference, if any, shall be given first to a shared ownership joint venture with a for-profit and a not-for-profit and second to a not-for-profit owner with a for-profit manager.

(c) Other sponsors. In selecting sponsors other than joint venture sponsors, HPD may give a preference to qualified not-for-profit community-based organizations. HPD may also select qualified for-profit real estate organizations with management experience.

§29-03 Designation of Sponsors.

(a) Conditional designation. HPD shall provide written notification to all selected Applicants of their conditional designation as Sponsor.

(b) No liability. Conditional designation of an applicant as a sponsor shall mean only that HPD intends to recommend disposition of the project to such sponsor if such conditional designation has not been terminated and all requirements of HPD have been satisfied. Disposition is subject to obtaining all required governmental approvals, including, but not limited to, approval by the Mayor and the City Council, acting pursuant to applicable laws. Conditional designation of an applicant is not a contract or agreement and shall not create any rights on the applicant's part, including, without limitation, rights of enforcement, equity or reimbursement. No such contract or agreement shall exist, and no such rights shall be created, until the city and the sponsor enter into a written agreement with all requisite approvals and duly executed by both parties.

(c) Termination of conditional designation. After conditional designation of a sponsor, HPD may at any time terminate such conditional designation at its sole discretion.

CHAPTER 29 SIP OCCUPIED SALES PROGRAM

§29-04 Schedule of Rent.

(a) Schedule of rent. Prior to disposition, HPD shall establish a schedule of rent for each apartment in a building. The schedule of rent shall be set by HPD based on its estimates of the cost of operating the building, including, to the extent deemed necessary by HPD, reasonable reserves, allowance for vacancy and collection losses, insurance, utilities, water and sewer charges, taxes, heating fuel, provision for social services, and a reasonable management fee for the sponsor. The schedule of rent shall set rents at no greater than the Federal Section 8 fair market rent. The schedule of rent and the rationale therefor shall be kept on file by HPD and be available for public inspection. Sponsor shall be required to register the schedule of rents with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal.

(b) Subsidies. Notwithstanding the schedule of rent, such rent shall not be collected until completion of all required Rehabilitation, including compliance with Federal Housing Quality Standards to enable subsidies to flow to tenants. Tenants eligible for federal rent subsidies may be offered housing vouchers and/or Section 8 certificates as determined by HPD. In the event that a tenant does not qualify for such subsidies, the rent collected shall in no event be greater than the applicable public assistance shelter allowance or, if the tenant does not qualify for public assistance, thirty percent (30%) of the income of the tenant.

(a) Regulatory agreement. A sponsor shall be required to execute a regulatory agreement with HPD as a condition for disposition of a building. The regulatory agreement shall be recorded and shall run with the land for a period set forth therein. The regulatory agreement shall require the sponsor and all of sponsor's successors and assigns to comply with program requirements.

(b) Use restrictions. HPD shall impose restrictions upon the use of a building and shall require sponsor to agree to comply with such restrictions as a condition for acquisition of a building. Such use restrictions may be enforced by any means which HPD determines to be necessary or appropriate, including, but not limited to, provisions in any deed, land disposition agreement, regulatory agreement, note, mortgage, security agreement, lien, restrictive declaration, or other document. HPD may require a sponsor to secure its obligations to comply with use restrictions in such form as is determined by HPD to be necessary or desirable.

(c) Occupancy in buildings. Occupancy on vacancy shall be limited to persons and families whose annual income does not exceed eighty percent (80%) of the median income for the New York Metropolitan Statistical Area as determined by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. HPD may require that a portion of any future vacancies be reserved for referrals by the City of persons in need of shelter.

(d) Rent stabilization. Sponsors shall be required to register an HPD approved schedule of rents with the New York State Department of Housing and Community Renewal and to operate the buildings within the rent stabilization system.

(a) Eligible Buildings. HPD may select Buildings for the Program if:

(1) Rehabilitation of the Building is technically and financially feasible;

(2) The Building has not been accepted into another HPD disposition program.

(b) Notice of Preliminary Selection. After HPD has found a Building to be eligible pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section and has preliminarily selected the Building for the Program, HPD shall provide all Tenants of the Building with a document containing the following:

(1) A statement that HPD is considering placing the Building in the Program;

(2) A description of the Program;

(3) A statement that an Intake Rent will be set;

(4) A statement that the Building may be eligible for other HPD programs and the name, address and phone number of an HPD employee who may provide information on how to apply for such other programs;

(5) The name of the Sponsor selected by HPD to develop the Project; and

(6) A statement that the Building will remain in the Program unless accepted into another HPD program.

(c) Tenant Meeting. HPD shall hold a Tenant meeting prior to making a Final Selection, giving notice to Tenants at least two business days prior to such meeting.

(d) Notice of Final Selection. No sooner than thirty (30) days after the Preliminary Selection, HPD shall notify the Tenants of a Building of the Final Selection of the Building for the Program. No later than ninety (90) days after the notice of Final Selection, the Tenants of a Building selected for the Program may apply for any other HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants.

(e) Notice of Project Commencement. No sooner than ninety (90) days after the notice of Final Selection, HPD shall notify the Tenants of a Building that the Project has commenced, unless the Tenants have applied for another HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants within such time period. If the Tenants have applied for another HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants within such time period and have been rejected from such program, then, immediately after the later of such rejection or ninety (90) days after the notice of Final Selection, HPD shall notify such Tenants that the Project has commenced.

(f) Notice of Intake Rent. Either at the time of the notice of Project Commencement or thereafter, HPD shall notify each Tenant of the Intake Rent and the date it becomes effective, which effective date shall be not less than thirty (30) days after the date of the notice of Intake Rent, and shall, in accordance with §30-09 of these Rules, provide information on rental assistance which may be available to Tenants and the procedures to apply for such assistance.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 30 NEIGHBORHOOD REDEVELOPMENT PROGRAM*1

§30-06 Rent Setting.

(a) Establishment of Intake Rents. HPD shall from time to time on a program-wide basis establish Intake Rents for all dwelling unit Buildings selected for the Program based upon a minimum rent level per zoning room based on operating costs in similar Buildings. The Intake Rent and the rationale therefore shall be kept on file by HPD and be available for public inspection. HPD shall provide notice of Intake Rent pursuant to §30-04(f).

(b) Pre-commitment meeting. After the notice of Project Commencement pursuant to §30-04(e), and prior to the issuance of a commitment letter containing the terms and conditions for a Subsidy, HPD shall send a notice informing the Tenants of the time and place of a meeting to discuss the Program at least two business days prior to such meeting. A representative of HPD shall attend such meeting.

(c) Projection of Post-Rehabilitation Rents. HPD shall determine a rent for each dwelling unit in the Building to take effect upon Substantial Completion. The Post-Rehabilitation Rent per occupied dwelling unit may be based upon the Tenants' income or may reflect the expenses for the Building as projected by HPD less the effective annual net commercial income, if any. If the Post-Rehabilitation Rent reflects the Building's expenses, HPD shall project the annual maintenance and operating expenses for the Building after Substantial Completion, including allowances for vacancies and debt service coverage. The expenses shall be projected by HPD based on its experience and knowledge of the operation of similar buildings. For those apartments which are vacant at the time of the sending of the notice of Substantial Completion pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, HPD shall set Post-Rehabilitation Rents at no greater than one hundred and ten percent (110%) of the FMR for the area in which the Building is located.

(d) Pre-Disposition notice. Following the pre-commitment meeting held pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, and not less than thirty (30) days prior to Disposition, HPD shall send a notice which shall

(1) inform each Tenant of the contemplated Rehabilitation which will be performed in the Project;

(2) advise each Tenant of the expected rental increase to result from the Rehabilitation which will take effect after Substantial Completion (i.e., the Post-Rehabilitation Rent);

(3) provide information on rental assistance which may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance in accordance with §30-09 of these Rules;

(4) apprise each Tenant of such Tenant's right to submit written comments; and

(5) advise each Tenant that where relocation during Rehabilitation is necessary, HPD will use its best efforts to minimize inconvenience to affected Tenants.

(e) Implementation of Intake Rent. Commencing no earlier than the date set forth in the notice of Intake Rent sent pursuant to §30-04(f), HPD shall charge the Intake Rent, except that rents for Tenants whose rents at such time are greater than the Intake Rent shall not be decreased.

(f) Registration of Rent. Not less than thirty (30) days after Disposition, Sponsor shall register with DHCR the rent charged to each Tenant in the Building at the time of Disposition. Leases shall contain a provision satisfactory to HPD requiring notice to the Tenant of the subsequent establishment of the Post-Rehabilitation Rent.

(g) Increase in Projected Post-Rehabilitation Rents. If the Post-Rehabilitation Rents established by HPD pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section reflect the Building's expenses, and HPD determines that its projection of maintenance and operating costs must be increased based on unforeseen changes in the circumstances and factors which formed the basis of the original projection, including, but not limited to, unexpected increases in fuel or utility costs, HPD shall notify Tenants of the amount of the expected rent increase over and above the Post-Rehabilitation Rent set forth in the pre-Disposition notice sent pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section.

(h) Notice of Substantial Completion. Following Substantial Completion, HPD shall send a notice to each Tenant that the Rehabilitation is substantially complete and that the Tenant's rent will be increased to the Post-Rehabilitation Rent in not less than sixty (60) days. Such notice shall state that the Tenant has an opportunity to comment regarding the quality of Rehabilitation. Such notice shall also include the amount of the Post-Rehabilitation Rent, its effective date, and provide information on rental assistance which may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance in accordance with §30-09 of these Rules. Prior to the establishment of Post-Rehabilitation Rents, HPD shall give due consideration to Tenant comments regarding the quality of the Rehabilitation.

(i) Implementation and Registration of Post-Rehabilitation Rents. Not less than sixty (60) days after the sending of the notice of Substantial Completion pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, HPD shall complete and sign a rent order, and shall mail such order to the Tenant with a copy to the Sponsor. The rent set forth on each rent order shall be the Post-Rehabilitation Rent for such apartment as was determined in accordance with subdivision (c) of this section and as set forth in the pre-Disposition notice or as adjusted pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section. If an apartment is vacant at the time of establishment of rents, the rent order shall be mailed to the Sponsor. Immediately upon receipt of the rent order or a copy thereof, the Sponsor shall register the Post-Rehabilitation Rent for each Tenant in the Building with DHCR.

(j) Two year leases. The Sponsor must offer two year leases to all Tenants upon Substantial Completion.

§30-07 Project Operation Prior to Disposition if HPD Temporarily Leases the Building to the Sponsor.

(a) Lease. Prior to Disposition, HPD may temporarily lease the Building to a Lessee pursuant to the terms of a written lease.

(b) Tenant selection policy. Lessee shall rent vacant apartments only to low and/or moderate income Tenants as defined by HPD and in accordance with HPD guidelines. HPD may also, in the public interest, require that other persons, determined by HPD to be in need of housing, receive priority in the renting of apartments. HPD may require that rentals be pre-approved by HPD, that specified lists of eligible persons be used, or may direct any other Tenant selection method be used.

(c) Successor Tenants. Persons claiming to be successor Tenants, if any, prior to a unit entering rent stabilization, are subject to the rules set forth in Chapter 24 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York.

(d) Interim Payment Agreement. HPD may require the Lessee to enter into one or more Interim Payment Agreements in accordance with §30-09 of these Rules.

(e) Limitation on Collection of Arrears. At such time as a Tenant is one month or more in arrears on the payment of rent to Lessee, Lessee may commence a proceeding for such rent arrears and/or for possession of the apartment. Lessee may not sue for arrears which accrued more than three (3) months prior to the commencement of the lease for the Building.

(f) Vacancy Rents. Rents for vacant apartments shall be set by Lessee, subject to HPD approval.

(g) Commencement of Legal Proceedings. Lessee may commence legal proceedings, including eviction proceedings for failure to pay rent in accordance with §21-23(c) of chapter 21 of this title, with the prior approval of HPD.

(h) Tenant Complaints. (1) Complaints shall, in the first instance, be directed to Lessee.

(2) Tenants shall have the right to file written complaints with HPD staff if a Tenant deems Lessee's response to be inadequate or unsatisfactory.

CHAPTER 30 NEIGHBORHOOD REDEVELOPMENT PROGRAM*1

§30-09 Rental Assistance.

(a) HPD will assist eligible Tenants in applying for existing rental assistance programs during the period of the Building's participation in the Program. HPD will provide Tenants with applications for §8 of the United States Housing Act of 1973, as amended, and senior citizen rent increase exemptions, advise Tenants which rental assistance program is most suitable for their individual needs and assist Tenants in completing rental assistance applications.

(b) Each Tenant who applies for rental assistance is solely responsible for supplying all required documentation and materials necessary to process an application: i.e., attending required interviews, providing the necessary income certification and complying with all procedures to process an application.

(c) HPD shall review all applications for rental assistance and make a preliminary determination of a Tenant's eligibility within sixty (60) days of receipt of a completed application. HPD shall promptly notify the Sponsor of all applicants for rental assistance and shall forward to the Sponsor copies of the applications, letters granting or denying rental assistance, Interim Payment Agreements entered into, and letters extending or terminating Interim Payment Agreements. Upon a finding of preliminary eligibility, HPD will provide the Tenant with an Interim Payment Agreement, which shall be signed by the Sponsor, the Tenant and HPD before it becomes effective. This Interim Payment Agreement shall include:

(1) the amount of the increased rent for the apartment;

(2) the amount of rent that the Tenant must pay pending the final eligibility determination of the rental assistance application (as such amount is determined in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section);

(3) a statement of the grounds for termination pursuant to subdivision (e) of this section; and

(4) notice to the Tenant that s(he) remains liable for the full amount of the rent retroactive to the effective date of the increase if, at any time, the rental assistance application is denied by HPD or the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraphs one, three or four of subdivision (e) of this section, provided, however, that if the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision (e) of this section, the Tenant shall not be liable for the full amount of the rent increase retroactive to its effective date if s(he) notifies HPD within thirty (30) days of any change in household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance.

(d) A Tenant who receives an Interim Payment Agreement will be required to pay the greater of (1) the amount set forth in the Interim Payment Agreement, which is the amount that s(he) would pay on a monthly basis if the rental assistance application is approved, or (2) the rent charged prior to implementation of the rent increase.

(e) The Interim Payment Agreement will terminate one year after the date of issuance or upon the earlier occurrence of any of the following:

(1) any change in the Tenant's household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance; or

(2) any change in the rent charged by the City; or

(3) failure by the Tenant to comply with any of the requirements necessary to process the application for rental assistance; or

(4) failure by the Tenant to pay, within thirty (30) days of the date due, the rent payable under the Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section, unless payment of such rent is being withheld for lack of services which the Tenant has given written notice of to the Sponsor; or

(5) receipt by Tenant of rental assistance pursuant to a rental assistance application filed in accordance with this section.

(f) HPD will permit any Tenant who has applied for rental assistance in accordance with subdivision (b) of this section and who has not been provided with an Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, to pay a rent increase in stages of $10.00 per room per quarter.

28 RCNY 31-01

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 31*1 TAX EXEMPTIONS UNDER §420-C OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§31-01 General Provisions.

(a) Scope. These Rules govern the grant of tax exemption pursuant to §420-c of the Real Property Tax Law including the procedure for filing an application for tax exemption and the issuance of Certificates of Eligibility by the Office.

(b) Definitions.

Aggregate Floor Area. "Aggregate Floor Area" shall mean the sum of the gross areas of the several floors of a building, measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls or from the center lines of walls separating two buildings.

Allocation Document. "Allocation Document" shall mean a document issued by the Housing Credit Agency with respect to Real Property indicating either (i) that such Real Property has received a binding reservation for tax credits or (ii) that such Real Property has been allocated tax credits pursuant to §42 of the Code.

Application Date. "Application Date" shall mean the date of submission to the Office of a completed application (including all required documentation), as determined by the office for benefits under this chapter.

Certificate of Eligibility. "Certificate of Eligibility" shall mean the certificate issued by the Office pursuant to §31-04(d) of these Rules.

City. "City" shall mean the City of New York.

Code. "Code" shall mean the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the commissioner of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or the commissioner of any successor agency or department thereto or her or his designee.

Controlling Interest. "Controlling Interest" shall mean: (i) in the case of a corporation, direct or indirect ownership of a majority of shares of each class of voting stock in such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, a majority ownership in each general partner in such partnership.

Department. "Department" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City.

Department of Finance. "Department of Finance" shall mean the Department of Finance of the City or any successor agency or department thereto.

Eligible Property. "Eligible Property" shall mean Real Property containing Housing Accommodations and conforming to the criteria listed in §31-02(a) of these rules. Real property not containing Housing Accommodations is not Eligible Property. If a portion of Real Property is not Eligible Property, tax exemption shall be apportioned in accordance with §31-03(b) of this chapter. Eligible Property shall be exempt if a Regulatory Agreement with the City or the State or the Housing Trust Fund Corporation is in effect and contemplates construction or rehabilitation of such property for use for housing for persons of low income by a date certain.

Housing Development Fund Company or HDFC. "Housing Development Fund Company or HDFC" shall mean a corporation organized pursuant to Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law and incorporated pursuant to §402 of the Not-For-Profit Corporation Law.

Housing Accommodations. "Housing Accommodations" shall mean Real Property used for (i) residential purposes including dwelling units, common sanitary and cooking and dining facilities, common recreation areas including outdoor recreation areas and public areas such as cellars, basements, public halls and stairs and roofs; (ii) ancillary residential purposes including management, administrative and social service offices and facilities used to provide social services (including job training, as defined herein) primarily for Persons or Families of Low Income residing in such Housing Accommodations; or (iii) on or after July 1, 2004, community facility uses that (A) provide services to individuals who reside in the area, (B) limit any fees charged for such community facility uses to fees that are affordable to individuals whose household incomes do not exceed sixty percent (60%) of the area median income adjusted for family size, and (C) are located on the same Real Property as the dwelling units that constitute such Housing Accommodations. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any portion of the combined floor area of such ancillary residential purposes and/or community facility uses which exceeds twenty-five percent (25%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of the Real Property shall not qualify as Housing Accommodations.

Housing Corporation. "Housing Corporation" shall mean a non-profit housing corporation as defined in Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law which is not incorporated as an HDFC as defined in such Article XI.

Housing Credit Agency. "Housing Credit Agency" shall mean the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal or the City's Department of Housing Preservation and Development or such other agency as shall be designated as a housing credit agency in the city for the State of New York under §42 of the Code.

Housing Trust Fund Corporation. "Housing Trust Fund Corporation" shall mean the corporation established pursuant to §45-a of the Private Housing Finance Law.

Initial Filing Date. The term "Initial Filing Date" shall mean the date an initial application is submitted to the office (which application may be incomplete).

Job Training. "Job Training" shall mean programs, services and commercial activities occurring within an Eligible Property in space occupied by a not-for-profit corporation. Such programs, services and commercial activities must be for the benefit primarily of Persons or Families of Low Income residing in the Housing Accommodations.

Loan "Loan" shall mean a loan for the acquisition and/or construction and/or rehabilitation and/or permanent financing of Housing Accommodations provided by the City, the State or the Housing Trust Fund Corporation.

Office. "Office" shall mean the Tax Incentive Programs Unit of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development or any successor thereto authorized to administer these rules.

Participant. "Participant" shall mean an owner of Real Property that is the subject of an Allocation Document.

Persons or Families of Low Income. "Persons or Families of Low Income" shall mean persons or families who are in low income groups and who cannot afford to pay enough to cause private enterprise in their municipality to build a sufficient supply of adequate, safe and sanitary dwellings as set forth in §2 of the Private Housing Finance Law.

Qualified Owner. "Qualified Owner" shall mean an entity: (a) which is either (i) an HDFC, or (ii) a Housing Corporation, or (iii) is a wholly owned subsidiary of such a company or corporation, or (iv) a limited partnership in which the Controlling Interest is held by (A) an HDFC or Housing Corporation or (B) a wholly owned subsidiary of an HDFC or Housing Corporation, or (v) a corporation sponsored or formed by such an HDFC company or Housing Corporation and (b) in which no officer, director, shareholder, member, partner or employee shall receive any pecuniary profit, income or other distributions from the Eligible Property except (i) low income housing tax credits and non-cash tax benefits available pursuant to the Code and (ii) reasonable compensation for services rendered and (c) which is a participant in the federal low income housing tax credit program pursuant to §42 of the Code and has not defaulted in its obligations thereunder. An example of a qualified owner is a limited partnership in which the Controlling Interest is held by: (a) an HDFC or Housing Corporation or (b) a wholly owned subsidiary of an HDFC or Housing Corporation. Housing Corporations are only eligible if in existence on the effective date of chapter 647 of the Laws of 1994 (August 2, 1994).

Real Property. The term "Real Property" shall mean the land, buildings and other improvements subject to taxation pursuant to §102 of the Real Property Tax Law which are the subject of an application under §31-04 of these Rules.

Regulatory Agreement. "Regulatory Agreement" shall mean an agreement with the City, the State or the Housing Trust Fund Corporation (i) restricting the use of Real Property to Housing Accommodations for Persons or Families of Low Income and (ii) imposing the rental and occupancy restrictions established by §42 of the Code on at least seventy percent (70%) of the dwelling units in such Real Property. Such agreement may be contained in the mortgage securing the Loan or may be a separate agreement recorded of record against the Real Property.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean these Rules.

State. "State" shall mean the State of New York.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Oct. 22, 1999:

Section 420-c of the Real Property Tax Law authorizes the Department of Housing, Preservation and Development to promulgate rules governing tax exemption. The proposed changes are intended to assist the City in its effort to authorize benefits for the types of projects contemplated by the Rules in a more clear and precise manner.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Feb. 20, 2008: Section 420-c of the Real Property Tax Law was originally enacted in 1993 to provide tax exemption for eligible owners who develop affordable housing by syndicating federal low income housing tax credits. Under Real Property Tax Law §420-c, eligible owners are corporations, partnerships or limited liability companies in which at least 50% of the controlling interest is held by a charitable or social welfare organization formed under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code. They also must own legal and beneficial title or a legal and beneficial leasehold interest with a term of at least 30 years. Furthermore, the municipality must sign or approve a regulatory agreement requiring that the real property be used to provide low income housing for the entire term of the tax exemption (i.e., even after the tax credits have expired). Currently, only ancillary residential purposes that primarily serve the residents of such housing accommodations can receive Real Property Tax Law §420-c benefits. The rule amendments extend this important tax exemption to community facility uses that meet eligibility criteria similar to those provided for in the tax credit program. Any project that has this type of community facility use as of July 1, 2004 or thereafter can now receive Real Property Tax Law §420-c benefits for such facility. This amendment recognizes the importance of such community facility uses to the entire community in which the housing accommodations are located and not just to the residents thereof. Collectively, the ancillary residential purposes and community service facilities in such housing accommodations cannot exceed 25% of the aggregate floor area of the real property. The portion that does will be ineligible for the Real Property Tax Law §420-c tax exemption.

§31-02 Eligibility Requirements.

(a) Eligible Property. Real Property may be eligible for an exemption from Real Property taxes as set forth in §31-05 if:

(1) It has been acquired and/or rehabilitated and/or constructed, and/or otherwise financed with a Loan; and

(2) It is bound by a Regulatory Agreement; (i) restricting the use of Real Property to Housing Accommodations for Persons or Families of Low Income and (ii) imposing the rental and occupancy restrictions established by §42 of the Code on at least seventy percent (70%) of the dwelling units in such Real Property. Such agreement may be contained in the mortgage securing the Loan or may be a separate agreement recorded of record against the Real Property; and

(3) An Allocation Document has been issued for the Eligible Property; and

(4) It is owned, at the Application Date and for the duration of such exemption, by a Qualified Owner; and

(5) It constitutes Housing Accommodations for Persons or Families of Low Income as set forth in the Regulatory Agreement or Allocation Document.

(b) Time Requirements.

(1) In order to receive retroactive tax exemption pursuant to §31-05(a)(2) hereof, the Initial Filing Date of an application for a Certificate of Eligibility must have been on or before October 24, 1993, unless application is made under Chapter 513 of the Laws of 1993 in which case application must be made ninety days after the effective date of said chapter (July 26, 1993).

(2) An application for a Certificate of Eligibility must contain all documentation required by §31-04(b) and be completed within twenty-four months of the Initial Filing Date with the Office or the application may be deemed withdrawn.

(3) If the Allocation Document submitted with the application for the Certificate of Eligibility was a binding or non-binding reservation or determination of eligibility for low income housing tax credits or a credit carry over allocation issued pursuant to §42(h)(1)(E) of the Code, then a United States Treasury Form 8609 of which Part I of said form is completed by a Housing Credit Agency must be submitted for the Real Property to the Office within thirty-six months of the Initial Filing Date of the application. In all cases the application file must ultimately contain a copy of Form 8609.

(5) Copy of the Allocation Document for the Real Property;

(6) Copy of the filed Certificate(s) of Incorporation, stock certificates, filed Certificate(s) of Limited Partnership and partnership agreements, as applicable, evidencing that the applicant is a Qualified Owner.

(7) Schematic drawings of all proposed or completed buildings or improvements to the Real Property, including all floors thereof, which schematic drawings identify those portions of the Real Property which are not dwelling units and clearly specify (i) areas used for common residential or ancillary residential purposes which qualify as Housing

Accommodations for Persons and Families of Low Income and (ii) all areas used for commercial and otherwise ineligible purposes which do not qualify as Housing Accommodations; indicate the square footage of each such space, all drawn to a scale acceptable to the Office which scale is clearly indicated on each drawing, provided, however, that the Office may waive schematics if there is no space not used for dwelling units or other residential purposes;

(8) A certification from the City, the State or the Housing Trust Fund Corporation indicating that the applicant is not in default under the terms of the Loan and the Regulatory Agreement with respect to the Real Property which is the subject of the application if requested by the Office; and

(9) A copy of the Temporary or Permanent Certificate of Occupancy, if issued.

(10) Any such additional documentation which the Office may require.

(11) An application may contain more than one building provided that each such building is part of a project, and is specified in the deed, mortgages and notes and the Regulatory Agreement(s) for such project; and provided further that there is a final Allocation Document for each such building.

(c) Completion of application. An application for a Certificate of Eligibility must contain all documentation required by §31-04(b) and be completed within twenty-four months of the Initial Filing Date with the Office or the application may be deemed withdrawn. An application for a Certificate of Eligibility shall be deemed complete if the application includes all the documentation required in §31-04(b). The requirements of §31-04(b)(5) may be temporarily satisfied as provided in §31-02(b)(3) by a binding or non-binding reservation or a credit carry over allocation issued pursuant to §42(h)(i)(E) of the Internal Revenue Code pending compliance with §31-02(b)(3) hereof or proof of application for such reservation or allocation. Applicants must notify the Office of any change of address and/or change of ownership of the premises and any change in the designated filing agent.

(d) Issuance of a certificate of eligibility.

(1) It is the applicant's responsibility to complete the application within twenty-four months, or, where applicable, within thirty-six months of the Initial Filing Date as provided in 31-04(c). The Office shall issue a Certificate of Eligibility for all approved applications.

(2) Failure to produce documentation satisfactory to the Office or failure to comply with these Rules may result in the denial of a Certificate of Eligibility, and rejection of the application.

(3) Notwithstanding the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, the tax exemption may be revoked or revised pursuant to §31-06 of these rules.

(e) Implementation of benefit. Upon issuance of a 420-c Certificate of Eligibility and payment of outstanding fees, the Office will transmit the Certificate of Eligibility to the Department of Finance

CHAPTER 31*1 TAX EXEMPTIONS UNDER §420-C OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§31-05 Tax Exemption: Effective Date, Duration and Amount.

(a) Effective date of exemption. Tax exemption under this chapter shall commence on the latter of: (i) the date of acquisition of the Eligible Property by the Qualified Owner or, (ii) the date of execution of a Regulatory Agreement, or (iii) the date upon which the property becomes a participant in the Federal Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program which is either the date of issuance of an Allocation Document or the date of signing of a Regulatory Agreement provided that an Allocation Document is issued prior to the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, except as follows:

(1) Where Eligible Property acquired after January 5 was exempt from Real Property taxation on the date of such transfer, the property shall remain exempt for the balance of the tax year in progress and for the next full tax year.

(2) Duration of exemption. The exemption shall expire upon the expiration or termination of the Regulatory Agreement or thirty years from commencement of exemption if the Regulatory Agreement exceeds thirty years. If the extended use period as defined in the Code is terminated in accordance with §42 of the Code, the Regulatory Agreement shall be deemed terminated.

(3) Amount of tax exemption. With respect to the portions of Real Property which are not Eligible Property, the Department of Finance will apportion assessed value between exempt portions of Real Property and non-exempt portions thereof (both as determined by the Office) based upon each portion's relative percentage of the entire parcel's full market value.

§31-06 Record Keeping; Revocation of Tax Exemption.

(a) Subpoenas, Oaths, Books and Records. For the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any application, the Commissioner may: (1) examine any books, papers, records or other data which may be relevant or material to such inquiry; (2) summon any person, including the owner or an officer or any employee of the owner, or any person having possession, custody or care of books, papers or records relating to the correctness of the application, to appear before the Commissioner or his or her designee at the time or place named in the summons or to produce such books, paper, records or other data and to give such testimony under oath, as may be relevant or material to such inquiry; and (3) take such testimony under oath as may be relevant to such inquiry.

(b) Retention of Books and Records. All books, records and documents listed in §31-04, together with all other documents which may be used to substantiate entries in the applicant's books and records shall be kept by the applicant at all times available for inspection by the Office and shall be retained for the duration of the tax exemption.

(c) Preservation and Inspection of Records. Records of each application shall be maintained by the Office. Records of approved applications are available for inspection and copying upon prior written request to the Office. Copies of records are available upon payment in advance of an amount to be determined by the Office.

(d) Suspension or Revocation of Tax Exemption.

(1) The Commissioner may suspend future tax exemptions if she or he finds reasonable evidence indicating that the application for tax exemption, including any substantiating documentation submitted or considered in connection with the application, contains a false statement or false information as to a material matter or omits a material matter. In the event the Commissioner determines, on the basis of the total available evidence, that the application contains false statements or false information as to a material matter or omits a material matter, all past and future benefits hereunder may be revoked.

(2) The Commissioner may revoke the tax exemption retroactively in whole or in part during the tax exemption period if there has been fraud or misrepresentation or for a failure to provide notice under §31-06(f) hereof.

(3) The Commissioner shall revoke or revise, as applicable, tax exemptions prospectively in the event the Real Property or any portion thereof is no longer Eligible Property. An Eligible Property shall not be deemed "no longer an Eligible Property" for the purposes of this paragraph solely because the term of the Loan has expired.

(e) Additional Grounds for Suspension or Revocation.

(1) The Commissioner may suspend tax exemptions prospectively in the event that the owner of the Real Property is in default under the terms of the Loan and/or the Regulatory Agreement. The suspension of tax exemption shall commence upon the date of the issuance of a notice of default from the City. In the event the default is not cured, the Commissioner shall revoke all future tax exemptions.

(2) If the Allocation Document for the Real Property submitted with the application for Certificate of Eligibility was not a United States Treasury Form 8609 of which Part I of said form has been completed by the Housing Credit Agency, the Commissioner may revoke past and future tax exemption if the Applicant has not submitted such form 8609 within thirty-six months of the Initial Filing Date of the application. The Commissioner may revoke past and future tax exemptions if the Applicant has not submitted to the Office a Permanent Certificate of Occupancy for the Eligible Property within thirty-six months after the Initial Filing Date.

(f) Owner's Notification. Throughout the period of the exemption, if there is any material change in the information upon which the Office has relied in granting the Certificate of Eligibility, the owner of the Real Property benefiting from tax exemption shall notify the Office within one month of such changes. Such notification shall be by certified mail and in a form acceptable to the Office. Such material changes shall include, but not be limited to, changes in the use of any portion of the Eligible Property as Housing Accommodations and changes in any aspect of the ownership status or management of Applicant.

(g) Notice of Suspension, Revocation or Reduction. Prior to suspension, revocation or reduction of tax exemption hereunder, notice of the breach or omission shall be given by the Office to the applicant by certified mail to the address of the owner or agent duly registered on the City Collector's Owner Registration File. Benefits shall not be suspended, revoked or reduced if, within thirty days after the date of the mailing of such notice, the owner establishes that such breach or omission did not occur.

(h) Fees. For Applications received after the effective date of these Rules, the Office shall charge a filing fee of one hundred ($100) dollars per Application. In addition, there shall be a charge of eighty ($80) dollars per Class A dwelling unit and sixty ($60) dollars per Class B dwelling unit, as applicable, due at the time of issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility. Such fee shall be non-refundable under any circumstances, including but not limited to the subsequent revocation or revision of a Certificate. A declaratory ruling with respect to an analysis of a specific fact pattern, document or organizational structure or an interpretation of the applicability of a specific provision of the 420-c statute or Rules to an actual or hypothetical site, project, fact pattern, document or organizational structure or any other issue related to eligibility may be given by the Office upon payment of a non-refundable fee of two hundred fifty ($250) dollars payable at the time such declaratory ruling is requested in writing. In no event shall a prior ruling bind the Office as to the overall eligibility of a project for 420-c benefits.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 32*1 TAX EXEMPTION AND TAX ABATEMENT UNDER §421-G OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§32-02 Definitions.

As used in this chapter, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

Act. "Act" shall mean §421-g of the Real Property Tax Law.

Aggregate Floor Area. "Aggregate Floor Area" shall mean the sum of the gross areas of the several floors of a building, measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls or from the center lines of walls separating two buildings.

Applicant. "Applicant" shall mean any person obligated to pay real property taxes on the property for which exemption from or abatement of real property taxes under the Act is sought or in the case of exempt property, the record owner or lessee thereof.

Benefit Period. "Benefit Period" shall mean the period of time when a Recipient is eligible to receive benefits pursuant to the Act.

Certificate of Eligibility. "Certificate of Eligibility" shall mean the document issued by the Department certifying a tax lot as eligible for benefits pursuant to the Act.

Class A Multiple Dwelling. "Class A Multiple Dwelling" shall mean a Class A multiple dwelling as defined in §4 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

Commencement of Conversion. "Commencement of Conversion" shall mean the date of issuance by the Department of Buildings of a building permit for the conversion of a Non-Residential Building to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling, provided however that such permit is issued on or after July 1, 1995 and no later than June 30, 2007.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development, or his or her designee, or the chief executive officer of any successor agency or department thereto authorized to administer these Rules.

Completion of Conversion. "Completion of Conversion" shall mean the date of issuance by the Department of Buildings of a Temporary or Permanent Certificate of Occupancy for the portion of the building for which an application for a Certificate of Eligibility is filed.

Department. "Department" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York or any successor agency or department thereto.

Department of Buildings. "Department of Buildings" shall mean the Department of Buildings of the City of New York or any successor agency or department thereto.

Department of Finance. "Department of Finance" shall mean the Department of Finance of the City of New York or any successor agency or department thereto.

Eligible Area. Subject to the Zoning Resolution, the "Eligible Area" in which tax benefits pursuant to the Act for Eligible Multiple Dwellings are available shall mean the area in the borough of Manhattan bounded by Murray Street on the north starting at the intersection of West Street and Murray Street; running easterly along the center line of Murray Street; connecting through City Hall Park with the center line of Frankfort Street and running easterly along the center lines of Frankfort and Dover Streets to the intersection of Dover Street and South Street; running southerly along the center line of South Street to Peter Minuit Plaza; connecting through Peter Minuit Plaza to the center line of State Street and running northwesterly along the center line of State Street to the intersection of State Street and Battery Place; running westerly along the center line of Battery Place to the intersection of Battery Place and West Street; and running northerly along the center line of West Street to the intersection of West Street and Murray Street.

Any tax lot which is located partly inside the Eligible Area shall be deemed to be located entirely inside such area.

Eligible Multiple Dwelling. "Eligible Multiple Dwelling" shall mean a Class A multiple dwelling, except a Hotel, created from conversion of a Non-Residential Building, provided, however, that such multiple dwelling is located within the Eligible Area, and provided further, however, that the Aggregate Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space within such multiple dwelling does not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such multiple dwelling.

Exempt Dwelling Unit. "Exempt Dwelling Unit" shall mean a dwelling unit exempt from rent regulation or deregulated pursuant to the Rent Regulation Reform Act of 1993, the Rent Regulation Reform Act of 1997, Local Law 4 of 1994, or by reason of the condominium or cooperative status of the dwelling unit.

Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space. "Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space" shall mean the gross horizontal areas of all space in a multiple dwelling or dwellings designated for commercial or community facility or accessory uses (as defined in §12-10 of the Zoning Resolution). Home occupation space within dwelling units shall not be counted as accessory use space.

Hotel. "Hotel" shall mean (i) any Class B multiple dwelling, as such term is defined in the Multiple Dwelling Law, (ii) any structure or part thereof containing living or sleeping accommodations which is used or intended to be used for transient occupancy, (iii) any apartment hotel or transient hotel as defined in the Zoning Resolution, or (iv) any structure or part thereof which is used to provide short term rentals or owned or leased by an entity engaged in the business of providing short term rentals. For purposes of this definition, a lease, sublease, license or any other form of rental agreement for a period of less than six months shall be deemed to be a short term rental. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a structure or part thereof owned or leased by a not-for-profit corporation for the purpose of providing governmentally funded emergency housing shall not be considered a hotel for purposes of this chapter.

Landmark. "Landmark" shall mean a structure designated a landmark or a structure in a historic district designated by the Landmarks Preservation Commission of the City of New York or any successor commission, agency or department thereto.

Non-Residential Building. "Non-Residential Building" shall mean a structure or portion of a structure having at least one floor, a roof and at least three walls enclosing all or most of the space used in connection with the structure or portion of the structure, and which has a Certificate of Occupancy for commercial, manufacturing or other non-residential use for not less than ninety per cent (90%) of the aggregate floor area of such structure or portion of such structure, or other proof of such non-residential use as is acceptable to the Department.

Office. "Office" shall mean the Office of Tax Incentives of the Department or any successor thereto.

Person. "Person" shall mean an individual, corporation, limited liability company, partnership, association, agency, trust, estate, foreign or domestic government or subdivision thereof, or other entity.

Recipient. "Recipient" shall mean an applicant to whom a Certificate of Eligibility has been issued pursuant to the Act or the successor in interest of such applicant, provided that where a person who has entered into a lease or purchase agreement with the owner or lessee of exempt property has been a co-applicant, such person or the successor in interest of such person shall be deemed the Recipient.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean this chapter of the Rules of the City of New York.

Temporary Certificate of Occupancy. "Temporary Certificate of Occupancy" shall mean, for the purpose of establishing eligibility pursuant to the Act, a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy issued by the Department of Buildings for all of the dwelling units in an Eligible Multiple Dwelling for which benefits pursuant to the Act are sought.

Zoning Resolution. "Zoning Resolution" shall mean the Zoning Resolution of the City of New York.

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 32*1 TAX EXEMPTION AND TAX ABATEMENT UNDER §421-G OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§32-03 Application Procedure, Documentation, Filing Fees.

(a) Application Forms. All applications shall be submitted to the Department by the March 31 immediately following the first taxable status date following Completion of Conversion on such form or forms as shall be prescribed by the Department. All application forms may be obtained from the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Office of Tax Incentives, 100 Gold Street, New York, NY 10038. Only applications complete in all detail shall be considered for a Certificate of Eligibility. All forms must be filled out fully and legibly by the applicant and shall be typewritten or inscribed in permanent ink.

An application shall consist of the following:

(1) A copy of the pre-construction Certificate of Occupancy, or, if no such Certificate of Occupancy is available, a letter from the Department of Buildings establishing the pre-conversion use of the Non-Residential Building, or other proof that the Eligible Multiple Dwelling was a Non-Residential Building prior to conversion.

(2) A copy of the new Temporary or Permanent Certificate of Occupancy issued as a result of the conversion of a Non-Residential Building to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling. The new Temporary or Permanent Certificate of Occupancy must be issued by the Department of Buildings by the taxable status date in order for the Eligible Multiple Dwelling to receive tax benefits the following tax year.

(3) (i) If the Eligible Multiple Dwelling shall be owned as a cooperative or condominium: a copy of the prospectus or offering plan which has been accepted for filing by the Attorney General (if required by law), and all subsequent amendments which become effective prior to the time the Office issues a Certificate of Eligibility. If the prospectus or offering plan has not yet been approved by the Attorney General, a statement by the owner that if the prospective cooperative or condominium plan has not been declared effective for filing at a time fifteen months after the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, that such owner will register the rental units with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal no later than fifteen calendar days after such fifteen month period or

(ii) If the Eligible Multiple Dwelling shall be owned as a rental building:

(A) evidence satisfactory to the Office that the owner of rental dwelling units has registered all dwelling units in the Eligible Multiple Dwelling other than Exempt Dwelling Units with the New York State Division of Housing Community and Renewal or

(B) if the Eligible Multiple Dwelling is not registered at the time of issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, an affidavit, on a form approved by the Office, stating that the owner shall register all units other than Exempt Dwelling Units as they become occupied and shall submit proof of registration thereof.

(4) A copy of one set of plans covering the Eligible Multiple Dwelling approved by the Department of Buildings, as evidenced by a seal of the Department of Buildings thereon or an architect's affidavit that such plans are so approved.

(5) A copy of the Department of Buildings "Plan Work Approval Application" (PW-1), with the "Schedule A-Occupancy/Use" (PW-1A), the "Work Permit Application" (PW-2), and the approved building permit or equivalent, as required by the Department of Buildings.

(6) A copy of the dated revised tax map approved by the Department of Finance if applicable. A complete application for a revised tax map for the Eligible Multiple Dwelling must be filed with the Department of Finance no later than December first of the year preceding the commencement of the Benefit Period.

(7) A computer printout from the Department of Finance and the Department of Environmental Protection (for water & sewer charges) listing outstanding charges on the Eligible Multiple Dwelling owed to the City. If outstanding charges on the Eligible Multiple Dwelling are owed to the City at time of application, the Applicant must provide proof of payment or evidence that the outstanding charges are being paid in timely installments pursuant to a written agreement with the Department of Finance or other appropriate agency.

(8) An affidavit, in the form approved by the Office, setting forth the following information:

(i) a statement that within seven years immediately preceding the date of application for a Certificate of Eligibility, neither the Applicant, nor any person owning a substantial interest in the property (as herein defined as ownership and control of an interest of ten per cent (10%) or more in property or any Person owning a property), nor any officer, director, or general partner of the applicant or such person was finally adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction to have violated §235 of the Real Property Law or any section of Article 150 of the Penal Law or any similar arson law of another jurisdiction with respect to any building, or was an officer, director, or general partner of a Person at the time such Person was finally adjudicated to have violated such law; and

(ii) a statement setting forth any pending charges alleging violation of §235 of the Real Property Law or any section of Article 150 of the Penal Law or any similar arson law of another jurisdiction with respect to any building by the applicant or any Person owning a substantial interest (as defined above) in the property, or any officer, director, or general partner of the Applicant or such Person, or any Person for whom the applicant or person owning a substantial interest in the property is an officer, director or general partner.

(9) A statement that the applicant agrees to comply with and be subject to the Rules promulgated by the Department of Finance and the Department to secure compliance with the Act and all applicable local, state, and federal laws.

(10) Such application shall also certify that all taxes, water charges and sewer rents currently due and owing on the property which is subject of the application have been paid or are currently being paid in timely installments pursuant to written agreement with the Department of Finance or other appropriate agency.

(b) Qualified Applicants. (1) In addition to any other qualifications for benefits pursuant to the Act, the Applicant must be:

(i) obligated to pay real property tax on the property for which benefits are sought, whether such obligation arises because of record ownership of such property or because the obligation to pay such tax has been assumed by contract; or

(ii) the record owner or lessee of property which is exempt from real property taxation who has entered into an agreement to sell or lease such property to another person. Such person shall be a co-applicant with such owner or lessee.

(2) A co-applicant with a public entity shall be eligible to receive benefits pursuant to the Act, provided that for such period as the property that is the subject of the Certificate of Eligibility is exempt from real property taxation because it is owned or controlled by a public entity no benefits shall be available to such Recipient pursuant to the Act.

Such Recipient shall receive benefits pursuant to the Act when such property ceases to be eligible for exemption pursuant to other provisions of law, as follows: the Recipient shall, commencing with the date such tax exemption ceases, and continuing until the expiration of the Benefit Period pursuant to the Act, receive the benefits to which such Recipient is entitled in the corresponding tax year pursuant to the Act.

(3) The burden of proof shall be on the applicant to show by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements for granting benefits under the Act have been satisfied. The Department shall have the authority to require that statements in connection with the application shall be made under oath.

(c) Timing Requirements. (1) Non-Residential Buildings of less than 100,000 square feet of Aggregate Floor Area

(i) In a non-residential building of less than 100,000 square feet of Aggregate Floor Area; Completion of Conversion to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling of at least seventy-five per cent (75%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential Building, as evidenced by a Temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy, must take place within three years of Commencement of Construction.

(ii) Only the Aggregate Floor Area for which conversion is completed within such three year period shall be considered in calculating the exemption and abatement provided pursuant to the Act.

(2) Non-Residential Buildings of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area

(i) In a Non-Residential Building of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area, Completion of Conversion to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling of at least seventy-five per cent (75%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential Building, as evidenced by a Temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy, must take place within five years of Commencement of Conversion, provided, however, that Completion of Conversion to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling of at least fifty per cent (50%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential Building must take place within three years of Commencement of Conversion.

(ii) Proof of completion of partial conversion within three years shall be submitted with an application for a Certificate of Eligibility for full exemption and abatement benefits pursuant to the Act.

(iii) Only the Aggregate Floor Area for which conversion is completed within the five-year period specified in §32-03(c)(2)(i) of these Rules or, in the case of partial exemption from or partial abatement of real property taxes, the three-year period specified in §32-04(b)(3) of these Rules, shall be considered in calculating the exemption and abatement provided pursuant to the Act, provided, however, that neither partial exemption from nor partial abatement of real property taxes shall be available for Commercial, Community Facility or Accessory Use Space.

(d) Calculating Aggregate Floor Area. (1) In a Non-Residential Building of less than 100,000 square feet of Aggregate Floor Area containing a separately assessed non-residential parcel, the Aggregate Floor Area of such separately assessed non-residential parcel shall not be considered in determining whether seventy-five per cent (75%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential Building has been converted to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling.

(2) In a Non-Residential Building of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area containing a separately assessed non-residential parcel, the Aggregate Floor Area of such separately assessed non-residential parcel shall not be considered in determining whether seventy-five per cent (75%) or, in the case of partial exemption from or partial abatement of real property taxes, fifty per cent (50%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential building has been converted to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling.

(3) Commercial Reduction of Benefits: (i) If the Aggregate Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space exceeds twelve per cent (12%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of any building (Eligible Multiple Dwelling) receiving benefits pursuant to the Act, the benefits provided pursuant to the Act shall be equal to the amount provided by §32-04(b)(1) and §32-04(b)(2) of these Rules, reduced by a percentage equal to the difference between the per centum of the Aggregate Floor Area that is Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space and twelve per cent (12%).

(ii) If the Aggregate Floor Area of such building (Eligible Multiple Dwelling) contains more than twenty-five per cent (25%) of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space no benefits shall be available pursuant to the Act.

(iii) If a building contains a separately assessed non-residential parcel, the Aggregate Floor Area of such parcel shall not be considered in calculating the Aggregate Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space relevant to determining eligibility for and amount of benefits pursuant to the Act.

(e) Filing Fees. (1) Application Fee: A non-refundable application fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) plus two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) per dwelling unit, not to exceed twenty five thousand dollars ($25,000) per application shall be paid at the time of application. For applications received prior to the effective date of these Rules, the application fee shall be paid at the time of issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility. No applications received after the effective date of these Rules will be accepted by the Department without the application fee. For Eligible Multiple Dwellings of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area applying for partial benefits, each subsequent submission after the initial application shall be accompanied by a non-refundable fee of two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars. Such fee shall be non-refundable under any circumstances, including but not limited to the subsequent revocation or revision of a Certificate of Eligibility.

(2) A declaratory ruling with respect to an analysis of a specific fact pattern, document or organizational structure or an interpretation of the applicability of a specific provision of the Act or Rules to an actual or hypothetical site, project, fact pattern, document or organizational structure or any other issue related to eligibility may be given by the Office upon payment of a non-refundable fee of one thousand five hundred ($1,500) dollars payable at the time such declaratory ruling is requested in writing. In no event shall a prior ruling bind the Office as to the overall eligibility of a project for benefits pursuant to the Act.

(3) Payment of the fees required by paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision shall be made by a certified or cashier's check payable to the New York City Department of Finance.

(4) Paragraphs (1) and (3) of this subdivision shall take effect in accordance with subdivision e of §1043 of the Charter and shall be retroactive to and deemed to have been in full force and effect on and after April 1, 1997.

CHAPTER 32*1 TAX EXEMPTION AND TAX ABATEMENT UNDER §421-G OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§32-04 Effective Date, Duration of Exemption and Abatement, Implementation Procedure with the Department of Finance.

(a) Effective Date of Abatement and Exemption. Tax benefits issued pursuant to the Act shall begin the July 1 following the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility by the Department, provided that:

(1) an application for tax benefits must be received by the Department by the close of business on the March 31 following the first taxable status date following Completion of Conversion. An application for partial tax exemption and abatement benefits for Non-Residential Buildings of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area must be received by the close of business on the March 31 following the first taxable status date following the partial Completion of Conversion, and

(2) a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy or Certificate of Occupancy is issued by the Department of Buildings by the prior taxable status date, and

(3) for applications received after March 31, 1997, the applicant has submitted evidence that the Department of Finance has approved the final tax lots for those tax lots subject to the benefits pursuant to the Act by the prior taxable status date, if lot apportionment is required.

(b) Duration and Extent of Benefits. (1) Duration of Exemption.

(i) Eligible Multiple Dwellings not designated as a Landmark prior to Completion of Conversion: a tax lot containing an Eligible Multiple Dwelling that is the subject of a Certificate of Eligibility issued pursuant to the Act shall be exempt from real property taxation for local purposes, other than assessments for local improvements, on the amount of the assessed value attributable exclusively to the physical improvement, for a period not to exceed twelve consecutive years beginning in the tax year immediately following the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, so long as such Eligible Multiple Dwelling is used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, except as otherwise provided herein.

During the first eight years, the exemption shall equal the amount of the assessed value attributable exclusively to the physical improvement. During the ninth year, the exemption shall equal eighty per cent (80%) of such amount; during the tenth year, the exemption shall equal sixty per cent (60%) of such amount; during the eleventh year, the exemption shall equal forty per cent (40%) of such amount; and during the twelfth year, the exemption shall equal twenty per cent (20%) of such amount.

(ii) Eligible Multiple Dwellings designated as a Landmark before Completion of Conversion: a tax lot containing an Eligible Multiple Dwelling that is the subject of a Certificate of Eligibility issued pursuant to the Act, and that is in a building that, in accordance with procedures set forth in local law, was designated as a Landmark before Completion of Conversion shall be exempt from real property taxation for local purposes, other than assessments for local improvements, on the amount of the assessed value attributable exclusively to the physical improvement, for a period not to exceed thirteen consecutive years beginning in the tax year immediately following the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, so long as such Eligible Multiple Dwelling is used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, except as otherwise provided herein.

During the first nine years, the exemption shall equal the amount of the assessed value attributable exclusively to the physical improvement. During the tenth year, the exemption shall equal eighty per cent (80%) of such amount; during the eleventh year, the exemption shall equal sixty per cent (60%) of such amount; during the twelfth year, the exemption shall equal forty per cent (40%) of such amount; and during the thirteenth year, the exemption shall equal twenty per cent (20%) of such amount.

(2) Duration of Abatement. (i) Eligible Multiple Dwellings not designated as a Landmark prior to Completion of Conversion: in addition to the benefits set forth in §32-04(b)(1)(i) of these Rules, a tax lot containing an Eligible Multiple Dwelling that is the subject of a Certificate of Eligibility issued pursuant to the Act shall receive an abatement of real property taxes for a period not to exceed fourteen consecutive years beginning in the tax year immediately following the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, so long as such Eligible Multiple Dwelling is used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, except as otherwise provided herein.

During the first year, the abatement shall be equal to the amount of the real property tax that would have been due but for such abatement, provided, however, that if the tax lot, during the first year of such abatement, was fully or partially exempt from real property taxes, other than pursuant to the exemption authorized by the Act, then the abatement shall equal the amount of real property tax that would have been due but for such full or partial exemption. During the second through tenth years, the abatement shall equal one hundred per cent (100%) of such amount; during the eleventh year, the abatement shall equal eighty per cent (80%) of such amount; during the twelfth year, the abatement shall equal sixty per cent (60%) of such amount; during the thirteenth year, the abatement shall equal forty per cent (40%) of such amount, and during the fourteenth year, the abatement shall equal twenty per cent (20%) of such amount.

(ii) Eligible Multiple Dwellings designated a Landmark prior to Completion of Conversion: in addition to the benefits set forth in §32-04(b)(1)(ii) of these Rules, a tax lot containing an Eligible Multiple Dwelling that is the subject of a Certificate of Eligibility issued pursuant to the Act and that is in a building that, in accordance with procedures set forth in local law, was designated as a Landmark before Completion of Conversion shall receive an abatement of real property taxes for a period not to exceed fifteen consecutive years beginning in the tax year immediately following the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility, so long as such Eligible Multiple Dwelling is used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, except as otherwise provided herein.

During the first year, the abatement shall be equal to the amount of the real property tax that would have been due but for such abatement, provided, however, that if the tax lot, during the first year of such abatement, was fully or partially exempt from real property taxes, other than pursuant to the exemption authorized by the Act, then the abatement shall equal the amount of the real property tax that would have been due but for such full or partial exemption. During the second through eleventh years, the abatement shall equal one hundred per cent (100%) of such amount; during the twelfth year, the abatement shall equal eighty per cent (80%) of such amount; during the thirteenth year, the abatement shall equal sixty per cent (60%) of such amount; during the fourteenth year, the abatement shall equal forty per cent (40%) of such amount, and during the fifteenth year, the abatement shall equal twenty per cent (20%) of such amount.

The following table shall illustrate the computation of the exemption and abatement pursuant to this subsection:

Tax Year Following Date of Issuance of Certificate of Eligibility	Landmarked Eligible Multiple Dwellings		Non-Landmarked Eligible Multiple Dwellings

(3) Partial Benefits for Buildings of 100,000 square feet or more

(i) In a Non-Residential Building of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area in which Completion of Conversion to an Eligible Multiple Dwelling of at least fifty per cent (50%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of such Non-Residential Building has taken place within three years of Commencement of Conversion, and which is the subject of a Certificate of Eligibility for partial exemption and partial abatement issued pursuant to the Act, partial exemption and partial abatement of real property taxes shall be available, as follows:

(A) partial exemption benefits shall equal the amount of the assessed value attributable exclusively to the physical improvement resulting from the conversion of at least fifty per cent (50%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of the Non-Residential Building that has received a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy and

(B) partial abatement benefits shall be equal to the amount of the real property tax that would have been due during the first year of such partial abatement but for such partial abatement upon the amount of square feet of Aggregate Floor Area of the Non-Residential Building that has received a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy for conversion of at least fifty per cent (50%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of the Non-Residential Building, provided, however, that if the tax lot, during the first year of such partial abatement was fully or partially exempt from real property taxes, other than pursuant to the exemption authorized by the Act, then the partial abatement shall be equal to the amount of real property tax that would have been due upon such amount of square feet of Aggregate Floor Area of the Non-Residential Building but for such full or partial exemption. Nothing in this paragraph shall be deemed to require an Applicant to apply for partial exemption or abatement benefits pursuant to the Act, provided, however, that if an applicant applies for a Certificate of Eligibility for such benefits, he or she shall submit proof of completion of partial conversion with the application for such certificate.

(ii) The Benefit Period of the exemption and abatement benefits defined in §32-04(b) of these Rules shall begin upon receipt of any partial exemption from or partial abatement of real property taxes for a Non-Residential Building of 100,000 square feet or more of Aggregate Floor Area.

(4) Benefit Reduction for Non-Residential Space. If the Aggregate Floor Area of Commercial, Community Facility and Accessory Use Space exceeds twelve per cent (12%) of the Aggregate Floor Area of any building receiving benefits pursuant to the Act, the abatement and exemption benefit shall be reduced according to the procedure set forth in §32-03(d)(3) of these Rules.

(5) Benefits granted under the Act may not be combined with benefits under any other section of the Real Property Tax Law or any local law or any Rule promulgated thereunder for the same tax lot.

(c) Implementation of Benefit. Upon issuance of a 421-g Certificate of Eligibility, payment of outstanding fees, and verification that all charges owed to the City outstanding for more than one quarter have been paid, the Department will transmit the Certificate of Eligibility to the Department of Finance.

CHAPTER 32*1 TAX EXEMPTION AND TAX ABATEMENT UNDER §421-G OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§32-05 Rent Regulation.

(a) Applicability of Rent Regulation: Notwithstanding the provisions of the City Rent and Rehabilitation Law (§26-401 et seq. of the Administrative Code), as amended; or the Rent Stabilization Law of 1969 (§26-501 et seq. of the Administrative Code), as amended; or the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974, as amended, the rents of each dwelling unit in an Eligible Multiple Dwelling, except Exempt Dwelling Units, shall be fully subject to control under such local laws and act for the entire period for which the Eligible Multiple Dwelling is receiving benefits pursuant to the Act. An Eligible Multiple Dwelling receiving benefits pursuant to the Act whose benefits are suspended, terminated or revoked by the Department shall be deemed to be receiving benefits for the length of time such benefits would have been received if such benefits had not been suspended, terminated or revoked, or for the period such local law is in effect, whichever is shorter.

(b) Deregulation of Units: After the expiration of the Benefit Period, such rents shall continue to be subject to rent regulation, except that such rents that would not have been subject to such rent regulation but for this Section, shall be decontrolled if the landlord has included in each lease and renewal thereof for such unit for the tenant in residence at the time of such decontrol a notice in at least twelve point type informing such tenant that the unit shall become subject to such decontrol upon the expiration of benefits pursuant to the Act.

CHAPTER 32*1 TAX EXEMPTION AND TAX ABATEMENT UNDER §421-G OF THE REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW

§32-06 Certifying Continuing Use, Record Keeping; Revocation of Tax Exemption and Abatement; Discrimination Prohibited.

(a) Certifying Continuing Use. (1) For the duration of the Benefit Period, the Recipient shall file annually with the Department, on or before the taxable status date, a certificate of continuing use. Such certificate shall be on a form prescribed by the Department. The Department shall have the authority to require such information as it deems necessary to determine whether the Recipient has established continuing eligibility for benefits.

(2) The Department shall have the authority to terminate benefits pursuant to the Act upon failure of the Recipient to file such certificate by the taxable status date. The burden of proof shall be on the Recipient to establish continuing eligibility for benefits and the Department may require that statements made in such certificate shall be made under oath.

(3) The Recipient shall, on the certificate of continuing use, state whether any charges alleging violation by the Recipient or any Person owning substantial interest (as herein defined as ownership and control of an interest of ten per cent (10%) or more in property or any Person owning a property) in the property, or any officer, director, or general partner of the Recipient or Person owning a substantial interest in the property, or any Person for whom the Recipient or Person owning a substantial interest in the property is an officer, director or general partner, of §235 of the Real Property Law or any section of Article 150 of the Penal Law or any similar arson law of another jurisdiction, are pending.

(b) Collection of Data; subpoenas; testimony. At any time subsequent to the filing of an application and during the Benefit Period, the Department may:

(1) Examine any books, papers, records or other data which may be relevant or material to the tax exemption requested or granted;

(2) Administer oaths to and take the testimony of any Person, including, but not limited to the owner of property which is the subject of an application for a Certificate of Eligibility or a Certificate of Eligibility pursuant to the Act and issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of persons and the production of such bills, books, papers or other documents as it shall deem necessary.

(c) Availability of books and records, revocation. All books, records and documents required by §32-03(a) herein, or which relate to or support the application made pursuant to the Act, shall be kept by the owner and made available for inspection by the Department until the expiration of the tax benefit requested or granted. Failure to make books, records, or documents, including an annual schedule of rents for each unit in the building available upon request for the Benefit Period may result in the termination or revocation of tax benefits.

(d) Preservation of Records. The Department shall maintain a complete file of all records, documents, notice and correspondence relating to each application. Pursuant to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Law, these records shall be open to public inspection upon prior written request to the Department of Housing Preservation and Development, Records Access Officer, 100 Gold Street, New York, NY 10038.

(e) False or misleading documents; revocation. (1) The Department may deny, reduce, terminate or revoke any exemption from or abatement of tax payments pursuant to the Act whenever:

(i) a recipient fails to comply with the requirements of the Act or the Rules; or

(ii) an application, certificate, report or other document submitted by an applicant or Recipient pursuant to the Act or these rules contains a false or misleading statement as to a material fact or omits to state any material fact necessary in order to make the statements therein not false or misleading.

The Department may declare any applicant or recipient referred to in §32-06(e)(1)(a) or §32-06(e)(1)(b) of these Rules to be ineligible for future benefits pursuant to the Act for the same or other property.

(2) Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, a recipient shall be personally liable for any taxes owned pursuant to the Act whenever such Recipient fails to comply with the Act or these rules, or makes such false or misleading statement or omission, and the Department determines that such act was due to the recipient's willful neglect, or that under the circumstances such act constituted a fraud on the Department or a buyer or prospective buyer of the property. The remedy herein for an action in personam shall be in addition to any other remedy or procedure for the enforcement of collection of delinquent taxes provided by any general, special or local law. Any lease provision which obligates a tenant to pay taxes which become due because of willful neglect or fraud by the recipient, or otherwise relieves or indemnifies the recipient from any personal liability arising hereunder, shall be void as against public policy except where the imposition of such taxes or liability is occasioned by actions of the tenant in violation of the lease.

(f) Additional grounds for termination or revocation. The Commissioner of Finance or the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development may terminate or revoke tax exemption and tax abatement granted to a building pursuant to the Act upon the happening of any of the following events:

(1) Any eligible multiple dwelling in which aggregate floor area is converted from the use authorized pursuant to the Act:

(i) where such conversion results in less than seventy-five per cent (75%) of the aggregate floor area of such property being used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, or

(ii) where such conversion results in more than twenty-five per cent (25%) of such aggregate floor area being used or held out for use for commercial, community facility or accessory use space, or

(iii) where such conversion in a building of 100,000 square feet or more of aggregate floor area that has a certificate of eligibility for partial exemption or partial abatement pursuant to §32-04(b)(3) of these rules results in less than fifty per cent (50%) of such aggregate floor area being used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, shall cease to be eligible for benefits as of the last date upon which the eligible multiple dwelling met the requirements of the Act and the recipient proves by clear and convincing evidence that at least seventy-five per cent (75%) of the aggregate floor area of the property was used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, or twenty-five per cent (25%) or less of the aggregate floor area of such property was used or held out for use for commercial, community facility or accessory use space, or at least fifty per cent (50%) of the aggregate floor area of such property in a building of 100,000 sqare feet or more which is receiving partial exemption or abatement benefits was used or held out for use for dwelling purposes, respectively.

Such recipient shall pay, with interest, any taxes for which benefits were claimed after such date, including the pro-rata share of tax for which any benefits were claimed during the tax year in which the property was converted to a use not eligible for benefits pursuant to the Act.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, an eligible multiple dwelling shall not be subject to termination or revocation of benefits pursuant to this paragraph (1) by reason of the conversion of the use of space therein if such conversion results from the actions of a third party unaffiliated with the recipient, the lease or occupancy agreement with such third party contains a provision prohibiting such conversion, and the recipient is actively prosecuting enforcement of such provision.

(2) If, during the benefit period, any real property tax or water or sewer charge due and payable with respect to property receiving an exemption or abatement pursuant to the Act shall remain unpaid for at least one year following the date upon which such tax or charge became due and payable, all exemptions and abatements granted pursuant to the Act with respect to such property shall be revoked, unless within thirty days from the mailing of a notice of revocation by the Department of Finance satisfactory proof is presented to the Department of Finance that any and all delinquent taxes and charges owing with respect to such property as of the date of such notice have been paid in full or are currently being paid in timely installments pursuant to a written agreement with the Department of Finance or other appropriate agency. Any revocation pursuant to this paragraph shall be effective with respect to real property tax which became due and payable following the date of such revocation.

(3) The eligible multiple dwelling ceases to be subject to the provisions of law set forth in §32-05 of these rules unless the eligible multiple dwelling is exempt from such provisions. Termination shall be effective on the date of such cessation;

(4) Any person subject to be summoned by virtue of §32-06(b) of these rules fails to appear and produce books, papers, records or other data as required by said section, after being duly summoned to appear. Revocation shall be retroactive to start of construction;

(5) The applicant fails to file the certificate of continuing use as described in §32-06(a) of these rules by the taxable status date of a given year. Termination of benefits shall take effect July 1 of the tax year relating to such taxable status date.

(6) Any partial exemption from or partial abatement of real property taxes granted pursuant to the Act for a non-residential building of 100,000 square feet or more of aggregate floor area shall be revoked if completion of conversion of at least seventy-five per cent (75%) of the aggregate floor area of such non-residential building has not taken place within five years of commencement of conversion. Revocation shall be retroactive to the commencement of the benefit period.

(7) If any person described in the statement required by §32-03(a)(8) or §32-06(a)(3) of these rules is finally adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction to be guilty of any charge listed in such statement, the recipient shall cease to be eligible for benefits pursuant to the Act and shall pay, with interest, any taxes for which benefits were claimed pursuant to the Act.

(g) Discrimination prohibited; revocation. No owner of a multiple dwelling that is receiving the benefits of the Act, nor any agent, employee, manager or officer of such owner shall directly or indirectly deny to any person any of the dwelling accommodations in such property or any of the privileges or services incident to occupancy thereto in violation of the anti-discrimination provision of §8-107 of the Administrative Code. The practice of any discrimination as described herein shall result in the revocation of benefits under the Act, retroactive to the date of such practice. Nothing contained in this subdivision (g) shall restrict such consideration in the development of housing accommodations for the lawful purpose of providing for the special needs of a particular group.

(h) Notice and procedure upon reduction, suspension, termination or revocation. Prior to any reduction, suspension, termination or revocation of benefits under the Act, the Department shall serve, by ordinary mail, a Notice of Reduction, Suspension, Termination, or Revocation on the Eligible Multiple Dwelling, Attn: Managing Agent (or on such other person as the Recipient may request in writing), stating that said recipient is in violation of one or more provisions of the Act or these rules. The notice will provide a brief description of the violation alleged. The recipient shall have ninety (90) days to cure the violation or, alternatively, may request an informal hearing within (30) days from the date of the notice to rebut the allegations therein. Upon the recipient's failure to cure or rebut within the time prescribed, the Department shall advise the Department of Finance that the recipient's certificate of eligibility has been suspended, terminated, or revoked or that the Recipient's exemption or abatement has been reduced. The Department of Finance shall take such action as is necessary to execute the penalty imposed by the Department. All taxes plus interest required to be paid retroactively pursuant to the Act or these rules shall constitute a tax lien as of the date that it is determined that such taxes would have been due but for the benefits claimed pursuant to the Act at three per cent (3%) above the applicable rate of interest imposed by such city generally for non-payment of real property tax with respect to such property for the period in question.

(10) "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of the Agency or his or her designee.

(11) "Disposition" shall mean the conveyance of fee title or any other real property interest in a Site from the City to a Sponsor. Such real property interests shall include, but shall not be limited to, ground leases, easements, future interests, and other conveyances of less than the entire fee title to a Site. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, such real property interests shall not include any interests conveyed at mortgage foreclosure sales, utility easements, leases entered into by the Agency's Office of Housing Management and Sales, transfers of Jurisdiction over a Site from one City agency to another, or licenses.

(12) "EO Clearance" shall mean that (i) an Applicant, Selected Applicant, or Sponsor and its principals (and, where the Agency deems such additional review to be appropriate, the contractors retained by such Applicant, Selected Applicant, or Sponsor and all of their respective principals) have completed, executed, and submitted the required forms to and attended any required meetings with the Agency's Office of Equal Opportunity, and (ii) the Agency's Office of Equal Opportunity, after review of such information and any other available information, has made no finding of noncompliance with the applicable Laws regarding equal opportunity, labor compensation, locally based enterprises, and other matters monitored by the Agency's Office of Equal Opportunity.

(13) "Governing Body" shall mean the Mayor and/or the City Council, acting singly or in combination in accordance with the powers vested in them by the City Charter.

(14) "GML" shall mean the General Municipal Law of the State of New York.

(15) "Grant" shall mean a grant made by the City to a Sponsor for Project Activities pursuant to Article 16 of the GML.

(16) "IG Clearance" shall mean that (i) an Applicant, Selected Applicant, or Sponsor and its principals (and, where the Agency deems such additional review to be appropriate, the contractors retained by such Applicant, Selected Applicant, or Sponsor and all of their respective principals) have completed, executed, and submitted the required forms to and attended any required meetings with the Department of Investigation's Office of the Inspector General and/or the Agency's Sponsor Review Unit, as the case may be, and (ii) the Department of Investigation's Office of the Inspector General and/or the Agency's Sponsor Review Unit, as the case may be, after review of such information and any other available information, has made no finding of derogatory information which indicates that the City should not do business with such party.

(17) "Laws" shall mean any applicable laws, ordinances, orders, rules, and regulations promulgated by any local, state, or federal authority having jurisdiction over the subject matter thereof, as amended from time to time.

(18) "Law Department" shall mean the City's Law Department and any successor agency, or its designee.

(19) "Loan" shall mean a loan made by the City to a Sponsor for Project Activities.

(20) "Negotiation Letter" shall mean a letter informing a Selected Applicant that the Agency will commence negotiations with such Selected Applicant regarding a Project.

(21) "PHFL" shall mean the Private Housing Finance Law of the State of New York.

(22) "Program" shall mean two or more Projects which (i) share the same funding source, Sponsor, grantee, or borrower, or otherwise provide for similar treatment of multiple Sites, and (ii) are deemed by the Agency to constitute a Program.

(23) "Project" shall mean a project which involves Disposition and/or Assistance by the City to a Sponsor pursuant to these Rules for Project Activities to be performed at any Site.

(24) "Project Activity" shall mean any activity performed, caused to be performed, or required to be performed by the Sponsor in connection with a Project, including, but not limited to, the acquisition, design, rehabilitation, construction, improvement, and/or marketing of a Site.

(25) "RFP" shall mean a Request for Proposals.

(26) "RFQ" shall mean a Request for Qualifications.

(27) "RPTL" shall mean the Real Property Tax Law of the State of New York.

(28) "Rules" shall mean these rules.

(29) "Selected Applicant" shall mean an Applicant selected or approved by the Agency to enter into negotiations with the Agency regarding a Project.

(30) "Site" shall mean the real property and improvements, if any, located in New York City which are the subject of a Project performed pursuant to these Rules.

(31) "Sponsor" shall mean an Applicant or Selected Applicant, or an entity formed by an Applicant or Selected Applicant and approved by the Agency, which has executed one or more Binding Agreement(s) with the Agency. Unless the Agency elects to limit the types of entities which may serve as Sponsor for a Project, a Sponsor may be an individual, corporation, partnership, joint venture, or any other entity permitted by Law.

(32) "Subsidy" shall mean any Assistance by the Agency which is intended to reduce the cost of a Project to its Sponsor. Subsidy may be made available to Sponsors in any form permitted by applicable Law which is determined by the Agency to be necessary or desirable, including, but not limited to, (i) Grants, (ii) real property sale prices which are nominal or are otherwise below the fair market value of such Sites, (iii) Loans at no interest or nominal interest or at interest rates below the prevailing private sector interest rates for similar loans, (iv) Loans which provide for payment or other terms which are more favorable than the prevailing private sector terms for similar loans, (v) Loans which provide that principal and/or interest may be written down or otherwise forgiven, (vi) Tax Benefits, (vii) contractual agreements to provide funding, (viii) waiver or forgiveness of City deposits, fees, charges, taxes, liens, or rights to receive payment, (ix) construction or funding by the City of infrastructure or other improvements which are customarily paid for by real estate developers, (x) rental subsidy assistance administered by the City under the Section 8 Housing Voucher or Certificate Program or any other rental subsidy programs, and (xi) any other Assistance permitted by Law.

(33) "Tax Benefit" shall mean a tax abatement, exemption, or waiver granted by the City to a Sponsor in connection with a Project. For the purposes of the preceding sentence, "tax" shall mean City real property taxes and assessments, City water and sewer charges, City and state taxes on the transfer of real property, recording taxes and fees, and any other tax or governmental imposition which a Sponsor may be required to pay in connection with a Project.

(b) Purpose of Rules. These Rules set forth the procedures for Site and Sponsor selection for Projects.

(c) Purpose of Projects. The Agency shall have the power and authority to initiate and undertake Projects for any public purpose, provided that all Agency Activities to be undertaken in connection with any Project are authorized by applicable Laws. Such public purposes shall include, but shall not be limited to, (i) increasing the supply of available rental and ownership housing which is affordable to persons of low, moderate, and/or middle income; (ii) increasing the supply of available rental and ownership housing which is suitable for and affordable to persons with special needs; (iii) encouraging the construction of new residential housing; (iv) facilitating the conversion of existing non-residential structures into residential housing; (v) promoting the preservation and rehabilitation of existing residential housing; (vi) eliminating conditions in existing residential housing which are unsafe or detrimental to health; (vii) facilitating both residential and non-residential uses in accordance with the provisions of the applicable urban renewal plans or urban development action area projects; (viii) facilitating non-residential uses; (ix) mitigating potential adverse environmental impacts of the development of residential housing and the redevelopment of urban renewal areas; (x) encouraging the investment of private capital for such purposes; (xi) maximizing City revenue; and (xii) minimizing City expenses.

(d) General Authority. (1) General. The Agency may make Dispositions and provide Assistance to Sponsors for the purposes and in accordance with the procedures described in these Rules.

(2) Site Selection. The Agency may from time to time select Sites for Projects. The provisions regarding the selection of Sites are contained in §33-02.

(3) Sponsor Selection. The Agency may from time to time select Sponsors for Projects through any competitive or non-competitive process authorized by applicable Law which the Agency deems to be in the best interest of the City, including, but not limited to, direct negotiation, RFQ, RFP, competitive bidding, public bidding, auction, and selection by entities other than the Agency. For Projects involving privately owned Sites, notwithstanding any provision of these Rules to the contrary, the Sponsor and Site may be selected together by any such process and the Agency may consider the characteristics of the Site in addition to any other selection criteria. The provisions regarding the selection of Sponsors are contained in §33-03.

(4) Negotiations. The Agency may commence, conduct, and/or terminate negotiations with Applicants and/or Selected Applicants. During such negotiations, subject to approval of the Governing Body, where such approval is required by Law, the City may lease or net lease Sites to Applicants and/or Selected Applicants which have complied with all terms of the applicable selection process, applicable Laws, these Rules, and any and all agreements pertaining thereto. The provisions regarding negotiations with Applicants and Selected Applicants are contained in §33-04.

(5) Disposition. Subject to approval of the Governing Body, the City may convey Sites to Sponsors which have complied with all terms of the applicable selection process, applicable Laws, these Rules, and any and all agreements pertaining thereto. The provisions regarding Disposition of Sites are contained in §33-05.

(6) Assistance. The City may provide Assistance to Sponsors in order to facilitate Project Activities in such amounts and types as are determined by the Agency to be necessary or desirable. The provisions regarding Assistance are contained in §33-06.

(7) Project Operation. The Agency may require Sponsors to operate Sites in accordance with regulatory agreements entered into with the Agency. The provisions regarding Project operation are contained in §33-07.

(e) Programs. Where two or more Projects share the same funding source, Sponsor, grantee, or borrower, or otherwise provide for similar treatment of multiple Sites pursuant to these Rules, the Agency may deem such Projects to constitute a Program. The Agency may repeat a Project or create a Program where the Agency, for any reason, deems it necessary or desirable to do so. Such reasons may include, but shall not be limited to, the continued availability of a particular source of funding, the continued need for a particular type of housing, and the continued interest of any non-City persons or entities, whether private, quasi-public, or public, in performing such type of Projects. The Agency shall determine whether any Project is in a Program and whether any set of Projects constitutes a Program.

(f) Additional Rules. The Agency may from time to time promulgate additional rules for certain Programs, which rules shall preempt and supersede these Rules to the extent of any conflict, inconsistency, or ambiguity. Such rules shall be promulgated whenever the Agency determines, for any good and sufficient reason, that additional rules are necessary or desirable in order to facilitate the orderly progress of Agency initiatives to achieve the City Housing Goals. Such reasons may include, but shall not be limited to, the number of Projects in, or the type or number of programmatic requirements of, any Program for which the Agency determines that additional rules are necessary or desirable. The Agency shall determine which rules, if any, apply to any Program or Project.

(g) Source of Funds. The Agency may fund any Agency Activity deemed by the Agency to be necessary or desirable in connection with a Project with any available source of funds which is eligible for such purpose under applicable Law. Each Project must comply with all statutory and regulatory requirements with respect to the use of such funds, which requirements shall supersede Project requirements in the event of any conflict or inconsistency.

§33-02 Site Selection.

(a) General. This Article sets forth procedures for the selection of Sites for Projects. Such determinations shall be made by the Agency, in accordance with the procedures set forth herein, for the purposes of ascertaining whether a Site meets the requirements of a Project and applicable Laws, achieving the City Housing Goals, and protecting and furthering the best interests of the City.

(b) Determination of Appropriateness. The Agency may determine to place any Site into any Project where the Agency determines, for any reason, that such Project is an appropriate treatment for such Site. Such reasons, may include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(1) The physical conditions or economic characteristics of the Site make it appropriate for the treatment afforded by the Project.

(2) The Site requires more private investment and/or less Assistance than would be provided under any other appropriate Project or Program, and the Project permits the treatment of the Site with such level of private investment or Assistance.

(3) The Site requires less private investment and/or more Assistance than would be provided under any other appropriate Project or Program, and the Project permits the treatment of the Site with such level of private investment or Assistance.

(4) The Site possesses unique features which make the treatment afforded by the Project necessary or desirable.

(5) The Project addresses a housing need which has not been and is not likely to be fully alleviated by the operations of the private housing market, and the Site is appropriate for inclusion in the Project.

(6) The Project would return the Site to private ownership and/or private manage- ment.

(7) The interest of one or more private parties in the Site creates special opportunities to develop the Site in unique and beneficial ways, including, but not limited to, ways which provide housing for persons with special needs, maximize City revenue, permit development with less Assistance than would be required if the Site were in another Project or Program, permit production of a greater number of units or a greater proportion of lower income units than would be produced if the Site were in another Project or Program, and/or permit development of more ancillary open space or other public facilities.

(8) The Site is not City-owned and the owner, or an authorized representative of the owner, has applied to the Agency, pursuant to any process authorized by these Rules, other rules of the Agency, or applicable Law, to have the Site included in a Project which would serve the City Housing Goals.

(9) The inclusion of the Site in the Project would serve any of the City Housing Goals.

(c) Selection. Upon the selection of a Site for a Project, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, prepare a written statement identifying the Site and the Project. Such Site selection document may be in any form which the Agency deems appropriate, including, but not limited to, a letter or memorandum placed in the file for the Project, an Authorization Letter, entry into a book, file, database, or other record of Agency Site Selections, any document prepared in order to comply with applicable Laws (including, but not limited to, the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure, the Urban Renewal Law, and the Urban Development Action Area Act), a document issued as part of any process to select a Sponsor (including, but not limited to, any RFQ, RFP, or bid solicitation), or a Loan commitment letter. Failure to prepare a Site selection document shall not invalidate the selection of a Site for a Project.

(d) Revocation. The Agency may revoke a Site selection where the Agency deems such revocation to be necessary or desirable. Upon the revocation of a Site selection, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, prepare a written statement identifying the Site and the Project from which the Site has been removed. Such Site selection revocation document, if any, may be in any of the forms permitted for a Site selection document. Failure to prepare a Site selection revocation document writing shall not invalidate the revocation, and any subsequent selection of a Site for a different Project shall serve to automatically terminate the prior Site selection. After revocation of any Site selection, the Agency may select the Site for any other Project in accordance with these Rules.

CHAPTER 33*1 HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL PROJECTS AND PROGRAMS

§33-03 Sponsor Selection.

(a) General. This Article sets forth procedures for the selection of Sponsors for Projects. Such determinations shall be made by the Agency, in accordance with the procedures set forth herein, for the purposes of ascertaining whether a potential Sponsor meets the requirements of a Project and applicable Laws, achieving the City Housing Goals, and protecting the best interests of the City. The Agency may select a Sponsor for a Project by any method permitted by Law which it determines will best meet the Project's objectives and the City Housing Goals, including, but not limited to, direct negotiation, RFQ, RFP, competitive bidding, public bidding, auction, selection by entities other than the Agency, and application. For Projects involving privately owned Sites, notwithstanding any provision of these Rules to the contrary, the Sponsor and Site may be selected together by any such method and the Agency may consider the characteristics of the Site in addition to any other selection criteria.

(b) Direct Negotiation. Where the Agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project without any competitive process. In such event, the Agency may, prior to taking any Agency Activity with respect to such Project, prepare a written statement signed by the Commissioner setting forth the reasons why a more competitive process was not appropriate or desirable. Such statement, if any, shall thereafter be placed with the records concerning the Project which are retained by the Agency and shall be kept on file in accordance with the Agency's usual record retention policies.

(c) RFQ. Where the Agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via an RFQ. The RFQ shall describe the Project and/or Program, the Site, the selection process, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant.

(1) Issuance. The Agency may issue RFQs for Projects at any time it deems appropriate and desirable.

(2) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the Agency issues an RFQ for a Project, the Agency may place advertisements in The City Record and/or such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. The Agency may also mail copies of such advertisement to potential Applicants, including, but not limited to, Applicants who have done prior business with the Agency or who have requested to be on a mailing list for such purpose. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the Project or Program, the place a copy of the RFQ can be obtained and the fee, if any, therefor, and the deadline for submission of qualification statements and the fee, if any, therefor.

(ii) Availability. A copy of the RFQ shall be made available to all potential Applicants prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall require all recipients of any RFQ to identify themselves and shall cause a list of recipients to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process. The Agency may charge a fee, in an amount to be determined by the Agency, for a copy of the RFQ.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may issue amendments to the RFQ at any time prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall provide copies of such amendments to all recipients of the RFQ.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the submission deadline, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where Agency staff answer questions about submission and Project requirements. The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the RFQ and/or any advertisement.

(ii) Agency Contacts. Agency staff shall be available during the submission period by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the RFQ. The Agency may require that contact with agency personnel by prospective Applicants with respect to an RFQ be limited to one or more person(s) designated in the RFQ and/or that such contact be in writing.

(4) Submissions. (i) Time Period. The deadline for submissions shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears and shall be stated in the RFQ.

(ii) Fee. The Agency may require an Applicant to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon submission of a qualification state- ment.

(iii) Completeness. The Agency shall require qualification statements to be submitted in the format and number prescribed in the RFQ and to contain all information and forms required therein.

(5) Selection. (i) Basic Requirements. The Agency may reject a qualification statement if the Agency determines that either of the following basic requirements are not met:

(A) Completeness. The qualification statement must include all required forms, and such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, at the time of submission.

(B) Compliance. The qualification statement must comply in all respects with all material terms of the RFQ.

(ii) Threshold Criteria. The Agency may impose such additional threshold criteria in the RFQ as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a qualification statement has passed all basic requirements, the Agency shall consider such threshold criteria as are established in the RFQ. Such threshold criteria shall include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of Applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload).

(iii) Competitive Criteria. The Agency may impose such additional competitive criteria in the RFQ as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a qualification statement has passed all threshold criteria, the Agency shall consider such competitive criteria as are established in the RFQ. Such criteria shall include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of Applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and expected workload).

(6) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. An RFQ shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any Applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to the RFQ.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any RFQ.

(7) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may withdraw any RFQ in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all Applicants which submit qualification statements in response to an RFQ.

(iii) The Agency may at any time waive compliance with an RFQ, change any of the terms and conditions of an RFQ, allow certain Applicants to make modifications or additions to their respective qualification statements, require certain Applicants to submit additional information or documentation, or withdraw individual Sites from an RFQ.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with one or more Applicants who have submitted qualification statements pursuant to an RFQ, and may negotiate with parties which have not responded to the RFQ.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the RFQ.

(d) RFP. Where the Agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via an RFP. The RFP shall describe the Project and/or Program, the Site, the selection process, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant. Where a potential Sponsor has previously submitted a proposal and the Agency has issued an RFP soliciting additional proposals to compete with such proposal, such RFP shall contain a copy or summary of such proposal and shall set forth in detail the standards by which the competition shall be judged.

(1) Issuance. The Agency may issue RFPs for Projects at any time it deems appropriate and desirable.

(2) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the Agency issues an RFP for a Project, the Agency may place advertisements in the City Record and/or such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. The Agency may also mail copies of such advertisement to potential Applicants, including, but not limited to, Applicants who have done prior business with the Agency or who have requested to be on a mailing list for such purpose. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the Project or Program, the place a copy of the RFP can be obtained and the fee, if any, therefor, and the deadline for submission of proposals and the fee, if any, therefor.

(ii) Availability. A copy of the RFP shall be made available to all potential Applicants prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall require all recipients of any RFP to identify themselves and shall cause a list of recipients to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process. The Agency may charge a fee, in an amount to be determined by the Agency, for a copy of the RFP.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may issue amendments to the RFP at any time prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall provide copies of such amendments to all recipients of the RFP.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the submission deadline, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where Agency staff answer questions about submission and Project requirements.

The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the RFP and/or any advertisement.

(ii) Agency Contacts. Agency staff shall be available during the submission period by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the RFP. The Agency may require that contact with Agency personnel by prospective Applicants with respect to an RFP be limited to one or more person(s) designated in the RFP.

(4) Submissions. (i) Time Period. The deadline for submissions shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears and shall be stated in the RFP.

(ii) Fee. The Agency may require an Applicant to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon submission of a proposal.

(iii) Completeness. The Agency shall require proposals to be submitted in the format and number prescribed in the RFP and to contain all information and forms required therein.

(5) Selection. (i) Basic Requirements. The Agency may reject a proposal if it determines that either of the following basic requirements are not met:

(A) Completeness. The proposal must include all required forms, and such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, at the time of submission.

(B) Compliance. The proposal must comply in all respects with all material terms of the RFP.

(ii) Threshold Criteria. The Agency may impose such additional threshold criteria in the RFP as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a proposal has passed all basic requirements, the Agency shall consider such threshold criteria as are established in the RFP. Such threshold criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of Applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload), those characteristics of the Applicant's proposal which have a bearing on the performance of the Project (e.g., number and size of units produced, rental or sale prices, income levels or special needs of prospective residents, amount of Assistance required, amount of revenue to be received by the City, and design), and any other factors which the Agency deems appropriate.

(iii) Competitive Criteria. The Agency may impose such additional competitive criteria in the RFP as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a proposal has passed all threshold criteria, the Agency shall consider such competitive criteria as are established in the RFP. Such criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of Applicants which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and expected workload), those characteristics of the Applicant's proposal which have a bearing on the performance of the Project (e.g., number and size of units produced, rental or sale prices, income levels or special needs of prospective residents, amount of Assistance required, amount of revenue to be received by the City, and design), and any other factors which the Agency deems appropriate.

(6) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. An RFP shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any Applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to the RFP.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any RFP.

(7) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may withdraw any RFP in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all Applicants which submit proposals in response to an RFP.

(iii) The Agency may at any time waive compliance with an RFP, change any of the terms and conditions of an RFP, allow certain Applicants to make modifications or additions to their respective proposals, require certain Applicants to submit additional information or documentation, or withdraw individual Sites from an RFP.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with one or more Applicants who have submitted proposals pursuant to an RFP, and may negotiate with parties which have not responded to the RFP.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the RFP.

(e) Competitive Bidding. Where the Agency deems it to be feasible and desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via competitive bidding without public adver- tisement.

(1) Solicitation. The Agency may issue written bid solicitations for Projects at any time it deems appropriate and desirable. The bid solicitation shall describe the Project and/or Program, the Site, the competitive factor(s) upon which the bidding is based, the minimum thresholds, if any, for eligibility to bid, the reasons why public bidding is not feasible or desirable, the method by which bids are being solicited and the justification therefor, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant.

(2) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the Agency issues a bid solicitation for a Project, the Agency shall inform prospective bidders and solicit bids in such manner as the Agency shall deem appropriate.

(ii) Availability. The Agency shall cause a list of recipients of the bid solicitation to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process. The Agency may charge a fee, in an amount to be determined by the Agency, for a copy of the bid solicitation.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may issue amendments to the bid solicitation at any time prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall provide copies of such amendments to all recipients of the bid solicitation as set forth on the list of recipients.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the submission deadline, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where Agency staff answer questions about submission and Project requirements. The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the bid solicitation.

(ii) Agency Contacts. Agency staff shall be available during the submission period by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the bid solicitation. The Agency may require that contact with agency personnel by prospective bidders with respect to a bid solicitation be limited to one or more person(s) designated in the bid solicitation and/or that such contact be in writing.

(4) Submissions. (i) Time Period. The deadline for submissions shall be a reasonable period of time after the issuance of the bid solicitation and shall be stated in the bid solicitation.

(ii) Fee. The Agency may require a bidder to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon submission of a bid.

(iii) Completeness. The Agency shall require bids to be submitted in the format and number prescribed in the bid solicitation and to contain all information and forms required therein.

(5) Selection. (i) Basic Requirements. The Agency may reject a bid if it determines that either of the following basic requirements are not met:

(A) Responsiveness. The bid must include all required forms, such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, and the bid must comply in all respects with all material terms of the bid solicitation.

(B) Responsibility. The Agency may impose such eligibility criteria for bidders in the bid solicitation as the Agency deems necessary or desirable to ensure that only responsible bidders are selected. Each bidder shall be required to comply with all of the eligibility criteria established in the bid solicitation. Such eligibility criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of bidders which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload).

(ii) Competitive Criteria. The Agency may impose such competitive criteria for the comparative evaluation of bids in the bid solicitation as it deems necessary or desirable. Provided that a bidder has passed all basic requirements, the Agency shall evaluate such bids on the basis of such competitive criteria as are established in the bid solicitation. Such competitive criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, amount of revenue to be received by the City, amount or type of Assistance required, rental or sale prices, income levels of prospective residents, number and size of units produced, and any other factors which the Agency deems appropriate.

(6) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. A bid solicitation shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any bidder at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to the bid solicitation.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any bid solicitation.

(7) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may withdraw any bid solicitation in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all bidders.

(iii) The Agency may at any time waive compliance with a bid solicitation, change any of the terms and conditions of a bid solicitation, allow certain bidders to make modifications or additions to their respective bids, or withdraw individual Sites from a bid solicitation.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with one or more bidders and may negotiate with non-bidders.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the bid solicitation.

(f) Public Bidding. Where the Agency deems it to be feasible and desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via public bidding.

(1) Solicitation. The Agency may issue written bid solicitations for Projects at any time it deems appropriate and desirable. The bid solicitation shall describe the Project and/or Program, the Site, the competitive factor(s) upon which the bidding is based, the minimum thresholds, if any, for eligibility to bid, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant.

(2) Distribution. (i) Notice. At such time as the Agency issues a bid solicitation for a Project, the Agency shall place advertisements in The City Record and/or such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the Project or Program, the place a copy of the bid solicitation can be obtained and the fee, if any, therefor, and the deadline for submission of bids and the fee, if any, therefor.

(ii) Availability. A copy of the bid solicitation shall be made available to all potential bidders prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall require all recipients of any bid solicitation to furnish identification and shall cause a list of recipients to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process. The Agency may charge a fee, in an amount to be determined by the Agency, for a copy of the bid solicitation.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may issue amendments to the bid solicitation at any time prior to the submission deadline. The Agency shall provide copies of such amendments to all recipients of the bid solicitation.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the submission deadline, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where Agency staff answer questions about submission and Project requirements. The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the bid solicitation and/or any advertisement.

(ii) Agency Contacts. Agency staff shall be available during the submission period by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the bid solicitation. The Agency may require that contact with agency personnel by prospective bidders with respect to a bid solicitation be limited to one or more person(s) designated in the bid solicitation and/or that such contact be in writing.

(4) Submissions. (i) Time Period. The deadline for submissions shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears and shall be stated in the bid solicitation.

(ii) Fee. The Agency may require a bidder to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon submission of a bid.

(iii) Completeness. The Agency shall require bids to be submitted in the format and number prescribed in the bid solicitation and to contain all information and forms required therein.

(5) Selection. (i) Basic Requirements. The Agency may reject a bid if it determines that either of the following basic requirements are not met:

(A) Responsiveness. The bid must include all required forms, such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, and the bid must comply in all respects with all material terms of the bid solicitation.

(B) Responsibility. The Agency may impose such eligibility criteria for bidders in the bid solicitation as the Agency deems necessary or desirable to ensure that only responsible bidders are selected. Each bidder shall be required to comply with all of the eligibility criteria established in the bid solicitation. Such eligibility criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of bidders which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload).

(ii) Competitive Criteria. The Agency may impose such competitive criteria for the comparative evaluation of bids in the bid solicitation as it deems necessary and desirable. Provided that a bidder has passed all basic requirements, the Agency shall evaluate such bids on the basis of such competitive criteria as are established in the bid solicitation. Such competitive criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, amount of revenue to be received by the City, amount or type of Assistance required, rental or sale prices, income levels of prospective residents, number and size of units produced, and any other factors which the Agency deems appropriate.

(6) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. A bid solicitation shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any bidder at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to the bid solicitation.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any bid solicitation.

(7) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may withdraw any bid solicitation in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all bidders.

(iii) The Agency may at any time waive compliance with a bid solicitation, change any of the terms and conditions of a bid solicitation, allow certain bidders to make modifications or additions to their respective bids, or withdraw individual Sites from a bid solicitation.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with one or more bidders and may negotiate with non-bidders.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the bid solicitation.

(g) Auctions. Where the Agency deems it to be feasible and desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via auction.

(1) Information. The Agency may prepare an auction brochure containing written descriptions of the Project, the Site, the eligibility criteria for bidders, the terms and conditions of the auction, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant.

(2) Distribution of Notice. (i) Notice. At such time as the Agency elects to select a Sponsor via auction, the Agency shall place advertisements in The City Record and/or such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. The advertisement shall include, at a minimum, a short description of the Project or Program, the place and time where the auction brochure may be obtained, the place and time where the auction will be held, and such other matters as the Agency deems to be relevant.

(ii) Availability. The Agency shall require all recipients of the auction brochure to identify themselves and shall cause a list of such recipients to be maintained, which list shall in no event be furnished to any non-governmental party prior to the conclusion of the selection process.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may issue amendments to the auction brochure at any time prior to the auction. The Agency shall send copies of such amendments to all recipients of the auction brochure.

(3) Public Information. (i) Conference. Prior to the auction, the Agency may, but shall not be required to, hold an open conference where Agency staff answer questions about the Project and the auction. The time and place for such conference, if any, shall be indicated in the public advertisement for the auction.

(ii) Agency Contacts. Agency staff shall be available prior to the auction by telephone and/or in person to answer general questions about the auction. The Agency may require that contact with agency personnel by prospective participants with respect to an auction be limited to one or more person(s) and/or that such contact be in writing.

(4) Fee. The Agency may require an auction participant to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon admission to the auction.

(5) Eligibility Criteria. The Agency may impose such eligibility criteria for bidders in the auction as the Agency deems necessary or desirable to ensure that only responsible bidders are selected. Each bidder shall be required to comply with all of the eligibility criteria established in the terms and conditions of the auction. Such eligibility criteria may include, but shall not be limited to, those characteristics of bidders which have a bearing on their ability to successfully complete the Project (e.g., organizational capacity, comparable experience, financial capacity, and current and projected workload). The Agency may reject any bidder at an auction if the eligibility requirements are not met.

(6) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. An auction shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any bidder at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of attending the auction.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any written description of the auction.

(7) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may cancel any auction at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all bidders.

(iii) The Agency may at any time waive compliance with the eligibility requirements for the auction, change any of the terms and conditions of the auction, allow certain bidders to make modifications or additions to their respective bids, or withdraw individual Sites from an auction.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with one or more bidders and may negotiate with non-bidders.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the written description of the auction.

(h) Non-Agency Selection. The Agency may select an Applicant to be the Sponsor of a Project without any Agency selection process where such Applicant has already been selected or designated by (i) the Agency in connection with any Project or Program, (ii) another agency or instrumentality of the City, (iii) any agency or instrumentality of the state or federal government, (iv) any public authority, public benefit corporation, or other quasi-governmental entity, or (v) any other entity designated by the Agency to perform such selection. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence or elsewhere in these Rules, the Agency shall only select a Sponsor pursuant to this §33-03(h) where the Agency deems such method of selection to be necessary or desirable, and the Agency shall not be required to select any Applicant solely because such Applicant has been selected by any other entity.

(i) Non-Agency Process. The Agency may select an Applicant to be the Sponsor of a Project by a process not set forth in these Rules where funding for such Project is provided by, and the alternative selection process is mandated by, either (i) another agency or instrumentality of the City, (ii) any agency or instrumentality of the state or federal government, (iii) any public authority, public benefit corporation, or other quasi-governmental entity, or (iv) any other entity providing funding. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence or elsewhere in these Rules, the Agency shall only select a Sponsor pursuant to this §33-03(i) where the Agency deems such method of selection to be necessary or desirable, and the Agency shall not be required to utilize any selection process solely because such selection process has been mandated by any other entity.

(j) Application. Where and at such time as the Agency deems it to be necessary or desirable, a Sponsor may be selected for a Project via an application process.

(1) Distribution. (i) Advertisement. At such time as the Agency commences an application process for a Project, the Agency or its designee may prepare or cause to be prepared an advertisement describing (i) such aspects of the Project and the selection process as the Agency deems to be relevant, and (ii) the place where application forms can be obtained. The Agency may place such advertisement in The City Record and/or such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. The Agency may also mail copies of such advertisement to potential Applicants, including, but not limited to, Applicants who have done prior business with the Agency or who have requested to be on a mailing list for such purpose.

(ii) Application Forms. The Agency or its designee shall prepare or cause to be prepared the forms upon which applications are to be submitted, which forms may require such information as the Agency deems to be necessary or desirable to effectuate the purposes of the Project. Application forms shall be made available by the Agency or its designee to all potential Applicants. The Agency or its designee may charge a fee, in an amount to be determined by the Agency, for application forms.

(iii) Amendments. The Agency may change any aspect of the information set forth in the advertisement at any time. The Agency shall amend the advertisement accordingly and shall place such amended advertisement in The City Record, the publications in which the original advertisement appeared, and such other publications as the Agency shall deem appropriate. If it is infeasible for the Agency to publish the amended advertisement in the publications in which the original advertisement appeared, the Agency shall endeavor to provide substantially the same type of notice as was provided with respect to the original advertisement. The Agency may also mail copies of such amended advertisement to potential Applicants who have done prior business with the Agency or who have requested to be on a mailing list for such purpose. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an application process may be terminated by the Agency at any time without advertisement.

(2) Submissions. (i) Time Period. The Agency may impose a deadline for submission of applications, which shall be a reasonable period of time after the advertisement first appears. The Agency may, in the alternative, impose no deadline, in which case the Agency shall receive, review, and approve or reject applications on a rolling basis as and when such applications are received.

(ii) Fee. The Agency or its designee may require an Applicant to pay such non-refundable fee as is determined by the Agency to be appropriate upon submission of an application or thereafter.

(iii) Completeness. The Agency shall require applications to be submitted on the required forms and to be completed and executed in the manner set forth therein.

(3) Selection. (i) Completeness. The application must include all required forms, and such forms must be fully and properly completed and executed, at the time of submission. The Agency may reject an application if it determines that such requirements are not met.

(ii) Selection. The Agency may review and judge applications and select Sponsors by any method and upon any criteria permitted by Law or these Rules, including, but not limited to, the methods set forth in §33-03(b), §33-03(c)(5), §33-03(d)(5), §33-03(e)(5), §33-03(f)(5), §33-03(g), §33-03(h), and §33-03(i).

(4) Limitations. (i) No Obligation. The publication of an advertisement and the provision and acceptance of application forms shall not represent any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any Applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of preparing an application.

(ii) No Warranty. The Agency shall make no warranties, express or implied, with respect to any factual information contained in any advertisement.

(5) Rights Retained by Agency. Where it is deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City:

(i) The Agency may terminate any application process in whole or in part at any time.

(ii) The Agency may decline to enter into negotiations with any and all Applicants which submit applications.

(iii) The Agency may at any time allow Applicants to make modifications or additions to their applications and/or require certain Applicants to submit additional information or documentation.

(iv) The Agency may negotiate with Applicants and may negotiate with parties which have not submitted applications.

(v) The Agency may negotiate and dispose of any Site on terms other than those set forth in the advertisement.

§33-04 Negotiations.

(a) Notification. Upon the completion of any selection process, the Agency shall notify each respondent Applicant of the Agency's determination with respect to such Applicant. Such notification may be in such form and delivered in such manner as the Agency deems to be appropriate. With respect to any Selected Applicant, the form of such notification may include, but shall not be limited to, a Negotiation Letter, Authorization Letter, or Loan commitment letter.

(b) Negotiations. Negotiations with any Selected Applicant shall be subject to satisfaction of all conditions established in these Rules or imposed by the Agency, Governing Body, or applicable Law.

(1) Deadlines. The Agency may require the Selected Applicant to commence or complete negotiations and/or commence or complete other specified actions within a specified time period.

(2) Deposits. The Agency may require the Selected Applicant to pay deposits of such types, in such amounts, and at such times as the Agency deems appropriate. The Agency shall notify the Selected Applicant in writing of (i) the types and amounts of the deposits, if any, which the Selected Applicant is or shall be required to pay, (ii) the date upon which each such deposit shall become due, (iii) whether such deposits are refundable or non-refundable, and (iv) if such deposits are refundable, the conditions under which a refund will be issued.

(3) Project Requirements. The Agency may establish Program and Project requirements and conditions for the commencement and continuation of negotiations.

(4) Schedule. The Agency may establish a schedule of activities which must be completed as pre-conditions for the Agency Activities to be taken in connection with the Project.

(c) No Liability. An Authorization Letter or Negotiation Letter, or any written or oral communication with respect to the selection of a Selected Applicant or the ensuing negotiations, is not a contract or agreement and shall not create any rights on the Selected Applicant's part, including, without limitation, rights of enforcement, equity or reimbursement. No such contract or agreement shall exist, and no such rights shall be created, until the City and the Selected Applicant enter into one or more Binding Agreement(s) requiring such Selected Applicant to perform or be responsible for the performance of Project Activities in connection with a Project.

(d) Termination. The Agency may terminate negotiations with a Selected Applicant at any time with or without cause. If the Agency elects to terminate negotiations with a Selected Applicant, the Agency shall notify the Selected Applicant of such termination. Such notification may be in such form and delivered in such manner as the Agency deems to be appropriate.

§33-05 Site Disposition.

(a) Approvals. The Agency shall not make any Disposition until and unless the following approvals have been granted:

(1) Governing Body Approval. All Dispositions shall require prior approval by the Governing Body and shall be subject to any further terms and conditions imposed by the Governing Body as a condition for its approval.

(2) Law Department Approval. All legal documents relating the transfer of title or otherwise relating to the Project shall require prior approval by the Law Department.

(3) Agency Approval. Notwithstanding the prior approval of the Governing Body and the Law Department, all Dispositions shall require prior approval by the Agency, which approval may be withdrawn by the Agency, for any reason deemed by the Agency to be in the best interests of the City, at any time prior to Disposition. As a condition precedent to its approval of any Disposition, the Agency may require a potential Sponsor to have satisfied all terms and conditions determined by the Agency to be necessary or desirable, including, but not limited to, the terms and conditions set forth in any selection process, Authorization Letter, Negotiation Letter, or Loan commitment letter.

(b) Legal Documents. The Agency may require a Sponsor to execute such legal documents, including, but not limited to, a deed, land disposition agreement, and regulatory agreement, as the Agency deems necessary or desirable to transfer title to the Site, enforce the obligations of the Sponsor, effectuate the purposes of the Project, and otherwise protect the best interests of the City. Such documents may contain such terms and conditions, consistent with these Rules, as are required by the City on a city-wide basis or as the Agency determines are necessary or desirable to transfer fee title or any other real property interest in the Site, enforce the obligations of the Sponsor, effectuate the purposes of the Project, and otherwise protect the best interests of the City.

CHAPTER 33*1 HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL PROJECTS AND PROGRAMS

§33-06 Assistance.

(a) General. The Agency shall have the power and authority to provide, in connection with any Project, such Assistance, including, but not limited to, Loans and Subsidies, as are authorized to be provided by applicable Law.

(b) Loans. The Agency shall have the power and authority to provide, in connection with any Project, such Loans as are authorized to be provided by applicable Law.

(1) General Considerations. If the Agency Activities to be undertaken in connection with a Project include a Loan, then the Agency, in making determinations concerning Loan terms, shall act to protect the City's interests as a prudent mortgage lender, provide for a reasonable return (where such return is intended in accordance with the Project and applicable Laws) to the Sponsor, and meet the standards of other lenders, if any.

(2) Eligible Costs. Subject to the limitations set forth in these Rules and applicable Laws, a Loan may be made in such amounts as may be required for all Project Activities.

(3) Commitment Letter. The Agency may state Loan terms in a commitment letter signed by the Commissioner. Such commitment letter, if any, may contain such terms as the Agency may deem necessary or desirable in order to effectuate the purposes of these Rules and to protect the City's interests as a lender. The closing of the Loan shall be made subject to satisfaction of all the terms and conditions contained in such commitment. The commitment letter may require, among other things, that the Sponsor and its contractors and all of their respective principals obtain necessary City approvals and clearances as a condition precedent to the closing of the Loan.

(4) Financing. If a Project includes acquisition, purchase money, construction, or permanent financing to be provided by the City, the Loan for such purpose shall be evidenced by a note and may be secured by such security or collateral documents and by such collateral as the Agency may deem necessary or desirable in accordance with applicable Law. The Loan documents may contain such terms, consistent with these Rules, as the Agency may deem necessary or desirable in order to effectuate the purposes of these Rules and applicable Laws and to protect the City's interests as lender. The Loan documents may provide that the indebtedness evidenced or secured thereby shall evaporate in any manner permitted by applicable Law.

(c) Subsidies. The Agency shall have the power and authority to provide, in connection with any Project, such Subsidies as are authorized to be provided by applicable Law.

(d) Federal Benefits. Notwithstanding any provision of these Rules to the contrary, any allocation of federal benefits, including, but not limited to, rental subsidies and low income housing tax credits, shall be made in accordance with the federal laws and regulations concerning such benefits. Nothing in these Rules shall be deemed to impose any additional requirements regarding such allocation. The Agency may utilize such administrative procedures, consistent with such laws and regulations, as it deems appropriate to effectuate the purposes of the federal benefits and the City Housing Goals.

(e) Tax Benefits. Notwithstanding any provision of these Rules to the contrary, any exemption from or abatement of real property taxes pursuant to the PHFL, GML, RPTL, or Administrative Code, including, but not limited to, exemptions or abatements pursuant to Articles 2, 5, and 11 of the PHFL, Article 16 of the GML, Sections 420-a, 420-b, 420-c, 421-a, 421-b, 422, 488-a, and 489 of the RPTL, and Sections 11-243 and 11-244 of the Administrative Code and any successors thereto, shall be made in accordance with the Laws concerning such benefits. Nothing in these Rules shall be deemed to impose any additional requirements regarding such allocation. The Agency may utilize such administrative procedures, consistent with such Laws, as it deems appropriate to effectuate the purposes of such Laws and the City Housing Goals.

§33-07 Project Operation.

(a) Regulatory Agreement. A Sponsor may be required to execute a Regulatory Agreement with the Agency as a condition for the Agency Activities taken by the Agency in connection with the Project. The Regulatory Agreement shall be recorded against the Site and shall run with the land for the period set forth therein. The Regulatory Agreement shall require the Sponsor and all of Sponsor's successors and assigns to comply with Project requirements.

(b) Marketing. The Agency may require a Sponsor to market vacant dwelling units in accordance with the requirements of a marketing plan prepared by the Agency. Such marketing plan may include such requirements with respect to the marketing as the Agency deems necessary and desirable, including, but not limited to, (i) requirements to ensure outreach to make eligible City residents aware of the availability for rental or sale of such dwelling units, and (ii) requirements to ensure that applications for the rental or sale of dwelling unit are opened and considered in a random order. A marketing plan may, but shall not be required to, contain provisions providing a preference to certain applicants where the Agency deems such preference to be appropriate. Factors for the granting of such preference may include, but shall not be limited to, special needs, residence in the community in which the Site is located, or referral by the Agency to the Sponsor for relocation.

(c) Use Restrictions. The Agency may impose restrictions upon the use of a Site and may require a Sponsor to agree to comply with such restrictions as a condition for receiving any Disposition or Assistance. Such use restrictions may be enforced by any means which the Agency determines to be necessary or appropriate, including, but not limited to, provisions in any deed, land disposition agreement, regulatory agreement, note, mortgage, security agreement, lien, restrictive declaration, or other legal document. The Agency may require a Sponsor to provide security for its compliance with use restrictions in such types and amounts as are determined by the Agency to be necessary or desirable. Such types of security may include, but shall not be limited to, surety bonds, letters of credit, or cash.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 33*1 HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL PROJECTS AND PROGRAMS

§33-08 Miscellaneous Provisions.

(a) Termination. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in these Rules or in any document concerning any selection process, Project, or Program, the Agency may reject any Applicant or Selected Applicant and/or terminate any negotiations, selection process, Project, and/or Program at any time and for any reason, including, but not limited to, the reasons set forth in §33-08(a)(1), §33-08(a)(2), §33-08(a)(3), and §33-08(a)(4), or without cause.

(1) Adverse Findings. The Agency determines at any time that good and sufficient reasons exist why the City should not do business with an Applicant or Selected Applicant or should not allow such Applicant or Selected Applicant to act as Sponsor for a Project. Such reasons shall include, but shall not be limited to, evidence with respect to the Applicant or Selected Applicant or any member of its development team of (i) arson conviction or pending cases; (ii) harassment conviction or pending cases; (iii) arrears or default upon any debt, lease, contract, tax, lien, fee, charge, or obligation to the City; (iv) City mortgage or tax foreclosure proceedings or arrears; (v) unsuccessful record with comparable projects, including, but not limited to, poor workmanship, failure to complete a project expeditiously, substantial and significant building violations or litigation history against other properties, or unsuccessful record of managing residential real property; (vi) inability, due to lack of organizational capacity, competing demands from other projects, or any other factor, to perform all required Project Activities; (vii) bankruptcy or insolvency; (viii) violation of the conflict of interest provisions of the New York City Charter or any other applicable Laws; or (ix) failure to obtain IG Clearance, EO Clearance, or other necessary City clearances.

(2) Unable to Recommend Sale. The Agency is unable to recommend to the Governing Body that it grant the approvals required for a Project for any reason, including, but not limited to, a determination by the Agency that (i) the Applicant or Selected Applicant has failed to clear one or more of the required City reviews, (ii) there has been a transfer of ownership interests in the Applicant or Selected Applicant after commencement of negotiations without the approval of the Agency, (iii) adequate City funding for the Assistance to be included in the Project is not available, or (iv) funding to be provided by entities other than the City is not available or is not provided in a timely manner.

(3) Noncompliance. An Applicant or Selected Applicant has failed to comply with any term or condition established by the City or the Agency, including, but not limited to, any Program or Project requirement, deposit requirement, deadline, or schedule.

(4) Best Interests of City. The Agency or the City has not approved the Agency Activities required for a Project for any reason determined by the Agency or the City to be in the best interests of the City.

(b) Agency Discretion. All determinations to be made by the Agency and/or the Commissioner in accordance with these Rules shall be in the sole discretion of the Agency and/or the Commissioner; provided, however, that the Agency and/or the Commissioner shall comply in all respects with applicable Laws.

(c) Statutory Authority Not Limited. Nothing in these Rules shall be deemed to prevent the Agency from exercising such greater or additional rights, remedies, privileges, powers, and authority as shall be provided by Law.

(d) Rights Not Conferred. These Rules are not intended to confer rights or benefits upon the general public or upon any individual or entity. Nothing in these Rules shall be deemed to confer any rights or benefits whatsoever upon any party which are in addition to any rights deriving from applicable Laws or written contracts with the Agency.

(e) No Legal Obligation. At any time prior to the execution of a Binding Agreement, the Agency may withdraw all or any portion of a Site from a Project, change the Agency Activities and Project Activities contemplated in connection with a Project, change the Sponsor selection process for a Project, terminate negotiations with an Applicant or Selected Applicant, commence negotiations with one or more other Applicant(s) or Selected Applicant(s), or take any other action deemed by the Agency to be necessary or appropriate. No selection process, or part thereof or actions in connection therewith, shall represent or result in any obligation or agreement whatsoever on the part of the City or the Agency, which may only be incurred or entered into by written agreement approved by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department and duly executed by both parties. The City and the Agency shall not be obligated to pay, nor shall they in fact pay, any costs or losses incurred by any Applicant or Selected Applicant at any time, including, but not limited to, the cost of responding to a selection process. An Authorization Letter or Negotiation Letter, or any written or oral communication with respect to the selection of a potential Sponsor or the ensuing negotiations, is not a contract or agreement and shall not create any rights on the part of the Applicant or Selected Applicant, including, without limitation, rights of enforcement, equity or reimbursement. No such contract or agreement shall exist, and no such rights shall be created, until the City and the Sponsor enter into a Binding Agreement. Approval of a Project and any agreements in connection with such Project by the Governing Body, if applicable, and the Law Department shall not obligate the Agency to proceed with the Project or with the execution of such agreements.

(f) Technical Violations. Technical violations of these Rules shall not invalidate the selection of any Site, the selection of any Sponsor, or any other Agency Activity taken pursuant to these Rules, nor shall such technical violations give rise to any rights, claims, or causes of action in favor of members of the general public or potential sponsors.

(g) Compliance With Laws. All Agency Activities by the Agency pursuant to these Rules shall be made in accordance with applicable Laws. Each Site and Sponsor selected for any Project pursuant to these Rules shall meet the eligibility criteria of the Laws which authorize the Agency to undertake the Agency Activities necessary or incident to the performance of such Project.

(h) Fees. The Agency shall promulgate by rule the amount of any fee provided for in these Rules.

(i) Waivers. Where literal application of one or more of the provisions of these Rules would result in unnecessary hardship, would involve practical difficulties, or would constitute an unreasonable limitation beyond the intent and purpose of these Rules, the Commissioner may at any time waive in writing such provision or provisions of these Rules with respect to any Project. Such writing shall state the reasons for such waiver.

(j) Singular and Plural. With respect to any of the terms used in these Rules, the singular shall be deemed to include the plural and the plural shall be deemed to include the singular, unless the context requires otherwise.

(k) Effective Date. These Rules shall be deemed effective as of June 29, 1997.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 34*1 TENANT INTERIM LEASE PROGRAM

§34-01 Definitions.

Building. "Building" shall mean any City-owned multiple dwelling, other than a single room occupancy dwelling, which is occupied by Tenants.

City. "City" shall mean the City of New York.

Disposition. "Disposition" shall mean the sale of a Building to an HDFC.

Disposition Rent Increase. "Disposition Rent Increase" shall mean the last rent set by HPD prior to Disposition.

HDFC. "HDFC" shall mean a housing development fund company formed pursuant to Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law in order to purchase a Building pursuant to these Rules.

HPD. "HPD" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City.

Intake Rent Increase. "Intake Rent Increase" shall mean the initial rent set by HPD upon Selection of a Building.

Interim Payment Agreement. "Interim Payment Agreement" shall mean an agreement entered into between HPD, the Tenant Association and/or HDFC, and a Tenant eligible for rental assistance to temporarily accept less than the full rent from the Tenant prior to the provision of rental assistance.

Interim Rent Increase. "Interim Rent Increase" shall mean any rent, other than an Intake Rent Increase or a Disposition Rent Increase, set by HPD from time to time after Selection and before Disposition of a Building.

Laws. "Laws" shall mean any and all applicable laws, orders, rules and regulations.

Occupied Units. "Occupied Units" shall mean any lawfully occupied dwelling units leased and occupied by a Tenant in a Building.

Program. "Program" shall mean the Tenant Interim Lease Program.

Rehabilitation. "Rehabilitation" shall mean the installation, replacement, or repair of one or more systems or the correction of inadequate, unsafe, or unsanitary conditions in a Building.

Selection. "Selection" shall mean notification to a Tenant Association, pursuant to §34-03(c) of these Rules, that HPD has approved a Building for the Program.

Rules. "Rules" shall mean the Rules set forth in this chapter.

Tenant. "Tenant" shall mean a residential tenant of record occupying a dwelling unit in a Building pursuant to a lease with the City or with a Tenant Association that has entered into a Tenant Interim Lease. Other residential occupants, such as squatters and licensees, are not Tenants. Non-residential tenants or occupants, such as those who occupy space in a Building for retail, commercial, manufacturing, or community facility purposes, are not Tenants.

Tenant Association. "Tenant Association" shall mean an unincorporated association with elected officers that has been formed by and continues to include as members the Tenants of at least sixty percent (60%) of the Occupied Units in a Building. If there is more than one such unincorporated association, "Tenant Association" shall mean the one from which HPD accepts an application for the Program and, if applicable, the one with which HPD executes a Tenant Interim Lease.

Tenant Interim Lease. "Tenant Interim Lease" shall mean the written month-to-month net lease of an entire Building executed by the City, as lessor, and by the Tenant Association, as lessee, following Selection of a Building.

28 RCNY 34-03

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 34*1 TENANT INTERIM LEASE PROGRAM

§34-03 Entering the Program.

(a) Eligible buildings. A Building may be eligible for selection for the Program if HPD makes all of the following discretionary determinations:

(1) the Building requires Rehabilitation such that it is not marketable to the private sector in its "as is" condition, and HPD funding is necessary to return the Building to the private sector; and

(2) the performance of Rehabilitation is technically feasible; and

(3) the cost of Rehabilitation is economically reasonable; and

(4) the cost of Rehabilitation is within available HPD resources; and

(5) the Building is a Class A multiple dwelling containing at least three dwelling units; and

(6) at least two of the dwelling units in the Building are Occupied Units; and

(7) the Building has not been designated by HPD for disposition through another program, except to the extent that rules promulgated by HPD for such other program explicitly authorize a withdrawal to participate in the Program; and

(8) the Building has not previously participated in the Program, unless such participation was terminated more than five years prior to the current application.

(b) Application procedure; selection requirements. If HPD has determined that a Building is eligible for the Program and its assignment to the Program is in the best interests of the City, a Tenant Association may apply for selection for the Program by complying with the following standards:

(1) the Tenant Association must submit an application on a form supplied by HPD signed by

(i) the Tenants of all of the Occupied Units in a Building containing up to five dwelling units, or

(ii) the Tenants of at least sixty percent (60%) of the Occupied Units in a Building containing six or more dwelling units; and

(2) the Tenants of at least fifty percent (50%) of the Occupied Units must pay one hundred percent (100%) of the billable rent for their respective dwelling units for the three months immediately prior to the filing of the application and continuously until HPD makes a determination of Selection; and

(3) officers and members of the Tenant Association must attend training classes as directed by HPD; and

(4) the Tenant Association must notify the Tenants of a meeting at which HPD will discuss the Program. Tenants of at least fifty percent (50%) of the Occupied Units must attend the meeting. If Tenants of less than fifty percent (50%) of the Occupied Units attend the meeting, the Tenant Association must notify the Tenants of a second meeting. If Tenants of less than fifty percent (50%) of the Occupied Units attend the second meeting, the Building will not be considered for the Program; and

(5) HPD must determine that the Building can be managed by the Tenant Asso- ciation.

(c) Notice of approval. If the application has been approved, HPD will notify the Tenant Association of such approval in a written notice by regular mail to the president of the Tenant Association. The notice of approval shall include any notice of an Intake Rent Increase, which shall be implemented thirty (30) days thereafter in accordance with subdivision (f) of this section, and HPD shall send a copy to the Tenants by regular mail. If the application has been rejected, HPD will notify the president of the Tenant Association of such rejection and the reason therefor by regular mail.

(d) Post-acceptance activities. Upon acceptance of the application and prior to execution of the Tenant Interim Lease, the Tenant Association must:

(1) adopt by-laws and articles of association in a form specified by HPD; and

(2) elect officers; and

(3) set up a restricted bank account as required by HPD.

(e) Execution of the Tenant Interim Lease. After HPD determines that the Tenant Association has complied with all of the requirements set forth in §34-03(d) of these Rules, the Tenant Association must sign the Tenant Interim Lease and implement the Intake Rent Increase set by HPD.

(f) Intake Rent Increases. (1) HPD will from time to time establish intake rent levels, expressed as a minimum dollar amount per zoning room, for all dwelling units in Buildings entering the Program. Such intake rent levels will be based upon maintenance and operating expenses in similar buildings. Such intake rent levels and the rationale therefore will be kept on file by HPD and will be available for public inspection.

(2) HPD will issue an intake rent roll to the Tenant Association and will notify the Tenants of the Intake Rent Increase at least thirty (30) days prior to the effective date of the Intake Rent Increase.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 34*1 TENANT INTERIM LEASE PROGRAM

§34-04 Program Activities.

(a) Lease. Upon acceptance of a Building into the Program, HPD will temporarily lease the Building to the Tenant Association pursuant to the terms of a Tenant Interim Lease. The Tenant Interim Lease shall require the Tenant Association to follow these Rules and all HPD directives. Furthermore, officers and members of the Tenant Association must attend training classes as directed by HPD during the term of the Tenant Interim Lease.

(b) Residential vacancies. If any dwelling unit in the Building is or becomes vacant, the Tenant Association will not sign a lease for such vacant dwelling unit, or allow such vacant dwelling unit to become occupied, without the prior written approval of HPD.

(c) Tenant Association. The Tenant Association will comply with the terms of these Rules, the Tenant Interim Lease, and all HPD directives with regard to the leasing or occupancy of vacant dwelling units. Such HPD directives may include, without limitation,

(i) procedures and criteria for the selection of new Tenants,

(ii) rents to be charged,

(iii) priority for persons that HPD has determined are in need of housing, and

(iv) the use of specified lists of eligible persons.

(d) Non-residential vacancies. If any non-residential unit in the Building is or becomes vacant, the Tenant

Association will not sign a lease for such vacant non-residential unit, or allow such vacant non-residential unit to become occupied, without the prior written approval of HPD. The Tenant Association will comply with the terms of these Rules, the Tenant Interim Lease, and all HPD directives with regard to the leasing or occupancy of vacant non-residential units. Such HPD directives may include, without limitation,

(i) procedures and criteria for the selection of new non-residential tenants, and

(ii) rents to be charged.

(e) Collection of arrears. At such time as a Tenant is two months or more in arrears on the payment of rent to the Tenant Association, the Tenant Association may commence a proceeding for such rent arrears and/or for possession of the dwelling unit.

(f) Legal proceedings. The Tenant Association may not commence legal proceedings against Tenants without the prior written approval of HPD, except as specified in §34-04(e) of these Rules or in the Tenant Interim Lease. For non-residential tenants, legal proceedings may be commenced by the Tenant Association without prior written approval of HPD upon any default in the lease.

(g) Tenant complaints. The Tenant Association will respond in a timely manner to all Tenant complaints.

(h) Interim rent increases. During the term of the Tenant Interim Lease, one or more rent increases may be necessary to reflect the actual costs of operating a Building. HPD will from time to time establish an interim rent roll for a Building in the Program reflecting expenses of maintaining and operating the Building.

(1) HPD will prepare a statement of the projected cost of maintaining and operating the Building in the period following the Interim Rent Increase, which statement will reflect actual expenditures, adjusted for inflation on an individual or on a compounded yearly basis, for the maintenance and operation of the Building (including, but not limited to, the cost of fuel, common space utilities, repair and maintenance, supplies, insurance, custodial services, and fees for management and professional services) and any other costs anticipated to be associated with the maintenance and operation of the Building.

(2) HPD will calculate the rent levels necessary to cover the projected cost of maintaining and operating the Building in the period following the Interim Rent Increase, as reflected in such statement, and shall implement an Interim Rent Increase based upon such calculation.

(3) HPD will issue an interim rent roll to the Tenant Association and will notify the Tenants of such Interim Rent Increase at least thirty (30) days prior to the effective date of the new rent.

(4) From the date that Tenants receive notice of the Interim Rent Increase until the effective date of the Interim Rent Increase,

(i) HPD will make such statement of maintenance and operating expenses available for public inspection,

(ii) any Tenant may comment in writing to HPD regarding the Interim Rent Increase, and

(iii) HPD will consider any timely comments received from Tenants.

§34-05 Disposition.

(a) Disposition rent increase. (1) Prior to disposition, HPD will prepare a statement of the projected cost of maintaining and operating the Building in the first year following Disposition, which statement will reflect,

(i) actual expenditures, adjusted for inflation on an individual or compounded yearly basis, for the maintenance and operation of the Building prior to Disposition (including, but not limited to, the cost of fuel, common space utilities, repair and maintenance, supplies, insurance, custodial services, and fees for management and professional services),

(ii) real estate taxes,

(iii) water and sewer charges,

(iv) contingency reserves,

(v) reserves for vacancies and uncollectible debts, and

(vi) any other costs anticipated to be associated with the maintenance and operation of the Building.

(2) HPD will calculate the rent levels necessary to cover the projected cost of maintaining and operating the Building in the first year following disposition, as reflected in such statement, and shall implement a Disposition Rent Increase based upon such calculation.

(3) HPD will issue a disposition rent roll to the Tenant Association and will notify the Tenants of such Disposition Rent Increase at least thirty (30) days prior to the effective date of the new rent.

(4) From the date that Tenants receive notice of the Disposition Rent Increase until the effective date of the Disposition Rent Increase,

(i) HPD will make such statement of maintenance and operating expenses available for public inspection,

(ii) any Tenant may comment in writing to HPD regarding the Disposition Rent Increase, and

(iii) HPD will consider any timely comments received from Tenants.

(b) Disposition. HPD will not convey a Building to an HDFC unless:

(1) the Tenant Association has, in the judgment of HPD, satisfactorily managed the Building during the term of the Tenant Interim Lease; and

(2) Tenants of at least eighty percent (80%) of the Occupied Units have signed subscription agreements to purchase the shares in the HDFC attributable to their dwelling units; and

(3) HPD has notified the Tenants of the Disposition Rent Increase.

CHAPTER 34*1 TENANT INTERIM LEASE PROGRAM

§34-06 Rental Assistance.

(a) HPD will assist eligible Tenants in applying for existing rental assistance programs during the period of the Building's participation in the Program. HPD will provide Tenants with applications for §8 of the United States Housing Act of 1973, as amended, and senior citizen rent increase exemptions, advise Tenants which rental assistance program is most suitable for their individual needs, assist Tenants in completing rental assistance applications, and forward all necessary documentation to the appropriate authority for final review and processing.

(b) Each Tenant who applies for rental assistance is solely responsible for supplying all required documentation and materials necessary to process an application: i.e., attending required interviews with the authority responsible for determining a Tenant's eligibility for rental assistance, providing the necessary income certification and complying with all procedures to process an application.

(c) HPD shall review all applications for rental assistance and make a preliminary determination of a Tenant's eligibility within sixty (60) days of receipt of a completed application. HPD shall promptly notify the Tenant Association and/or HDFC of all applicants for rental assistance and shall forward to the Tenant Association and/or HDFC copies of the applications, letters granting or denying rental assistance, Interim Payment Agreements entered into, and letters extending or terminating Interim Payment Agreements. Upon a finding of preliminary eligibility, HPD will provide the Tenant with an Interim Payment Agreement, which shall be signed by the Tenant, the Tenant Association and/or HDFC, and HPD, before it becomes effective. This Interim Payment Agreement shall include:

(1) the amount of the increased rent for the apartment;

(2) the amount of rent that the Tenant must pay pending the final determination of the rental assistance application;

(3) a statement of the grounds for termination pursuant to subdivision (e) of this section; and

(4) notice to the Tenant that s(he) remains liable for the full amount of the rent retroactive to the effective date of the increase if, at any time, the rental assistance application is denied by HPD or the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraphs one, three or four of subdivision (e) of this section, provided, however, that if the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision (e) of this section, the Tenant shall not be liable for the full amount of the rent increase retroactive to its effective date if s(he) notifies HPD within thirty (30) days of any change in household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance.

(d) A Tenant who receives an Interim Payment Agreement will be required to pay the amount which s(he) would pay on a monthly basis if the rental assistance application is approved, or the rent charged prior to implementation of the rent increase, whichever is greater.

(e) The Interim Payment Agreement will terminate one year after the date of issuance or upon the earlier occurrence of any of the following:

(1) any change in the Tenant's household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance; or

(2) any change in the rent charged by the City; or

(3) failure by the Tenant to comply with any of the requirements necessary to process the application for rental assistance; or

(4) failure by the Tenant to pay, within thirty (30) days of the date due, the rent payable under the Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section, unless payment of such rent is being withheld for lack of services which the Tenant has given written notice of to the Tenant Association and/or HDFC; or

(5) receipt by Tenant of rental assistance pursuant to a rental assistance application filed in accordance with this section.

(f) HPD will permit any Tenant who has applied for rental assistance in accordance with subdivision (b) of this section and who has not been provided with an Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, to pay a rent increase in stages of $10.00 per room per quarter.

§35-03 Selection of Sponsors.

HPD may select a Sponsor for a Project by any method which HPD determines will best further the purposes of the Program, including, without limitation, pursuant to a request for qualifications process, pursuant to a request for proposals process, selection from a pre-qualified list or, in the discretion of HPD, by a direct designation of an entity judged by HPD to be suitable for the task. In selecting a Sponsor, any relevant factors may be considered, including, but not limited to:

(i) the Sponsor's prior record in other City housing programs;

(ii) the Sponsor's prior selection by the City as a developer in another program;

(iii) the Sponsor's record as a property owner, developer or manager;

(iv) the Sponsor's relevant experience in and knowledge of the neighborhood where the project is located, and

(v) any relevant written comments by Tenants.

CHAPTER 35 NEIGHBORHOOD ENTREPRENEURS PROGRAM*1

§35-04 Selection of Buildings, Tenant Notification.

(a) Eligible Buildings. HPD may select Buildings for the Program if:

(1) Rehabilitation of the Building is technically and financially feasible;

(2) The Building has not been accepted into another HPD disposition program.

(b) Notice of Preliminary Selection. After HPD has found a Building to be eligible pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section and has preliminarily selected the Building for the Program, HPD shall provide all Tenants of the Building with a document containing the following:

(1) A statement that HPD is considering placing the Building in the Program; (2) A description of the Program;

(3) A statement that an Intake Rent will be set;

(4) A statement that the Building may be eligible for other HPD programs and the name, address and phone number of an HPD employee who may provide information on how to apply for such other programs;

(5) The name of the Sponsor selected by HPD to develop the Project; and

(6) A statement that the Building will remain in the Program unless accepted into another HPD program.

(c) Tenant Meeting. HPD shall hold a Tenant meeting prior to making a Final Selection, giving notice to Tenants at least two business days prior to such meeting.

(d) Interim Reminder Notice. No later than thirty (30) days after the notice of Preliminary Selection, HPD shall notify the Tenants of a Building selected for the Program that they have ninety (90) days left to apply for any other HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants.

(e) Notice of Final Selection. No sooner than sixty (60) days after the notice of Preliminary Selection, HPD shall notify the Tenants of a Building of the Final Selection of the Building for the Program.

(f) Notice of Project Commencement. No sooner than sixty (60) days after the Notice of Final Selection, HPD shall notify the Tenants of a Building that the Project has commenced, unless Tenants have applied for another HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants within such time period. If the Tenants have applied for another HPD disposition program that accepts applications from Tenants within such time period and have been rejected from such program, then, immediately after the later of such rejection or sixty (60) days after the notice of Final Selection, HPD shall notify Tenants that the Project has commenced.

(g) Notice of Intake Rent. Either at the time of the notice of Project Commencement or thereafter, HPD shall notify each Tenant of the Intake Rent and the date it becomes effective, which effective date shall be not less than thirty (30) days after the date of the notice of Intake Rent, and shall, in accordance with §35-10 of these Rules, provide information on rental assistance which may be available to Tenants and the procedures to apply for such assistance.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 28 Housing Preservation and Development

CHAPTER 35 NEIGHBORHOOD ENTREPRENEURS PROGRAM*1

§35-06 Rent Setting.

(a) Establishment of Intake Rents. HPD shall from time to time on a program-wide basis establish Intake Rents for all dwelling units in Buildings selected for the Program based upon a minimum rent level per zoning room based on operating costs in similar Buildings. The Intake Rent and the rationale therefore shall be kept on file by HPD and be available for public inspection. HPD shall provide notice of Intake Rent pursuant to §35-04(g).

(b) Pre-commitment meeting. After the notice of Project Commencement pursuant to §35-04(f), and prior to the issuance of a commitment letter containing the terms and conditions for a Subsidy, HPD shall send a notice informing the Tenants of the time and place of a meeting to discuss the Program at least two business days prior to such meeting. A representative of HPD shall attend such meeting.

(c) Projection of Post-Rehabilitation Rents. HPD shall determine a rent for each dwelling unit in the Building to take effect upon Substantial Completion. The Post-Rehabilitation Rent per occupied dwelling unit may be based upon the Tenants' income or may reflect the expenses for the Building as projected by HPD less the effective annual net commercial income, if any. If the Post-Rehabilitation Rent reflects the Building's expenses, HPD shall project the annual maintenance and operating expenses for the Building after Substantial Completion, including allowances for vacancies and debt service coverage. The expenses shall be projected by HPD based on its experience and knowledge of the operation of similar buildings. For those apartments which are vacant at the time of the sending of the notice of Substantial Completion pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, HPD shall set Post-Rehabilitation Rents at no greater than one hundred and ten percent (110%) of the FMR for the area in which the Building is located.

(d) Pre-Disposition Notice. Following the pre-commitment meeting held pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, and not less than thirty (30) days prior to sale of a Building to the NPC, NPD shall send a notice that shall:

(1) inform each Tenant of the contemplated Rehabilitation which will be performed in the Project;

(2) advise each Tenant of the expected rental increase to result from the Rehabilitation that will take effect after Substantial Completion (i.e., the Post-Rehabilitation Rent); (3) provide information on rental assistance which assistance that may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance in accordance with §35-10 of these Rules;

(4) apprise each Tenant of such Tenant's right to submit written comments; and

(5) advise each Tenant that where relocation during Rehabilitation is necessary, HPD will use its best efforts to minimize inconvenience to affected Tenants.

(e) Implementation of Intake Rent. Commencing no earlier than the date set forth in the notice of Intake Rent sent pursuant to §35-04(g), HPD shall charge the Intake Rent, except that rents for Tenants whose rents at such time are greater than the Intake Rent shall not be decreased.

(f) Registration of Rent. Not less than thirty (30) days after sale of a Building to the, NPC, the Sponsor shall register with DHCR the rent charged to each Tenant in the Building at the time of such sale. Leases shall contain a provision satisfactory to HPD requiring notice to the Tenant of the subsequent establishment of the Post-Rehabilitation Rent.

(g) Increase in Projected Post-Rehabilitation Rents. If the Post-Rehabilitation Rents established by HPD pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section reflect the Building's expenses, and HPD determines that its projection of maintenance and operating costs must be increased based on unforeseen changes in the circumstances and factors which formed the basis of the original projection, including, but not limited to, unexpected increases in fuel or utility costs, HPD shall notify Tenants of the amount of the expected rent increase over and above the Post-Rehabilitation Rent set forth in the pre-Disposition notice sent pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section.

(h) Notice of Substantial Completion. Following Substantial Completion, HPD shall send a notice to each Tenant that the Rehabilitation is substantially complete and that the Tenant's rent will be increased to the Post-Rehabilitation Rent in not less than sixty (60) days. Such notice shall state that the Tenant has an opportunity to comment regarding the quality of Rehabilitation. Such notice shall also include the amount of the Post-Rehabilitation Rent, its effective date, and provide information on rental assistance which may be available to the Tenant and the procedures to apply for such assistance in accordance with §35-10 of these Rules. Prior to the establishment of Post-Rehabilitation Rent, HPD shall give due consideration to Tenant comments regarding the quality of the Rehabilitation.

(i) Implementation and Registration of Post-Rehabilitation Rents. Not less than sixty (60) days after the sending of the notice of Substantial Completion pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, HPD shall complete and sign a rent order, and shall mail such order to the Tenant with a copy to the Sponsor. The rent set forth on each rent order shall be the Post-Rehabilitation Rent for such apartment as was determined in accordance with subdivision (c) of this section and as set forth in the pre-Disposition notice or as adjusted pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section. If an apartment is vacant at the time of establishment of rents, the rent order shall be mailed to the Sponsor. Immediately upon receipt of the rent order or a copy thereof, the Sponsor shall register the Post-Rehabilitation Rent for each Tenant in the Building with DHCR.

(j) Two year leases. The Sponsor must offer two year leases to all Tenants upon Substantial Completion.

§35-07 Project Operation by Sponsor under the SDMA Prior to Disposition.

(a) SDMA. Prior to Disposition to the Sponsor, the NPC shall enter into a SDMA with the Sponsor.

(b) Tenant Selection Policy. Sponsor shall rent vacant apartments only to low and/or moderate income Tenants as defined by HPD and in accordance with HPD guidelines. HPD may also, in the public interest, require that other persons, determined by HPD to be in need of housing, receive priority in the renting of apartments. HPD may require that rentals be pre-approved by HPD, that specified lists of eligible persons be used, or may direct any other Tenant selection method be used.

(c) Successor Tenants. Persons claiming to be successor Tenants, if any, prior to a unit entering rent stabilization, are subject to the rules set forth in Chapter 24 of Title 28 of the Rules of the City of New York.

(d) Interim Payment Agreement. HPD may require the Sponsor to enter into one or more Interim Payment Agreements in accordance with §35-10 of these Rules.

(e) Limitation on Collection of Arrears. At such time as a Tenant is one month or more in arrears on the payment of rent to Sponsor, Sponsor may commence a proceeding for such rent arrears and/or for possession of the apartment. Sponsor may not sue for arrears that accrued more than three (3) months prior to the commencement of the lease for the Building.

(f) Vacancy Rents. Rents for vacant apartments shall be set by Sponsor, subject to HPD approval.

(g) Commencement of Legal Proceedings. Sponsor may commence legal proceedings, including eviction proceedings for failure to pay rent in accordance with §21-23(c) of chapter 21 of this title, with the prior approval of HPD and the NPC.

(h) Tenant Complaints. (1) Complaints shall, in the first instance, be directed to Sponsor.

(2) Tenants shall have the right to file written complaints with HPD staff or the NPC if a Tenant deems Sponsor's response to be inadequate or unsatisfactory.

§35-10 Rental Assistance.

(a) HPD will assist eligible Tenants in applying for existing rental assistance programs during the period of the Building's participation in the Program. HPD will provide Tenants with applications for §8 of the United States Housing Act of 1973, as amended, and senior citizen rent increase exemptions, advise Tenants which rental assistance program is most suitable for their individual needs, and assist Tenants in completing rental assistance applications.

(b) Each Tenant who applies for rental assistance is solely responsible for supplying all required documentation and materials necessary to process an application: i.e., attending required interviews providing the necessary income certification and complying with all procedures to process an application.

(c) HPD shall review all applications for rental assistance and make a preliminary determination of a Tenant's eligibility within sixty (60) days of receipt of a completed application. HPD shall promptly notify the NPC or the Sponsor, as applicable, of all applicants for rental assistance and shall forward to the NPC or the Sponsor, as applicable, copies of the applications, letters granting or denying rental assistance, Interim Payment Agreements entered into, and letters extending or terminating Interim Payment Agreements. Upon a finding of preliminary eligibility, HPD will provide the Tenant with an Interim Payment Agreement, which shall be signed by the Tenant, HPD and the NPC or the Sponsor, as applicable, before it becomes effective. This Interim Payment Agreement shall include:

(1) the amount of the increased rent for the apartment;

(2) the amount of rent that the Tenant must pay pending the final eligibility determination of the rental assistance application (as such amount is determined in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section);

(3) a statement of the grounds for termination pursuant to subdivision (e) of this section; and

(4) notice to the Tenant that s(he) remains liable for the full amount of the rent retroactive to the effective date of the increase if, at any time, the rental assistance application is denied by HPD or the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraphs one, three or four of subdivision (e) of this section, provided, however, that if the Interim Payment Agreement is terminated pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision (e) of this section, the Tenant shall not be liable for the full amount of the rent increase retroactive to its effective date if s(he) notifies HPD within thirty (30) days of any change in household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance.

(d) A Tenant who receives an Interim Payment Agreement will be required to pay the greater of (1) the amount set forth in the Interim Payment Agreement, which is the amount that s(he) would pay on a monthly basis if the rental assistance application is approved, or (2) the rent charged prior to implementation of the rent increase.

(e) The Interim Payment Agreement will terminate one year after the date of issuance or upon the earlier occurrence of any of the following:

(1) any change in the Tenant's household income which renders the Tenant ineligible for rental assistance; or

(2) any change in the rent charged by the City; or

(3) failure by the Tenant to comply with any of the requirements necessary to process the application for rental assistance; or

(4) failure by the Tenant to pay, within thirty (30) days of the date due, the rent payable under the Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section, unless payment of such rent is being withheld for lack of services which the Tenant has given written notice of to the Sponsor; or

(5) receipt by Tenant of rental assistance pursuant to a rental assistance application filed in accordance with this section.

(f) HPD will permit any Tenant who has applied for rental assistance in accordance with subdivision (b) of this section and who has not been provided with an Interim Payment Agreement pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, to pay a rent increase in stages of $10.00 per room per quarter.

§36-03 Alternative Enforcement Program Fees.

(a) An owner of a building who has been notified of participation in the Alternative Enforcement Program shall be subject to fees for any inspection, reinspection or any other action undertaken by the Department during the time period that such building is in such Program. The schedule of fees is as follows:

(1) For each reinspection performed upon application by an owner for dismissal of violations within the first four months after notification of participation in the Alternative Enforcement Program: $1,000 per building.

(2) For a building-wide inspection, monitoring of repair work and reassessment of a building pursuant to subdivisions k and m of §27-2153 of the Housing Maintenance Code: $500 per dwelling unit every six months, beginning on the date of the building-wide inspection, with a maximum total fee of $1,000 per dwelling unit during participation in the Alternative Enforcement Program.

(3) For each inspection based upon a complaint that results in issuance of a class B or class C violation: $200 per inspection.

(4) For each reinspection pursuant to a certification of correction of violation(s) submitted to the Department, where the Department finds that one or more violations have not been corrected: $100 per reinspection per building.

(b) All fees imposed pursuant to this section that remain unpaid by the owner shall constitute a debt recoverable from the owner and a lien upon the building and lot, and upon the rents and other income thereof. The provisions of article eight of subchapter five of the Housing Maintenance Code shall govern the effect and enforcement of such debt

The rules are intended to implement Local Law 29 of 2007. The law establishes an Alternative Enforcement Program under which the Department of Housing Preservation and Development will identify distressed buildings for participation in the Program, monitor progress toward correction of Housing Maintenance Code violations, or undertake correction of the violations itself. The rules set forth the process for owners to request reinspection by the Department for the purpose of dismissing corrected violations from the records of the Department, so that a building that has been repaired in accordance with the standards established in the law may be discharged from the Program. The rules also establish fees for the various actions to be undertaken by the Department under the Program, as authorized by the law.

CHAPTER 37 FEES FOR ADMINISTRATION OF LOAN PROGRAMS AND CERTAIN OTHER MUNICIPALITY-AIDED PROJECTS*1

§37-02 Definitions.

For purposes of this chapter:

(a) Appraisal Fee. "Appraisal Fee" shall mean the amount charged to a grantee, borrower, or recipient for HPD's administrative costs in connection with a Simple Appraisal or a Complex Appraisal.

(b) Certificate of Incorporation Fee. "Certificate of Incorporation Fee" shall mean the amount charged to an applicant for HPD's administrative costs in connection with the review of the formation or dissolution of a housing development fund corporation pursuant to Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law or any amendment to the certificate of incorporation of a housing development fund corporation.

(c) City-owned Property. "City-owned Property" shall mean real property title to which is held by the City of New York.

(d) Complex Appraisal. "Complex Appraisal" shall mean an investigation by an appraiser to estimate the value of a property that is the basis of underwriting of a loan or grant or that will be conveyed from City to private ownership where such property consists of:

(1) six or more tax lots consisting entirely of vacant land, for which the valuation can be made solely based upon available comparable sales data; or

(2) any improved residential property consisting of four or more class A units; or

(3) any improved property consisting of a combination of commercial and residential uses; or

(4) any property consisting of a combination of vacant and improved land; or

(5) any other complex development project consisting of a combination of uses.

(e) HPD. "HPD" shall mean the Department of Housing Preservation and Development of the City of New York.

(f) License Agreement Fee. "License Agreement Fee" shall mean the amount charged to an applicant for HPD's administrative costs in connection with preparing each license agreement or renewal thereof for short-term use of City-owned property. Such fee shall not be deemed to be a rental or use and occupancy charge.

(g) Mortgage Refinance Fee. "Mortgage Refinance Fee" shall mean the amount charged to a grantee, borrower, or recipient for HPD's administrative costs in connection with processing requests to subordinate, satisfy or otherwise modify HPD debt.

(h) Simple Appraisal. "Simple Appraisal" shall mean an investigation by an appraiser to estimate the value of a property that is the basis of underwriting of a loan or grant or that will be conveyed from City to private ownership where such property consists of:

(1) five or fewer tax lots consisting entirely of vacant land, for which the valuation can be made solely based upon available comparable sales data; or

(2) any improved residential property consisting of not more than three class A residential units for which the valuation can be made solely based upon available comparable sales data.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 11, 2009:

Pursuant to New York City Charter §1802 and various federal and state statutes, the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD), is empowered to perform a broad range of functions relating to both private and City-owned real property. HPD is authorized to charge and collect fees in relation to such functions. The rule clarifies definitions for two of the fees. It amends the definition of the mortgage refinancing fee to clarify the intent to also charge for processing requests to satisfy or otherwise modify HPD debt. The rule also amends the definition of the certificate of incorporation fee to clarify the intent to also charge for reviewing dissolutions of housing development fund corporations and amendments to certificates of incorporation.

CHAPTER 38 CAMPAIGN FINANCE ACT IMPLEMENTATION*1

§38-02 [Actions, Transactions and Agreements for Providing Affordable Housing Which Constitute "Business Dealings with the City".]2

(a) Except as otherwise provided in the Act and §38-03 of these rules, actions, transactions and agreements for providing affordable housing shall constitute "business dealings with the city" for purposes of the Act where any such action, transaction or agreement involves:

(1) the disposition of City-owned real property; or

(2) a loan or grant by HPD or HDC, except as otherwise provided in §38-03 of these rules; or

(3) any Discretionary Tax Benefit; or

(4) any discretionary approval following a public hearing by either the City Council or the Office of the Mayor, including, but not limited to, any approval pursuant to ULURP, UDAAP, the Urban Renewal Law, the PHFL or the Zoning Resolution; or

(5) the allocation of federal low income housing tax credits by HPD pursuant to Internal Revenue Code §42; or

(6) the execution of an agreement with HPD regarding the creation of inclusionary housing in accordance with any applicable provision of the Zoning Resolution.

(b) The actions, transactions or agreements set forth in subdivision a of this section shall only constitute business dealings with the City during the following periods:

(1) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves the disposition of City-owned real property, the period commencing on the date that the proposed sponsor submits or makes a proposal to HPD, HDC or EDC to acquire such property and ending as provided in paragraph b of subdivision 18 of §3-702 of the Act.

(2) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves a loan or grant by HPD or HDC, the period commencing on the date that the proposed sponsor makes or submits an application or proposal to HPD or HDC for such loan or grant and ending one year after the date of construction completion or the final advance or disbursement of funds pursuant to such loan or grant.

(3) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves a Discretionary Tax Benefit, the period commencing with the submission of an application for such exemption or abatement and ending one year after the date of approval of such exemption or abatement by the City Council.

(4) For an action, transaction or agreement that requires any discretionary approval following a public hearing by either the City Council or the Office of the Mayor, including, but not limited to, any approval pursuant to ULURP, UDAAP, the Urban Renewal Law, the PHFL or the Zoning Resolution, but not including the approval of a Discretionary Tax Benefit by the City Council, the period commencing with negotiations and ending as provided in paragraph b of subdivision 18 of §3-702 of the Act, where applicable, or 120 days after approval by the City Council or the Office of the Mayor.

(5) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves the allocation of federal low income housing tax credits by HPD, the period commencing with the submission of an application for such tax credits to HPD and ending one year after the date of issuance by HPD of the Low Income Housing Credit Allocation and Certification form to the applicant.

(6) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves the execution of an agreement with HPD regarding the creation of inclusionary housing in accordance with any applicable provision of the Zoning Resolution, the period commencing with the submission of an application to HPD for such agreement, and ending one year after the date of execution by HPD of a certificate of completion for the inclusionary housing dwelling units.

(7) For an action, transaction or agreement that involves more than one of the actions, transactions and agreements set forth in subparagraphs one through six of this subdivision, the period commencing on the earliest date provided in such subparagraphs and ending on the latest date provided in such subparagraphs.

(8) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, for any proposed action or transaction that HPD determines will not be consummated or for any proposed agreement that HPD determines will not be executed, the end date shall be one year after the date upon which HPD notifies the Office of the Mayor of such determination.

(a) All applications to the Board concerning coverage, hardship claims, rent adjustments, fixture fee disputes, exemption, and any other matters within the purview of the Board under Article 7C of the Multiple Dwelling Law, shall be submitted at the Office of the Loft Board, on such forms as may be prescribed by the Loft Board together with such additional information as may be required. The applicant shall submit 12 copies of the application, plus one for each affected party, and shall be required to list, to the best of his or her knowledge, all affected parties when filing his or her application. Affected parties for coverage and hardship claims shall include: owners; all tenants of record, including residential, commercial and manufacturing tenants; and all occupants of the building in question, if different from tenants of record. Affected parties for harassment claims shall include the owner and all residential tenants or occupants of the building in question. For all other categories of applications, affected parties shall include the owner and such occupants as are necessary for a final resolution of the claims asserted in the application.

(b) The staff of the Loft Board shall serve all affected parties with a copy of the application by regular mail, retaining records attesting to such services. Instructions on the procedures for filing an answer shall be enclosed in each mailing. Service shall be deemed to be completed five days after the date of mailing.

(c) A party who has been served with a copy of an application shall have 30 days from the date on which service of the application was completed to file an answer with the Board, with proof of service upon the applicant. The answer shall contain facts and arguments relevant to the issues raised in the application.

(d) Service of the answer upon the applicant may be done in person or by mail at the address of the applicant specified in the application or by facsimile transmission to the applicant at a fax number designated by the applicant or the applicant's attorney. If service of the answer upon the applicant is accomplished by facsimile transmission, service of the answer will be deemed complete on the day of the facsimile transmission when the respondent mails a second copy of the answer to the applicant or his or her attorney within 3 days of date of the facsimile transmission.

(e) The original answer and any accompanying documents may be submitted to the board on the date that the answer is due either personally, by mail or by facsimile transmission at the fax number designated for the Board.

(f) The answering party shall also submit to the Board 12 additional copies of the answer and any accompanying documents with proof of service of the answer upon the applicant. If the answer and any accompanying documentation is submitted to the Board by facsimile transmission, service of the answer will be deemed complete as of the date of facsimile transmission if the original answer, accompanying documents and proof of service required herein are submitted to the Board personally within 3 days of the date of the facsimile transmission or by mail, postmarked within 3 days of the date of the facsimile transmission. Failure to submit the original answer, any accompanying documents and proof of service to the Board as required herein following facsimile transmission of such documents will constitute a default and the respondent will then be subject to the procedures outlined in §21 of these rules.

(g) All applications, answers and other proofs requested by the staff or the Board shall be verified or affirmed. Whenever the Board Rules Relating to Loft Board Procedures for Conducting Business and Considering Applications or its subject matter rules require that a document be filed with the Board, it is required that the document be received by the Board. If the Board's Rules of Internal Board Procedures or its subject matter rules require that a document be filed with the Board within a prescribed time period, that document must be received by the Board within the specified time period.

(h) Any affected party may submit amended pleadings as of right up to and including the date of the first scheduled conference in the case. The hearing examiner will afford the applicant or respondent the opportunity to respond to amended pleadings submitted on the date of the first scheduled conference. Thereafter, amended pleadings may be submitted only if permitted by the hearing examiner assigned to the case.

(i) (1) If a respondent fails to file an answer to any application within 30 days after the date on which service of the application is completed, the respondent will be in default and will be barred from filing an answer at a later date or offering any evidence in its defense. The respondent's defensive case will not be heard as a result of its failure to file an answer. The hearing examiner assigned to the case will advise the respondent in writing of the default and that an inquest will be held unless the respondent moves for relief from the default as specified in paragraph 2 below. This provision will not apply where an extension to file an answer has been granted before the expiration of the 30-day period.

(2) A party who is barred from filing an answer will have 30 days after the date of mailing of the default determination, to move for relief from the default determination and establish before the hearing examiner that good cause existed for the failure to file an answer. Any motion for relief from a default determination must be received by the hearing examiner, with proof of service to all affected parties, within the specified time period. Good cause can be established by proof of a reasonable explanation for failure to file an answer and a summary of the defense to be presented, which establishes it not to be frivolous. Where the respondent fails to file an answer and no timely motion to open the default determination has been received by the hearing examiner, the case will proceed and respondent will not be permitted to file an answer or present its defensive case.

(3) Following the issuance of a final Board determination, a respondent who has not moved for relief from a default judgment as set forth in paragraph 2 above and is aggrieved by the default determination may move to reopen the proceeding by filing an application for reconsideration with the Board within 30 days of the date of mailing of the final determination. Such application will be granted only if the Board, in its discretion, finds that the respondent has established (i) extraordinary circumstances for the failure to file the answer and (ii) substantial likelihood of success on the merits.

(4) In a case in which the respondent is barred from filing an answer, the applicant must present a prima facie case before the hearing examiner demonstrating entitlement to the relief sought in the application.

(j) (1) The staff of the Board shall investigate applications and may conduct informal conferences, upon 15 days notice to the applicant and all parties who have filed an answer, to settle disputes or clarify issues. As part of its investigation, the staff may request that the parties furnish additional evidence or memoranda relevant to the application and request appropriate books and records relevant to the issues in dispute.

(2) (i) All parties shall be afforded an opportunity for a hearing within a reasonable time, upon 15 days notice to the applicant and all parties who have filed an answer. The notice of hearing shall include a statement of the nature of the proceeding and time and place it will be held; the legal authority and jurisdiction under which the hearing is to be held, and a reference to the particular sections of law and rules involved; and a short and plain statement of the matters to be adjudicated.

(ii) The Executive Director shall determine whether the hearing shall be conducted before a staff hearing examiner or before an Administrative Law Judge at the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings (OATH). All such hearings shall be conducted in accordance with procedures set forth in this section. Where a hearing is conducted at OATH, the Administrative Law Judge shall submit recommended findings of fact and a recommended decision to the Loft Board, which shall make the final findings of fact and decision. Where a hearing is conducted by a staff hearing examiner, such hearing will be conducted by a staff hearing examiner assigned solely to adjudicative duties, who may take testimony under oath and consider affidavits and other proofs. Formal rules of evidence shall not apply to such hearings, except that effect shall be given to the rules of privilege recognized by law. All such hearings shall be electronically recorded, and a duplication of the tape recording or transcript of the proceedings shall be available to any party upon application and agreement to pay the fee assessed for the duplication. At the hearing the parties shall be afforded the opportunity to be represented by counsel, to issue subpoenas or to request that a subpoena be issued, to call witnesses, to cross-examine opposing witnesses and to present oral and written arguments on the law and facts.

(3) Parties shall be advised of their right to representation by counsel at all stages of the administrative proceedings and of their right to cross-examine witnesses at hearings.

(4) When a party fails to furnish documents requested by the staff or the Loft Board or fails to submit to examination or cross-examination, inferences adverse to his or her position may be drawn by the fact-finder from such refusal.

(5) Where informal conferences conducted by the staff with the affected parties result in the resolution of disputes to the mutual satisfaction of the parties, a stipulation of agreement shall be entered into by the parties and reviewed by the Executive Director. A summary report of such matters including the type of application, the issues presented and the resolution reached shall be made to the Board which may direct that a particular matter be reopened and remanded for further investigation. Upon approval by the Board of matters on summary calendar, such cases shall be deemed closed.

(k) (1) Parties may consent to adjourn conferences or hearings with the approval of the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge assigned to the case. No more than 2 consecutive consent adjournments will be permitted, except as noted below.

(2) Additional requests for adjournments must be made in writing to the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge assigned to the case, with notice to all affected parties, at least 2 days before the date of the scheduled conference or hearing. Such adjournment will be granted at the sole discretion of the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge.

(3) When any party adjourns more than two consecutive schedule conferences or hearings, the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge may direct that the next scheduled hearing or conference be marked final. This notice shall be sent to the parties in writing.

(4) If an applicant does not appear for a conference or hearing which has been marked final against him/her, the application will be dismissed for failure to prosecute unless the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge approves a written request for its reinstatement which must be made within 30 days upon a showing of extraordinary circumstances which prevented the applicant's attendance at the hearing or conference.

(5) If a respondent does not appear for a conference or hearing marked final against him/her, the answer will be stricken and the respondent will be barred from presenting its defensive case unless the hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge approves a written request for its reinstatement which must be made within 30 days upon a showing of extraordinary circumstances which prevented the respondent's attendance at the hearing or conference.

(6) In a case in which the respondent is barred from filing an answer and presenting its defensive case, the applicant must then present a prima facie case at an inquest before a hearing examiner or Administrative Law Judge, demonstrating entitlement to the relief sought in the application.

(l) If an applicant fails to appear at a hearing on due notice which has not been marked final against the applicant, his or her application shall be dismissed without prejudice. If a respondent fails to appear for a hearing on due notice which has not been marked final against the respondent, the staff shall conduct, through one of its hearing examiners, an inquest on the application. All such inquests shall be electronically recorded. Where a respondent fails to appear for a hearing and an inquest is held the conclusions of which are adverse to his or her contentions, the respondent may move to re-instate the matter within 30 days of the date of the mailing of the final determination, upon good cause shown. Good cause can be established by proof of a reasonable explanation for failure to appear on the date of the hearing and a summary of the defense to be presented, which establishes it not to be frivolous. After 30 days, any motion to reopen will be denied as untimely, except that the Executive Director may grant such motion, in his discretion, if extraordinary circumstances for the non-appearance and further delay can be shown, and a substantial likelihood of success on the merits can be shown.

(m) The staff of the Board shall prepare written reports of all hearings and inquests conducted by staff hearing examiners and shall submit such reports to the Board. These reports shall be based exclusively on the administrative record of the case. They shall include:

(1) a description of the application, and the names of the parties, their counsel and other persons affected by the application;

(2) a summary of the facts disputed and the facts found during any investigation and of testimony and other proofs taken at the hearing or inquest;

(3) copies of the application and of all affidavits, memoranda, and briefs submitted by the parties;

(4) a staff recommendation to the Board regarding disposition of the application, with a summary of the factual and legal bases for such recommendation. A copy of all written recommended decisions shall be mailed forthwith to each party.

(n) All final determinations regarding the disposition of any application brought to a hearing or inquest shall be made by the Board. The Board may adopt, reject, remand, defer or modify the disposition recommended by the staff or Administrative Law Judge employed by OATH. Pending its final determination, the Board or the Chair may direct the staff to provide it with additional information regarding the application, with copies of any relevant documents not included in the staff report, and with a transcript of the hearing or inquest. When a final decision is entered, it shall be mailed forthwith to each party.

(o) The Board may, by a vote of a majority of the Board as specified in paragraph 3 of these rules, conduct a de novo hearing or inquest on an application. The provisions on the taking of evidence, set forth in §1-06(e), supra, shall apply to hearings conducted by the Board. All such proceedings shall be electronically recorded.

(p) The report and recommendation of the staff or administrative law judge on each application shall be promptly referred to the Loft Board. A copy of the Board's determination, including an order and any supporting opinion shall be mailed to the applicant and all parties who filed an answer. A determination of the Board shall constitute a final agency determination for purposes of commencement of the running of the statute of limitations for the filing of an Article 78 C.P.L.R. petition challenging the Board's determination, unless a timely application for reconsideration has been filed (see §1-07 of these rules).

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. In 1995, IMD owner filed an application for an extension of legalization deadlines then in effect. Upon enactment of 1996 amendments to Loft Law, new deadlines were adopted, but Loft Board continued to process the application as one for a "retroactive extension" of the pre-1996 deadlines. Pursuant to section 1-06(h), amendment of the application was permitted to add a request for an extension of the 1996 deadline to obtain a building permit. Matter of Ken-Zen Institute, Ltd., OATH Index No. 897/98 (Feb. 24, 1998), aff'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2235 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 2. Loft Board rules, not OATH rules or the CPLR, govern an application to vacate a default in a Loft Board proceeding. Matter of Slavis, OATH Index No. 993/97 (Jan. 27, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2233 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 3. Under this section, OATH lacks discretion to grant an untimely application to vacate a default. The defaulting party's remedy, if aggrieved by any subsequent final determination issued by the Loft Board, is to make an application for reconsideration to the Board pursuant to section 1-06(i)(3) of the Board's rules. Matter of Slavis, OATH Index No. 993/97 (Jan. 27, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2233 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 4. Where owner failed to answer tenant's application, was provided with notice and opportunity to make a motion to vacate this default and missed the deadline set forth in the notice by three weeks, the application to vacate was denied as untimely. Matter of Slavis, OATH Index No. 993/97 (Jan. 27, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2233 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 5. Defaulting owner, who was represented by counsel and given notice and opportunities to move to be relieved from default and did not do so prior to rescheduled hearing date, was required to make a motion to be relieved from default. Mere appearance will not relieve a default. Matter of Barth, OATH Index Nos. 990-91/98 (June 5, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2283 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 6. Application may be dismissed for failure to prosecute pursuant to subparagraph (k)(4) of this section where the applicant did not respond to two letters from the Loft Board asking for further information to support application. Matter of Meltzer, OATH Index No. 895/98 (Mar. 11, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2254 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 7. Pursuant to subparagraph (j)(2)(ii) of this section, the strict or formal rules of evidence do not apply to Loft Board hearings. Administrative law judge issued preliminary ruling from the bench that the Dead Man's Statute, CPLR section 4519, is inapplicable in a Loft Board hearing. Party's objection to receipt of testimony on that basis was deemed waived where party did not avail himself of the opportunity to submit authority to the contrary. Matter of Sultan, OATH Index Nos. 1314-15/98, at 14, n. 1 (Aug. 18, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2323 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 8. Pursuant to paragraph (l) of this section, non-compliance application is dismissed without prejudice upon the failure of all three applicants to appear for duly scheduled trial. Matter of Puryear, OATH Index No. 1645/98 (June 26, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2285 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 9. Owner's default for failing to file a timely answer excused because the Loft Law had expired during the thirty-day period to answer. Matter of Kasolapov, OATH Index No. 271/00, mem. dec. (Sept. 17, 1999).

¶ 10. Motion to vacate default granted where movant's explanation for failing to answer-mail delivery failure-was unopposed and movant's defense to the applicant's overcharge claim was not frivolous. The movant challenged the applicant's right to claim damages by arguing that the applicant was not a subtenant but was merely a roommate of the subtenant. Matter of Shannon, OATH Index No. 1757/99, mem. dec. (Apr. 15, 1999).

¶ 11. Owner's motion to vacate default because its attorney was out of the country denied where it failed to set forth a summary of a non-frivolous defense to the application, as required by subparagraph (i)(2) of this section. Matter of Bills, OATH Index No. 921/99 (Apr. 12, 1998), modified on penalty after supplemental report and recommendation, Loft Bd. Order No. 2421 (June 25, 1999).

¶ 12. Tenants sought to include in their coverage proceeding a further hearing on the issue of whether the building was a single entity, or horizontal multiple dwelling under Loft Law. Owner moved to preclude relitigation of that issue in light of a prior ruling by a Loft Board hearing officer, based on written submissions and an inspection of the premises, that the premises constituted two distinct buildings for coverage purposes. Administrative law judge granted owner's motion to preclude further litigation of the horizontal multiple dwelling issue, finding that the parties had had a full and fair opportunity to "litigate" the issue previously before the Loft Board hearing officer, even though no evidentiary hearing was held since the right to an evidentiary hearing under Loft Board rule 1-06(j) is not absolute. No hearing is required in the absence of disputed material issues of fact. Matter of South 11th Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index Nos. 1242-44/96 (Mar. 30, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2397 (Apr. 29, 1999).

¶ 13. Administrative law judge denied owner's motion to vacate default in non-compliance proceeding where owner had not demonstrated a reasonable excuse for failing to answer. Matter of Chapin, OATH Index No. 275/00, mem. dec. (Apr. 27, 2000).

¶ 14. Owner's excuse for not answering petition rests on technical deficiency in service, "office failure," and assumption dispute had been resolved between the two tenants. Administrative law judge granted motion to vacate default in light of public policy favoring a party's participation in litigation and petitioner's consent. Loft Board reversed, holding that under rule 1-06(i), sole remedy was to make an application for reconsideration after the Loft Board issues its order. Matter of Latin, OATH Index No. 1110/00, mem. dec. (Feb. 15, 2000), rev'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2555 (July 20, 2000).

¶ 15. Administrative law judge granted owner's application to vacate default. The Loft Board reversed that portion of the administrative law judge's report, holding that under 29 RCNY 1-06(i) the owner's application was untimely and must be denied; the owner's remedy is to apply for reconsideration after the Loft Board issues its order pursuant to 1-06(i)(3). Matter of Schwartz, OATH Index No. 272/00 (June 19, 2000), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2544 (July 20, 2000).

¶ 16. Loft Board rule 1-06(l) mandates dismissal of an application without prejudice where an applicant fails to appear at a hearing on due notice, which has not been marked final against the applicant. Kamen v. Suraci, OATH Index No. 2364/00 (Aug. 16, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2557 (Sept. 26, 2000).

¶ 17. Where ALJ was provided with Stipulation of Settlement of holdover proceeding between the same parties to a coverage proceeding, in which applicant had sold his rights and agreed to move out, ALJ, after giving notice, dismissed the coverage petition with prejudice. Matter of Abramson, OATH Index No. 1197/01 (Jan. 16, 2001).

¶ 18. Where two tenants who filed answers failed to appear at a scheduled hearing, their rights to participate were foreclosed and requests dismissed pursuant to subsection (k)(4) of this section. Matter of Lipton, OATH Index Nos. 278-79/00 (Feb. 26, 2001).

¶ 19. Mailing of new notice of hearing and default, following the reopening of OATH's offices after temporary dislocation due to the September 11th attack at the World Trade Center, served to commence a new 30-day period in which respondent could move to vacate default pursuant to 29 RCNY § 1-06(i)(2). Further, it is the public policy of New York State that a party should not be prejudiced by the running of a statute of limitations in the period following the disaster at the World Trade Center. Executive Order Nos. 113.7 and 113.18; see Ishay v. City of New York, 178 F.Supp.2d 314 (E.D.N.Y. 2001). Matter of Haley, OATH Index No. 355/02, mem. dec. (Dec. 6, 2001).

¶ 20. Motion to vacate default pursuant to 29 RCNY § 1-06(i)(2) granted where substituted party defaulted because it never received copies of the notice and statement of charges and no showing has been made that allowing party to represent its interests in this matter would cause prejudice to any other party. Loft Bd. v. 53 Downing Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 2102/01, mem. dec. (Aug. 30, 2001).

¶ 21. Motion to vacate default deemed timely where copy of motion papers faxed to the trial judge were received within the extended deadline to file, even though original motion papers sent by mail were not received until the first business day after the extended deadline. Loft Bd. v. 53 Downing Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 2102/01, mem. dec. (Aug. 30, 2001).

¶ 22. Mailing of new notice of hearing and default, following the reopening of OATH's offices after temporary dislocation due to the September 11th attack at the World Trade Center, served to commence a new 30-day period in which respondent could move to vacate default pursuant to 29 RCNY § 1-06(i)(2). Further, it is the public policy of New York State that a party should not be prejudiced by the running of a statute of limitations in the period following the disaster at the World Trade Center. Executive Order Nos. 113.7 and 113.18; see Ishay v. City of New York, 178 F.Supp.2d 314 (E.D.N.Y. 2001). Matter of Haley, OATH Index No. 355/02, mem. dec. (Dec. 6, 2001).

¶ 23. Owner's request for an adjournment at time of trial to obtain a building permit was denied. Adjournment of trial may be granted only upon a showing of good cause by the party seeking the adjournment. Matter of Buchen, OATH Index Nos. 1132/98 & 105/99 (Mar. 21, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2725 (Apr. 18, 2002).

¶ 24. Pursuant to subsection (k)(4) of this section, tenant application for Loft Law coverage dismissed with prejudice for failure to prosecute when applicant failed to appear at the scheduled hearing, which had been adjourned several times and marked final. Matter of Munzer, OATH Index Nos. 2109-10/01 (May 13, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2743 (June 25, 2002).

¶ 25. Tenants' failure to appear at hearing on unreasonable interference application requires that application be dismissed for failure to prosecute under this rule. Matter of Tsuji, OATH Index No. 1351/03 (Sept. 3, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2832 (Nov. 13, 2003).

¶ 26. Administrative law judge determined that petition for protected occupancy had been abandoned where tenant did not appear for the proceeding, a money judgment for non-payment and a warrant of eviction had been issued against him by civil court, and tenant had surrendered possession of the subject premises. Matter of Ehlich, OATH Index No. 1698/03, mem. dec. (Feb. 5, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2850 (Mar. 18, 2004).

¶ 27. The Loft Board denied an abandonment application, finding that not all of the affected parties were served with the application. For an abandonment application, affected parties include the owner and such applicants as are necessary for a final resolution of the claims asserted in the application. The application indicated that the owner listed only the window period occupants on the application as affected parties. Loft Board records indicated that the two allegedly abandoned units were subsequently occupied by three other persons who were not listed on the application. Failure to name those three other persons was fatal to the application. Matter of 43 Crosby Street, LLC, Loft Bd. Order No. 3124 (Nov. 16, 2006), rejecting, OATH Index No. 1937/06 (Aug. 2, 2006).

¶ 28. Pursuant to subsection (i)(4) of this section, respondent-owner's default did not entitle applicant-tenant to a default judgment or the granting of her application. Applicant still had to prove the allegations of her application. Overcharge application denied when tenant failed to make out a prima facie case. Matter of Maugenest, Loft Bd. Order No. 3118 (Nov. 16, 2006).

¶ 29. The provision in subsection (h) of this section, allowing amended pleadings up to the date of the conference, does not apply to an inquest where all adverse parties have defaulted because there cannot be a conference with only one party. Matter of Maugenest, Loft Bd. Order No. 3118 (Nov. 16, 2006).

¶ 30. Building owner's default vacated on a showing of good cause. Answer had been timely filed but lacked proof of service and was not attached to the Loft Board's answer form, as required by subsection (c) of this section. Irregular filing was deemed to be a mere technical defect and defenses of insufficient funds and reliance on outside management to perform the legalization process seen as not frivolous. Vacating respondent's default did not prejudice tenant. Matter of Thornley, OATH Index No. 2180/07 (Sept. 28, 2007).

¶ 31. Pursuant to subsection (i)(2) of this section, a party who has been declared in default may apply to vacate the default upon a showing of a reasonable excuse for the failure to file a timely answer and a non-frivolous defense to the application. A building owner faxed her answer to the Loft Board after business hours but before midnight on the due date. The answer was date-stamped as received the following day. The Loft Board interprets subsection (f) of this section to require faxing by close of business on the due date. The owner's timely application to vacate the default was granted. The ALJ found the owner's interpretation of the rule was reasonable because the rule does not specify that the answer must be faxed by close of business of the due date. Matter of Weadick, OATH Index No. 1555/08, mem. dec. (Feb. 22, 2008).

¶ 32. Pursuant to subsection (i)(2) of this section, a party has thirty days from the date of the mailing of the default application to make an application to vacate his or her default, or he or she will be barred from participation in the proceeding. Application to vacate default, made more than thirty days after the mailing of the default determination was denied as untimely; defaulting building owner was precluded from presenting a defense at the hearing. Matter of Schwartz, OATH Index No. 966/08 (Feb. 15, 2008), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3430 (Apr. 17, 2008).

¶ 33. Former owner was a proper party to tenants' overcharge application. Omission of the term "former owner" from the definition of "affected parties" in subsection (a) of this section, does not provide a basis to dismiss claim against former owner. Subsection (a) is a procedural rule identifying the essential participants an applicant must notify when filing an overcharge claim. The rule does not limit the Loft Board's jurisdiction, derived from Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law, which does not preclude overcharge claims against former owners. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

¶ 34. Summary judgment is appropriate where there is no triable issue of fact and the movant has established entitlement to relief as a matter of law. There is no need for an evidentiary hearing where there is no material factual dispute. Held: tenant was entitled to summary judgment in an overcharge case. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Oct. 15, 2001:

Subdivisions (a) and (b) of §1-06.1 were promulgated on December 4, 1993 (and became effective six months later, on June 4, 1994). The Loft Board stated at the time that evidence to prove coverage was growing stale with the passage of time and therefore no new building-wide coverage cases or building registrations should be accepted at the Loft Board.

However, as a result of the decision in 180 Varick Street Corp. v. Center for Entrepreneurial Management, Inc. (NY Law Journal, Sept. 16, 1998), the Board repealed these provisions, since there was no purpose in maintaining the rule given the holding in that decision, which permits people to obtain coverage through judicial action.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. This section provides no limitation period applicable to building owners' applications for extensions of legalization deadlines pursuant to §2-01(b) of this chapter, and therefore an extension application filed after expiration of the deadline at issue relates back to that deadline. Matter of Drewvin Building Corporation, OATH Index No. 748/96 (July 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2004 (Sept. 26, 1996); Matter of Salva Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 743/96 (Mar. 8, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1935 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 2. Paragraph (c) of this section limits an award for overcharges to four years prior to the filing of the application, but it does not bar the Loft Board from examining rental history pre-dating the four-year period for the purpose of determining the legal rent. The Rent Regulation Reform Act, CPLR section 213, which bars examination of rental records outside the four-year period, makes no reference to the Loft Law and is held not to apply here. Tenant's documentation, consisting of canceled checks and rent and utility bills, were found sufficient to establish current legal rent and to establish that the tenant was overcharged. Matter of Arcaya, OATH Index No. 919/99 (June 17, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2454 (Dec. 13, 1999), aff'd sub nom. Sori-Goalya Realty, LLC v. NYC Loft Bd., NYLJ, Feb. 28, 2001, at 19, col. 6 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co.), aff'd, 284 A.D.2d 137, 726 N.Y.S.2d 93 (1st Dep't 2001).

¶ 3. Pursuant to subsection c of this section calculation of overcharge is limited to the four years prior to the date of the application. Matter of McIntosh, OATH Index No. 604/02 (Oct. 15, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2763 (Nov. 19, 2002).

¶ 4. Tenants are entitled only to overcharges accruing after the date that the coverage application was filed. Matter of Tenants of 323-325 W. 37th Street, OATH Index No. 692/06 (May 18, 2007).

¶ 5. CPLR section 213-a requires that an action on a residential overcharge be brought within four years of the first overcharge alleged. Overcharge application brought in 2006 was time barred where first overcharge allegedly occurred in 1990. ALJ had applied limitation provision set forth in Loft Board rule 1-06.1. Supreme Court held that, while the wording of the Loft Board regulation is slightly different from CPLR 213-a, "clearly a City regulation cannot alter a limitation period set forth in a state statute." Thornley v. Al-Farah, OATH Index Nos. 1819/06 & 1935/06 (Aug. 11, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3405 (Feb. 21, 2008), rev'd sub nom. Nur Ashki Jerrahi Community v. NYC Loft Bd., 868 N.Y.S.2d 494, 2008 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 6746 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. County Nov. 19, 2008); but see Matter of Arcaya, OATH Index No. 919/99 (June 17, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2454 (Dec. 13, 1999), aff'd sub nom. Sori-Goalya Realty, LLC v. New York City Loft Bd., NYLJ, Feb. 28, 2001, at 19, col. 6 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. County), aff'd, 284 A.D.2d 137, 726 N.Y.S.2d 93 (1st Dep't 2001) (holding that the CPLR is limited to civil judicial proceedings and does not apply to Loft Board proceedings).

¶ 6. Subsection [c] of this section precludes an award for overcharges for the period prior to the date of filing of a coverage or registration application. Owner, who challenged tenant's claim of protected occupant status, moved for summary judgment arguing tenant's overcharge application was a "de facto coverage" application precluded by subsection [c]. ALJ denied motion, finding subsection [c] was inapplicable, where the owner had registered the building and the unit 18 years earlier. The tenant was seeking a finding that he is a protected occupant, not a finding of coverage.

Matter of Fogel, OATH Index Nos. 2025/08 & 2026/08, mem dec (Oct. 14, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 1 PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

§1-07 Reconsideration of Determination.

(a) The Loft Board, upon the application of a party aggrieved by a determination of the Board, may, in its sole discretion, reconsider such determination. An application for reconsideration will be granted only under the following extraordinary circumstances: allegations of denial of due process or material fraud in the prior proceedings, an error of law, an erroneous determination based on a ground that was not argued by the parties at the time of the prior proceeding and that the parties could not have reasonably anticipated would be the basis for a determination, and discovery of probative, relevant evidence which could not have been discovered at the time of the hearing despite the exercise of due diligence.

(b) An aggrieved party must file with the Board 12 copies of his or her reconsideration application, along with proof that the reconsideration application has been served on the affected parties to the prior proceeding and the application fee required by section 2-11(b)(15). Service of the application shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section 2-01(d)(1)(i). To be considered timely, a reconsideration application must be received by the Loft Board within 30 days of the date of mailing by the Loft Board of the determination sought to be reconsidered. The application must specify the questions presented for reconsideration and the facts and points of law relied upon as a basis for seeking reconsideration.

(c) Within 20 days of service of the reconsideration application, any party supporting or opposing the application shall file 12 copies of an answering brief or memorandum with the Board, with proof of service upon the applicant for reconsideration. Such brief or memorandum must contain the facts and argument on which such party is relying. Upon determination of the reconsideration application, the decision of the Board will be mailed to all parties who filed an application or answer in the reconsideration pro- ceeding.

(d) A Loft Board determination pursuant to section 1-06 of these rules shall be the final agency determination for the purpose of judicial review, unless a timely application for reconsideration of the determination has been filed. In such case, (i) if the Loft Board modifies or revokes the underlying order, such revocation or modification shall be deemed the final agency determination from which judicial review may be sought; (ii) if the Loft Board denies the reconsideration application, the underlying order shall be deemed the final agency determination from which judicial review may be sought, and the date of the denial of the reconsideration application shall be deemed the date of the final agency determination; and (iii) if the Loft Board decides the reconsideration application by remanding the matter to the hearing officer for further proceedings, neither the underlying order nor the remand order shall constitute a final agency determination, and no judicial review may be sought until such time as the Loft Board issues a final agency determination following the remand.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 1 PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

§1-07.1 Appeal from Determination of the Director, or Determination of a Hearing Officer Under Section 2-04.

(a) A person aggrieved by a written determination of the Director with respect to any matter that is not required by these rules to be determined by the full Board, or by a determination of a hearing officer with respect to housing maintenance standard violations under section 2-04 of these rules, may appeal from such determination to the full Board. The determination of the Loft Board deciding such appeal shall constitute the final agency determination from which judicial review may be sought. For the purposes of this section, a "person aggrieved by a written determination of the Director" shall be the owner or any residential tenant of the building in question whose rights may be affected by the determination. For the purposes of this section, a "person aggrieved by a determination of a hearing officer with respect to housing maintenance standard violations under section 2-04 of these rules" shall be the owner of the building in question or the Director of Enforcement of the Loft Board, in his or her capacity as prosecutor of housing maintenance standard violations.

(b) A person aggrieved by a determination as set forth in subdivision (a) of this section must file with the Loft Board 12 copies of an appeal application, along with proof of service of the appeal application upon the affected parties to the prior proceeding and, except where the Director of Enforcement of the Loft Board is the appellant, the application fee required by section 2-11(b)(14). Service of the application shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section 2-01(d)(1)(i). To be considered timely, an appeal application must be received by the Loft Board within 45 days of the date of mailing of the determination sought to be appealed. The application must specify the questions presented for appeal and the facts and points of law relied upon as a basis for seeking appeal. For the purposes of this section, an "affected party" in an appeal from a determination of the Director shall be the owner or any residential tenant of the building in question whose rights may be affected by the determination. For the purposes of this section, an "affected party" in an appeal from a determination of a hearing officer with respect to housing maintenance standard violations under section 2-04 of these rules shall be the owner of the building in question or the Director of Enforcement of the Loft Board, in his or her capacity as prosecutor of housing maintenance standard violations.

(c) Within 20 days of service of the appeal application, any party supporting or opposing the application shall file 12 copies of an answering brief or memorandum with the Board, with proof of service, in accordance with the provisions of section 2-01(d)(1)(i) of these rules, upon the applicant. Such brief or memorandum must contain the facts and argument on which such party is relying. Upon determination of the appeal application, the decision of the Loft Board will be mailed to all parties who filed an application or answer in the appeal proceeding.

(d) In determining an appeal from a determination of a hearing officer with respect to housing maintenance standard violations under §2-04 of these rules, the Loft Board shall review the determination with regard to whether the facts found therein are supported by substantial evidence in the record, whether the law was correctly applied, and whether the penalty imposed is appropriate, but shall not consider any evidence not presented to the hearing officer, unless good cause is shown as to why the evidence was not previously available.

(e) The Loft Board shall have the power to reverse, remand, or modify any determination appealed from pursuant to this section and may reduce the penalty imposed by a hearing officer for housing maintenance standard violation.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 3, 2001:

The amendments to §1-07 provide that if a party files a timely application for reconsideration, the time to commence an Article 78 proceeding in court will be tolled until the Loft Board decides the reconsideration application. As in current practice, parties are not required to file a reconsideration application before seeking judicial review. This amendment is intended to save parties the effort and expense of commencing both a reconsideration application and an Article 78 proceeding, and save the Loft Board staff the effort of having to both defend an Article 78 and review an identical reconsideration application.

In the past, aggrieved parties often filed reconsiderations only to reargue legal issues that had been determined against them in the underlying proceeding. This was, however, never the purpose of the rule. The proposed amendments limit the grounds on which a person aggrieved by a Loft Board determination may seek reconsideration, to extraordinary grounds such as lack of due process or error in the determination which could not have been anticipated at the time of the underlying proceeding. An example of the latter would be a mathematics error made in the calculation of rent in a rent overcharge case.

Section 1-07.1 amends the Loft Board's rules to clarify when a person may obtain the full Loft Board's review (i.e., appeal) of a determination made by the Executive Director, or by a hearing officer in the context of a minimum housing standards violation case. A new provision states that an appeal from an administrative determination must be made within 45 days of the date of mailing of the determination sought to be appealed. In order to seek judicial review of such an administrative determination, the aggrieved party must first exhaust its administrative remedies by obtaining a Loft Board order upholding the administrative determination. The section also provides that the Loft Board's determination, rather than the Director's or hearing officer's determination, constitutes the final agency determination.

The amendments contained herein shall not apply to orders of the Loft Board, written determinations of the Executive Director, or determinations of hearing officers or administrative law judges pursuant to section 2-04 issued prior to the effective date of this rule.

CHAPTER 1 PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

§1-08 Ex Parte Communications on Pending Applications.

(a) After an application has been filed with the Loft Board, an employee of the Board assigned to conduct a conference or hearing, or make findings of fact and recommendations on that application, shall not communicate on any substantive matter involving the merits of the application with one party to a dispute without notice and opportunity for all parties to participate.

(b) After an application has been filed with the Loft Board, a member of the Board shall not communicate with any member of the staff concerning such application until the matter is before the Board for determination, except that the Chair in its administrative capacity may communicate with the Executive Director, the Operations Director, and Counsel, and shall disclose the fact of such communication to the Board when the case reaches the Board for its determination. Nor shall any member of the Board be present at hearings or conferences conducted by the staff.

(c) When an application has been processed by staff and reaches the Loft Board for determination, any member of the Board who has had ex parte communication with a party to such application shall disclose this fact to the other members of the Board prior to the Board's consideration of the matter.

CHAPTER 1 PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

§1-11 Petitioning Board to Adopt Rules.

(a) Definitions.

Persons. "Persons" shall mean an individual, partnership, corporation or other legal entity, and any individual or entity acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity.

Petition. "Petition" shall mean a request or application for the Loft Board to adopt a rule.

Petitioner. "Petitioner" shall mean the person who files a petition.

Rule. "Rule" shall have the same meaning set forth in Section 1041 (5) of the New York City Charter.

(b) Procedures for Submitting Petitions. (1) Any person may petition the Loft Board to consider the adoption of rules.

(2) The petition must contain the following information:

(i) The proposed language for the rules to be adopted;

(ii) A statement of the Loft Board's authority to promulgate the rules and their purpose;

(iii) The petitioner's argument in support of adopting the rules;

(iv) The period of time the rule should be in effect;

(v) The name, address and telephone number of the petitioner;

(vi) The signature of the petitioner.

(3) All petitions should be typewritten.

(4) The Loft Board is authorized to adopt a form petition. Every petition shall be submitted on such form unless such a form is not available from the Loft Board, in which case the petition shall be filed on plain white, durable paper which shall be eleven by eight and one-half inches in size.

(5) Petitions shall be mailed or delivered to the offices of the Loft Board marked to the attention of the Chair or the Executive Director.

(6) Upon receipt of a petition submitted in proper form, the petition shall be stamped with the date it was received and shall be assigned a processing number. The petition shall then be forwarded to the Chair who may, at his or her discretion, reject the petition or present the petition for consideration by the Board. If the Chair rejects the petition, he or she must do so by written notice stating the reasons for denial. Copies of the Chair's notice rejecting the petition, together with a copy of the petition, shall be presented to the Board at the next regularly scheduled session, after which any Board member may present the petition for consideration by the Board.

(7) Within sixty days from the date the petition was received by the Loft Board, the Loft Board shall either deny any petition not preciously rejected by the Chair by written notice stating the reasons for denial, or shall state in writing the Loft Board's intention to grant the petition and to initiate rulemaking by a specified date. In proceeding with such rulemaking, the Loft Board shall not be bound by the language proposed by petitioner, but may amend or modify such proposed language at the Loft Board's discretion.

(8) The Loft Board's decision to deny or grant a petition is final and shall not be subject to judicial review.

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-01 Code Compliance Work.

(a) Code compliance timetable for IMD's. The owner of any building, structure or portion thereof that meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of Article 7-C and Loft Board coverage regulations, shall comply with the code compliance deadlines set forth below. Any building or unit that is not covered by Article 7-C because of the denial of a grandfathering application or expiration of study area status is not required to be legalized pursuant to these regulations, unless either the area in which the building is located is rezoned to permit residential use or a unit or units at the building qualify for coverage pursuant to M.D.L. §281(4). However, the building must still comply with all other applicable laws and regulations.

In these code compliance regulations, the term "month" shall mean thirty days and the term "occupant," unless otherwise provided, shall mean a residential occupant qualified for the protections of Article 7-C, any other residential tenant, and any nonresidential tenant.

The failure of an owner to meet any of the code compliance deadlines set forth below does not relieve the owner of its obligations to comply with these requirements.

Paragraphs (1) through (4) of this subdivision implement the initial code compliance deadlines that applied pursuant to §284(1)(i) of Article 7-C before the enactment of later amendments, and paragraphs (5) through (8) reflect those amendments, as set forth in §284(1)(ii) through (v).

(1) Deadlines for filing alteration applications. (i) Code compliance timetable for buildings in which all residential units are as of right.

The owner of an IMD that contains only residential units in which residential use is permitted as of right under the Zoning Resolution shall have filed an alteration application by March 21, 1983.

(ii) Buildings with 3 or more as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that, on December 1, 1981, contained 3 or more residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in subsection 281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall have filed an alteration application for all covered as of right residential units by March 21, 1983, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of any additional residential units, the owner shall amend the existing alteration application to reflect approval of the grandfathering application for the additional unit or units within a month from such approval or within a month of the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later.

(iii) Buildings with fewer than 3 as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that, on December 1, 1981, contained fewer than three residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall file an alteration application for all covered residential units within 9 months after approval of the grandfathering application of the unit that becomes the third covered residential unit, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of the unit that becomes the third eligible residential unit, the owner of a building with additional units eligible for grandfathering shall amend the existing alteration application to reflect approval of the grandfathering application for the additional unit or units within a month after such approval or within a month after the initial timely filing of the alteration application referred to in §2-01(a)(1)(iii)(A) above, whichever is later.

(iv) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit as of right residential use.

The owner of an IMD located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area that is rezoned to permit residential use as of right shall file an alteration application within 9 months after the effective date of such rezoning.

(v) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit residential use with 3 or more as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that is located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area and that, as a result of rezoning, contains 3 or more residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08 "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall file an alteration application for all covered as of right residential units within 9 months after the effective date of such rezoning, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of any additional residential units, the owner shall amend the existing alteration application to reflect approval of the grandfathering application for the additional unit or units within a month after such approval.

(vi) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit residential use with fewer than 3 as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that is located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area and that, as a result of rezoning, contains fewer than 3 residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall file an alteration application for all covered residential units within 9 months after approval of the grandfathering application of the unit that becomes the third covered residential unit, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of the unit that becomes the third eligible residential unit, the owner of a building with additional units eligible for grandfathering shall amend the existing alteration application to reflect approval of the grandfathering application for the additional unit or units within a month after such approval or within a month after the initial timely filing of the alteration application referred to in §2-01(a)(1)(vi)(A) above, whichever is later.

(2) Deadlines for obtaining permits.

(i) Code compliance timetable for buildings in which all residential units are as of right.

The owner of an IMD that contains only residential units in which residential use is permitted as of right under the Zoning Resolution shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations.

(ii) Buildings with 3 or more as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that, on December 1, 1981, contained 3 or more residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit for all covered residential units within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of any additional residential units, the owner shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain approval of the amended alteration application for the additional units within 6 months after such grandfathering approval or within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later.

(iii) Buildings with fewer than 3 as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that, on December 1, 1981, contained fewer than 3 residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit for all covered residential units within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations or within 6 months after the timely filing of an alteration application, whichever is later, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of the unit that becomes the third eligible residential units, the owner of a building with additional units eligible for grandfathering shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain approval of the amended alteration application for the additional units within 6 months after such grandfathering approval or within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later.

(iv) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit as of right residential use.

The owner of an IMD located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area that is rezoned to permit residential use as of right shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit for all covered residential units within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations or within 6 months after the timely filing of the alteration application, whichever is later.

(v) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit residential use with 3 or more as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that is located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area and that, as a result of rezoning, contains 3 or more residential units as of right and 1 or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit for all covered residential units within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations or within 6 months after the timely filing of the alteration application, whichever is later, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of any additional residential units, the owner shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain approval of the amended alteration application for the additional units within 6 months after such grandfathering approval.

(vi) Buildings in study areas rezoned to permit residential use with fewer than 3 as of right units and additional units eligible for grandfathering.

The owner of an IMD that is located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area and that, as result of rezoning, contains fewer than three residential units as of right and one or more units eligible for coverage by use of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §281(2)(i) or (iv) of Article 7-C, as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these Loft Board regulations:

(A) Shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a building permit for all covered residential units within 6 months after the effective date of these regulations or within 6 months after the timely filing of the alteration application, whichever is later, and

(B) Following the grandfathering approval of the unit that becomes the third eligible residential unit, the owner of a building with additional units eligible for grandfathering shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain approval of the amended alteration application for the additional units within 6 months after such grandfathering approval.

(3) Deadlines for Article 7-B compliance. The owner of an IMD shall achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L. for all covered residential units within 18 months after a building permit has been obtained or within 18 months after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later. Or the owner may elect to comply with other local building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. that provide alternative means of meeting the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B (pursuant to §287 of Article 7-C) within 18 months after a building permit has been obtained or within 18 months after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later. Where an owner is required to amend the existing alteration application to reflect approval of grandfathering applications for additional units pursuant to §2-01(a)(1)(ii)(B), (iii)(B), (v)(B) or (vi)(B) above, the owner shall achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, or with alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. for the additional grandfathered unit or units within 18 months after the timely approval of the amended alteration application or within 18 months after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later. Issuance of a temporary certificate of occupancy shall be considered the equivalent of Article 7-B compliance or compliance with alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L.

(4) Deadlines for obtaining a final certificate of occupancy. The owner of an IMD shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a final certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units within 6 months after compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. has been achieved, or within 6 months after a temporary certificate of occupancy has been obtained. The owner of an IMD that contains additional units subject to §2-01(a)(1)(ii)(B), (iii)(B), (v)(B) or (vi)(B) above, shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to obtain a final certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for the additional unit or units within 6 months after the date such unit or units come into compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, alternative building codes, or provisions of the M.D.L., or within 6 months after the date such unit or units are covered by a temporary certificate of occupancy.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (a)(1) through (4) of this section, the owner of an IMD who has not been issued a final certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units on or before June 21, 1992 shall:

(i) File an alteration application by October 1, 1992; and

(ii) Take all reasonable and necessary action to obtain a building permit by October 1, 1993; and

(iii) Achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L. for all covered residential units by April 1, 1995, or within 18 months after an approved alteration permit has been obtained, whichever is later. The owner may, alternatively, elect to comply with other building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. that provide alternative means of meeting the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B (pursuant to M.D.L. §287) by April 1, 1995 or within 18 months after an approved alteration permit has been obtained, whichever is later; and

(iv) Take all reasonable and necessary actions to obtain a final certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units by October 1, 1995, or within 6 months after achieving compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, alternative building codes, or provisions of the M.D.L., whichever is later.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (a)(1) through (a)(5) of this section, the owner of an IMD who has not complied with the requirements of M.D.L §284(1)(i) or (ii) by June 30, 1996 shall:

(i) File an alteration application by October 1, 1996; and

(ii) Take all reasonable and necessary action to obtain an approved alteration permit by October 1, 1997; and

(iii) Achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L. for all covered residential units by April 1, 1999 or within 18 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later; and

(iv) Take all reasonable and necessary action to obtain a certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units by June 30, 1999, or within 3 months after achieving compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L., whichever is later.

(v) As an alternative to complying with the requirements of subparagraph (iii) of this subdivision, an owner may, pursuant to M.D.L. §287, elect to comply with other local building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. that provide alternative means of meeting the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B by April 1, 1999 or within 18 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later.

(7) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (a)(1) through (a)(6) of this section, the owner of an IMD who has not complied with the requirements of M.D.L. §284(1)(i), (ii), or (iii) by June 30, 1999 shall:

(i) File an alteration application by September 1, 1999; and

(ii) Take all reasonable and necessary actions to obtain an approved alteration permit by March 1, 2000; and

(iii) Achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L. for all covered residential units by May 1, 2002, or within 12 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later; and

(iv) Take all reasonable and necessary action to obtain a certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units by May 31, 2002, or within 1 month after achieving compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L., whichever is later.

(v) As an alternative to complying with the requirements of subparagraph (iii) of this subdivision, an owner may, pursuant to M.D.L. §287, elect to comply with other local building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. that provide alternative means of meeting the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B by May 1, 2002 or within 12 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later.

(8) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (a)(1) through (a)(7) of this section, the owner of an IMD who has not complied with the requirements of M.D.L. §284(1)(i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) by May 31, 2002 shall:

(i) File an alteration application by September 1, 1999; and

(ii) Take all reasonable and necessary actions to obtain an approved alteration permit by March 1, 2000; and

(iii) Achieve compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L. for all covered residential units by May 1, 2008, or within 12 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later; and

(iv) Take all reasonable and necessary action to obtain a certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling for all covered residential units by May 31, 2008, or within 1 month after achieving compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B of the M.D.L., whichever is later.

(v) As an alternative to complying with the requirements of subparagraph (iii) of this subdivision, an owner may, pursuant to M.D.L. §287, elect to comply with other local building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. that provide alternative means of meeting the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B by May 1, 2008 or within 12 months after obtaining an approved alteration permit, whichever is later.

(b) Extensions of time to comply with the amended code compliance timetable. (1) Extensions of current deadlines. Pursuant to M.D.L. §284(1)(vi), an owner of an IMD may apply to the Loft Board for an extension of time to comply with the code compliance deadlines set forth in §284 of the Multiple Dwelling Law, as in effect on the date of the filing of the extension application. An application for an extension shall not be filed after the deadline for which an extension is sought has passed, except that where title to the IMD was conveyed to a new owner, within 90 days after acquisition of title, such new owner may file an application for an extension of time of up to one (1) year to comply with the most recently passed deadline. "New Owner" shall be defined as an unrelated entity or unrelated natural person(s) to whom ownership interest is conveyed for a bona fide business purpose and not for the purpose of evading code compliance deadlines of the Multiple Dwelling Law. The Executive Director shall make a determination of whether an applicant qualifies as a "new owner." The Executive Director may request documentation or other appropriate information to substantiate that an applicant is a "new owner."

(2) Statutory standard. The Loft Board will grant an extension pursuant to this subdivision only where an owner has demonstrated that it has met the statutory standards for such an extension, namely, that the necessity for the extension arises from conditions or circumstances beyond the owner's control, and that the owner has made good faith efforts to meet the code compliance timetable requirements. Examples of such conditions or circumstances include, but are not limited to, a requirement for a certificate of appropriateness for modification of a landmarked building, a need to obtain a variance from the Board of Standards and Appeals or the denial of reasonable access to an IMD unit. The existence of conditions or circumstances beyond the owner's control must be demonstrated in the application by the submission of corroborating evidence, for example, copies of documents from the Landmarks Commission or the Board of Standards and Appeals, or an architect's statement. Failure to include such corroborating evidence in the application shall be grounds for denial of the application without further consideration.

(3) The owner of an IMD may apply to the Loft Board's Executive Director for an extension to comply with the amended code compliance timetable. The Loft Board's Executive Director will promptly decide each application for an extension. Where the Loft Board's Executive Director determines that the owner has met the statutory standards for an extension, the Executive Director shall grant the minimum extension required by the IMD owner. The Executive Director's determination shall be mailed to the owner and to the affected parties identified in the application submitted pursuant to paragraph (4) of this subdivision, and shall be subject to review by the Loft Board upon application by such owner or affected party. An application for review of such determination shall be timely if filed within 20 days after the date of mailing. Applications for extensions pursuant to this subparagraph shall be limited to one per deadline in the amended code compliance timetable.

(4) Form of application and tenant responses. An extension application filed pursuant to this subdivision (b) of §2-01 shall be filed on a form prescribed by the Loft Board and shall meet the requirements of this subdivision and §§1-06 and 2-11 of these rules. An application for an extension must specify a date to which the applicant seeks to have the deadline extended. Failure to so specify in the application shall be grounds for dismissal of the application. Applications must include a list of all residential IMD units in the building. Applications filed pursuant to paragraph (3) of this subdivision must be filed with the Loft Board along with two copies. Prior to filing an extension application pursuant to paragraph (3), an owner shall serve a copy of such application upon each occupant of an IMD unit in the building. Any occupant of an IMD unit in the building may file an answer to such application with the Loft Board within 20 days from completion of service by owner. The occupant(s) of an IMD unit shall serve a copy of such answer upon the owner prior to filing the answer with the Loft Board. Service pursuant to this subdivision may be by first class mail, or by any method permitted by Article 3 of the New York Civil Practice Law and Rules. Each application and answer filed with the Loft Board shall include proof of such service. Service by mail shall be deemed completed five days following mailing. If service of the application is performed in any manner other than mailing, service shall be deemed completed on the date the application is served. While an application filed under this subdivision is pending, an owner may amend such application one time to request a longer extension period than was originally sought in the application.

(c) Violations of the code compliance timetable. (1) The Loft Board, on its own initiative or in response to complaints, may commence a proceeding to determine whether an owner has violated the provisions of §284(1) of the MDL or these code compliance rules. In addition, a residential occupant of an IMD building may make an application seeking a Loft Board determination whether the owner of the occupant's building is in violation of the provisions of §284(1) of the MDL or these code compliance rules.

(2) An owner who is found by the Loft Board to have violated the code compliance timetable or any provision of these rules may be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each violation as prescribed by the Loft Board; (ii) may be subject to all penalties set forth in Article 8 of the M.D.L.; (iii) may be subject to the penalties set forth in Chapter 1 of Title 26 and Chapter 1 of Title 27 of the Administrative Code; and (iv) may be subject to a specific performance proceeding as set forth in subparagraph (4) below.

(3) Upon demonstration by an owner of insufficient funds to proceed with code compliance, the Loft Board shall consider the lack of sufficient funds in mitigation of any fine to be imposed against the owner upon a finding of noncompliance. To obtain the benefit of the defense of insufficient funds, an owner shall supply the Loft Board with an income and expense statement for the building verified by an independent certified public accountant, a written estimate of the cost of compliance with the cited deadline or requirement from a registered architect, and if the building does not provide sufficient funds for purposes of compliance then the owner shall also supply a letter from two separate banks or mortgage brokers refusing to offer sufficient funds to comply, accompanied by copies of the owner's applications for such funds, or if the lenders refuse to provide a written rejection, then the owner shall file an affidavit setting forth the basis for the owner's belief that the applications have been rejected.

(4) If the Loft Board finds an owner in violation of the code compliance timetable of these rules, the Board or any three occupants of separate, covered residential units in the building may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for an order of specific performance directing the owner to satisfy all code compliance requirements set forth in this section.

(5) The owner of an IMD who is found by the Loft Board to have wilfully violated the code compliance timetable of these regulations or to have violated the code compliance timetable more than once may be found guilty of harassment with respect to such IMD in a harassment proceeding before the Loft Board.

(6) If any residential occupant is required to vacate its unit as a result of a municipal vacate order that has been issued for hazardous conditions as a consequence of an owner's unlawful failure to comply with the code compliance timetable:

(i) The occupant, at its option, shall be entitled to recover from the owner the fair market value of any improvements made or purchased by the occupant and shall be entitled to reasonable moving costs incurred in vacating the unit. All such transactions shall be fully in accordance with Loft Board rules and regulations regarding Sales of Improvements. These rights are in addition to any other remedies the occupant may have.

(ii) Any municipal vacate order shall be deemed an order to the owner to correct the noncompliant conditions, subject to the provisions of Article 7-C. The issuance of such an order as a result of the owner's unlawful failure to comply with the code compliance timetable shall result in a rebuttable presumption of harassment in a harassment proceeding brought by an occupant or occupants before the Loft Board.

(iii) When the owner has corrected the noncompliant conditions the occupants shall have the right to reoccupy the unit and shall be entitled to all applicable tenant protections of Article 7-C, including the right to reoccupy the unit at the same rent paid prior to the vacancy period plus any rental adjustments authorized by the Loft Board pursuant to its rules and regulations. Furthermore, the occupant shall be entitled to recover from the owner reasonable moving costs incurred in reoccupying the unit in accordance with Loft Board rules and regulations regarding Sales of Improvements.

(iv) At no time shall rent for the unit be due or collectible for such period of vacancy.

(d) Procedure for occupant review of plans, resolution of occupant objections, and certification of estimated future rent adjustments. (1) Notice: form and time requirements. (i) All notices, requests, responses and stipulations served by owners and occupants directly upon each other shall be in writing, with a copy delivered or mailed to the Loft Board, accompanied by proof of service, within five days of delivery, if service was made personally, or within five days of mailing if service was performed by mail. Service by the parties shall be effected either

(A) by personal delivery or

(B) by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, with an additional copy sent by regular mail.

Proof of service shall be in the form of a verified statement of the person who effected service, setting forth the time, place and other details of service, if service was made personally, or by copies of the return receipt and verified statement of mailing, if service was performed by mail. Communications by the Loft Board pursuant to these regulations will be sent by regular mail.

Service shall be deemed effective upon personal delivery or five days following service by mail. Deadlines provided herein are to be calculated from the effective date of service.

(ii) Modifications on consent, change of address. Applications may be withdrawn and disputes may be resolved, by written agreement of the parties, subject to Loft Board approval. Parties may change their addresses upon service of written notice to the other parties and the Loft Board, and such notice shall be effective upon personal delivery or five days following service by mail.

(2) Procedure for occupant review of plans and resolutions of occupant objections. This paragraph (2) shall apply to IMD's for which a building permit for achieving compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. has not been issued as of October 23, 1985, the date of adoption of these regulations. In the case of a building permit that has been issued as of October 23, 1985 and that remains in effect or is renewed, an owner who thereafter requests reinstatement of the underlying alteration application pursuant to Department of Buildings ("D.O.B.") Directive No. 17 of 1971 shall be required to comply with all provisions of this paragraph (2) with respect to all work yet to be performed as of the date that reinstatement is requested.

This paragraph (2) shall apply where an owner is required to amend an alteration application to reflect grandfathering approval of additional units pursuant to §§2-01(a)(1)(ii)(B), (iii)(B), (v)(B), or (vi)(B), or where an owner is required to amend an alteration application to reflect the coverage of additional units under M.D.L. §281(4); however, if the proposed work is to be performed solely within the additional unit(s), this paragraph (2) shall only apply to the occupant(s) of such unit(s). This paragraph (2) shall not apply to IMD's for which a building permit for achieving compliance with Article 7-B, alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. has already been issued and is in effect as of the date of adoption of these regulations, and which remains in effect or is renewed without reinstatement of the underlying alteration application until such compliance is achieved. However, an occupant of such an IMD may file an application with the Loft Board based on the grounds that the scope of the work approved under the alteration application for which the permit was issued constitutes an unreasonable interference with the occupant's use of its unit in accordance with the provisions of §2-01(h) of these regulations. This paragraph (2) also shall not apply to those units in IMD's for which a temporary or final/permanent certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling has been issued and is in effect as of the date of adoption of these regulations.

(i) Within 15 days of the filing of its alteration application or within 30 days after the effective date of this regulation, whichever is later, the owner shall provide all occupants with a narrative ,statement, upon such form as is prescribed by the Loft Board, describing separately for each unit, both residential and nonresidential, all the work to be performed in such unit and all the work to be performed in common areas. This description shall include a listing of all noncompliant conditions, citation to the specific provisions of law or regulation that require their correction, and the work to be performed to correct them; an estimated time schedule for performance of the work; and a certification that the narrative statement is a complete and accurate statement reflecting the work proposed in the filed alteration application. In accordance with the procedures set forth in §2-01(d)(1), following service of such narrative statement, the owner shall file with the Loft Board the original statement with proof of service, two copies of its filed alteration application along with the D.O.B's acknowledgment of filing, and two copies of the submitted plans. Occupants may examine the alteration application and plans by appointment at the Loft Board or at the D.O.B in accordance with the department's procedures. An occupant may request from the owner a reproducible copy of the alteration application and plans, construction specifications, if any, and the tenant safety plan described in subparagraph (ii) below, and the owner shall supply such copy within 7 days of service of the request. Cost to the occupant shall be $5.00 per page for plans required by §27-162 of the Administrative Code and $0.25 per page for all other documents.

(ii) The owner shall certify to the D.O.B., upon such form as is prescribed by the Loft Board for this purpose, that it has complied with the provisions of the preceding subparagraph (i); that it shall comply with all other requirements of this paragraph (2) of the Loft Board's regulations and with the requirement for a tenant safety plan pursuant to D.O.B. Directive No. 2 of 1984; and that prior to obtaining the building permit, the owner shall submit to the department a letter from the Loft Board, certifying compliance with all requirements of §2-01(d)(2). This certification shall be filed with the D.O .B. within 5 days after the owner's filing with the Loft Board pursuant to the procedures described in the preceding subparagraph (i).

(iii) Within 30 days after the owner has filed the narrative statement, as required by §2-01(d)(2)(i), the Loft Board will notify the owner and all occupants that a conference has been scheduled. This notification shall be by regular mail. This conference is for informational and conciliatory purposes. The Loft Board representative assigned to conduct the conference shall outline the requirements of Article 7-B of the M.D.L., shall review the provisions of these code compliance regulations, including the section dealing with occupant participation (§2-01(f)) and shall address the participants' questions.

The owner or its representative will present its proposed work plan and the estimated time schedule for performance of the work. The occupants may raise any questions, comments or suggestions regarding the proposed work plan and the estimated schedule. The Loft Board representative shall encourage the owner and occupants to discuss fully the prepared plan and schedule and to reach an agreement as to the performance of code compliance work. The Loft Board representative may authorize an additional period of time, not to exceed 21 days, for the parties to negotiate an agreement. If the parties are unable to come to an agreement within the authorized time period, the remaining provisions of this paragraph (2) shall apply. Any agreement reached by the parties, including any agreement reached after the above-mentioned 21 day period, must be in writing and filed with the Loft Board as provided in §2-01(f).

With the exception of material contained in any written agreement(s) among the parties, the conference shall not be electronically recorded, and the specifics or nature of communications made at the conference or in the course of negotiations during the authorized time period shall not be admissible as evidence in any Loft Board proceedings. Information or responses to questions provided by the Loft Board representative will be advisory only and should not be relied upon as a substitute for professional advice of lawyers, architects or engineers retained by the participants.

The conference may be scheduled in the evening. Upon the request of the owner and the occupant(s), the Loft Board shall schedule a conference for any IMD for which §2-01(d)(2) does not apply.

(iv) (A) Within 45 days after the conference or, if authorized, the additional period of time described in §2-01(d)(2)(iii), any occupant may file (a) with the D.O.B. an alternate plan for work affecting the occupant's use of its unit*1 when the owner's proposed plan may unreasonably interfere with the occupant's use of the unit or (b) with the Loft Board an application in support of any claim that the owner's proposed plan will diminish services to which an occupant is legally entitled. In addition, if authorized by the Loft Board representative, an alternate plan may be proposed by an occupant which is not required to be filed with the D.O.B. when the occupant's claim does not require a D.O.B. review of code issues in order for the Loft Board to resolve the dispute.

(B) If the alternate plan proposed pursuant to this subparagraph is required to be filed with the D.O.B., it shall be filed by a registered architect or professional engineer retained by the occupant, who shall be responsible for any required fees. An application concerning plumbing work shall be filed with the D.O.B. by a licensed plumber retained by the occupant, who shall be responsible for any required fees. Two or more occupants may file a joint application setting forth their alternate plan. Failure to file an alternate plans application within the prescribed time period will constitute a waiver of an occupant's right to challenge the owner's submitted work plan on the ground that it would unreasonably interfere with such occupant's use of its unit or constitute a diminution of services; however, late filing of an alternate plans application shall be permitted if, upon application, the Loft Board or its staff by administrative decision, determines that good cause existed for such occupant's failure to file in a timely manner and if a building permit has not yet been issued. Within 5 days after filing an alternate plans application, the occupant(s) shall provide the owner and all other occupants with a narrative statement setting forth the occupant's(s') objections to, comments on, or criticisms of the owner's plan and any projected increase(s) in code compliance costs resulting from the occupant's(s') alternate plan. In accordance with the procedures set forth in §2-01(d)(1), the occupant(s) shall file with the Loft Board: the original of such narrative statement with proof of service, two copies of its filed alternate plans application with the D.O.B.'s acknowledgment of filing, and two copies of the submitted plans, if it is an alteration application. The owner and other occupants may review the alternate plans application and plans by appointment at the Loft Board or at the D.O.B. in accordance with the department's procedures. An owner or another occupant may request from the filing occupant(s) a reproducible copy of the application and plans and shall be supplied with such copy within 7 days after service of the request. Cost to the requesting party shall be $5.00 per page for plans required by §27-162 of the Administrative Code and $0.25 per page for all other documents.

(v) The D.O.B. shall review the owner's alteration application and plan and any alternate application(s) and plan(s) submitted by occupant(s) of the building. The D.O.B. may issue objections pursuant to its usual procedures. The occupant(s) through its (their) architect(s) or engineer(s), shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to cure such objections within 45 days of notice of objections from the D.O.B. The owner, through its architect or engineer, shall take all necessary and reasonable actions to cure such objections within 60 days of notice of objections from the D.O.B. An applicant's failure to take all necessary and reasonable actions to cure such objections within the prescribed time period may subject the applicant to civil penalties of up to $1,000 to be imposed by the Loft Board for failure to comply with these regulations.

(vi) If amendments to the plans initially submitted to the Loft Board are made, the applicant shall file two copies of any amended plans with the Loft Board, and copies shall be supplied upon request in accordance with the procedures described in paragraphs (2) and (4) above. Within 40 days of service by the Loft Board of notice of revised plans any occupant(s) who has (have) not previously done so, may file with the D.O.B. an alternate plan application for work affecting the occupant's(s') use of its (their) unit(s). Such occupant(s) shall comply with all the requirements of subparagraph (iv) above. The occupant(s) is (are) limited in its (their) objections to only those items that represent a change from submissions previously received. The procedures for D.O.B. review set forth in subparagraph (v) above shall apply.

(vii) (A) When the D.O.B has no further objections to the owner's application and plan, and if no alternate plan has been filed by any occupant of the subject building within the time period provided for such filing in this regulation, the Loft Board shall issue a letter certifying compliance with all requirements of §2-01(d)(2). To receive such certification, the owner shall verify to the Loft Board that no revisions have been made to the plans since the narrative statement conference or summarize any revisions which may have been made. If an alternate plan has been filed and the 45 day period for addressing objections has expired without all necessary and reasonable actions having been taken to cure the objections, the Loft Board shall issue a letter certifying compliance with all requirements of §2-01(d)(2). Upon submission of such letter, the D.O.B may approve the owner's application and plan and issue a building permit.

(B) (a) Where the occupant(s) have submitted alternate application(s) and plan(s) and are unable to agree with the owner upon the work to be performed, and the D.O.B. has no objections to such applications and plans, the applicant shall advise the Loft Board and the owner of the D.O.B. approval of the plans and refer them to the Loft Board for review and resolution of the dispute, as to which application(s) and plan(s) should be approved and the work for which a building permit should be issued. Such referral will occur no sooner than 30 days after notification of the removal of the last objection or of the lack of objection. In addition, when authorized by the Loft Board representative, such referral may be made before all objections have been removed if the remaining objections do not need to be resolved in order for the Loft Board to resolve the dispute. If the owner and the occupant(s) come to an agreement, they shall immediately inform the D.O.B. and the Loft Board and void the abandoned application(s) and plan(s).

(b) If alternate approvable applications and plans are referred to the Loft Board, the Loft Board shall review the plans and on its own initiative may commence a proceeding to determine whether the owner's plan would result in an unreasonable interference of the occupant's(s') use of its (their) unit(s). The proceeding will be governed by the Board's regulations on Internal Board Procedures. Parties shall have an opportunity to submit a written statement setting forth the basis for seeking disapproval of the alternate plan(s). In the case of an occupant, such a statement shall include an explanation of how the owner's proposed plan would result in an unreasonable interference with the occupant's use of its unit. If the Loft Board finds that the owner's plan would result in such an unreasonable interference, it shall order the owner to amend its plan or to authorize the final approval of plan(s) submitted by the occupant(s) for the space(s) involved. A failure or refusal to comply with such an order may constitute a violation of §§284(1)-(i)(B) of Article 7-C and these regulations, and the owner may be subject to civil penalties and actions initiated by the Loft Board to compel specific performance, and such other penalties as are outlined in §2-01(c) of these regulations.

If the Loft Board or its Executive Director finds that the owner's approvable application and plan would not unreasonably interfere with the occupant's(s') use of its (their) unit(s), the Loft Board or its Executive Director shall issue an order stating that the owner's plan may be approved by the D.O.B. and a building permit issued, and that the alternate application(s) and plan(s) be voided. Also such an order shall certify compliance with all requirements of §2-01(d)(2).

(viii) Within 10 days after the issuance of a building permit by the D.O.B., or within 30 days after the effective date of these regulations, whichever is later, the owner shall file a copy of the building permit with the Loft Board. Furthermore, the owner shall file two copies of any subsequent amendments, including plans, to the alteration application upon which the building permit is based, within 10 days after the filing of such amendment(s) with the D.O.B.

(ix) Approval of plans by the D.O.B. pursuant to this subsection shall not be construed as approval of the costs incident to construction in accordance with such plans as necessary and reasonable costs of code compliance work for purposes of rent adjustment proceedings under §§2-01(i) through 2-01(l) of these regulations.

(3) Procedures for certification of estimated further rent adjustments. Following the approval of an alteration application or alternate plans by the D.O.B., an owner may apply to the Loft Board for certification of estimated future rent adjustments, based on the owner's work plan and the Loft Board Schedule of Allowable Necessary and Reasonable Code Compliance Costs. The filing of such an application, however, shall be totally at the discretion of the owner and shall not be a basis for staying commencement or continuation of work under a valid building permit issued by the D.O.B. All applications for certification of estimated future rent adjustments shall be processed in accordance with the Loft Board's regulations governing Internal Board Procedures, except as provided herein. The owner shall file with the Loft Board an application on a form prescribed by the Board. The application shall describe separately for each residential unit all of the work to be performed and the work to be performed in common areas and nonresidential units; and calculation of the necessary and reasonable costs based on the Loft Board schedule and any other necessary and reasonable costs as permitted pursuant to §2-01(j) of these regulations. If the owner anticipates the use of financing, the application shall also include any statements, letters of intent or commitment, or other materials from institutional or noninstitutional lenders regarding the terms or conditions of such financing. In addition, the owner shall file with the Loft Board two copies of the approved alteration application and two copies of the approved plans.

The owner's application shall be served on the building's occupants by the Loft Board in accordance with its regulations on Internal Board Procedures. Occupants may review the alteration application and plans at the D.O.B. in accordance with the Department's procedures or by appointment at the Loft Board. An occupant may request from the owner a reproducible copy of the alteration application and plans, and the owner shall supply such a copy within 7 days after service of the request at a cost to the occupant of $5.00 per page for plans required by §27-162 of the Administrative Code and $0.25 per page for all other documents. Occupants may submit an answer within 20 days after the date on which service of the application was completed (§1-06(c) of these regulations) in response to the owner's application, setting forth any objections, comments or suggestions regarding the calculation of necessary and reasonable costs of approved work. The Loft Board may schedule a conference to discuss objections, comments or suggestions raised by the occupants and responses by the owner. Following such a conference, the application will be processed, and the Loft Board will certify the necessary and reasonable code compliance work and concomitant costs, and the estimated future rent adjustments. The certification is a reasonable estimate based on available information. However, actual rent adjustments shall be determined by the Loft Board in accordance with §§2-01(i) through 2-01(l) of these regulations.

(e) Code compliance for nonconforming units. If the D.O.B. has issued an objection to the owner's alteration application because a covered residential unit cannot be brought into compliance under appropriate building codes, provisions of the M.D.L., or the Zoning Resolution because of its size, design, or location within the building, the owner and affected occupant(s) should make every effort to reach accommodations that would permit every covered unit to be made code compliant.

If the owner and affected occupant(s) are unable to reach a resolution, either the owner or the residential occupant may apply to the Loft Board for a determination as to whether the unit can be made code compliant. In processing such an application the Loft Board may, following a hearing:

(1) Order the owner to apply for a non-use related variance, special permit, minor modification, or administrative certification, where the granting of such an application would make compliance possible; or

(2) Order the owner to alter the unit, or to redesign residential units and common area space into a configuration that can be legally converted to residential use; or

(3) If these remedies are unavailing, remove a unit from Article 7-C Coverage if it cannot be legally converted to residential use.

Such orders also shall require compliance within a specified period of time and shall require occupant cooperation in achieving compliance.

(f) Occupant participation in the code compliance process. (1) The Loft Board encourages the owners and occupants of interim multiple dwellings to work together to achieve code compliance. Such cooperation may include, but is not limited to, occupants' performance of code compliance work. Owners, occupants and their representatives should make good faith efforts to communicate and cooperate with each other throughout the process so as to reduce or eliminate potential disputes during the course of code compliance. Cooperation may result in benefits to all the parties insofar as:

(i) costs incurred by the owner may be minimized, reducing the capital the owner would have to raise and reducing the rent adjustment increases that would have to be passed along to residential occupants;

(ii) access difficulties may be minimized;

(iii) incidents of harassment may be eliminated or reduced;

(iv) losses incurred by nonresidential tenants may be eliminated or minimized; and

(v) code compliance may be achieved in a timely fashion.

(2) While occupants have no right as a matter of law to perform code compliance work, the owner and the occupants(s) may agree voluntarily to allow such occupant(s) to perform code compliance work or any portion thereof, within the building, to the extent permitted by applicable laws and regulations. The owner is required to obtain the appropriate Department of Buildings approval for all work to be performed, but where the owner and occupant(s) have agreed that work will be performed by the occupant(s) they may also agree that the occupant(s) is (are) required to obtain all consents and approvals prior to filing with the D.O.B. pursuant to Administrative Code §§27-142, 27-151 and 27-220 on any work so permitted. Should the owner and the occupant(s) agree upon performance of the code compliance work or any portion thereof by such occupant(s), the owner and the occupant(s) shall file a written Agreement with the Loft Board pursuant to §2-01(d)(1) of these regulations. Such Agreement shall include:

(i) an outline specification of all work to be performed and by whom it is to be performed;

(ii) a time schedule for work to be performed as well as the identification of who is to supervise all construction work;

(iii) a certification that the parties shall provide all information required in the processing of applications for rent adjustment(s), if any, by the Loft Board;

(iv) a certification by the owner and occupant(s) that all work shall be in accordance with the code compliance timetable set forth in §2-01(a) of these regulations.

Such Agreement by the owner and the occupant(s) shall be consistent with the Alteration Application and any Building Notice(s) or Plumbing Repair Slip(s) filed with the D.O.B. and the Loft Board.

(3) If at any time after execution of the Agreement but prior to the completion of the code compliance work the occupant(s) or the owner abrogate(s) the Agreement, the abrogation shall be in writing, served upon all other parties to the Agreement and filed with the Loft Board in accordance with §2-01(d)(1). Such abrogation shall not relieve the owner of the obligation to comply with Article 7-C and these regulations. The owner and the occupant(s) may also agree in writing, with a copy served on the Loft Board, to: (i) waive the procedure for occupant review of plans and resolution of occupant objections set forth in §2-01(d)(2) of these regulations; or

(ii) modify the procedure for notice to occupants of proposed work set forth in §§2-01(d)(2) and 2-01(g)(3) of these regulations. Any other Agreement for waiver or modification of other provisions of these regulations shall be submitted to the Loft Board for its approval. No Agreement shall be approved that proposes that code compliance will not be achieved or that it will be achieved after the deadlines prescribed in §§2-01(a) and 2-01(b) of these regulations.

(4) If an owner who has agreed to allow an occupant to perform code compliance work applies to the Loft Board for an extension of time to obtain a final residential certificate of occupancy pursuant to §2-01(b) of these regulations, the owner must exercise due diligence in monitoring the timely completion of such code compliance work in order to have grounds of good cause for its inability to meet the code compliance timetable.

(g) Notice to occupants of proposed work, repairs and inspections and occupant's obligation to provide access. (1) Unless otherwise agreed by the parties, the owner shall provide all occupants with written notice of the approximate commencement date, duration and scope of all work to be performed within their units and of all common area work that may interfere with access to their units or the provision of services to their units. The notice need not provide an exact date for the work, but must provide a range of three consecutive working days during which work to be completed in one working day will take place and a range of five consecutive working days during which work expected to require more than one consecutive working day will begin. Such notice shall be served by personal service, first class mail, registered mail (return receipt requested), or certified mail (return receipt requested), such that service is effective at least 3 days prior to the first date in the range of days for work that may reasonably be expected to be completed within one working day and at least 10 days prior to the first date in the range of days for all other work expected to require two or more consecutive working days.

(2) No later than the day preceding the first scheduled day of work, the owner shall provide written notice, either confirming a specific starting date from among those specified or cancelling the scheduled work for the day or days specified. In instances where scheduled work is cancelled, it must be rescheduled in accordance with the provisions of §2-01(g)(1). Notice under this provision shall be accomplished by personal delivery of the written notice to the occupant or, in the occupant's absence, to a person of suitable age and discretion within the unit. If delivery to a person as prescribed herein cannot be achieved, the owner or agent shall deposit the written statement under the main entrance of the unit or, if that is not possible, shall affix such notice to the main entrance of the unit. An occupant may designate in writing another occupant within the building to receive notice pursuant to this §2-01(g) provided that such designee is authorized to provide reasonable access to the occupant's unit as required in such notice. Such designation shall be served on the owner by personal service, first class mail, registered mail (return receipt requested), or certified mail (return receipt requested).

(3) Upon appropriate notice, occupants shall provide the owner with reasonable access to their units so that all requisite code compliance or repair work, or inspections and surveys as may be required for the purpose of code compliance, may be performed. Upon the failure of an occupant to provide such access, the owner may apply to the Loft Board for an order affording the owner reasonable access to the unit. Recognizing the necessity of construction work proceeding without unnecessary delays caused by administrative processing, the Loft Board will process applications for access under the following expedited procedures:

(i) The owner shall serve the occupant with a copy of the owner's verified or affirmed application for access on such form as prescribed by the Loft Board, and shall file twelve copies of the application at the offices of the Loft Board, along with proof that a copy of the application has been served upon the occupant. Service on the occupant shall be effected either by:

(A) personal service or

(B) certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, with an additional copy sent by regular mail.

(ii) The occupant shall file with the Loft Board twelve copies of a written answer in response to the application within ten business days of service of the application.

(iii) (A) If the occupant answers, the Loft Board shall serve a copy of the answer on the owner by regular mail at the address designated on the application and shall notify both owner and occupant of a hearing date, which shall be scheduled for a date no fewer than 8 days nor more than 15 days from the mailing of the notice. There shall be no more than one adjournment per party, limited to 7 days, for good cause shown. Except as provided herein, the provisions of §1-06 shall apply to an application for access under this subdivision.

(B) If the occupant fails to answer, the Loft Board may issue an order granting access.

(iv) A finding by the Loft Board of failure by the owner to comply with any of the notice provisions of this section or a finding by the Loft Board that an occupant has unreasonably withheld access shall be the basis for a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each such finding of violation. The necessary and reasonable cost of bringing and pursuing a Loft Board access proceeding that results in a finding that a residential occupant has unreasonably withheld access as well as labor or other costs incurred by the owner because access was unreasonably denied, may be included in the owner's application for code compliance rent adjustment as an allowable cost to be allocated to such occupant's residential unit, as provided for in §2-01(l)(1) of these rules.

(v) The failure of an occupant to comply with a Loft Board order regarding access shall be grounds for eviction of that occupant in a proceeding brought before a court of competent jurisdiction.

(h) Unreasonable interference with use. Whenever reasonably possible, work to achieve code compliance should be performed without any, including the temporary, dislocation of occupants from their units and with minimal disruption to the occupants' use of their units. The owner shall take all reasonable actions to ensure that code compliance work does not unreasonably interfere with the use of any occupied unit. Arrangements should be made for each day's work to be a full day's work, to the extent possible. Scheduling of work must be done, to the extent possible, in a fashion that minimizes disruptions in the provision of essential services. Regular maintenance shall be performed within the building during the construction period, except when construction renders regular maintenance impossible.

After the filing of an alteration application by the owner but before the issuance of a building permit, occupants who object to the proposed work because it will unreasonably interfere with their use of their units must bring their objections to the D.O.B. as provided in §2-01(d)(2). After a permit has been issued through the process described in §2-01(d)(2), in which the occupants have had an opportunity to participate, the occupants may raise no further objections to the scope of the work approved under the permit on the grounds that it constitutes an unreasonable interference with their use of their units. In the case of an IMD for which a building permit for achieving code compliance with Article 7-B, alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. has been issued and is in effect as of the date of adoption of these regulations, such that §2-01(d)(2) is not applicable, an occupant of such an IMD may file an application pursuant to this subdivision (h) on the grounds that the scope of the work approved under the permit constitutes an unreasonable interference with the occupant's use of its unit. In granting such an application, the Loft Board shall process the application in accordance with Loft Board regulations on Internal Board Procedures and may order the owner to amend its alteration application. If the permit is revoked by the D.O.B. on these grounds, the occupants shall have the opportunity to participate in the review of plans through the process described in §2-01(d)(2).

If, in the course of performing the work, the owner or its agents engage in work beyond that authorized by the permit, depart significantly from the work described in the owner's narrative statement and plan or from the estimated time schedule for performance of the work as amended according to the requirements of §2-01(d)(2), engage in repeated or substantial violations of the notice provisions of §2-0l(g), or violate the provisions of the tenant safety plan, an occupant aggrieved by such action(s) may file an application with the Loft Board setting forth the factual basis for its claim that such unauthorized work, departure from the schedule, or violation of the tenant safety plan unreasonably interferes with the occupant's use of its unit. A finding by the Loft Board of unreasonable interference with an occupant's use by the owner or its agents may result in civil penalties of up to $1,000 for each violation. A finding by the Loft Board of unreasonable and willful interference with an occupant's use by the owner or its agents may result in civil penalties of up to $1,000 for each violation and may constitute harassment of tenants. The exemptions from rent regulations provided to an owner pursuant to §286(6) of the M.D.L. and Loft Board Regulations on Sales of Improvements may not be available in a building when an owner has been found guilty of harassment of tenants subject to regulations adopted by the Loft Board.

(i) Applications for rent guidelines board increases and for rent adjustments based on costs of compliance. (1) Rent guidelines board increases. (i) Upon issuance of a final certificate of occupancy, an owner shall be eligible for the percentage rent increases established by the New York City Rent Guidelines Board (RGB) (hereinafter "RGB Increases"). The first such rent increase shall commence as of the first day of the first month following the day an owner submits to the Loft Board a Notice of RGB Increase[s] in the form prescribed by the Loft Board, and each such subsequent rent increase shall be effective on each one- or two-year anniversary of such commencement date, as applicable. (This one-or two-year period during which a particular RGB Increase is effective is referred to herein as the "RGB Increase Period.") The last RGB Increase prior to issuance by the Loft Board of the final rent owner setting the initial legal regulated rent, pursuant to §2-01(m) of these rules, shall remain effective until expiration of the applicable RGB Increase Period. The amount of each RGB increase shall be equal to the percentage increase applicable to one or two-year leases as established by the RGB on the date the Notice is submitted and on each one- or two-year anniversary thereof, as applicable, and shall be applied to the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules as of the date the Notice of RGB Increase[s] filing is submitted to the Loft Board. The RGB Increase shall apply to all covered residential units, except for those units that are exempt from rent regulation as a result of the owner's purchase of improvements or rights pursuant to M.D.L. §286(6) or §286(12) and Loft Board rules promulgated pursuant thereto.

(ii) To obtain the rent increase, the owner shall submit two copies of a Notice of RGB Increase on a form prescribed by the Loft Board. The notice shall contain the rent in effect, including escalations and increases provided under M.D.L. §286(2), for each covered residential unit subject to rent regulation, and shall be submitted with a copy of the final certificate of occupancy, a copy of the individual notices described in subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, and an affidavit that such notices were sent by certified or registered mail to each affected occupant.

(iii) The owner shall send to each affected occupant a notice in the form prescribed by the Loft Board setting forth the maximum permissible rent under Loft Board rules for the unit occupied by such occupant. The notice shall also request the occupant to elect RGB increases applicable to one-year or two-year leases. Such election shall be binding upon the occupant for the entire period prior to expiration of the last RGB Increase before issuance by the Loft Board of the final rent order setting the initial legal regulated rent. The failure of an occupant to make an election and return a copy of same to the Loft Board within 45 calendar days of the mailing thereof by the applicant shall be deemed to be an election to be governed by increases applicable to one year leases.

(iv) If an occupant disputes the maximum permissible rent under Loft Board rules as set forth in the aforementioned notice, such occupant shall, within the 45-day period described in subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, notify the Loft Board and the owner, on the form provided pursuant to subparagraph (v) of this paragraph, of the amount in dispute. Failure of such occupant to notify the Loft Board within such 45-day period shall be deemed to be an acceptance by the occupant of the amount of rent claimed by the owner. During the period prior to the resolution of the dispute, the occupant shall pay rent in an amount no less than the amount not in dispute plus the RGB Increase authorized by these rules (for example, if the owner claims the rent in effect is $450 and the occupant claims it is $400, the rent paid to the owner prior to resolution of the dispute shall be no less than $400 plus the applicable RGB Increase). The occupant shall pay any deficiency in one lump sum at the time that the first rent payment is due following resolution of the dispute.

(v) Responses from affected occupants to the Loft Board notifying the Loft Board of a dispute in the rent or of an election of the period of the RGB rent increase shall be in the form prescribed by the Loft Board, a copy of which form shall be included in the aforementioned notice from the owner to each affected occupant pursuant to subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph.

(2) Cost of compliance increases. (i) An owner may apply for rent adjustments based on the necessary and reasonable costs of obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy: once upon certification of compliance with Article 7-B of the M.D.L., alternative local building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. or issuance of a temporary residential certificate of occupany, or once upon issuance of a final residential certificate of occupancy, or both. The application may include those necessary and reasonable costs incurred prior to June 21, 1982 for which the residential occupant(s) have not reimbursed or are not in the process of reimbursing the owner. In the course of the processing of the application, the residential occupant(s) who claim(s) that reimbursement has been or is being made for such costs shall be required to present satisfactory proof of such reimbursement to the Loft Board. Rent adjustments shall be allowed for both necessary and reasonable code compliance costs incurred by an owner in obtaining the building permit under which code compliance work is performed and for necessary and reasonable costs incurred for work performed after the issuance of such a permit. An owner who has failed to register its building as an IMD on or before December 1, 1985 or, in the case of a building which is an IMD solely pursuant to M.D.L. §281(4), an owner who has failed to register his building as an IMD on or before February 11, 1993, shall be allowed only necessary and reasonable code compliance costs incurred after registration. An owner who fails to register its building as an IMD on or before March 1, 1986 or, in the case of a building which is an IMD solely pursuant to M.D.L. §281(4), an owner who fails to register its building as an IMD on or before May 11, 1993, shall be allowed only the necessary and reasonable code compliance costs incurred after registration, and such costs shall be based upon the schedule in effect on the effective date of these regulations, without indexing, regardless of when such costs were incurred.

(ii) An application filed pursuant to this paragraph (2) of §2-01(i) shall be filed within nine months after the owner has obtained a certificate of occupancy or February 1, 2000, whichever date is later. An owner that fails to file an application for code compliance rent adjustments in a timely manner pursuant to this provision shall be deemed to have waived its right to seek such a rent adjustment. An application submitted pursuant to this paragraph shall be submitted on a form prescribed by the Loft Board and shall meet the requirements of this paragraph and §§1-06 and 2-11 of these rules, except that for applications filed pursuant to clause (A) of subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, only two copies must be filed plus one for each affected party, and for precertified applications filed pursuant to clause (B) of subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, only two copies of the application must be filed. As part of the application the applicant must submit an itemized statement of costs incurred, including paid bills, cancelled checks or receipts for work performed, any construction contracts, the certificate issued by the Department of Buildings for the pertinent level of compliance, and such other information or materials as the Board requires. If the applicant seeks reimbursement for interest and service charges incurred in connection with compliance costs, the applicant must submit the information and materials required under paragraph (4) of §2-01(k) of these rules. In accordance with the provision of §1-06(j)(1), the Board may require the applicant to furnish such reports and information as it may require concerning the code compliance work performed and may audit the books and records of the applicant with respect to such matters.

(iii) An application filed pursuant to this paragraph (2) of §2-01(i) may be submitted to the Loft Board for an audit or may be precertified pursuant to clause (B) of this subparagraph.

(A) If the application is not precertified, the Loft Board shall audit the application to ascertain whether the code compliance costs set forth in the application: (a) are substantiated by invoices and copies of cancelled checks or other similarly reliable documentary evidence submitted as part of the application; and (b) do not exceed the reasonable code compliance costs set forth in the schedule contained in these rules. Once the Loft Board's audit of an application is completed, the Executive Director shall, by first class mail, send the affected residential occupants a copy of the owner's application and send the affected residential occupants and the owner a copy of the auditor's report.

(B) An owner shall have the option to file a precertified application for code compliance rent adjustments pursuant to this clause (B). Costs attributable solely to the precertification of the application shall not be included as reimbursable code compliance costs. A precertified application shall meet the requirements of subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph as to form and content, shall be served on all affected residential occupants, and shall be filed, together with:

(a) certification by a certified public accountant ("CPA"), certifying that said CPA has audited the code compliance cost information contained in the application and that the code compliance costs set forth in the application (i) are substantiated by invoices and copies of cancelled checks or other similarly reliable documentary evidence; and (ii) do not exceed the reasonable code compliance costs set forth in the schedule contained in these rules;

(b) certification by a registered architect that the code compliance work described in the application for which the owner seeks reimbursement has been performed, meets the requirements of MDL Article 7-B, and is reimbursable pursuant to these rules; and

(c) proof of service of the precertified application upon all affected residential occupants.

(C) Residential occupants may, no later than 45 days following mailing by the Loft Board of the auditor's report pursuant to clause (A) of this subparagraph or service of a precertified application pursuant to clause (B) of this subparagraph, as the case may be, serve comments concerning the application upon the owner, and shall file such comments with the Loft Board along with proof of such service. Comments may include, but are not limited to, such matters as the scope of work performed, its necessity and reasonableness, the quality of the workmanship, and the actual costs claimed by the owner. Such comments shall specify the items in contention and the reasons therefor, and shall be supported by corroborating evidence, e.g., contractors' estimates, invoices, and/or architects' statements. The Executive Director may extend the 45-day period for a period of time not to exceed 21 days, upon a written request of a registered architect, contractor or CPA stating that he or she has been retained by an affected residential occupant for the purpose of reviewing the owner's application and the Loft Board audit, where an audit has been performed, and stating the reason an extension of time is needed to complete such review. Within the 45-day period, or within the period of any extension granted by the Executive Director, an affected residential occupant may request that the Executive Director schedule a conference at the offices of the Loft Board with the owner or the owner's representative. The conference shall be scheduled expeditiously and shall be limited to the issues presented in the owner's application and in the Loft Board audit, where an audit has been performed.

(D) If the Executive Director determines that there are no genuine issues of material fact with regard to the application, the Executive Director shall recommend approval of the application. In the event that the Executive Director finds that a genuine issue of material fact has been raised with regard to any item in the application, he shall proceed with respect to such item in accordance with clause (E) or (F) of this subparagraph, as appropriate, and at the same time shall recommend approval of the part of the application as to which he has determined there are no genuine issues of material fact. In considering the application under this clause (D), the Board shall review the application, the comments submitted, and the recommendation of the Executive Director, and shall determine whether to approve the application or any part thereof.

(E) Where the Executive Director finds that a genuine issue of material fact has been raised he may take appropriate action to obtain such relevant information as in his discretion is necessary to assist him in reaching a determination. Such action may include, but shall not be limited to, ordering an inspection of the premises, directing the parties to serve and file additional information or corroborating evidence in support of their positions, holding an informal conference with the parties, or directing that a hearing be scheduled pursuant to the provisions of clause (F) of this subparagraph. No later than 45 days following the end of the period in which residential occupants may submit comments pursuant to clause (C) of this subparagraph, the Executive Director shall either make findings of fact and a recommended determination to the Board, or shall direct that a hearing be scheduled pursuant to clause (F) of this subparagraph; provided, however, that the 45-day period shall be extended an additional 30 days if, prior to the expiration of the 45-day period, the Executive Director has requested additional information or documentary evidence pursuant to item (2) of this clause (E) and the time to provide such additional information or documentary evidence, or to respond to such additional information or documentary evidence, has not yet passed. In making a recommended determination pursuant to this clause (E), the Executive Director shall consider, and shall make available to the Board, the application, any comments of the residential occupants, inspection results, information provided by the parties at an informal conference, additional comments, information or corroborating evidence submitted by the parties in writing, or other relevant information.

(a) If the Executive Director orders an inspection of the premises, the results of the inspection shall be mailed to the parties within three business days of completion of such inspection, and the parties may serve and file comments concerning the inspection results within eight business days after the date of mailing of such results.

(b) A party directed to serve and file additional information or documentary evidence shall serve and file the additional information or evidence within fourteen business days of such order. The party upon whom the additional information or evidence has been served shall serve and file its response, if any, within five business days after service of the information or evidence.

(c) If the Executive Director obtains any other relevant information to assist him in making his recommended determination under this clause (E), the Executive Director shall ensure the parties are provided with such information, shall provide the parties an opportunity to comment in writing on such information within up to 15 business days after service thereof, and shall provide the parties an opportunity to respond to each other's comments within five business days after service of such comments.

(F) If the Executive Director determines that a genuine issue of material fact has been raised which may be resolved only by a hearing, the Executive Director may bifurcate the application into two parts: (1) the part that requires no hearing, which shall proceed pursuant to clause (D) or (E) of this subparagraph, as applicable, and (2) the part as to which a hearing is required, which shall proceed pursuant to this clause (F). Such hearing may be preceded by an informal conference, but in any case, shall be commenced not more than 30 days after the decision of the Executive Director to bifurcate the application, unless the parties stipulate in writing otherwise. Within 30 days after the conclusion of the hearing, the hearing officer shall make findings of fact and a recommended determination. In making the recommended determination the hearing officer shall consider, and shall make available to the Board, the application, any comments of the residential occupants, inspection results, information provided by the parties at an informal conference, additional comments, information or corroborating evidence submitted by the parties in writing, testimony given at any hearing, or other relevant information. The hearing officer shall submit his recommended determination with respect to the portion of the application proceeding pursuant to this clause (F) to the Board for its consid- eration.

(G) Nothing in this subparagraph (iii) of §2-01(i)(2) shall be construed to preclude partial approval of an application by the Board pursuant to clause (D) or (E) of this subparagraph prior to a hearing pursuant to clause (F). If the Board issues an initial order determining the portion of the application that proceeded under clause (D) or (E) of this subparagraph and grants a rent adjustment to the owner pending the conclusion of a hearing pursuant to clause (F), the owner may continue to collect rents in the amounts stated in the initial order unless and until a supplementary order is issued.

(iv) In evaluating all applications for code compliance rent adjustments, the Loft Board shall review the owner's application, the comments of residential occupants, the Loft Board schedule of costs described in §2-01(j), or alternative schedule described below, and any other information considered by the Executive Director and the hearing officer in making a recommended determination. The Board shall determine the necessary and reasonable code compliance costs incurred by the owner, which shall be charged to all affected residential occupants as rent adjustments. Owners shall be allowed to pass along no more than the costs recited in the current Loft Board schedule as of the date on which the construction contract(s) is (are) entered into for items included in the contract(s), except as provided in the first paragraph of this subdivision (i) and other necessary and reasonable costs not on the schedule pursuant to §2-01(j) below. For items not included in the construction contract(s), costs will be determined based upon the schedule in effect at the time work was performed and §2-01(j) below. Owners submitting applications on or after June 1, 1989 shall be allowed to pass along no more than the costs recited in the revised schedule of costs promulgated by the Board on October 25, 1990. In all cases, if actual compliance costs are less than the amount recited in the Loft Board schedule, rent adjustments shall reflect the lesser actual costs.

(v) An owner may elect that the Loft Board shall deem the total cost of compliance to be the amounts certified by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development in any certificate of eligibility issued in connection with an application for tax exemption or tax abatement (such as "J-51") to the extent that such certificate reflects categories of costs approved by the Loft Board.

(vi) An owner may expressly waive its right to a rent adjustment based on the cost of compliance. To do so, it shall indicate its waiver decision on the Notice of RGB Increase form described in §2-01(i)(1) and follow the procedures therein for notification of the affected occupants. In addition, an owner may be deemed to have waived its right to a rent adjustment based on the cost of compliance pursuant to §2-01(i)(2)(ii).

(vii) Whenever service upon parties is required in this §2-01(i)(2), service shall be made, and proof of service filed, in accordance with the requirements of §2-01(d)(1)(i).

(viii) If the Loft Board finds, following notice and an opportunity to be heard, that an architect or CPA has knowingly made a misleading material statement in the context of a certification issued pursuant to §2-01(i)(2)(iii)(B), the Loft Board may refuse to accept subsequent certifications from such architect or CPA, and shall refer its findings to the appropriate licensing agency.

(j) Schedule of costs. The Loft Board schedule of reasonable code compliance costs for obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy promulgated pursuant to §§280 and 286(5) of Article 7-C is appended to these regulations. The schedule is current as of September, 1984, will be applicable to applications filed with the Board before June 1, 1989 and shall be indexed annually, both prospectively and retroactively, based upon the average of the annual percentage change reported in the Dodge Building Cost Index and the Engineering News-Record Building Cost Index for New York as of September of each year. However, for periods prior to 1977 and after 1988 only the Engineering News-Record Building Cost Index will be used. The schedule promulgated by the Board on October 25, 1990 will be applied to all rent adjustment applications submitted on or after June 1, 1989 and shall be indexed annually, both prospectively and retroactively, based upon the annual percentage change reported in the Engineering News-Record Building Cost Index for New York as of September of each year. The schedule is intended to include all necessary and reasonable code compliance cost items. It includes the allowable costs of materials and labor for demolition and construction necessary for achieving minimal code compliance. It also includes professional fees and municipal filing fees necessary for code compliance. Rent adjustments shall not be allowed for items not included in the schedule unless upon owner application they are shown to be necessary and reasonable costs of code compliance, nor shall rent adjustments be allowed for costs not necessary to obtain a residential certificate of occupancy. In addition, notwithstanding the existence of a work item on the schedule, rent adjustments shall not be allowed for: (1) costs incurred in repairing or replacing items located in the common or commercial areas of the building or involving its exterior (such as masonry, fire escape, or skylight repairs) to the extent such items are repaired or replaced with a similar or comparable item due to their deteriorated condition (such costs being "deferred maintenance" costs); (2) the costs of curing preexisting violations in the building evidenced by municipal notices of violation to the extent such violations would have to be cured even if the building did not have to be made code compliant pursuant to Article 7-C; and (3) other "soft" costs, such as BRAC payments. The repair or replacement of work items (other than windows, as provided below) located within the residential units of the building shall not constitute a deferred maintenance cost. The foregoing rules are qualified to the following extent; (x) if the roof is required to be repaired or replaced, and it has been replaced within the 10-year period prior to the narrative statement conference for the building, half the necessary and reasonable costs shall be recognized as code compliance costs and allocated equally among any residential units whose occupants had made significant use of the roof during this 10-year period ("significant use" may be evidenced by the presence on the roof of the residential occupants' property, such as outdoor furniture, plants, decking, and clotheslines); otherwise, the costs of roof repair and replacement shall be excluded as deferred maintenance; (y) if windows are required to be repaired or replaced, the necessary and reasonable costs shall be recognized as code compliance costs if incurred to meet residential certificate of occupancy standards, but shall be excluded if they resulted instaed from the deteriorated condition of the windows; and (z) the repair or replacement of utility risers, other building system components, or structural components due to their deteriorated condition with similar or comparable items shall constituye deferred maintenance costs unless these components had been installed by a residential tenant.

In determining the appropriate rent adjustment for code compliance for each affected unit the Loft Board will decide on a case-by-case basis whether the work item applied for was necessary and reasonable to achieve minimal code compliance in the building. "Minimal code compliance" shall not be limited exclusively to the least expensive method of compliance but may also include other reasonable approaches to meeting legal requirements which are not unduly burdensome to the residential occupants. In assessing the reasonableness of the approach, the Board may consider the construction standards and specifications applied in housing programs financed by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development and other affordable housing programs in New York City. Where the cost of an allowable code compliance item has been included in the initial rent adjustment based upon Article 7-B compliance, the cost of any subsequent work performed to repair or replace that item may not be included in the final rent adjustment based upon issuance of a final residential certificate of occupancy. Rent adjustments for approved work items will be based on the lower of the actual cost or the scheduled amount for the item. In the case of approved work items that do not appear on the schedule, the necessary and reasonable cost of such items will be determined and included in the rent adjustments.

Further, if in order to provide heat as required by Loft Board Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards, the landlord is or was required to install a central heating system or individual heating systems or to modify an existing system, the necessary and reasonable costs incurred in purchasing and installing or modifying such system or systems shall be costs that may be passed along to tenants as part of the rent adjustment calculated pursuant to these regulations.

If in order to meet utility company standards or rules, an owner is required to perform work such as installing meters or constructing meter rooms, the necessary and reasonable costs of such work shall be costs that may be passed through as rent adjustments pursuant to these rules. Also, if in order to provide elevator services as required by the Department of Buildings or Loft Board Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards, the landlord has modified or replaced an existing elevator, the necessary and reasonable costs of performing such work shall be costs that may be passed along to the tenants as part of the code compliance rent adjustments.

As part of the legalization work, the landlord shall also replace elevator hoistway door locks where prohibited with a security device on residential floor landings that provides substantially the same or enhanced security to the tenants, and the necessary and reasonable costs of performing such work shall be costs that may be passed along to the tenants as part of the code compliance rent adjustment. "Substantially the same or enhanced security" shall be defined as follows: (1) a "zero clearance vestibule," if the elevator is equipped with sliding doors and the vestibule may be created without altering their operation; (2) a vestibule extending into the IMD unit, with the minimum dimensions required to meet code requirements, if the elevator is equipped with swinging doors which open into the IMD unit; or (3) any other security arrangement to which the owner and tenant agree which meets DOB and Fire Department requirements. On request of the residential tenant, additional security measures such as mirrors and reinforced vestibule walls shall be installed by the owner, provided they are acceptable to DOB and the Fire Department, and the cost of their installation shall also be a recognized cost of code compliance.

If a tenant has performed construction without the owner's consent at any time after the initial narrative statement conference, and additional costs are incurred by the owner as a result, such as architectural fees to revise plans or labor and material costs to perform additional work, these costs may be passed through to the tenant as part of the code compliance rent adjustments.

In situations in which the owner alters or reconfigures residential units in a manner which results in changes in residential floor area pursuant to a Loft Board order or agreement among the parties, the Loft Board may determine the base rents to be charged for such spaces reflective of the change. Installation of an elevator vestibule to provide a tenant with security from intruders using the elevator shall not be the basis for an adjustment of base rent.

Also, see §2-01(0).

(k) Rent adjustments. (1) When an owner files an application for code compliance rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(i)(2) prior to obtaining a certificate of occupancy, rent adjustments granted by the Board shall be retroactive to the first day of the month following the date of the filing of the completed rent adjustment application by the owner. When an owner files an application for code compliance rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(i)(2) after obtaining a final certificate of occupancy, rent adjustments granted by the Board shall be retroactive to the first day of the month following the date of the issuance of the final certificate of occupancy. In either case, rent adjustments granted by the Board shall take effect on the first rent payment date that occurs at least 10 days after the Loft Board has mailed a final rent adjustment order to the owner and all affected residential occupants. For example, in a case where an owner filed an application for a rent adjustment prior to obtaining a certificate of occupancy, if the owner filed its application on March 15, 1986, and the Loft Board's order was mailed on October 6, 1986, the increase would be effective November 1, 1986, retroactive to April 1, 1986. At the option of the residential occupant, such retroactive increase may be paid either in a lump sum or as an addition to the regular monthly rent payments at a rate equal to 20 percent of the rent in effect, including any escalators, as of the date of application for adjustment ("base rent") until payment of the full retroactive amount is completed. Also, see §2-01(o).

(2) The total rent adjustment per building shall be determined by the Loft Board:

(i) by dividing the allowable cash costs of compliance approved by the Loft Board, exclusive of interest and service charges, over a 10-year period of amortization; or

(ii) by dividing the allowable cash costs of compliance approved by the Loft Board over a 15-year period of amortization and adding the actual mortgage debt service, incurred by the owner to pay allowable cash costs of compliance approved by the Loft Board that are attributable to interest and service charges in each year of indebtedness to an Institutional Lender (as defined in paragraph (4) of this subdivision) or any Qualified Noninstitutional Lender (as defined in paragraph (4) of this subdivision) that is approved by the Loft Board pursuant to such paragraph. The portion of the rent adjustment attributable to mortgage debt service shall be computed on the basis of the average annual debt service attributable to interest, finance and service charges over the loan term, provided that the maximum total amount of interest charged includable in rent shall not exceed that reflected in a 15 year self-amortizing mortgage.

Service charges shall include mortgage application fees; commitment fees; fees for professionals who are required to be paid by the lender (such as appraisers, attorneys and surveyors); mortgage title examination and insurance fees and charges; origination fees; points; mortgage recording tax; and other recording charges.

The use of a 10-year period of amortization, not including debt service, or of a 15-year period of amortization, including debt service, shall be at the option of the owner when interest and service charges are incurred to pay for any portion of allowable cash costs of compliance approved by the Board.

(3) In cases where the owner of a building receives tax abatement and exemption under Part 1 of Subchapter 2 of Chapter 2 of Title II (§11-243 formerly J-51) of the Administrative Code, the total annual rent adjustment for the IMD shall be adjusted to reflect a reduction equal to one-half of the total annual tax abatement granted for the IMD for those categories of costs approved by the Loft Board as necessary and reasonable for code compliance. The allocation of such reduction shall be in accordance with the formulae for allocation of rent adjustments contained in §2-01(l) of these regulations.

(4) (i) Definitions. For purposes of amortizing code compliance costs and interest and service charges over a 15-year period, the following terms have the following meanings: (A) "Institutional lender" shall mean any bank, trust company, national bank, savings bank, state or federal savings and loan association, state or federal credit union, insurance company; any pension fund or retirement system of any corporation, association or any other entity owned or controlled by any one of the above, provided the same is supervised by or responsible to any agency of the federal government, or the State or the City of New York; and any governmental agency.

(B) "Qualified noninstitutional lender" shall mean any person or entity other than (A) the owner of the building, (B) any person or entity that owns, directly or through another entity, more than 50% of the ownership interest in the property, or any person or entity that at any time after March 26, 1993 has owned directly or through another entity, more than 50% of the ownership interest in the property, or (C) the spouse of any person described in clauses (A) or (B) above.

(ii) Procedure for applying for rent adjustment based on loans used to finance allowed compliance costs.

(A) Required documentation for all loans. An applicant seeking a rent adjustment based on interest and service charges for any loan from an institutional lender or qualified noninstitutional lender shall submit, as part of the application described in §2-01(i)(2), a descripion of the terms of the loan, the identity of the lender, a copy of all documents (including amendments thereto) evidencing or securing the loan (e.g., the note, loan agreement, mortgage, and security agreement, if any) certified by the lender as being true and correct copies; and evidence of the payment of service charges in the form of paid bills, canceled checks or other similar evidence.

(B) Additional documentation required for a loan from any qualified noninstitutional lender. In the case of a loan from a qualified noninstitutional lender, an applicant must submit, in addition to the documents enumerated in sentence (i) of subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, a completed Application for Noninstitutional Lender Approval in the form prescribed by the Loft Board together with an affidavit of Noninstitutional Lender-Lender Approval Form and an Affidavit of Noninstitutional Lender-Loan Approval Form. A completed Application for Noninstitutional Lender Approval and Affidavit of Noninstitutional Lender-Lender Approval Form must be submitted before the Loft Board will begin to process the rent adjustment application described in §2-01(i)(2).

(C) Additional documentation required for a loan from a qualified noninstitutional lender that is related to the applicant by blood, marriage or ownership of stock, partnership interests or other ownership interests. In the case of a loan from any qualified noninstitutional lender that is related to the applicant by blood, marriage or ownership of stock, partnership interests or other ownership interests, an applicant must submit, in addition to the documents enumerated in sentences (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, a statement from the lender's certified public accountant to the effect that the loan under consideration is a bona fide loan and that the interest payable thereunder has been included or is includable as income in the lender's federal income tax return or, alternatively, a true and correct copy (certified as such by the lender or the lender's certified public accountant) of the lender's federal income tax return(s) (or the applicable schedules thereto) showing that such interest has been included in the lender's income for federal income tax purposes for each year to date of such application that interest under the loan has been paid to an including the most recent year in which a federal income tax return has been filed; and copies (both sides) of canceled checks drawn on an account of the lender evidencing payment of the proceeds of the loan to or on behalf of the owner.

The Loft Board shall approve a noninstitutional lender in determining rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(k)(2); provided, however, in the case of a qualified noninstitutional lender that is related to the applicant by blood, marriage or ownership of stock, partnership interests or other ownership interests, that the applicant submits reliable evidence (in the form described above) that the loan under consideration is a bona fide loan. Service charges shall be reimbursable only to the extent that they have been paid on or prior to the date of application and only when supported by reliable evidence (in the form described above). Only that portion of interest charges on a noninstitutional loan that does not exceed 2 points over the Federal National Mortgage Association's yield on multi-family, 15-year fixed-rate loans shall be included in rent adjustments. The procedures for applications to the Loft Board set forth in §1-06 of these rules shall not apply to Applications for Non- Institutional Lender Approval. The owner shall be required to submit two copies of the Application for Non-Institutional-Lender Approval. Such application will be approved provided such filing contains the information required by these rules.

The portions of the preceding provisions of §2-01(k) pertaining to loans from qualified noninstitutional lenders (specifically, the reference to qualified noninstitutional lenders in §§2-01(k)(2)(ii), and §§2-01(k)(4)(i)(B), 2-01(k)(4)(ii)(B), 2-01(k)(4)(ii)(C), and the paragraph immediately following §2-01(k)(4)(ii)(C) shall terminate on June 30, 1995 unless extended by the Loft Board.

(1) Allocation of rent adjustments. The total rent adjustment per IMD determined pursuant to §§2-01(i) through (k) above, for obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy shall be allowed among individual residential units in the following manner:

(1) Allowable code compliance costs of work performed in a residential unit to bring the unit into compliance shall be allocated to that residential unit.

(2) Allowable code compliance costs of systems work, such as utility service or heat, that only services and is only capable of servicing the residential units and of work performed in nonresidential units solely to achieve Article 7-C compliance for the residential units shall be allocated equally among those residential units regardless of where the work is performed.

(3) An equal share of allowable code compliance costs of work in common areas and nonresidential units, except as provided in §2-01(1)(2), in the building shall be allocated to each residential unit. Allowable code compliance costs for systems work, such as utility service or heat, which services or is capable of servicing nonresidential units shall be deemed to be code compliance costs of work in common areas.

This share, as described in this §2-01(l)(3), shall be equal to the portion of total allowable code compliance costs of work in common areas and nonresidential units, except as provided in §2-01(l)(2), which bears the same proportion to the total as the sum of the amount of floor area devoted to the maximum number of residential units in the building at any time after April 1, 1980 which qualified for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C and of the residential units which appear on the final certificate of occupancy which did not qualify for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C bears to the building's total floor area, divided equally among the sum of the maximum number of residential units in the building at any time which qualified for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C and the number of residential units which appear on the final certificate of occupancy which did not qualify for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C so that that is S equals (TC multiplied by (RA divided by TA)) divided by R, where S = Share per residential unit

$$\mathbf{S} = \frac{(\mathbf{TC} \times \mathbf{RA/TA})}{\mathbf{R}}$$

TC = Total allowable code compliance costs of work in common areas and nonresidential units, except as provided in §2-01(l)(2)

RA = Sum of the floor area of the maximum number of residential units in the building at any time which qualified for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C and of the residential units which appear on the final certificate of occupancy which did not qualify for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C

TA = Total Floor area

R = Sum of the maximum number of residential units in the building at any time which qualified for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C and the number of residential units which appear on the final certificate of occupancy which did not qualify for coverage under M.D.L. Article 7-C

For purposes of allocating rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(1)(3):

Total floor area (TA) is defined as the sum of the gross areas of the floors of a building measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls or from the center line of walls separating two buildings. Floor area includes rentable space, such as space in penthouses, cellars, and basements, but excludes rooms with mechanical, heating and air conditioning equipment and elevator and stair bulkheads, water tanks and cooling towers. Nonresidential tenant, residential tenant and vacant rental spaces are included in the floor area.

Floor Area of Residential Units (RA) is defined as the sum of the clear area of the floor contained within the partitions or walls enclosing any room, space, foyer, hall or passageways of each of the residential units. It shall not include common areas, public halls, public vestibules, public rooms or other public parts of the building.

Common areas are defined as spaces used for bulkheads, stairs, hallways, cellars, basements, fire escapes, rooms used for mechanical, elevator and heating equipment, and other areas used by all the residential occupants of the building, including storage areas.

(m) Initial legal regulated rents/issuance of residential leases. (1) Following the calculation of code compliance rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(i)(2)(ii) or the waiver of an owner's right to such rent adjustments pursuant to §2-01(i), the Loft Board shall set the initial legal regulated rent for all covered residential units remaining subject to rent regulation under M.D.L. Article 7-C.

(2) If an owner has waived its right to code compliance rent adjustments, the Loft Board may establish the initial legal regulated rents for covered residential units subject to rent regulation under M.D.L. Article 7-C based on the owner's RGB application pursuant to §2-01(i)(1), or, if no RGB application was filed, by evidence including, but not limited to, Loft Board records, documents submitted by affected parties, and the testimony of witnesses.

(3) (i) Upon the issuance by the Loft Board of an order establishing the initial legal regulated rent, the owner shall offer each residential occupant a residential lease subject to the provisions regarding evictions and regulation of rent set forth in the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974, except that to the extent the provisions of Article 7-C are inconsistent with such act, the provisions of Article 7-C and these rules shall govern. At such time, the owner shall register with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal in accordance with the ETPA.

Note: §285(3) of the M.D.L. requires registration with a real estate industry stabilization association; however, amendments to the ETPA (Chapter 403 of the Laws of 1983) modified that filing requirement as shown.

(ii) If the owner has received any RGB Increase under §2-01(i)(1), then the initial term of such lease shall end upon expiration of the last RGB Increase Period (as defined in §2-01(i)(1)) prior to the setting of the initial legal regulated rent; provided, however, that no notice or proceeding by the owner to recover the unit pursuant to §2524.4 of the Rent Stabilization code may be commenced during the pendency of this initial abbreviated lease term.

The initial legal regulated rent established by the Loft Board pursuant to this subparagraph (ii) shall be equal to:

(A) the rent in effect, including escalations, and any RGB Increase granted under §2-01(i)(1) as of the date of the rent order ("base rent"), plus

(B) the maximum annual amount of any increase allocable to compliance as provided herein.

(iii) If an owner has not received any RGB Increases under §2-01(i)(1), then the rent shall be the sum of clauses (A) and (B) of subparagraph (ii) above plus the percentage increase then applicable to one-or-two year leases, as elected by the tenant, as established by the RGB and applied to the base rent, provided, however, such percentage increases may be adjusted downward by the Loft Board if prior increases based on Loft Board guidelines cover part of the same time period to be covered by the Rent Guidelines Board adjustments. For units in buildings that have been rented at market value subject to subsequent rent regulation as a result of the owner's purchase of improvements pursuant to M.D.L. §286(6) and §2-07(f)(5) of these rules, the initial legal regulated rent shall be calculated as set forth above except that the code compliance cost increase shall be zero.

(4) Rental adjustments attributable to the cost of code compliance shall not become part of the base rent for purposes of calculating rent adjusted pursuant to Rent Guidelines Board increases and shall terminate, after 10 or 15 years, as established by Loft Board order.

(n) Cooperatives and condominiums. (1) Cooperative or condominium conversion of an IMD shall be fully in accordance with Article 23-A of the General Business Law, as amended, and the rules and regulations promulgated by the New York State Attorney General pursuant thereto. No eviction plan for conversion to cooperative or condominium ownership for a building that is, in whole or in part, an IMD shall be submitted for filing to the office of the New York State Attorney General pursuant to the General Business Law until a final residential certificate of occupancy is obtained and the residential occupants are offered residential leases in accordance with these regulations.

(2) Noneviction plans for such buildings may be submitted for filing provided that the sponsor or owner association remains legally responsible for bringing all rental, cooperative, and condominium units and all common areas of the building into compli ance with Article 7-B of the M.D.L., or alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L. described in §2-01(a)(3) of these regulations and for all work in common areas required to obtain a residential certificate of occupancy. An IMD that has been converted to cooperative or condominium ownership is subject to compliance with Article 7-C and Loft Board rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

(3) Cooperative and condominium units occupied by unit owners or tenant-shareholders are not subject to rent regulation pursuant to Article 7-C of the M.D.L. Cooperative and condominium units occupied by residential occupants qualified for the protection of Article 7-C of the M.D.L., i.e., who are not unit owners or tenant-shareholders, are subject to rent regulation pursuant to the statute.

(4) The sponsor or owner association of an IMD building that has converted to cooperative or condominium ownership shall file for code compliance rent adjustments for any units remaining subject to rent regulation pursuant to M.D.L. Article 7-C by the time set forth in §2-01(i)(2)(ii). A sponsor or owner association that fails to file an application for code compliance rent adjustments in a timely manner pursuant to this provision shall be deemed to have waived its right to seek such a rent adjustment.

(5) At any time after obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy, the sponsor or owner association of such an IMD building shall file with the Loft Board a list of all units originally registered as IMD units that are occupied by unit owners or tenant-shareholders, certifying that such units are occupied by unit owners or tenant-shareholders, and affirming that the sponsor or owner association seeks exemption for those units from the Loft Board's order setting the initial legal regulated rents. The building shall remain subject to the annual registration renewal requirement pending completion of Loft Board review of such list.

(12) Municipal Filing Fees, Professional Fees, Local Law Compliance and Extraordinary Costs of Legalization

Municipal fees for filing necessary for Code Compliance (e.g. Dept. of Buildings Alteration Application, City Planning Commission Special Permit, etc.). Does not include regular annual filings for inspections or regulation.	Actual fee charged
All Architectural and Engineering Fees	Maximum 7 percent of approved, necessary and reasonable costs of Code Compliance items in categories 1-12 of this schedule.
Legal Fees-costs incurred in obtaining financing for Code Compliance	Maximum 4 percent of approved necessary and reasonable costs of Code Compliance for cost items in categories 1-12 of this schedule.
Local Law Compliance (Handicapped, Landmarks and Asbestos)	Approved necessary and reasonable costs of Code Compliance, reviewed and determined by the Loft Board case by case.
Extraordinary Costs of Legalization (construction management fees; overtime costs for alterations required to be done after hours; and excessive costs above scheduled allowance resulting from individual building characteristics)	Maximum 7.5 percent for this category of approved, necessary and reasonable costs of Code Compliance.

[1] Includes concrete plan.

[2] All other situations will be resolved on a case by case basis.

[+] Plumbing items include necessary pipe installation. These items are for replacement work only.

* The figures in this final cost schedule have been calculated by using the 1989 prices, published in the City Record on August 13, 1990, multiplied by 1.5 percent, the yearly index for 1990.

 These items will only be considered as necessary and reasonable when installation is mandated resulting from other required code compliance work.

The following Department of Buildings memoranda are included here for informational purposes only and not for comment. These directives are referred to in §2-01(d)(2) of the code compliance regulations.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Jan. 14, 2000:

In July 1999, the Legislature amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines that owners are required to meet. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to the legislative changes. These amendments update the rules to conform to the terms of the amended Loft law.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 8, 1997: These amendments revise the rules relating to code compliance legalization deadlines; extensions of the code compliance legalization deadlines; violations of the code compliance legalization deadlines; and sales of improvements. Text added to the rules is shown underlined, and text deleted from the rules is bracketed. Text that is neither underlined nor bracketed remains unchanged. In July, 1996, the Legislature amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines which owners are required to meet. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to the legislative changes. These amendments update the code compliance deadlines in sections 2-01(a), (b), and (c), and section 2-07, to conform to the amended law.

3. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 8, 1999: The amendment allows owners to serve a notice seeking access either by personal service or by first class mail alone or certified mail alone (removing the cumbersome requirement of duplicate mailings). The amendment also allows tenants to serve owners by personal service or first class mail or certified mail, to inform the owner of the designation of another tenant to receive notice and provide access. The amendment also increases the number of copies of applications and answers that owners and occupants must file with the Loft Board from two to twelve, in order to reduce the agency's administrative costs. Cross-references to the notice provisions set forth in §2-01(d)(1) are deleted to make the rule easier to understand.

4. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 7, 1999: It is the Loft Board's mandate to take a fixed group of buildings and move them through the process of legalization, ultimately reducing the number of buildings in its jurisdiction. The last step in that process is setting the initial legal regulated rents, and directing the owners to issue rent stabilized leases and to register with the State Division of Housing and Community Renewal (DHCR). This occurs after the owner has achieved compliance with Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law or has obtained a residential certificate of occupancy. It is not uncommon, however, for owners to obtain a residential certificate of occupancy but delay obtaining a final rent order setting the initial legal regulated rents. This has the effect of keeping such buildings in the Loft Board's jurisdiction indefinitely. Under current rules, there is no deadline for filing these applications. This amended rule requires owners to file their applications for a final rent order soon after obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy. Also, current rules do not give the Loft Board the authority to issue final rent orders in the absence of an owner's application. This amendment gives the Board that authority. The amendment provides that owners who do not file an application for code compliance rent adjustments within the time limit set forth are deemed to have waived their right to such adjustments. The rule gives owners until February 1, 2000, whichever is later, to make their application. The amendment allows the Loft Board to set the initial legal regulated rent in cases where an owner has submitted neither an application for code compliance rent adjustments nor a Rent Guidelines Board increase under 2-01(i)(1). In such case, the Loft Board can commence a proceeding to establish the initial legal regulated rents (without reference to the costs of code compliance) based on evidence such as records in the Loft Board's files, documents submitted by affected parties, and the testimony of witnesses. Section 2-01(n) is amended to clarify the Loft Board's existing policy on IMD buildings converted to cooperative or condominium ownership. The provision makes clear that owners of coops or condos must file for a final rent order for any rent-regulated units remaining in the building by the deadline applicable to all final rent order applications. It also requires owners of such buildings to provide the Loft Board with a list of owner-occupied units after the building obtains its residential certificate of occupancy. The filing of this form triggers a review of Loft Board records. If the Loft Board's records confirm that the identified units are all owner-occupied, the Loft Board will initiate a summary proceeding to issue a final order, which will result in the removal of the building from the Loft Board's jurisdiction. The amendment makes clear that until the Loft Board issues that order, a coop or condo remains in the Loft Board's jurisdiction and must continue to renew its annual registration. Section 2-01(o) is repealed. Section 2-01(o) states that the "foregoing regulations" constitute a "comprehensive set of rules governing code compliance" but that the "Loft Board reserves the right" to promulgate additional rules on related topics. Subdivision (o) is unnecessary because it contains no substantive provisions, and because the Loft Board's rulemaking authority is set forth in MDL Article 7-C and Executive Order No. 66 (Sept. 30, 1982). The repeal of this subdivision in no way limits the Loft Board's rulemaking authority.

5. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Aug. 22, 2003: On April 23, 2002 and again on May 29, 2002, the Legislature amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines that owners are required to meet. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to the legislative changes. These amendments update the rules to conform to the terms of the amended Loft Law.

6. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Nov. 3, 2005: The Legislature has recently amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines that owners are required to meet. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to the legislative changes. These amendments update the rules to conform to the terms of the amended Loft Law.

7. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record June 23, 2006: The extension provisions set forth in §2-01(b) are being amended to correct a typographical error in a citation to a provision of the Multiple Dwelling Law. The citation is being amended from MDL §284(1)(vi) to MDL §284(1)(v).

8. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Aug. 29, 2006: The Legislature recently amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines that IMD owners are required to meet in legalizing their buildings and to extend the deadline for the Loft Law itself. The compliance extensions are set forth in §284 of the Multiple Dwelling Law. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to the legislative changes. After consultation with counsel and further deliberation, these amendments were drafted to parallel more closely the language in the statute and to conform to the terms of the amended Loft Law, including the recent amendment by Part Q of Chapter 62 of the Laws of 2006. Sections 2-01(a)(1)(iv) through 2-01(2)(iii) have been restored because these sections were inadvertently omitted by the present publisher, although they were duly promulgated prior to the time they became effective.

9. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 28, 2006: The extension provisions set forth in §2-01(b) are being amended to eliminate most retroactive extensions of missed code compliance deadlines and to simplify the application process for obtaining an extension. This proposed rule would prohibit most owners from seeking retroactive extensions of missed code compliance deadlines. Extensions should be granted only to diligent owners who are in the process of complying with the Loft Law but are unable to meet the next deadline due to a condition or circumstance beyond their control. There is no acceptable reason an owner could not bring such circumstances to the Loft Board's attention and seek appropriate relief before the expiration of the deadline. The only exception provided is for owners who recently bought their IMD buildings. Such owners would be given 90 days after taking title to seek an extension of a missed code compliance deadline, provided they can meet the statutory standards and other requirements set forth in §2-01(b)(2) of the Rules. The proposed rule also would simplify the extension rule by eliminating the three types of extension applications (extensions of 90 days or less, 91 days to one year and more than one year) and their attendant special procedures. Currently, the three time periods alter the service requirements. Additionally, the short extension rule codified in subdivision (b) of §2-01 of the Board's rules provides that owners may obtain an extension of 90 days or less on an ex parte basis. In contrast, under the new rule there would no longer be three different types of extension applications, but only one. The same standards for granting an application would apply to extensions of any length. The Executive Director would decide all extension applications. By eliminating separate procedures for different length extensions and the ability of owners to apply for short extensions on an ex parte basis, these amendments will provide occupants of IMD units with notice of every owner's request for an extension and an opportunity to be heard on the merits of every extension application. In addition, the rule would provide that for all applications, regardless of length of extension sought, the owner-applicant rather than the Loft Board would be responsible for mailing the application to the affected tenants and providing the Loft Board with proof of service upon the tenants.

10. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 29, 2008: The Legislature recently amended Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law (the "Loft Law") to extend the code compliance deadlines that IMD owners are required to meet in legalizing their buildings and to extend the deadline for the Loft Law itself. See Laws of 2007, chapter 62. The compliance extensions are set forth in §284 of the Multiple Dwelling Law. As a result, it is necessary to amend the Loft Board rules to conform to these legislative changes.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Loft Board's determination that cost of restoring elevator service would be borne by tenants was let stand since Loft Board was precluded from reaching and in fact did not reach this issue in context of proceeding pursuant to 29 RCNY 2-01(d)(2)(vii)(B)(b); rather Loft Board offered tenants right to waive requirement of elevator service if cost of repairs would shift to them. Nardo v. NYC Loft Bd., 202 AD2d 364 [1994].

¶ 2. A building owner may file an application to extend a legalization deadline pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section after that deadline has expired, and the application will relate back to the expired deadline. Matter of Drewvin Building Corporation, OATH Index No. 748/96 (July 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2004 (Sept. 26, 1996); Matter of Salva Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 743/96 (Mar. 8, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1935 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 3. The Loft Board's amendment of paragraph (b) of this section, providing for adjudication of extension applications by submission of papers without evidentiary hearings, would be applied prospectively, not retroactively to a case that was pending and had already been tried when the amendment became effective. Matter of Drewvin Building Corporation, OATH Index No. 748/96 (July 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2004 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 4. Although a building owner obtained a building permit, completed article 7-B compliance, and obtained a final certificate of occupancy while the owner's application for an extension of time to obtain a building permit remained pending, the application was not rendered moot by the issuance of the building permit or by the completion of the legalization process. Matter of Drewvin Building Corporation, OATH Index No. 748/96 (July 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2004 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 5. An application pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section for an extension of the legalization deadlines in the 1992 amendments to the Loft Law was not rendered moot by the enactment of new deadlines in the 1996 amendments to the Loft Law, because the 1996 amendment did not retroactively entitle building owners to maintain non-payment proceedings against tenant for periods of non-compliance with the 1992 deadlines. Matter of Dezer Properties Co., OATH Index No. 894/98 (Dec. 18, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2220 (Feb. 26, 1998); Matter of Landau, OATH Index No. 130/98 (Aug. 7, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2155 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 6. The grant of an application for an extension of a legalization deadline pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section constituted a determination that the owner had exercised good faith efforts at legalization before the deadline that was thus extended, and that determination was final and binding on the tenants and could not be relitigated in the context of the owner's application for an additional extension of the legalization deadline. Matter of Salva Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 743/96 (Mar. 8, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1935 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 7. Where a building owner obtained an approved alteration permit while the owner's application for a third extension of the deadline to obtain that permit was pending, the requested extension expired on the date that the permit was obtained, and the issue for adjudication was whether the owner exercised good faith efforts to obtain the permit up until that date. Matter of Dezer Properties Co., OATH Index No. 894/98 (Dec. 18, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2220 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 8. The provision in subparagraph (b)(2)(iii) (formerly subparagraph (b)(3)) of this section for the grant of "the minimum extension required by the IMD owner" should be construed to permit the minimum extension reasonably likely to be required, not the minimum extension that conceivably could be required. Matter of Salva Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 743/96 (Mar. 8, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1935 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 9. An application by a building owner's architect for an 18-month extension of the deadline to obtain an alteration permit, after the owner had previously obtained extensions of 90 days and one year, was granted where the architect had in good faith pursued resolution of the Department of Buildings' objections to the work plans, and where two of the objections required approvals from the Landmarks Commission and the Loft Board. Matter of Gerep Realty, OATH Index No. 747/96 (Jan. 3, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1910 (Jan. 24, 1996).

¶ 10. Where a building owner retained a legalization architect, paid the architect's fees as agreed, and frequently asked the architect about the progress of legalization, but the architect misled the owner by repeatedly stating that completion was near although in fact the architect had failed for some time to work on moving the building toward legalization, the owner's application for an extension pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was granted because the owner had exercised good faith efforts at legalization despite the architect's nonfeasance. Matter of Drewvin Building Corporation, OATH Index No. 748/96 (July 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2004 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 11. Because a building owner's delay in obtaining an approved alteration permit was occasioned by a process agreed to between the owner and the tenants, whereby the tenants sought Department of Buildings approval for their alternative plans, and, upon grant of such approval, the owner amended its alteration application to conform to the tenants' alternative plans, the owner's application for an extension of time to obtain an alteration permit pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was granted. Matter of Hip Hin Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 753/96 (Apr. 2, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1959 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 12. Where an escrow account was set up by agreement of the building owner and the tenants, in settlement of various disputes between them, and the escrow funds were to be used to pay legalization costs, the requirement that the owner engage in protracted negotiations with the tenants to obtain release of the escrow funds constituted a matter beyond the owner's control, such that the owner's application for an extension of legalization deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was granted. Matter of Salva Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 743/96 (Mar. 8, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1935 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 13. Where a building owner was unable to obtain an approved alteration permit due to the Loft Board's delay of more than two years in deciding an issue necessary to the completion of the narrative statement process, the delay was attributable to matters beyond the owner's control such that the owner was entitled to an extension pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. Matter of Landau, OATH Index No. 130/98 (Aug. 7, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2155 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 14. A building owner's ultimate success in obtaining an alteration permit did not constitute proof that the owner moved sufficiently diligently to entitle the owner to an extension pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. Matter of Dezer Properties Co., OATH Index No. 894/98 (Dec. 18, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2220 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 15. Delay in legalization due to the ignorance of a new owner of a building that the building was covered by the Loft Law did not constitute an excuse for noncompliance with legalization deadlines, sufficient to justify grant of an extension of those deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. Matter of Dezer Properties Co., OATH Index No. 894/98 (Dec. 18, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2220 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 16. Where a building owner deferred legalization work until completion of protracted judicial review of the Loft

Board's coverage order, the owner's application for an extension of the legalization deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was denied because the owner's failure to obtain a stay of the Loft Board's order pending outcome of judicial review and the owner's casual and indiligent pursuit of the judicial appeal did not satisfy the requirement of good faith efforts to comply with the legalization deadlines. Matter of Dezer Properties Company, OATH Index No. 132/98 (Aug. 27, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2174 (Oct. 30, 1997).

¶ 17. Where a building owner contended that delay in obtaining an approved alteration permit was due to the owner's change from an application for a permit for a multiple dwelling to an application for a permit for a two-family dwelling, the delay was not caused by matters beyond the owner's control, and the owner's application for an extension of legalization deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was denied. Matter of 20 Beaver Street, OATH Index No. 134/98 (Aug. 28, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2164 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 18. Where one of two owners of a building delegated the other owner to handle legalization, and that owner failed to pursue legalization with reasonable diligence, the failure to meet legalization deadlines was not beyond the owners' control, and therefore the first owner's application for an extension pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was denied. Matter of Longa, OATH Index No. 432/98 (Oct. 10, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2191 (Dec. 18, 1997).

¶ 19. A building owner's decision to proceed with alteration of commercial space in the building before filing an application for an alteration permit for legalization work in the residential areas did not constitute a matter beyond the owner's control, and therefore the owner's application for an extension of legalization deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was denied. Matter of Debar Realty Corporation, OATH Index No. 138/98 (Oct. 23, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (Feb. 20, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2234 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 20. Although a building owner's delay in filing its narrative statement for nine months after filing its alteration permit was on the advise of the owner's architect, the delay was not beyond the owner's control and did not constitute a good faith effort at compliance with the legalization deadlines, and therefore the owner's application for an extension of those deadlines pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section was denied. Matter of Debar Realty Corporation, OATH Index No. 138/98 (Oct. 23, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (Feb. 20, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2234 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 21. A tenant's application for a declaration pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section that a building owner was not in compliance with the legalization deadlines in the 1992 amendments to the Loft Law was rendered moot by the enactment of new deadlines in the 1996 amendments to the Loft Law. Matter of Davies, OATH Index No. 126/97 (Aug. 12, 1996), aff'd in part and remanded in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2023 (Nov. 21, 1996); see also Matter of Einzig, OATH Index No. 397/97 (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2064 (Jan. 30, 1997); Matter of Menking, OATH Index No. 1985/96 (Sept. 5, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2025 (Nov. 21, 1996); Matter of 790-16 Tenants Group, OATH Index No. 130/97 (Aug. 16, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2024 (Nov. 21, 1996); Matter of Halaby, OATH Index No. 1520/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 22. Although the tenants' non-compliance application pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section was dismissed as moot due to the legislative revision of the legalization deadlines after the application was filed, such dismissal was without prejudice to the parties' positions in future litigation of disputes concerning rent due before the revision of those deadlines. Matter of Residential Tenants of 376 Broome Street, OATH Index No. 128/97 (Feb. 28, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2087 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 23. Where a building owner filed an application for an alteration permit in March 1980, that application was disapproved in May 1980, and the owner took no further action toward legalization in the next 17 years, and where the Department of Buildings had issued a letter stating that the 1980 alteration application was no longer valid, the owner was not in compliance with the October 1, 1996 deadline for filing an alteration application pursuant to subparagraph (a)(6)(i) of this section, or with the deadline for serving a narrative statements pursuant to subparagraph (d)(2)(i) of this section. The owner was declared not to be in compliance with the Loft Law and was ordered to file an alteration application forthwith and serve a narrative statement within 20 days thereafter. Matter of 42-44 Bond Street Tenants, OATH Index No. 132/97 (May 2, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2121 (June 26, 1997).

¶ 24. Whether a building owner could include the costs of installing individual heating units and electrical meters as code compliance costs pursuant to paragraph (i) of this section was not determined as part of the tenants' diminution of services application pursuant to §2-04 of this chapter, but was deferred until the owner applies for a code compliance rent adjustment. Matter of 29 John Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index No. 1982/96 (Nov. 20, 1996), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2058 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 25. Once an owner has obtained a residential certificate of occupancy, it is eligible for a retroactive Rent Guidelines Board increase. The Loft Board has interpreted Sec. 2-01(i)(1) to mean that an owner must take the affirmative step of applying for the increase, or will lose the opportunity for the increase (Application of Greenwich Associates, Loft Board Order No. 2068, Feb. 27, 1997). However, in one case, where an owner became eligible for the retroactive increase before December 3, 1993, the effective date of Section 2-01(i)(1), a Loft Board hearing officer told the owner that the increase could be obtained without a separate application, and the Loft Board never told the owner that under its new rule a separate application had to be made, the court in effect applied estoppel against the agency and held that the owner was eligible for the increase despite its failure to have made the separate application. The court distinguished Greenwich on the ground that the owner in Greenwich had not become eligible for the increase until after the effective date of the new regulation. Brady Properties v. New York City Loft Board, 702 N.Y.S.2d 63 (App.Div. 1st Dept. 2000).

¶ 26 While the Loft Board may make findings regarding violations of the code compliance timetables for Interim Multiple Dwellings, the court may also find violations of the code compliance timetables. Suraci v. Mucktar, N.Y.L.J., July 19, 2000, page 24, col. 1 (Civ.Ct. New York Co.).

¶ 27. Amendment of Multiple Dwelling Law section 284(1) compliance deadlines does not render pending non-compliance application moot even where there is no dispute that owner filed alteration application by the new October 1, 1996 deadline. Finding the Loft Board arbitrary for refusing to adjudicate tenant-initiated applications of non-compliance under old legalization deadlines while allowing owner-initiated applications for extensions under old deadlines, the Supreme Court reversed existing Loft Board precedent and found that whether the landlord complied with the superseded 1992 deadlines directly affected the rights of the parties, and therefore application should not have been dismissed as moot. Rehwinkel v. NYC Loft Bd., NYLJ, Apr. 28, 1999, at 26, col. 2 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co.), rev'g and remanding,Matter of D'Emanuelle, OATH Index No. 1528/96 (Nov. 7, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2053 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 28. A tenant's application for a declaration pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section that a building owner was not in compliance with the legalization deadlines in the 1992 amendments to the Loft Law was rendered moot by the enactment of new deadlines in the 1996 amendments to the Loft Law. Matter of Davies, OATH Index No. 126/97 (Aug. 12, 1996), aff'd in part and remanded in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2023 (Nov. 21, 1996); see also Matter of Einzig, OATH Index No. 397/97 (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2064 (Jan. 30, 1997); Matter of Menking, OATH Index No. 1985/96 (Sept. 5, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2025 (Nov. 21, 1996); Matter of 790-16 Tenants Group, OATH Index No. 130/97 (Aug. 16, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1520/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 29. Although the tenants' non-compliance application pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section was dismissed as moot due to the legislative revision of the legalization deadlines after the application was filed, such dismissal was without prejudice to the parties' positions in future litigation of disputes concerning rent due before the revision of those deadlines. Matter of Residential Tenants of 376 Broome Street, OATH Index No. 128/97 (Feb. 28, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2087 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 30. Owner found in non-compliance by virtue of collateral estoppel where a prior application for an extension of code compliance deadlines was denied. Matter of Loback, OATH Index No. 263/99 (Oct. 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2339 (Nov. 24, 1998).

¶ 31. Where managing agent, on behalf of owner, failed to demonstrate the financial effect a two-year-old rent strike had on its ability to meet legalization deadlines and where lack of access to the units to complete the legalization work was not sufficiently shown to have an impact on legalization efforts, the failure to meet the deadlines was not a matter beyond the owner's control. Matter of R.E.D.I. Management Corp., OATH Index No. 1130/98 (May 15, 1998), remanded for further consideration, Loft Bd. Order No. 2347 (Dec. 29, 1999), on remand, Matter of R.E.D.I. Management Corp., OATH Index No. 1130/98, mem. dec. (Feb. 23, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2383 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 32. The owner did not meet the statutory standard of good faith where the reason for the requested extension was the alleged failure of the architect to properly document the conditions in existence at the premises. Responsibility for bringing a building into compliance is one which the owner may not delegate and a lack of communication between the owner and an architect is a matter which is entirely within the owner's control. Matter of Katovale Realty, OATH Index No. 519/99 (Nov. 19, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2351 (Dec. 29, 1998).

¶ 33. Where application for retroactive extension provided no explanation of what, if any, efforts were made between March 1, 1995 and July 1, 1996 to bring building into compliance, or an explanation of what delayed compliance, and where owner did not even file an alteration application until September 26, 1996, outside the period for which retroactive extension was sought, the owner failed to meet the statutory standard for granting an extension. Matter of 595 Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 898/98 (Mar. 5, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2239 (Mar. 24, 1998).

¶ 34. Merely stating that owner was unaware that unit was an IMD, and that his architect suffered a debilitating accident five months after the deadline did not meet the statutory standard for granting an extension. Matter of Masi Corp., OATH Index No. 1129/98 (Mar. 23, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2252 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 35. Application for extension denied absent any corroborating documentation of claim that a discrepancy exists between the number of registered units and number of occupied units and because this confusion may be caused by a lack of communication between the owner and the owner's architect, a circumstance which is not beyond the owner's control. Matter of Cortlandt Realty Co., OATH Index No. 896/98 (Jan. 28, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2227 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 36. Petitioner bears the burden of persuasion in an extension application to show that he exercised reasonably diligent efforts to meet the code compliance deadlines but was precluded from doing so due to matters beyond his control. This burden is not met where application itself failed to set forth sufficient facts to warrant extension, or where the requisite corroborating documentation was not submitted. Matter of Meltzer, OATH Index No. 895/98 (Mar. 11, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2254 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 37. Extension to obtain alteration permit warranted due to tenants' repeated efforts to thwart owner's installation of sprinkler heads in their units (pursuant to owner's revised narrative statement), the Loft Board's decision to reopen narrative statement process and the Loft Board's representations of the length of time to complete the process. Matter of Silverstein, OATH Index No. 989/98 (Apr. 15, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2253 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 38. Application for extension granted where owner of the largest IMD registered with the Loft Board, was unable to meet the statutory deadlines due to the complexity of the building issues involved, the procedures required by cooperative ownership to get approval for a specific plan, and subsequent litigation commenced by one shareholder-tenant which led to the issuance of a temporary restraining order preventing the co-op from working toward legalization for a period of four months. Matter of C. True Building Corp., OATH Index No. 141/98 (Sept. 2, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2324 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 39. Application for extension granted due to related pending litigation, brought by one of the IMD shareholder tenants, was found to be a matter beyond petitioner's control; petitioner demonstrated its good faith efforts to legalize the premises in a prior proceeding and since that time. Matter of C. True Building Corp., OATH Index No. 732/99 (Dec. 16, 1998), remanded for further hearing, Loft Bd. Order No. 2354 (Jan. 28, 1999), on remand, Matter of C. True Building Corp., OATH Index No. 732/99 (Apr. 22, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2402 (May 25, 1999).

¶ 40. Delay in obtaining alteration permit was due to two circumstances beyond owner's control; the Loft Board delay in certifying owner's compliance with the narrative statement process, and delay caused by necessity to negotiate for easements with neighboring property owners. Matter of Szeto, OATH Index No. 763/98 (Dec. 31, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2245 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 41. Extension applications may be granted in part and denied in part. While an owner's efforts prior to the expiration of a particular deadline are "relevant to whether an extension should be granted, a lack of sufficient good faith efforts prior to the deadline's expiration does not, by itself, prevent the Board from granting an extension for a subsequent period of time in which the owner did in fact make good faith efforts but was barred from reaching the next step in legalization for reasons beyond his or her control." Loft Bd. Order 2235/00 (Mar. 24, 1998), aff'g in part, rev'g in part,Matter of Ken-Zen Institute, Ltd., OATH Index No. 897/98 (Feb. 24, 1998).

¶ 42. Pursuant to subparagraph (c)(2) of this section, IMD owner is fined $8,000 for failure to meet eight code compliance deadlines imposed by the Loft Law. Matter of Loback, OATH Index No. 263/99 (Oct. 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2339 (Nov. 24, 1998).

¶ 43. Absent proof showing any reasonable and necessary action taken to obtain a building permit pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 284(1)(iii), owner is fined $1,000 for non-compliance with amended deadlines. Matter of 50 Greene Street Tenants, OATH Index No. 1321/98 (July 10, 1998), rev'd and remanded, Loft Bd. Order No. 2291 (Sept. 24, 1998), on remand, OATH Index No. 1321/98, supp. report (Oct. 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2340 (Nov. 24, 1998).

¶ 44. Although non-compliance application was granted, a fine was not imposed because the tenant's application failed to put the owner on notice that a fine was sought. Matter of Barth, OATH Index Nos. 990-91/98 (June 5, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2283 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 45. Respondent failed to file narrative statement within 15 days of filing the alteration application, as required by subparagraph (d)(2)(i) of this rule. Matter of Loback, OATH Index No. 263/99 (Oct. 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2339 (Nov. 24, 1998).

¶ 46. Amendment of narrative statements and legalization plans by IMD owners is permitted without limitation under subparagraph (d)(2)(vi) of this rule. Matter of Sultan, OATH Index Nos. 1314-15/98 (Aug. 18, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2323 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 47. Although subparagraph (d)(2)(iv)(B) of this rule would appear to require tenants to file alternative plans with the Department of Buildings in order to object to owner's plans, that requirement would be wasteful where the tenants' position was that the owner's amended plans were improper, and that the owner's previous plans, which had already been filed with DOB, were proper. Therefore there would be no point to requiring the tenants to re-file the owner's previous plans with DOB. Matter of Sultan, OATH Index Nos. 1314-15/98 (Aug. 18, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2323 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 48. The fact that the Loft Board had granted the owner's access application did not mean that the owner was entitled to an extension of the code compliance deadlines based upon the owner's claim that he was prevented from meeting the deadlines due to reasons beyond its control, i.e., denial of access and a tenant rent strike. The Loft Board's access rule (section 2-01(g)) only requires that the owner seek "reasonable access." The rules do not require a finding, implicit or otherwise, that the owner's access request was diligent or that the tenants' denial was unreasonable. Here, the record showed the owner's efforts to secure access were both tardy and half-hearted. Matter of R.E.D.I. Management

Corp., OATH Index No. 1130/98 (May 15, 1998), remanded for further consideration, Loft Bd. Order No. 2347 (Dec. 29, 1998), on remand, Matter of R.E.D.I. Management Corp., OATH Index No. 1130/98, mem. dec. (Feb. 23, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2383 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 49. No unreasonable interference with tenant's use and occupancy of her space exists where landlord's proposed internal staircase was required as a second means of egress for legalization, even though the owner's plan would take some of the tenant's space, where tenant's proposed alternatives were shown to be not feasible. However, owner's plan to construct a vestibule to provide direct access to the freight elevator from a neighboring unit, which was not required for legalization, and would take air, light and space from the tenant's unit constituted an unreasonable interference, pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section. Matter of Langer, OATH Index No. 1316/98 (Sept. 25, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2334 (Nov. 24, 1998).

¶ 50. Owner applied for Rent Guidelines Board increase pursuant to paragraph (i) of this section. In determining the initial legal regulated rent, the percentage increase the owner is entitled to is calculated, pursuant to section 2-06(c), on the total rent of the IMD unit, which includes the base rent as set forth in a lease agreement and subsequent riders, and escalator payments, here an agreed to percentage of the increase in real estate taxes. Matter of Sayage, OATH Index No. 1505/98 (Aug. 28, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2325 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 51. Challenges relating to building conditions and/or housing maintenance standards are irrelevant to rent computation where owner seeks a Rent Guidelines Board increase pursuant to paragraph (i) of this rule. Proper remedy is a separate housing maintenance or harassment application. Matter of JAR Realty, OATH Index No. 734/98 (Jan. 12, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2222 (Feb. 26, 1998); Matter of 110 West 14th Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 892/98 (Apr. 14, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2251 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 52. Applicants established owner's continuing non-compliance with legalization timetables through documentary evidence from Loft Board, Department of Buildings records and testimony of tenants. Fine was requested and imposed for long-term non-compliance. Matter of Barth, OATH Index Nos. 538 & 714/00 (Nov. 22, 1999), modified on penalty, Loft Bd. Order No. 2469 (Jan. 25, 2000).

¶ 53. Relying on Rehwinkel v. NYC Loft Bd., NYLJ, Apr. 28, 1999, at 26, col. 3 (Sup. Ct., N.Y. Co.), and breaking with prior Loft Board precedent (see earlier annotations), the administrative law judge ruled that dismissal of a non-compliance application as moot due to legislative amendment of legalization deadlines, was improper so long as the Loft Board continued to hear "retroactive" extension applications. Matter of Kosolapov, OATH Index No. 271/00, mem. dec. (Oct. 13, 1999).

¶ 54. Access application granted where petitioner established that occupant of loft was properly notified of proposed work dates and failed to provide access on a specified date, as required by paragraph (g). Where, as here, the occupant failed to timely answer the application, the Loft Board may issue an order granting access, pursuant to subparagraph (g)(3)(B) of this section. Matter of Kiamie Princess Marion Realty, OATH Index No. 277/00 (Sept. 29, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2443 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 55. Administrative law judge recommended sua sponte that the Loft Board extend a legalization deadline for three months longer than the owner had requested in its extension application where the event beyond its control, a pending unreasonable interference application, would not be resolved by the end of 1998, necessitating another extension application. The Loft Board remanded the matter to the administrative law judge to give any tenants who may have been opposed to the longer extension an opportunity to be heard on the matter. On remand, no tenant submitted written opposition nor appeared to oppose longer extension period. Matter of C. True Building Corp., OATH Index No. 732/99 (Apr. 22, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2402 (May 25, 1999).

¶ 56. Petitioner's application for an extension of the deadlines for obtaining a building permit and achieving compliance with Article 7-B safety and fire standards was denied where the owner failed to make the required showing that it was unable to meet the deadline due to circumstances beyond its control. Petitioner's assertions that former architect had failed to make any meaningful progress toward legalization for a two and-one-half year period did not excuse his failure to monitor the progress of his former architect. Matter of Ken-Zen Institute, Ltd., OATH Index No. 2338/99 (Aug. 3, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2506 (Mar. 30, 2000).

¶ 57. Petitioner's application for a one-year extension of the code compliance deadline based on financial hardship was denied because the owner did not produce sufficient proof that it made good faith efforts to comply with the deadline. Administrative law judge found that a single bank loan application that was rejected shortly after the expiration of the deadline failed to meet the rule's good faith efforts standard. The claimed financial hardship was not shown to be a condition beyond petitioner's control, as no other financing options were considered. Matter of Rubinstein Realty Associates, Inc., OATH Index No. 2339/99 (June 30, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2429 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 58. Although problems with financing may well qualify for the granting of an extension of time to attain code compliance, the extension application was denied where no proof of the building's current financial status, the loan amount needed, nor copies of loan applications were submitted. This information was found necessary for the owner to meet the standards of proof required for an extension to be granted. Matter of Les Pieds Nickels, OATH Index No. 1896/99 (June 29, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2430 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 59. Applicant failed to make requisite showing that it exercised diligent efforts to obtain building permit, and was prevented from doing so by matters beyond its control where respondent had taken only four steps towards legalization over a two-year period since the Board had granted it a previous extension. Matter of D.L.B. Co., OATH Index Nos. 1407-08/99 (July 29, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order Nos. 2434 and 2435 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 60. In his initial report, the administrative law judge had recommended that the Loft Board deny the owner's application to extend the deadline to obtain a building permit, finding that neither the tenants' rent strike nor the dispute regarding access were beyond the owner's control so as to excuse the owner's failure to obtain the building permit by the statutory deadline. The Loft Board remanded the matter citing to error in report and recommendation's treatment of a prior Loft Board order granting access because "[i]n granting the access application, the Loft Board implicitly found that the owner had in fact diligently sought access and that the access had been unreasonably denied by the tenants." On remand, after reconsideration of the effect of the prior Loft Board order, the administrative law judge adheres to his original recommendation and resubmits it to the Loft Board. The Loft Board's access rules only require that the owner seek "reasonable access" and do not require a finding that the owner's access request was diligent or that the tenants' denial was unreasonable. The access order made no finding that the owner had been diligent in trying to obtain access and no finding that the tenants had been unreasonable in denying access. Matter of R.E.D.I. Management Corp., OATH Index No. 1130/98, mem. dec. (Feb. 23, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2383 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 61. Pursuant to this section, to be entitled to an extension of a legalization deadline, the owner must show that it made diligent efforts to meet the deadline in question but was prevented from doing so by reasons beyond its control. The Loft Board had adopted the administrative law judge's recommendation that an application for an extension of the deadline to obtain a building permit be denied for the period from October 1, 1993 to April 1, 1998, because the owner made no showing of the legalization efforts he had taken during that period. Administrative law judge had recommended that the owner be granted an extension for the period from April 2, 1998 and July 7, 1998, based upon her finding that the owner diligently pursued the permit during that period by clearing 20 of 28 Building Department objections. The Loft Board rejected that recommendation and denied the application in full, finding that although the owner may have exercised diligent effort to clear the objections during that period, it had failed to show that the substance of the department's objections involved matters beyond its control. Matter of Keung Tat Realty, OATH Index No. 533/00 (Dec. 6, 1999), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2471 (Jan. 25, 2000).

¶ 62. Pursuant to subparagraph (b)(2)(iii) of this section, no evidentiary hearing is required where petitioner failed to meet initial burden of showing that circumstances beyond its control prevented it from meeting the deadline. Here, owner did nothing other than register the building as an IMD and hire an architect during the five months since it purchased the building. Matter of Anorac Realty, Inc., OATH Index No. 2125/99 (Aug. 27, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2441 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 63. Under subparagraph (b)(3) of this section, service of extension application is required only on residential, not commercial occupants. Matter of Enki Properties, N.V. Ltd., Inc., OATH Index No. 276/00 (Oct. 5, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2442 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 64. Pursuant to subparagraph (i)(1)(iv) of this section, a tenant has 45 days from the mailing of the notice of a Rent Guidelines Board increase to file a challenge to the maximum legal rent claimed by the owner or the tenant is deemed to have accepted the rent claimed by the owner. Administrative law judge dismissed the tenant's challenge to the proposed rent increase as untimely where it was filed three months after the 45-day deadline to answer. Administrative law judge rejected the tenant's claim that she had filed her answer late because she had not received the notice of increase from the owner, crediting instead testimony from the owner, corroborated by the return receipt bearing a signature resembling the tenant's signature, that the notice was delivered to the correct address. Matter of Breson Corp., OATH Index No. 1758/99 (Aug. 27, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2437 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 65. The Loft Board held that a residential occupant of a cooperative building who has opted to purchase shares in his unit, and continues to reside there as an owner-occupant, lacks standing to pursue an unreasonable interference application at the Loft Board. Matter of Domingo, OATH Index No. 1125/98 (May 21, 1999), rev'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2453 (Dec. 13, 1999), aff'd sub nom. Domingo v. NYC Loft Bd., Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. Index No. 107058/00 (May 1, 2000) (Tolub, J.)

¶ 66. A tenant's unreasonable interference application alleging that the owner's proposed removal of a staircase between the second and third floors would unreasonably interfere with his use and occupancy was denied where the second and third floors were independent IMD units and the use of the staircase was limited in nature. Matter of Wertheim, OATH Index No. 1758/98 (Feb. 1, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2373 (Feb. 23, 1999).

¶ 67. Pursuant to subparagraph (i)(2)(iii)(C) of this section, tenants had 45 days from the service of the owner's pre-certified application for a cost of compliance rent adjustment to file their response with the Loft Board. Tenants filed late response to owner's application for final rent order and moved to vacate their default. Administrative law judge found that this was an appropriate case to vacate the default because the movants had not received specific notice of the 45-day rule, had had discussions with Board staff in which they were mislead, and had already filed an answer raising facially meritorious defenses to the application. Matter of EBW, LLC, OATH Index No. 848/00 (Nov. 24, 1999).

¶ 68. Administrative law judge denied extension application due to five-year delay in curing Landmarks Commission violations that, on their face, could have been cured in a timely manner by applicant. Applicant did not meet its burden of showing reasons beyond its control and reasonable diligence in obtaining a permit. Applicant produced no evidence that Landmarks Commission and Department of Buildings failed to respond to its requests for action. Matter of Izbar Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 2021/00 (June 23, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2546 (July 20, 2000).

¶ 69. Owner's work on commercial non-IMD portions of the premises was elective and cannot be posited as a ground for delayed work on the IMD units. Owner provided insufficient basis for granting extension of time to comply with code timetables. Matter of Jackson Mak (JSM Properties Inc.), OATH Index No. 532/00 (May 10, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2532 (June 29, 2000).

¶ 70. IMD owner sought extension of the deadlines to file an alteration application and to obtain an approved work permit because the tenant refused access to his apartment. The application was denied because the owner had already received a ninety-day extension of the deadline to file an alteration application and because the owner took no action during the period from early November 1999 when the Loft Board granted an access order, and February 2, 2000, when the owner attempted but failed to gain access to the tenant's apartment. The owner could have sought fines against and ultimately the eviction of the tenant if access was still withheld. Matter of Kiamie Princess Marion Realty, OATH Index No. 2020/00 (July 31, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2561 (Sept. 26, 2000).

¶ 71. New owner was on notice of the existence of the pending non-compliance application when it took possession of the building and can be held responsible for the prior owner's non-compliance. Matter of Schwartz, OATH Index No. 272/00 (June 19, 2000), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2544 (July 20, 2000).

¶ 72. In a tenants' non-compliance proceeding, administrative law judge found that issuance of a final certificate of occupancy by the Department of Buildings established that the building meets all building code requirements for legalization. The Department of Buildings, not the Loft Board, is the agency charged with determining whether to issue a certificate of occupancy. The Loft Board is not the proper forum for tenant challenges to validity of a certificate of occupancy. Matter of Connors, OATH Index Nos. 2361-62/00 (Aug. 30, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2624 (Apr. 24, 2001), on reconsideration, prior Order is reversed and remanded, Loft Bd. Order No. 2738 (June 25, 2002) Related subsequent litigation: the tenants made an application to the Department of Buildings to revoke the certificate of occupancy based upon their contention that the landlord did not perform legalization work specified in the approved plans. DOB denied the application and the tenants appealed to the Board of Standards and Appeals, which denied the appeal. On judicial review of the agency determinations, the court ruled for the tenants and declared the certificate of occupancy issued by DOB to be null and void. The court found that the legalization work specified in the approved plans was never completed and therefore the certificate of occupancy should never have been issued in the first place. When DOB and BSA denied the tenants' application to revoke the C of O those agencies wrongfully deprived the Loft Board of jurisdiction it otherwise would have had to supervise the legalization process. Byrne v. Bd. of Standards and Appeals, Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. Part 49, Index No. 11535/01 (Apr. 8, 2002)(Cahn, J.), rev'g, Matter of Connors, OATH Index Nos. 2361-62/00 (Aug. 30, 2000).

¶ 73. Despite loft tenants' filing of alternate plans three days after the 45-day deadline had expired, judge found tenants' efforts and lack of prejudice to landlord constituted "good cause" to recommended granting the tenants' application to accept their alternate plans. Matter of Tenants of 78-82 Reade Street, OATH Index No. 2015/00 (July 17, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2560 (Sept. 26, 2000).

¶ 74. New owner's legalization plan, which omitted the roof, unreasonably interfered with tenant's occupancy where tenant has resided in unit for sixteen years and during that time has had unfettered use of a roof adjoining her apartment. Notwithstanding the leases that governed tenant's tenancy between 1984 and 1996 made no mention of the roof, long-term use in the circumstances of this case requires a finding of unreasonable interference in violation of 2-01(h). Matter of McGehee, OATH Index No. 1306/00 (Dec. 1, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2599 (Dec. 19, 2000).

¶ 75. Petitioner sought extension of code compliance deadline for obtaining a building permit based upon the ground that the owner attempted unsuccessfully, through the Loft Board, to address tenant concerns, which resulted in a delay of Loft Board certification of compliance. ALJ found petitioner met the statutory standard of good faith effort and also found the petitioner adequately explained the delay in obtaining Board certification which held up owner's application to DOB for permit. Matter of 67 Greene Street, OATH Index No. 1925/01 (July 27, 2001), aff'd, Acting Exec. Dir. Decision (Nov. 13, 2001).

¶ 76. Where owner immediately retained an architect who filed extension application within four months after premises had been declared covered, extension of alteration application was recommended. Matter of 25 Jay Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 932/01 (May 22, 2001).

¶ 77. Owner pursued legalization with reasonable diligence and was unable to comply due to circumstances beyond its control where owner filed alteration plan and narrative statement, where tenants prolonged negotiations, and where an unreasonable interference application was also pending. Petitioner's application for an extension of the deadlines to file an alteration application and to obtain an alteration permit should be granted because the owner was unable to meet deadlines pending outcome of unreasonable interference application. Matter of 40 Lispenard Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1677/01 (June 19, 2001), aff'd, Acting Exec. Dir. Decision (Nov. 13, 2001).

¶ 78. One sentence application submitted by the owner failed to show it made diligent efforts to meet the legalization deadlines under the relevant period, and that it was prevented from doing so by conditions or circumstances beyond its control for granting an extension as set forth in Loft Board rule 2-01(b)(2). Loft Bd. v. Matter of Vlachos,, OATH Index No. 2080/01 (June 7, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2650 (June 28, 2001).

¶ 79. An extension application was granted in part and denied in part where owner took virtually no steps towards legalization until he retained an architect in November 1999 but thereafter pursued legalization diligently by service of the narrative statement, the alteration plans, and two other items upon the Loft Board and the tenants. Matter of 111 Mercer Street,, OATH Index No. 1676/01 (June 20, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2664 (July 24, 2001).

¶ 80. Owner failed to serve access notice on tenants in compliance with section 2-01(g) of the Loft Board rules. Notice was sent by mail to an attorney and not to the tenants. In addition, no follow up notice setting specific dates for access was served on anyone. The access was premature and the ALJ recommended that the application be dismissed on the record. Matter of Conners, OATH Index No. 708/01 (Oct. 30, 2000).

¶ 81. An access application was denied based on the owner's failure to comply with the Loft Board rules regulating amendments to approved plans and narrative statement. Tenants' proof demonstrated that the owner disregarded work required by the narrative statement and made changes to the plans without notifying the Loft Board or the tenants. Matter of Pelli, OATH Index Nos. 1195-96/01 (Feb. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2624 (Apr. 24, 2001), aff'd, _____A.D.2d_____, 774 N.Y.S.2d 492 (1st Dep't 2004).

¶ 82. Prior Loft Board order dismissing noncompliance application lacked res judicata status because it was based on a procedural holding rather than on the merits. The owner's sporadic efforts to obtain a permit, where he also used stairway and elevator disputes as excuses to avoid moving forward with legalization, did not excuse owner's failure to meet deadlines. Matter of Way, OATH Index No. 2206/00 (Jan. 2, 2001).

¶ 83. An unreasonable interference application was granted based upon tenants' proof showing that the owner materially deviated from the work required in the narrative statement and approved plans. Matter of Pelli, OATH Index Nos. 1195-96/01 (Feb. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2624 (Apr. 24, 2001), aff'd, _____A.D.2d_____, 774 N.Y.S.2d 492 (1st Dep't 2004).

¶ 84. Extension application dismissed without prejudice as moot where the legislature subsequently extended the deadlines for Article 7-B compliance and for obtaining a certificate of occupancy beyond the extension sought by the owner in its application. Matter of C. True Building Corp., OATH Index No. 1926/01 (Nov. 29, 2001), modified, Exec. Dir. Decision (Jan. 28, 2002).

Loft Board Executive Director finds there was a five week period during which the owner was not brought back in compliance by operation of law; she grants the application with respect to that five week period (Sept. 15, 2001 to Oct. 29, 2001).

¶ 85. As owner sought extension of the deadline to obtain a certificate of occupancy beyond time the legislature provided by operation of law when Loft Law was amended, Loft Board finds owner's application was not moot with respect to that additional period. Owner's letter recounting financial problems following the death of his father, absent documentary support, did not meet requirements for obtaining an extension. Matter of 35 West 26th Street, OATH Index No. 359/02 (Nov. 20, 2001), aff'd in part, rejected in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2703 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 86. Extension application granted where court appointed Administrator recently took over a troubled building requiring significant repair, most notably the installation of a central boiler and hot water system, and where the tenants disputed his selection of the particular system. Matter of Manning, OATH Index No. 1678/01 (Oct. 17, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2691 (Nov. 29, 2001)

¶ 87. Pursuant to subsection (b)(2) of this rule, the existence of conditions or circumstances beyond the owner's control must be demonstrated in the application by the existence of corroborating evidence. IMD owner's one sentence statement in the applications, that several tenants asked to do the interior work themselves but have not completed it, does not demonstrate the existence of conditions or circumstances beyond the owner's control. Nor do photocopies of work permit renewals for the various addresses at issue constitute corroborating evidence of the existence of conditions or circumstances beyond the owner's control, where original permits had been filed nine years before and owner offered no explanation for the delay. Matters of 26-32 and 36-40 Tiffany Place, OATH Index Nos. 1923-24/01 (Aug. 7, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2673-74 (Oct. 10, 2001).

¶ 88. Extension request denied where the owner claimed that the legalization process was slowed by its recent discovery of existing violations approximately eight months after it purchased the building. ALJ found that this circumstance showed a lack of diligence, not a circumstance beyond the owner's control. Matter of Mandala LLC, OATH Index No. 360/02 (Oct. 12, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2690 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 89. Owner failed to prove its assertion that it complied with Loft Board regulation requiring the filing of a declaration of intent form with the Loft Board before converting IMD unit to commercial use. Therefore, pending litigation over current occupant's residential use of the unit was not a matter beyond owner's control that prevented it from meeting compliance deadlines. Matter of Mandala LLC, OATH Index No. 360/02 (Oct. 12, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2690 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 90. Administrative law judge determined that the owners were not entitled to an extension of any kind, since they could make no showing that their failure to meet the deadlines was beyond their control. Furthermore, the owners could not evade responsibility for their inaction by delegating their code compliance obligations to a net lessee in January 2001, at a time when they had failed to take any substantial compliance actions for nine years. Matter of Blue 123 Corp., OATH Index No. 358/02 (Nov. 23, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2702 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 91. Access application served simultaneously with access notice was found to be defective on its face because no proof of prior service of access notice and denial of access by tenant was supplied, as required by subsection (g) of this section. Matter of J.L. Management (SDL Realty), OATH Index No. 2326/01 (Aug. 14, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2671 (Oct. 10, 2001).

¶ 92. Administrative law judge recommended maximum fine in default tenant-initiated non-compliance proceeding where judge found that no alteration permit had been obtained and owner had prior non-compliance finding. Matter of Blakeley, OATH Index No. 445/03 (Dec. 13, 2002)

¶ 93. Noncompliance application filed in 1997 was granted as owner did not obtain an alteration permit by the deadline then in effect. Owner's argument that 1998 and 2001 agreements with the tenants had operated as extensions of time for the owner to obtain a permit, beyond the initial October 1997 deadline, were unpersuasive. The agreements operated as such only upon the condition that the owner clear all objections and obtain an alteration permit, which the owner failed to do, even as of the time of trial in January 2002. Matter of Buchen,, OATH Index Nos. 1132/98 & 105/99 (Mar. 21, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2725 (Apr. 18, 2002).

¶ 94. An applicant for an extension is required to demonstrate: (1) the owner's good faith efforts to achieve compliance with the statutory deadline and (2) circumstances beyond the owner's control that prevented compliance. Petitioner failed to note any efforts to achieve compliance with building permit deadline and failed to demonstrate circumstances beyond its control. Matter of D&A 28th Street Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 440/03 (Nov. 20, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2771 (Jan. 9, 2003).

¶ 95. Petitioner sought retroactive 27-month extension of the deadline for obtaining a building permit. Extension application denied for failure to satisfy the standards set forth in subsection (b) of this section. Petitioner claimed that the Loft Board's two-year delay in issuing the certification of the plans precluded its compliance with the deadline. Board found that owner took no steps to inquire as to the status of the certification during this period. Passive pursuit of application does not demonstrate good faith compliance with legalization mandate of Loft Law. Matter of Estate of Goldman, OATH Index No. 1080/02 (Mar. 6, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2724 (Apr. 18, 2002).

¶ 96. Owner's extension application filed in 1998 is denied where the owner failed to testify or otherwise produce any documentary evidence indicating that he made diligent efforts to obtain the building permit prior to the October 1997 deadline, but was prevented from so doing by matters beyond his control. Counsel's representations at trial were argument, not evidence, and in any event did not address the owner's code compliance efforts prior to the deadline. Matter of Buchen, OATH Index Nos. 1132/98 & 105/99 (Mar. 21, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2725 (Apr. 18, 2002).

¶ 97. Extension application denied where owner submitted cursory application without showing circumstances beyond owner's control. Matter of 125 Rivington Street Associates, OATH Index No. 602/02 (Jan. 18, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2715 (Mar. 14, 2002).

¶ 98. Extension application denied despite recent efforts to meet compliance where the owner failed to explain two years of inactivity. Matter of Millner, OATH Index No. 795/02 (Feb. 19, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2716 (Mar. 14, 2002), reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2740 (June 25, 2002).

¶ 99. Under subparagraph (b)(2) of this section, petitioner must establish that it pursued legalization deadlines with reasonable diligence and that it has been unable to comply due to circumstances beyond its control. Landlord was unable to meet deadlines due to a pending unreasonable interference application before this tribunal. Extension granted in part for 18-month period. Matter of 40 Lispenard Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1713/02 (June 10, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2742 (June 25, 2002).

¶ 100. Pursuant to subsection (d)(2)(iv)(A) of this section, an occupant has 45 days from the date of the narrative statement conference to file alternate plans with the Department of Buildings. Subsection (d)(2)(iv)(B) permits consideration of alternate plans filed after the 45-day deadline if the Loft Board determines there was good cause for the failure to meet the deadline. Administrative law judge denied tenant's application to consider an approved "pre-reconsideration" plan that was submitted on eve of second day of hearing, well after the 45-day deadline had run. Administrative law judge did not find good cause existed for the late submission as applicant had opportunity to address owner's narrative statement and legalization plan two years ago and, indeed, did do so in timely filed alternate plans. Matter of Beaumont, OATH Index No. 2104/01, mem. dec. (Aug. 27, 2002).

¶ 101. Where the Loft Board finds that the owner is guilty of violations of the "unreasonable interference" regulations, it can issue a fine, even without filing a separate proceeding charging harassment. Pelli v. City of New York, 5 A.D.3d 268, 774 N.Y.S.2d 492 (1st Dept. 2004).

¶ 102. 29 RCNY 2-01(m)(3)(ii) provides in substance that where a loft building owner has received Rent Guidelines Board (RGB) increases during the legalization process, the term of the initial rent stabilized lease ends upon the expiration of the last RGB increase period. The regulation further provides that no notice or proceeding by the owner to recover the unit under Rent Stabilization Code §2524.4 (owner occupancy, in this case) may be commenced during the initial abbreviated lease term. In this case, the tenant's first lease began with an order of the Loft Board setting the initial legal regulated rent and expired only five months later. The court was faced with the following question: can the landlord acquire a unit under the owner occupancy rules as soon as the abbreviated lease has expired, or does he or she have to wait until the end of the next full lease term? The court held that the intent of the law was to give the tenant the benefit of at least one full lease term, and that owner occupancy proceedings could not be brought until the end of the first full-length lease. Damasco v. Berger, 5 A.D.3d 176, 772 N.Y.S.2d 518 (1st Dept. 2004).

¶ 103. Administrative law judge excused applicant's late submission of alternative plans under the good cause exception of subsection (d)(2)(iv) of this section where its submission was disrupted by the events of September 11, 2001. Matter of Vander Heyden, OATH Index No. 438/03 (Apr. 22, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2799 (May 15, 2003).

¶ 104. Petitioner sought extension of time to obtain alteration permit pursuant to the Multiple Dwelling Law and Loft Board rules. Petitioner landlord demonstrated that it pursued legalization with reasonable diligence and that it has been unable to comply due to circumstances beyond its control. Landlord was unable to obtain permit pending resolution of unreasonable interference claim by second-floor tenant. A twelve-month extension was granted to the landlord. Matter of Lispenard Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1352/03 (Mar. 31, 2003), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2800 (May 15, 2003).

¶ 105. An owner applied for an extension of more than one year to legalize the premises. The owner claimed that the tenants impeded legalization by failing to comply with a stipulation that gave the tenants an opportunity to review and submit modifications to the owner's plans. The administrative law judge found that the owner failed to show good faith efforts to complete legalization or circumstances beyond its control. The owner did not show that it did anything to further legalization during the four-year period between tenants' failure to act and the time of the application or that disputes with tenants obstructed the legalization process. Matter of 13 East 17th Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1099/03 (Mar. 10, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2790 (Apr. 4, 2003).

¶ 106. A new interim multiple dwelling owner filed an extension application of the March 1, 2000 building permit deadline until September 30, 2003. In its application, the owner alleged that it was unable to obtain copies of the plans filed by the prior owner's architect after inquiring at the Loft Board, the Department of Buildings, and with the prior owner and prior owner's architect. The administrative law judge recommended denial of the application because the current owner failed to show the prior owner's good faith efforts to achieve compliance or circumstances impeding the prior owner's compliance. For the new building owner's three-month period of ownership, the judge similarly recommended denying the application because the owner failed to show the statutory requirements for an extension. Matter of 145 Reade, LLC, OATH Index No. 1588/03 (Nov. 25, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2839 (Jan. 15, 2003).

¶ 107. The tenants of a second floor loft filed an application alleging that the building owner's plan to install a passenger elevator through their kitchen constituted short term and long term unreasonable interference with the use of their unit. Considering that installation of the elevator was not required for legalization, that construction of the elevator would require significant reconstruction of the unit, and that construction would cause considerable short term disruption, the owner's plan was found to be unreasonable. Matter of Slotkin, OATH Index No. 741/03 (Nov. 24, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2853 (Mar. 18, 2004).

¶ 108. A tenant filed an unreasonable interference application alleging that the owner's proposed building wide sprinkler system, the installation of a bathroom vent duct on her ceiling, and the installation of a basewall heating and hot water system in her unit would unreasonably interfere with her use and occupancy of the space. The administrative law judge found that the proposed sprinkler system and installations would not unreasonably interfere with the tenant's use and occupancy because the owner's plan was a rational and reasonable one that provided for building wide safety. In addition, the installations would have negligible or no effect on the tenant's use of her unit. Matter of Beaumont, OATH Index No. 2104/01 (Jan. 30, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2785 (Mar. 7, 2003).

¶ 109. Administrative law judge held that resolution of unreasonable interference application under section 2-01(h) where owner and tenant submitted competing plans with respect to disputed legalization items does not depend on a determination of which plan is more appealing; the owner's plan prevails unless the tenant can show the owner's plan is unreasonable. Loft Bd. v. 24-26 Harrison Street, New York, NY, OATH Index No. 1089/03 (June 23, 2003), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2816 (July 24, 2003).

¶ 110. Administrative law judge held that the Rent Guidelines Board increases under subsection (i)(1)(i) of this section do not commence when owner obtains a certificate of occupancy, but only when the owner makes a demand on the tenant and notice of that demand is served on the Loft Board. Matter of Trengove, OATH Index No. 439/03 (Feb. 25, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2789 (Apr. 4, 2003).

¶ 111. Administrative law judge recommended granting building owner's application for access to loft tenants' unit and for costs incurred as a result of tenants' denial to be calculated into tenants' final rent where the tenants' refusal of access was unreasonable. Matter of Pelli, OATH Index No. 546/05 (Oct. 18, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2892 (Jan. 20, 2005), reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2899 (Feb. 24, 2005).

¶ 112. Administrative law judge recommended grant of access application where building owner established that occupant of loft was properly notified of proposed inspection dates and failed to provide access on a specified date. Matter of Benaresh, OATH Index No. 1209/04 (Mar. 22, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2856 (Apr. 27, 2004).

¶ 113. Administrative law judge recommends denial of building owner's access application and fine of $150 for failure to properly serve the tenant with the access notice and access application. Matter of Plot Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 1285/03 (Oct. 6, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2920 (Apr. 21, 2005).

¶ 114. Administrative law judge held that the owner's failure to specify that windows were double-glazed in the access application did not entitle tenants to refuse access where the access notice need only specify the "scope of all work to be performed" (29 RCNY §2-01(g)(1)). Matter of Pelli, OATH Index No. 546/05 (Oct. 18, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2892 (Jan. 20, 2005), reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2899 (Feb. 24, 2005).

¶ 115. Loft Board access rule 2-01(g)(1) permit parties or their representatives to enter agreements on access. Matter of Les Pieds Nickles, Inc., OATH Index No. 1938/04 (July 22, 2004), aff'd in part, rejected in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2874 (Sept. 23, 2004).

¶ 116. The cost of construction of a bulkhead and staircase is attributable solely to the residential tenants. Matter of Moskowitz, OATH Index No. 1841/04 (June 10, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2873 (July 22, 2004).

¶ 117. Alternate plans application pursuant to section 2-01(d)(2)(vii)(B) dismissed where owner withdrew proposed amended plans. Matter of Connors, OATH Index No. 2001/04 (July 26, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2875 (Sept. 23, 2004).

¶ 118. Loft Board rejects ALJs statement that the notice provisions of subsections (g)(1) and (2) of this section do not apply to non-legalization work such as repairs, maintenance work or inspections. Matter of Bryne, OATH Index No. 2003/04 (Jan. 14, 2005), adopting on different grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2999 (Jan. 19, 2006), resp.'s app. for reconsideration den., Loft Bd. Order No. 3050 (May 18, 2006), pet.'s app. for reconsideration den., Loft Bd. Order No. 3080 (July 20, 2006).

¶ 119. Subsection (g)(3)(i)(V) of this section gives the Loft Board authority to fine an owner for filing a frivolous access application. One thousand dollar fine was imposed on the owner where the board found the application appeared to have been motivated more by vindictiveness than a sincere concern about the legality of the wiring. Matter of Pelli, Loft Bd. Order No. 3014 (Feb. 16, 2006), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index No. 688/06 (Jan. 19, 2006).

¶ 120. Access notice must be specific enough to inform tenants which areas of their apartments will be affected and to provide tenants some idea of the degree to which the work will interfere with the use of their unit. Loft Board rejected ALJ's use of the narrative statement as a way to provide sufficient description of the scope of the work to be performed, where access notice was deficient. Matter of 20 Beaver St, LLC, Loft Bd. Order No. 3086 (July 20, 2006), rejecting, OATH Index No. 1732/06 (May 23, 2006).

¶ 121. Mere technical violations of the notice provisions of the Loft Board's access rule does not, without more, make out a claim of unreasonable interference; to establish unreasonable interference under subsection h of this section, a tenant must show that those violations interfered with the tenants use of his or her unit. Matter of Bryne, Loft Bd. Order No. 2999 (Jan. 19, 2006), Resp.'s app. for reconsideration den., Loft Bd. Order No. 3050 (May 18, 2006), pet.'s app. for reconsideration den., Loft Bd. Order No. 3080 (July 20, 2006).

¶ 122. Evidence of insufficient funds will not excuse noncompliance, but under subsection (c)(3) of this section, insufficient funds may be considered in mitigation of fines imposed upon a finding of noncompliance. Owner did not provide the required substantiating documentation for its defense of lack of funds, and maximum fines were imposed for missing multiple deadlines. Matter of Thornley, OATH Index No. 2180/07 (Sept. 28, 2007).

¶ 123. The duty to comply with code compliance deadlines is nondelegable. Claim that noncompliance was due to unsound advice from building managers was rejected. Matter of Thornley, OATH Index No. 2180/07 (Sept. 28, 2007).

¶ 124. A warranty of habitability claim under 2-01(d) of this section may be brought in conjunction with a properly pleaded application for unreasonable interference under 2-01(h), harassment under 2-02(c), or diminution of services under 2-04(c), but a tenant cannot file an independent application before the Loft Board under subsection (d) of this section solely for a breach of warranty of habitability. Matter of Ashley, Loft Bd. Order No. 3350 (Oct. 18, 2007), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index No. 1061/06 (Apr. 16, 2007).

¶ 125. Under subsection (h) of this section, an unreasonable interference application must contest conditions arising from the completion of legalization work by the owner. Loft Board dismisses an unreasonable interference application based upon fumes caused by spray painting business conducted by commercial tenant (auto body shop) because the condition was not connected to legalization work. Matter of 517-525 West 45th Street Tenants' Ass'n, OATH Index No. 1061/06 (Apr. 16, 2007), adopted in part, rejected in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 3350 (Oct. 18, 2007).

¶ 126. Pursuant to section 2-01(i)(1)(iv), a tenant has 45 days to elect two-year lease. After a hearing, it was determined that the tenant failed to file the election form until 18 days after the deadline. The tenant failed to establish either good cause for her late filing or that the delay in filing was so minimal as to be excused under the maxim de minimus non curat lex. Matter of Green333 Corp., OATH Index No. 1206/07 (May 31, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3333 (Sept. 7, 2007).

¶ 127. Loft Board rejects ALJ's rationale that owner should be fined the maximum, $1000 per violation, because the owner failed to comply with all four areas of the legalization timetable. The Board held such finding was not relevant or necessary in order to justify the imposition of maximum fines, but adopted the finding that the owner violated 14 deadlines and should be fined $14,000. Loft Bd. v. Korean Assoc. of New York, Inc., OATH Index No. 1194/08, mem. dec. (Feb. 8, 2008), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3416 (Mar. 20, 2008).

¶ 128. An IMD owner may be held responsible for missed deadlines of previous owners, inasmuch as an owner who purchases an IMD after code compliance deadlines have expired is presumed to be on notice of those deadlines. Matter of Schwartz, OATH Index No. 966/08 (Feb. 15, 2008), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3430 (Apr. 17, 2008).

¶ 129. Owner should not be assessed fines where he was not placed on notice by the pleadings or other communications from the tenants that a fine was sought. Matter of Schwartz, OATH Index No. 966/08 (Feb. 15, 2008), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3430 (Apr. 17, 2008).

¶ 130. Under subsection (c), residential occupants have standing to file a non-compliance application seeking to impose fines against an owner. The ALJ rejected the owner's "creative and technical" contention that the use of the articles "the" and "an" in the rule indicates that only the Loft Board may commence a proceeding that leads to fines. The ALJ held that it is the Loft Board that makes the determination whether "the" owner should be fined, whether the matter was commenced by a tenant or by the Board itself. Matter of Frankel, OATH Index No. 1556/08, mem. dec. (May 23, 2008).

¶ 131. Subsection (h) of this provision pertains solely to claims of unreasonable interference arising from performance of actual legalization work subsequent to the issuance of a work permit and does not pertain to issues arising from an amendment to the legalization plan. Loft Board rejects claim that owner violated subsection (h) because the amended plan allegedly includes work beyond that authorized by the permit, where the proof showed the legalization work would not unreasonably interfere with the tenants' use of their unit or unreasonably compromise their safety. Matter of Connors & Byrne, OATH Index No. 1429/07 (May 4, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3394 (Jan. 18, 2008), applicationfor reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 3434 (May 15, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-02 Harassment.

(a) Applicability. These harassment regulations shall apply to all future complaints of harassment filed with the Loft Board after the effective date of these regulations (April 20, 1987). Pending cases in which the Loft Board has not yet rendered a final determination as of the effective date of these regulations (April 20, 1987) shall be subject to all sections of these regulations except §§2-02(c)(i) through 2-02(c)(6)(i); the processing of these pending cases shall be in accordance with the Board's Regulations for Internal Board Procedures-§§l-06(a) to (j). All orders of harassment issued prior to the effective date of these regulations (April 20, 1987) shall be noted in Loft Board records and in the office of the City Register in accordance with the provisions of §2-02(d)(l)(iii) of these regulations. Landlords affected by previous orders may apply to the Loft Board in accordance with §2-02(d)(2) for an order terminating the finding of harassment no sooner than one year and 180 days from the effective date of these regulations.

(b) Definitions.

Harassment. The term "harassment"*2 shall mean any course of conduct engaged in by the landlord or any other person acting on its behalf that interferes with or disturbs the comfort, repose, peace or quiet of an occupant in the occupant's use or occupancy of its unit if such conduct is intended to cause the occupant to vacate the building or unit, or to surrender or waive any rights of such occupant under the occupant's written lease or other rental agreement or pursuant to Article 7-C.

Harassment shall include, but is not limited to, the intentional interruption or discontinuance of or willful failure to provide or to restore services customarily provided in the building or required by written lease or other rental agreement or, for residential occupants qualified for the protections of Article 7-C, by the Loft Board regulations regarding minimum housing maintenance standards. Harassment shall not include either the lawful termination of a tenancy or lawful refusal to renew or extend a written lease or other rental agreement, or acts performed in good faith and in a reasonable manner for the purposes of operating, maintaining or repairing any building or part thereof.

Landlord. The term "landlord" shall mean the owner of an IMD, the lessee of a whole building all or part of which is an IMD, or the agent or other person having control of such a building.

Occupant. The term "occupant", unless otherwise provided, shall mean a residential occupant qualified for the protections of Article 7-C, any other residential tenant, or a nonresidential tenant.

(c) Procedures for considering harassment applications. (1) It is unlawful for a landlord or any other person acting on its behalf to engage in conduct constituting harassment against any occupant of an IMD. A complaint of harassment may be filed with the Loft Board by an occupant or occupants of an interim multiple dwelling. The complaint shall be filed on a form prescribed by the Loft Board and shall be processed in accordance with the Board's Regulations for Internal Board Procedures-§§1-06(a) to (j), except as provided herein.

(2) (i) The complaint shall allege in separately numbered paragraphs each type of conduct claimed to constitute harassment of occupants of the IMD by the landlord. Each paragraph shall contain a complete description of the conduct complained of, including the actual or approximate date(s) on which such conduct occurred, the manner and location of each occurrence, and if the complaint is filed on behalf of more than one occupant, the occupant(s) against whom the occurrence was directed. Except for a complaint alleging conduct that has occurred prior to the effective date of these regulations (April 20, 1987), the complaint shall be filed within 180 days of the conduct complained of; where an ongoing course of conduct is alleged, the complaint shall be filed within 180 days of the last occurrence alleged. A complaint alleging conduct that has occurred prior to the effective date of these regulations (April 20, 1987) shall be filed within 180 days of the effective date of these regulations.

(ii) If a complaint fails to set forth a claim of harassment as defined in §2-02(b) "Harassment", the Loft Board shall notify the complainant(s) in writing of the deficiency and of the opportunity to file an amended complaint with the Loft Board within 15 days after the date of notification. Following such period if the complaint does not allege conduct constituting harassment, it shall not be processed further. If appropriate, it shall be deemed a complaint of failure to provide service and shall be processed pursuant to the Loft Board's rules and regulations relating to enforcement of minimum housing maintenance standards. Staff's decision not to process a harassment complaint may be reviewed by the Loft Board upon application by a complainant.

(iii) Once the Loft Board staff has decided to accept a harassment complaint for further processing as described in §2-02(c)(2)(ii), a complainant found by the Loft Board to have filed such a complaint in bad faith or in wanton disregard of the truth may be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each such violation.

(3) The staff of the Loft Board shall serve all affected parties, including the owner, with a copy of the complaint by regular mail, retaining records attesting to such service. However, where a complaint of harassment solely alleges that the owner's challenge of a sale of improvements is frivolous, the Loft Board staff shall serve only the owner. Instructions for filing an answer and a notice scheduling a conference on the complaint shall be enclosed in each mailing. Where the landlord against whom a complaint of harassment has been filed is not the owner of the IMD, the mailing to the owner shall advise the owner that a finding of harassment may affect the owner's ability to decontrol or to obtain market rentals for covered IMD units pursuant to §286(6) of Article 7-C and the Loft Board's regulations.

(4) Parties shall have 15 days after the date on which service of the complaint was completed to file an answer with the Board. Twelve copies of the answer with proof of service of the answer on the complainant(s) must be filed at the offices of the Loft Board.

(5) (i) The notice of conference will schedule a date and time for an informal conference as soon as possible following the time period for filing an answer.

(ii) Such conferences shall be conducted by the staff with the affected parties in an effort to resolve and alleviate the conditions and events alleged. Where resolution to the mutual satisfaction of the parties is achieved, a stipulation containing the terms of the resolution and the penalties, if any, for its breach shall be executed and shall be filed with the Loft Board for its approval on a summary calendar.

(6) Where charges of harassment remain unresolved following the conference, a hearing on the complaint will be held in accordance with the procedures of §§l-06(e)and (f) of the regulations for internal Board Procedures and the following:

(i) the hearing will be limited to the charges contained on the original complaint, as modified at the conference, and any additional charges of harassment arising as a result of conduct occurring after the conference.

(ii) acts performed by an occupant in good faith and in a reasonable manner for the purposes of operating a nonresidential conforming use shall be presumed not to constitute harassment. The presumption may be rebutted by a showing that such acts were performed on the landlord's behalf and intended by the landlord to cause another occupant to vacate the building or its unit or to surrender or waive any rights of such occupant under the occupant's written lease or other rental agreement or pursuant to Article 7-C.

(iii) a finding by the Loft Board that the owner has willfully violated the code compliance timetable or has violated the code compliance timetable more than once may be considered as evidence of harassment. (See regulations on Code Compliance-§2-01(c)(3)).

(iv) the issuance of a municipal vacate order for hazardous conditions as a consequence of the owner's unlawful failure to comply with the code compliance timetable shall result in a rebuttable presumption of harassment. (See regulations on Code Compliance-§2-01(c)(4)).

(v) a finding by the Loft Board of unreasonable and willful interference with an occupant's use of its unit by the owner or its agents may be considered as evidence of harassment. (See Regulations on Code Compliance-§2-01(h)).

(vi) a finding by the Loft Board of a willful violation of Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards may be considered as evidence of harassment of residential tenants. (See regulations on Enforcement of Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards-§2-04(e)(6)).

(vii) a finding by the Loft Board that the filing of an application by the owner objecting to the sale of improvements was frivolous may be considered as evidence of harassment of residential tenants. An objection to the sale may be found to be frivolous on grounds including, but not limited to, the following:

(A) that it was filed without a good faith intention to purchase the improvements at fair market value or

(B) that the owner's valuation of the improvements has no reasonable relationship to the fair market value, as determined by the Loft Board. (See regulations on Sales of Improvements-§2-07(g)(1)(i)). At the occupant's request the Loft Board shall issue its findings on an outstanding complaint of harassment based upon the allegation that the owner's objection to the sale of improvements is frivolous, or any other pending complaint of harassment in the building, concurrently with its determination of the owner's challenge.

(viii) a determination by a civil or criminal court of landlord harassment of an occupant or occupants may be considered as evidence of harassment.

(d) Findings of harassment. (1) (i) An owner found guilty of harassment shall not be entitled to decontrol of or market rental for any IMD unit for which a sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of Article 7-C and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto takes place in the IMD where the harassment occurred. This restriction shall apply to any sale of improvements that takes place on or after the date of the order containing the finding of harassment until such time as the order may be terminated in accordance with §2-02(d)(2).

(ii) A landlord found guilty of harassment by the Loft Board may be liable for a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each occurrence that is found to constitute harassment. Registration as an IMD shall not be issued or renewed for any building for which fines have been imposed for landlord harassment until such fines have been paid.

(iii) The order containing the finding of harassment shall be attached to and noted upon the current and all subsequent IMD registration applications on file for the IMD affected by such finding until such time as the order may be terminated in accordance with §2-02(d)(2). The order shall be binding upon all persons or parties who succeed to the landlord's interest in the premises. A copy of the Board's order containing the finding of harassment shall be mailed to the complainant, the owner, all occupants of the building, and any other parties to the proceeding. Notice of such order shall be filed by the Loft Board in the office of the City Register.

(iv) The procedure provided for herein shall be in addition to any procedures provided under other provisions of law and shall not be construed to alter, affect or amend any right, remedy or procedure under any other provisions of law, such as:

(A) an occupant may apply to the Supreme Court of the State of New York for an order enjoining the landlords from harassment pursuant to §235-d(4) of the Real Property Law and may pursue all other remedies in relation to harassment including the award of damages before a court of competent jurisdiction.

(B) upon the request of a residential occupant who either vacates, has been removed from or is otherwise prevented from occupying its unit as a result of harassment, a landlord shall take all reasonable and necessary action to restore the occupant to its unit, provided that such request is made within seven days after removal, pursuant to §26-521(b) of the Administrative Code.

(C) residential occupants of IMDs are afforded the protections available to residential tenants pursuant to the Real Property Law and the Real Property Actions and Proceedings Law, including §223-b of the RPL regarding retaliatory evictions, notwithstanding that such occupants may reside in an owner occupied IMD having fewer than 4 residential units.

(D) special proceedings pursuant to RPAPL 7-A are available to all occupants of IMDs, notwithstanding that such IMDs may contain less than three residential units.

(2) (i) Where a landlord has been found guilty of harassment by the Loft Board, the current landlord may apply to the Loft Board pursuant to the regulations for Internal Board Procedures, following the period of time specified in the order containing the finding of harassment, for an order terminating such finding. The order containing the finding of harassment shall specify the period of time, within a range of one to three years from the date of the order of harassment, during which the landlord shall be barred from applying for an order of termination. However, where a landlord has been convicted of a crime for conduct found by the Loft Board to constitute harassment, the current landlord may apply for an order of termination only after at least five years have passed since the date of the order of harassment. The Loft Board may grant such relief if it finds that:

(A) since notification of the order the landlord has not engaged in the proscribed conduct and has not engaged in any other conduct which constitutes harassment; and

(B) the landlord has achieved compliance with the fire and safety standards of Article 7-B, alternative building codes or provisions of the M.D.L., as provided in §2-01(a)(3) of the Code Compliance Regulations and as may be exhibited by the issuance of a temporary certificate of occupancy, or, if Article 7-B compliance was achieved prior to the date of the order of harassment, has obtained a final certificate of occupancy as a class A multiple dwelling; and

(C) the landlord has paid all civil penalties assessed in the order of harassment, and there are no other orders of harassment outstanding for the IMD; and

(D) the landlord is in compliance with the regulations relating to registration of IMDs.

(ii) An order terminating a prior Loft Board finding of harassment shall apply prospectively only, and the owner shall not be entitled to the decontrol of or market rental for any residential unit for which a sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of Article 7-C and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto has taken place in the period from the date of the order finding harassment to the date of the order terminating such finding.

(iii) If the Loft Board at a regularly scheduled meeting or at a special session called in accordance with §l-03(a) of the regulations for Internal Board Procedures has reasonable cause to believe that harassment is occurring or has occurred at the IMD after the date of an order terminating a prior finding of harassment, the Loft Board shall suspend such order of termination immediately. Notice of such suspension shall be mailed to the landlord and to all occupants. Upon the landlord's written request, the Loft Board shall schedule a hearing as soon as reasonably possible but not later than thirty days after the date of receipt of such request to determine whether the order of termination should be reinstated or revoked.

(iv) The order of termination or of suspension, reinstatement or revocation of termination shall be included among the IMD registration material on file, and notice of termination or of suspension, reinstatement or revocation of termination shall be filed by the Loft Board in the office of the City Register.

(e) Harassment by prime lessees. (1) "Prime lessee." For the purposes of these harassment regulations the term "prime lessee" shall mean the party with whom the landlord entered into a lease or rental agreement for use and occupancy of a portion of an IMD, which is being used residentially, where s/he is not the residential occupant qualified for protection of the unit, regardless of whether such lessee is currently in occupancy of any portion of the space s/he has leased from the landlord or whether such lease remains in effect.

(2) It is unlawful for a prime lessee or any other person acting on his or her behalf to engage in conduct that would constitute harassment if engaged in by the landlord as defined in §2-02(b) "Harassment" against any of its current or former subtenants who are residential occupants qualified for the protections of Article 7-C. A complaint of harassment may be filed with the Loft Board by a residential occupant qualified for the protections of Article 7-C against its prime lessee. The complaint shall be processed in accordance with the procedures described in §2-02(c).

(3) (i) A prime lessee found guilty of harassment by the Loft Board may be liable for a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each occurrence that is found to constitute harassment.

(ii) A prime lessee found guilty of harassment by the Loft Board shall not be entitled to recover subdivided space pursuant to §2-09(c)(5)(i) and §2-09(c)(5)(iii) of the rules and regulations Relating to Subletting and Similar Matters and shall not be entitled to the rent adjustment provided for in §2-09(c)(6)(ii)(D)(b) of those regulations.

(4) (i) A prime lessee found guilty of harassment by the Loft Board may apply to the Loft Board pursuant to the Regulations for Internal Board Procedures, following the period of time specified in the order containing the finding of harassment, for an order terminating such finding. The order containing the finding of harassment shall specify the period of time, within a range of one to three years from the date of the order of harassment, during which the prime lessee shall be barred from applying for an order of termination. However, where a prime lessee has been convicted of a crime for conduct found by the Loft Board to constitute harassment, the prime lessee may apply for an order of termination only after at least five years have passed since the date of the order of harassment. The Loft Board may grant such relief if it finds that:

(A) since notification of the order the prime lessee has not engaged in the proscribed conduct and has not engaged in any other conduct which constitutes harassment; and

(B) the prime lessee has paid all civil penalties assessed in the order of harassment, and there are no other orders of harassment outstanding for the prime lessee.

(ii) An order terminating a prior Loft Board finding of harassment by a prime lessee shall apply prospectively only.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Section in original publication July 1, 1991.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. An ongoing course of conduct pursuant to subparagraph (c)(2)(i) of this section is not a series of disparate, unrelated acts, separate in time and tied together only by an allegation of a continuing intent to harass, but is a course of conduct that is continuous and actually in process at a time within the 180-day limitation period. Matter of Gala, OATH Index No. 582/97 (Dec. 9, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2054 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 2. An allegation that a building owner leased a floor to an illegal after-hours establishment, the business of which disturbed the residential tenants, ending less than 180 days before the harassment application was filed, was not barred by the 180-day limitation period pursuant to subparagraph (c)(2)(i) of this section. Matter of Gala, OATH Index No. 582/97 (Dec. 9, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2054 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 3. The claim that the building owner deliberately damaged a tenant's loft unit by flooding the unit above the tenant's unit, although improbable, stated a triable claim of harassment pursuant to this section. Matter of Gala, OATH Index No. 582/97 (Dec. 9, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2054 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 4. A claim that a tenant was without heat on more than 20 days from January to April stated a sufficient claim of harassment at the pleading stage. Matter of Gala, OATH Index No. 582/97 (Dec. 9, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2054 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 5. Although allegations may be time-barred as harassment claims pursuant to the 180-day limitation period of subparagraph (c)(2)(i) of this section, the admissibility of evidence of such time-barred allegations to show motive, intent or any other material fact pertaining to harassment claims that are not time-barred is a matter committed to the discretion of the trial judge. Matter of Gala, OATH Index No. 582/97 (Dec. 9, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2054 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 6. An owner's withholding over an eight-month period of required tenant services-including heat, water pressure, elevator service, electricity, extermination services, cleaning of common areas and building security-combined with other conduct by the owner evidencing an intent to force the two remaining rent-regulated tenants in the building to vacate or give up their rights, constituted harassment pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. Matter of Kalmanowicz, OATH Index No. 1333/97 (Aug. 25, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2162 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 7. For harassment consisting of various denials of required building services and other conduct evidencing an intent to force tenants to vacate or give up their rights, the penalty imposed pursuant to paragraph (d) was a civil penalty of $7,000, and an order barring the owner from applying for termination of the harassment finding for three years. Matter of Kalmanowicz, OATH Index No. 1333/97 (Aug. 25, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2162 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 8. A general release given by a tenant to a building owner as part of a settlement of a Civil Court case precluded the adjudication of harassment claims that had accrued on or before the date of the release. To the extent that the tenant might have a claim for harassment based on events that occurred after the date of the release, he is not precluded from filing an application asserting such a claim. Matter of Ashbaugh, OATH Index No. 1979/96 (July 25, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2008 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 9. Because the tenant was evicted by order of the housing court, following the tenant's sale of improvements and Loft Law rights in the course of a federal bankruptcy case, the tenant's occupancy was legally terminated and therefore he could not maintain a harassment application pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. Matter of Jones, OATH Index No. 133/97 (Sept. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2038 (Nov. 21, 1997).

¶ 10. Where a landlord's application for termination of a previous finding of harassment pleaded all of the elements required for such termination pursuant to subparagraph (d)(2)(i) of this section, and the answering tenants agreed with the matters pleaded in the application and supported termination of the harassment finding, the application was granted without an evidentiary hearing. Matter of 17-19 Bleecker Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1462/97 (May 2, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2118 (June 26, 1997).

¶ 11. Where the Loft Board has found the landlord to have engaged in harassment, the court must defer to that determination. However, if the Loft Board has ruled on the issue of harassment, the court has jurisdiction to determine whether or not harassment has occurred. If a finding of harassment has been made either by the court or the Loft Board, then a sale of loft fixtures will not result in decontrol of the unit. However, if the sale of fixtures occurred before any finding of harassment was made, the unit will be decontrolled. Suraci v. Mucktar, N.Y.L.J., July 19, 2000, page 24, col. 1 (Civ.Ct. New York Co.).

¶ 12. Tenant failed to meet her burden of establishing intentional harassment where the sole evidence presented were tenant's uncorroborated statements of service disruptions and the owner provided substantial documentation to support his assertions that legally mandated services had been provided. Matter of Wilson, OATH Index No. 1573/97 (Mar. 20, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2280 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 13. Fine of $1,000 imposed pursuant to subparagraph (c)(2)(iii) of this section where tenant's harassment application was baseless and filed in bad faith, and where tenant made false representations in order to delay the adjudicative process and to avoid providing evidence in support of the charges. Matter of Wilson, OATH Index No. 1573/97 (Mar. 20, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2280 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 14. Petitioners failed to establish that the landlord possessed the requisite intent to deprive them of protected occupancy rights, an essential element of harassment. Although petitioners established that: 1) a commercial tenant caused substantial noise at unreasonably late hours of the night; 2) that this condition constituted a breach of the warranty of habitability; and 3) that respondent-landlord failed to take effective remedial action even though fully informed of the noise condition, landlord's buy out offer, without more, was insufficient to support inference that landlord neglected the noise condition in order to induce petitioners to waive protected occupancy rights. Matter of Latin, OATH Index No. 1110/00 (June 19, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2555 (July 20, 2000).

¶ 15. Administrative law judge found (1) tenant's sporadic heat complaints more than 180 days apart were not continuous and therefore time-barred; and (2) the complaint failed to meet the particularity requirement of the regulation (29 RCNY § 2-02(c)(2)(i)) because it failed to allege actual or approximate dates when inadequate heat was provided. Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 16. Administrative law judge inferred owner's intent to harass from owner's persistent refusal to comply with orders to restore elevator service by the Loft Board and a Housing Court judge. Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 17. Loft Board denied harassment application where respondent attempted to gain access to petitioner's unit to make a window repair without conferring with tenant. Harassment does not include acts performed in good faith and in a reasonable manner for the purpose of repairing the building (29 RCNY § 2-02(b)). Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd.

Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 18. Harassment claim based on hiring of security guard and adoption of guest sign-in policy denied. Administrative law judge found implementation of security procedures reasonable given landlord's duty to provide appropriate controls on public access to residential portions of the building (29 RCNY § 2-04(b)(8)). Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 19. Loft Board rejected administrative law judge's recommendation of $1,000 fine for bad faith filing based on a finding that twelve charges of direct acts of harassment were made without regard for the truth. Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 20. Loft Board imposes maximum $1,000 fine against owner for its ongoing, persistent denial of elevator service in defiance of an order of the New York City Civil Court, Housing Part (29 RCNY § 2-02(d)(1)(ii)). Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 21. Application to vacate a Loft Board order finding harassment of an outgoing tenant by a former landlord granted where application conformed to all requirements of subsection (d)(2) of this section which governs termination of prior finding of harassment, i.e., current landlord has not engaged in proscribed conduct; current landlord has received certificate of occupancy; there are no other orders of harassment outstanding for the IMD; and, the landlord is in compliance with current IMD registration requirements. Matter of 31 Washington Brooklyn Corp., OATH Index No. 2106/01 (Aug. 1, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd Order No. 2672 (Oct. 10, 2001).

¶ 22. ¶ 22. Administrative law judge grants owner's pre-trial motion to dismiss various allegations of harassment as time barred when the complaint was filed more than 180 days after the alleged conduct. Matter of Neal, OATH Index No. 352/02, mem. dec. (July 31, 2002).

¶ 23. In a pre-trial motion to dismiss harassment counts for failure to plead prima facie case, statements allegedly made by owner's representative must be viewed in the light most favorable to the tenant when determining whether the allegations, if credited, would constitute harassment under Loft Board rules. Administrative law judge dismissed one charge based upon statement allegedly made by owner's representative, in the context of arranging for an inspection of petitioner's unit by owner's architect shortly after the owner had purchased the building, that petitioner's unit may have to be demolished due to structural damage, finding it to be too conditional in nature to infer that it was made with the requisite intent to cause the tenant to vacate the building or surrender his rights. Judge denied motion to dismiss another charge based upon subsequent alleged statement that owner would find a way to demolish petitioner's unit if petitioner refused to accept owner's buy out offer. Matter of Neal, OATH Index No. 352/02, mem. dec. (July 31, 2002).

¶ 24. Administrative law judge denied building owner's motion to dismiss or strike tenant's harassment application where no collateral estoppel was shown as to harassment claims raised in Supreme Court action which the court expressly refused to hear. Matter of Connors, OATH Index No. 223/04, mem. dec. (Oct. 27, 2003).

¶ 25. Administrative law judge dismissed tenant's harassment application finding that reference to the probable demolition of the building would not in and of itself rise to the level of harassment because the owner can not be deemed to have acted in bad faith in relying on an engineer's report and because the definition of harassment specifically excludes good faith acts taken by the owner to repair the building. Matter of Neal, OATH Index Nos. 352/02, 672/03 (Feb. 4, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2787 (Mar. 7, 2003).

¶ 26. Administrative law judge found that the reduction in elevator services was harassment. Administrative law judge also found harassment based on owner's menacing behavior towards the tenants on two specific dates and on owner's refusal to place the co-tenant's name on intercom despite specific requests to do so. Administrative law judge recommended a $3,000 fine be imposed for the three counts of harassment found and that the owner be barred for two years from applying for an order to terminate the harassment finding. Matter of Rebo, OATH Index Nos. 924/03 & 926/03 (Dec. 18, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2840 (Jan. 15, 2003).

¶ 27. Administrative law judge found that building owner harassed tenant by entering into tenant's apartment without notice and removing bathroom fixtures; Administrative law judge recommended that owner be fined $1,000 and barred from filing an application terminating the finding of harassment for three years. Matter of the Alkara, OATH Index No. 1101/03 (Oct. 6, 2004), aff'd in part, modified in parton other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2920 (Apr. 21, 2005).

¶ 28. Count of harassment relating to damaged windows was not time barred, although the date that the windows were damaged was outside the 180-day time frame, because the failure to repair the window was a "continuing violation". Matter of Tenants of 13 East 17th Street, Loft Bd. Order No. 3041 (Apr. 20, 2006), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index Nos. 1343/03, 354/03, 357/03 (Aug. 17, 2005).

¶ 29. Count of harassment relating to damaged windows was dismissed as not rising to the level of harassment, where nothing adduced during the hearing evidenced that the damage to the windows constituted anything other than an annoyance to the occupant whose view through the windows is impaired. Matter of Tenants of 13 East 17th Street, Loft Bd. Order No. 3034 (Apr. 20, 2006), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index Nos. 1343/03, 1354/03, 1357/03 (Aug. 17, 2005).

¶ 30. Pursuant to subsection (d)(2) of this section, a current IMD owner may file an application with the Loft Board to terminate a prior finding of harassment. Application to terminate 1991 finding of harassment granted where remaining IMD tenants withdrew objections to the application pursuant to a negotiated settlement, outstanding fines were paid, and 7-B compliance achieved. Matter of Falcon Properties Inc., OATH Index No. 444/07 (Mar. 27, 2007).

¶ 31. Application to vacate a finding of harassment, issued against former owner in 1993, is granted pursuant to subsection (d)(2)(i) of this section. There was no evidence of further harassment, the owner achieved Article 7-B compliance, paid all outstanding fines and properly registered the building. Matter of Infinite Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 1219/08 (Feb. 8, 2008), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3417 (Mar. 20, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-03 Hardship Applications.

(a) Procedures. (1) Who may file. (i) The owner of an interim multiple dwelling registered with the Loft Board may file an application for exemption of a building or portion thereof from Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law on the basis that compliance in obtaining a residential certificate of occupancy would cause hardship for any of the reasons set forth in §2-03(b) below.

(ii) A lessee of a whole building, any portion of which is an interim multiple dwelling registered with the Loft Board, may file an application for exemption from Article 7-C, provided that no application filed by a lessee shall be considered by the Loft Board unless the owner of the building consents in writing to the filing of such application.

(iii) A duly authorized agent (including the attorney) of the owner of an interim multiple dwelling registered with the Loft Board may file an application for exemption on behalf of the owner.

(2) Filing deadline. (i) Notices of application for exemption due to hardship for a building or portion thereof must be submitted to the Loft Board by no later than June 30, 1983 pursuant to §285(2) of the Multiple Dwelling Law. Such notices shall be filed by letter from the owner, lessee of the whole building or agent and shall only be accepted for buildings registered or which by June 30, 1983 had applied to register as interim multiple dwellings with the Loft Board.

(ii) The applicant must perfect his/her/its application by no later than October 31, 1983.

(iii) Notwithstanding any provisions of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of this paragraph (2) to the contrary, the owner, lessee of the whole building or agent of a registered interim multiple dwelling which is subject to coverage under Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4) shall file his application on or before April 27, 1988 pursuant to MDL §285(2).

(3) Perfecting hardship applications. (i) An application shall only be accepted for a building with a current interim multiple dwelling registration.

(ii) The application shall be in a form acceptable to the Loft Board and shall be consistent with the requirements of these regulations, the Board's regulations relating to applications to the Board (regulations for Internal Procedures-§§1-06(a) to (j), and fees §2-11. The applicant must provide all information necessary or appropriate by no later than October 31, 1983 in order for the application to be considered. An additional time period of no more than sixty days for the submission of all required documentation in support of the completed application may be requested and will be granted if good cause is shown. The applicant must indicate the basis for the application, the residential units for which exemption is being applied for, and the specific claims for exemption being made. In addition, supporting data must be provided with the application whenever necessary or appropriate to fully set forth to explain the basis for the application. Where an applicant is unable to file all necessary and appropriate information by October 31, 1983, due to the absence of legalization regulations, but has filed submissions and paid the filing fee such applicant may request additional time to provide all necessary and appropriate information within 30 days of the effective date or legalization regulations adopted by the Loft Board. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an applicant who timely filed his application on or before April 27, 1988 for a hardship exemption involving an interim multiple dwelling subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL§281(4) must provide all additional information necessary or appropriate in support of such application on or before February 21, 1993.

(iii) In processing the application, the Loft Board may demand such additional information as it deems necessary or appropriate in making a determination. Failure of the applicant to provide any such information required by the Loft Board may result in the denial of the application.

(iv) Applications for exemption shall not be considered unless the owner has also filed an alteration application with the Department of Buildings. A copy of such alteration application must accompany each hardship application including two copies of the submitted plans and such additional copies of the plans as the Board may require. The Loft Board may vote to waive the requirement that an alteration application be filed and proceed with the consideration of the application for exemption. The approval of such a waiver shall apply only to the consideration of a hardship application and shall in no way affect the owner's obligation to file an alteration application for all other purposes as required by §284 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

In deciding whether to waive the requirement that an alteration application be filed, the board will consider the following criteria:

(A) whether the information that would be contained in the alteration application is already available in other records or could be made available in an alternate form in other records or could be made available in an alternate form acceptable to the Board; and

(B) whether hardship can be proved without the information contained in the alteration application.

(v) Processing of an owner's application for exemption shall be in accordance with the rules regarding applications to the Board (Regulations for Internal Board Procedures-§§1-06(a) to (j), except as set forth below. These rules provide for the service of the application on all affected parties, opportunity to answer in writing, and the conducting of informal conferences and administrative hearings.

If a perfected application appears to the staff to be well rounded, there shall be conducted an administrative hearing following notice as provided pursuant to Internal Board Procedures at least sixty days in advance of the hearing date.

(b) Processing of applications for exemption due to hardship. (1) Basis for application. The basis for applying for an exemption due to hardship is that compliance with Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law in obtaining a legal residential certificate of occupancy would cause hardship for one of the following two reasons.

(i) Adverse impact. Compliance would cause an unreasonably adverse impact on a non-residential conforming use occupant existing on June 21, 1982 within the building, or compliance would cause an unreasonable adverse impact on a non-residential conforming use occupant existing on July 27, 1987 for a building which is subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4).

(ii) Infeasible costs. The costs of compliance would render legal residential conversion financially infeasible.

(2) Appropriate tests. (i) Adverse impact. The test for unreasonably adverse impact on a non-residential conforming use occupant existing on June 21, 1982, or on July 27, 1987 for a building subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4), shall be whether legal residential conversion would necessitate displacement of such occupant. An owner making a claim on this basis will be required to produce as part of the application, evidence to substantiate the claim. Displacement of non-residential conforming use occupants may include instances where:

(A) all or a critical portion, adversely affecting the conduct of business, of the space of an existing non-residential conforming use occupant would be lost as a result of the residential conversion;

(B) the nature of an existing non-residential conforming use would render legal residential conversion to be infeasible or illegal by causing an imminent peril to the health and safety of residential occupants;

(C) the result of the legal residential conversion would be unreasonably disruptive to the business of the non-residential conforming use; or

(D) the inability of an owner who purchased the building before June 21, 1982, or before July 27, 1987 for a building subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4), to expand his/her/its business which is an existing non-residential conforming use due to legal residential conversion would result in the elimination of existing jobs.

(ii) Infeasible costs. The test for cost infeasibility shall be that the owner would be unable to attain a reasonable return on his/her/its investment; not maximum return on investment.

(A) Reasonable rate of return on the owner's investment shall be defined as a net annual return of five percent or more where net annual return is the percentage amount by which the annual earned income from the building exceeds the annual operating expenses of the building.

(B) Earned income shall mean the maximum annual collectible rent for the building, including any and all escalators, for both residential and non-residential units, plus miscellaneous income from all other sources in the building including vending machines, and sign rentals. The Loft Board shall impute a rental value for vacant units or units occupied either residentially or non-residentially by the landlord, any member of the landlord's family or an employee of the landlord, at the fair market value for the space, or if subject to Article 7-C at the maximum legal rent.

(C) Operating expenses shall consist of the actual, reasonable cost of: fuel, labor, utilities, taxes other than income or corporate franchise taxes, fees, permits, necessary contracted services and non-capital repairs, insurance, parts and supplies, management fees and other administrative costs and interest on a bona fide mortgage. Criteria to be considered in determining a bona fide mortgage other than an institutional mortgage shall include: condition of the property; location of the property, the existing mortgage market at the time the mortgage is placed, the term of the mortgage, the amortization rate, the principal amount of the mortgage, security and other terms and conditions of the mortgage.

(D) (a) No application shall be approved unless the owner's equity in such building exceeds five percent of:

(1) the arms length purchase price of the property;

(2) the cost of any capital improvements for which the owner has not collected or will not collect a surcharge;

(3) any repayment of principal of any mortgage or loan used to finance the purchase of the property or, any capital improvements for which the owner has not collected or will not collect a surcharge; and

(4) any increase in the equalized assessed value of the property which occurred subsequent to the first valuation of the property after purchase by the owner.

(b) For the purposes of this paragraph, owner's equity shall mean the sum of: (1) the purchase price of the property less the principal of any mortgage or loan used to finance the purchase of the property,

(2) the cost of any capital improvement for which the owner has not collected or will not collect a surcharge less the principal of any mortgage or loan used to finance said improvement,

(3) any repayment of the principal of any mortgage or loan used to finance the purchase of the property or any capital improvement for which the owner has not collected or will not collect a surcharge, and

(4) any increase in the equalized assessed value of the property which occurred subsequent to the first valuation of the property after purchase by the owner.

An owner making a claim on this basis will be required to produce, as part of the application, evidence, subject to audit, based on a representative consecutive 12 month period beginning no earlier than January 1, 1982, or, for a building subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4), no earlier than January 1, 1987, of the current net annual return for the building and the projected net annual return following legalization including, but not limited to, current and projected earned income, operating expenses and equity information.

Inability to make a reasonable return on investment may include situations where the necessary and reasonable costs of compliance will cause residential units to rent at above prevailing market levels.

(3) Processing guidelines. (i) Applications for exemption due to hardship will not be granted if the result of self-created hardship.

(ii) Applications for exemption due to hardship will not be granted if compliance can be reasonably achieved through:

(A) alteration of units,

(B) relocation of tenants (residential) or non-residential conforming use) to vacant space within the building,

(C) re-design of space, or

(D) application for a non-use related variance, special permit, minor modification or administrative certification.

Owners filing hardship applications shall be required to make a reasonable attempt to cooperate with the tenants to achieve compliance through the methods listed above.

(iii) In considering such applications, the Loft Board shall require the owner and tenants to consider constructive suggestions for alternatives to the proposed legalization plan, which would allow for the minimum vacating of residential occupancy, without adversely affecting existing non-residential conforming uses.

(c) Granting of applications. (1) In resolving applications for exemption due to hardship, the Loft Board shall grant only the minimum relief necessary to relieve any hardship.

(2) If the Loft Board approves an application for exemption due to hardship, the building or portion thereof for which the application is approved shall be exempt from Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law and may be converted to non-residential uses which must be in conformance with the zoning resolution and compatible with existing residential use. As a condition of approval of such application, the owner shall file with the Loft Board a certified copy of an irrevocable recorded covenant in form satisfactory to the Loft Board, enforceable by the City of New York for fifteen (15) years from the date of the recording, that the building or portion thereof for which the hardship exemption has been granted will not be re-converted to residential uses during that time.

When the Loft Board approves such an application, the owner will be notified of the Board's intent to approve the application and will be afforded an opportunity of no more than 90 days to file the required covenant. The Loft Board will issue its final order approving the application following receipt of the certified copy of the covenant. If proof of the filing of the required covenant is not filed with the Loft Board within 90 days, the application will be denied and the owner will be required to comply with Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(3) If the hardship exemption is granted for a portion of the building, the IMD status for such building and the remaining residential units, covered under Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law in such building, shall not be affected, even if there are less than three qualified units remaining.

(4) In approving an exemption application due to hardship, the Loft Board may fix reasonable terms and conditions regarding the owner's payment to the residential occupant of any reasonable moving costs and the fair market value of any improvements made or purchased by the residential occupant, and a reasonable time period for relocation, not to exceed one year.

Subd. (a) pars (2), (3) amended City Record Nov. 13, 1992 eff. Dec. 13, 1992.

Subd. (b) par (2) amended City Record Nov. 13, 1992 eff. Dec. 13, 1992.

¶ 1. The Loft Board has strictly enforced the filing deadlines for the filing of hardship applications, and this policy has been upheld by the courts. Vlachos v. New York City Loft Board, 118 A.D.2d 378, 504 N.Y.S.2d 649 (1st Dept. 1986).

¶ 2. The fact that a building owner's IMD registration had lapsed when the owner filed a hardship application did not constitute a valid defense to the hardship application pursuant to subparagraph (a)(3)(i) of this section, where the Loft Board staff accepted a building owner's hardship application and did not advise the owner that the application was defective in any respect, and the owner cured the lapsed registration by renewal of the registration well before the hardship application was adjudicated. Matter of Prince, OATH Index No. 1506/95 (May 21, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2131 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 3. A building owner's failure to file an application for an alteration permit before filing his hardship application did not constitute a defense to the hardship application pursuant to subparagraph (a)(3)(iv) of this section, because the owner asked the Loft Board for a waiver of the requirement of an alteration application and the Board never acted on the request or otherwise instructed the owner to file an alteration application, and the owner filed an alteration application before the hardship application was adjudicated. Matter of Prince, OATH Index No. 1506/95 (May 21, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2131 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 4. Where a building owner's commercial use of a portion of an IMD was a moderate hazard as defined by applicable codes, not a high hazard, legalization of the residential units of the IMD would not require relocation of the commercial use from the IMD, and therefore the hardship application pursuant to subparagraph (b)(1)(i) of this section was denied. Matter of Prince, OATH Index No. 1506/95 (May 21, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2131 (Aug. 28, 1997).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-04 Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards.

(a) Definitions.

Landlord. As used in these regulations, the term "landlord" shall mean the owner of an interim multiple dwelling, the lessee of a whole building part of which is interim multiple dwelling, or the agent or other person having control of such dwelling.

Residential occupant. As used in these regulations, the term "residential occupant" shall mean an occupant of an interim multiple dwelling eligible for protection under Article 7-C of the New York State Multiple Dwelling Law.

(b) Basic services. Landlords of interim multiple dwellings shall provide the following minimum housing maintenance services to residential occupants eligible for the protection of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law:

(1) Water supply and drainage. The landlord of an interim multiple dwelling (I.M.D.) shall provide and maintain a supply of pure and wholesome water at all times sufficient in quantity and pressure to provide for sanitary maintenance. The landlord shall properly maintain and keep in good repair the plumbing and drainage system. Where water mains are available in the street, every residentially occupied unit shall be supplied with water from such mains. The landlord shall keep the water free from connection to any unsafe water supply or from cross-connections to any drainage system.

Where a landlord of an I.M.D. installed or installs plumbing fixtures to residentially occupied units, (s)he shall maintain same in good working order.

(2) Heat. (i) Except as provided below, where there is a central heating system in an I.M.D. every residentially occupied unit shall be provided with heat from the system. During the period from October 1 through May 31, centrally supplied heat shall be provided so as to maintain every portion of the dwelling used or occupied for living purposes, between the hours of 6:00 AM and 10:00 PM at a temperature of at least 68 degrees Fahrenheit whenever the outside temperature falls below 55 degrees Fahrenheit, and between the hours of 10:00 PM and 6:00 AM at a temperature of at least 55 degrees Fahrenheit whenever the outside temperature falls below 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

(ii) Where a system of gas or electric heating has been provided for a residentially occupied unit such a system may be utilized instead of a central heating system where a central heating system is lacking or otherwise may be used to supplement a central heating system. During the period from October 1 through May 31, heat from individual systems of gas or electric heat where the landlord pays for operation shall be provided so as to maintain every portion of the dwelling used or occupied for living purposes, between the hours of 6:00 AM and 10:00 PM, at a temperature of at least 68 degrees Fahrenheit whenever the outside temperature falls below 55 degrees Fahrenheit, and between the hours of 10:00 PM and 6:00 AM at a temperature of at least 55 degrees Fahrenheit whenever the outside temperature falls below 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

(iii) The landlord may install individual heating systems to meet the landlord's obligation to either provide all the heat required pursuant to these regulations or to supplement the heat provided by an existing system, provided that the installation and system are approved for residential use by appropriate City agencies.

(iv) The landlord shall not object to the installation by a residential occupant of an individual heating system, provided that:

(A) such installation does not conflict with landlord's approved alterations plans;

(B) the installation and system are approved for residential use by the appropriate City agencies; and

(C) the residential occupant has requested in writing that the landlord make such an installation and the landlord has refused to comply with any such request within a reasonable time but in no event more than 45 days from the date of such request.

(v) The landlord shall maintain all central heating systems and all gas or electric heating fixtures and systems provided by the landlord to residentially occupied units in proper working order unless the parties otherwise agreed that the residential occupant will be responsible for maintenance of the gas or electric heating fixtures and systems used to heat his/her unit.

(3) Hot water. The landlord shall supply every bath, shower, washbasin and sink in all residentially occupied units in an interim multiple dwelling at all times between the hours of 6:00 a.m. and midnight with hot water at a constant minimum temperature of 120 degrees Fahrenheit from a central source of supply or from individual gas or electric hot water heaters except where such individual units have been previously installed and where responsibility for operation has been assumed by the residential occupant.

(4) Electricity. The landlord shall maintain electrical service to all residentially occupied units at all times in order to allow said units to obtain electric power. The intention of this standard is to afford electrical service to all residentially occupied units.

(5) Gas. Where gas service is currently provided to residentially occupied units the landlord shall cause the said service to be maintained in good working order. The landlord shall not unreasonably withhold his/her cooperation if the residential occupant wishes to install gas service at the residential occupant's cost and expense.

(6) Smoke detectors. By no later than March 1, 1983, all residentially occupied units within interim multiple dwellings shall be equipped with operational smoke detecting devices, either battery operated or receiving their primary power from the building's electrical service, approved by the appropriate city agencies. If smoke detecting devices are not installed by March 1, 1983, residential occupants are authorized to install them on their own.

The residential occupant of a unit in which a battery operated smoke detecting device is provided and installed by the landlord shall reimburse the landlord a maximum of ten dollars for each such device. The residential occupant shall have one year from the date of installation to make such reimbursement. All sections of the Housing Maintenance Code relating to smoke detectors shall apply to interim multiple dwellings.

(7) Public lighting. The landlord shall provide and maintain electric lighting fixtures for every public hall, stair, firestair and fire tower on every floor and shall cause such required lights in all such fixtures to be turned on at sunset every day and to remain on until sunrise the following day on a 24-hour a day 7 day a week basis where natural light is not adequate.

(8) Entrance door security. The landlord shall properly maintain all existing entrance door security and at a minimum at least one door at each entrance must have a lock. All tenants must be provided with keys to all entrance door locks.

(9) Elevator service. The landlord shall not diminish nor permit the diminution of legal freight or passenger elevator service and shall cause said service to be maintained in good working order.

(10) Window guards. (i) The owner, lessee, agent or other person who manages or controls an interim multiple dwelling shall provide, install, and maintain, a window guard, of a type deemed acceptable by the Department of Health, installation to be made pursuant to specifications provided by the Department of Health, on the windows of each unit in which a child or children ten (10) years of age and under reside, and on the windows, if any, in the public halls of an interim multiple dwelling in which such children reside, except that this section shall not apply to windows giving access to fire escapes or to a window on the first floor that is a required means of egress from the dwelling unit. It shall be the duty of each such person who manages or controls an interim multiple dwelling to ascertain whether such a child resides therein.

(ii) No residential occupant of an interim multiple dwelling unit, or other person shall obstruct or interfere with the installation of window guards required by subsection (i), nor shall any person remove such window guards.

(iii) No owner, lessee or other person who manages or controls an interim multiple dwelling shall refuse a written request of a residential occupant of an interim multiple dwelling unit, to install window guards regardless of whether such is required by subsection (i), except that this section shall not apply to windows giving access to fire escapes.

(iv) The residential occupant of a unit in which window guards are provided and installed shall reimburse the landlord as follows: the residential occupant's share of the entire costs may be determined by adding:

(A) the residential occupant's pro-rata share of the full cost of window guards in the public areas (obtained by dividing said cost by the total number of residential units in the building); and

(B) the full cost of the window guards (including installation charges) installed within the residential occupant's unit. The cost may not exceed $16.00 per window guard.

(v) The residential occupants of the remaining units in the building shall reimburse the landlord for the remainder of the cost of window guards installed in the public areas based on their pro-rata shares, as defined in subparagraph (i), above. All reimbursement payments shall be payable within (90) days of installation.

(c) Additional lease agreement services. In addition to those services mandated by §2-04(b) of this Rule, owners, lessees of whole buildings and agents shall maintain and shall continue to provide to residential occupants services specified in their lease or rental agreement. In the absence of a lease or rental agreement, owners, lessees of whole buildings and agents shall provide those services to residential occupants which were specified in the lease or rental agreement most recently in effect in addition to those services mandated in §2-04(b). There shall be no diminution of services. Nothing contained in these rules allows reduction in the prior services supplied by mutual agreement where those services exceed the services mandated by §2-04(b). Where the prior services are below those mandated by §2-04(b), the services mandated by §2-04(b) shall be provided.

(d) Guide for the courts. The services mandated by subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section shall provide a guide which courts can use as part of their determination as to whether registered parties are meeting their current and future responsibilities to residential loft occupants according to the Warranty of Habitability (Real Property Law §235-b(1)) for the interim multiple dwellings, until such time as this rule is amended or modified by the Loft Board.

(e) Enforcement and penalties. (1) Staff. The Loft Board authorizes staff hearing examiners or Administrative Law Judges at the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearing ("OATH"), if the Executive Director so determines, to conduct hearings on alleged violations of housing maintenance standards and to impose penalties in accordance with ranges of proposed fines adopted by the Loft Board, where such violations are determined to exist. The Loft Board further authorizes staff to take all steps necessary to enforce the minimum housing maintenance standards.

(2) Inspections and notices of violation. Staff employed or assigned to the Loft Board shall be authorized to conduct inspections in response to complaints or at the direction of the Loft Board or appropriate staff supervisors to determine whether violations of the Loft Board Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards exist. Upon a finding of violation, a notice of violation shall be issued to the landlord or his agent, describing the violation and the unit in which it exists, specifying the section of the Minimum Housing Maintenance Regulations violated, and establishing the maximum period of time permissible for cure of such violation. A copy of such notice of violation shall be left with an authorized person in charge at the premises, if such person is present, or posted in a conspicuous public place at the premises. In addition, a second copy of such notice of violation shall be sent by regular mail to the owner of record of the premises, or his designated agent, as indicated on the Interim Multiple Dwelling Registration form filed with the Loft Board. A copy of such notice of violation shall also be sent by regular mail to the tenant or tenants who made the original complaint.

Such notices of violation shall provide a minimum of seven days from the date of mailing to cure the violation.

(3) Re-Inspections and issuance of notices to appear for a hearing. A reinspection may be conducted to determine whether a violation has been cured at any time after the period for cure specified in the original notice of violation has elapsed. If the violation has not been cured, a notice to appear at a Loft Board hearing shall be issued. Such notice shall contain:

(i) a clear and concise statement sufficient to inform the respondent of the essential facts concerning the violation and the unit in which it exists;

(ii) specification of the section of the Minimum Housing Code Standards allegedly violated;

(iii) information as to the maximum penalty assessable if the facts are found to be as alleged in whole or in part;

(iv) specification of the time and place of the hearing;

(v) advice that respondent is entitled to be represented by counsel, to present evidence and to examine and cross-examine witnesses;

(vi) advice of respondent's right to file with the Loft Board an answer admitting, denying or admitting the violation with an explanation, prior to or at the hearing.

Such notice of hearing shall be served by leaving a copy with an authorized person in charge at the premises, or, in the absence of such person, by posting in a conspicuous public place at the premises. In addition, a second copy of such notice of hearing shall be sent by regular mail to the owner of record of the premises, or his designated agent, as indicated on the Interim Multiple Dwelling Registration form filed with the Loft Board.

A copy of the notice of hearing shall also be sent by regular mail to the tenant or tenants of any units where violations which are the subject of such hearing are alleged to have occurred.

(4) Hearings. Hearings will be conducted by staff hearing examiners or OATH Administrative Law Judges, who will determine whether each violation alleged is sustained by the evidence, whether the landlord-respondent is responsible for providing the particular service in question, and whether the landlord- respondent has made good faith efforts to provide such service. Formal rules of evidence shall not apply to such hearings. Where a hearing is conducted by an OATH Administrative Law Judge, such hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the procedures governing such hearings before the Loft Board.

When the hearing examiner or OATH Administrative Law Judge makes a finding that the violation exists and that the landlord is responsible, he or she shall impose a penalty in accordance with the recommended range of penalties promulgated by the Loft Board. The hearing examiner shall be authorized to suspend the penalty when a good faith effort to provide services is demonstrated.

The Loft Board shall have the burden of proving the factual allegations contained in the notice of hearing by a fair preponderance of the evidence; however, each notice of hearing shall be maintained by the Board as a record kept in the regular course of business and shall be prima facie proof of the facts contained therein.

Hearings shall be electronically recorded and the original recording shall be part of the record and the sole official transcript of the proceeding.

A written decision sustaining or dismissing each allegation in the notice of hearing shall be rendered by the hearing examiner or OATH Administrative Law Judge promptly after the conclusion thereof. Each decision, a copy of which shall be served forthwith on the respondent by regular mail, shall contain brief findings of fact, conclusions of law, and, where appropriate, an order imposing a civil penalty.

(5) Appeals to the Board. An appeal from a determination of a hearing officer issued pursuant to this section 2-04 shall be brought in accordance with the provisions of section 1-07.1 of these rules.

(6) Willful violations of the standards. Where a hearing examiner or OATH Administrative Law Judge determines that violations of the Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards are willful on the part of the landlord, the hearing examiner or OATH Administrative Law Judge shall include in any order issued, a finding that the building in which such violations exist shall be deemed not to be in compliance with Article 7-C, for purposes of assertion of the landlord's rights under Multiple Dwelling Law §285(l).

A second finding sustaining a violation for the same condition within a 6-month period, shall be presumed willful for purposes of this paragraph (6).

A finding that a building is not in compliance with Article 7-C because of a willful violation of the Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards may be removed by the landlord coming forward to request a re-inspection to confirm that the violation has been corrected. If the Loft Board staff person conducting such inspection determines that the violation or violations have been corrected, and so certifies, a copy of his or her inspection report shall be filed with the prior order and the building shall be deemed in compliance with Article 7-C for purposes of MDL §285(l).

A finding of a willful violation of Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards will be considered as evidence of harassment of residential tenants by the landlord.

(7) Outstanding, unpaid fines. The registration as an IMD shall not be renewed for any building for which fines have been imposed, for violations of the Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards, until such fines are paid in full.

(8) Range of fines for violations.

Section	Violation	Range of Fines
2-04(b)(1)	Failure to provide or maintain a safe water supply or plumbing and drainage systems	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(2)	Failure to provide adequate heat	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(3)	Failure to supply hot water	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(4)	Failure to maintain electrical service to residential units	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(5)	Failure to maintain gas service in good working order	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(6)	Failure to provide smoke detectors	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(7)	Failure to provide lighting in public areas of the building	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(8)	Improper maintenance of entrance door security; failure to provide keys	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(9)	Failure to provide or improper maintenance of elevator service	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(b)(10)	Failure to provide window guards	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)
2-04(c)	Failure to provide other minimum housing maintenance services	$750-$1,000 (first finding sustaining a violation)$1,000 (second finding within 12 months)$1,000 (third finding within 12 months)

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Aug. 21, 2006:

The Loft Law fine schedule, established on the basis of authority granted to the Loft Board by §282 of the Multiple Dwelling Law, has not been updated since the inception of the law (September 30, 1982). The proposed increases in the fine schedule are modest in comparison to similar increases in City, State, and Federal statutes over the same time period.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. After trial on one diminution of services application, while the Loft Board's decision on that application was pending, a second diminution of services application, based on allegations that the same conditions remained after trial on the first application, was dismissed without prejudice. Unless the Loft Board decides the first application by issuing an order requiring the landlord to restore services, and until a reasonable time thereafter is afforded for the landlord to comply with that order, the second diminution of services application is premature. Matter of Davies, OATH Index No. 888/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2084 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 2. Because the only relief available in a tenant-initiated diminution of services application is prospective-i.e., an order requiring the landlord to restore services-the relevant issue at trial of a diminution of services application is whether services are diminished as of the time of trial. Past diminution of services that have been restored before trial cannot logically be the subject of a prospective order to restore services. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 3. Because a willfulness finding is not a remedy available in a tenant-initiated diminution of services application, the state of mind of the landlord and the reasons for not providing required services are largely irrelevant. Tenants need not show that the owner intentionally or maliciously failed to provide services required by this section. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 4. This section prohibits the diminution of services that were actually provided after the lease expired, even if the lease did not require the building owner to provide such services. Matter of 29 John Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index No. 1982/96 (Nov. 20, 1996), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2058 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 5. Although the remedies available in a Loft Board-initiated enforcement proceeding may differ from those available in a tenant-initiated diminution of services application, the permissible scope of the two types of proceedings is the same. That is, any item that would constitute a violation in an enforcement proceedings would constitute a tenant-actionable diminution of services. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 6. Building owners are obligated to provide the services enumerated in paragraph (b) of this section, as well as services required by leases, rental agreements or otherwise pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, including services mandated by the statutory warranty of habitability, which is deemed to be incorporated into any residential lease or rental agreement. Failure to provide any of these services is actionable by a diminution of services application. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 7. The alleged failure of a building owner to comply with provisions of the Loft Board's rules other than this section is not properly the subject of a diminution of services application. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 8. Pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, a diminution of services application may be brought only by a residential occupant protected by the Loft Law. Matter of 29 John Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index No. 1982/96 (Nov. 20, 1996), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2058 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 9. The Loft Board lacks authority to award a rent reduction to tenants who prevail on a diminution of services application. Matter of 29 John Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index No. 1982/96 (Nov. 20, 1996), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2058 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 10. Whether a building owner could include the costs of installing individual heating units and electrical meters as code compliance costs pursuant to §2-01(i) of this chapter was not determined as part of the tenants' diminution of services application pursuant to this section, but was deferred until the owner applies for a code compliance rent adjustment. Matter of 29 John Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index No. 1982/96 (Nov. 20, 1996), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2058 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 11. The only relief that tenants may obtain in a diminution of services application against their landlord is a Loft Board order requiring the landlord to restore the improperly diminished services. Relief may not include damages, rent abatements, fines, or willfulness findings. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 12. Due in part to the landlord's reliance on a water pump that cannot operate 24 hours a day, water pressure was inadequate under subparagraph (b)(1) of this section, which requires that adequate water pressure be maintained "at all times." Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 13. Inadequate provision for ordinary maintenance and repair constituted a diminution of services. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 14. A landlord-tenant agreement requiring the landlord to restore freight elevator service, without stating a deadline for such restoration, was not a waiver of the tenants' right to such service for any period of time, and was not intended as an open-ended, non-binding commitment by the landlord. Therefore, the landlord's failure to provide freight elevator service constituted a diminution of services pursuant to subparagraph (b)(9) of this section. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 15. Although subparagraph (b)(9) of this section prohibits a landlord from reducing or eliminating only freight elevator service that was legal, clauses in leases and in a landlord-tenant agreement requiring the provision of freight elevator service are presumed to have contemplated the provision of legal elevator service. Therefore, because the landlord in effect had contracted to provide legal freight elevator service, the failure to do so constituted a diminution of services. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 16. Noise from a performance art space in a loft building caused disturbances to the residential tenants in their use of their lofts that were not de minimis, but occurred regularly, frequently, and late at night, disturbed the ordinary and reasonable uses of a residential tenancy, and therefore constituted a diminution of services notwithstanding the absence of decibel readings. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 17. The compromise of building security caused by a commercial tenant opening the building doors to the public during performances in the commercial tenant's space constituted a diminution of services pursuant to subparagraph (b)(8) of this section. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 18. Noise and security problems created by a commercial tenant were legally attributable to the building owner, and constituted an actionable diminution of services. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 19. Where freight elevator service was not required by the lease in effect as of the effective date of the Loft Law, and had not actually been provided since before that lease was executed in 1979, failure to provide freight elevator service was not a diminution of services. Matter of Ando, OATH Index No. 1829/96 (Sept. 17, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2036 (Nov. 21, 1996).

¶ 20. Although a lease rider arguably required the owner to restore the freight elevator and perform work, at the tenants' expense, the tenants waived their right to have freight elevator service restored when three of the four tenants declined to pay the expenses for the restoration work, and when the tenants took no steps to enforce the lease rider, even after receiving notice that the owner intended to permanently remove the freight elevator. Matter of Ando, OATH Index No. 1829/96 (Sept. 17, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2036 (Nov. 21, 1996).

¶ 21. Enforcement proceedings pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section, which may result in imposition of fines against landlords and findings of willful violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards, may only be brought by the Loft Board, and not by tenants. Matter of Seyfried, OATH Index No. 127/97 (Jan. 3, 1997), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2083 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 22. A tenant is not a party to a Loft Board-initiated enforcement proceeding pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section, and therefore lacks standing to oppose the Loft Board's motion to withdraw one of the violations underlying the proceeding. Loft Board v. Tekosky, OATH Index No. 470/97 (Apr. 18, 1997).

¶ 23. Breaches of the statutory warranty of habitability constituted violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 24. Violations of applicable housing codes or other laws constitute breaches of the statutory warranty of habitability, provided that those violations are not de minimis, and therefore such violations also constitute violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 25. Pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, a building owner is obligated to keep the premises in good repair, except that it is the tenants' obligation to maintain and repair installations made by residential tenants, internal to their lofts, where the tenants leased raw space and did their own renovations. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 26. For five violations pertaining to maintenance and repair of loft unit windows, the penalty was imposition of the maximum fine of $500 per violation, and the building owners were ordered to cure the violations within 30 days. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 27. For failure to maintain a fire stairs tread in a safe condition, the owner was fined the maximum of $500, and ordered to cure the violation within 30 days. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 28. Based on the building owner's many years of failing to supply required elevator service, the violation was found to be willful and the owner was fined the maximum of $500 and was ordered to cure the violation within 30 days. Loft Board v. Bramwill El Corp., OATH Index No. 1967/96 (Sept. 18, 1996).

¶ 29. Settlement of a Loft Board-initiated enforcement proceeding pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section allowed the building owner additional time to cure the 13 violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards at issue and provided for imposition of penalties for violations not cured within that additional time. Upon expiration of the additional time, six violations remained uncured, five of which concerned defective or inoperable windows in loft units and one of which concerned a damaged wood floor in a loft unit. The maximum penalty of $500 was imposed for each violation, for a total fine of $3,000, based on the lengthy period of time since the violations were issued, the unexplained lack of any work to cure the violations, the seriousness of the neglect of the conditions at issue and their immediate need for attention. Loft Board v. Berger, OATH Index No. 468/97 (Feb. 19, 1997).

¶ 30. Settlement of a Loft Board-initiated enforcement proceeding pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section allowed the building owner additional time to cure the inadequacy of heat provided to one of the loft units. After that additional time, the inadequacy remained, and the penalty imposed was a $500 fine, the maximum pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section. Loft Board v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 1003/97 (July 17, 1997).

¶ 31. The severity of the building owner's continuing failure to provide freight elevator service was not mitigated by the complaining tenant's persistent tampering with the elevator, which caused the elevator to break down, because the tenant's tampering was caused by the owner's installation of a locking device that improperly deprived the tenant of elevator service. The penalty imposed for the violation of minimum housing maintenance standards was $350, pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section. Loft Board v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 1289/97 (June 2, 1997).

¶ 32. In a Loft Board-initiated enforcement proceeding, the maximum penalty pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section, a $500 fine, was imposed for a building owner's failure to provide heat and hot water to a residential unit during March. Loft Board v. G.J.'s Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 1670/97 (June 30, 1997).

¶ 33. A building owner's failure to replace broken glass in a skylight in a public hallway was penalized by imposition of a $100 fine pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section. Loft Board v. G.J.'s Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 1670/97 (June 30, 1997).

¶ 34. For two violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards, one pertaining to a defective skylight in a tenant's loft unit, and one pertaining to a roof leak in the same unit, the maximum penalty of $500 per violation was imposed pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section, because, even after service of the notice of violation and the notice of hearing the building owner had not communicated with the tenant concerning repairs. Loft Board v. Geulah Realty, OATH Index No. 1968/96 (Oct. 4, 1996).

¶ 35. For two violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards, one pertaining to broken glass in a loft unit's skylight and one pertaining to a roof leak in the same unit, each violation being a second offense pursuant to subparagraph (e)(8) of this section, the penalty imposed was the maximum, or $750 per violation, for a total fine of $1,500. Loft Board v. Guelah Realty, OATH Index No. 1287/97 (Apr. 4, 1997).

¶ 36. Two violations of the minimum housing maintenance standards were found to be willful pursuant to subparagraph (e)(6) of this section because each violation was the second finding of the same condition within a six-month period. Loft Board v. Guelah Realty, OATH Index No. 1287/97 (Apr. 4, 1997).

¶ 37. A missing air vent cover in the bathroom of a loft unit was not a violation of the minimum housing maintenance standards pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, absent proof that the matter had substantial effect on the habitability of the unit and was not de minimis, and absent proof that the vent was not installed by the tenant and therefore was not the tenant's responsibility. Loft Board v. Difar Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 1970-71/96 (Aug. 14, 1996).

¶ 38. Three violations of Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards were outstanding for more than one year without any effort by owner to cure. Maximum fine of $500 imposed for each. Loft Bd. v. Evergreen Realty, OATH Index No. 671/99 (Nov. 2, 1998).

¶ 39. Maximum fine of $500 imposed for each of two serious violations, a leaking roof and defective skylight, and owner ordered to cure conditions. Loft Bd. v. Geulah Realty, OATH Index No. 1968/96, mem. dec. (Oct. 4, 1996).

¶ 40. Owner is fined for three outstanding violations of the Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards, including defective plaster wall, defective ceiling tiles and rodent infestation. The maximum fine of $500 is imposed for rodent infestation due to the health hazard posed and owner's failure to adequately address the violation. The other two violations were minor in nature, the owner undertook to repair them and they were not hazardous, thus a $300 fine is imposed for each. Loft Bd. v. Centry Realty, Inc., OATH Index No. 1673/97 (Mar. 30, 1998).

¶ 41. Violations of Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards, a leaking roof and defective skylight, constituted breach of statutory warranty of habitability under Real Property Law section 235-b(1), which extends to residential tenants of interim multiple dwellings pursuant to this section. Loft Bd. v. Geulah Realty, OATH Index No. 1968/96, mem. dec. (Oct. 4, 1996).

¶ 42. Once evidence establishes that violations existed, respondent's efforts to cure the violations after the commencement of an enforcement proceeding can only bear upon the fine to be imposed, even if those efforts were successful. Loft Bd. v. Centry Realty, Inc., OATH Index No. 1673/97 (Mar. 30, 1998).

¶ 43. Petitioner established that the owner of loft buildings neglected violations for almost two years. The owner failed to provide window guards as required by subparagraph (b)(10) and failed to repair roof leaks, a violation of the statutory warranty of habitability, thus constituting a diminution of services under subparagraph ;cw). Administrative law judge found that the maximum fine of $500 per violation was appropriate because of the duration and seriousness of the violations. Owner ordered to cure violations within 30 days. Loft Bd. v. Grand Morgan Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 2240/99, mem. dec. (Aug. 19, 1999).

¶ 44. In a default proceeding, owner had leaky and defective boiler in the cellar, in violation of subparagraph (b)(2)(v), which requires that all central heating systems be in proper working order. Owner was fined $400. Loft Bd. v. Kang, OATH Index No. 2236/99, mem. dec. (Aug. 18, 1999).

¶ 45. In a default proceeding, respondent owner's building had a leaky roof over the kitchen of a unit, in violation of this section. Testimony established that it was a longstanding problem and owner had made no effort to cure violation upon reinspection. Accordingly, a maximum fine of $500 was imposed. Loft Bd. v. Song, OATH Index No. 2237/99, mem. dec. (Aug. 11, 1999).

¶ 46. Violations for broken window glass and erosion of one metal ceiling were not addressed by owner upon reinspection. Because these were first violations by this owner, the administrative law judge found that the infractions were non-willful and assessed a fine of $300 per violation. Loft Bd. v. Noah Trading Co., OATH Index No. 1588/99, mem. dec. (Apr. 27, 1999).

¶ 47. Maximum fine of $500 was imposed for each of six violations: eroded metal cornice, eroded plaster, unpainted ceilings, eroded mortar joints and bricks, eroded flashing, and broken wire glass. Inasmuch as violations were willful, the building was deemed to be out of compliance with Article 7-C for purposes of assertion of the landlord's rights under Multiple Dwelling Law section 285(1), pursuant to paragraph (6) of this rule. Loft Bd. v. Knickerbocker Paper Recycling, OATH Index No. 2241/99, mem. dec. (Sept. 17, 1999).

¶ 48. Cracks in glass roof were a violation of the statutory warranty of habitability and the building's proprietary lease where, pursuant to the lease, the owner was responsible for the maintenance of the building's roof. Administrative law judge also found that the violation of the warranty of habitability was more than de minimus. Under Real Property Law section 235-b(1), the warranty of habitability has three components: (1) the owner must keep the leased premises and attendant common areas "fit for human habitation"; (2) the owner must keep those areas "fit for the uses reasonably intended by the parties"; and (3) the owner must keep those areas free from "any conditions which would be dangerous, hazardous or detrimental to [the occupant's] life, health or safety." Cracks in a glass roof violate all three elements enumerated above. Petitioner presented no evidence that violation was willful pursuant to subparagraph (e)(6). Given that the tenant withheld rent and had a history of refusing access to those seeking to make repairs in her unit, a $100 fine was imposed and the owner was ordered to cure the violations. Loft Bd. v. 85-87 Mercer Street Associates, Inc., OATH Index No. 2005/99, mem. dec. (Sept. 30, 1999).

¶ 49. In a Board-initiated proceeding to determine which of two sets of proposed legalization plans should be adopted, the owner was required to modify plans to provide for restoration of freight elevator service. Although tenant's lease did not provide for freight elevator service to the tenant, owner was required to provide service where it was continuously provided during the lease period and for several years after its expiration pursuant to subparagraph (b)(9) and ;cw) of this section, which prohibit the diminution of legal freight elevator service. Owner's "conscious unawareness" of tenant use did not shield him from obligation to provide services. Matter of 24 Harrison Street, OATH Index No. 1120/96 (Feb. 12, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2380 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 50. In default proceeding, administrative law judge imposed the maximum fine of $500 for a first time violation of the Loft Board's minimum housing maintenance standards due to owner's failure to provide running water for a three-month duration, and the owners' failure to date to make any effort to remedy the condition or to respond to the tenant, the Loft Board or OATH in regard to the condition. Loft Board v. Hauser & Arnold Industries, OATH Index No. 1021/00, mem. dec. (Jan. 28, 2000).

¶ 51. On owner's default, Loft Board proved the amended violations and the owner's willful failure to cure them for more than three months. Inasmuch as violations are willful, building is deemed to be out of compliance with Article 7-C for purposes of assertion of the landlord's rights under Multiple Dwelling Law § 285 (1), pursuant to 2-04 (e)(6). Administrative law judge imposed total fine of $1,000. Loft Board v. Rahman New York, Inc., OATH Index No. 2336/00, (Aug. 31, 2000)

¶ 52. Administrative law judge required IMD owner to continue to supply electricity to tenant without charge where this arrangement continued for the past twelve years. The owner's application to pass along this cost to protected occupant was not supported by the Loft Board's rent adjustment regulations nor by its housing maintenance regulations. See Multiple Dwelling Law §286; 29 RCNY §§ 2-04(c)), 2-06 (July 31, 1999). The judge rejected the owner's argument that it could now invoke a provision in a 1995 lease, providing for the right to discontinue supplying electrical services, because it had expired and was no longer enforceable. Moreover, Loft Board precedent has required the continuation of services where those services have been provided after the expiration of the lease under 2-04(c). Matter of 180 Duane Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1468/00 (June 9, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2534 (June 29, 2000).

¶ 53. New owner's legalization plan, which omitted the roof, unreasonably interfered with tenant's occupancy and constituted a diminution of services where tenant has resided in unit for sixteen years and during that time has had unfettered use of a roof adjoining her apartment. Notwithstanding the leases that governed tenant's tenancy between 1984 and 1996 made no mention of the roof, long-term use in the circumstances of this case requires a finding of diminution of services in violation of 2-04(c). Matter of McGehee, OATH Index No. 1306/00 (Dec. 1, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2599 (Dec. 19, 2000).

¶ 54. Subsection (b)(9) of the Loft Board's minimum housing maintenance standards prohibit an owner from diminishing legal freight or passenger elevator service provided for in the lease. Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 55. Missing window guards, a broken skylight and leaking roof constitute violations of Loft Board's minimum housing maintenance standards, pursuant to subsections (c) and (d) of this section (incorporating warranty of habitability into housing maintenance standards). Loft Bd. v. Lipkis, OATH Index No. 1657/01 (Oct. 22, 2001).

¶ 56. Hiring of security guard and adoption of guest sign-in policy was reasonable, given landlord's duty to provide appropriate controls on public access to residential portions of the building (29 RCNY § 2-04(b)(8)). Matter of Kasher v. BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 262/99 (Oct. 26, 2001), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2704 (Feb. 7, 2002).

¶ 57. Loft Board failed to prove that legal passenger elevator services were provided to residential occupants on June 21, 1982, and therefore violation alleging improper discontinuance of service was dismissed. Loft Bd. v. Rudd Realty Management, OATH Index No. 289/03, mem. dec. (Dec. 11, 2002).

¶ 58. Loft Board failed to show that leases in effect during the window period permitted passenger elevator use by the tenants, and therefore violation alleging improper diminution of lease services pursuant to subsection (c) of this section was dismissed. Loft Bd. v. Rudd Realty Management, OATH Index No. 289/03, mem. dec . (Dec. 11, 2002).

¶ 59. For a first finding of a violation under subparagraph (e) of this rule, the maximum penalty which can be imposed is $500 per violation. Loft Bd. v. Kates, OATH Index No. 1861/02, mem. dec. (Nov. 4, 2002).

¶ 60. Administrative law judge held that Loft Board rules do not mandate tenant dominion over the thermostat controls to ensure that temperature requirements are carried out. Matter of Bernstein, OATH Index No. 1710/02 (Aug. 1, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2823 (Oct. 6, 2003).

¶ 61. Administrative law judge held that no intercom system required where Loft Board rules only require that the landlord "properly maintain all entrance door security and at a minimum one door at each entrance must have a lock." Matter of Bernstein, OATH Index No. 1710/02 (Aug. 1, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2823 (Oct. 6, 2003).

¶ 62. Administrative law judge held that tenant was not legally entitled to freight elevator service absent an agreement between the owner and the tenants requiring that the landlord provide freight elevator service as of June 21, 1982, the effective date of the Loft Law. Matter of Bernstein, OATH Index No. 1710/02 (Aug. 1, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2823 (Oct. 6, 2003).

¶ 63. Administrative law judge found that the practice of leaving the front door of a loft building open until 9 p.m. every night for the commercial tenant constituted a diminution of services. Matter of Bernstein, OATH Index No. 1710/02 (Aug. 1, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2823 (Oct. 6, 2003).

¶ 64. In consolidated Loft Board diminution of services and harassment applications, administrative law judge found that the current owner diminished elevator services that had been provided by predecessor owner as of the effective date of the Loft Law, June 21, 1982. Matter of Rebo, OATH Index Nos. 924/03 & 926/03 (Dec. 18, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2840 (Jan. 15, 2003).

¶ 65. A fifth floor tenant filed an application with the Loft Board alleging that leaks in his loft unit constituted a diminution of services. A Loft Board enforcement proceeding is not the exclusive remedy for a building maintenance problem; where the problem constitutes a reduction in services which the tenant originally possessed, the tenant may file a diminution of services application under subsections (c) and (d) of this section. Based upon the undisputed evidence presented at the hearing of persistent leaks in the unit, the administrative law judge recommended that the Loft Board grant the tenant's application, and that the condominium be ordered to repair the roof. Matter of Reginato, OATH Index No. 750/03 (May 29, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2806 (June 19, 2003).

¶ 66. Administrative law judge found no diminution of services where building superintendent's knowledge that the tenants had operated the elevators between 1980 and June 21, 1982, could not be imputed to owner because the superintendent lacked authority to grant consent to 24-hour elevator service and because, upon being informed of the tenants' operation of the elevators, the owner promptly locked the elevators so the tenants could no longer use them. Matter of Hennen, OATH Index No. 925/03 (Apr. 23, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2833 (Nov. 13, 2003).

¶ 67. Administrative law judge held that owner's plan to eliminate access to the neighbor's area by erecting a wall as required for legalization was not a diminution of services under subsection (d)(2)(iv) of this section where owner had no part in providing the space the applicant seeks to have taken from her neighbor. Matter of Vander Heyden, OATH Index No. 438/03 (Apr. 22, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2799 (May 15, 2003).

¶ 68. Administrative law judge held that owner's revised plans met all of the objections raised by the window period tenant in the unreasonable interference and diminution of services applications. Matter of Vander Heyden, OATH Index No. 438/03 (Apr. 22, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2799 (May 15, 2003).

¶ 69. Notwithstanding agreement that provided that the owner may subject the elevator to "reasonable regulation," administrative law judge found that owner diminished freight elevator service in violation of 29 RCNY 2-04(c) when it padlocked elevator which had been available to tenants on a twenty-four hour per day, seven day per week basis since prior to the window period. 9-01 44TH Drive Tenants Association v. Corastor Holding Co., Inc., OATH Index No. 224/04 (Jan. 21, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2851 (Mar. 18, 2004).

¶ 70. The Loft Board has never stated that a diminution of services claim pursuant to subsection (c) of this section must be based on a violation of a lease, building code provision, or Loft Board housing maintenance rule. A diminution claim may be based upon a decline in the quality of a service which had been provided-in this case, damaged windows which were not repaired. Matter of Tenants of 13 East 17th Street, Loft Bd. Order No. 3034 (Apr. 20, 2006), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index Nos. 1343/03, 1354/03, 1357/03 (Aug. 17, 2005).

¶ 71. Loft Board rejected ALJ's ruling that the relevant date for determining whether services were provided is May 1, 1987 because the building was covered on that date, pursuant to the 1987 amendments to the Loft Board. Instead the Board holds that the relevant date is June 21, 1982, even for buildings, like this one, which were first eligible for coverage in 1987. Matter of Maugenest, Loft Bd. Order No. 3125 (Nov. 16, 2006).

¶ 72. Only the Loft Board may file an application under subsection (e) of this section alleging violations of housing maintenance standards. Tenant-initiated applications concerning housing maintenance standards are limited to diminution of services claims under subsection (c) of this section. Matter of Ashley, Loft Bd. Order No. 3350 (Oct. 18, 2007), adopting in part, rejecting in part, OATH Index No. 1061/06 (Apr. 16, 2007).

¶ 73. The imposition of a fine is not an available remedy in a tenant-initiated diminution of services application pursuant to subsection (c) of this section. A Loft Board enforcement application for violations of the minimum housing standards and a tenant-initiated diminution of services application have different remedies. The authority to impose fines for violations of the minimum housing standards is derived from subsection (e) of this section, which relates only to Loft Board initiated applications, not tenant initiated ones. Turner v. M-Raj 114 Franklin Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1787/07 (Oct. 17, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3419 (Mar. 20, 2008).

¶ 74. Services provided by the lease terms are presumed legal or are required to be brought up to code. The owner has an obligation to provide legal elevator service regardless of whether the previous use was legal. Matter of 25 Jay Street Tenants Assoc., OATH Index No. 1210/07 (July 19, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3418 (Mar. 20, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-05 Registration.

(a) Definitions.

Landlord. As used in these regulations, the term "landlord" shall mean the owner of an interim multiple dwelling, the lessee of a whole building part of which is an interim multiple dwelling, or the agent or other person having control of such a dwelling.

Residential Occupant. As used in these regulations, the term "residential occupant" shall mean an occupant of an interim multiple dwelling eligible for protection under Article 7-C of the New York State Multiple Dwelling Law.

(b) Procedure. The following "Information and Instruction to Owners, Lessees and Agents of Interim Multiple Dwellings" constitute the procedures for registration of Interim Multiple Dwellings pursuant to §284(2) of Article 7-C of the New York State Multiple Dwelling Law. Applications for registration shall be in a form promulgated by the Loft Board.

Instruction-Interim Multiple Dwelling Registration Application-Part A.

(1) Print, using black ink only, all information in completing the registration form. Detach this information and instruction sheet and return copies of the form, when completed to: "I.M.D." REGISTRATION, New York City Loft Board.

Registration forms must be filed for all Interim Multiple Dwellings by January 31, 1983 to avoid payment of an initial registration fee.

(2) The information requested on the registration form and Rider(s) are required pursuant to §§284(2) and 325 of the New York State Multiple Dwelling Law. Additional information may be required pursuant to rules and regulations which shall be promulgated by the New York City Loft Board.

(3) NO FEE is required if application is filed by January 31, 1983. However, a fee may be imposed if registration forms are filed after January 31, 1983. A renewal registration fee may be established by the Loft Board pursuant to §282 of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(4) Completion and submission of this application does not constitute a waiver of the applicant's right to contest before the Loft Board the coverage of the premises described herein under Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law as an interim multiple dwelling. Nor shall the act of filing of the registration application constitute evidence before the Loft Board that the premises described herein are an interim multiple dwelling.

(5) Any and all applications to contest coverage of buildings or individual units under Article 7-C by owners, lessees or agents must be received by the Loft Board within 30 days of the issue date of the IMD registration number or within 30 days after promulgation of coverage regulations by the Loft Board, whichever is later.

Applications, by letter in duplicate, must set forth the extent of coverage being contested and set forth the facts and rationale upon which coverage is being contested. Notice of the filing of the application must be served on ALL residential, commercial and manufacturing occupants of the building and the application to the Loft Board must state that such service has been made. The notice of application must state that copies of the full application are available for inspection at the Loft Board and that a copy of the full application will be furnished by the landlord upon the written request of an occupant. Until the Loft Board determines otherwise by rule or regulation, service shall be effected in the manner prescribed by Real Property Actions and Proceedings Law §735. Failure of an owner, lessee or agent to contest coverage within 30 days of the issuance of an IMD Registration Number or within 30 days of the promulgation of coverage regulations by the Loft Board, whichever is later, precludes said applicant from contesting coverage.

It is the intent of the Loft Board to provide those wishing to contest coverage an opportunity to do so within 30 days after the promulgation of regulations which directly address the issue upon which the coverage dispute or contestation is predicated.

(6) Please be advised that other affected parties may apply for or contest coverage under Article 7-C. Such applications should be made following the procedures set forth in §2-05(b)(5) above except that notice of filing of the application must be served on the landlord not the occupants.

(7) Registration applications, if accepted by the Loft Board, will be effective until such time as determined by the New York City Loft Board.

(8) Applications must be completed in its entirety. Legible copies of the current lease, or, where there is no current lease, the most recent lease agreement (including all executed riders, amendments, modifications and extensions) for all residentially occupied units must be attached regardless of the commercial, residential or manufacturing nature of the lease. If no lease exists or existed, attach a signed statement outlining the most recent rental agreement.

For cooperatives, legible copies of one of the proprietary leases and of all coversheets for all units must be attached. If any units are rented, attach copies of those subleases or rental agreements. For condominiums, legible copies of all leases for units that are rented must be attached.

All personal and confidential information on leases (including all information which could lead to the identification of the premises, landlords and occupants) will not be available under the Freedom of Information Act.

An application will not be accepted, and an IMD Registration Number will not be assigned, unless all questions are answered in full and all required leases are attached. If a particular question or piece of information is inapplicable or not available enter Not Applicable, and attach a signed statement explaining the reasons. The content of an application will be reviewed prior to acceptance.

Enter the number of units occupied for residential purposes by families living independently from one another and the number of floors in the building. A family may consist of a person or persons, regardless of whether they are related by marriage or ancestry. Enter the number of residentially occupied units on each floor so occupied. Rider A which specifically identifies each of the units in the building must be completed and returned with the application.

(9) The acceptance of the registration application in no way legalizes the occupancy. If the application is accepted, a copy of the form with the assigned I.M.D. Registration Number will be returned to you. That number must be included on all future correspondence with the office. The Loft Board reserves the right to reject, revoke or amend an I.M.D. Registration Number.

(10) For each building potentially subject to Article 7-C, the owner, the lessee of the whole building and the agent or other person having control of the premises must each file a separate registration application. If the building is known by other addresses, list them on a separate sheet of paper and attach to the application.

If the owner, lessee, agent or other person is a corporation, other than a corporation listed as exempt from the provisions of the Multiple Dwelling Law §325, the names, business and residence addresses and phone numbers of its officers must be listed on the form.

Other officers, including treasurer or chief fiscal officer, and stockholders who own or control at least 10 percent of the corporation's stock must be listed on a separate attachment.

If the owner, lessee, agent or other person is other than an individual or a corporation, the names, business and residential addresses and phone numbers for each general partner or participant in a partnership or joint venture must be listed on a separate attachment.

At least one of the phone numbers entered on the form must be a confidential telephone number where a responsible party can reasonably be expected to be reached at all times for emergencies. Such number(s) must be within 50 miles radius of New York City limits and must be indicated on a separate signed sheet of paper and attached to the application.

(11) All owners, lessees of whole buildings, and agents or other persons having control of the premises who file for I.M.D. Registration Numbers agree to provide the minimum housing maintenance standards established or to be established by the Loft Board to all residentially occupied units for as long as the I.M.D. Registration Number is valid.

(12) The "managing agent" defined as the person in control of and responsible for the maintenance and operation of the dwelling, must be an individual over 21 years of age with a business office or residence in New York City.

(13) An identification sign containing the building address, the I.M.D. Registration Number assigned by the Loft Board for the purpose of identifying the building and the owner and managing agent shall be posted in every interim multiple dwelling with five (5) business days after the issuance of the I.M.D. Registration Number. A sample sign with instructions will be sent to you when the IMD Number is issued.

(14) If additional space is required to respond to any of the questions, attach a signed separate sheet of paper identifying the questions(s) being answered.

(c) Rent claims. Landlords of interim multiple dwellings for which an IMD Registration Number has been issued, shall be deemed to be compliance with the registration provisions of Article 7-C and shall be entitled to claim rents becoming due after the date of issuance of the IMD Registration Number, in summary proceedings, pursuant to §285(1) of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

Finding that there are a significant number of ongoing disputes between landlords and residential occupants in loft dwellings over payment of past due rents and that Article 7-C did not intend to authorize landlords to recover past due rents from residents occupying premises which may not qualify for coverage under Article 7-C, the Loft Board believes that landlords' right to recover for past due rents pursuant to §285(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law should be stayed until the question of coverage of an IMD has been resolved.

Landlords who waive their right to contest coverage by executing a written waiver in a form acceptable to the Loft Board or whose coverage dispute has been resolved by a determination that the premises in question are covered by Article 7-C and who have met the requirements of subdivision (b) of this section shall be deemed in full compliance with the registration provisions of Article 7-C in order to claim past due rent payable from residential occupants pursuant to §285(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(d) Confidentiality of lease information. All personal and confidential information in leases submitted with registration applications pursuant to this section (including all information which could lead to the identification of the premises, landlords, and tenants) shall be confidential pursuant to the Freedom of Information Law (Public Officers Law §84, et. seq.). Filed with the City Clerk: August 2, 1983.

(e) Effective July 27, 1987, Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law was amended, in part, to extend coverage to certain residentially occupied buildings, structures or portions thereof that were excluded from the protections of Article 7-C because they did not meet the zoning requirements of MDL §§281(2)(i), (iii) or (iv). Now, pursuant to MDL §281(4), any building, structure or portion thereof which contains units that were residentially occupied on May 1, 1987, since December 1, 1981, that were used for residential purposes since April 1, 1980, is an interim multiple dwelling covered by Article 7-C regardless of the zoning requirements of MDL §§281(2)(i), (iii) and/or (iv), if the building otherwise meets the criteria set forth in MDL §281(1). MDL §281(1) defines an "interim multiple dwelling" as a building, structure or portion thereof which at any time was occupied for manufacturing, commercial or warehouse purposes; on December 1, 1981 was occupied for residential purposes since April 1, 1980 as the residence or home of any three or more families living independently of one another; lacks a certificate of compliance or occupancy pursuant to MDL §301. Pursuant to MDL §281(4), an interim multiple dwelling shall include any building within the City of New York which meets these qualifications, regardless of whether there are currently three or more qualifying units. Thus, a reduction in the number of occupied residential units in a building after December 1, 1981 since April 1, 1980, shall not result in the elimination of the protections of Article 7-C to any remaining residential occupants qualified for such protection whose units were residentially occupied on May 1, 1987 since April 1, 1980.

(1) The provisions of these rules, §2-05, shall be fully applicable to interim multiple dwellings or additional covered units, which are subject to coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4), except as provided below:

(i) MDL §284(2) requires registration of all interim multiple dwellings within sixty days of the date of the enactment. Interim multiple dwellings or additional covered units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4) shall be registered on or before September 25, 1987. The initial registration period ends on June 30, 1988. Thereafter, renewal of registration pursuant to §2-11(b)(1)(i)(A) shall be required annually. Prior to the processing of the registration renewal application, the owner, lessee of a whole building and the agent are required to pay all unpaid registration fees for prior registration periods at the rate then established by the Loft Board.

(ii) In addition to the requirements set forth in §2-05(b)(8) of these rules, the landlord shall submit legible copies of all leases (including all executed riders, amendments, modifications and extensions) for residentially occupied units for the period April 1, 1980 through May 1, 1987.

(f) No applications filed by a landlord of an interim multiple dwelling shall be processed by the Loft Board unless the registration renewal is current on the date of filing of such application.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. This section does not provide for tenant participation in a building owner's application for IMD registration or renewal of such registration; therefore, tenants lack standing in any administrative tribunal to contest such applications or to challenge the Loft Board staff's approval of such applications. Matter of Barth, OATH Index No. 1574/97 (June 27, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2137 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 2. Where a building owner registered the building, including the second floor loft unit, and failed pursuant to subparagraph (b)(5) of this section to file a timely challenge to Loft Law coverage of the building or of the unit, the owner may not contest coverage of the unit as a defense to an application by the tenant of that unit for a rent reduction and overcharge refund. Matter of Katz, OATH Index No. 1648/96 (Sept. 10, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2037 (Nov. 21, 1996).

¶ 3. In a coverage case, petitioner made a pre-trial motion to preclude the owner from controverting statements made in initial Loft Board registration, to wit, two units were residentially occupied during the window period. Administrative law judge found that reliance on the registration application as an admission of residential occupancy during the required period to be contrary to subsection (b)(4) of this section. Judge held that owner's statements on coverage application have evidentiary standing with the implication that the owner should be allowed to explain his reasons for making the assertions in his application. Matter of Wynkoop, OATH Index No. 354/02, mem. dec. (Jan. 30, 2002).

¶ 4. Upon abandonment finding, residential units remain subject to the annual registration requirements set forth in subsection (e)(1)(i) of this section. Matter of Tylawsky, OATH Index No. 601/02 (Feb. 27, 2002), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2723 (Apr. 18, 2002).

¶ 5. Abandonment of interim multiple dwelling annulled where landlord had not registered the loft as an interim multiple dwelling or paid the annual registration fees, as required by 29 RCNY 2-05. Matter of EPDI Associates, OATH Index No. 600/02 (Jan. 9, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2714 (Mar. 14, 2002), remanded, Conley v. New York City Loft Bd., Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. Index No. 113879/02 (Dec. 9, 2002)(Shafer, J.), modified, 5 A.D.3d 175, 772 N.Y.S.2d 519 (1st Dep't 2004).

¶ 6. Voluntary registration is the equivalent of a Loft Board finding of coverage. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-06 Interim Rent Guidelines.

(For time limitations on filing applications for rent overcharges, see §1-06.1 of the Loft Board rules).

(a) Coverage. (1) These rent guidelines apply to units of interim multiple dwellings ("IMDs"), as defined in §281 of Article 7-C, with residential occupants qualified for protection pursuant to the article, who

(i) do not have a lease or rental agreement in effect on the date of this order, December 21, 1982 or

(ii) whose leases or rental agreements are in effect on December 21, 1982, but expire prior to the IMD's compliance with the safety and fire protection standards of Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law. These guidelines apply only to IMD's which have registered with the Loft Board.

(2) "Lease or rental agreement in effect" shall mean

(i) a written lease or rental agreement;

(ii) an oral agreement for a rental period of one year or less, provided that

(A) there has been a change from the previous rent, confirmed by rent checks tendered by the residential occupant and accepted by the landlord within the year prior to this order or

(B) there has been a substantial change in the level of services agreed to be provided within one year prior to this order.

(b) Effective date. The effective date of these rent increases for registered IMD's will be the next regular rent payment date following December 21, 1982, or following the expiration of the lease or rental agreement, whichever is later.

If application for registration is received by the Loft Board on or before January 31, 1983, and written request for the increase is made of the residential occupant within 30 days of the issuance of an IMD registration number, such increase shall be retroactive to the effective date of the increase.

If application for registration is received by the Loft Board after January 31, 1983, and written request for the increase is made of the residential occupant within 30 days of the issuance of an IMD registration number, and the lease or rental agreement has expired, such increase shall be retroactive to the first regular rent payment date following submission of the registration application.

At the option of the residential occupant, such retroactive increases may be paid over the same number of months as they accrued. Except as indicated above, the rent increases shall apply prospectively only.

(c) Amount of increases. For purposes of these rent guidelines, the following percentages shall be calculated upon the total rent for the residential occupant, including both base rent and escalators. "Escalators" are lease or rental agreement provisions which provide for a residential occupant's payment as rent or additional rent charges based on, but not limited to: real estate taxes; heating fuel; labor; water and sewer; insurance; vault tax; and any cost-of-living increase formulas. Such provisions as relate to gas, electricity and steam charges are excluded from this definition of total rent and these utility escalators, when based on a fair calculation of the occupant's usage, shall be the only escalators permitted following the effective date of the rent increase provided they were part of the lease or rental agreement in effect on December 21, 1982.

Rent levels for units covered by this order shall reflect no more than the following maximum percentage increases, calculated as of the effective date of this order to such unit:

(1) For units where the last increase in total rent or a utility escalator pursuant to a lease or rental agreement tendered by the tenant and accepted by the landlord was:

(i) Subsequent to December 31, 1979: the maximum permissible increase shall be 7 percent of the total rent as defined above.

(ii) Between January 1, 1977 and December 31, 1979: the maximum permissible increase shall be 22 percent of the total rent defined above.

(iii) Before January 1, 1977: the maximum permissible increase shall be 33 percent of the total rent as defined above.

(2) For units which have had no rent increases since the inception of the lease or rental agreement between the residential occupant and landlord, the maximum percentage increases contained in category (i), (ii), and (iii) above shall be based upon the date of inception of the lease or rental agreement.

(3) For units where the current or most recent lease or rental agreement does not contain any escalator provisions and where the last rent increase was not an escalator adjustment, a surcharge of 2 percent for category (i), 4 percent for category (ii), and 6 percent for category (iii) may be added to the percentage increases. These rent increases shall be a permanent part of the rent.

(d) Vacancy allowance. The Loft Board reserves the right to address a vacancy allowance when it discusses fixture fee procedures.

(e) Subtenancy allowance. The Loft Board reserves the right to address a subtenancy allowance when it discusses coverage procedures.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Section in original publication July 1, 1991.

Open par added City Record Nov. 4, 1993 eff. Dec. 4, 1993.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. The "Loft Board Interim Rent Guidelines" and "Loft Board Order No. 1" were predecessor versions of this section, which was codified pursuant to the City Administrative Procedure Act. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 2. Where the most recent lease for a loft unit contained escalator provisions, the building owner is not entitled to a rent increase surcharge pursuant to subparagraph (c)(3) of this section, even though the rent escalators provided for in the most recent lease were never enforced. Matter of Longfellow Properties, Inc., OATH Index No. 1780/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 3. Where available evidence reliably shows the amounts of real estate tax escalators actually billed and paid on a regular basis, the amount of the real estate tax escalator for purposes of paragraph (c) of this section is the first regular payment of real estate tax after the expiration of the last lease. However, where such reliable evidence does not exist, the real estate tax escalator may be calculated by adding the real estate tax escalator payments proved to have been made during the last year of the last lease, and dividing by 12. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 4. Water and sewer escalators pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section may not be fixed based solely on evidence of payments over a three-month period, because water usage may be seasonal to some extent. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 5. Where the available evidence indicated that water and sewer escalators were not reliably and regularly billed, the water and sewer escalator pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section was calculated by adding the amounts actually billed and paid during the last 12 months of the last lease and dividing by 12, not by reference to the greater amounts that could have been billed pursuant to the lease. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 6. Gas escalators are not included in the calculation of total rent, and therefore do not affect the rent increases calculated as a percentage of that total rent, pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. However, as long as the building owner continues to be billed for gas usage within the tenants' units, the owner is entitled to pass that cost along to the tenants, provided that the pass-along is based on a fair calculation of the occupants' usage. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 7. A rent increase pursuant to this section is due beginning with the next regular rent payment date after a building owner submits a written demand for the rent increase to the tenants. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 8. Pursuant to subparagraph (a)(1)(ii) of this section, a building owner was not entitled to a rent increase under this section for a unit that was not included in the building owner's IMD registration. Matter of Teitelbaum, OATH Index No. 894/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2133 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 9. This section provides for rent increases for protected occupants of covered loft units regardless whether the occupants are prime lessees pursuant to §2-09(c)(6)(ii)(B) of this chapter or sublessees pursuant to §2-09(c)(6)(i) of this chapter. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 10. Unit registration is a prerequisite to obtaining a rent increase under this section. Matter of Teitelbaum, OATH Index No. 894/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2133 (Aug. 28, 1997). Exception exists where owner had good faith belief unit was registered and otherwise went forward with compliance under the Loft Law, including procuring a residential certificate of occupancy. Matter of M.R.A. Realties, OATH Index No. 1317/98 (Dec. 2, 1998), aff'd in part, modified on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2369 (Feb. 23, 1999).

¶ 11. Calculation of base rent includes the escalators billed and paid during the last month of the lease in effect on December 21, 1982. Matter of M.R.A. Realties, OATH Index No. 1317/98 (Dec. 2, 1998), aff'd in part, modified on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2369 (Feb. 23, 1999).

¶ 12. Lapse in registration since 1990 does not bar the owner from taking the allowed rent increase where the two increases which comprised the allowable seven percent increase under Loft Board Order No. 1 were taken while the unit was still registered. Matter of M.R.A. Realties, OATH Index No. 1317/98 (Dec. 2, 1998), aff'd in part, modified on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2369 (Feb. 23, 1999).

¶ 13. A construction allowance spread over initial two-year term of lease, which was clearly intended to compensate tenants for up-front construction costs, does not permanently reduce monthly rental in the event of lease renewal. Matter of 33 Union Square West, OATH Index No. 732/98 (July 6, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2286 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 14. The final rent provided for by the lease in effect on December 21, 1982, not the amount actually paid by tenant when tenant returned to unit in February 1983 following a fire, prevails in setting the base rent. Matter of 33 Union Square West, OATH Index No. 732/98 (July 6, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2286 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 15. Actions of receivers in foreclosure, in accepting rent checks from tenants, did not operate to waive mortgagee's or subsequent owner's right to maximum statutory increase under Loft Board Order No. 1, where applicants made no showing of actual knowledge of receiver. Matter of 33 Union Square West, OATH Index No. 732/98 (July 6, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2286 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 16. Owner applied for a Rent Guidelines Board increase pursuant to section 2-01(i) of this title. In calculating the initial legal regulated rent, the percentage increase the owner is entitled to is calculated, pursuant to this section, on the total rent of the IMD unit, which includes the base rent as set forth in a lease agreement and subsequent riders, and escalator payments, here an agreed to percentage of the increase in real estate taxes. Matter of Sayage, OATH Index No. 1505/98 (Aug. 28, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2325 (Oct. 27, 1998).

¶ 17. Current owner is not precluded from asserting Loft Board Order No. 1 increases where prior letter agreement set the base rent and 6% increase under Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(2) but was silent on owner's right to any other increases despite not demanding the LBO No. 1 increase. Matter of 473-475 Broadway, LLC, OATH Index No. 761/98, mem. dec. (Apr. 22, 1998) incorporated in OATH Index No. 761/98 (May 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2267 (June 25, 1998).

¶ 18. After Loft Board upheld administrative law judge's determination of coverage and abandonment, matter was remanded for determination of legal regulated rent, and overcharges, if any. Administrative law judge finds that applicants are entitled to overcharges which preceded finding of abandonment, as well as prospective rent regulation, citing Matter of White, Loft Bd. Order No. 2194, 17 Loft Bd. Rptr. 386 (Dec. 18, 1997). Because owner did not register building until April 1998 and unit until August 1998, he is not entitled to section 2-12 increases until September 1998. Because owner has not made demand therefor, he is not entitled to any section 2-06 increases. Administrative law judge calculates the overcharge to be $29,610.00, and rent is set at $127.20. Matter of DeLong,, OATH Index No. 1165/00 (Nov. 1, 2000) (Loft Board subsequently dismissed the portion of the application which had been remanded, based upon a settlement executed by the parties).

¶ 19. After Loft Board upheld administrative law judge's determination of coverage and administrative law judge's denial of trial application to set rent, as no notice was given to defaulting owner (OATH Index No.1897/99), protected tenant filed petition for determination of legal regulated rent. Owner again defaulted. Rent is set at $600.00 per month, reflecting two-thirds of the monthly rent of the protected tenant in occupancy on December 21, 1982, for three floors (basement, first and second floors), as coverage here was granted applicant only as to first and second floors. Although sophisticated lease terms, which provide for performance of work and passage of title to fixtures, in exchange for twenty-year lease at a fixed monthly rent, suggests that there has been a waiver of rent regulation, lease term explicitly preserves all rights under the Loft Law to tenant. This includes the right to rent regulation. Matter of Rolf, OATH Index No. 135/01 (Nov. 30, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2598 (Dec. 19, 2000).

¶ 20. A lease included a provision giving the tenants an option to renew for an additional two years at the original rent plus a cost of living adjustment. In December 1983, the tenant exercised the option and began paying a 40% rent increase. The administrative law judge granted the tenant's rent adjustment application, which set the initial base rent of IMD units at "the next regular rent payment date following December 21, 1982, or following the expiration of the lease or other rental agreement, whichever is later." The maximum legal rent was set at $1,676.54 and overcharges of $14,151.18 were awarded. Matter of Bolotowsky, OATH Index No. 441/03 (Jan. 16, 2003), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2777 (Feb. 6, 2003), aff'd sub nom. Matter of Two Spring Associates v. New York City Loft Bd., 2 Misc.3d 530, 773 N.Y.S.2d 525 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. 2003).

¶ 21. Tenants filed a rent overcharge application with the Loft Board contending that the owner overcharged them in excess of that allowed by this rule. The administrative law judge set the current legal rent at $664.36, based on the base rent on December 21, 1982, a 9% increase based on Loft Board Order No. 1, and a 6% increase based on filing the alteration application. The judge recommended that the tenants be awarded overcharges in the amount of $24,669. The Loft Board modified the judge's recommended amount to $35,169.40 because the owner was not entitled to an offset of the rent that the tenant collected from the sub-lessee. Matter of Edidin, OATH Index No. 1590/03 (Nov. 18, 2003), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2845 (Feb. 19, 2004).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-06.1 Interim Rent Guidelines (II).

(a) Coverage. (1) These rent guidelines apply to interim multiple dwelling ("IMD") units, as defined in §281 of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law, which:

(i) are subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4); and

(ii) are registered with the Loft Board; and

(iii) have a residential occupant qualified for protection pursuant to Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law, who

(A) did not have a lease or rental agreement in effect on July 27, 1987; or

(B) had a lease or rental agreement in effect on July 27, 1987, which expired prior to October 29, 1992 and prior to the IMD unit's compliance with the safety and fire protection standards of Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law; or

(C) had a lease or rental agreement in effect on July 27, 1987, which is still in effect on October 29, 1992, but which expires prior to the IMD unit's compliance with the safety and fire protection standards of Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(2) "Lease or rental agreement" shall mean

(i) a written lease or rental agreement; or

(ii) an oral agreement for a rental period of one year or less, provided that

(A) there had been a change from the previous rent, confirmed by rent checks tendered by the residential occupant and accepted by the landlord within the year prior to July 27, 1987, or

(B) there had been a substantial change in the level of services agreed to be provided within the year prior to July 27, 1987.

(b) Effective date. The effective date of these rent increases for registered IMDs will be the next regular rent payment date following October 29, 1992.

Where written request for the increase is made of the residential occupant within 30 days of the issuance by the Loft Board of an IMD registration number, such increase shall be retroactive to the first regular rent payment date following the submission of the registration application to the Loft Board. However, any such increase shall not be retroactive to a date earlier than October 29, 1992.

Except as indicated above, the rent increases shall apply prospectively only.

(c) Amount of increases. For purposes of these rent guidelines, the following percentages shall be calculated upon the total rent for the residential occupant, including both base rent and escalators. "Escalators" are lease or rental agreement provisions which provided for a residential occupant's payment as rent or additional rent charges based on, but not limited to: real estate taxes; heating fuel; labor; water and sewer; insurance; vault tax; and any cost-of-living increase formulas. Such provisions as relate to gas, electricity and steam charges are excluded from this definition of total rent and these utility escalators, when based on a fair calculation of the occupant's usage, shall be the only escalators permitted following the effective date of the rent increase provided they were part of the last lease or rental agreement in effect on or before July 27, 1987. Total Rent is the amount in base rent and escalators due the landlord from the tenant during the last payment period pursuant to a lease or rental agreement in effect on July 27, 1987, except that the total rent attributable to escalators shall only include the amount demanded by the landlord and paid by the tenant pursuant to said lease or rental agreement. Where no lease or rental agreement was in effect on July 27, 1987, total rent is the rental amount paid by the tenant to the landlord on or before July 27, 1987 pursuant to the last lease or rental agreement in effect.

Rent levels for units covered by this order shall reflect no more than the following maximum percentage increases, calculated as of the effective date of this order to such unit:

(1) For units where the last increase in total rent or a utility escalator pursuant to a lease or rental agreement tendered by the tenant and accepted by the landlord was:

(i) Subsequent to October 29, 1990: there will be no increase permitted above the total rent as defined above.

(ii) Between October 29, 1988 and October 29, 1990: the maximum permissible increase shall be 7 percent of the total rent as defined above.

(iii) Between October 29, 1986 and October 28, 1988: the maximum permissible increase shall be 16 percent of the total rent defined above.

(iv) Between October 29, 1984 and October 28, 1986: the maximum permissible increase shall be 24 percent of the total rent defined above.

(v) Before October 29, 1984: the maximum permissible increase shall be 33 percent of the total rent as defined above.

(2) For units which have had no rent increases since the inception of the last lease or rental agreement between the residential occupant and landlord, the maximum percentage increases contained in category (ii), (iii), (iv), and (v) above shall be based upon the date of inception of the last lease or rental agreement.

These rent increases shall be a permanent part of the rent.

(d) Overcharges and Penalties. Rent payments made prior to the date of adoption of this rule in excess of the amount prescribed by this rule, or §2-06 of these rules, constitute an overcharge, which may be paid at the owner's option either in a lump sum or as a subtraction from the legal monthly rent payments at a rate equal to 20 percent of the legal rent permitted under this rule as of the date of adoption of this rule (October 29, 1992) until payment of the full overcharge is completed. No trebel damages shall be prescribed by this rule or §2-06.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Section added City Record Dec. 4, 1992 eff. Jan. 3, 1993.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Although a building owner must ordinarily serve a demand for a rent increase pursuant to §2-06 or this section, the owner is entitled, despite the lack of such demand, to offset the amount of rent that could have been demanded against the amount due to a tenant who filed a rent overcharge application. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 2. Where the rent billed for a loft unit was increased in 1986, 1988, 1989, 1991, 1993, 1995 and 1996, but the tenant succeeded in invalidating those increases by filing a rent overcharge application, the owner was entitled to a 24 percent rent increase pursuant to subparagraph (c)(1)(iv) of this section. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 3. Owner who had not registered the building as an IMD with the Loft Board was not entitled to any rent increases pursuant to this section. Matter of Tenants of 323-325 W. 37th Street, OATH Index No. 692/06 (May 18, 2007).

¶ 4. Owner's request for an offset to overcharge for rent paid by roommates is denied. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

¶ 5. Current owner is not entitled to offset overcharges collected by the former owner. He may seek indemnification from his predecessor. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-07 Sales of Improvements.

(a) Definitions.

Fair market value. "Fair Market Value" is the value established by a bona fide offer to purchase improvements from a prospective tenant, unless the Loft Board finds, upon application of an owner challenging such offer as not representing fair market value, that the offer does not represent the value of the improvements as determined after the Board's consideration, as further set forth in §2-07(g) herein,

(i) for such improvements as were purchased by the outgoing tenant, of the amount paid by the outgoing tenant, less depreciation for wear and tear and age, to the prior tenant or to the owner, or to both, for purchase of improvements, and

(ii) for such improvements, as were made by the outgoing tenant, of the replacement cost of such improvements, less depreciation for wear and tear and age. If no such offer is made or available, the value shall be established by agreement of the parties or pursuant to an application to the Loft Board, which shall determine the value in accordance with the criteria and procedures set forth herein.

Improvements. "Improvements" are the fixtures, alterations and development of a unit in an interim multiple dwelling which were made or purchased by a residential tenant who is qualified for protection under Article 7-C.

(i) "Fixtures" are defined as that which is fixed or attached to real property permanently as an appendage and shall include, but not be limited to, the following: kitchen installations, including stoves, sinks, counters, and built-in cabinets; bathroom installations, including sinks, toilets, bathtubs, and showers; other installations, including partitions, ceilings, windows, and floors, including tiling; built-in shelves; plumbing and utility risers; electrical work; heating units; and hot water heaters.

(ii) "Alterations and development" shall include, but not be limited to the following: demolition work, including debris removal; repair (other than normal recurring maintenance) and renovation of ceiling, walls, windows, and floors; design; labor; equipment rental; design including professional fees paid to architects and designers in connection with the improvements; and such removable personal property as was reasonable to establish residential use, such as a refrigerator and dishwasher.

Improvements shall not include other removable household furnishings, such as rugs, tables, and chairs, nor statutory rights pursuant to Article 7-C, neither of which may be the subject of a sale pursuant to §286(6) of the Multiple Dwelling Law ("MDL").

Multiple dwelling unit. A multiple dwelling unit (also, "IMD unit" or "unit") is a residential unit in an interim multiple dwelling as defined by MDL §281 and Loft Board Coverage regulations, which unit is registered with the Loft Board as required by regulations relating to registration of interim multiple dwellings at the time of service on the owner of the Improvement Sales Disclosure Form as required herein. Included are units in multiple dwellings which were formerly registered as IMD's and have subsequently been legalized.

(b) Notice: form and time requirements. All notices, requests, responses and stipulations served by owners and tenants pursuant to these regulations shall be in writing, with a copy delivered or mailed to the Loft Board, accompanied by proof of service. Service by the parties shall be effected either (1) by personal delivery or (2) by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, with an additional copy sent by regular mail. Unless otherwise agreed in writing by the parties, with notice to the Loft Board, these communications shall be delivered or sent to the outgoing tenant and to the prospective tenant at the respective addresses specified on the Improvements Sale Disclosure Form, described herein; and to the owner via the registrant of the IMD unit at the address indicated on the IMD registration form unless the owner informs the Loft Board, in writing, of an alternate party or address, or both, to be contacted regarding a sale of improvements. Proof of service shall be in the form of a verified statement of the person who effected service, setting forth the time, place and other details of service, if service was made personally, or by copies of the return receipt and verified statement of mailing, if service was performed by mail. Communications by the Loft Board pursuant to these regulations will be sent by regular mail to the addresses indicated above.

Service shall be deemed effective upon personal delivery or five days following service by mail. Deadlines provided herein are established pursuant to the effective date of service.

(c) Modifications on consent, change of address. Deadlines, herein may be modified, applications may be withdrawn, and disputes may be resolved, by written agreement of the parties, subject to Loft Board approval. Parties may change their address upon service of written notice to the other parties and the Loft Board and such notice shall be effective upon personal delivery or five days following service by mail.

(d) Parties. Unless otherwise indicated herein, in cases involving an offer to purchase improvements, parties shall be limited to the owner and the outgoing tenant, except that a prospective tenant tendering an offer to purchase improvements shall be a party to cases involving issues of the bona fides of an offer.

(e) Sales not subject, or partially subject, to these regulations. These regulations do not apply to IMD units which have never been registered with the Loft Board. Any sales of improvements which take place in such units prior to registration do not constitute sales pursuant to §285(6) of the MDL.

These regulations do not apply to units which the Board has determined not to be covered by Article 7-C of the MDL.

These regulations also do not apply to sales of improvements between co-tenants of an IMD unit, where at least one of the co-tenants is remaining in occupancy and is an occupant qualified for the protection of Article 7-C. Also, compensation to prime lessees by subtenants or assignees who are residential occupants, pursuant to the section of the regulations on Subletting and Similar Matters regarding the prime lessee's right to compensation for costs incurred in developing residential unit(s), shall not constitute sales pursuant to §286(6). After such compensation has been made, where required under such section, the residential occupant shall have the right to sell the improvements in the unit pursuant to §286(6) and these Regulations. (See the section of Subletting and Similar Matters regulations regarding residential occupant's rights to sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL).

In a unit which has been determined by the Loft Board to be covered by Article 7-C, or has previously been registered with the Loft Board, but which is not registered in accordance with §2-07(a) "Interim Multiple Dwelling Unit" above, or with the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal (DHCR), a sale of improvements shall constitute the one-time-only sale as provided by §286(6) but it shall not be subject to the owner's right to challenge except on grounds of suitability of the prospective tenant which challenge must take place in a court of competent jurisdiction.

(f) Applicability. These rules shall apply to sales which occur on or after March 23, 1985, except as provided in §2-07(e), and except that the definition of the term "fair market value" set forth in subdivision (a) of this section, as amended effective on February 16, 1996, shall apply only to sales of improvements with respect to which a Disclosure of Sale Form was filed with the Loft Board on or after February 16, 1996. For the rules applicable to sales which occurred prior to March 23, 1985, see §2-07(h).

(1) Right to sell. The residential occupant of an IMD unit which is qualified for protection under Article 7-C, including such unit which has been legalized and is registered with DHCR, may sell the improvements of the unit to the owner or to a prospective tenant, subject to the procedures established herein. This right to sell may be exercised only once for each IMD unit. Such improvements must be offered to the owner for an amount equal to their fair market value as defined in §2-07(a) "Fair Market Value" above, prior to their sale to a prospective tenant, as provided herein.

(2) Offers to sell to prospective tenant. An outgoing tenant in an IMD unit, proposing to sell improvements to a prospective tenant, shall comply with the following procedures at least 30 days in advance of the date of closing or consummation of the proposed sale: (i) (A) The outgoing tenant shall notify the owner of his or her intent to move and to sell improvements, and the identity of the prospective tenant on an Improvements Sale Disclosure Form ("Disclosure Form"), as prescribed by the Loft Board, providing the following information to the owner:

(a) a list and description of the improvements

(1) installed and

(2) purchased by the outgoing tenant, with accompanying proof of payment; (b) a written copy of the offer, verified by the prospective tenant, to purchase such improvements, which includes all terms and conditions of the offer;

(c) identification of such prospective tenant by name, current business and home addresses and such other address, if any, as such prospective tenant elects for purposes of delivery of notices and communications, and telephone numbers;

(d) an affirmation by the outgoing tenant that he or she installed or purchased the improvements offered for sale, or if not, that he or she is authorized to sell the improvements on behalf of any other parties having ownership interest in such improvements, accompanied by appropriate evidence of such authorization;

(e) an affirmation by the prospective tenant that he or she has received and reviewed the Disclosure Form;

(f) provision of three reasonable dates and times at which inspection of the improvements by the owner or the owner's designee, or both, would be available, within 10 days of service of the Disclosure Form

(B) The Disclosure Form shall also include the following advisories to the prospective tenant:

(a) the improvements for sale are limited to those items listed and described by the outgoing tenant;

(b) the prospective tenant is purchasing absolute title to all removable personal property and the use and enjoyment for the duration of the prospective tenancy of all other property deemed improvements pursuant to these regulations; the owner shall be responsible for maintenance of improvements deemed fixtures pursuant to these regulations except that some improvements may be altered or removed pursuant to code compliance and requirements;

(c) the right to sell improvements may be exercised only once for the unit and an incoming tenant cannot re-sell them except for removable personal property;

(d) the prospective tenant, upon consummation of the sale of improvements, assumes the right and obligations of the outgoing tenant as an occupant qualified for protection under Article 7-C;

(e) the amount of the rent and a statement as to the types of further increases which may be applicable to IMD units pursuant to terms of the Loft Board's interim rent guidelines, pass-throughs of costs determined pursuant to Code Compliance regulations, or rent increases pursuant to the Rent Guidelines Board's orders;

(f) if the building has not been issued a residential certificate of occupancy for its IMD units at the time of the offer to purchase, it remains subject to the requirement of Article 7-C and Loft Board Compliance regulations that such units be brought into compliance; (g) Article 7-C provides that the costs of legalization as determined by the Loft Board are passed through to the tenants and may result in increased rent above the base rent over a 10 or 15 year period;

(h) the offer is subject to the owner's right to purchase the improvements for an amount equal to their fair market value, to challenge the offer as provided in §2-07(g) of these regulations, and to consent to the prospective tenant, provided that consent may not be unreasonably withheld;

(i) rent regulation as provided for in Article 7-C is scheduled to expire on May 31, 2006, pursuant to section 3 of part T of chapter 61 of the Laws of 2005, and may or may not be renewed or amended by the legislature of the State of New York;

(j) the opportunity for decontrol or market rentals, if an owner purchases improvements, may not be available in a building when an owner has been found guilty by the Loft Board of harassment of tenants subject to regulations to be adopted by the Loft Board.

(ii) The original of the Disclosure Form, completed and executed, shall be filed with the Loft Board, together with proof of service. Within 10 days of receipt of such form, the Loft Board staff shall determine whether a sale for the unit in question has been previously recorded at the Board's offices. If such a sale has been recorded, the parties will be so notified and the proposed sale will not be permitted to proceed.

(3) Owner's response to offer and proposed tenant. Within 10 days of service of the Disclosure Form, the owner may request of the outgoing and prospective tenants such additional information as will enable the owner to decide whether or not to purchase the improvements, and to determine the suitability of the prospective tenant. In such response the owner must affirm that the subject unit is currently registered with the Loft Board or DHCR and was registered at the time of service of the Disclosure Form and that he or she either owns the premises or is authorized to act on behalf of the owner in this matter. Any request by the owner for additional information from the outgoing tenant shall not be unduly burdensome. Requests for additional information regarding a decision whether to purchase the improvements must be relevant to the criteria set forth for making such determination in §2-07(g) below. If the owner submits further requests for information regarding the purchase of improvements, determined by the Loft Board to be unduly burdensome, such owner may forfeit his/her right to purchase the improvements in question.

Within 20 days of service of the Disclosure Form, or of the additional information reasonably requested by the owner, whichever is later, the owner shall notify the outgoing and prospective tenant, of the owner's

(i) acceptance and commitment to purchase at the offered price,

(ii) consent to the proposed tenant and sale or

(iii) rejection of the offer based on one or more of the grounds for challenge enumerated in §2-07(g)(2) herein by service upon the outgoing and prospective tenants of a challenge application and by filing with the Loft Board a copy of said challenge. If one of the grounds for challenge is the unsuitability of the prospective tenant, the owner must initiate any action based on that ground in a court of competent jurisdiction, and shall so inform the Loft Board in writing.

If the owner rejects the offer, the notice shall elaborate the grounds therefor. If the rejection is based on the claim that the offer exceeds the fair market value of these improvements, the rejection shall include the owner's fair market valuation of the improvements and the owner's commitment to purchase if the fair market value is determined to be no greater than such valuation. If the rejection is based on the owner's claim that (s)he made or purchased the improvements, the rejection shall indicate which improvements are so claimed and include proof thereof.

Failure of the owner to file a complete application, including payment of a fee of $800.00 to cover the full cost of an appraiser selected by the Board, with the Loft Board, with copies to the outgoing and prospective tenants, within the time for response prescribed in §2-07(f)(3) above, shall be deemed an acceptance of the proposed sale except if the owner's challenge is on the ground of the unsuitability of the prospective tenant, the owner must initiate any action based on that ground in a court of competent jurisdiction and shall so inform the Loft Board in writing within the time period for response prescribed in §2-07(f)(3).

(4) Acceptance of prospective tenant through owner's consent to tenant's purchase or through owner's failure to respond. An owner's failure to send a complete notice of acceptance or rejection within the time provided above, or such other time as mutually agreed upon, shall be deemed an acceptance of the proposed sale and tenant. In such a case, or when the owner consents to the proposed tenant, said tenant shall assume the rights and obligations of the outgoing tenant as an occupant qualified for protection under Article 7-C, upon the consummation of the sale and compliance with the other provisions of these regulations. Such tenant shall be permitted to commence residency, notwithstanding the lack of a residential certificate of occupancy covering the unit. He or she shall pay the rent previously charged to the outgoing tenant, including any applicable pass-throughs determined pursuant to Code Compliance regulations plus:

(i) any increases permissible pursuant to the Loft Board's interim rent guidelines if such increases have not already been imposed; or

(ii) any increases pursuant to the Rent Guidelines Board's orders, if applicable.

(5) Owner's purchase of improvements. If the owner elects to purchase the improvements in an IMD unit in accordance with the terms of the offer, the owner shall notify the outgoing tenant and the prospective tenant of such commitment as required in §2-07(f)(3) above, and shall meet the terms of the offer within 30 days of service of such commitment upon the outgoing tenant. Failure by the owner to consummate such a commitment within such 30-day period shall be deemed a waiver of the owner's right to purchase the improvements at an amount equal to their fair market value.

Upon consummation of the purchase by the owner and compliance with the filing provisions of these regulations, any unit subject to rent regulation solely by reason of Article 7-C of the MDL, and not receiving any benefits of real estate tax exemption or tax abatement, shall be exempted from the provisions of Article 7-C requiring rent regu- lation,

(i) if such building had fewer than six residential units on June 21, 1982, and on July 27, 1987; or

(ii) if the unit was purchased by the owner pursuant to these rules before July 27, 1987 and the building had fewer than six residential units on June 21, 1982, but six or more residential units on July 27, 1987.

Otherwise, upon consummation of the purchase by the owner any unit subject to rent regulation solely by reason of Article 7-C of the MDL, and not receiving any benefits of real estate tax exemption or tax abatement, shall be subject to subsequent rent regulation after being rented at market value, if such building had six or more residential units on June 21, 1982 or on July 27, 1987.

These exemptions from rent regulation shall not be available in a building when an owner has been found guilty by the Loft Board of harassment of tenants pursuant to §2-02. This restriction shall apply to any sale of improvements that takes place on or after the date of the order containing the finding of harassment until such time as the order may be terminated by the Loft Board in accordance with §2-02(d)(2).

(g) Challenges to proposed sales of improvements. (1) Procedures. (i) An owner of an IMD unit who is contesting the proposed sale of improvements shall apply to the Loft Board for a determination within 20 days of service of the Disclosure Form, or within such additional period as provided pursuant to §2-07(f)(3) above, and at such time shall pay the mandated filing fee.

Filing of an application which is found by the Loft Board to be frivolous may constitute harassment, with the consequences provided in §2-07(f)(5) herein. An objection to the sale may be found to be frivolous on grounds including, but not limited to, the following: that it was filed without a good faith intention to purchase the improvements at fair market value or that the owner's valuation of the improvements has no reasonable relationship to the fair market value, as determined by the Loft Board.

(ii) Recognizing the necessity that sales of improvements occur without undue delays, the Loft Board will process challenges to such sales pursuant to the following expedited procedures:

(A) The owner shall serve the outgoing tenant and prospective tenant with a copy of the owner's challenge application, upon such forms as are established by the Loft Board, and shall file two copies of the application at the Loft Board, with proof of service.

(B) Three copies of any written answers from the outgoing and prospective tenants in response to the challenge application must be served on the Loft Board at its offices within five business days of receipt of such challenge application.

The outgoing tenant's answer shall include three available dates and times during regular business hours within 10 days of the date of filing of the answer with the Board during which the improvements will be available to be inspected by a Board-appointed appraiser.

Appraisers shall be appointed by the Loft Board and shall be suitably qualified in valuing improvements and shall be a Registered Architect, a Professional Engineer or a New York State Certified General Real Estate Appraiser. Appraisers shall sign a written statement agreeing to adhere to the appraisal standards and procedures adopted by the Board.

The Loft Board shall serve a copy of the answer on the owner and on the prospective tenant. The Board shall also notify the owner, outgoing tenant and prospective tenant of an inspection date at one of the times designated by the outgoing tenant, or at another time fixed by the Board if none of the proposed dates is mutually convenient. Following such an inspection, a copy of the appraiser's findings shall be mailed to the three parties. A hearing date shall be fixed at a date no fewer than eight days nor more than fifteen days from the mailing by the Loft Board of the answer or, if applicable, the appraiser's report, whichever is later. There shall be no more than one adjournment per party, limited to seven days, for good cause shown. Except as provided herein, the requirements of the Loft Board's rules and regulations for Internal Board Procedures shall apply.

If a challenge application results in an order by the Loft Board determining that the offer constitutes fair market value, the owner may exercise the right to purchase improvements at that price or, if the determination is that the offer does not constitute fair market value, at the price determined to constitute fair market value. The owner shall notify the outgoing tenant within 10 days of service of the Loft Board's order determining fair market value of the owner's intent to purchase at such price less half the cost of the appraisal and shall consummate the purchase within 10 days of such notice to the outgoing tenant, except that where the fair market value determination is less than the offered price received by the outgoing tenant, the outgoing tenant may decline to sell the improvements. The Loft Board's order determining fair market value shall constitute the price at which the outgoing tenant must first offer to sell the previously offered improvements to the owner for a period of two years from the issuance of the Loft Board order.

(iii) If the owner elects not to purchase at the Board-determined fair market value, the outgoing tenant may sell to a prospective tenant without challenge by the owner to the fair market value of the offer. The owner's failure to consummate a purchase, following notice of intent to purchase, within the period prescribed above, shall be deemed an election not to purchase.

(2) Grounds for challenge. A challenge fully setting forth the owner's claims may be filed on the following grounds:

(i) The offer is not a bona fide, arms-length offer which discloses to the owner all its terms and conditions.

(ii) Some or all of the improvements offered for sale were made or purchased by the owner, not the outgoing tenant, with the specificity required in §2-07(f)(3) above.

(iii) The offer exceeds fair market value as determined in accordance with the following standards:

(A) A bona fide offer to purchase improvements made or purchased by the outgoing tenant shall be presumed to represent fair market value.

(B) The presumption may be rebutted if the owner establishes that

(a) for such improvements as were purchased by the outgoing tenant, the offer exceeds the amount paid to the owner or to the former tenant, or both, for such improvements; or

(b) for such improvements as were made by the outgoing tenant, the offer exceeds the replacement cost of the improvements less depreciation for wear and tear and age.

(C) Noncompliance of the improvements with the building code or other applicable laws or regulations shall not be considered in diminution of the amount paid or the replacement costs for improvements made or purchased prior to March 23, 1985.

If a basis of a challenge is the unsuitability of the prospective tenant, the owner must initiate any action based on that ground in a court of competent jurisdiction; such challenge will not be entertained by the Loft Board.

(h) Sales which occurred prior to the effective date of these regulations. (1) For sales which occurred prior to March 23, 1985, the provisions of this section shall apply as follows:

(i) Where application for registration as an IMD was received on or before January 31, 1983, sales of improvements consummated on or after June 21, 1982 shall be subject to the rights and obligations set forth in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subdivision (h).

(ii) Where application for registration as an IMD was received after January 31, 1983, sales of improvements consummated after receipt of such application, but prior to March 23, 1985, shall be subject to the rights and obligations set forth in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subdivision (h).

(iii) Where sales of improvements were consummated for IMD units, prior to application for registration and prior to March 23, 1985, these regulations do not apply and such sales do not constitute the one-time only sales permitted pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL.

(2) Prior sales without offer to owner or without acceptance. If the sale of improvements in an IMD unit to an incoming tenant has occurred prior to March 23, 1985, and is subject to the provisions of this subsection (see subparagraphs (1)(i) and (1)(ii) of this subdivision (h)), either without their first having been offered for purchase to the owner, or with the owner having contested the sale in writing, the owner must be afforded the opportunity to purchase the improvements at an amount equal to their fair market value, except that if the owner has accepted rent from the incoming tenant who purchased the improvements, such owner may purchase the improvements at the price paid by such incoming tenant, which shall be deemed to constitute fair market value, and may not challenge that price as in excess of fair market value.

(i) Where the owner has retained his/her right to purchase pursuant to this paragraph (2), and may wish to purchase the improvements, and the unit is registered with the Loft Board or with DHCR the owner must serve the purchasing tenant with a notice of his/her interest in purchasing the improvements no later than 90 days from the effective date of this regulation. The tenant must serve the owner with a notice describing the improvements purchased together with proof of payment of the amount paid to the outgoing tenant, within 15 days of service of notice by the owner. Within 30 days of receipt of this information, the owner shall send a notice to the tenant of the owner's

(A) commitment to purchase at such price,

(B) challenge to the fair market value of the improvements, unless such challenge is barred by the owner's acceptance of rent from the incoming tenant, or

(C) acceptance of the sale and tenancy, and such notice or failure to respond shall be of the same form, effect and consequences as if provided pursuant to §§2-07(f)(3)-(5) above.

(ii) Where the owner consummates a purchase of improvements pursuant to this section,

(A) the tenant shall have the right to remain in occupancy at the rent previously paid and accepted by the owner for 120 days, commencing on the first rent payment date following owner purchase, after which such tenant must either vacate the premises or agree to pay the rent set by the owner, with subsequent rent regulation, if applicable; or

(B) if the owner has not been accepting rent from such tenants, the tenant shall have the right to remain for 60 days commencing on the first rent payment date following owner purchase, provided that use and occupancy is tendered by the tenant in the amount of rent paid by the last tenant, after which such tenant must vacate the premises or agree to pay the rent set by the owner, with subsequent rent regulation, if applicable.

(3) Prior sales of improvements with offer to owner. (i) If the sale of improvements in an IMD unit has occurred prior to March 23, 1985, and is subject to the provisions of this section (see §§2-07(h)(1)(i) and (ii) above), either

(A) to the owner, or

(B) to a prospective tenant where the owner has declined to purchase but did not claim in writing that the purchase price was in excess of the fair market value, a Loft-Board-approved Sales Record shall be filed with the Loft Board within 30 days of the effective date of this regulation. Any transaction which is the subject of a Record filed in compliance with this section shall be deemed valid and shall constitute the one-time-only sale authorized by §286(6) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, regardless of whether it was conducted in accordance with the procedures for sales of improvements described herein.

(ii) If a tenant claims that a sale of improvements prior to March 23, 1985 did not yield fair market value and that tenant was denied rights under the statute, such a challenge must be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction and will not be entertained by the Loft Board except that if such tenant claims harassment the Loft Board may entertain such claim pursuant to Loft Board regulations on harassment.

(i) Fair market value of improvements; hardship exemptions, vacate orders, owner occupancy. In the event that the failure of an owner to comply with the legalization deadlines mandated by MDL §284(1)(i) or MDL §284(1)(ii) results in a municipal vacate order pursuant to MDL §284(1)(iv), or in the event of the granting by the Loft Board of a hardship exemption pursuant to MDL §285(2), or in the event that the owner successfully obtains the right to occupy former IMD units under the provisions of the Rent Stabilization Law and the Rent Stabilization Code §§2524.4(a) and 2525.6, an occupant qualified for Article 7-C protections may apply to the Loft Board for a determination of fair market value of improvements and reasonable moving expenses. As further provided in MDL §284(1)(iv), any such vacate order is to be deemed an order to correct the non-compliant conditions, subject to the provisions of Article 7-C, and the occupant shall have the right to reoccupy the unit when the condition has been corrected and shall be entitled to all applicable protections of Article 7-C. The Board shall determine fair market value in accordance with this section except that the tenant shall be the applicant, affected parties shall be limited to the owner and tenant, and the tenant shall offer proof of reasonable moving expenses as well as both parties offering proof as to the value of the improvements. Upon a finding by the Board of the fair market value of the improvements and of reasonable moving expenses, it shall order the owner to pay such amounts to the tenant plus an amount equal to the application fee.

(j) Filing of sale record. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) below, within 30 days of the sale of improvements in a unit pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law §286(6) or of March 23, 1985, whichever is later, the owner, if such owner purchased the improvements shall file a Loft Board-approved Sale Record, which provides the following information: address of IMD and location of unit; name and telephone number of incoming tenant; description of improvements conveyed; purchase price and purchaser; and rent. Failure by the owner to file the required Sale Record within 30 days of the sale of improvements will subject the owner to a civil penalty up to $1,000 as determined by the Loft Board.

(2) If a tenant purchases improvements subsequent to March 23, 1985, no further filing is required. Unless the Loft Board is otherwise informed, receipt by the Loft Board of a Disclosure Form shall be presumed to be notice that a sale to the prospective tenant identified therein has taken place, 60 days following receipt of such Disclosure Form, or 60 days following the last deadline modification approved by the Loft Board. If no sale has occurred, the outgoing tenant shall so inform the Board within 60 days of such time. If the outgoing tenant fails to advise the Board within the prescribed 60 days that no sale has taken place, such tenant may nevertheless rebut the presumption by filing an application for improvement sales consisting of another Disclosure Form, the filing fee for a sale of improvements application of $800.00, and an affirmation by the outgoing tenant that the prior proposed sale did not occur, that the tenant has remained in occupancy of the unit and that no sale of improvements in the unit has occurred.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Jan. 17, 1996:

Section 282(d) of the Multiple Dwelling Law ("MDL") provides, in pertinent part, that the New York City Loft Board has the authority to issue and enforce rules and regulations on the hearing of complaints and applications made to it and on rules and regulations governing compliance with MDL Article 7-C, the "Loft Law". Pursuant to this authority, the Loft Board has previously issued rules relating to Sales of Improvements, 29 RCNY §2-07.

The Loft Board is amending its rules regarding sales of improvements to address issues that have arisen since these rules were enacted in 1985. The most significant issue is the depreciation of these improvements due to wear, and tear and age. In 1985 many of the improvements that were installed were relatively new. In 1995 they are considerably older and the Board recognizes that depreciation has had a significant impact upon value.

The Board also added language to acknowledge the validity of sales of improvements that occur after a unit has been legalized and registered at the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal and for instances where a tenant is evicted pursuant to principal vacate orders or owner occupancy proceedings.

Pursuant to the above-cited authority, the proposed amendments to rules relating to Sales of Improvements, 29 RCNY §2-07, will further the goals of MDL Article 7-C insofar as they clarify the rights of owners and tenants in an increasing number of IMD units that are becoming legalized and registered with DHCR.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. The owner's failure to act within 20 days to either match the offer made by the incoming tenant or to challenge the fair market value before the Loft Board or the suitability of the incoming tenant in court, results in the owner's acceptance of the incoming tenant and the sale of improvements to them. Ross v. Wolfe, 641 N.Y.S.2d 303 (App.Div. 1st Dept. 1996); accord, Mark-Holli Realty, Inc. v. New York City Loft Board, 205 A.D.2d 399, 613 N.Y.S.2d 588 (1st Dept. 1994).

¶ 2. Pursuant to subparagraph (h)(1)(iii) of this section, an alleged sale of improvements during July or August 1982 did not constitute the one-time sale permitted by §286(6) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, because the sale was consummated before application for registration and before March 23, 1985. Matter of Perkins, OATH Index No. 1988/96 (May 1, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2122 (June 26, 1997).

¶ 3. Where the prime tenant purchased the fixtures of one of his subtenants in October 1982, and the building owner registered the building as an IMD by registration dated January 31, 1983 but received by the Loft Board on February 2, 1983, the sale of improvements was governed by subparagraph (h)(1)(iii) of this section, and therefore the sale of improvements did not constitute the one-time sale permitted pursuant to §286(6) of the Multiple Dwelling Law. Matter of Longfellow Properties, Inc., OATH Index No. 1780/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 4. Where improvements to a loft unit were made by an earlier tenant, and were neither made by nor purchased by the subsequent tenant of the unit, the subsequent tenant is not entitled under this section to sell the improvements. Matter of Sansone, OATH Index No. 1125/96 (Mar. 27, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1955 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 5. Applicant's express sale of rights pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(12) and sale of fixtures pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(6) to prior landlord operated to deregulate the entire third floor of premises, pursuant to paragraph (5) of this section. Matter of Fergusson, OATH Index No. 923/99 (June 11, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2440 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 6. Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(6) and this rule provide that an outgoing residential tenant qualified for protection under the Loft Law may sell improvements to the incoming tenant, subject to the owner's right of first refusal. However, neither the law nor rule extend such right to the estate of a deceased tenant. Thus, the protected occupant's estate was not entitled to the value of improvements. Matter of 595 Broadway Associates, OATH Index No. 1083/02 (Nov. 7, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2770 (Jan. 9, 2003).

¶ 7. Sale of fixtures between outgoing and incoming tenants found invalid where co-owner had delivered a valid notice exercising its right to purchase unit's rights and improvements pursuant to subdivision (f)(5) of this section and the statutory right of owners to purchase improvements. Matter of 79 Warren Street Associates, LLC OATH Index Nos. 749/03, 1523/03 (Jan. 13, 2004), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2852 (Mar. 18, 2004).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-08 Coverage and Issues of Status.

Registration as an interim multiple dwelling (hereinafter IMD) with the New York City Loft Board (hereinafter Loft Board) shall be required when a building, structure or portion thereof meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law as further delineated in the following regulations.

(a) Definitions.

Building.

(i) As defined in §12-10 of the Zoning Resolution, a building is any structure which:

(A) is permanently affixed to the land

(B) has one or more floors and a roof

(C) is bounded by either open area or the lot lines of a zoning lot

(D) may be a row of structures and have one or more structures on a single zoning lot.

(ii) In deciding whether a structure is a single building, as distinguished from more than one building for purposes of IMD determination, the Loft Board shall employ the definition set forth above and consider inter alia the following factors:

(A) whether the structure is under common ownership;

(B) whether contiguous portions of the structure within the same zoning lot are separated by individual load-bearing walls, without openings for the full length of their contiguity, as distinguished from non-loadbearing partitions;

(C) whether the structure has been operated as a single entity, having one or more of the following:

(a) a common boiler;

(b) a common sprinkler system;

(c) internal passageways;

(d) other indicia of operation as a single entity.

(D) whether the owner or a predecessor has at any time represented in applications or other official papers that the structure was a single building;

(E) whether a single certificate of occupancy has been requested or issued for the structure; the pattern of usage of the building during the period from April 1, 1980, to December 1, 1981.

Grandfathering. For purposes of these regulations, "grandfathering" means the administrative process by which a residential unit, located where residential use is not otherwise permitted by the Zoning Resolution, is determined by the agency designated in the Zoning Resolution, to have been residentially occupied on a specified date, and is therefore a legal residential use as of right, eligible for Article 7-C coverage.*3 Grandfathering may also be accomplished by a special permit process defined in subdivision (ii) below, which requires a further discretionary approval in addition to determination of occupancy on a specified date.

(i) Minor modification and an administrative certification. A "minor modification" and an "administrative certification" as found in §281(2)(i) of the Multiple Dwelling Law are terms which refer to various procedures which may be specified in the Zoning Resolution in addition to the grandfathering determinations of occupancy, concerning non-discretionary actions by the agency to which an application must be made.

(ii) Special permit. A "special permit" as found in §281(2)(iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law is a term referring to a grandfathering procedure specified in the Zoning Resolution which involves a discretionary determination and approval by the City Planning Commission, to which the application must initially be made, and by the Board of Estimate.4

Residential unit. For purposes of these regulations the residence or home of a "family" as defined in Multiple Dwelling Law §4(5)5 shall be deemed a residential unit.

In order to qualify as a residential unit, the unit must have attributes of independent living such as:

A separate entrance providing direct access to the unit from a street or public area, such as a hallway, elevator or stairway within a building;

One or more rooms arranged to be occupied by the members of a family, which room or rooms are separated and set apart from all other rooms within a building; and

Such other indicia of independent living which demonstrate the unit's use as a residence of a family.

Study area. A study area as found in §281(2)(iii) of the Multiple Dwelling Law is a term referring to an area, defined in §42-02 of the Zoning Resolution, which is currently zoned as manufacturing and under study by the City Planning Commission for a determination of the appropriateness of the zoning.

(b) Certificate of occupancy. (1) Registration as an IMD of any building, structure or portion thereof for which a final, as distinguished from a temporary, residential certificate of occupancy was issued pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law prior to June 21, 1982, shall not be required for such units designated as residential on the certificate of occupancy. Such units shall be exempt from Article 7-C coverage unless the certificate of occupancy is revoked.

(2) Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall be required of:

(i) Any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, for all residentially-occupied units which lacked a final residential certificate of occupancy issued pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law prior to June 21, 1982. Issuance of a residential certificate of occupancy for such units on or after June 21, 1982, will not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage;

(ii) Any building, structure or portion thereof which meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, for all residentially occupied units which obtained a temporary, but not final, residential certificate of occupancy issued pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law prior to June 21, 1982. Issuance of a temporary residential certificate of occupancy for such units prior to June 21, 1982, will not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage if on or after June 21, 1982 a period of time of any length existed for whatever reason whatsoever during which a temporary or final certificate of occupancy issued pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law was not in effect for such units.

(iii) Any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, for all residentially occupied units for which a temporary or final residential certificate of occupancy has been revoked. The prior issuance of a temporary or final certificate of occupancy which has been revoked for such units will not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage.

(c) Qualifying period of occupancy. (1) Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall be required of any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, and had at least three units residentially occupied on December 1, 1981, since April 1, 1980. If the building, structure or portion thereof contained three units so occupied on December 1, 1981, and on April 1, 1980, and such residential use is permissible under the Zoning Resolution as of right, or through grandfathering, or the units are in a study area as defined in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these regulations, there shall be a presumption that the building is an IMD and that such units are covered under Article 7-C. However, if there is a determination by the Loft Board that there was a bona fide change to exclusively non-residential use in a unit between April 1, 1980, and December 1, 1981, such unit shall not be counted for purposes of determining whether the building is an IMD. The occupant of any unit which changed to a bona fide exclusively non-residential use, must have been a party distinct and independent of the owner of the building for the presumption of IMD coverage to be rebutted.

(2) Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall also be required of any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in MDL §281 and these rules, that had one or more units residentially occupied on May 1, 1987, since December 1, 1981, that was occupied for residential purposes since April 1, 1980, regardless of whether residential use is permitted under the Zoning Resolution as of right, or through grandfathering as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" of these rules, or because the building is located in a study area as defined in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these rules. Residential occupancy of one or more units of the building, structure or portion thereof, as described in this paragraph, on May 1, 1987, on December 1, 1981 and on April 1, 1980, shall create a presumption that the building is an IMD or that such unit or units are covered under Article 7-C. However, if there is a determination by the Loft Board that there was a bona fide change to exclusively non-residential use in a unit between April 1, 1980, and December 1, 1981 or between December 1, 1981 and May 1, 1987, such unit shall not be counted for purposes of determining whether the building is an IMD. The occupant of any unit which changed to a bona fide exclusively non-residential use must have been a party distinct and independent of the owner of the building for the presumption of IMD coverage to be rebutted.

(3) Neither vacancies of any duration for units residentially occupied on December 1, 1981, and on April 1, 1980 as set forth in §2-08(c)(1), or for units occupied on May 1, 1987, on December 1, 1981 and on April 1, 1980 as set forth in §2-08(c)(2), nor a change or changes or residential occupants in such units during the intervening period(s) will be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage.

(d) Calculation of residential units. (1) Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall be required of any building, structure or portion thereof which has a minimum of three residential units, except as provided in subparagraph (v) of paragraph 1 of this subdivision, and which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations. For purposes of counting to determine whether a building qualifies as an IMD and must be registered, the term "residential unit" shall include:

(i) Any unit which meets the criteria of §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law in that:

(A) a portion of the building or structure within which the unit is located was occupied at any time for manufacturing, commercial or warehouse purposes;

(B) it lacked a residential certificate of occupancy pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law as further delineated in §§2-08(b)(1) and (2) of these regulations;

(C) it was occupied for residential purposes on December 1, 1981, since April 1, 1980, as further delineated in §2-08(c) of these regulations; and

(D) it is located in a geographical area in which the Zoning Resolution permits residential use as of right or in which the residential use may become a use as of right as a result of approval of a grandfathering application, in accordance with §281(2)(i) or (iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law as defined in §2-08 (a) "Grandfathering" of these regulations; or is located in a study area designated by the Zoning Resolution for possible rezoning to permit residential use, in accordance with §281(2)(iii) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, as defined in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these regulations;

(ii) Any unit designated as "Artist in Residence"

(A.I.R.) pursuant to directives of the Department of Buildings, creating such status;

(iii) Any unit designated as "joint living work quarters for artists" pursuant to the Zoning Resolution;

(iv) Any unit residentially-occupied by a subtenant or assignee of the prime tenant of such unit.

(v) Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall also be required of any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in MDL §281, which has one or more residential units that were residentially occupied on May 1, 1987, since December 1, 1981, that were occupied for residential purposes since April 1, 1980, as further delineated in §2-08(c)(2) of these rules, regardless of whether the building is located in a geographical area in which the Zoning Resolution permits residential use as of right, or through grandfathering as defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" of these rules or because the building is located in a study area as defined in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these rules. However, for a unit to qualify as a "residential unit" pursuant to this subparagraph, the building in which it is located must meet the criteria of MDL §§281(1) and 282(2)(ii) in that: (A) a portion of the building or structure was occupied at any time for manufacturing, commercial or warehouse purposes; (B) the building lacked a residential certificate of occupancy pursuant to MDL §301 as further delineated in §§2-08(b)(1) and (2) of these rules; (C) it contained at least three units residentially occupied on December 1, 1981, since April 1, 1980; and (D) it is not municipally owned.

(2) For purposes of counting to determine whether a building qualifies as an IMD and is covered under Article 7-C, residential units described as follows shall not be included: (i) Any units designated as residential on a final certification of occupancy issued pursuant to §301 of the Multiple Dwelling Law prior to June 21, 1982;

(ii) Any units designated as "joint living work quarters for artists" on a final certificate of occupancy issued prior to June 21, 1982;

(iii) Any units designated for a commercial use with an accessory residential use on a final certificate of occupancy issued prior to June 21, 1982.

(e) Zoning regulations. (1) Registration as an IMD shall be required of any building, structure or portion thereof, which meets the criteria for an IMD as set forth in §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and the regulations issued pursuant thereto, except that any building located in a zoning district designated as manufacturing in the Zoning Resolution, for which district there are no "grandfathering" provisions as defined in these regulations shall not qualify as an IMD. This exception, however, shall not apply to buildings, structures or portions thereof which otherwise meet the criteria of §281(1) for an IMD, if such building is located in a "Study area" as defined in §2-08(a)&#34§udy area" of these regulations and the registration of such building shall be required. This exception shall also not apply to buildings, structures or portions thereof which otherwise meet the criteria of MDL §281(1), if such building also meets the requirements of MDL §281(4) and the rules issued pursuant thereto. Except for a building or structure or portion thereof which qualifies for coverage under Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), the zoning regulations and the grandfathering provisions for the district in which a building or structure is located will determine whether and when the owner of such building, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281(1) and the regulations issued pursuant thereto, is mandated to meet the compliance requirements for legalization set forth in ;st284(1).

(2) Any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations and is located in an area which permits residential use as of right, shall be obligated to meet the compliance requirements for legalization by the dates designated in §284(1), except as provided in §§2-08(e)(4)(i) and (iii) infra and as further delineated in §2-01(a) of these rules. The term "residential use as of right" as employed in §281(2) of Article 7-C means that the zoning regulations permit residential use without requiring further approvals pursuant to the Zoning Resolution.

(3) Any unit designated as "joint living work quarters for artists" in a zoning district which does not otherwise permit residential use as of right and which is currently occupied by a resident or residents who cannot qualify as certified artists, as defined in 7-C, if the building in which such unit is contained, otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations. The non-artist status of the current occupant shall not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage including the legalization requirements of §284(1). At the time of issuance of the final certificate of occupancy, the occupant of such a unit must be in compliance with the Zoning Resolution or the unit must be vacant.

(4) Legalization compliance timetable.

(i) For any building, structure or portion thereof, which contains fewer than three residential units as of right and one or more units eligible for coverage by employing one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §§281(2)(i) or (iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and defined in §2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii) of these regulations, the timing of the compliance requirements of §284(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law shall commence upon approval of the grandfathering application of the unit which becomes the third eligible residential unit for purposes of calculation of units qualifying the building as an IMD.

(ii) For any registered building in the category described in §2-08 (e)(4)(i) of these regulations, for which denial of a grandfathering application reduces the number of qualifying residential units below three, IMD status for such building expires and the other residential units in such building cease to be covered by Article 7-C, unless the building qualifies for coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4) and the rules issued pursuant thereto.

(iii) Any building, structure or portion thereof which contains three or more residential units as of right, and one or more additional units eligible for coverage by employing one of the grandfathering provisions of §§281(2)(i) or (iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, shall be obligated to meet the compliance requirements for legalization by the dates designated in §284(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, as further delineated in §2-01(a) issued pursuant thereto, for such as of right residential units. The timing of the compliance requirements for the other eligible units shall commence as follows:

(A) Where an application for grandfathering for such unit is made pursuant to one of the procedures designated as a "minor modification" or "administrative certification" in §281(2)(i) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, upon a determination of residential occupancy on the date designated in the particular grandfathering provision of the Zoning Resolution;

(B) Where an application for grandfathering for such unit is made pursuant to a "special permit application as designated in §281(2)(iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, upon the granting of such special permit.

(iv) For any unit eligible for coverage by employment of one of the grandfathering procedures set forth in §§281(2)(i) or (iv) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and defined in §§2-08(a) "Grandfathering" (i) and (ii), the final denial of a grandfathering application or the failure to apply for grandfathering within the time period specified in the Zoning Resolution will terminate coverage for such unit unless such unit qualifies for coverage under Article 7-C pursuant to MDL §281(4).

(v) For any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD set forth in §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, but is located in an area designated by the Zoning Resolution as a study area, the timing of the compliance requirements of §284(1) shall commence upon rezoning of such study area to permit residential use as of right. If the rezoning permits residential use only through grandfathering procedures, the timing of the compliance requirements of §284(1) and the rules issued pursuant thereto shall commence upon the approval of the grandfathering application of the unit which becomes the third eligible residential unit for purposes of calculation of units qualifying the building as an IMD.

For any registered building in a study area as described in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these regulations, for which the City Planning Commission has approved neither rezoning nor grandfathering by December 31, 1983, IMD status for such building expires and all of the units in such building cease to be covered by Article 7-C, unless there is a recommended extension of such deadline by the City Planning Commission. If the Board of Estimate disapproves rezoning for residential use or grandfathering or the extension of such deadline, IMD status for such building expires and all the units in such building cease to be covered by Article 7-C.

However any building, structure or portion thereof which ceased to be covered under Article 7-C as a result of the failure to rezone the study area, permit grandfathering or to extend the deadlines as set forth in the foregoing paragraph shall be covered by Article 7-C if it meets the criteria of MDL §281(4) of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(f) Municipally owned buildings. (1) Any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD as set forth in §2-09(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, but is municipally owned, shall be exempt from coverage of Article 7-C.

(2) Any building, structure or portion thereof, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD as set forth in §281(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, formerly municipally owned, but for which title passed to a private owner, shall be required to register as an IMD. The former ownership by the municipality shall not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage.

(g) Accreted units. (1) In a building, structure or portion thereof which meets the criteria of §§281(1) and 281(2) or 281(4) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, thereby qualifying as an IMD, the occupant or occupants of any additional unit residentially occupied for the first time after April 1, 1980 but prior to April 1,1981 in such IMD may also be covered under Article 7-C.

In order to qualify for coverage, the occupancy of such unit must be permissible under the Zoning Resolution. For purposes of §2-09(3) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, occupancy of such additional units shall be deemed permissible if:

(i) the unit is located in a zoning district where residential use as of right is permitted under the Zoning Resolution; or

(ii) the unit is designated as "joint living work quarters for artist" in a zoning district which does not otherwise permit residential use as of right, regardless of whether the occupant or occupants qualify as "certified artists" as defined in §12-10 of the Zoning Resolution; or

(iii) the unit can qualify as having a legal residential use pursuant to one of the grandfathering provisions of the Zoning Resolution, as defined in §2-08(a)"Grandfathering" of these regulations; or

(iv) the unit is in a study area, as defined in §2-08(a) "Study area" of these regulations, for which the City Planning Commission has approved either rezoning for residential use or grandfathering by December 31, 1983.

(2) Registration of such accreted units as part of the IMD shall be required for all units that qualify for Article 7-C coverage.

(3) Where a building, structure or portion thereof meets the criteria of §§281(1) and 281(2) or 281(4) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations, thereby qualifying as an IMD, it must be registered with the Loft Board. A decrease in the number of residentially occupied units in a building which qualifies for coverage pursuant to §§281(1) and 281(2) to fewer than three after December 1, 1981 will not be the basis for exemption from IMD coverage. However, the discontinuance of residential occupancy after December 1, 1981, but prior to May 1, 1987, of a unit which qualifies for coverage under Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4) will result in such unit being exempt from IMD coverage. Remaining residentially occupied units, limited to units in existence during the qualifying period of occupancy, set forth in §281(1)(iii) or 281(4) of the Multiple Dwelling Law, as further delineated in §2-08(c) of these regulations, and accreted units as defined in §281(3) of the Multiple Dwelling Law and §2-08(g)(1) of these regulations, shall be entitled to the protections of Article 7-C, including the legalization requirements of §284(1) of the Multiple Dwelling Law.

(h) Non-covered units in an IMD. (1) Any space in an IMD which was not previously occupied residentially on or before June 21, 1982, and is subsequently converted to residential use, is not covered by Article 7-C, and the owner of such space must obtain a residential certificate of occupancy before permitting the commencement of such occupancy.

(2) Notwithstanding that a building qualifies as an IMD, any unit first occupied residentially on or after April 1, 1981, is not covered under Article 7-C. Occupants of any such unit are not entitled to the protections of Article 7-C. Residential occupancy of such unit shall not be permitted unless a residential certificate of occupancy is obtained.

(i) De facto multiple dwellings. Registration as an IMD with the Loft Board shall be required of any building, structure or portion thereof judicially determined to be a de facto multiple dwelling, which otherwise meets the criteria for an IMD, as set forth in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and these regulations. Such prior judicial determination will not be the basis for exemption from Article 7-C coverage.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Apparently, the loft law and regulations do not mandate the eviction of a loft tenant who has been overcharging subtenants. The court decided that, in any event, the alleged overcharge was not such an egregious act as to warrant eviction of the tenant. Ariel Assocs. v. Brown, N.Y.L.J., Sept. 18, 1997, page 29, col. 6 (Civ.Ct. New York Co.).

¶ 2. At trial in a tenant's coverage application pursuant to this section, evidence in support of the building owner's position that a loft unit was too small to be legalized and that the unit could not be configured to comply with building and fire codes was precluded, and those issues were deferred to subsequent legalization proceedings. Matter of DeGraw, OATH Index No. 625/96 (Jan. 17, 1996), report and recommendation (Apr. 25, 1997), remanded on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2114 (May 22, 1997), supplemental report and recommendation (June 17, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2126 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 3. Where a loft unit was subdivided into two separate units by the original prime tenants in 1979, and each of the two units had its own kitchen, bathroom and elevator access, the two units were separate residential units pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, even though the units were registered with the Loft Board as a single unit, they shared utility accounts, one mailbox, and one hot water heater, and one of the units lacked separate access to the stairway and fire escape. Matter of DeGraw, OATH Index No. 625/96 (Apr. 25, 1997), remanded on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2114 (May 22, 1997), supplemental report and recommendation (June 17, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2126 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 4. Installation of a bedroom in a loft unit used primarily for an art studio was not sufficient to create a residential unit pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, where the unit lacked a bathroom, kitchen, running water, appliances or fixtures. Matter of Wada, OATH Index No. 1519/96 (July 25, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2156 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 5. Where a loft unit in a building otherwise covered by the Loft Law was first occupied residentially in the fall of 1980, and that unit was divided in half and one half was sublet on July 21, 1981, to a residential occupant who lived there continuously thereafter, that occupant's portion of the original unit was covered by the Loft Law as an accreted unit pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section, and the occupant was protected pursuant to §2-09(b) of this chapter. Matter of Jemison, OATH Index No. 618/96 (Feb. 23, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1942 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 6. Unit was abandoned pursuant to section 2-10(f) of this title when tenant was evicted due to non-payment of rent, but under subparagraph (j)(2) of this section the unit remains subject to all the requirements of Article 7-C, including rent regulation, unless and until owner complies with the conditions for deregulation under this section. Matter of Freiman Coated Fabric Corp., OATH Index No. 988/98, amended report (Apr. 7, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2281 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 7. Where a tenant, who was a professional artist, obtained employment in the Woodstock, New York area, registered her car from the upstate address and represented to the insurance company that the car would be garaged upstate (thus obtaining less expensive insurance), and subscribed to an internet service in the Woodstock area but not in New York City, the court held that the tenant did not maintain the loft apartment as a primary residence. Prince v. Brisson, N.Y.L.J., Oct. 17, 2001, page 23, col. 5 (Civ.Ct. Kings Co.).

¶ 8. Tenant's application for protected occupant status as to three floors of the premises was granted in part and denied in part, where tenant failed to show that one floor, the basement, was occupied during the window period. The Loft Board, in a prior case, had found window period occupancy as to the other units on the first and second floors. Matter of Rolf, OATH Index No. 1897/99 (July 1, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2431 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 9. Successor tenants' coverage application was denied where they took occupancy pursuant to a commercial lease after the owner had decovered the unit by filing with the Loft Board and the Department of City Planning a restrictive declaration pursuant to section 2-08.1 (formerly section 2-08(j)) following the eviction of the previous residential tenant. Matter of Fahrer, OATH Index No. 1405/99 (Oct. 26, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2484 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 10. Determination of coverage involves a case by case analysis of the sufficiency of the indicia of residential use as a whole. No one factor is dispositive. Administrative law judge found sufficient indicia of conversion of the loft to residential use during such period, where tenant built a loft bed; erected L-shaped sheet rock walls and hung a heavy curtain to enclose his living area; had residential phone service; had various personalty in the loft including, a table, chairs, hot plates, refrigerator, and stereo; installed a mail slot to receive mail; installed a bathtub for his exclusive use; entertained guests in the loft; used a separate door from the one used by the commercial tenant to enter the loft; and produced documentary evidence such as W-2 forms, bank statements and telephone receipt, to establish the loft as his primary residence. Fact that tenant had to share a bathroom with the commercial tenant in the larger commercial space, had to walk through the factory space to exit the loft, occupied only a third of the loft, cooked on a hot plate, had no hot water, no stove, no shower, and had no separate gas or plumbing lines in his living cubicle, did not preclude finding of residential use. Matter of South 11th Street Tenants' Association, OATH Index Nos. 1242-44/96 (Mar. 30, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2397 (Apr. 29, 1999).

¶ 11. Administrative law judge directed grant of decoverage application where applicant demonstrated that all formerly residential units at the premises were no longer residentially occupied and that there have been no findings of harassment against the landlord. Matter of Bradley Acquisition, LLC, OATH Index No. 1712/02 (Aug. 22, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2754 (Oct. 2, 2002).

¶ 12. Administrative law judge rejected owner's motion to dismiss petition based on laches and estoppel as the Loft Law does not contain a limitation period for applications to add an accreted unit to a previously registered Interim Multiple Dwelling pursuant to subsection (g) of this section. Matter of Van Derbeek, OATH Index No. 1972/01 (Feb. 13, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2717 (Mar. 14, 2002).

¶ 13. Administrative law judge dismissed an application to add petitioner's unit to the covered units in the building as an accreted unit pursuant to subsection (g)(1) of this section where petitioner could present no documentary evidence to corroborate his claim that the unit was residentially occupied after April 1, 1980 but prior to December 1, 1981. Matter of Maio, OATH Index No. 1294/02 (July 12, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2755 (Oct. 2, 2002).

¶ 14. Voluntary registration is the equivalent of a Loft Board finding of coverage. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3460 (Oct. 16, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-08.1 Eviction of Residential Occupants.

(a) Grounds for eviction. The landlord of an IMD registered with the Loft Board may bring eviction proceedings against the residential occupant of a unit in a court of competent jurisdiction on any of the following grounds:

(1) that the unit is not the primary residence of such residential occupant, except that where a lease or rental agreement is in effect between the landlord and such residential occupant, the landlord may not seek to evict such occupant until such lease or rental agreement is no longer in effect; or

(2) that the residential occupant is committing or permitting a nuisance in such unit; or is maliciously or by reason of gross negligence substantially damaging the building; or his or her conduct is such as to interfere substantially with the comfort and safety of the landlord or of the other occupants of the same building or of adjacent buildings or structures; or

(3) any of the grounds for eviction specified in the Real Property Law or the Real Property Actions and Proceedings Law, to the extent that such grounds are not inconsistent with Article 7-C and any regulations promulgated by the Loft Board.

(b) Effect of eviction. Any unit which becomes vacant as a result of the eviction of a protected occupant or occupants pursuant to §2-08.1(a), supra, of these rules shall remain subject to all the requirements of Article 7-C, and rules and orders of the Loft Board, including the legalization requirements of §284 of the Multiple Dwelling Law and rent guidelines issued by the Loft Board, except that the landlord may convert such unit to a non-residential conforming use, provided that the landlord file with the Loft Board a certified copy of an irrevocable recorded covenant in form satisfactory to the Loft Board, enforceable by the City of New York for fifteen (15) years from the date of recording, that the unit will not be re-converted to residential use during such time. When the conversion of such unit to a non-residential conforming use reduces the number of qualifying units below three, however, IMD status for such building and the remaining residential units covered under Article 7-C in such building, shall not be affected.

(c) Succession rights. (1) Any family member, as defined in paragraph (3) of this subdivision, shall not be evicted under subparagraph (a) of §2-08.1 where the protected occupant has permanently vacated the IMD unit and such family member has resided with the protected occupant in the unit as a primary residence for a period of no less than two years, or where such person is a "senior citizen" or a "disabled person," as defined in paragraph (3) of this subdivision, for a period of no less than one year, immediately prior to the permanent vacating of the unit by the protected occupant, or from the inception of the occupancy or commencement of the relationship, if for less than such periods. The minimum periods of required residency set forth in this subdivision shall not be deemed to be interrupted by any period during which the "family member" temporarily relocates because he or she:

(i) is engaged in active military duty;

(ii) is enrolled as a full time student;

(iii) is not in residence at the unit pursuant to a court order not involving any term or provision of the lease, and not involving any grounds specified in the Real Property Actions and Proceedings Law;

(iv) is engaged in employment requiring temporary relocation from the housing unit; (v) is hospitalized for medical treatment; or

(vi) has such other reasonable grounds that shall be determined by the Loft Board upon application by such person.

(2) On a form prescribed by the Loft Board, a protected occupant may, at any time, advise the landlord of, or a landlord may at any time, request from the protected occupant, the information required in subparagraphs (i) through (iv) of this paragraph (2). Failure of the protected occupant to provide such information to the landlord, regardless of whether the landlord requests the information, shall place upon all such persons not so made known to the landlord, who seek to exercise the right to protection from eviction as provided for in this subdivision, the affirmative obligation to establish such right. Such required information is as follows:

(i) the names of all persons other than the protected occupant who are residing in the unit; and

(ii) if such other person is a "family member" as defined in paragraph (3) of this subdivision; and

(iii) if such other person is, or upon the passage of the applicable minimum period of required residency, may become a person entitled to protection from eviction pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subdivision, and the date of the commencement of such person's primary residence with the protected occupant; and

(iv) if such other person is a "senior citizen" or a "disabled person" as defined in paragraph (3) of this subdivision.

(3) For the purposes of this subdivision:

(i) "family member" is defined as a husband, wife, son, daughter, stepson, stepdaughter, father, mother, stepfather, stepmother, brother, sister, grandfather, grandmother, grandson, granddaughter, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law of the protected occupant; or any other person residing with the protected occupant in the IMD unit as a primary residence who can prove emotional and financial commitment, and interdependence between such person and the protected occupant. Although no single factor shall be solely determinative, evidence which is to be considered in determining whether such emotional and financial commitment and interdependence existed, may include, without limitation, such factors as listed below. In no event would evidence of a sexual relationship between such persons be required or considered.

(A) longevity of the relationship;

(B) sharing of or relying upon each other for payment of household or family expenses, and/or other common necessities of life;

(C) intermingling of finances as evidenced by, among other things, joint ownership of bank accounts, personal and real property, credit cards, loan obligations, sharing a household budget for purposes of receiving government benefits, etc.;

(D) engaging in family-type activities by jointly attending family functions, holidays and celebrations, social and recreational activities, etc.;

(E) formalizing of legal obligations, intentions, and responsibilities to each other by such means as executing wills naming each other as executor and/or beneficiary, conferring upon each other a power of attorney and/or authority to make health care decisions each for the other, entering into a personal relationship contract, making a domestic partnership declaration, or serving as a representative payee for purposes of public benefits, etc.;

(F) holding themselves out as family members to other family members, friends, members of the community or religious institutions, or society in general, through their words or actions;

(G) regularly performing family functions, such as caring for each other or each other's extended family members, and/or relying upon each other for daily family services;

(H) engaging in any other pattern of behavior, agreement, or other action which evidences the intention of creating a long-term, emotionally committed relationship;

(ii) a "senior citizen" is defined as a person who is sixty-two years of age or older;

(iii) a "disabled person" is defined as a person who has an impairment which results from anatomical, physiological or psychological conditions, other than addiction to alcohol, gambling, or any controlled substance, which are demonstrable by medically acceptable clinical and laboratory diagnostic techniques, and which are expected to be permanent and which substantially limit one or more of such person's major life activities.

(4) Any persons in occupancy of an IMD unit on or after the effective date of this rule who has then been in occupancy for the minimum periods of required residency set forth in this subdivision shall have the benefits of succession rights.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Apr. 4, 2001 and Mar. 30, 2001:

This rule codifies the Loft Board's position, previously set forth in Board decisions, that the family members who live with a protected occupant in the two years preceding a protected occupant's permanent vacancy from the IMD unit shall be protected from eviction. In addition, senior citizens and disabled persons who live with a protected occupancy in the one year preceding the protected occupant's permanent vacancy from the IMD unit are protected from eviction. The rule tracks the tenant succession law as it applies to rent stabilized units.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Where a loft unit was abandoned pursuant to §2-10(f) of this chapter eight months before the landlord obtained a Civil Court judgment of possession, paragraph (j) (now §2.08.1) of this section, which applies to loft vacancies which occur due to eviction, was inapplicable. Matter of Kangs Heritage Management Corp., OATH Index No. 762/98 (Dec. 19, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2221 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 2. Successor tenants' coverage application was denied where they took occupancy pursuant to a commercial lease after the owner had decovered the unit by filing with the Loft Board and the Department of City Planning a restrictive declaration pursuant to this section following the eviction of the previous residential tenant. Matter of Fahrer, OATH Index No. 1405/99 (Oct. 26, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2484 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 3. Generally, abandonment cannot be found based on an eviction due to the lack of a voluntary relinquishment of possession. However, administrative law judge found abandonment based on petitioner's sufficient, reliable and unrebutted evidence establishing that the subject unit was abandoned by two of three sequential residential occupants following the eviction of the window period residential occupant by the former landlord of the building. Matter of Mervin,OATH Index No. 1965/01 (Nov. 8, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2689 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 4. To qualify as a residential unit under this section, the unit must have attributes of "independent living". Coverage application where the contested issue was whether a particular unit was residentially occupied during the window period. Application was denied based on finding that tenant only proved, at most, that he resided in the loft a few days per month during the window period, thus falling short of establishing the unit had the attributes of "independent living" necessary to support a finding of coverage. Matter of Addis, OATH Index No. 1574-75/02 (Nov. 25, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2772 (Jan. 9, 2003), reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2954 (Sept. 15, 2005).

¶ 5. Wife of protected occupant, who was not named on lease, was not entitled to protected status, but she may have succession rights which would protect her from eviction. Matter of Tenants of 323-325 W. 37th Street, OATH Index No. 692/06 (May 18, 2007).

¶ 6. Once an IMD unit becomes vacant following an eviction, the owner can choose to lease the unit to a new residential tenant or it may convert the property to conforming non-residential use and file a restrictive covenant. Where the owner did not file the restrictive covenant until well after leasing the unit to new tenants, who took occupancy and paid rent (at a higher rate), the unit was not removed from regulation when the restrictive declaration was filed. Rader v. Grand Morgan Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 207/08 & 208/08 (Jan. 4, 2008).

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-09 Subletting and Similar Matters.

(a) Definitions.

Prime lessee. As used in these regulations, the term "prime lessee" shall mean the party with whom the landlord entered into a lease or rental agreement for use and occupancy of a portion of an IMD, which is being used residentially, regardless of whether such lessee is currently in occupancy or whether such lease remains in effect.

Privity. As used in these regulations, the term "privity" shall mean a direct contractual relationship between two parties, which may be established explicitly, implicitly or by operation of law.

Tenant. Where the term "tenant" is used in Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law, to refer directly or implicitly to a residential tenant, it is deemed interchangeable with the use of the word "occupant" in Article 7-C.

(b) Occupant qualified for possession of residential unit and protection of Article 7-C.

(1) Except as otherwise provided herein, the occupant qualified for protection under Article 7-C shall be the residential occupant in possession of a residential unit, covered as part of an IMD.

(2) If the residential occupant in possession of a covered residential unit is not the prime lessee, the lack of consent of the landlord to a sublet, assignment or subdivision establishing such occupancy shall not affect the rights of such occupant to the protections of Article 7-C, provided that such occupant was in possession of such unit prior to June 21, 1982, or prior to July 27, 1987 for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4) and the rules issued pursuant thereto.

(3) When a residential occupant took possession of a residential unit covered as part of an IMD, on or after June 21, 1982, or on or after July 27, 1987 for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4) and the rules issued pursuant thereto, such occupant shall be qualified for the protection of Article 7-C if:

(i) he/she is a prime lessee with a lease currently in effect or, if he/she took possession, with the consent of the landlord, as a statutory tenant pursuant to Article 7-C, without the issuance of a new lease; or

(ii) he/she is the assignee of a prime lessee and such assignment was consented to by the landlord; or

(iii) prior to establishment of such occupancy, the landlord was offered the opportunity to purchase improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

(4) The prime lessee, or sublessor who is not the prime lessee, shall be deemed the residential occupant qualified for the protection of Article 7-C, if he/she can prove that the residential unit covered as part of an IMD is his/her primary residence, even if another person is in possession. If the prime lessee or sublessor fails to prove that such unit is his or her primary residence, the rights of such person to recover such a unit are extinguished. The prime lessee or sublessor must exercise, in a court of competent jurisdiction, his/her right to recover such unit upon expiration or termination of the sublease under the terms of which he/she is the immediate overtenant or where such sublease is no longer in effect, on or before December 24, 1983, whichever is later, except that, for IMD units that are subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4) and the rules issued pursuant thereto, the primary lessee or sublessor must exercise his/her right upon expiration or termination of the sublease or where such sublease is no longer in effect, on or before February 21, 1993, whichever is later.

(5) In an IMD where a prime lessee is in possession of a portion of the space which he or she leased from the landlord, such prime lessee shall be entitled to remain in possession, and be qualified for the protections of Article 7-C, only with respect to the portion of such space which he or she occupied as a residential unit (including any portion thereof used for home occupations or as the working portion of a joint-living-working quarters for artists), and shall not be entitled to claim any of the remaining space as a primary residence against the occupant of any other residential unit within such space, except to the extent provided for in §2-09(c)(5) of these regulations, below, of these regulations and not withstanding the provisions of §§2-09(b)(3) and (b)(4) above. The current residential occupants of the remaining units created through subdivision shall be qualified for protection under Article 7-C with regard to their respective residential units covered by Article 7-C, except as provided in §§2-09(b)(3) and (b)(4), above, of these regulations.

(c) Rights, obligations and legal relationships among the parties.

(1) Legalization and cost of legalization. The landlord of an IMD is responsible for legalization pursuant to §284 of the MDL, for all covered residential units, regardless of whether the occupant is the prime lessee or a person or persons with whom the prime lessee entered into an agreement permitting such persons to occupy units in space covered by the prime lease. The costs of legalization as reflected in rent adjustments made pursuant to §286(5) of the MDL, apportioned among covered residential units, shall be borne directly by the residential occupants qualified for protection of such units.

(2) Privity.

(i) The residential occupant qualified for protection, if other than the prime lessee, shall be deemed to be in privity with the prime lessee if either:

(A) there is a lease or rental agreement in effect regarding the residential unit between the prime lessee and the residential occupant; or

(B) there is a lease or rental agreement in effect regarding the residential unit or the space in which it is located, between the landlord and the prime lessee. No lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the residential occupant, shall have any force or effect beyond the term of the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord except as provided in §§2-09(c)(6) or (c)(7) herein of these regulations.

(ii) The prime lessee and the landlord shall be deemed in privity when there is a lease or rental agreement in effect between them.

(iii) The residential occupant and the landlord shall be deemed in privity when the residential occupant is the prime lessee; or when the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord, covering the residential occupant's unit or the space in which it is located, is no longer in effect. All leases or rental agreements (except subleases entered into pursuant to §226-b of the RPL and §2-09(c)(4), below, of these regulations promulgated pursuant thereto), which have not expired shall be deemed to be no longer in effect upon certification by the Department of Buildings of the landlord's compliance with the fire and safety protection standards of Article 7-B, and at that time a residential lease subject to the emergency tenant protection act of nineteen seventy-four must be offered to the residential occupant, pursuant to §286(3) of the MDL.

(3) Services.

(i) When the landlord and residential occupant are in privity, the landlord shall be responsible for meeting the minimum housing maintenance standards established by the Loft Board.

(ii) When the prime lessee and the residential occupant are in privity there shall be no diminution of services from the prime lessee to the residential occupant. The prime lessee shall be responsible for meeting the minimum housing maintenance standards established by the Loft Board to the extent such standards are required pursuant to lease or rental agreement and to the extent such services are within the control of the prime lessee. Otherwise, such services shall be provided by the landlord.

(4) Subletting rights of occupants qualified for protection under Article 7-C.

(i) All occupants qualified for protection under Article 7-C shall have the right to sublet their units pursuant to and in accordance with the procedures specified in §226-b of the Real Property Law, notwithstanding that such occupants may reside in an interim multiple dwelling (IMD) having fewer than 4 residential units, and that such occupants may not have a current lease or rental agreement in effect. The residential occupant of a unit in a subdivided space, who is not in privity with the landlord, must obtain the consent of both the prime lessee of such space and the landlord to a proposed sublet of such unit, which may not be unreasonably withheld in accordance with §226-b of the Real Property Law.

(ii) In addition, the right to sublet shall be subject to the following provisions:

(A) The rental charged to the subtenant may not exceed the legal rent, as established pursuant to Article 7-C and these regulations, plus a ten percent surcharge payable to the residential occupant if the unit sublet is furnished with the residential occupant's furniture;

(B) The residential occupant must be able to establish that the residential unit is his/her primary residence;

(C) The residential occupant may not sublet the unit for more than a total of two years, including the term of the proposed sublease, out of the four-year period preceding the termination date of the proposed sublease;

(D) The term of the proposed sublease may extend beyond the term of the residential occupant's lease, if such a lease is in effect, or beyond the date of the Department of Buildings certification of the landlord's compliance with Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law. In such event, such sublease shall be subject to the residential occupant's right to continued occupancy pursuant to Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law or the right of such residential occupant to issuance of a lease upon Article 7-B compliance. It shall be unreasonable for a landlord to refuse to consent to a sublease solely because the residential occupant has no lease or rental agreement in effect or because such sublease extends beyond the residential occupant's lease or beyond the anticipated date of 7-B compliance.

(E) Where a residential occupant violates the provisions of subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, the subtenant shall be entitled to damages of three times the overcharge and may also be awarded attorney's fees and interest from the date of the overcharge at the rate of interest payable on a judgment pursuant to §5004 of the CPLR.

(F) The provisions in subparagraphs (ii)(A) through (E) of this paragraph (4) shall apply to all subleases commencing on or after the effective date of these regulations. Subleases entered into on or after June 21, 1982, but prior to the effective date of these regulations, shall not be subject to subparagraphs (ii)(A), (C) and (E) of this paragraph (4), but shall be subject to subparagraphs (ii)(B) and (D) of this paragraph (4) and the provisions of Section 226-b of the Real Property Law, in effect at the time of the commencement of the sublease.

(G) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (ii)(F) of this paragraph (4), the provisions in subparagraphs (ii)(A) through (E) of this paragraph (4) shall apply to all subleases for IMD units which are subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4) commencing on or after November 23, 1992. Subleases for such units entered into on or after July 27, 1987, but before November 23, 1992, shall not be subject to subparagraphs (ii)(A), (C) and (E) of this paragraph (4), but shall be subject to subparagraphs (ii)(B) and (D) of this paragraph (4) and the provisions of §226-b of the Real Property Law, in effect at the commencement of the sublease.

(iii) If any clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision or part of this §2-09(c)(4) of these regulations shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall render invalid this entire section on subletting rights of residential occupants.

(5) Prime lessee's right to recover subdivided space.

(i) Where the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of the space he/she has leased from the landlord and the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is in effect, the prime lessee may recover for his/her own personal use a residential unit located within such space voluntarily vacated by the residential occupant prior to the establishment of privity between such residential occupant and the landlord. The right to recover space pursuant to this regulation shall not be available to a prime lessee found by the Loft Board to be guilty of harassment of any residential occupant(s). The recovered space shall be deemed part of the prime lessee's residential unit, and in no event shall the prime lessee relet such space for any purposes whatsoever, except that he/she shall have the same rights to sublet his/her entire residential unit as provided in §2-09(c)(4) of these regulations.

Where a prime lessee waives his/her right to recover a residential unit in space leased by a prime lessee and vacated by the residential occupant, the prime lessee may sell improvements to the unit made or purchased by him/her to an incoming tenant, provided that the prime lessee shall first offer the improvements to the landlord for an amount equal to their fair market value pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. The incoming tenant shall be in privity with the landlord, and the initial maximum rent shall be determined in accordance with §2-09(c)(6)(ii)(A) of these regulations, if the incoming tenant purchases the improvements; or the rent due shall be the initial market rental (subject to subsequent rent regulation if the IMD has six or more residential units) if the landlord purchases the improvements.

(ii) Where the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of the space he/she has leased from the landlord and the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is in effect, the prime lessee may recover for his/her own personal use a residential unit located within such space, if the residential occupant of such unit agrees to the purchase by the prime lessee of such occupant's rights in the unit. The recovered space shall be deemed part of the prime lessee's residential unit, and in no event shall the prime lessee relet such space for any purpose whatsoever, except that he/she shall have the same rights to sublet his/her entire residential unit as provided in §2-09(c)(4) of these regulations. Where the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is no longer in effect, the prime lessee's right to recover space pursuant to this subsection shall expire on July 5, 1988 or, for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), on January 22, 1993.

(iii) Where the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of subdivided space as his/her primary residence, which he/she rented from the landlord, the prime lessee shall be entitled to recover as part of his/her primary residence a residential unit, located within the space, occupied by another person or persons, if such prime lessee can establish that:

(A) there was an express written agreement between the prime lessee and the occupant of such space, other than the mere expiration of the lease, entitling the prime lessee to recover such space, and that the prime lessee has not taken actions inconsistent with exercising the option entitling him/her to recover such space;

(B) the prime lessee has occupied the entire demised premises as his/her own primary residence for at least one year prior to the subdivision and subletting of the unit;

(C) the prime lessee has a compelling need to recover such space; and

(D) the prime lessee has not been guilty of harassment of residential occupants.

Space recovered pursuant to this provision shall be deemed part of the prime lessee's residential unit, and in no event shall the prime lessee relet such recovered space for any purpose whatsoever, except that he/she shall have the same rights to sublet his/her entire residential unit as provided in §2-09(c)(4) above, of these regulations, provided, however, that no such sublet shall be permitted for the first two years after recovery. The prime lessee shall have the right to make a claim to recover space pursuant to this provision, before the Loft Board, where there is a lease or rental agreement in effect between him/her and the landlord, or, where such an agreement is no longer in effect, on or before July 5, 1988 or, for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), on or before January 22, 1993.

(6) Rent.

(i) When the residential occupant is in privity with the prime lessee, the maximum permissible rent payable by such occupant to the prime lessee shall be the rent established in such occupant's lease or rental agreement, subject to the limitations in applicable Loft Board Interim Rent Guidelines or, if such lease or rental agreement is no longer in effect, in accordance with §2-06 or, for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), in accordance with §2-06.1.

(ii) When the residential occupant is in privity with the landlord, such occupant shall pay rent as follows:

(A) if the residential occupant is other than the prime lessee, the maximum rent shall be the amount last regularly paid under the terms of the lease or rental agreement with the prime lessee, or the sublessor, if other than the prime lessee, plus any increases permissible and subject to any limitations under §2-06 or, for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), under §2-06.1, and any other relevant orders of the Loft Board.

(B) if the prime lessee is the residential occupant of the entire space leased from the landlord, the maximum rent shall be the amount specified in the lease or rental agreement, subject to any limitations in applicable Loft Board Interim Rent Guidelines or, if the lease or rental agreement is no longer in effect, the amount permissible pursuant to §2-06 or, for an IMD unit subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), the amount permissible pursuant to §2-06.1, and any other relevant orders of the Loft Board.

(C) (a) if the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of the space leased from the landlord and the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is in effect for the entire space, the maximum rent shall be the amount specified in the lease or rental agreement for the entire space and any permissible increases pursuant to any relevant orders of the Loft Board.

(b) if the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of the space leased from the landlord and the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is no longer in effect for a residential unit or units located in a portion of such space, because privity has been established between the residential occupant(s) of such unit or unit(s) and the landlord pursuant to §2-09(c)(5)(i), above, of these regulations, the rent due shall be based on the rent paid by the prime lessee to the landlord under the most recent rental agreement for the entire space plus any increases permissible under §2-06 or, for any IMD unit(s) subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), under §2-06.1, and any other relevant orders of the Loft Board. The maximum rent from the prime lessee to the landlord shall be an amount equal to the percentage of the rent so calculated, equivalent to a fraction, the numerator of which is the square footage of

(1) the leased space occupied by the prime lessee's unit plus

(2) any other unit regarding which he/she remains in privity with the residential occupant, and the denominator of which is the square footage leased from the landlord.

(D) (a) if the prime lessee is the residential occupant of a portion of the space leased from the landlord, but the lease or rental agreement for all other units within the space is no longer in effect because the occupants of such units have entered into privity with the landlord, the maximum rent shall be based on the rent paid by the prime lessee to the landlord under the most recent rental agreement for the entire space plus any increases permissible under §2-06 or, for any IMD unit(s) subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), under §2-06.1, and any other relevant orders of the Loft Board. The maximum legal rent from the prime lessee to the landlord shall be an amount equal to the percentage of the rent so calculated, equivalent to a fraction, the numerator of which is the square footage of the leased space which his or her unit occupies and the denominator of which is the entire space leased from the landlord.

(b) where the rent paid by the residential occupant(s) of such space who were in privity with the prime lessee to the prime lessee and the prime lessee's proportionate share of the rent as calculated under §2-09(c)(6)(ii)(D)(a) above (without inclusion of any increases permissible under Loft Board Interim Rent Guidelines or other relevant orders of the Loft Board), are greater than the amount of rent specified in the most recent lease or rental agreement for the entire space between the prime lessee and the landlord or, if applicable, the amount of rent as calculated under §2-09(c)(6)(ii)(C)(b), the excess amount shall be treated as follows:

It shall be the landlord's option to either:

(1) reduce the monthly legal rent due from the prime lessee by one-half of such excess amount as calculated on a monthly basis, but in no event shall the monthly legal rent be less than $100; or

(2) make a single lump sum payment to the prime lessee equal to one-half of the monthly excess amount multiplied by 36. The landlord may exercise his/her option to make a single, lump sum payment at any point. If the landlord chooses the option of a single lump sum payment, at a point after the prime lessee has commenced paying a rent calculated under subparagraph (1) above, the single payment due the prime lessee from the landlord shall not be diminished by the amount of the prior reductions in rent. Upon payment of the single lump sum payment the landlord may increase the prime lessee's monthly rent to the maximum amount allowable under §2-09(c)(6)(ii) (D)(a), above. Any prime lessee found guilty of harassment of any residential occupant shall not be entitled to the rent reduction or single lump sum payment provided for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) above.

(3) The rent adjustments of this subparagraph (D) and subparagraph (A) shall apply to the next regular rent payment due on or after July 5, 1988, or the next regular rent payment due on or after January 22, 1993 for IMD units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4), if the lease or rental agreement between the prime lessee and the landlord is no longer in effect. Otherwise the rent adjustments shall apply to the next regular rent payment due after such lease or rental agreement, or portion thereof, is no longer in effect, but in no event earlier than July 5, 1988, or, for IMD units subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), no earlier than January 22, 1993.

(7) Prime lessee's or sublessor's right to compensation for costs incurred in developing residential unit(s).

(i) Where a prime lessee or sublessor who is not the prime lessee has incurred costs for improvements made or purchased in developing residential unit(s) in any space for which he/she had or has a lease or rental agreement and for which he/she is not the residential occupant qualified for protection under Article 7-C, such prime lessee or sublessor shall be entitled to recover from the residential occupant(s) compensation for the prime lessee's or sublessor's actual costs incurred in developing the residential unit in question.

(ii) The prime lessee or sublessor and the residential occupant may agree to payment of such compensation upon any terms that are mutually acceptable, at any time prior to the deadline for the filing of an application as described in subdivision (iii) below. All such agreements shall be submitted to the Loft Board within 90 days of their execution.

(iii) If the parties are unable to agree upon the amount and terms of compensation prior to the establishment of privity between the residential occupant and the landlord, as defined in §2-09(c)(2) of these regulations, the prime lessee or sublessor or the residential occupant may apply to the Loft Board for resolution of any dispute over compensation of the prime lessee or sublessor any time after the residential unit has been registered with the Loft Board without timely contest of coverage or determined to be covered by the Loft Board or a court of competent jurisdiction, but no later than 180 days after:

(A) the establishment of privity between the residential occupant and the landlord, or

(B) May 6, 1988, or

(C) the landlord's registration of the residential unit without timely contest of coverage or the determination of coverage of the residential unit by the Loft Board or a court of competent jurisdiction, or

(D) for any IMD unit(s) subject to Article 7-C solely by reason of MDL §281(4), November 23, 1992, whichever is the latest. The application shall comply with the regulations of the Board governing applications, except that, for purposes of §l-06(a) of such regulations, the affected parties shall be limited to the prime lessee or sublessor, the residential occupant, and the owner. The application shall also comply with the regulations of the Board governing fees.

(iv) The Loft Board shall first determine whether any compensation is due the prime lessee or sublessor, based on consideration of the following factors:

(A) whether the prime lessee or sublessor incurred any costs as defined below in subdivision (v)(A), allocable to the particular unit in question; and

(B) whether the prime lessee or sublessor has already been compensated in accordance with the terms of a prior agreement. The amount of rent paid to the prime lessee or sublessor in excess of the amount which would represent a proportionate share of the rent paid by the prime lessee to the landlord, based on the percentage of the total floor space occupied, shall not be credited towards such compensation of the prime lessee or sublessor, in the absence of a specific agreement.

(v) If it is determined that the prime lessee or sublessor did incur costs for improvements for which he or she has not yet been compensated, the Board shall determine the amount due in accordance with the following criteria:

(A) all improvements as defined in the Board's regulations on Sales of Improvements shall be compensable;

(B) the Board shall establish the value of such improvements by determining the actual costs incurred for the improvements;

(C) compensation determined to be due shall be made in accordance with a payment schedule agreed to by the prime lessee or sublessor and the residential occupant, or, if no agreement is reached, a payment schedule not to exceed 6 months set by the Board, contained in the Board's order.

(vi) Compensation made pursuant to this paragraph (7) shall provide residential occupants the opportunity to purchase improvements but shall not constitute the sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL.

(vii) (A) A residential occupant may offer the landlord the opportunity to compensate the prime lessee or sublessor for costs incurred for improvements made or purchased in developing a residential unit. The compensation to be paid is the amount determined by agreement of the prime lessee or sublessor, and the residential occupant, pursuant to subparagraph (7)(ii) above or as determined by the Loft Board pursuant to subparagraph (7)(v) above. If the landlord chooses to pay this compensation to the prime lessee or sublessor, the residential occupant remains the occupant qualified for Article 7-C protection, except that he/she forfeits the right to sell improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL. Compensation of the prime lessee or sublessor by the landlord shall not affect the rent due from the residential occupant;

(B) if the landlord compensates the prime lessee or sublessor pursuant to this subdivision, the prime lessee or sublessor shall have no right to recover the unit for his/her own personal use pursuant to §§2-09(b)(4) and (c)(5) of these regulations. When the residential occupant vacates the unit, the landlord shall be entitled to lease the unit at market rent, absent a finding by the Loft Board of harassment by the landlord of occupants; (C) if the landlord declines the opportunity to compensate the prime lessee or sublessor, the residential occupant remains responsible for the compensation payment established by agreement of the prime lessee or sublessor and the residential occupant pursuant to subparagraph (7)(ii) above or as determined by the Loft Board pursuant to subparagraph (7)(v) above.

(8) Residential occupant's right to sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL. The residential occupant shall be entitled to sell pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL and Loft Board regulations on Sales of Improvements all improvements to his/her unit made or purchased by him/her:

(i) upon the filing of an agreement pursuant to §2-09(c)(7)(ii), or

(ii) following a Board determination of an application filed pursuant to §2-09(c)(7)(iii), or

(iii) upon the expiration of the deadline for filing such application, if none has been filed.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. The NYC Loft Boards administrative decision that petitioner did not establish by credible evidence that he was the residential occupant in possession prior to June 21, 1982 and thus was not a protected residential occupant of the unit under Loft Law, RCNY 2-09(b)(2), was supported by the evidence. Infrequent occasional use is not a residency under Loft Law protection. Matter of Elliot v. NYC Loft Board, 205 AD2d 460 [1994], 613 NYS2d 907.

¶ 2. The regulation provides coverage for a residential occupant in possession of a covered residential unit, even if the occupant is not a prime tenant, and even if the landlord did not consent to a sublet, assignment or subdivision, so long as the occupant was in possession prior to July 27, 1987. The regulation applies whether or not the landlord had knowledge of the facts and whether or not there was a formal assignment or sublease. 545 Eighth Avenue Associates v. New York City Loft Board, 647 N.Y.S.2d 223 (App.Div. 1st Dept. 1996).

¶ 3. Where a landlord leased a loft unit to a residential tenant after June 21, 1982, and the tenant's brother took occupancy along with the tenant but without the landlord's consent, the tenant's brother was not a prime lessee and was not a protected occupant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3) of this section. Matter of Zabari, OATH Index No. 419/96 (Oct. 16, 1995), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1899 (Jan. 4, 1996), aff'd, Index No. 107964/96 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. Feb. 11, 1997).

¶ 4. A residential occupant who moved into a loft unit in 1986 without the building owner's consent was not a protected occupant pursuant to this section notwithstanding the owner's knowledge that she was living in the unit and notwithstanding the occupant's alteration and improvement of the unit at her own expense. Matter of McLean, OATH Index No. 105/96 (June 25, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2000 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 5. Acceptance by the receiver of a building in foreclosure of nine monthly rent payments from a loft unit subtenant did not constitute consent by the building owner to possession of the loft unit by the subtenant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3)(i) of this section, because the receiver accepted the rent as an accommodation to the prime tenant, and because the receiver's interest was in maintaining a steady cash flow to service the building. Matter of DeGraw, OATH Index No. 625/96 (Apr. 25, 1997), remanded on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2114 (May 22, 1997), supplemental report and recommendation (June 17, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2126 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 6. A loft unit was subdivided into two separate units before the effective date of the Loft Law, and the smaller of those units was used commercially from then until 1992, when a tenant took occupancy pursuant to a commercial lease and used the unit both commercially and residentially. However, because the building owner did not know of and had not consented to the residential use of the smaller unit, the occupant of the smaller unit was not a protected residential occupant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3)(i) of this section. Matter of Wada, OATH Index No. 1519/96 (July 25, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2156 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 7. A building owner's consent to occupancy as a subtenancy does not confer protected occupancy on the subtenant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3)(i) of this section, which requires either a prime lease or the owner's consent to a statutory tenancy. Matter of Nolan, OATH Index No. 1730/97 (Sept. 2, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2161 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 8. Where a prime lessee of a loft unit remained in possession of a portion of the original unit after the unit was subdivided into two units, and the prime lessee assigned her rights in the original unit, the assignee took rights only to the portion of the original unit that the assignor had occupied, because the assignor had no right of possession in the other portion of the original unit, and thus could not assign such rights to a new occupant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3) of this section. Matter of DeGraw, OATH Index No. 625/96 (Apr. 25, 1997), remanded on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2114 (May 22, 1997), supplemental report and recommendation (June 17, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2126 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 9. In the case of a loft building owned by a cooperative corporation, the proprietary lessee of a loft unit is the prime lessee, and the cooperative corporation is the building owner, for purposes of subparagraph (b)(3) of this section. Matter of Nolan, OATH Index No. 1730/97 (Sept. 2, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2161 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 10. Where a prime lease covering three units of a loft building expired before the effective date of the Loft Law, the building owner came into privity, pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, with each of the three occupants of the three units by operation of law upon the effective date of the Loft Law. Matter of Longfellow Properties, Inc., OATH Index No. 1780/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 11. Pursuant to subparagraph (c)(5)(ii), a former prime lessee enjoyed the right to buy improvements from his former subtenant occupying a portion of the prime lease space and take possession of the formerly sublet unit at any time until July 5, 1988, provided that he combined the formerly sublet unit with his own portion of the prime lease space and used the combined units thereafter as a single residential unit. Matter of Longfellow Properties, Inc., OATH Index No. 1780/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997).

¶ 12. Where the two residential occupants of a loft unit asserted that they were subtenants of a partnership in which they were the sole partners, the alleged prime tenancy of the partnership was illusory. Therefore, the residential occupants were prime tenants with base rent calculated pursuant to subparagraph (c)(6)(ii)(D)(a) of this section, not subtenants with base rent calculated pursuant to subparagraph (c)(6)(i) of this section. Matter of Seril, OATH Index No. 1821/96 (Feb. 10, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2088 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 13. Where an owner leased a loft unit to a residential tenant after June 21, 1982, and the tenant's brother took occupancy along with the tenant but without the owner's consent, the tenant's brother was not a prime lessee and was not a protected occupant pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3) of this section. Matter of Zabari, OATH Index No. 419/96 (Oct. 16, 1995), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1899 (Jan. 4, 1996), aff'd sub nom. Zabari v. New York City Loft Board, Index No. 107964/96 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co., Feb. 11, 1997), rev'd in part on other grounds, _____ AD2d _____, 666 NYS2d 599 (1st Dept. 1997).

¶ 14. The Loft Board regulations do not provide for eviction of a prime tenant in the case of an overcharge of a subtenant. However, the subtenant can maintain an action for damages against the prime tenant. Prince v. Brisson, N.Y.L.J., Oct. 17, 2001, page 23, col. 5 (Civ.Ct. Kings Co.).

¶ 15. An application for protected occupant status as to three floors of the premises was granted in part and denied in part where applicant failed to show as to one floor, the basement, that the unit was occupied during the window period. The Loft Board, in a prior case, had found window period occupancy as to the other units on the first and second floors. Matter of Rolf, OATH Index No. 1897/99 (July 1, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2431 (Oct. 1, 1999).

¶ 16. Administrative law judge summarily grants tenant's application for coverage pursuant to subparagraph (b)(2) of this section, where owner's answer conceded that the tenant, while not a prime lessee, took residential occupancy of the unit prior to June 21, 1982. The owner, over the opposition of the tenant and the prime lessee, sought a hearing to determine the rights, if any, of the prime lessee. Administrative law judge rejected the owner's request, ruling the prime lessee's rights, if any, were not a proper subject of the application and should be determined in a different proceeding. Matter of Krukowski, OATH Index No. 924/99 (Feb. 4, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2382 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 17. Tenants' coverage application granted where owner and tenants orally agreed that tenancy would be for one year, after which they would discuss the tenants continued rental of the unit and rent payment and the owner accepted the rent until the tenants began withholding rent. Absent a prior finding of abandonment, the residential occupancy of a unit continues to afford potential protected occupancy pursuant to subparagraph (b)(3) of this section. Matter of DeLong, OATH Index No. 266 & 518/99 (Oct. 4, 1999), aff'd and remanded, Loft Bd. Order No. 2457 (Dec. 13, 1999), application for reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2500 (Mar. 30, 2000), on remand, OATH Index No. 1165/00 (Nov. 1, 2000).

¶ 18. An uncontested application for protected occupant status demonstrated tenant resided in loft unit since 1980 with her "significant other," who was the lessee of record of the premises. Administrative law judge finds that petitioner resided in the unit prior to June 21, 1982, as part of a nontraditional family and, thus, is entitled to the protection of Article 7-C. Matter of Lagmon, OATH Index No. 539/00 (Dec. 8, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2473 (Jan. 25, 2000).

¶ 19. In a default proceeding, administrative law judge determines that residential occupant is not entitled to protected occupant status based upon the Loft Board's 1994 determination that the unit had been abandoned. Matter of Dubbeldam, OATH Index No. 529/00 (Jan. 24, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2490 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 20. A loft tenant who charges a subtenant a rent in excess of the legal regulated rent can be evicted for unlawful profiteering. BLF Realty Holding Co. v. Kasher, 299 A.D.2d 87, 747 N.Y.S.2d 457 (1st Dept. 2002).

¶ 21. Administrative law judge found that occupants, who are not prime lessees, established their protected occupant claim through testimony and corroborating documentary evidence that they have occupied the unit residentially throughout the window period and up through the present. Matter of Van Derbeek, OATH Index No. 1972/01 (Feb. 13, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2717 (Mar. 14, 2002).

¶ 22. Pursuant to subsection (b)(3)(i) of this section, a tenant, like petitioner, who takes occupancy after June 21, 1982, must show s/he did so with the owner's consent. Where an owner rents out an IMD unit with its attributes of independent living intact and the tenant actually uses the unit as a residence, section 2-09(b)(3) does not require the owner's explicit consent to that residential use to confer Loft Law coverage; consent to the occupancy alone is sufficient. Matter of McIntosh, OATH Index No. 604/02 (Oct. 15, 2002), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2763 (Nov. 19, 2002).

¶ 23. In default proceeding, administrative law judge applied formula set forth under subsections (c)(6)(ii)(D)(b)(1), (2) of this section to determine petitioner's rent after he sublet 52% of the space he originally leased. Matter of Blakeley, OATH Index No. 753/03 (Feb. 7, 2003), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2786 (Mar. 7, 2003).

¶ 24. A loft building owner sought to have the second floor unit removed from Loft Law coverage. The administrative law judge found that second floor tenants were protected occupants because a post-June1982 lease was issued to the tenants, and that the unit had not been deregulated by virtue of a sale of rights, sale of fixtures, or abandonment of the unit by the prior protected tenants. Thus, the tenants were entitled to protected status and regulated rent. Matter of Andrew Bradfield, LLC, OATH Index No. 1345/03 (Nov. 18, 2003), aff'd in part, modified in part, Loft Bd. Order No. 2845 (Feb. 19, 2004).

¶ 25. In one case, there was evidence that the prime tenants of three loft units engaged in rent profiteering after long ago vacating the premises and that the owner dealt directly with the occupants (nominally subtenants) over the last decade, billing for and collecting electricity charges from at least one of the occupants and designating one of the occupants as a fire marshal on his or her respective floor. Under those facts, the court found that there was a sufficient basis for further discovery as to whether the subtenancies were illusory and thus whether the occupants were entitled to protection under Article 7C of the Multiple Dwelling Law. 545 Eighth Ave. Assocs., L.P. v. Shanaman, 12 Misc.3d 66, 819 N.Y.S.2d 813 (App.Term 1st Dept. 2006).

¶ 26. Wife of protected occupant, who was not named on lease, was not entitled to protected status, but she may have succession rights which would protect her from eviction. Matter of Tenants of 323-325 W. 37th Street, OATH Index No. 692/06 (May 18, 2007).

¶ 27. Pursuant to subsection (b)(3)(i) of this section, tenants who took possession of a covered residential unit after the relevant window period were protected occupants as they took possession with consent of the landlord. Rader v. Grand Morgan Realty Corp., OATH Index Nos. 207/08 & 208/08 (Jan. 4, 2008).

¶ 28. Pursuant to subsection (b)(3) (i) of this section, tenants who took occupancy of a covered residential unit after the relevant window period were protected occupants as they took possession pursuant to a lease agreement. Matter of Klein, OATH Index No. 300/06 (May 3, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-10 Sales of Rights.

(a) Right to sell. The residential occupant of an IMD unit may sell the rights afforded such occupant pursuant to Article 7-C to the owner of the IMD or the owner's authorized representative, which shall include a net lessee provided that, with respect to sales which occur on or after March 16, 1990, or with respect to sales in units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4), which occur on or after November 23, 1992, the authorized representative files with the Loft Board written proof of authorization from the owner for such sale on a form issued by the Loft Board. Except as provided in §2-10(c) and (d) herein, a sale pursuant to §286(12) of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law shall constitute a sale of all rights in the unit.

(b) Filing requirement for sales which occur on or after the effective date of these regulations. For sales which occur on or after the effective date of these regulations, the owner or its authorized representative must file with the Loft Board a record of such sale, on a form issued by the Loft Board, and executed by the owner or its authorized representative and the occupant or the occupant's attorney. Failure by the owner or the owner's authorized representative to file a record of sale within 30 days of the date of the sale may subject the owner to a civil penalty up to $1,000, as determined by the Board.

(c) Effect of sales. (1) Non-Residential use.

(i) If the unit to be used for non-residential purposes, the owner is relieved of its obligations to comply with the requirements of Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law regarding such unit. The non-residential use must conform with applicable provisions of the Zoning Resolution and the Administrative Code, and with any existing Certificate of Occupancy for the unit, or other source of legal authorization for such use. The unit may not be converted to non-residential use if there is a harassment finding by the Loft Board as to any occupant(s) of the unit which the Board has not terminated pursuant to §2-02(d)(2) of the Board's Harassment Regulations.

(ii) Prior to such change of use, the owner or its authorized representative must file with the Loft Board a declaration of intent on a form issued by the Loft Board stating that the unit will only be occupied for a conforming non-residential use. Within 30 days of the Board's receipt of such filing, the Loft Board shall conduct or cause to be conducted an inspection of the premises to verify that all fixtures, as defined in §2-06(a) "Improvements" of the Board's Sales of Improvements Regulations, which were constructed or installed without necessary approvals by appropriate government agencies and for which such approvals have not been secured, or which are intended primarily for residential occupancy, have been removed or approved. The results of this inspection shall be reported to the owner or its authorized representative within 30 days of the inspection, and approval of the non-residential conversion shall be granted promptly when the removal of these fixtures has been verified. Disputes shall be resolved by application to the Loft Board.

(iii) Prior to approval by the Loft Board, as set forth in §2-10(c)(1)(i), the owner remains subject to all the requirements of Article 7-C, and regulations and orders of the Board, including the legalization requirements of Multiple Dwelling Law §284, as set forth in §2-10(c)(2) herein.

(iv) When the conversion of such unit to a non-residential conforming use reduces the number of IMD units below three, the IMD status for such building and for the remaining IMD units in such building, and the protections afforded protected occupants thereof, shall not be eliminated.

(v) Notwithstanding the provisions of §2-01(l) of the Board's Code Compliance Regulations, if conversion of such a unit to a non-residential conforming use increases the costs of legalization under Multiple Dwelling Law §284 for the remaining IMD units, such increased costs shall be borne by the owner and may not be passed through remaining residential occupants pursuant to Article 7-C and the Board's Code Compliance Regulations.

(2) Residential use. If the unit is to remain residential, the owner remains subject to all the requirements of Article 7-C, and regulations and orders of the Board, including the legalization requirements of Multiple Dwelling Law §284, except that the unit is no longer subject to rent regulation where coverage under Article 7-C was the sole basis for such rent regulation, provided that there is no finding by the Loft Board of harassment as to any occupant(s) of the unit which has not been terminated pursuant to §2-02(d)(2) of the Board's Harassment Regulations. During the period of its IMD status, the IMD unit may be converted to non-residential use, as set forth in §2-10(c)(1) of these regulations, except that a harassment finding made after a sale shall not bar conversion of the unit to non-residential use.

(3) Terminations of harassment. As provided in §2-02(d) (2)(ii) of the Board's Harassment Regulations for sales of improvements, an order terminating a Loft Board finding of harassment shall apply prospectively only. The owner shall not be relieved of the requirements of Article 7-C, including rent regulation, nor may the owner convert the unit to non- residential use, when a sale of rights pursuant to §286(12) for the unit has taken place during the period from the date of the order finding harassment as to any occupant(s) of the unit to the date of the order terminating such finding.

(d) Sales which occurred prior to the effective date of these regulations.

(1) No sale or agreement made prior to June 21, 1982, or prior to July 27, 1987 for units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4), in which an occupant purported to waive rights under the statute shall be accorded any force or effect.

(2) By June 14, 1990, the current owner or its authorized representative shall file with the Loft Board a record of any sale pursuant to §286(12) which occurred prior to March 16, 1990 and after June 21, 1982, on a form issued by the Loft Board. Except that for sales pursuant to MDL §286(12) of units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4) which occurred after July 27, 1987, but before November 23, 1992, the current owner or its authorized representative shall file a record of such sale with the Loft Board on the prescribed form on or before February 21,

1993. Such form shall be executed by the current owner or its authorized representative and the occupant who sold such rights. If the occupant fails or refuses to execute such form, the owner or its authorized representative shall file such form and submit a sworn statement identifying the occupant, describing the efforts to locate the occupant or the reasons given by such occupant for refusal to execute the form. Such record of sale shall also contain a sworn statement by the owner or its authorized representative, on a form issued by the Loft Board, as to the current use and occupancy of the unit, and if such record discloses that a unit is being used non-residentially, it shall also contain a sworn declaration by the owner or its authorized representative that the current use is consistent with applicable provisions of the Zoning Resolution and the Administrative Code, and in conformity with any existing Certificate of Occupancy, or other source of legal authorization for such use. Any unit identified in such record as being used non-residentially is subject to inspection to determine its compliance with the requirements set forth in §2-10(c)(1)(ii) of these regulations, except that such inspection shall take place within 90 days of the Loft Board's receipt of such filing.

(3) Failure by the owner or the owner's authorized representative to file a record of sale by June 14, 1990, or by February 21, 1993 for sales of units subject to Article 7-C solely pursuant to MDL §281(4), may subject the owner to a civil penalty up to $1,000, as determined by the Board. The Loft Board shall also cause units to be inspected for which a sale of rights has occurred prior to the effective date of these regulations and a Board-issued record of sale has not been timely filed to determine the current space.

(4) During the period of IMD status units used residentially may be converted to non-residential use, as set forth in §2-10(c)(1) of these regulations, except that a harassment finding made after a sale shall not bar conversion of the unit to non-residential use. Prior to such conversion, the owner remains subject to all the requirements of Article 7-C, and regulations and orders of the Board, including the legalization requirements of Multiple Dwelling Law §284, except that the unit is no longer subject to rent regulation where coverage under Article 7-C was the sole basis for such rent regulation. Units used non-residentially must conform with applicable provisions of the Zoning Resolution and the Administrative Code, and with any existing Certificate of Occupancy for the unit, or other source of legal authorization for such use.

(e) No right to sale of improvements or rights after a sale pursuant to §286(12) has occurred. For any sale pursuant to §286(12), the unit subject to such sale may not be the subject of another sale pursuant to §286(12); nor may such unit be the subject of a subsequent sale of improvements pursuant to §286(6) of the MDL.

(f) Abandonment of IMD unit. (1) An owner or its authorized representative may apply to the Loft Board for a determination that the occupant of an IMD unit has abandoned the unit and no sale of rights pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law §286(12) or sale of fixtures pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law §286(6) has been executed, provided there has been no finding of harassment as to any occupant(s) of the unit which has not been terminated pursuant to §2-02(d)(2) of the Board's Harassment Regulations.

(2) Abandonment shall be defined as the relinquishment of possession of a unit and all rights relating to a unit either (i) voluntarily, with the intention of never resuming possession or reclaiming the rights surrendered, or (ii) by the death of the IMD tenant, provided no family member, as defined in 29 RCNY §2-08.1(c)(3), is denied the benefits of succession rights in accordance with 29 RCNY §2-08.1.

(3) To be considered timely, an owner's application alleging abandonment must be filed with the Loft Board within one year of the date the owner knew or should have known that the IMD tenant vacated the unit.

(4) In deciding whether a unit has been abandoned pursuant to subparagraph (i) of paragraph (2) above, the Loft Board may consider, inter alia, the following factors:

(i) the length of time since the occupant allegedly abandoned the unit;

(ii) whether the occupant owed rent as of the time the occupant allegedly abandoned the unit and whether court proceedings to attempt to collect this rent have been installed;

(iii) whether the occupant's lease for the unit has expired;

(iv) whether the occupant provided notice of an intent to vacate or requested permission to sublet the unit for a specific period of time;

(v) whether the unit contained improvements which were made or purchased by the occupant and whether the occupant was reimbursed for those improvements;

(vi) whether any prior harassment findings have been made by the Loft Board concerning the occupant(s) of the unit or whether any harassment application remains pending;

(vii) whether any violations or notices to appear pursuant to the Loft Board's Minimum Housing Maintenance Standards have been issued;

(viii) whether the owner has made affirmative efforts to locate the occupant to attempt to purchase rights pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law §286(12) or improvements pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law §286(6); and

(ix) whether an inspection of the unit by the Loft Board staff indicates that the unit is presently vacant.

(5) In determining whether abandonment has occurred as a result of the death of an IMD tenant as set forth in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (2) above, proof of the death of such tenant of an IMD unit shall be made by the presentation of a death certificate, the testimony of a relative of the occupant alleged to be dead, or any other trustworthy evidence.

(6) If the owner's application alleging abandonment is granted by the Loft Board and if the unit is to be used for non-residential purposes, the owner or its authorized representative must comply with §2-10(c)(1) of these regulations.

(7) (i) Upon compliance with these specified provisions of §2-10(c)(1) with regard to units to be used for non-residential purposes, the legal effect of the Loft Board's determination of abandonment shall be the same as that of a sale of rights as provided in §2-10(c) of these regulations.

(ii) Upon the Loft Board's granting of the owner's application alleging abandonment with regard to units to remain residential, the legal effect of the Loft Board's determination of abandonment shall be the same as that of a sale of rights as provided in §2-10(c) of these regulations but only if and when:

(A) on or prior to the date of the Loft Board's granting of the owner's application alleging abandonment, the owner has obtained a certificate of occupancy for the affected building and filed an application seeking a final rent order and/or removal from the Loft Board's jurisdiction; or

(B) within one year after the date of the Loft Board's granting of the owner's application alleging abandonment, or prior to the expiration of the code compliance deadline for obtaining a certificate of occupancy in effect on the date of the Loft Board's granting of such application (as such code compliance deadline may be extended pursuant to 29 RCNY §2-01(b)), whichever is earlier, the owner has obtained a certificate of occupancy for the affected building and has filed an application seeking a final rent order and/or removal from the Loft Board's jurisdiction.

(8) If, whenever an IMD unit becomes vacant without a prior sale of rights or improvements and subparagraph (i) of paragraph (7) does not apply, an owner fails to meet either the criteria set forth in §2-10(f)(7)(ii)(A) or the criteria set forth in §2-10(f)(7)(ii)(B), the unit shall remain residential and the owner shall not be permitted to re-rent the unit at a market rate. Additionally, the owner shall provide any incoming tenant(s) with written notice that the rent for the IMD unit may increase to a market rate if and when the owner complies with the criteria set forth in §2-10(f)(7)(ii)(A) or §2-10(f)(7)(ii)(B). Such written notice to an incoming tenant or tenants shall include a copy of this subdivision (f) and a copy of the Loft Board order granting the abandonment application, (if any). If an owner re-rents the unit at a market rate in violation of this provision, the in-coming tenant(s) may challenge such rent by filing an application alleging a rent overcharge with the Loft Board.

(9) New paragraphs (3) and (8), and the amendments to paragraph (7) made by the rulemaking that added this paragraph, shall apply only to those IMD units for which applications alleging abandonment are filed more than six (6) months after the effective date of this paragraph.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 8, 2006:

The abandonment provisions set forth in 29 RCNY §2-10(f) are being amended to further encourage owners of interim multiple dwellings ("IMD") to comply with the legalization requirements of the Loft Law.

One of the main purposes of the Loft Law is to require owners to bring their buildings up to the minimum standards of the New York City residential building code. This purpose is not served by allowing owners to rent abandoned IMD units at a market rent without also requiring them to obtain a residential certificate of occupancy. The proposed rule would prohibit owners from enjoying the benefits of a deregulated IMD unit as a result of abandonment without undertaking the necessary and reasonable steps to legalize their buildings in accordance with the Multiple Dwelling Law §284(1). Until such steps are taken, owners also would be required to provide notice to new tenants that rents for the relevant units may increase to market rate if the abandonment determination becomes effective.

The proposed rule also would codify Loft Board precedent defining the death of an IMD tenant as an abandonment of the IMD unit. Further, it would establish a deadline for the filing of an abandonment application to prevent the loss of witnesses and other evidence relevant to the resolution of the application.

Finally, the proposed rule would in effect require the Loft Board to make two determinations in processing abandonment applications. First, the Loft Board would determine whether sufficient proof had been offered to conclude that an IMD tenant abandoned a unit. Second, the Loft Board would determine, in those instances where the abandonment application is granted, whether the effect of the abandonment finding will be the deregulation of the unit based on the owner's actual completion of the necessary legalization work in the affected building.

By conditioning the benefit of a deregulated IMD unit on the fulfillment of the obligation to legalize the building in question, the proposed rule will serve as a valuable tool for furthering the goals of the Loft Law.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. Where the Loft Law was the sole basis for rent regulation of a loft unit, the unit was found by the Loft Board to be abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, and the unit was leased after the abandonment for residential use, the sole legal effect of the abandonment finding was termination of rent regulation of the unit, and all other statutory and regulatory requirements under the Loft Law remained applicable. Matter of Zabari, OATH Index No. 419/96 (Oct. 16, 1995), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1899 (Jan. 4, 1996), aff'd, Index No. 107964/96 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co. Feb. 11, 1997).

¶ 2. Pursuant to subparagraph (f)(5) of this section, the Loft Board's finding that a loft unit had been abandoned terminated rent regulation as to that unit as of the date of the Board's finding, not retroactively to the date of the actual abandonment. Matter of Zabari, OATH Index No. 419/96 (Oct. 16, 1995), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1899 (Jan. 4, 1996), aff'd sub nom. Zabari v. New York City Loft Board, Index No. 107964/96 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co., Feb. 11, 1997), rev'd in part on other grounds, _____ AD2d _____, 666 NYS2d 599 (1st Dept. 1997).

¶ 3. Failure of the Loft Board to conduct an inspection of a loft unit following a sale of rights pursuant to subparagraph (d)(2) of this section did not alter the effect of the sale of rights. Matter of Perry, OATH Index No. 583/97 (Oct. 20, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2193 (Dec. 18, 1997).

¶ 4. Following a sale of rights by a residential tenant of a loft unit, the next two tenants of the unit were commercial. The third tenant took occupancy pursuant to a commercial lease, but brought an application for a declaration that he was a protected residential occupant of the unit. Pursuant to subparagraph (c)(1) of this section, the unit was exempt from coverage by the Loft Law, and the current tenant was not entitled to the protections of the Loft Law, including rent regulation. Matter of Perry, OATH Index No. 583/97 (Oct. 20, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2193 (Dec. 18, 1997).

¶ 5. Following the Loft Board's adoption of abandonment rules (paragraph (f) of this section), an abandonment is no longer to be construed as a constructive sale of fixtures, with the sale price deemed to be paid from the unpaid rent. Matter of Sansone, OATH Index No. 1125/96 (Mar. 27, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1955 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 6. Where a loft unit remains in residential use after a finding of abandonment, the effect of the abandonment finding is the same as the effect of a sale of rights: the rent is deregulated. Matter of Knickerbocker Paper Recycling Co., OATH Index No. 1729/97 (Oct. 6, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2181 (Oct. 30, 1997); see also Matter of Sansone, OATH Index No. 1125/96 (Mar. 27, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1955 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 7. In the case of an abandonment pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, rent deregulation became effective on the Loft Board's determination of abandonment, not retroactively, on the date of the abandonment itself. Matter of Sansone, OATH Index No. 1125/96 (Mar. 27, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1955 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 8. Use of a loft unit as a joint living/work quarters does not constitute non-residential use exempting the unit from legalization requirements pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. Matter of Rava, OATH Index No. 1237/96 (Apr. 17, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1998 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 9. A building owner's abandonment application was not rendered moot by the owner's entry into a residential lease with a new tenant during the pendency of the application. Matter of O'Connell, OATH Index No. 393/97 (Nov. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2050 (Jan. 9, 1997); Matter of Rava, OATH Index No. 1237/97 (Apr. 17, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1998 (Sept. 26, 1996).

¶ 10. A covered unit was abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, when, after the death of the protected occupant in 1991, the daughter of the deceased removed her mother's possessions from the unit and surrendered the unit by turning over the keys to the landlord. Matter of 303 Park Avenue South Associates, OATH Index Nos. 1727-28/97 (July 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2157 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 11. The death in 1993 of the sole occupant of a covered unit, and the absence of any claim on the unit after his death, constituted an abandonment of the unit. Matter of 303 Park Avenue South Associates, OATH Index Nos. 1727-28/97 (July 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2157 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 12. Loft unit was abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section upon the death of the protected occupant in 1993, followed by the return of the unit key from the occupant's estate to the owner. Matter of Knickerbocker Paper Recycling Co., OATH Index No. 1729/97 (Oct. 6, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2182 (Oct. 30, 1997).

¶ 13. Where the window period occupant of a loft unit died in or about 1983, and the subsequent residential occupant of the unit has been adjudicated not to be a protected occupant of the unit, the unit was abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of BLF Realty Holding Corp., OATH Index No. 990/97 (May 7, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2120 (June 26, 1997).

¶ 14. Upon the death in 1988 of a covered unit's protected occupant, the administrator of the occupant's estate stated his intention to forego any claim concerning the unit, thereby abandoning the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Ebbetts Partners, OATH Index No. 1460/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2140 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 15. The death of the tenant of a loft unit, after which no other person claimed the right to occupy the unit, constituted an abandonment of the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of O'Connell, OATH Index No. 393/97 (Nov. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2050 (Jan. 9, 1997).

¶ 16. The death of the residential occupant of a loft unit, followed by the grant of permission by the father of the deceased tenant to the building owner to take possession of the unit, constituted an abandonment of the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Ayala, OATH Index No. 760/96 (Jan. 29, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1915 (Feb. 29, 1996).

¶ 17. The protected occupant of a covered unit abandoned the unit, pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, by leaving without notice in 1982, after which he was not seen or heard from. Matter of Ebbetts Partners, OATH Index No. 1460/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2140 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 18. The two window period residents of a loft unit having moved out, and one having agreed with the landlord to hold each other harmless and go their separate ways, and the residents having not been seen since 1988, the unit was abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Ebbetts Partners, OATH Index No. 1460/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2140 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 19. The window period residential occupant of a loft unit, who lived rent-free in exchange for superintendent services to the owner of the building, moved out when the owner sold the building in 1988, and thereby abandoned the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Ebbetts Partners, OATH Index No. 1460/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2140 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 20. Where a building was vacated after a fire in or about 1988, and, after rehabilitation of the building, commercial and residential tenants were permitted to return, the failure of one tenant to return to his unit or otherwise to communicate with the owner constituted an abandonment of that unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Cika Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1123/96 (Mar. 13, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1943 (Mar. 28, 1996).

¶ 21. The departure in 1993 of the protected occupant of a loft unit, leaving the unit in poor condition and owing rent, constituted an abandonment of the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Ovid, LLC, OATH Index No. 586/97 (Jan. 16, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2079 (Feb. 27, 1997).

¶ 22. A residential occupant's voluntary conduct of criminal and dangerous activities constituting a public nuisance in his loft unit, his failure to appear in a Supreme Court action brought by the City of New York seeking closure of the loft unit due to the illegal use of the unit, and the Supreme Court's issuance of a temporary order of closure, constituted an abandonment of the unit. Matter of Kangs Heritage Management Corp., OATH Index No. 762/98 (Dec. 19, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2221 (Feb. 26, 1998).

¶ 23. A tenant who moved out of his loft unit during a rent dispute with the building owner, and whose attorney wrote to the owner's attorney unequivocally stating that the tenant was relinquishing possession of the unit with no intention of resuming possession, thereby abandoned the unit pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section. Matter of Sansone, OATH Index No. 1125/96 (Mar. 27, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1955 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 24. Absent proof that no finding of harassment had been made against the owner as to the unit for which the abandonment determination was sought, and absent proof that no sale of rights or fixtures had been executed for the unit, the abandonment application was denied pursuant to subparagraph (f)(1) of this section. Matter of Amalgamated Union Local 5, OATH Index No. 1127/96 (Mar. 19, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1957 (Apr. 25, 1996).

¶ 25. Because a Civil Court disposition of a non-payment action against the current residential occupants of a loft unit, finding that a prior occupant of the unit had not abandoned the premises, precluded re-litigation of the identical abandonment issue in an application to the Loft Board pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, the current occupants' defense of collateral estoppel was sustained, and the abandonment application was denied. Matter of M.R.A. Realties, Inc., OATH Index No. 991/97 (Oct. 20, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2192 (Dec. 18, 1997).

¶ 26. The scope of a waiver of Loft Law rights is determined by the intention of the parties to the waiver agreement, as manifested in the contract language. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 27. If a waiver agreement indicates, either by its express language or by its clear import, that the parties to the agreement intended that the waiver include rights that were unknown at the time of the agreement, or even rights that had not accrued at the time of the agreement, that waiver agreement will be honored. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 28. The prohibition contained in subparagraph (d)(1) of this section, against pre-1987 waivers of rights for units covered by the Loft Law solely due to the 1987 amendments to that law, was a valid exercise of the Loft Board's broad rule-making authority. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 29. A 1985 landlord-tenant agreement providing for rent regulation pursuant to the Rent Stabilization Law rather than the Loft Law, in the event that the building were declared to be covered by the Loft Law, clearly indicated an intention by the parties to the agreement to waive rent regulation pursuant to the 1982 Loft Law, but did not clearly indicate an intention to waive rent regulation pursuant to the 1987 amendments to the Loft Law. Moreover, even had the parties intended to waive Loft Law rent regulation pursuant to future amendments to the Loft Law, the waiver would have been invalid pursuant to subparagraph (d)(1) of this section. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 30. Although a tenant waited nine years to assert the right to rent regulation conferred by the 1987 amendments to the Loft Law, during which time she entered into a series of leases for rental amounts more than the regulated rent would have been, the tenant did not thereby waive her right to rent regulation pursuant to this section. Matter of Chin, OATH Index No. 1142/97 (Apr. 18, 1997), adhered to in supplemental report and recommendation (June 24, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2154 (Oct. 10, 1997).

¶ 31. A tenant's voluntary payment of rents billed by the building owner did not constitute a waiver of the tenant's right to rent regulation under the Loft Law, and therefore the tenant's rent overcharge application was granted. Matter of Teitelbaum, OATH Index No. 894/97 (May 30, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2133 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 32. Where a 1991 settlement of coverage litigation between the building owner and certain tenants provided for specified rental amounts for the period from April 1991 to March 1994, and provided for rental amounts thereafter at the March 1994 rate "subject to further order of the Loft Board," the settlement did not operate as a waiver of the tenants' right to rent regulation altogether, but a waiver of the tenants' right to seek a lower base rent than the rental amounts provided in the settlement. Matter of Bordes, OATH Index No. 1143/97 (June 23, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2134 (Aug. 28, 1997).

¶ 33. A tenant's representation as part of a 1987 settlement of coverage litigation that he would interpose no claim in any forum that he uses his loft unit for residential purposes constituted a waiver of the tenant's right to seek protected occupancy status or rent regulation for his loft unit. Matter of Muntadas, OATH Index No. 1180/95 (May 29, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2030 (Nov. 21, 1996), reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2170 (Oct. 30, 1997).

¶ 34. Where a loft unit was found by the Loft Board to have been abandoned pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, and the unit was leased after the abandonment for residential use, the sole legal effect of the abandonment finding was the termination of rent regulation of the unit, and all other statutory and regulatory requirements under the Loft Law remained applicable. Matter of Zabari, OATH Index No. 419/96 (Oct. 16, 1995), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 1899 (Jan. 4, 1996), aff'd sub nom. Zabari v. New York City Loft Board, Index No. 107964/96 (Sup. Ct. N.Y. Co., Feb. 11, 1997), rev'd in part on other grounds, _____ AD2d _____, 666 NYS2d 599 (1st Dept. 1997).

¶ 35. Administrative law judge grants owner's application to amend the Loft Board registration and remove IMD unit from coverage, where residential occupants of unit sold their rights to the owner in the interim, the owner filed a sales record and declaration of intent with the Loft Board in accordance with Multiple Dwelling Law section 286, and the Loft Board's inspection report indicated the unit was converted to non-residential use. Matter of 303 Park Avenue South Associates, OATH Index No. 128/98 (Nov. 12, 1997), aff'd in part, modified in part, and remanded, Loft Bd. Order No. 2209 (Jan. 22, 1998), on remand, OATH Index No. 1093/98 (May 12, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2266 (June 25, 1998).

¶ 36. Prior sale of rights to owner precludes rent overcharge claim by subsequent tenant because such a sale of rights in an interim multiple dwelling, which remains residential, removes the unit from rent regulation pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(12) and subparagraph (c)(2) of this section. Matter of Block, OATH Index No. 434/98 (Mar. 11, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2247 (May 28, 1998).

¶ 37. Abandonment applications granted where evidence established that empty fourth floor unit was last occupied by a now deceased tenant. Matter of 645-647 Broadway Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 1501/98 (July 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2294 (Sept. 24, 1998).

¶ 38. Abandonment applications granted for that portion of space not previously the subject of a sale of rights. Matter of 291 Seventh Avenue, LLC, Loft Bd. Order No. 2360 (Jan. 28, 1999), aff'g on other grounds OATH Index Nos. 730-31/99 (Dec. 7, 1998).

¶ 39. A landlord argued that under 29 RCNY Sec. 2-10(c)(2), once the fixtures of a loft unit were sold, the unit was removed from the rent stabilization system once and for all. The court, however, held that even though the unit might no longer be stabilized under the provisions of the Loft Law, it might still qualify for stabilization under the Emergency Protection Act of 1974. 182 Fifth Ave. LLC v. Design Development Concepts, N.Y.L.J., Dec. 12, 2001, page 18, col. 2, Sup.Ct. New York Co.

¶ 40. The failure to comply with 29 RCNY Sec. 2-10(d), which requires registration with the Loft Board of a sale of improvements, will result in a civil penalty imposed by the Loft Law, but will not result in nullification of the sale. 182 Fifth Ave. LLC v. Design Development Concepts, N.Y.L.J., Dec. 12, 2001, page 18, col. 2 (Sup.Ct. New York Co.).

¶ 41. Abandonment application established that the unit was abandoned by the death of the prior residential tenant. Matter of Marcus, OATH Index No. 2123/99 (Oct. 26, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2456 (Dec. 13, 1999).

¶ 42. Abandonment application granted where the owner's evidence showed that the unit had been vacant since the death of the previous residential tenant and there were no harassment findings or housing maintenance violations. Matter of 458 West Broadway, LLC, OATH Index No. 273/00 (Oct. 8, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2445 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 43. Abandonment found where the evidence indicated that the occupant of a fourth floor unit died and unit was vacant when petitioner purchased the building. Matter of Bahia Mehmet Bin Chambi, OATH Index No. 1126/98 (May 5, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2265 (June 25, 1998). ¶ 44. Upon the protected occupant's default, an application for abandonment of residential unit was granted where the owner established that occupant/tenant had been gone from the premises since sometime in 1996; left owing $12,000 in rent; there was no indication that tenant intended to return; there had been no attempt to buy fixtures or improvements from the tenant; there were no outstanding harassment complaints pertaining to this building; and there were no outstanding violations of minimum housing maintenance standards. Matter of Hyung-Hyang Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 2124/99 (Sept. 22, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2124/99 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 45. Abandonment application granted where no valid sale of rights was found. Whether a pre-registration sale of rights (29 RCNY § 2-10(d)), as opposed to a sale of improvements (29 RCNY §§ 2-07(e), 2-07(h)(1)(iii)), qualifies to de-regulate a unit, need not be determined since there was insufficient proof that the parties intended a sale of rights. Matter of 103 West 27th Street Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 1409/99 (May 21, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2420 (June 25, 1999).

¶ 46. Abandonment application granted on default, where the tenant of record had left without notice three years earlier, left nothing of value behind and current whereabouts were unknown. Matter of OVID, LLC, OATH Index No. 586/97 (Jan. 16, 1997), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2079 (Feb. 27, 1997).

¶ 47. Abandonment found where the occupant/tenant had been gone from the premises, there was no indication that the tenant intended to return, tenant vacated before finalizing buy-out, no fixtures were left in the unit, there was no evidence of outstanding harassment complaints pertaining to the building, and there were no outstanding violations of minimum housing standards. Matter of Big Greene, LLC, OATH Index No. 274/00 (Dec. 22, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2505 (Mar. 30, 2000).

¶ 48. Where an owner filed an abandonment application but argued, in the alternative, that a sale of rights had occurred, the administrative law judge found that an estate of a deceased tenant cannot sell rights. However, an abandonment was proven and the application was granted. Matter of 107 West 26th Street Owners Corp., OATH Index No. 716/00 (Dec. 17, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2485 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 49. Abandonment found where the evidence indicated that the second floor unit was previously occupied by a residential tenant, but at the time petitioner assumed ownership the unit was vacant. Matter of 42 West 29th Street, OATH Index No. 1206/99 (Apr. 14, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2401 (May 25, 1999).

¶ 50. Tenants filed coverage and rent adjustment applications and the owner filed a cross-application for abandonment. Administrative law judge granted the coverage application finding that the tenants took occupancy of a covered IMD unit with the consent of the owner. Administrative law judge found that previous protected occupant had abandoned the unit before petitioners took occupancy, but the unit remained residentially occupied and subject to the Loft Law, because the owner had failed to take the steps required by section 2-10(c)(1)(ii) to convert the unit to non-residential use. Pursuant to subparagraph (f)(5) of this section, removal from rent regulation occurs upon the Loft Board's granting of an owner's abandonment application, i.e., a finding of abandonment is not given retroactive effect; therefore, tenants retained a viable overcharge claim. Although a finding of abandonment by the Loft Board usually removes a unit from rent regulation, relying on Matter of White, Loft Bd. Order No. 2194 (Dec. 18, 1997), the administrative law judge ruled that should not occur here, where the abandonment application was filed years after the fact and only in response to petitioners' overcharge application. Matter of DeLong, OATH Index No. 266/99, aff'd and remanded, Loft Bd. Order No. 2457 (Dec. 13, 1999), application for reconsideration denied, Loft Bd. Order No. 2500 (Mar. 30, 2000), on remand, OATH Index No. 1165/00 (Nov. 1, 2000).

¶ 51. Administrative law judge found insufficient evidence that former tenant had sold his rights to the former owner. The sale occurred before the building was registered as an IMD and the brief written agreement merely provided that the tenant would vacate the premises by a certain date in exchange for $14,000, without mention of the Loft Law or Loft Law rights. Matter of 103 West 27th Street Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 1409/99 (May 21, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2420 (June 25, 1999).

¶ 52. Administrative law judge denied tenant's application for protected occupancy rights to the entire third floor of an IMD, finding the applicant and two former co-occupants of the floor had sold their rights and fixtures to the former landlord, and the sales operated to deregulate the entire third floor of premises. Matter of Fergusson, OATH Index No. 923/99 (June 11, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2440 (Nov. 1, 1999).

¶ 53. Whether a pre-registration sale of rights (29 RCNY § 2-10(d)), as opposed to a sale of improvements (29 RCNY §§ 2-07(e), 2-07(h)(1)(iii)), qualifies to de-regulate a unit, did not have to be determined since there was insufficient proof that the parties intended a sale of rights. Where no valid sale of rights was found, the abandonment application was granted. Matter of 103 West 27th Street Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 1409/99 (May 21, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2420 (June 25, 1999).

¶ 54. Owner filed an abandonment application but argued, in the alternative, that a sale of rights had occurred. Administrative law judge found that an estate of a deceased tenant cannot sell rights. However, an abandonment was proven, and therefore, the application was granted. Matter of 107 West 26th Street Owners Corp., OATH Index No. 716/00 (Dec. 17, 1999), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2485 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 55. A finding of abandonment removes the unit from rent regulation. Matter of Dubbeldam, OATH Index No. 529/00 (Jan. 24, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2490 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 56. Administrative law judge found evidence sufficient to grant the abandonment application for all four units where evidence indicated that one tenant had departed in the face of an eviction, that one tenant had departed after being hospitalized, and that the last residential tenant of the other currently vacant units had died before the current owner purchased the premises. None of the units contained improvements. There were also no harassment findings against the owner and no housing maintenance violations. Matter of Dadon, OATH Index No. 2014/00 (Dec. 27, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2612 (Mar. 9, 2001).

¶ 57. Owner provided sufficient basis for granting of abandonment application based upon death of protected occupant of IMD unit. Matter of Mak (JSM Properties Inc.), OATH Index No. 531/00 (Jan. 10, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2491 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 58. Administrative law judge recommends finding of abandonment based upon evidence, which established that occupant/tenant had been gone from the premises since 1991 and indicated that he would not return. Matter of 315 Church Street Corp., OATH Index No. 934/00 (Mar. 13, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2522 (Apr. 27, 2000).

¶ 59. Notice was mailed to the affected tenant with an instruction that failure to answer would result in a declaration of default. Envelope was returned by the postal service marked, "Forwarding Order Expired." Tenant filed no answer and made no appearance and was declared in default. Administrative law judge found that credible evidence from building manager established that occupant/tenants had been gone from the premises since mid-1995; there was no indication that tenants intended to return; tenants vacated before finalizing buy-out that had been discussed; no fixtures were left in the unit; there was no evidence of outstanding harassment complaints pertaining to this building; and there were no outstanding notices of violation of minimum maintenance standards. Matter of Big Greene, LLC., OATH Index No. 274/00 (Feb. 10, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2505 (Mar. 30, 2000).

¶ 60. Administrative law judge denies application filed by current owner, which sought a finding that former owner-occupants had abandoned their units. The Multiple Dwelling Law does not extend its protection to owner-occupants. Matter of 70 W. 38th St. Co., OATH Index No. 933/00 (May 18, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2533 (July 18, 2000).

¶ 61. Administrative law judge found that owner did not convert the residential IMD unit to a non-residential unit by filing a declaration of intent with the Loft Board. Administrative law judge did not give effect to the declaration because the owner did not remove all of the fixtures, as required by 29 RCNY § 2-10(c)(1)(ii), and because he had acted contrary to the declaration by continuing to acquiesce to residential use. Matter of Dubbeldam, OATH Index No. 529/00 (Jan. 24, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2490 (Feb. 22, 2000).

¶ 62. Loft Board rule 2-10(f)(1) does not permit an abandonment finding where a sale of rights agreement has been executed. Matter of Vitale, 1467/00, supp. rep. (Apr. 3, 2000), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2531 (June 29, 2000).

¶ 63. A tenant ceased occupying the unit as a primary residence and sublet the unit without permission. Owner brought holdover proceeding in housing court against the protected tenant and subtenant. Owner obtained a default judgment against the tenant and executed stipulation with subtenant, whereby subtenant agreed to surrender possession to the owner within nine months, the judge recommended that the abandonment application be granted. Because protected tenant had vacated the unit before a warrant of eviction was executed, abandonment regulation (29 RCNY § 2-10(f)) applied, not regulation governing eviction of residential occupants (29 RCNY § 2-08(j)(2)). Therefore, if the owner elects to let the unit residentially, all of the requirements of the Loft Law will apply, except the unit will be removed from rent regulation. 29 RCNY § 2-10(f)(5); 29 RCNY § 2-10(c)(2). Matter of Twenty-Nine Second, LLC, OATH Index No. 1431/01 (Apr. 3, 2001).

¶ 64. Seven units were found to have been abandoned as defined by section 2-10(f) where the entire building has been vacant for years. Past inspections by the building architect and the Loft Board's Director of Enforcement noted the building's dilapidated condition and lack of indicia of any residential use. Matter of Greenwich Associates, LLC, OATH Index No. 1193/01 (Mar. 1, 2001).

¶ 65. An abandonment application was granted where first floor unit of premises had been occupied commercially for some twenty years and where testimony of owner and tenants established that it had never been occupied residentially. Matter of Noah Trading Co.,, OATH Index No. 1675/01 (June 25, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2688 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 66. The owner was excused from fully addressing several of the abandonment factors set forth in section 2-10(f)(3) of the Loft Board's rules where the prior eviction occurred under former owner's operation of building. Matter of Mervin, OATH Index No. 1965/01 (Nov. 8, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2689 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 67. Petitioner submitted sufficient reliable proof showing that the last occupant of a covered residential unit abandoned the unit. Abandonment occurred shortly after occupant's appeal of Loft Board Order No. 1321, finding the unit, but not the occupant, covered under the Loft Law, was denied. Matter of 38 Walker Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 1430/01 (Aug. 24, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2669 (Oct. 10, 2001).

¶ 68. Abandonment application granted where evidence indicated that the unit was previously occupied by a residential tenant who vacated the premises owing thousands of dollars in back rent and the value of fixtures she left behind did not cover the back rent or repairs. Matter of Life Realty Partners, L.P., OATH Index No. 1674/01 (Oct. 12, 2001), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2687 (Nov. 29, 2001).

¶ 69. The determination of whether an interim multiple dwelling is considered abandoned rests within the purview of the New York City Loft Board. Where an abandonment proceeding was already pending before the Loft Board, it was proper for the Supreme Court to dismiss an action to compel a determination of plaintiff's claim to an interim multiple dwelling, wihtout prejudice to restoring the action following resolution of the administrative proceeding. EPDI Assoc. v. Conley, 776 N.Y.S.2d 902 (App.Div. 1st Dept. 2004).

¶ 70. Abandonment application denied where the owner established that 1983 occupants no longer lived in the units, but failed to provide sufficient proof as to the circumstances under which they left the building, as contemplated by the factors set forth in subsection (3) of this rule. Matter of 117 Hester Realty, LLC, OATH Index No. 2026/06

(Sept. 26, 2006), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3139 (Jan. 18, 2007).

¶ 71. Abandonment application denied where the owner established that unit had been commercially occupied since 1992, and that there has been no prior findings or harassment, where the owner offered no evidence relating to the other factors set forth in subsection (3) of this rule. Matter of MAS, LLC, OATH Index No. 445/07 (Oct. 24, 2006).

¶ 72. Subsection (f) of this rule, as amended, now requires abandonment applications to be filed within one year of the date the owner knew or should have known a unit was abandoned. The amendment applies to all abandonment applications filed after April 8, 2007. ALJ dismissed application filed on July 12, 2007, because the owner knew or should have known the unit was vacant when the building was purchased, over twenty years ago. Matter of 103 W. 27th Street Realty, Inc., OATH Index No. 868/08 (Nov. 21, 2007).

¶ 73. ALJ rejected an IMD owner's assertion that because it filed its abandonment application within one year of the date the owner had purchased the building, the application was timely, even though the protected tenant had vacated the abandoned unit over twenty years earlier. Under paragraph (f)(3) of this section, all abandonment applications must be filed within one year of the date the owner knew or should have known that the tenant vacated the unit. Therefore, the one-year time limit for filing under this section began running in 1983, the date the prior owner knew that the tenant abandoned the unit. Because a new owner of a building generally steps into the shoes of the prior owner, the ALJ found that the application for a finding of abandonment was untimely and should be dismissed. Matter of Johnson, OATH Index No. 967/08 (Jan. 7, 2008).

¶ 74. Abandonment application granted where proof showed that protected tenant had vacated the unit to pursue an employment opportunity outside of New York. Matter of 20 Beaver Street, LLC, OATH Index No. 691/06 (June 25, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3436 (May 15, 2008).

¶ 75. Abandonment application denied where owner's sole witness knew little about the circumstances surrounding the protected tenant's vacatur of the unit and did not explain what efforts, if any, the owner made to obtain additional information from the man who had owned the building at the time the tenant departed. Matter of Aulisa, Loft Bd. Order No. 3437 (May 15, 2008), rejecting, OATH Index No. 1816/06 (Aug. 4, 2006).

¶ 76. Abandonment not found where prior tenant departed the unit in accord with its lease, gave advance notice, and did not owe back rent. Loft Board Order distinguishes between turnover of tenants, which occurred here, and abandonment of unit, which did not occur. Matter of 67 Vestry Street, LLC, Loft Bd. Order No. 3476 (Nov. 20, 2008), adopting on other grounds, OATH Index Nos. 1818/06 & 2095/06 (Sept. 20, 2006).

¶ 77. Although death of tenant would constitute an abandonment, the Loft Board denied an application where the owner listed former tenants as deceased but failed to provide any documentary evidence that the former tenants were actually deceased. Matter of L & F Realty Corp., OATH Index No. 796/07 (Jan. 4, 2007), adopted, Loft Bd. Order No. 3478 (Nov. 20, 2008).

Rules of the City of New York

29 RCNY 2-11

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-11 Fees.

(a) Collection of fees. The Loft Board shall charge and collect reasonable fees in the execution of its responsibilities. The Loft Board may, by amending these regulations, add to, delete from or modify the types of applications for which fees are charged and/or revise the amount of the fee imposed.

(b) Schedule of reasonable fees. (1) Registration and Code Compliance Monitoring fee.

(i) The filing fee for registration and code compliance monitoring shall be $500.00 per residentially occupied unit.

(A) Registration of a building or a part thereof as an interim multiple dwelling (IMD) by the owner, lessee of a whole building, and the agent is required annually. The annual period shall begin on July 1 of each year and end on June 30 of the following year. If more than one registration application is filed for a building, the filing fee for the residentially occupied units therein shall be charged only once during any annual period.

(B) Landlords filing annual renewal registration applications, which become effective on July 1, 1983 and annually thereafter, shall be required to pay the registration filing fee prior to the processing of the application.

(C) Registration as an IMD shall not be issued to or renewed for an owner of a building against whom a fine has been imposed for any violation of these rules or against whom any late-filing fee has been imposed pursuant to §2-11(b)(1)(i)(D), unless or until such fine and late-filing fee has been paid, or such owner has entered into, and is in compliance with, an installment agreement, payment plan or other similar arrangement for the payment of such fine. Registration as an IMD shall not be issued to or renewed for an owner of a building unless and until all prior unpaid registration fees and late-filing fees (if any) have been paid.

(D) If the annual renewal registration application and fee are not submitted by July 31 of each year in which they are required to be submitted, the Loft Board shall assess the owner a late filing fee of $25.00 for the month of July for each residentially occupied unit. Thereafter the Loft Board shall assess the owner an additional late filing fee of $5.00 per residentially occupied unit for each month or portion of a month until the date when the application is submitted and the fee is paid.

(2) Code compliance applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application for rent adjustments based upon the costs of compliance with Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law, or of obtaining a final residential certificate of occupancy, or both shall be $100.00 for each residentially occupied unit listed in the application.

(ii) The filing fee for an application for certification of estimated future rent adjustments shall be $75.00 for each residentially occupied unit listed in the application.

(3) Article 7-C coverage applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application, filed by either the landlord or by the tenant, for coverage of any building or part thereof, pursuant to Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law shall be $25.00 for each unit listed in the application.

(4) Rent dispute applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application, filed by either the landlord or tenant, disputing base rent or rent increases, not including rent adjustments based on costs of code compliance which are governed by §2-11(b)(3) of these regulations, shall be $50.00.

(5) Sales of improvements applications. (i) Filing fees for landlords.

(A) The filing fee for a sales of improvements application filed with the Loft Board before the effective date of these rules by a landlord or tenant shall be $300.00.

(B) The filing fee for any such application filed by the landlord with the Loft Board on or after the effective date of these rules shall be $500.00.

(ii) There is no fee for filing a Disclosure Form or Sales Record.

(6) Housing maintenance applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application filed by a tenant for violation of the minimum housing maintenance standards or by a landlord disputing its responsibility for providing any such service is $50.00.

(7) Article 7-C compliance applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application filed by a tenant or landlord concerning the landlord's compliance with Article 7-C is $50.00.

(8) Tenant harassment applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application filed by a tenant complaining of harassment is $100.00.

(9) Tenant code compliance work plan.

(i) The filing fee for an alternate code compliance work plan or for a waiver to allow late filing of an alternate code compliance work plan by a tenant is $50.00.

(ii) There is no filing fee for code compliance work plans filed by the landlord.

(10) Interference with use applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application filed by a tenant for unreasonable interference with use by the landlord in code compliance work is $50.00.

(17) Sublessee-prime lessee compensation applications.

(i) The filing fee for an application to determine the value of improvements installed in a unit for which the prime lessee is not the residential occupant qualified for protection is $500.00.

(18) Extension applications.

(i) The filing fee for an extension application is $50.00.

(19) Other applications.

(i) The filing fee for other applications filed with the Loft Board is $50.00.

(c) Procedures for collection of fees. The procedure for collection is as follows:

(1) The fee is due and payable upon the filing of the application. Payment may be made in person or by mail, by certified check, teller check or money order made payable to the City Collector, at the offices of the Loft Board. Upon receipt of payment, the Loft Board will send proof of payment to the applicant.

(2) The application will not be processed until the fee is received. Applications received without the fee will not be considered final until payment is received. Applications will be administratively dismissed if proper payment is not received on due notice within one month.

(d) Applicability. This fee schedule will apply to all applications received in person or postmarked on or after January 1, 1991.

(e) Waiver of fees for indigent persons. (1) A party may apply to the Loft Board for a full waiver of fees for applications required by these rules on the basis of indigency. There shall be no waiver of fees required for registration applications set forth in §2-11(b)(i) of these rules.

(2) Procedure for applying for waiver of fees.

(i) The application for waiver of fees shall be on a form prescribed by the Loft Board. In the absence of such form, application shall be made by letter setting forth all pertinent information (name, address, building address, IMD registration number, if applicable, kind of application for which waiver is requested) and shall be accompanied by the affidavit required by §2-11(e)(2)(ii) of these regulations.

(ii) The application for waiver of fees shall be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth the amount and all sources of applicant's income, any property owned and the value thereof, a statement stating why a waiver of fees is requested, and any other facts that will be helpful to the Loft Board in determining whether such application should be granted.

(iii) The application for waiver of fees shall also be accompanied by a proof of service of said application for waiver of fees and accompanying affidavit on all affected parties.

(3) The application for waiver of fees must be received by the Loft Board no later than thirty days after the filing of an application.

NOTE

1. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 11, 2004:

Section 282 of the Multiple Dwelling Law ("MDL") provides, in pertinent part, that the New York City Loft Board has the authority to charge and collect reasonable fees in the execution of its responsibilities. Pursuant to this authority the Loft Board has collected annual registration fees since 1983.

This amendment will increase registration fees from $50 to $100 per residentially occupied unit.

This increase is necessary to provide the staffing, facilities, equipment and other resources required in order for the Loft Board (1) to serve the needs of landlords and tenants still under its jurisdiction, and (2) to fulfill its obligation to the public to legalize all remaining interim multiple dwellings still under its jurisdiction.

2. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Dec. 5, 2006: Although the annual fee for the registration of IMD buildings was increased in 2004 (for the first time since 1992), an additional increase is necessary to support the operations of the Loft Board, which are mandated by statute.

3. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record May 19, 2008: Pursuant to §2-11 of the rules of the Loft Board, landlords whose buildings are registered as interim multiple dwellings ("IMDs") are required to renew their registration annually beginning on July 1 of each year. A filing fee specified in §2-11 is charged for each residentially occupied unit in an IMD. The late submission of registration renewal application and fees, that is, submission after the start of the filing period on July 1, has unfortunately reached such an extent that the Board has incurred significant enforcement costs in ensuring compliance with its requirements. The Board is therefore constrained to meet these expenses by imposing a late-filing fee for applications submitted after July 31.

4. Statement of Basis and Purpose in City Record Sept. 30, 2008: Pursuant to §2-11 of the rules of the Loft Board, landlords whose buildings are registered as interim multiple dwellings ("IMDs") are required to renew their registration annually beginning on July 1 of each year. A filing fee specified in §2-11 is charged for each residentially occupied unit in an IMD. Although the annual fee for the registration of IMD buildings was increased in 2006 an additional increase is necessary to support the operations of the Loft Board, which are mandated by statute. The Board is therefore constrained to meet these expenses by increasing the filing fee for annual registrations submitted after July 1, 2009.

RULES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Title 29 Loft Board

CHAPTER 2 INTERIM MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

§2-12 MDL §286(2)(ii) Rent Adjustments.

(a) Definitions.

Alteration application. "Alteration application" shall mean an application accepted for filing by the Department of Buildings of the City of New York ("DOB") specifying the work to be undertaken to obtain a certificate of occupancy for an interim multiple dwelling ("IMD") unit, as defined in §281 of the Multiple Dwelling Law, ("covered unit") for residential or joint living-work quarters for artists usage ("residential certificate of occupancy").

Alteration permit. "Alteration permit" shall mean a building permit issued by DOB authorizing the owner to make the alterations set forth in the approved alteration application which are necessary to obtain a residential certificate of occupancy for a covered unit.

Article 7-B compliance. "Article 7-B compliance" shall mean compliance with the fire protection and safety standards of Article 7-B of the Multiple Dwelling Law, or alternative building codes as authorized by MDL §287. Article 7-B compliance shall be evidenced by DOB's issuance of a final residential certificate of occupancy, or by DOB's issuance of a final residential certificate of occupancy after June 21, 1992, or by DOB records demonstrating that the alterations necessary for issuance of a residential certificate of occupancy have been completed, or by the filing with the Loft Board of a sworn statement by a registered architect or professional engineer stating that the IMD has achieved Article 7-B compliance and the date of such compliance.

(b) Eligibility requirements. The owner of an IMD is eligible for one or more rent adjustments pursuant to MDL §286(2)(ii) if all the following conditions are met:

(1) The residential unit for which the rent adjustment is sought is covered under Article 7-C of the Multiple Dwelling Law;

(2) The IMD in which the covered residential unit is located is registered with the Loft Board;

(3) A final certificate of occupancy permitting residential occupancy of the covered unit was not issued on or before June 21, 1992;

(4) The residential unit was not rented at market value between June 21, 1982 and June 21, 1992 as a result of a sale of improvements pursuant to MDL §286(6) or sale of rights pursuant to MDL §286(12) and Loft Board rules issued pursuant thereto; and

(5) The owner meets or has already met one or more of the code compliance obligations set forth in MDL §284(1) which requires that the owner file an alteration application; obtain an approved alteration permit; and achieve Article 7-B compliance.

An eligible owner is entitled to one or more of the applicable rent adjustments as set forth in subdivisions c through e of §2-12 of these rules.

(c) Alteration application rent adjustment. (1) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who filed an alteration application with DOB prior to June 21, 1992 is entitled to a six percent (6%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for the covered residential unit on June 21, 1992.

(2) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who files an alteration application with DOB on or after June 21, 1992 is entitled to a six percent (6%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for the covered residential unit on the date the alteration application is filed.

(d) Alteration permit rent adjustment. (1) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who obtained an alteration permit prior to June 21, 1992 is entitled to a fourteen percent (14%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for the covered residential unit on June 21, 1992.

(2) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who obtains an alteration permit from DOB on or after June 21, 1992 is entitled to an eight percent (8%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for the covered residential unit on the date the alteration permit is issued by DOB.

(e) Article 7-B compliance rent adjustment. (1) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who achieved Article 7-B compliance prior to June 21, 1992 is entitled to a twenty percent (20%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for a covered residential unit on June 21, 1992.

(2) An owner who otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of §2-12(b) of these rules and who achieves article 7-B compliance on or after June 21, 1992 is entitled to a six percent (6%) increase over the maximum rent permissible under Loft Board rules for the covered residential unit on the date Article 7-B compliance is achieved.

(f) Payment of rent adjustments. Payment of rent adjustments based on filing an alteration application, obtaining an alteration permit or achieving Article 7-b compliance shall commence the month immediately after the month the alteration application is filed, the alteration permit is obtained or Article 7-B compliance is achieved, or on July 1, 1992, whichever is later.

(g) Effect on other rent increases and base rent. (1) Rent adjustments pursuant to this section shall be in addition to any rent increases which an owner is entitled to pursuant to §2-06 or §2-06.1 (Interim Rent Guidelines), or §2-01(m) (Code Compliance Work-Initial legal regulated rents) of these rules.

(2) The base rent for covered units shall be the amount of rent after rent adjustments pursuant to this section are implemented.

(3) Rent adjustments pursuant to this section shall be effective upon filing an alteration application, obtaining an alteration permit or Article 7-B compliance regardless of the subsequent expiration of said alteration application, alteration permit or temporary certificate of occupancy, or the filing of a further qualifying alteration application for the building. If the Loft Board or a court of competent jurisdiction determines the sworn statement of Article 7-B compliance was erroneous, all rent increases based on such statement shall be nullified.

CASE AND ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

¶ 1. No demand for legalization milestone rent increases pursuant to this section is necessary. Instead, such rent increases accrue automatically, and may be assessed retroactively. Matter of Longfellow Properties, Inc., OATH Index No. 1780/96 (Nov. 4, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2057 (Jan. 30, 1997); Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (Mar. 20, 1997).

¶ 2. Where a building owner applied for and obtained an alteration permit before June 21, 1992, the owner was entitled, as of July 1, 1992, to a 14 percent rent increase pursuant to subparagraph (d)(1) of this section, not to sequential six percent and eight percent increases pursuant to subparagraphs (c)(1) and (d)(1) of this section. Matter of Harmacol Realty Co., OATH Index No. 1975/96 (Oct. 25, 1996), report and recommendation (Dec. 12, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2082 (May 20, 1997).

¶ 3. Where a building owner leased a loft unit at market value beginning in 1983, but in 1988 the Loft Board granted the lessee's rent overcharge application and ordered that the rent be reduced to the regulated rent, the unit was not exempt from legalization milestone rent increases pursuant to subparagraph (b)(4) of this section. Matter of Greenfield, OATH Index No. 1234/96 (Sept. 20, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2033 (Nov. 21, 1996).

¶ 4. The alleged failure of a building owner to maintain the building properly did not constitute a valid basis to object to legalization milestone rent increases pursuant to this section. Matter of Greenfield, OATH Index No. 1234/96 (Sept. 20, 1996), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2033 (Nov. 21, 1996).

¶ 5. Correspondence between former owner's attorney and covered tenants' attorney is binding agreement resolving rent dispute. Successor owner is not entitled to correct unilateral "mistake" by former owner in calculating the rent. Former owner was not precluded from agreeing to lower rents than the maximum permissible rent under the Board's regulations. Matter of 473-475 Broadway, LLC, OATH Index No. 761/98, mem. dec. (Apr. 22, 1998) incorporated in OATH Index No. 761/98 (May 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2267 (June 25, 1998).

¶ 6. Owner is not entitled to any code compliance increases under Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(2)(ii) where a final certificate of occupancy permitting residential occupancy of the covered unit was issued in March 1990. Matter of M.R.A. Realties, OATH Index No. 1317/98 (Dec. 2, 1998), aff'd in part, modified on other grounds, Loft Bd. Order No. 2369 (Feb. 23, 1999).

¶ 7. Administrative law judge found that the language of stipulation, settling prior proceedings between the parties, specifically allowed for legalization increases in rent for obtaining an alteration application, pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(2)(ii)(B). Administrative law judge rejected petitioner's claim that the increase was barred by subparagraph (b)(4) of this section, which prohibits an owner from taking legalization increases if the unit leased at market rent between June 21, 1982 and June 21, 1992. Matter of Davidson, OATH Index No. 900/98 (Oct. 15, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2381 (Mar. 23, 1999).

¶ 8. Unilateral mistake by former owner in the calculation of base rents and 6% increase for filing alteration application pursuant to Multiple Dwelling Law section 286(2)(ii)(A), is not a ground to undo a valid agreement, absent legally sufficient allegations that the mistake was induced by fraud by the other party. Matter of 473-475 Broadway, LLC, OATH Index No. 761/98, mem. dec. (Apr. 22, 1998) incorporated in OATH Index No. 761/98 (May 22, 1998), aff'd, Loft Bd. Order No. 2267 (June 25, 1997).

The City of New York HOUSING AND DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION Department of Buildings

DEPARTMENTAL MEMORANDUM DATE: October 5, 1971

TO: Borough Superintendents

FROM: Director of Operations, Thomas V. Burke

SUBJECT: Extensions of Approval of Applications

The following procedure, for the purpose of uniformity, shall be instituted in regard to reinstatement of an application filed on or after December 6, 1969, which has expired under §§26-109 or 26-118.6 [now §27-155 or §27-196] of the Administrative Code (new Building Code.)

Condition Expiration Date Reinstatement

Partial disapproval. No further action within 1 year after submission. Date of submission, plus 12 months Within 2 years of date of submission.

Approved application. No permit obtained within 1 year after approval. Date of approval, plus 12 months Within 2 years of date of approval.

Permit issued. No work commenced within year. Date of issuance, plus 12 months. Within two years of date of issuance of permit.

Permit issued, and work commenced within 1 year. Suspended or abandoned for 12 months thereafter. Date of suspension or abandonment of work plus 12 months Within 2 years of date of issuance of permit.

In the case of applications disapproved in whole or in part, extensions of time shall be for 12 month periods, which can be renewed upon reasonable cause.

The above listed requirements shall be applicable to all applications filed on or after December 6, 1969, regardless of whether the scope of work is in accordance with provisions of the new Building Code (Local Law 76/68), or in accordance with applicable laws in existence prior to December 6, 1968.

Requests for reinstatement shall be made by amendment. The required reinstatement fee (which shall be considered a new filing fee) shall be paid prior to accepting the amendment for processing. Examiners are cautioned to check particularly the effect of amendments to the Zoning Resolution or Building Code, change of street status or legal grade, installation of a new sewer, designation as a Landmark or within an Urban Renewal area, or an Unsafe Building violation.

Applications filed prior to December 6, 1969, for examination for compliance with the new Building Code shall also be subject to the above mentioned requirements.

Amendments or amended plans submitted after expiration shall not be considered unless accompanied by a simultaneous request for reinstatement.

Applications filed prior to December 6, 1969, for examination for compliance with the 1938 Building Code shall be governed by the provisions of Directive No. 15/69.

Directive No. 45/57 is hereby repealed.

Applications for capital construction projects shall not be expired without the approval of the Borough Superintendent.

Re: Tenant Safety Plan

The question of defining the necessary elements of a tenant safety plan has arisen in regard to two recent directives, i.e. implementation of Local Law 19 of 1983 regarding permits for conversion of SRO facilities (directive of August 10) as well as a directive of July 28 regarding rehabilitation of occupied buildings and arson-prone buildings. At a minimum, the tenants safety plan must make provisions for:

(1) Egress At all times in the course of construction provision is made for adequate egress, as required by the Code. Required egress must not be obstructed at any time.

(2) Fire Safety All necessary laws and controls as well as any additional safety measures necessitated by the construction shall be strictly observed.

(3) Health Requirements Provision for control of dust, disposal of construction debris, pest control and maintenance of sanitary facilities, and limitation of noise to acceptable levels shall be included.

(4) Services Continuation of essential services as required by the New York City Building Code and Housing Code and the State Multiple Dwelling Law.

(5) Structural Stability No work to be done where there might be any danger to occupants due to structural work.

(6) Controlled Inspection Everything should be under controlled inspection.

(7) Plans Plans submitted by the applicant shall show compliance with the above items during construction. Details such as temporary Fire-Rated Assemblies and Opening Protectives shall be included.

The applicant must provide a notarized statement that the above conditions will be met.

Title 30 Rent Guidelines Board

CHAPTER 1*1 APARTMENTS AND LOFTS: RENT LEVELS FOR LEASES COMMENCING OCTOBER 1, 2008 THROUGH SEPTEMBER 30, 2009 [Apartment & Loft Order #40]

§1-01 Adjustment for Renewal Leases (Apartments).

Where heat is provided or required to be provided to a dwelling unit by an owner from a central or individual system at no charge to the tenant, the adjustments are as follows:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 4.5%

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 8.5%

Provided, however, that where the most recent vacancy lease was executed six years or more prior to the date of the renewal lease under this Order, the following shall instead apply:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 4.5% or $45, whichever is greater.

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 8.5% or $85, whichever is greater.

Where heat is neither provided nor required to be provided to a dwelling unit by an owner from a central or individual system, the adjustments are as follows:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 4.0%

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 8.0%

Provided, however, that where the most recent vacancy lease was executed six years or more prior to the date of the renewal lease under this Order, the following shall instead apply:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 4.0% or $40, whichever is greater.

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2008 and on or before September 30, 2009: 8.0% or $80, whichever is greater.

Adjustments for renewal leases shall also apply to dwelling units in a structure subject to the partial tax exemption program under §421a of the Real Property Tax Law, or in a structure subject to §423 of the Real Property Tax Law as a Redevelopment Project.

§1-09 Special Guideline.

Under §26-513(b)(1) of the New York City Administrative Code, and §9(e) of the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974, the Rent Guidelines Board is obligated to promulgate special guidelines to aid the State Division of Housing and Community Renewal in its determination of initial legal regulated rents for housing accommodations previously subject to the City Rent and Rehabilitation Law which are the subject of a tenant application for adjustment. The Rent Guidelines Board hereby adopts the following Special Guidelines:

For dwelling units subject to the Rent and Rehabilitation Law on September 30, 2008, which become vacant after September 30, 2008, the special guideline shall be:

(1) 50% above the maximum base rent, or

(2) The Fair Market Rent for existing housing as established by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the New York City Primary Metropolitan Statistical Area pursuant to §8(c)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. §1437f[c][1]) and 24 C.F.R. Part 888, with such Fair Market Rents to be adjusted based upon whether the tenant pays his or her own gas and/or electric charges as part of his or her rent as such gas and/or electric charges are accounted for by the New York City Housing Authority.

Such HUD-determined Fair Market Rents will be published in the Federal Register, to take effect on October 1, 2008.

Together with such further adjustments as may be authorized by law, the annual adjustment for renewal leases for apartments shall be:

Where heat is provided or required to be provided to a dwelling unit by an owner from a central or individual system at no charge to the tenant, the adjustments are as follows:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 3%

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 6%

Provided, however, that where the most recent vacancy lease was executed six years or more prior to the date of the renewal lease under this Order, the following shall instead apply:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 3% or $30, whichever is greater.

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 6% or $60, whichever is greater.

Where heat is neither provided nor required to be provided to a dwelling unit by an owner from a central or individual system, the adjustments are as follows:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 2.5%

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 5%

Provided, however, that where the most recent vacancy lease was executed six years or more prior to the date of the renewal lease under this Order, the following shall instead apply:

-For a one-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 2.5% or $25, whichever is greater.

-For a two-year renewal lease commencing on or after October 1, 2009 and on or before September 30, 2010: 5% or $50, whichever is greater.

§2-09 Special Guideline.

Under §26-513(b)(1) of the New York City Administrative Code, and §9(e) of the Emergency Tenant Protection Act of 1974, the Rent Guidelines Board is obligated to promulgate special guidelines to aid the State Division of Housing and Community Renewal in its determination of initial legal regulated rents for housing accommodations previously subject to the City Rent and Rehabilitation Law which are the subject of a tenant application for adjustment. The Rent Guidelines Board hereby adopts the following Special Guidelines:

-For dwelling units subject to the Rent and Rehabilitation Law on September 30, 2009, which become vacant after September 30, 2009, the special guideline shall be:

(1) 50% above the maximum base rent, or

(2) The Fair Market Rent for existing housing as established by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the New York City Primary Metropolitan Statistical Area pursuant to §8(c)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. §1437f[c][1]) and 24 C.F.R. Part 888, with such Fair Market Rents to be adjusted based upon whether the tenant pays his or her own gas and/or electric charges as part of his or her rent as such gas and/or electric charges are accounted for by the New York City Housing Authority.

Such HUD-determined Fair Market Rents will be published in the Federal Register, to take effect on October 1, 2009.

§3-02 Rent Guidelines for Hotels, Rooming Houses, Single Room Occupancy Buildings and Lodging Houses.

Pursuant to its mandate to promulgate rent adjustments for hotel units subject to the Rent Stabilization Law of 1969, as amended, (§26-510(e) of the N.Y.C. Administrative Code) the Rent Guidelines Board hereby adopts the following rent adjustments:

The allowable level of rent adjustment over the lawful rent actually charged and paid on September 30, 2008 shall be:

(1) Residential Class A (apartment) hotels: 4.5%

(2) Lodging houses: 4.5%

(3)

Rooming houses (Class B buildings containing less than 30units): 4.5%

(4) Class B hotels: 4.5%

(5) Single Room Occupancy buildings (MDL §248 SROs): 4.5%

Except that the allowable level of rent adjustment over the lawful rent actually charged and paid on September 30, 2008 shall be 0% if permanent rent stabilized or rent controlled tenants paying no more than the legal regulated rent, at the time that any rent increase in this Order would otherwise be authorized, constitute fewer than 85% of all units in a building that are used or occupied, or intended, arranged or designed to be used or occupied in whole or in part as the home, residence or sleeping place of one or more human beings.

Title 31 Mayors Office of Homelessness and Single Room Occupancy

CHAPTER 1 ELIGIBILITY OF HOMELESS FAMILIES AND INDIVIDUALS TO RENT CITY-OWNED APARTMENT

§1-01 Eligibility.

(a) Apartments in City-owned buildings may be viewed and rented by families who have been homeless for at least twelve months.

(b) Priority for such housing among eligible families shall be based on length of stay in City-sponsored emergency housing. Families with a longer cumulative stay in such housing shall have a priority for viewing and renting City-owned apartments. In determining the length of stay for this purpose, stays in Tier I or Tier II shelters, Family Centers, hotels (when family has been in continuous receipt of hotel/motel allowance), or City sponsored battered women's programs shall be cumulated. Where a family has a break in residence in excess of 30 days their length of stay should be calculated from the first day of their return to any of the above facilities.

(c) Exceptions to the policy stated in paragraphs (a) and (b) may be granted in exigent circumstances by the Mayor's office or Homelessness and SRO Housing Services. An exception may be granted only if residence in any facility listed in paragraph (b) would pose a serious and present danger to the life, safety or health of a family member and there is no alternative housing available for the family.

(d) Smaller apartments suitable for only single individuals may be assigned to appropriate homeless individuals. They shall be assigned to appropriate homeless individuals:

(1) to foster and encourage independence by shelter residents participating in employment programs, and

(2) to address the special medical needs of an individual who may benefit from housing outside of the shelter system, as determined by ERA in conjunction with a designee of the Mayor's Office on Homelessness and SRO Housing Services.

CHAPTER 1 FERRY TERMINALS AND VESSELS

§1-01 Definitions.

Commissioner. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Transportation or his/her designee, or any successor in function to the Commissioner of any successor agency thereof.

Department. "Department" means the Department of Transportation of the City of New York and any successor agency thereof.

Ferry. "Ferry" means any vessel that transports passengers or vehicles pursuant to a regular schedule in either direction between the Borough of Manhattan and the Borough of Staten Island and is owned and operated by the City of New York.

Manager. "Manager," with respect to the terminals (as defined herein), means the Chief Operating Officer, Executive Director of Safety and Security, Director of Terminal Operations, Director of Ferry Operations, Facility Security Officer, Ferry Terminal Manager, Safety Manager, Security Inspector and Ferry Terminal Supervisor as designated by the Department to exercise the powers and functions vested in him/her by these rules in either terminal, and his/her duly designated representatives, and, with respect to the ferries, means the Captain designated by the Department of Transportation to exercise the powers and functions vested in him/her by these rules and general maritime law aboard any ferry, and his/her duly designated representatives.

Motor vehicle. "Motor vehicle" means any automobile, truck, bus, motorcycle, moped, or other vehicle that is propelled by any power other than muscular power.

Owner. "Owner" means any person owning, operating, or having the use of a vehicle (as defined in §159 of the New York Vehicle and Traffic Law), bicycle or any other personal property.

Permission. "Permission" means permission or authorization granted by the Commissioner or Manager except where otherwise specifically provided.

Permit. "Permit" means, unless otherwise herein provided, any written authorization issued by or under the authority of the Commissioner or Manager for a specialized privilege, permitting the performance of a specified act or acts in the terminals or on the ferries.
