3. It is of vital importance to the ability of the metropolitan transportation authority to meet the continued need for mobility and for the economic health of the MTA district that additional dedicated sources of reliable funding be made promptly available.

4. Such funding is needed to ensure the continuation of reasonable fares and provide for the continuation of the capital program of the authority to ensure the ongoing rehabilitation, improvement and expansion of the mass transit system.

5. It is the intent of the governor and legislature to continue to fund the capital program of the metropolitan transportation authority as well as other transportation needs of the state including highways and bridges, non-MTA transit, passenger and freight rail and aviation and port facilities on a multi-year basis.

6. It is the intent of the governor and the legislature to address the capital needs of the department of transportation including highways and bridges, non-MTA transit, passenger and freight rail and aviation and port facilities at the same time and for the same duration as the next MTA capital program. The governor and the legislature request that the department of transportation begin the development of such a program immediately and provide the legislature with an outline of the objectives of the program and the performance measures that will be used to determine investment in transportation in the state for the next multi-year capital program by October 1, 2009.

§ 2. This act enacts into law major components of legislation relating to the metropolitan transportation authority and the metropolitan commuter transportation district. Each component is wholly contained within a Part identified as Parts A through H. The effective date for each particular provision contained within such Part is set forth in the last section of such Part. Any provision in any section contained within a Part, including the effective date of the Part, which makes reference to a section "of this act", when used in connection with that particular component, shall be deemed to mean and refer to the corresponding section of the Part in which it is found. Section three of this act sets forth the general effective date of this act.

PART C

. . . . . .

§ 23. This act shall take effect immediately; provided however that:

. . . . . .

(e) the amendments to subdivision 4 of § 11-1718 of the administrative code of the city of New York made by section twenty-two of this act shall survive the expiration and reversion of such subdivision as provided in section 8 of chapter 782 of the laws of 1988, as amended.

§ 3. Severability clause. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part of this act shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered. It is hereby declared to be the intent of the legislature that this act would have been enacted even if such invalid provisions had not been included herein. § 4. This act shall take effect immediately provided, however, that the applicable effective date of Parts A through H of this act shall be as specifically set forth in the last section of such Parts.

§ 11-1719 Share of a resident estate, trust or beneficiary in city fiduciary adjustment.

(a) General. An adjustment shall be made in determining city taxable income of a city resident estate or trust under section 11-1718, or city adjusted gross income of a city resident beneficiary of any estate or trust under subdivision (d) of section 11-1712, in the amount of the share of each in the city fiduciary adjustment as determined in this section.

(b) Definition. The city fiduciary adjustment shall be the net amount of the modifications described in section 11-1712 (including subdivision (d) if the estate or trust is a beneficiary of another estate or trust), and in subdivision (c) and paragraphs two and three of subdivision (d) of section 11-1715, which relate to items of income, gain, loss or deduction of an estate or trust. The net amount of such modifications shall not include:

(1) Any modification described in paragraphs one and two of subdivision (b) and paragraphs one, two, four, five, six, and seven of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712 with respect to any amount which, pursuant to the terms of the governing instrument, is paid or permanently set aside for a charitable purpose during the taxable year, and

(2) Any modification described in paragraph four or five of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712, with respect to gains from the sale or other disposition of property, to the extent such gains are excluded from federal distributable net income of the estate or trust.

(c) Shares of city fiduciary adjustment.

(1) The respective shares of an estate or trust and its beneficiaries (including, solely for the purpose of this allocation, nonresident beneficiaries) in the city fiduciary adjustment shall be in proportion to their respective shares of federal distributable net income of the estate or trust.

(2) If the estate or trust has no federal distributable net income for the taxable year, the share of each beneficiary in the city fiduciary adjustment shall be in proportion to his or her share of the estate or trust income for such year, under local law or the governing instrument, which is required to be distributed currently and any other amounts of such income distributed in such year. Any balance of the city fiduciary adjustment shall be allocated to the estate or trust.

(d) Alternate attribution of modifications. The tax commission may by regulation establish such other method or methods of determining to whom the items comprising the fiduciary adjustment shall be attributed, as may be appropriate and equitable. Such method may be used by the fiduciary in his or her discretion whenever the allocation of the fiduciary adjustment pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section would result in an inequity which is substantial both in amount and in relation to the amount of the fiduciary adjustment.

(a) General. A city resident beneficiary of a trust whose city adjusted gross income includes all or part of an accumulation distribution by such trust, as defined in section six hundred sixty-five of the internal revenue code, shall be allowed a credit against the tax otherwise due under this chapter for all or a proportionate part of any tax paid by the trust under this chapter or under title T of chapter forty-six of this code, as it was in effect prior to September first, nineteen hundred eighty-six, for any preceding taxable year which would not have been payable if the trust had in fact made distributions to its beneficiaries at the times and in the amounts specified in section six hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code.

(b) Limitation. The credit under this section shall not reduce the tax otherwise due from the beneficiary under this chapter to an amount less than would have been due if the accumulation distribution or his or her part thereof were excluded from his or her city adjusted gross income.

SUBCHAPTER 2 RESIDENTS*4

§ 11-1722 City minimum taxable income of city resident individual.

(a) The city minimum taxable income of a city resident individual, estate or trust shall be the sum of the items of tax preference, as described in subdivision (b) of this section, reduced (but not below zero) by the aggregate of the following:

(1) the applicable specific deduction described in subdivision (c) of this section;

(2) the subtraction for New York state tax determined under paragraph two of subsection (a) of section six hundred twenty-two of the tax law; and

(3) to the extent that the sum of the items of tax preference exceeds the applicable specific deduction described in subdivision (c) of this section plus the tax described in paragraph two above, the amount of any net operating loss of the taxpayer, as determined for federal income tax purposes, which remains as a net operating loss carryover to a succeeding taxable year. In such case, however, the amount of such net operating loss used to reduce the sum of the items of tax preference shall be treated as an item of tax preference in the next succeeding taxable years, in order of time, in which such net operating loss carryover reduces federal taxable income.

(b) For purposes of this chapter, the term "items of tax preference" shall mean the federal items of tax preference, as defined in section fifty-seven of the internal revenue code, of a city resident individual, estate or trust (but only to the extent apportioned to such estate or trust under such code), as the case may be, for the taxable year, with the modifications specified in this subdivision and adjusted as provided for in subdivision (e) of this section.

(1) The federal items of tax preference with respect to depletion shall be excluded from the computation of items of tax preference.

(2) Except with respect to recovery property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and recovery property placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, the federal item of tax preference with respect to the accelerated cost recovery deduction shall be excluded from the computation of items of tax preference.

(3) In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation where the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law has not been made with respect to such corporation, the federal items of tax preference of the corporation shall be excluded from the computation of items of tax preference.

(4) The federal item of tax preference with respect to tax exempt interest shall be excluded from the computation of items of tax preference.

(c) Specific deduction.

(1) City resident individuals. Five thousand dollars for individuals or married persons filing joint returns and twenty-five hundred dollars for married individuals filing separate returns.

(2) City resident estates or trusts. An amount, not to exceed five thousand dollars, which bears the same ratio to five thousand dollars as the items of tax preference of such estate or trust computed under subdivision (b) of this section bear to the sum of the items of tax preference of such estate or trust computed under the laws of the United States for the taxable year, with the modifications described in such subdivision (b), but without regard to any apportionment of the items of tax preference between such estate or trust and the beneficiaries thereof under such laws of the United States.

(d) Disallowance of credits. The credits against tax under this chapter, except for the credit under section 11-1773, shall not be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by section 11-1702.

(e) The items of tax preference determined under subdivision (b) of this section shall be adjusted where the tax treatment giving rise to such items will not result in the reduction of the taxpayer's tax determined under section six hundred one of the tax law for any taxable year.

SUBCHAPTER 2 RESIDENTS*4

§ 11-1724 Computation of separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions received by city resident individuals, estates and trusts.

(a) Amount of separate tax. The amount of tax imposed under section 11-1703 for any taxable year, with respect to the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution received by a city resident individual, estate or trust is an amount equal to five times the tax which would be imposed by section 11-1701 at the rate set forth in paragraph three of subdivision (a) or (b), whichever may be applicable, if the recipient of such lump sum distribution were an individual referred to in such subdivision and the city taxable income were an amount equal to one-fifth of the excess of:

(1) the total taxable amount of the lump sum distribution for the taxable year, over

(2) the minimum distribution allowance.

(b) Minimum distribution allowance. For purposes of this section, the minimum distribution allowance shall be that which is calculated according to subparagraph (C) of paragraph one of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code.

(c) Multiple distributions and distributions of annuity contracts. For purposes of this section, the rules concerning multiple distributions and distributions of annuity contracts as specified by paragraph two of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code shall be applicable, except that references to "paragraph (1)

(A)" shall be deemed to be references to this section, and except that only lump sum distributions (or portions thereof) and distributions of annuity contracts subject to tax under this chapter shall be included, and except that references to the secretary shall be deemed to be references to the tax commission.

(d) Definitions and special rules. For purposes of this section, the following provisions shall apply, to the extent applicable to the taxpayer's federal tax on lump sum distributions: (1) the definitions and special rules as specified in paragraph four of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code; and (2) the special rules relating to (A) individuals who have attained the age of fifty before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-six and (B) capital gains, as specified in paragraphs three, four, five and six of subsection (h) of section eleven hundred twenty-two of the tax reform act of nineteen hundred eighty-six as enacted by public law 99-514, but (i) in the event that paragraph three of such subsection is applicable, clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of such paragraph shall be applied using a rate of one and seventy-two hundredths percent, and (ii) in the event that paragraph five of such subsection is applicable, the words "five" and "one-fifth" in subdivision (a) of this section shall be read as "ten" and "one-tenth", respectively, and subdivision (a) of this section shall be applied by using the rate of tax specified in subdivision (a) of section 11-1702 as such subdivision was in effect for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-six.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1751 Returns and liabilities.

(a) General. On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of a taxable year, an income tax return under this chapter shall be made and filed by or for every city resident individual, estate or trust required to file a New York state personal income tax (including a minimum income tax and separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions) return for the taxable year.

(b) Husband and wife. (1) If the New York state personal income tax liability of husband and wife is determined on a separate return, their city personal income tax liabilities and returns shall be separate.

(2) If the New York state personal income tax liabilities of husband and wife (other than a husband and wife described in paragraph three) are determined on a joint return, they shall file a joint city personal income tax return, and their tax liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subdivision, section 11-1755 of this chapter and subsection (e) of section six hundred eighty-five of the tax law.

(3) If either husband or wife is a city resident and the other is a city nonresident, and their New York state personal income tax liabilities are determined on a joint return:

(A) they may elect to file a joint city personal income tax return as if both were residents, in which case their city personal income tax liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subdivision, section 11-1755 of this chapter and subsection (e) of section six hundred eighty-five of the tax law, or

(B) the resident spouse may elect to file a separate city personal income tax return, in which case his city personal income tax liability shall be determined as if he were filing a separate New York state personal income tax return.

(4) Repealed.

(5) If a joint return has been made under this subdivision for a taxable year and only one spouse is liable for past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or an amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan of which the state commissioner of taxation and finance has been notified pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of the tax law, as the case may be, then an overpayment and interest thereon shall be credited against such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan, unless the spouse not liable for such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan demands, on a declaration made in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the state commissioner of taxation and finance, that the portion of the overpayment and interest attributable to such spouse not be credited against the past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan owed by the other spouse. Upon such demand, the state commissioner of taxation and finance shall determine the amount of the overpayment attributable to each spouse in accordance with regulations prescribed by the state commissioner of taxation and finance and credit only that portion of the overpayment and interest thereon attributable to the spouse liable for past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan against such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan. Such demand may be filed (A) with the return of the spouse not liable for past-due support or past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university, or city university loan or (B) with the commissioner of taxation and finance within ten days after notification is provided such spouse by the commissioner of taxation and finance pursuant to subdivision seven of section one hundred seventy-one-c, subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-d, subdivision seven of section one hundred seventy-one-e, subdivision seven of section one hundred seventy-one-f or subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-l of the New York state tax law.

(6) The state commissioner of taxation and finance shall clearly alert married taxpayers, on all appropriate publications and instructions, that their liability for tax will be joint and several if they file joint income tax returns. The state commissioner of taxation and finance shall include notice of an individual's right to relief from joint and several liability pursuant to section six hundred fifty-four of the tax law in the disclosure of rights statement required by section three thousand four of the tax law and in any notice regarding collection of tax due with respect to a liability on a joint return.

(c) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his or her executor, administrator, or other person charged with his or her property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(d) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by his or her guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his or her person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his or her property), or by his or her duly authorized agent.

(e) Estates and trusts. The return for an estate or trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(f) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

(h) Tax a debt. Any tax under this chapter, and any increase, interest or penalty thereon, shall, from the time it is due and payable, be a personal debt of the person liable to pay the same, to the city of New York.

(i) Cross reference. For provisions as to information returns by partnerships, employers and other persons, see section 11-1758.

§ 11-1752 Time and place for filing returns and paying tax.

(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section, a person required to make and file a return under this chapter shall, without assessment, notice or demand, pay any tax due thereon to the commissioner of taxation and finance on or before the date fixed for filing such return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return). The commissioner shall prescribe by regulation the place for filing any return, statement, or other document required pursuant to this chapter and for payment of any tax.

(b) The commissioner of taxation and finance may allow individuals who have income only from wages, salaries, tips and like remuneration for services performed as an employee, interest, dividends and unemployment compensation to elect to have the commissioner compute the tax due. To provide for expeditious and uniform administration of the tax computations which involve numerous variables, the commissioner may further qualify, with regard to period of residency, deductions, credits, exemptions, amount and character of gross income, and any other appropriate factors relative to calculation of tax, those individuals who may elect to have their taxes computed by the commissioner. Any such election shall be made on the form prescribed by the commissioner for this purpose. If a qualified taxpayer elects to have the commissioner compute the tax, the amount determined by the commissioner shall be paid (i) within ten days from the date of the issuance of a notice and demand therefor or (ii) on the date fixed for filing such return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing), whichever is later.

§ 11-1753 Signing of returns and other documents.

(a) General. Any return, statement or other document required to be made pursuant to this chapter shall be signed in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the tax commission. The fact that an individual's name is signed to a return, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that the return, statement or other document was actually signed by such individual.

(b) Partnerships. Any return, statement or other document required of a partnership shall be signed by one or more partners. The fact that a partner's name is signed to a return, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that such partner is authorized to sign on behalf of the partnership.

(c) Certifications. The making or filing of any return, statement or other document or copy thereof required to be made or filed pursuant to this chapter, including a copy of a federal return, shall constitute a certification by the person making or filing such return, statement or other document or copy thereof that the statements contained therein are true and that any copy filed is a true copy.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1754 Change of resident status.

(a) General. If an individual changes his or her status during his or her taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, such individual shall file one return as a resident for the portion of the year during which he or she is a city resident, and a return under chapter nineteen of this title, for the portion of the year during which he or she is a city nonresident, subject to such exceptions as the tax commission may prescribe by regulation.

(b) City taxable income and city minimum taxable income as city resident. The city taxable income and city minimum taxable income for the portion of the year during which he or she is a city resident shall be determined, except as provided in subdivision (c), as if his or her taxable year for federal income tax purposes were limited to the period of his or her city resident status.

(c) Special accruals.

(1) If an individual changes his or her status from city resident to city nonresident, he or she shall, regardless of his or her method of accounting, accrue to the period of residence any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for city income tax purposes for the portion of the taxable year prior to the change of status or for a prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined with the applicable modifications described in sections 11-1712 and 11-1715 as if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal income tax purposes.

(2) If an individual changes his or her status from city nonresident to city resident, he or she shall, regardless of his or her method of accounting, accrue to the period of nonresidence any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, other than items derived from or connected with New York state sources, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for federal income tax purposes for the portion of the taxable year prior to the change of status or for a prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined with the applicable modifications described in sections 11-1712 and 11-1715 as if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal income tax purposes.

(3) No item of income, gain, loss or deduction which is accrued under this subdivision shall be taken into account in determining city adjusted gross income or the city itemized deduction for any subsequent taxable period.

(4) The accruals under this subdivision shall not be required if the individual files with the tax commission a bond or other security acceptable to the tax commission, conditioned upon the inclusion of amounts accruable under this subdivision in city adjusted gross income for one or more subsequent taxable years as if the individual had not changed his or her resident status.

(5) The foregoing provisions of this section shall apply if an individual changes his status from a city resident to city nonresident or from a city nonresident to a city resident during a taxable year, or at the beginning of a taxable year, as a result of a change of domicile or as a result of becoming a city resident or city nonresident based on the definition contained in subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of subdivision (b) of section 11-1705 of this chapter.

(6) Except as hereinafter provided, where an individual who is a member of a partnership or shareholder of an S corporation changes status from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the portion of the distributive or pro rata share of income, gain and loss (less deductions attributable thereto) from a partnership or S corporation shall be allocated to the resident and nonresident periods of the partner or shareholder on a proportionate basis throughout the taxable year of the partnership or S corporation. In such event, the portion of the distributive or pro rata share allocated to the period of residency shall be determined based on the number of days of residency within the reporting period of the partnership or S corporation over the total number of days in the reporting period of the partnership or S corporation. Provided, however, that the commissioner may require, or the individual may elect, to accrue to the period of residence, and the period of nonresidence, the portion of the distributive or pro rata share of partnership or S corporation income, gain and loss (less deductions attributable thereto) accruing during the individual's respective resident and nonresident periods in a manner that reflects the date of accrual of said income, gain and loss by the partnership or S corporation.

(7) Except as hereinafter provided, where an individual who is a beneficiary of an estate or trust changes status from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the portion of any estate or trust income credited, distributable, payable or required to be distributed to such beneficiary shall be allocated to the resident and nonresident periods of the beneficiary on a proportionate basis throughout the taxable year of the estate or trust. In such event, the portion of such estate or trust income allocated to the period of residency shall be determined based on the number of days of residency within the reporting period of the estate or trust. Provided, however, that the commissioner may require, or the beneficiary may elect, to accrue to the period of residence, and the period of nonresidence, the portion of such estate or trust income accruing during the beneficiary's respective resident and nonresident periods in a manner that reflects the date of accrual of said estate or trust income by the estate or trust.

(d) City minimum tax. Where two returns are required under this section, the total of the taxes due thereon shall not be less than would be due if the city taxable incomes reportable on the two returns were included in one return.

(e) Proration. Where a return is required under this section, the city personal exemptions allowable under section 11-1716 shall be prorated, under regulations of the tax commission, to reflect the portions of the entire taxable year during which the individual was a resident.

(f) Standard deduction. Where a return is required under this section, the city standard deduction allowable on such return shall be the amount allowed pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1714, prorated according to the period covered by the return.

(g) Trusts. If the status of a trust changes during its taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the fiduciary shall file one return as a city resident trust for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city resident trust, and one return under chapter nineteen of this title for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city nonresident trust, subject to such exceptions as the tax commission may prescribe by regulations. The provisions of subdivisions (b), (c), (d) and (e) of this section shall apply for the purposes of this subdivision, except to the extent that any of such provisions may be inconsistent with the provisions of section 11-1718, and except that the term "individual" shall be read as "trust", the term "city adjusted gross income" shall be read as "city taxable income", reference to "gain" shall include any modification for includible gain under subdivision five of section 11-1718, and the phrase "personal exemptions allowable under section 11-1716" shall be read as "city exemptions allowable under section 11-1718."

(h) Lump sum distributions. If the status of a taxpayer changes from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the taxpayer shall, regardless of his or her method of accounting, accrue the total taxable amount of a lump sum distribution accruing prior to the change of status, if the ordinary income portion thereof is not otherwise subject to tax under section 11-1703 for the portion of the taxable year prior to the change in status or for a prior taxable year. No ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution the total taxable amount of which is accrued under this subdivision shall be subject to tax under section 11-1703 for any subsequent taxable period. The accrual under this subdivision shall not be required if the taxpayer files with the tax commission a bond or other security acceptable to the tax commission, conditioned upon the payment of tax under section 11-1703, with respect to such amount accruable under this subdivision, for a subsequent taxable year as if the taxpayer had not changed its resident status.

(i) Deduction for two-earner married couples. Where a return is required under this section, the amount of deduction under paragraph twenty-nine of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712 shall be equal to ten percent of the lesser of:

(1) thirty thousand dollars, pro rated according to the period covered by the return or

(2) the qualified earned income of the spouse with the lower qualified earned income for the period covered by the return.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. A New York City resident won a $10 million lottery prize, which was payable in installments over a 20-year period. The taxpayer then moved outside of the City, to Yonkers. He argued that lottery installments he received after his move to Yonkers could not be considered income accrued while he was a City resident. However, the court held that when a taxpayer changes status from a City resident to a nonresident, the taxpayer's final City income tax return is subject to the accrual provisions of Section 11-1754. Thus, even if the taxpayer had previously reported income on a cash basis rather than on an accrual basis, the taxpayer was required to pay taxes as an accrual basis taxpayer all income (including the lottery installment) that accrued prior to the move to Yonkers. CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1755 Relief from joint and several liability on joint return.

(a) General. The provisions of section six thousand fifteen of the internal revenue code applicable to the liability of individuals who file joint income tax returns shall apply to the same extent as if such section of such code were contained in and made part of this section, except to the extent that any provision of such section is either inconsistent with or not relevant to this chapter and except as modified in subdivision (b) of this section, or with such other modifications as may be necessary to adapt the language of such provisions to the provisions of this chapter.

(b) Modifications. Section six thousand fifteen of the internal revenue code shall be read as modified by this subdivision.

(1) "Secretary" shall be read as "state commissioner of taxation and finance".

(2) "Internal revenue service" shall be read as "department of taxation and finance".

(3) "Tax court" shall be read as "division of tax appeals".

(4) In the heading of subsection (a) and in clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph three of subsection (c), the phrase "section 6013(d)(3)" shall be read as "paragraphs two and three of subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 of this chapter".

(5) In paragraph three of subsection (b), the phrase "section 6662(d)(2)(A)" shall be read as "subdivision (p) of section 11-1785 of this chapter".

(6) In subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of subsection (d), the phrase "section 1 or 55" shall be read as "section 11-1701 or 11-1702 of this chapter".

(7) In clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of subsection (e), the phrase "section 6851 or 6861" shall be read as "section 11-1794 of this chapter" and "section 7485" shall be read as "subdivision (c) of section 11-1790 of this chapter".

(8) In paragraph two of subsection (e), the phrase "section 6502" shall be read as "section one hundred seventy-four-a of the tax law and section 11-1792 of this chapter".

(9) In subparagraph (A) of paragraph three of subsection (e), the phrase "section 6512(b), 7121, or 7122" shall be read as "subdivision fifteenth, eighteenth, eighteenth-a or eighteenth-d of section one hundred seventy-one of the tax law and subdivision (b) of section 11-1789 of this chapter".

(10) The following provisions of such section six thousand fifteen shall be disregarded: (A) The phrase "notwithstanding the provisions of section 7421(a)" contained in clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of subsection (e); and (B) subparagraph (C) of paragraph three of subsection (e).

(c) Federal determination. If an individual is relieved of a federal income tax liability pursuant to subsection (b) of section six thousand fifteen of the internal revenue code, there shall be a rebuttable presumption that such individual shall also be entitled to equivalent relief from liability under this section, to the extent that such individual has an understatement of tax under this chapter for the same taxable year that is attributable to the same erroneous item or items to which the individual's federal income tax liability was attributable.

§ 11-1757 Extensions of time.

(a) General. The commissioner of taxation and finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of tax or estimated tax (or any installment), or for filing any return, statement, or other document required pursuant to this chapter, on such terms and conditions as it may require. Except for a taxpayer who is outside the United States or who intends to claim nonresident status pursuant to clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (b) of section 11-1705, no such extension for filing any return, statement or other document, shall exceed six months.

(b) Furnishing of security. If any extension of time is granted for payment of any amount of tax, the tax commission may require the taxpayer to furnish a bond or other security in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which the extension of time for payment is granted on such terms and conditions as the tax commission may require.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1758 Requirements concerning returns, notices, records and statements.

(a) General. The tax commission may prescribe regulations as to the keeping of records, the content and form of returns and statements, and the filing of copies of federal income tax returns and determinations. The tax commission may require any person, by regulation or notice served upon such person, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the tax commission may deem sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable under this chapter for tax or for collection of tax.

(b) Identifying numbers. (1) When required by regulations prescribed by the tax commission:

(A) Inclusion in returns. Any person required under the authority of this chapter to make a return, statement, or other document shall include in such return, statement or other document such identifying number as may be prescribed for securing proper identification of such person.

(B) Furnishing number to other persons. Any person with respect to whom a return, statement or other document is required under the authority of this chapter to be made by another person shall furnish to such other person such identifying number as may be prescribed for securing his or her proper identification.

(C) Furnishing number of another person. Any person required under the authority of this chapter to make a return, statement, or other document with respect to another person shall request from such other person, and shall include in any such return, statement, or other document, such identifying number as may be prescribed for securing proper identification of such other person.

(2) Limitation.

(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), a return of any person with respect to his or her liability for tax, or any statement or other document in support thereof, shall not be considered for purposes of subparagraphs (B) and (C) of paragraph one of this subdivision as a return, statement or other document with respect to another person.

(B) For purposes of subparagraphs (B) and (C) of paragraph one of this subdivision, a return of an estate or trust with respect to its liability for tax, and any statement or other document in support thereof, shall be considered as a return, statement, or other document with respect to each beneficiary of such estate or trust.

(3) Requirement of information. For purposes of this section, the tax commission is authorized to require such information as may be necessary to assign an identifying number to any person.

(c) Partnerships and S corporations.

(1) Partnerships. Every partnership having a city resident partner shall make a return for the taxable year setting forth all items of income, gain, loss and deduction and such other pertinent information as the tax commission may by regulations and instructions prescribe. Such return shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of each taxable year except that the due date for the return of a partnership consisting entirely of nonresident aliens shall be the date prescribed for the filing of its federal partnership return for the taxable year. For purposes of this paragraph, "taxable year" means a year or a period which would be a taxable year of the partnership if it were subject to tax under this chapter.

(2) S corporations. Every S corporation for which the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law is in effect shall make a return setting forth all items of income, loss and deduction and such other pertinent information as the tax commission may by regulations and instructions prescribe. Such return shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of each taxable year.

(d) Information at source. The tax commission may prescribe regulations and instructions requiring returns of information to be made and filed on or before February twenty-eighth of each year as to the payment or crediting in any calendar year of amounts of six hundred dollars or more to any taxpayer under this chapter. Such returns may be required of any persons, including lessees or mortgagors of real or personal property, fiduciaries, employers, and all officers and employees of this state, or of any municipal corporation or political subdivision of this state, having the control, receipt, custody, disposal or payment of interest, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments or other fixed or determinable gains, profits or income, except interest coupons payable to bearer. A duplicate of the statement as to tax withheld on wages, required to be furnished by an employer to an employee, shall constitute the return of information required to be made under this section with respect to such wages.

(e) Notice of qualification as receiver, etc. Every receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, assignee for benefit of creditors, or other like fiduciary shall give notice of his or her qualification as such to the tax commission, as may be required by regulation.

(f) Repealed.

(g) Requirements applicable to tax return preparer.

(1) Signature of tax return preparer. Any individual who is a tax return preparer and prepares any return or claim for refund, shall sign such return or claim for refund in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(2) Furnishing identifying numbers. Any return or claim for refund which is prepared by a tax return preparer shall include the identifying number of the preparer required by paragraph one of this subdivision to sign such return or claim for refund. In addition, where such individual preparer is an employee of an employer which is a tax return preparer with respect to such return or claim for refund, or where such preparer is a partner in a partnership which is a tax return preparer with respect to such return or claim for refund, then such return or claim for refund shall also include the identifying number of such employer or partnership. Such identifying numbers shall be as prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance in order to secure the proper identification of such individual preparer, partnership of employer. The responsibility for the inclusion of such identifying numbers shall be as set forth in paragraph two of subdivision (t) of section 11-1785.

(3) Furnishing copy to taxpayer. Any person who is a tax return preparer with respect to any return or claim for refund shall furnish a completed copy of such return or claim for refund to the taxpayer not later than the time such return or claim for refund is presented for such taxpayer's signature.

(4) Copy or list to be retained by tax return preparer. Any person who is a tax return preparer with respect to any return or claim for refund shall for a three year retention period described in paragraph nine of this subdivision:

(A) retain a completed copy of such return or claim for refund, or retain, on a list, the name and identification number of the taxpayer for whom such return or claim was prepared, and

(B) make such copy or list available for inspection upon request by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(5) Tax return preparer defined. For purposes of this chapter, the term "tax return preparer" means any person who prepares for compensation, or who employs or engages one or more persons to prepare for compensation any return or claim for refund. The preparation of a substantial portion of a return or claim for refund shall be treated as if it were the preparation of such return or claim for refund. Where an employer and one or more employees of such employer are tax return preparers with respect to the same return or claim for refund, or where a partnershp and one or more partners in such partnership are tax return preparers with respect to the same return or claim for refund, for purposes of paragraphs three and four of this subdivision, such employer or such partnership shall be deemed to be the sole tax return preparer. A person shall not be a "tax return preparer" merely because such person-

(A) furnishes typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assis- tance,

(B) prepares a return or claim for refund of the employer (or of an officer or employee of the employer) by whom he is regularly and continuously employed, or

(C) prepares as a fiduciary a return or claim for refund for any person.

(6) Person defined. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "person" includes an individual, corporation (including a dissolved corporation) or partnership.

(7) Return defined. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "return" shall mean any return required under this chapter.

(8) Claim for refund defined. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "claim for refund" shall mean a claim for refund of or credit against any tax imposed under this chapter, and shall include any claim for refund of any credit treated as an overpayment of tax under this chapter.

(9) Retention period defined. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "retention period" shall mean:

(A) in the case of a tax return, the period ending the later of three years after the due date of such return (without regard to extensions) or three years after the date such return was presented to the taxpayer for such taxpayer's

signature, and

(B) in the case of a claim for refund, the period ending three years after such claim for refund was presented to the taxpayer for such taxpayer's signature.

(10) Mandatory electronic filing by certain tax return preparers. (A) (i) If a tax return preparer prepared more than two hundred original returns during the calendar year beginning on January first, two thousand five, and if, in the calendar year beginning on January first, two thousand six, such tax return preparer prepares one or more authorized returns using tax software, then, for such calendar year two thousand six and for each subsequent calendar year thereafter, all authorized returns prepared by such tax return preparer shall be filed electronically, in accordance with instructions prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(ii) If a tax return preparer prepared more than one hundred original returns during any calendar year beginning on or after January first, two thousand six, and if, in any succeeding calendar year such tax return preparer prepares one or more authorized returns using tax software, then, for such succeeding calendar year and for each subsequent calendar year thereafter, all authorized returns prepared by such tax return preparer shall be filed electronically, in accordance with instructions prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(B) For purposes of this paragraph:

(i) "Electronic" means computer technology; provided, however, that the commissioner of taxation and finance may, in instructions, provide that use of barcode technology will also satisfy the mandatory electronic filing requirements of this section.

(ii) "Authorized return" means any return required under this article which the commissioner of taxation and finance has authorized to be filed electronically.

(iii) "Original return" means a return required under this article that is filed, without regard to extensions, during the calendar year for which that return is required to be filed.

(iv) "Tax software" means any computer software program intended for tax return preparation purposes.

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1759 Report of federal changes, corrections or disallowances.

If the amount of a taxpayer's federal taxable income, federal items of tax preference, total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution or includible gain of a trust reported on his federal income tax return for any taxable year, or the amount of any claim of right adjustment, is changed or corrected by the United States internal revenue service or other competent authority, or as the result of a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States or the amount an employer is required to deduct and withhold from wages for federal income tax withholding purposes is changed or corrected by such service or authority or if a taxpayer's claim for credit or refund of federal income tax is disallowed in whole or in part, the taxpayer or employer shall report such change or correction or disallowance within ninety days after the final determination of such change, correction, renegotiation, or disallowance, or as otherwise required by the commissioner, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. The allowance of a tentative carryback adjustment based upon a net operating loss carryback pursuant to section sixty-four hundred eleven of the internal revenue code shall be treated as a final determination for purposes of this section. Any taxpayer filing an amended federal income tax return and any employer filing an amended federal return of income tax withheld shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended return under this chapter, and shall give such information as the commissioner may require. The commissioner may by regulation prescribe such exceptions to the requirements of this section as he or she deems appropriate. For purposes of this section, (i) the term "taxpayer" shall include a partnership having a resident partner or having any income derived from New York sources, and a corporation with respect to which the taxable year of such change, correction, disallowance or amendment is a year with respect to which the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law is in effect, and (ii) the term "federal income tax return" shall include the returns of income required under sections six thousand thirty-one and six thousand thirty-seven of the internal revenue code. In the case of such a corporation, such report shall also include any change or correction of the taxes described in paragraphs two and three of subsection (f) of section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code. Reports made under this section by a partnership or corporation shall indicate the portion of the change in each item of income, gain, loss or deduction (and, in the case of a corporation, of each change in, or disallowance of a claim for credit or refund of, a tax referred to in the preceding sentence) allocable to each partner or shareholder and shall set forth such identifying information with respect to such partner or shareholder as may be prescribed by the commissioner.

SUBCHAPTER 3 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX*12

§ 11-1762 Computation of tax where taxpayer restores substantial amount held under claim of right.

(a) General. If:

(1) an item was included in city adjusted gross income for a prior taxable year (or years) because it appeared that the taxpayer had an unrestricted right to such item, and

(2) for the current taxable year the provisions of paragraph five of subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred forty-one of the internal revenue code apply to such item, then the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year shall be an amount equal to

(3) the tax for the taxable year computed without regard to this section, minus

(4) the decrease in tax under this chapter for the prior taxable year (or years) which would result solely from the exclusion of such item (or portion thereof) from city adjusted gross income for such prior taxable year (or years).

(b) Special rules. If the decrease in tax ascertained under paragraph four of subdivision (a) of this section exceeds the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year, such excess shall be considered a payment of tax on the last day prescribed by law for the payment of tax for the taxable year, and shall be refunded or credited in the same manner as if it were an overpayment for such taxable year.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 4 WITHHOLDING OF TAX*14

§ 11-1771 Requirement of withholding tax from wages.

(a) General. (1) Every employer maintaining an office or transacting business within this city or state and making payment on and after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven of any wages taxable under this chapter, or under section two of chapter eight hundred eighty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred seventy-five, as amended by chapter eight hundred eighty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred seventy-five, shall deduct and withhold from such wages for each payroll period a tax computed in such manner as to result, so far as practicable, in withholding from the employee's wages during each calendar year an amount substantially equivalent to the tax reasonably estimated to be due under this chapter or such section two resulting from the inclusion in the employee's city adjusted gross income of his or her wages received during such calendar year. The method of determining the amount to be withheld shall be prescribed by regulations of the tax commission, with due regard to the city withholding exemptions of the employee and the sum of any credits allowable against his or her tax. The section shall not apply to payments by the United States for service in the armed forces of the United States so long as the right to require deduction and withholding of tax from such payments is prohibited by the laws of the United States. Service in the armed forces of the United States shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to withholding of city income taxes.

(2) The tax commission may provide, by regulations, for withholding:

(A) from remuneration for services performed by an employee for his or her employer which does not constitute wages, and

(B) from any other type of payment, with respect to which the tax commission finds that withholding would be appropriate under the provisions of this chapter, if the employer and the employee, or in the case of any other type of payment the person making and the person receiving the payment, agree to such withholding. Such agreement shall be made in such form and manner as the tax commission may by regulations provide. For purposes of this chapter, remuneration or other payments with respect to which such agreement is made shall be treated as if they were wages paid by an employer to an employee to the extent that such remuneration is paid or other payments are made during the period for which the agreement is in effect.

(3) The tax commission shall provide by regulation for an exemption from withholding for: (i) employees under eighteen years of age, (ii) employees under twenty-five years of age who are full-time students and (iii) employees over sixty-five years of age, provided such employees had no income tax liability in the prior year and can reasonably anticipate none in the current year.

(b)* Extension38 of withholding to certain periodic payments and gambling winnings.

(1) For purposes of this chapter, any payment subject to withholding, within the meaning of paragraph two of this subdivision, shall be treated as if it were wages paid by an employer to an employee.

(2) Payments subject to withholding. For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, a payment subject to withholding means:

(A) Any supplemental unemployment compensation benefit paid to an individual to the extent includible in such individual's city adjusted gross income.

(B) Any member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen or subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1, 13-125.1, 13-125.2 or 13-521.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York or subdivision nineteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law.

(C) Any payment of an annuity to an individual to the extent includible in such individual's city adjusted gross income, if at the time the payment is made a request that such annuity be subject to withholding under this chapter is in effect.

(D) Any payment of winnings from a wager placed in a lottery conducted by the division of the lottery, if the proceeds from such wager exceed five thousand dollars and such proceeds are payable pursuant to a prize claim made by an individual who was a resident of the city at the time of the selection of the prize winning lottery ticket.

(E) Repealed.

(F) Any amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law.

(G) Any amount by which an employee's salary is reduced pursuant to the provisions of subdivision b of section 12-126.1 and subdivision b of section 12-126.2 of the code.

(3) Additional provisions applicable to this subdivision.

(A) Request for annuity withholding. A request that an annuity be subject to withholding under this chapter shall be made by the payee in writing to the person making the annuity payments. Such a request may, notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, be terminated by furnishing to the person making the payments a written statement of termination. Such a request for withholding or statement of termination shall take effect in such manner as the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe.

(B) Withholding on lottery winnings upon change of residence. If a payee of lottery winnings subject to the provisions of subparagraph (D) of paragraph two of this subdivision changes status from resident to nonresident, withholding in accordance with such subparagraph shall constitute other security acceptable to the commissioner of taxation and finance within the meaning of paragraph four of subdivision (c) of section 11-1754, unless such payee elects, in such manner as the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe, to apply the provisions of paragraph one of such subdivision (c) to the proceeds, in which case withholding under this subdivision shall no longer apply to such proceeds.

(C) Proceeds. For purposes of subparagraphs (D) and (E) of paragraph two of this subdivision, proceeds from a wager shall be determined by reducing the amount received by the amount of the wager.

(D) Taxes withheld at maximum rate. The tax withheld on any payment subject to withholding under subparagraph (D) or (E) of paragraph two of this subdivision shall be withheld at the highest rate of tax on city taxable income, without any allowance for deductions or exemptions, in effect under this chapter for the taxable year in which the payment is made.

(E) Determination of residence. For purposes of applying the provisions of subparagraphs (D) and (E) of paragraph two of this subdivision, any payor of proceeds shall determine the residence of the payee of such proceeds in accordance with regulations or instructions of the commissioner of taxation and finance or, in the absence of any such regulations or instructions, in accordance with the address of the payee required under the provisions of paragraph six of subsection (q) of section thirty-four hundred two of the internal revenue code.

(b)* Extension41 of withholding to unemployment compensation benefits, annuity payments, and lottery winnings.

(1) For purposes of this chapter:

(A) any supplemental unemployment compensation benefit paid to an individual to the extent includible in such individual's city adjusted gross income,

(B) any payment of an annuity to an individual to the extent includible in such individual's city adjusted gross income, if at the time the payment is made a request that such annuity be subject to withholding under this chapter is in effect, and

(C) any periodic payment (but only where such payment is part of a series of payments extending over a period greater than one year), of lottery winnings by the division of the lottery, if at the time the payment is made a request that such lottery winnings be subject to withholding under this chapter is in effect, shall be treated as if it were a payment of wages by an employer to an employee for a payroll period.

(D) any member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer for members of the Manhattan and Bronx surface transportation authority pension plan and treated as employer contributions in determining income tax treatment under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) Request for withholding. A request that an annuity be subject to withholding under this chapter shall be made by the payee in writing to the person making the annuity payments, and a request that lottery winnings be subject to withholding under this chapter shall be made by the payee in writing to the division of the lottery, in the manner prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

A request that an annuity be subject to withholding may, notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, be terminated by furnishing to the person making the payments a written statement of termination. A request that lottery winnings be subject to withholding under this chapter shall not be revocable while the payee is a nonresident, and shall constitute other security acceptable to the tax commission within the meaning of paragraph four of subdivision (c) of section 11-1754 of this chapter. Such a request for withholding or statement of termination shall take effect in such manner as the commissioner of taxation and finance shall provide by regulation.

(c) Withholding exemptions. For purposes of this section:

(1) The number of city withholding exemptions which an employee receiving wages taxable under this chapter may claim shall not exceed the number of city exemptions allowed pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1716 and such additional city withholding exemptions as may be prescribed by regulations or instructions of the commissioner of taxation and finance, taking into account the applicable standard deduction and such other factors as he finds appropriate.

(2) The amount of each city withholding exemption shall be the amount of the city exemption allowed pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1716.

(3) Withholding exemption certificate. An employee shall be required to file with his employer a withholding exemption certificate in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

SUBCHAPTER 4 WITHHOLDING OF TAX*14

§ 11-1774 Employer's return and payment of withheld taxes.

(a) General. Every employer required to deduct and withhold tax under this chapter shall file a withholding return and pay over to the tax commission or to a depository designated by the tax commission, the taxes so required to be deducted and withheld, as hereafter prescribed.

(1) If, after having made a payroll, an employer has been required to deduct and withhold, but has not paid over, a cumulative aggregate amount of seven hundred dollars or more of tax during a calendar quarter, such employer shall file a return and pay over the tax. If an employer was required to remit a cumulative aggregate amount of less than fifteen thousand dollars in withholding tax during the calendar year which precedes the previous calendar year, the tax shall be paid over on or before the fifth business day following the date of making such a payroll. If an employer was required to remit a cumulative aggregate amount more than or equal to fifteen thousand dollars in withholding tax during the calendar year which precedes the previous calendar year, the tax shall be paid over on or before the third business day following the date of making such a payroll. In the case of an "educational organization" as defined in paragraph two of subsection (a) of section nine of the tax law or a "health care provider" as defined in paragraph four of subsection (a) of section nine of the tax law, the tax shall be paid over on or before the fifth business day following the date of making such a payroll.

(2) If, at the close of any calendar quarter, an employer has been required to deduct and withhold, but has not paid over, a cumulative aggregate amount of less than seven hundred dollars of tax during such calendar quarter, such employer shall pay over the tax with the quarterly combined withholding, wage reporting and unemployment insurance return required to be filed for such quarter by paragraph four of this subdivision, on or before the last date prescribed by such paragraph for filing such return.

(3) If an employer makes more than one payroll per week, then such employer shall determine the applicability of the rules described in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision measured by the last payroll made within the week by such employer; provided, however, that in any week in which the end of a quarter occurs between the making of payrolls by an employer, any tax required to be deducted and withheld in a payroll or payrolls made during such week prior to or on the end of the quarter shall be paid over. If an employer was required to remit a cumulative aggregate amount of less than fifteen thousand dollars in withholding tax during the calendar year preceding the previous calendar year, the tax shall be paid over on or before the fifth business day following the date of making the last payroll in such quarter. If an employer was required to remit a cumulative aggregate amount more than or equal to fifteen thousand dollars in withholding tax during the calendar year preceding the previous calendar year, the tax shall be paid over on or before the third business day following the date of making the last payroll in such quarter. In the case of an "educational organization" as defined in paragraph two of subsection (a) of section nine of the tax law or a "health care provider" as defined in paragraph four of subsection (a) of section nine of the tax law, the tax shall be paid over on or before the fifth business day following the date of making such a payroll. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "week" shall mean the period Sunday through Saturday.

(4) (A) All employers described in paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section 11-1771, including those whose wages paid are not sufficient to require the withholding of tax from the wages of any of their employees, all employers required to provide the wage reporting information for the employees described in subdivision one of section one hundred seventy-one-a of the tax law, and all employers liable for unemployment insurance contributions or for payments in lieu of such contributions pursuant to article eighteen of the labor law, shall file a quarterly combined withholding, wage reporting and unemployment insurance return with the department of taxation and finance detailing the preceding calendar quarter's withholding tax transactions, such quarter's wage reporting information, such quarter's unemployment insurance contributions, and such other related information as the commissioner of taxation and finance or the commissioner of labor, as applicable, may prescribe. In addition, the return covering the last calendar quarter of each year shall also include withholding reconciliation information for such calendar year. Such returns shall be filed no later than the last day of the month following the last day of each calendar quarter; provided, however, that an employer may provide the wage reporting information covering the last calendar quarter of each year, and the withholding reconciliation information for such year no later than February twenty-eighth of the succeeding year.

(B) An employer shall, at the time prescribed by subparagraph (A) of this paragraph for filing each quarterly combined withholding, wage reporting and unemployment insurance return, pay over, in a single remittance, the unemployment insurance contributions and aggregate withholding taxes required to be paid over with such return. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, an overpayment of unemployment insurance contributions or of aggregate withholding taxes made by an employer with the quarterly combined withholding, wage reporting and unemployment insurance return for a calendar quarter may be only credited by such employer against such employer's liability for unemployment insurance contributions or aggregate withholding taxes, respectively.

(5) The tax commission may, if it believes such action necessary for the protection of the revenues, require any employer to make such return and pay to it the tax deducted and withheld at any time, or from time to time.

(6) "Aggregate amount" as used in paragraphs one, two and three of this subdivision means the aggregate of the aggregate amounts of New York state personal income tax, city personal income tax on residents and city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article two-E of the general city law required to be deducted and withheld.

(b) Deposit in trust for tax commission. Whenever any employer fails to collect, truthfully account for, pay over the tax, or make returns of the tax as required in this section, the tax commission may serve a notice requiring such employer to collect the taxes which become collectible after service of such notice, to deposit such taxes in a bank approved by the tax commission, in a separate account, in trust for and payable to the tax commission, and to keep the amount of such tax in such account until payment over to the tax commission. Such notice shall remain in effect until a notice of cancellation is served by the tax commission.

§ 11-1775 Employer's liability for withheld taxes.

Every employer required to deduct and withhold tax under this chapter is hereby made liable for such tax. For purposes of assessment and collection, any amount required to be withheld and paid over to the tax commission, and any additions to tax, penalties and interest with respect thereto, shall be considered the tax of the employer. Any amount of tax actually deducted and withheld under this chapter shall be held to be a special fund in trust for the tax commission. No employee shall have any right of action against his or her employer in respect to any moneys deducted and withheld from his or her wages and paid over to the tax commission in compliance or in intended compliance with this chapter.

§ 11-1777 Designation of third parties to perform acts required of employers.

In case a fiduciary, agent, or other person has the control, receipt, custody, or disposal of, or pays the wages of an employee or group of employees, employed by one or more employers, the tax commission, under regulations promulgated by it, is authorized to designate such fiduciary, agent, or other person to perform such acts as are required of employers under this chapter and as the tax commission may specify. Except as may be otherwise prescribed by the tax commission, all provisions of law (including penalties) applicable in respect of an employer shall be applicable to a fiduciary, agent, or other person so designated but, except as so provided, the employer for whom such fiduciary, agent, or other person acts shall remain subject to the provisions of law (including penalties) applicable in respect of employers.

§ 11-1778 Liability of third parties paying or providing for wages.

(a) Direct payment by third party. If a lender, surety or other person, who is not an employer with respect to an employee or group of employees, pays wages directly to such an employee or group of employees, employed by one or more employers, or to an agent on behalf of such employee or employees, such lender, surety or other person shall be liable for the amount of taxes (together with interest) required to be deducted and withheld from such wages by the employer.

(b) Funds supplied to employer by third parties. If a lender, surety or other person supplies funds to or for the account of an employer for the specific purpose of paying wages of the employees of such employer, with actual notice or knowledge that such employer does not intend to or will not be able to make timely payment or deposit of the amounts of tax required by this chapter to be deducted and withheld by such employer from such wages, such lender, surety or other person shall be liable for the amount of the taxes (together with interest) which are not paid over to the tax commission by such employer with respect to such wages. However, the liability of such lender, surety or other person shall be limited to an amount equal to twenty-five percent of the amount so supplied to or for the account of such employer for such purpose.

(c) Effect of payment. Any amounts paid to the tax commission pursuant to this section shall be credited against the liability of the employer.

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1781 Notice of deficiency.

(a) General. If upon examination of a taxpayer's return under this chapter the tax commission determines that there is a deficiency of income tax, it may mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. If a taxpayer fails to file an income tax return required under this chapter, the tax commission is authorized to estimate the taxpayer's city taxable income and tax thereon, from any information in its possession, and to mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. A notice of deficiency shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at his or her last known address in or out of this state. If a husband and wife are jointly liable for tax, a notice of deficiency may be a single joint notice, except that if the tax commission has been notified by either spouse that separate residences have been established, then, in lieu of the single joint notice, a duplicate original of the joint notice shall be mailed to each spouse at his or her last known address in or out of this state. If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of deficiency may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of this state, unless the tax commission has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(b) Notice of deficiency as assessment. After ninety days from the mailing of a notice of deficiency, such notice shall be an assessment of the amount of tax specified in such notice, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, except only for any such tax or other amounts as to which the taxpayer has within such ninety day period filed with the tax commission a petition under section 11-1789. If the notice of deficiency is addressed to a person outside of the United States, such period shall be one hundred fifty days instead of ninety days.

(c) Restrictions on assessment and levy. No assessment of a deficiency in tax and no levy or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun or prosecuted, except as otherwise provided in section 11-1794, until a notice of deficiency has been mailed to the taxpayer, nor until the expiration of the time for filing a petition contesting such notice, nor, if a petition with respect to the taxable year has been filed with the tax commission, until the decision of the tax commission has become final. For exception in the case of judicial review of the decision of the tax commission, see subdivision (c) of section 11-1790.

(d) Exceptions for mathematical errors. If a mathematical error appears on a return (including an overstatement of the credit for income tax withheld at the source, or of the amount paid as estimated income tax), the tax commission shall notify the taxpayer that an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that such excess has been assessed. Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-1787 (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax commission), or subdivision (b) of section 11-1789 (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax commission based on a notice of deficiency) nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(e) Exceptions where federal changes, corrections or disallowances are not reported. (1) If the taxpayer or employer fails to comply with section 11-1759, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in subdivision (b) of this section, the tax commission may assess a deficiency based upon such federal change, correction or disallowance by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal change, correction or disallowance or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-1759, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(2) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-1787 (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax commission), or subdivision (b) of section 11-1789 (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax commission based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or the collection thereof be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(3) If a husband and wife are jointly liable for tax, a notice of additional tax due may be a single joint notice, except that if the tax commission has been notified by either spouse that separate residences have been established, then, in lieu of the joint notice, a duplicate original of the joint notice shall be mailed to each spouse at his or her last known address in or out of this state. If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of this state, unless the tax commission has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(f) Waiver of restrictions. The taxpayer shall at any time (whether or not a notice of deficiency has been issued) have the right to waive the restrictions on assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency by a signed notice in writing filed with the tax commission.

(g) Deficiency defined. For purposes of this chapter, a deficiency means the amount of the tax imposed by this chapter, less (i) the amount shown as the tax upon the taxpayer's return (whether the return was made or the tax computed by such taxpayer or by the tax commission), and less (ii) the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency and plus (iii) the amount of any rebates. For the purpose of this definition, the tax imposed by this chapter and the tax shown on the return shall both be determined without regard to payments on account of estimated tax or the credit for withholding tax; and a rebate means so much of an abatement, credit, refund or other repayment (whether or not erroneous) made on the ground that the amounts entering into the definition of a deficiency showed a balance in favor of the taxpayer.

§ 11-1782 Assessment.

(a) Assessment date. The amount of tax which a return shows to be due, or the amount of tax which a return would have shown to be due but for a mathematical error, shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing of the return (including any amended return showing an increase of tax). In the case of a return properly filed without computation of tax, the tax computed by the tax commission shall be deemed to be assessed on the date on which payment is due. If a notice of deficiency has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in subdivision (b) of section 11-1781 if no petition to the tax commission is filed, or if a petition is filed, then upon the date when a decision of the tax commission establishing the amount of the deficiency becomes final. If an amended return or report filed pursuant to section 11-1759 concedes the accuracy of a federal change or correction, any deficiency in tax under this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing such report or amended return, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-1783. If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision (e) of section 11-1781, has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal change or correction or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-1759, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous. Any amount paid as a tax or in respect of a tax, other than amounts withheld at the source or paid as estimated income tax, shall be deemed to be assessed upon the date of receipt of payment, notwithstanding any other provisions.

(b) Other assessment powers. If the mode or time for the assessment of any tax under this chapter (including interest, additions to tax and assessable penalties) is not otherwise provided for, the tax commission may establish the same by regulations.

(c) Estimated income tax. No unpaid amount of estimated tax shall be assessed.

(d) Supplemental assessment. The tax commission may, at any time within the period prescribed for assessment, make a supplemental assessment, subject to the provisions of section 11-1781 where applicable, whenever it is ascertained that any assessment is imperfect or incomplete in any material respect.

(e) Cross reference. For assessment in case of jeopardy, see section 11-1794.

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1783 Limitations on assessment.

(a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any tax under this chapter shall be assessed within three years after the return was filed (whether or not such return was filed on or after the date prescribed).

(b) Time return deemed filed.

(1) Early return. For purposes of this section a return of income tax, except withholding tax, filed before the last day prescribed by law or by regulations promulgated pursuant to law for the filing thereof, shall be deemed to be filed on such last day.

(2) Return of withholding tax. For purposes of this section, if a return of withholding tax for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before April fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be deemed to be filed on April fifteenth of such succeeding calendar year.

(c) Exceptions.

(1) Assessment at any time. The tax may be assessed at any time if:

(A) no return is filed,

(B) a false or fraudulent return is filed with intent to evade tax, or

(C) the taxpayer or employer fails to comply with section 11-1759.

(2) Extension by agreement. Where, before the expiration of the time prescribed in this section for the assessment of tax, both the tax commission and the taxpayer have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the tax may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.

(3) Report of federal changes, corrections or disallowances. If the taxpayer or employer complies with section 11-1759, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report or amended return) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax attributable to such federal change or correction. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

(4) Deficiency attributable to net operating loss carryback. If a deficiency is attributable to the application to the taxpayer of a net operating loss carryback, it may be assessed at any time that a deficiency for the taxable year of the loss may be assessed.

(5) Recovery of erroneous refund. An erroneous refund shall be considered an underpayment of tax on the date made, and an assessment of a deficiency arising out of an erroneous refund may be made at any time within two years from the making of the refund, except that the assessment may be made within five years from the making of the refund if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(6) Request for prompt assessment. If a return is required for a decedent or for a decedent's estate during the period of administration, the tax shall be assessed within eighteen months after written request therefor (made after the return is filed) by the executor, administrator or other person representing the estate of such decedent, but not more than three years after the return was filed, except as otherwise provided in this subdivision and subdivision (d) of this section.

(7) Report on use of certain property. Under the circumstances described in paragraph two of subdivision (g) of section 11-1712, the tax may be assessed within three years after the filing of a return reporting that property has been used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported.

(8) Report concerning waste treatment facility, air pollution control facility or eligible business facility. Under the circumstances described in paragraph three of subdivision (h) of section 11-1712 or in paragraph five of subsection (c) of section seven hundred one of the tax law, the tax may be assessed within three years after filing of the return containing the information required by such paragraph, or, if a certificate of compliance in respect to an air pollution control facility shall be revoked, within three years after the tax commission shall receive notice of such revocation from the taxpayer or as required by section 19-0309 of the environmental conservation law, whichever notice is received earlier.

(d) Omission of income, item of tax preference, total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution on return. The tax may be assessed at any time within six years after the return was filed if:

(1) an individual omits from his city adjusted gross income, the sum of his items of tax preference, or the total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution an amount properly includible therein which is in excess of twenty-five percent of the amount of city adjusted gross income, the sum of the items of tax preference or the total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution stated in the return, or

(2) an estate or trust omits from its city adjusted gross income, the sum of its items of tax preference, or the total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution an amount properly includible therein which is in excess of twenty-five percent of the amount stated in the return of city adjusted gross income, or the sum of the items of tax preference, or the total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution, respectively. For purposes of this paragraph, city adjusted gross income means New York adjusted gross income as determined under paragraph four of subsection (e) of section six hundred one of the tax law.

For purposes of this subdivision there shall not be taken into account any amount which is omitted in the return if such amount is disclosed in the return, or in a statement attached to the return, in a manner adequate to apprise the commissioner of the nature and amount of the item of income, tax preference, the total taxable amount or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution.

(e) Suspension of running of period of limitation. The running of the period of limitations on assessment or collection of tax or other amount (or of a transferee's liability) shall, after the mailing of a notice of deficiency, be suspended for the period during which the tax commission is prohibited under subdivision (c) of section 11-1781 from making the assessment or from collecting by levy.

§ 11-1784 Interest on underpayment.

(a) General. If any amount of income tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed in this chapter for payment, interest on such amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of taxation and finance pursuant to section 11-1797 of this subchapter, or if no rate is set, at the rate of seven and one-half percent per annum shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date paid, whether or not any extension of time for payment was granted. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar. If the time for filing of a return of tax withheld by an employer is extended, the employer shall pay interest for the period for which the extension is granted and may not charge such interest to the employee.

(b) Exception as to estimated tax. This section shall not apply to any failure to pay estimated tax.

(c) Exception for mathematical error. No interest shall be imposed on any underpayment of tax due solely to mathematical error if the taxpayer files a return within the time prescribed in this chapter (including any extension of time) and pays the amount of underpayment within three months after the due date of such return, as it may be extended.

(d) Suspension of interest on deficiencies. If a waiver of restrictions on assessment of a deficiency has been filed by the taxpayer, and if notice and demand by the tax commission for payment of such deficiency is not made within thirty days after the filing of such waiver, interest shall not be imposed on such deficiency for the period beginning immediately after such thirtieth day and ending with the date of notice and demand.

(e) Tax reduced by carryback. If the amount of tax for any taxable year is reduced by reason of a carryback of a net operating loss, such reduction in tax shall not affect the computation of interest under this section for the period ending with the filing date for the taxable year in which the net operating loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file.

(f) Interest treated as tax. Interest under this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as income tax. Any reference in this chapter to the tax imposed by this chapter shall be deemed also to refer to interest imposed by this section on such tax.

(g) Interest on penalties or additions to tax. Interest shall be imposed under subdivision (a) of this section in respect of any assessable penalty or addition to tax only if such assessable penalty or addition to tax is not paid within twenty-one calendar days from the date of the notice and demand therefor under subdivision (b) of section 11-1792 of this title (ten business days if the amount for which such notice and demand is made equals or exceeds one hundred thousand dollars), and in such case interest shall be imposed only for the period from such date of the notice and demand to the date of payment.

(h) Payment within specified period after notice and demand. If notice and demand is made for payment of any amount under subdivision (b) of section 11-1792 of this title, and if such amount is paid within twenty-one calendar days (ten business days if the amount for which such notice and demand is made equals or exceeds one hundred thousand dollars) after the date of such notice and demand, interest under this sectiuon on the amount so paid shall not be imposed for the period after the date of such notice and demand.

(i) Limitation on assessment and collection. Interest prescribed under this section may be assessed and collected, at any time during the period within which the tax or other amount to which such interest relates may be assessed and collected, respectively.

(j) Interest on erroneous refund. Any portion of tax or other amount which has been erroneously refunded, and which is recoverable by the commissioner of taxation and finance, shall bear interest at the underpayment rate set by such commissioner pursuant to section 11-1797 of this subchapter, or if no rate is set, at the rate of seven and one-half percent per annum from the date of the payment of the refund, but only if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or a misrepresentation of a material fact.

(k) Satisfaction by credits. If any portion of a tax is satisfied by credit of an overpayment, then no interest shall be imposed under this section on the portion of the tax so satisfied for any period during which, if the credit had not been made, interest would have been allowable with respect to such overpayment.

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1785 Additions to tax and civil penalties.

(a) (1) Failure to file tax return. (A) In case of failure to file a tax return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax hereunder shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amounts shown as tax on any return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including an assessment made pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-1782 of this title) within twenty-one calendar days of the date of a notice and demand therefor (ten business days if the amount for which such notice and demand is made equals or exceeds one hundred thousand dollars), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions. (A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two of this subdivision. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of such paragraph one of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph one shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(b) Deficiency due to negligence. (1) If any part of a deficiency is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to five percent of the de- ficiency.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph one of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under section 11-1784 with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph one which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph, for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) If any payment is shown on a return made by a payor with respect to dividends, patronage dividends and interest under subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-two, subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-four or subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-nine of the internal revenue code, respectively, and the payee fails to include any portion of such payment in city adjusted gross income, any portion of an underpayment attributable to such failure shall be treated, for purposes of this subdivision, as due to negligence in the absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary. If any penalty is imposed under this subdivision by reason of the preceding sentence, the amount of the penalty imposed by paragraph one of this subdivision shall be five percent of the portion of the underpayment which is attributable to the failure described in the preceding sentence.

(c) Failure by individual to pay estimated income tax. (1) Addition to the tax. Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision and subdivision (d) of this section, in the case of any underpayment of estimated tax by an individual, there shall be added to the tax under this chapter for the taxable year an amount determined by applying the underpayment rate established under section 11-1797 of this subchapter, or if no rate is set, at the rate of seven and one-half percent per annum, to the amount of the underpayment for the period of the underpayment. Such period shall run from the due date for the required installment to the earlier of the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the taxable year or, with respect to any portion of the underpayment, the date on which such portion is paid. For purposes of determining such date, a payment of estimated tax shall be credited against unpaid required installments in the order in which such installments are required to be paid. There shall be four required installments for each taxable year, due on April fifteenth, June fifteenth and September fifteenth of such taxable year and on January fifteenth of the following taxable year.

(2) Amount of underpayment. For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, the amount of the underpayment shall be the excess of the required installment over the amount, if any, of the installment paid on or before the due date for the installment.

(3) Required installment. (A) Except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, the amount of any required installment shall be twenty-five percent of the required annual payment.

(B) The required annual payment is the lesser of

(i) ninety percent of the tax shown on the return for the taxable year (or, if no return is filed, ninety percent of the tax for such year), or

(ii) one hundred percent of the tax shown on the return of the individual for the preceding taxable year. Provided, however, that the tax shown on such return for taxable years beginning in two thousand eight shall be calculated as if paragraph three of subdivision (f) of section 11-1715 of this chapter was in effect for taxable years beginning in two thousand eight.

Clause (ii) of this subparagraph shall not apply if the preceding taxable year was not a taxable year of twelve months or if the individual did not file a return for such preceding taxable year.

(C) Limitation on use of preceding year's tax.

(i) General. If the city adjusted gross income shown on the return of the individual for the preceding taxable year exceeds one hundred fifty thousand dollars, clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be applied by substituting "one hundred ten percent" for "one hundred percent".

(ii) Separate returns. In the case of a husband and wife who file separate returns pursuant to subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 for the taxable year for which the amount of the installment is being determined, clause (i) of this subparagraph shall be applied by substituting "seventy-five thousand dollars" for "one hundred fifty thousand dollars".

(4) Annualized income installment. (A) In general. In the case of any required installment, if the individual establishes that the annualized income installment determined under subparagraph (B) of this paragraph is less than the amount determined under paragraph three of this subdivision, the annualized income installment shall be the required installment. Any reduction in a required installment resulting from the application of this subparagraph shall be recaptured by increasing the amount of the next required installment determined under paragraph three of this subdivision by the amount of such reduction, and by increasing successive required installments as necessary to effect full recapture.

(B) Determination of annualized income installment. In the case of any required installment, the annualized income installment is the excess, if any, of an amount equal to the applicable percentage of the tax for the taxable year computed by placing on an annualized basis the taxable income and minimum taxable income for months in the taxable year ending before the due date for the installment, over the aggregate amount of any prior required installments for the taxable year. The applicable percentage of the tax shall be twenty-two and one-half percent in the case of the first installment, forty-five percent in the case of the second installment, sixty-seven and one-half percent in the case of the third installment and ninety percent in the case of the fourth installment, and shall be computed without regard to any increase in the rates applicable to the taxable year unless such increase was enacted at least thirty days prior to the due date of the installment.

(5) Definitions and special rules. (A) Definition of the term tax and application of credits against tax. For purposes of this subdivision and subdivision (d) of this section, the term "tax" means the tax imposed under this chapter minus the credits against tax allowed under this chapter, other than the credit under section 11-1773, relating to tax withheld on wages. The credit allowed under section 11-1773 for the taxable year shall be deemed a payment of estimated tax, and an equal part of such amount shall be deemed paid on each installment due date for such taxable year, unless the taxpayer establishes the dates on which all amounts were actually withheld, in which case the amounts so withheld shall be deemed payments of estimated tax on the dates on which such amounts were actually withheld.

(B) Special rule where return filed on or before January thirty-first. If, on or before January thirty-first of the following taxable year, the taxpayer files a return for the taxable year and pays in full the amount computed on the return as payable, then no addition to tax shall be imposed under pargraph one of this subdivision with respect to any underpayment of the fourth required installment for the taxable year.

(C) Special rules for farmers and fishermen. For purposes of this subdivision, if an individual is a farmer or fisherman for any taxable year there shall be only one required installment for the taxable year, due on January fifteenth of the following taxable year in an amount equal to the required annual payment determined under paragraph three of this subdivision by substituting sixty-six and two-thirds percent for ninety percent and without regard to subparagraph (C) of paragraph three of this subdivision. Subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be applied by substituting March first for January thirty-first and by treating the required installment under this subparagraph as the fourth required installment. An individual is a farmer or fisherman for any taxable year if the individual's federal gross income from farming or fishing (including oyster farming) for the taxable year is at least two-thirds of the total federal gross income from all sources for the taxable year or if such individual's federal gross income from farming or fishing (including oyster farming) shown on the return of the individual for the preceding taxable year is at least two-thirds of the total federal gross income from all sources shown on such return.

(D) Fiscal years. In applying this subdivision to a taxable year beginning on any date other than January first, there shall be substituted, for the months specified in this subdivision, the months which correspond thereto.

(E) Short taxable year. This subdivision shall be applied to taxable years of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations prescribed by the tax commission.

(F) Joint estimated tax of husband and wife. A husband and wife may make the required annual payment determined under paragraph three of this subdivision as if they were one taxpayer, in which case the liability under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to the estimated tax shall be joint and several. No such joint payment may be made if husband and wife are separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance, or if they have different taxable years. If a joint payment is made but husband and wife determine their taxes under this chapter separately, the estimated tax for such year may be treated as the estimated tax of either husband or wife, or may be divided between them, as they may elect.

(6) Trusts and certain estates. (A) General. This subdivision shall apply to any trust or estate except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of this paragraph.

(B) Exception for estates and certain trusts. This subdivision shall not apply with respect to any taxable year ending before the date two years after the date of the decedent's death to (i) the estate of such decedent or (ii) any trust all of which was treated (under subpart E of part 1 of subchapter J of chapter one of the internal revenue code) as owned by the decedent and to which the residue of the decedent's estate will pass under his will (or, if no will is admitted to probate, which is the trust primarily responsible for paying debts, taxes and expenses of administration).

(C) Special rule for annualizations. In the case of any estate or trust, subparagraph (B) of paragraph four of this subdivision shall be applied by substituting "ending before the date one month before the due date for the installment" for "ending before the due date for the installment".

(D) In the case of a trust, the trustee may elect to treat any portion of a payment of estimated tax made by such trust for any taxable year of the trust as a payment made by a beneficiary of such trust. Any amount so treated shall be treated as paid or credited to the beneficiary on the last day of such taxable year, and for purposes of this subdivision, the amount so treated shall not be treated as a payment of estimated tax made by the trust, but shall be treated as a payment of estimated tax made by such beneficiary on the January fifteenth following the end of the trust's taxable year.

(E) An election under subparagraph (D) of this paragraph shall be made on or before the sixty-fifth day after the close of the taxable year and in such manner as the commissioner of taxation and finance may prescribe.

(F) Extension to last year of estate.-In the case of a taxable year reasonably expected to be the last taxable year of an estate, any reference in subparagraph (D) of this paragraph to a trust shall be treated as including a reference to an estate, and the fiduciary of the estate shall be treated as the trustee.

(d) Exceptions to addition to tax for failure to pay estimated income tax.

(1) Where tax is small amount. No addition to tax shall be imposed under subdivision (c) of this section for any taxable year if the tax shown on the return for such taxable year (or, if no return is filed, the tax), reduced by the credit allowable under section 11-1773, is less than three hundred dollars.

(2) Where no tax liability for preceding taxable year. No addition to tax shall be imposed under subdivision (c) of this section for any taxable year if the preceding taxable year was a taxable year of twelve months, the individual did not have any liability for tax under this chapter for the preceding taxable year and throughout the preceding taxable year the individual was a resident of this city or a nonresident who had city adjusted gross income.

(3) Installment due on or after individual's death. No addition to tax shall be imposed under subdivision (c) of this section with respect to any installment due on or after the individual's death.

(4) Waiver in certain cases. (A) In general. No addition to tax shall be imposed under subdivision (c) of this section with respect to any underpayment to the extent the tax commission determines that by reason of casualty, disaster or other unusual circumstances the imposition of such addition to tax would be against equity and good conscience.

(B) Newly retired or disabled individuals. No addition to tax shall be imposed under subdivision (c) of this section with respect to any underpayment if the tax commission determines that in the taxable year for which estimated payments were required to be made or in the taxable year preceding such taxable year the taxpayer retired after having attained age sixty-two or became disabled, and that such underpayment was due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

(e) Deficiency due to fraud. (1) If any part of a deficiency is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to fifty percent of the deficiency.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph one of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under section 11-1784 with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph one which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The addition to tax under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (a) or (b) of this section.

(4) In the case of a joint return under section 11-1751, this subdivision shall not apply with respect to the tax of a spouse unless some part of the underpayment is due to the fraud of such spouse.

(f) Non-willful failure to pay withholding tax. If any employer, without intent to evade or defeat any tax imposed by this chapter or the payment thereof, shall fail to make a return and pay a tax withheld by him or her at the time required by or under the provisions of section 11-1774, such employer shall be liable for such tax and shall pay the same together with interest thereon and the addition to tax provided in subdivision (a) of this section, and such interest and addition to tax shall not be charged to or collected from the employee by the employer. The tax commission shall have the same rights and powers for the collection of such tax, interest and addition to tax against such employer as are now prescribed by this chapter for the collection of tax against an individual taxpayer.

(g) Willful failure to collect and pay over tax. Any person required to collect, truthfully account for, and pay over the tax imposed by this chapter who willfully fails to collect such tax or truthfully account for and pay over such tax or willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat the tax or the payment thereof, shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be liable to a penalty equal to the total amount of the tax evaded, or not collected, or not accounted for and paid over. No addition to tax under subdivision (b) or (e) of this section shall be imposed for any offense to which this subsection applies. The tax commission shall have the power, in its discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(h) Failure to file certain information returns. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, in case of each failure to file a statement of a payment to another person, required under authority of subdivision (d) of section 11-1758 (relating to information at source, including the duplicate statement of tax withheld on wages) on the date prescribed therefor (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, there shall, upon notice and demand by the tax commission and in the same manner as tax, be paid by the person so failing to file the statement, a penalty of fifty dollars for each statement not so filed, but the total amount imposed on the delinquent person for all such failures during any calendar year shall not exceed ten thousand dollars.

(2) If any partnership or S corporation required to file a return or report under subdivision (c) of section 11-1758 or under section 11-1759 for any taxable year fails to file such return or report at the time prescribed therefor (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), or files a return or report which fails to show the information required under such subdivision (c) or section 11-1759, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall, upon notice and demand by the commissioner and in the same manner as tax, be paid by the partnership or S corporation a penalty for each month (or fraction thereof) during which such failure continues (but not to exceed five months). The amount of such penalty for any month is the product of fifty dollars, multiplied by the number of partners in the partnership or shareholders in the S corporation during any part of the taxable year who were subject to tax under this chapter during any part of such taxable year.

(3) Repealed.

(i) Additional penalty. Any person who with fraudulent intent shall fail to pay, or to deduct or withhold and pay, any tax, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable to penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter, to be imposed, assessed and collected by the tax commission. The tax commission shall have the power, in its discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(j) Fraudulent statement or failure to furnish statement to employee. In addition to any criminal penalties provided by law, any person required under the provisions of section 11-1772 to furnish a statement to an employee, who willfully furnishes a false or fraudulent statement, or who willfully fails to furnish a statement in the manner, at the time, and showing the information required under section 11-1772, or regulations prescribed thereunder, shall for each such failure be subject to a penalty under this chapter of fifty dollars.

(k) Failure to supply identifying numbers. If any person who is required by regulations prescribed under subdivision (b) of section 11-1758:

(1) to include his or her identifying number in any return, statement, or other document;

(2) to furnish his or her identifying number to another person; or

(3) to include in any return, statement or other document made with respect to another person the identifying number of such other person, fails to comply with such requirement at the time prescribed by such regulations, such person shall, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, pay a penalty of five dollars for each such failure described in paragraph one of this subdivision and fifty dollars for each such failure described in paragraph two of this subdivision, and this paragraph, except that the total amount imposed on such person for all such failures during any calendar year shall not exceed ten thousand dollars; except that for failure to include his or her own identification number in any return, statement or other document, such penalty shall not be imposed unless such person shall have failed to supply his or her identification number to the tax commission within thirty days after demand therefor.

(l) Additions treated as tax. The additions to tax and penalties provided by this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as taxes, and any reference in this chapter to income tax or tax imposed by this chapter, shall be deemed also to refer to the additions to tax and penalties provided by this section. For purposes of section 11-1781, this subdivision shall not apply to:

(1) any addition to tax under subdivision (a) except as to that portion attributable to a deficiency;

(2) any addition to tax under subdivision (c);

(3) any penalty under subdivision (h) and any additional penalty under subdivision (i); and

(4) any penalties under subdivisions (j), (k), (q), (r), (s) and (t).

(m) Determination of deficiency. For purposes of subdivisions (b) and (e) of this section, the amount shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon his or her return shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the deficiency only if such return was filed on or before the last day prescribed for the filing of such return, determined with regard to any extension of time for such filing.

(n) Person defined. For purposes of subdivisions (g), (i), (o), (q) and (r) of this section, the term person includes an individual, corporation, partnership or limited liability company or an officer or employee of any corporation (including a dissolved corporation), or a member or employee of any partnership, or a member, manager or employee of a limited liability company, who as such officer, employee, manager or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

(o) Failure to make deposits of taxes. In case of failure by any person required by this chapter, or by regulations of the tax commission under this chapter, to deposit on the date prescribed therefor any amount of tax imposed by this chapter in a depository authorized pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-1792 to receive such deposits, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be imposed on such person a penalty of five percent of the amount of the underpayment. For purposes of this subdivision the term "underpayment" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be so deposited over the amount, if any, thereof, deposited on or before the date prescribed therefor.

(p) Substantial understatement of liability. If there is a substantial understatement of income tax for any taxable year, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to ten percent of the amount of any underpayment attributable to such understatement. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a substantial understatement of income tax for any taxable year if the amount of the understatement for the taxable year exceeds the greater of ten percent of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, or two thousand dollars. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "understatement" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return reduced by any rebate (within the meaning of subdivision (g) of section 11-1781). The amount of such understatement shall be reduced by that portion of the understatement which is attributable to the tax treatment of any item by the taxpayer if there is or was substantial authority for such treatment, or any item with respect to which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. The tax commission may waive all or any part of the addition to tax provided by this subdivision on a showing by the taxpayer that there was reasonable cause for the understatement, or part thereof, and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

(q) Frivolous tax returns. If any individual files what purports to be a return of any tax imposed by this chapter but which does not contain information on which the substantial correctness of the self-assessment may be judged, or contains information that on its face indicates that the self-assessment is substantially incorrect; and such conduct is due to a position which is frivolous, or an intent (which appears on the purported return) to delay or impede the administration of this chapter, then such individual shall pay a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars. This penalty shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

(r) Aiding or assisting in the giving of fraudulent returns, reports, statements or other documents. (1) Any person who, with the intent that tax be evaded, shall, for a fee or other compensation or as an incident to the performance of other services for which such person receives compensation, aid or assist in, or procure, counsel, or advise the preparation or presentation under, or in connection with any matter arising under this chapter of any return, report, declaration, statement or other document which is fraudulent or false as to any material matter, or supply any false or fraudulent information, whether or not such falsity or fraud is with the knowledge or consent of the person authorized or required to present such return, report, declaration, statement or other document shall pay a penalty not exceeding one thousand dollars.

(2) For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, the term "procures" includes ordering (or otherwise causing) a subordinate to do an act, and knowing of, and not attempting to prevent, participation by a subordinate in an act. The term "subordinate" means any other person (whether or not a director, officer, employee, or agent of the taxpayer involved) over whose activities the person has direction, supervision or control.

(3) For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, a person furnishing typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assistance with respect to a document shall not be treated as having aided or assisted in the preparation of such document by reason of such assistance.

(4) The penalty imposed by this subdivision shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

(s) False information with respect to withholding. In addition to any criminal penalty provided by law, if any individual makes a statement under section 11-1771 which results in a decrease in the amounts deducted and withheld under this chapter, and as of the time such statement was made, there was no reasonable basis for such statement, such individual shall pay a penalty of five hundred dollars for such statement. The tax commission shall waive the penalty imposed under this subdivision if the taxes imposed with respect to the individual under this chapter for the taxable year are equal to or less than the sum of the credits against such taxes allowed by this chapter, and the payments of estimated tax which are considered payments on account of such taxes.

(t) Failure of tax return preparer to conform to certain requirements.-(1) Failure to sign return or claim for refund. Any individual who is a tax return preparer with respect to any return or claim for refund, who is required pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision (g) of section 11-1758 to sign such return or claim for refund, and who fails to comply with such requirement with respect to such return or claim for refund, shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for each such failure, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect. The maximum penalty imposed under this paragraph on any person with respect to returns or claims for refund filed during any calendar year shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars.

(2) Failure to furnish identifying number. If any identifying number required to be included on any return or claim for refund pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (g) of section 11-1758 is not so included, the person who is the tax return preparer with respect to such return or claim for refund shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars with respect to such return or claim for refund unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect. For purposes of this paragraph, where an employer and one or more employees of such employer are tax return preparers with respect to the same return or claim for refund or where a partnership and one or more partners in such partnership are tax return preparers with respect to the same return or claim for refund, such employer or such partnership shall be deemed to be the sole tax return preparer with respect to such return or claim for refund. The maximum penalty imposed under this paragraph on any person with respect to returns or claims for refund filed during any calendar year shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars.

(3) Failure to furnish copy to taxpayer. Any person who is a tax return preparer with respect to any return or claim for refund, who is required under paragraph three of subdivision (g) of section 11-1758 to furnish a copy of such return or claim for refund to the taxpayer, and who fails to comply with such provision with respect to such return or claim for refund shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for each such failure, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect. The maximum penalty imposed under this paragraph on any person with respect to returns or claims for refund filed during any calendar year shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars.

(4) Failure to retain copy or list. Any person who is a tax return preparer with respect to any return or claim for refund, who is required under paragraph four of subdivision (g) of section 11-1758 to: (i) retain a copy of such return or claim for refund or retain on a list the name and taxpayer identifying number of the taxpayer for whom such return or claim for refund was prepared and (ii) make such copy or list available for inspection upon request by the commissioner of taxation and finance, and who fails to comply with the retention requirement or who complies with the retention requirement but fails to comply with such request by the commissioner, shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for each such failure, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect. The maximum penalty imposed under this paragraph on any person with respect to any calendar year shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars.

(5) Failure to electronically file. If a tax return preparer is required to file returns electronically pursuant to paragraph ten of subdivision (g) of § 11-1758, and such preparer fails to file one or more of such returns electronically, then such preparer shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for each such failure to electronically file a return, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect. For purposes of this paragraph, reasonable cause shall include, but not be limited to, a taxpayer's election not to electronically file his or her return.

NOTE

1. Provisions of 61/1989

§ 363. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of section 685 or subsection (c) of section 1085 of the tax law or subdivision (c) of section 11-1785 of the administrative code of the city of New York, no addition to tax shall be made with respect to the portion of any underpayment of an installment of estimated tax due prior to the date this act shall have become a law, which was created or increased by any provision of this act.

§ 364. Severability clause. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part of this act shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision, section or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered. it is hereby declared to be the intent of the legislature that this act would have been enacted even if such invalid provisions had not been included herein.

Provided, more specifically, if the exemption from tax provided by subdivision 6 of section 424 of the tax law, as added by section seventy-two of this act, shall be declared unconstitutional such judgment of invalidity shall not result in the extension of the exemption to out of state distributors who are brewers, but shall, as of the date such judicial decision becomes final and no longer subject to judicial review, result only in the denial of such exemption to all distributors who are brewers.

2. Provisions of ch. 170/1994 §§ 33, 155:

§ 33. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, no addition to tax shall be imposed for failure to pay the estimated tax:

(a) under subsection (e) of section 1085 of the tax law, with respect to any underpayment of a required installment due prior to September 15, 1994, to the extent such underpayment was created or increased by section thirty of this act, if the amount of the first installment due on or after September 15, 1994 is increased by the amount of such underpayment, or

(b) under subsection (c) of section 685 or subsection (c) of section 1085 of the tax law or subdivision (c) of section 11-1785 of the administrative code of the city of New York, with respect to any underpayment of estimated tax to the extent such underpayment was created or increased by the enactment of section 13223 of the federal revenue reconciliation act of 1993, P.L. 103-66 (relating to market accounting methods for dealers in securities), with respect to taxable years ending before April 1, 1994.

§ 155. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, no addition to tax shall be imposed for failure to pay the estimated tax under subsection (c) of section 685 of the tax law or subdivision (c) of section 11-1785 of the administrative code of the city of New York, with respect to any underpayment of a required installment due prior to September 15, 1994, to the extent such underpayment was created or increased by section one hundred fifty-one or one hundred fifty-three of this act, if the amount of the first installment due on or after September 15, 1994 is increased by the amount of such underpayment.

(a) General. The state commissioner of taxation and finance, within the applicable period of limitations, may credit an overpayment of income tax and interest on such overpayment against any liability in respect of any tax imposed by this chapter or by chapter nineteen of this title on the person who made the overpayment or any other tax imposed on such person pursuant to the authority of the tax law or any other law if such tax is administered by the state commissioner of taxation and finance, against any liability in respect of any tax imposed on such person by the tax law and, as provided in sections one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f and one hundred seventy-one-l of the tax law, against past-due support, against a past-due legally enforceable debt, against a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt and against the amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan. The balance shall be refunded by the state comptroller out of the proceeds of the tax retained by him or her for such general purpose. Any refund under this section shall be made only upon the filing of a return and upon a certificate of the state commissioner of taxation and finance approved by the state comptroller. The state comptroller, as a condition precedent to the approval of such a certificate, may examine into the facts as disclosed by the return of the person who made the overpayment and other information and data available in the files of the state commissioner of taxation and finance.

(b) Excessive withholding. If the amount allowable as a credit for tax withheld from the taxpayer exceeds his or her tax to which the credit relates, the excess shall be considered an overpayment.

(c) Overpayment by employer. If there has been an overpayment of tax required to be deducted and withheld under section 11-1771, refund shall be made to the employer only to the extent that the amount of the overpayment was not deducted and withheld by the employer.

(d) Overpayment by a deceased person. Notwithstanding section thirteen hundred ten of the surrogate's court procedure act, any overpayment by a decedent not in excess of one thousand dollars may be refunded to the decedent's surviving spouse unless the return for the decedent was filed by his or her executor or admin- istrator.

(e) Credits against estimated tax. The tax commission may prescribe regulations providing for the crediting against the estimated income tax for any taxable year of the amount determined to be an overpayment of the income tax for a preceding taxable year. If any overpayment of income tax is so claimed as a credit against estimated tax for the succeeding taxable year, such amount shall be considered as a payment of the income tax for the succeeding taxable year, and no claim for credit or refund of such overpayment shall be allowed for the taxable year for which the overpayment arises.

(f) Rule where no tax liability. If there is no tax liability for a period in respect of which an amount is paid as income tax, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(g) Assessment and collection after limitation period. If any amount of income tax is assessed or collected after the expiration of the period of limitations properly applicable thereto, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(h) Cross reference. For provision barring application of article fifty-two of the civil practice law and rules to any amount to be refunded or credited to a taxpayer, see section seven of the tax law.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1787 Limitations on credit or refund.

(a) General. Claim for credit or refund of an overpayment of income tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever of such periods expires the later, or if no return was filed, within two years from the time the tax was paid. If the claim is filed within the three year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid within the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim plus the period of any extension of time for filing the return. If the claim is not filed within the three year period, but is filed within the two year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if no claim is filed, the amount of a credit or refund shall not exceed the amount which would be allowable if a claim had been filed on the date the credit or refund is allowed.

(b) Extension of time by agreement. If an agreement under the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section 11-1783 (extending the period for assessment of income tax) is made within the period prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section for the filing of a claim for credit or refund, the period for filing a claim for credit or refund, or for making credit or refund if no claim is filed, shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment may be made pursuant to the agreement or any extension thereof. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid after the execution of the agreement and before the filing of the claim or the making of the credit or refund, as the case may be, plus the portion of the tax paid within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a) of this section if a claim had been filed on the date the agreement was executed.

(c) Notice of federal change or correction. A claim for credit or refund of any overpayment of tax attributable to a federal change or correction required to be reported pursuant to section 11-1759 shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time the notice of such change or correction or such amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance. If the report or amended return required by section 11-1759 is not filed within the ninety day period therein specified, no interest shall be payable on any claim for credit or refund of the overpayment attributable to the federal change or correction. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such federal change, correction or items amended on the taxpayer's amended federal income tax return. This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

(d) Overpayment attributable to net operating loss carryback. A claim for credit or refund of so much of an overpayment as is attributable to the application to the taxpayer of a net operating loss carryback shall be filed within three years from the time the return was due (including extensions thereof) for the taxable year of the loss, or within the period prescribed in subdivision (b) of this section in respect of such taxable year, or within the period prescribed in subdivision (c) of this section, where applicable, in respect of the taxable year to which the net operating loss is carried back, whichever expires the latest.

(e) Failure to file claim within prescribed period. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made, except as provided in subdivision (f) of this section or subdivision (d) of section 11-1790, after the expiration of the applicable period of limitation specified in this chapter, unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within such period. Any later credit shall be void and any later refund erroneous. No period of limitations specified in any other law shall apply to the recovery by a taxpayer of moneys paid in respect of taxes under this chapter.

(f) Effect of petition to tax commission. If a notice of deficiency for a taxable year has been mailed to the taxpayer under section 11-1781 and if the taxpayer files a timely petition with the tax commission under section 11-1789, it may determine that the taxpayer has made an overpayment for such year (whether or not it also determines a deficiency for such a year). No separate claim for credit or refund for such year shall be filed, and no credit or refund for such year shall be allowed or made, except:

(1) as to overpayments determined by a decision of the tax commission which has become final; and

(2) as to any amount collected in excess of an amount computed in accordance with the decision of the tax commission which has become final; and

(3) as to any amount collected after the period of limitation upon the making of levy for collection has expired; and

(4) as to any amount claimed as a result of a change or correction described in subdivision (c) of this section.

(g) Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of overpayment determined under subdivision (f) of this section shall, when the decision of the tax commission has become final, be credited or refunded in accordance with subdivision (a) of section 11-1786 and shall not exceed the amount of tax which the tax commission determines as part of its decision was paid:

(1) after the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or

(2) within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a), (b) or (c) of this section, if on the date of the mailing of the notice of deficiency a claim had been filed (whether or not filed) stating the grounds upon which the tax commission finds that there is an overpayment.

(h) Early return. For purposes of this section, any return filed before the last day prescribed for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day, determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

(i) Prepaid income tax. For purposes of this section, any tax paid by the taxpayer before the last day prescribed for its payment, any income tax withheld from the taxpayer during any calendar year, and any amount paid by the taxpayer as estimated income tax for a taxable year shall be deemed to have been paid by him or her on the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of his or her taxable year with respect to which such amount constitutes a credit or payment.

(j) Return and payment of withholding tax. Notwithstanding subdivision (h) of this section, for purposes of this section with respect to any withholding tax:

(1) if a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before April fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be considered filed on April fifteenth of such succeeding calendar year; and

(2) if a tax with respect to remuneration paid during any period ending with or within a calendar year is paid before April fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, such tax shall be considered paid on April fifteenth of such succeeding calendar year.

(k) Cross reference. For provision barring refund of overpayment credited against tax of a succeeding year, see subdivision (e) of section 11-1786.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1788 Interest on overpayment.

(a) General. Notwithstanding the provisions of section sixteen of the state finance law, interest shall be allowed and paid as follows at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of taxation and finance pursuant to section 11-1797, or if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon any overpayment in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter:

(1) from the date of the overpayment to the due date of an amount against which a credit is taken;

(2) from the date of the overpayment to a date (to be determined by the commissioner of taxation and finance) preceding the date of a refund check by not more than thirty days, whether or not such refund check is accepted by the taxpayer after tender of such check to the taxpayer. The acceptance of such check shall be without prejudice to any right of the taxpayer to claim any additional overpayment and interest thereon.

(3) Late and amended returns and claims for credit or refund. Notwithstanding paragraph one or two of this subdivision, in the case of an overpayment claimed on a return of tax which is filed after the last date prescribed for filing such return (determined with regard to extensions), or claimed on an amended return of tax or claimed on a claim for credit or refund, no interest shall be allowed or paid for any day before the date on which such return or claim is filed.

(4) Interest on certain refunds. To the extent provided for in regulations promulgated by the commissioner of taxation and finance, if an item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit is changed from the taxable year or period in which it is reported to the taxable year or period in which it belongs and the change results in an underpayment in a taxable year or period and an overpayment in some other taxable year or period, the provisions of paragraph three of this subdivision with respect to an overpayment shall not be applicable to the extent that the limitation in such paragraph on the right to interest would result in a taxpayer not being allowed interest for a length of time with respect to an overpayment while being required to pay interest on an equivalent amount of the related underpayment. However, this paragraph shall not be construed as limiting or mitigating the effect of any statute of limitations or any other provision of law relating to the authority of such commissioner to issue a notice of deficiency or to allow a credit or refund on an overpayment.

(5) Amounts of less than one dollar. No interest shall be allowed or paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) Advance payment of tax, payment of estimated tax, and credit for income tax withholding. The provisions of subdivisions (h) and (i) of section 11-1787 applicable in determining the date of payment of tax for purposes of determining the period of limitations on credit or refund, shall be applicable in determining the date of payment for purposes of this section.

(c) Income tax refund within forty-five days of claim for overpayment. If any overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter is credited or refunded within forty-five days after the last date prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for filing the return of such tax on which such overpayment was claimed or within forty-five days after such return was filed, whichever is later, or within forty-five days after an amended return was filed claiming such overpayment or within forty-five days after a claim for credit or refund was filed on which such overpayment was claimed, or within six months after a demand is filed pursuant to paragraph six of subsection (b) of section six hundred fifty-one of the tax law, no interest shall be allowed under this section on any such overpayment. For purposes of this subdivision, any amended return or claim for credit or refund filed before the last day prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for the filing of the return of tax for such year shall be considered as filed on such last day.

(d) Refund of income tax caused by carryback. For purposes of this section, if any overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter results from a carryback of a net operating loss, such overpayment shall be deemed not to have been made prior to the filing date for the taxable year in which such net operating loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file. For purposes of subdivision (c) of this section any overpayment described herein shall be treated as an overpayment for the loss year and such subdivision shall be applied with respect to such overpayment by treating the return for the loss year as not filed before claim for such overpayment is filed. The term "loss year" means the taxable year in which such loss arises.

(e) No interest until return in processible form.

(1) For purposes of subdivisions (a) and (c) of this section, a return shall not be treated as filed until it is filed in processible form.

(2) For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, a return is in a processible form if:

(A) such return is filed on a permitted form, and

(B) such return contains:

(i) the taxpayer's name, address, and identifying number and the required signatures, and

(ii) sufficient required information (whether on the return or on required attachments) to permit the mathematical verification of tax liability shown on the return.

(f) Overpayment credited against past-due support, or against a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or defaulted guaranteed student, state university or city university loans. If interest is payable pursuant to this section on that portion of an overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter which is certified by the state commissioner of taxation and finance to the state comptroller as the amount to be credited against past-due support, or against a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or the amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan, as the case may be, pursuant to the provisions of section one hundred seventy-one-c, section one hundred seventy-one-d, section one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of the tax law, such portion of such an overpayment shall cease to bear interest on the date of such certification.

(g) Cross-reference. For provision with respect to interest after failure to file notice of federal change under section 11-1759, see subdivision (c) of section 11-1787.

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1789 Petition to tax commission.

(a) General. The form of a petition to the tax commission, and further proceedings before the tax commission in any case initiated by the filing of a petition, shall be governed by such rules as the tax commission shall prescribe. No petition shall be denied in whole or in part without opportunity for a hearing on reasonable prior notice. Such hearing shall be conducted by one or more members of the tax commission, or by a hearing officer designated by the tax commission to take evidence and report to the tax commission. The tax commissioners shall, acting as a body, jointly decide the case as quickly as practicable. Notice of the decision shall be mailed promptly to the taxpayer by certified or registered mail at his or her last known address, and such notice shall set forth the tax commission's findings of fact and a brief statement of the grounds of decision in each case decided in whole or in part adversely to the taxpayer.

(b) Petition for redetermination of a deficiency. Within ninety days, or one hundred fifty days if the notice is addressed to a person outside of the United States, after the mailing of the notice of deficiency authorized by section 11-1781, the taxpayer may file a petition with the tax commission for a redetermination of the deficiency. Such petition may also assert a claim for refund for the same taxable year or years, subject to the limitations of subdivision (g) of section 11-1787.

(c) Petition for refund. A taxpayer may file a petition with the tax commission for the amounts asserted in a claim for refund if:

(1) the taxpayer has filed a timely claim for refund with the tax commission,

(2) the taxpayer has not previously filed with the tax commission a timely petition under subdivision (b) of this section for the same taxable year unless the petition under this subdivision relates to a separate claim for credit or refund properly filed under subdivision (f) of section 11-1787, and

(3) either: (A) six months have expired since the claim was filed, or (B) the tax commission has mailed to the taxpayer, by registered or certified mail, a notice of disallowance of such claim in whole or in part.

No petition under this subdivision shall be filed more than two years after the date of mailing of a notice of disallowance, unless prior to the expiration of such two year period it has been extended by written agreement between the taxpayer and the tax commission. If a taxpayer files a written waiver of the requirement that he or she be mailed a notice of disallowance, the two year period prescribed by this subdivision for filing a petition for refund shall begin on the date such waiver is filed.

(d) Assertion of deficiency after filing petition.

(1) Petition for redetermination of deficiency. If a taxpayer files with the tax commission, a petition for redetermination of a deficiency, the tax commission shall have power to determine a greater deficiency than asserted in the notice of deficiency and to determine if there should be assessed any addition to tax or penalty provided in section 11-1785, if claim therefor is asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax commission.

(2) Petition for refund. If the taxpayer files with the tax commission a petition for credit or refund for a taxable year, the tax commission may:

(A) determine a deficiency for such year as to any amount of deficiency asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax commission, and within the period in which an assessment would be timely under section 11-1783, or

(B) deny so much of the amount for which credit or refund is sought in the petition, as is offset by other issues pertaining to the same taxable year which are asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax commission.

(3) Opportunity to respond. A taxpayer shall be given a reasonable opportunity to respond to any matters asserted by the tax commission under this subdivision.

(4) Restriction on further notices of deficiency. If the taxpayer files a petition with the tax commission under this section, no notice of deficiency under section 11-1781 may thereafter be issued by the tax commission for the same taxable year, except in case of fraud or with respect to a change or correction required to be reported under section 11-1759.

(e) Burden of proof. In any case before the tax commission under this chapter, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner except for the following issues, as to which the burden of proof shall be upon the tax commission:

(1) whether the petitioner has been guilty of fraud with intent to evade tax;

(2) whether the petitioner is liable as the transferee of property of a taxpayer, but not to show that the taxpayer was liable for the tax;

(3) whether the petitioner is liable for any increase in a deficiency where such increase is asserted initially after a notice of deficiency was mailed and a petition under this section filed, unless such increase in deficiency is the result of a change or correction required to be reported under section 11-1759, and of which change or correction the tax commission had no notice at the time it mailed the notice of deficiency; and

(4) whether any person is liable for a penalty under subdivision (q) or (r) of section 11-1785.

(f) Evidence of related federal determination. Evidence of a federal determination relating to issues raised in a case before the tax commission under this section shall be admissible, under rules established by the tax commission.

(g) Jurisdiction over other years. The tax commission shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other years as may be necessary correctly to determine the tax for the taxable year, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other year has been overpaid or underpaid.

§ 11-1790 Review of tax commission decision.

(a) General. A decision of the tax commission shall be subject to judicial review at the instance of any taxpayer effected thereby in the manner provided by law for the review of a final decision or action of administrative agencies of the state. An application by a taxpayer for such review must be made within four months after notice of the decision is sent by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer.

(b) Judicial review exclusive remedy of taxpayer. The review of a decision of the tax commission provided by this section shall be the exclusive remedy available to any taxpayer for the judicial determination of the liability of the taxpayer for the taxes imposed by this chapter.

(c) Assessment pending review; review bond. Irrespective of any restrictions on the assessment and collection of deficiencies, the tax commission may assess a deficiency after the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section, notwithstanding that an application for judicial review in respect of such deficiency has been duly made by the taxpayer, unless the taxpayer, at or before the time his or her application for review is made, has paid the deficiency, has deposited with the tax commission the amount of the deficiency, or has filed with the tax commission a bond (which may be a jeopardy bond under subdivision (h) of section 11-1794) in the amount of the portion of the deficiency (including interest and other amounts) in respect of which the application for review is made and all costs and charges which may accrue against him or her in the prosecution of the proceeding, including costs of all appeals, and with surety approved by a justice of the supreme court of the state of New York, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency (including interest and other amounts) as finally determined and such costs and charges. If as a result of a waiver of the restrictions on the assessment and collection of a deficiency any part of the amount determined by the tax commission is paid after the filing of the review bond, such bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(d) Credit, refund or abatement after review. If the amount of a deficiency determined by the tax commission is disallowed in whole or in part by the court of review, the amount so disallowed shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer, without the making of claim therefor, or, if payment has not been made, shall be abated.

(e) Date of finality of tax commission decision. A decision of the tax commission shall become final upon the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section for making an application for review, if no such application has been duly made within such time, or if such application has been duly made, upon expiration of the time for all further judicial review, or upon the rendering by the tax commission of a decision in accordance with the mandate of the court on review. Notwithstanding the foregoing, for the purpose of making an application for review, the decision of the tax commission shall be deemed final on the date the notice of decision is sent by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer.

§ 11-1791 Mailing rules; holidays; miscellaneous.

(a) (1) Timely mailing. If any return, claim, statement, notice, petition, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the tax commission, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the tax commission, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document or payment is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document or payment was delivered to the tax commission, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed. To the extent that the tax commission shall prescribe by regulation, certified mail may be used in lieu of registered mail under this section. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States post office only if and to the extent provided by regulations of the tax commission.

(2)(A) Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the Internal Revenue Code and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a postmark by the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the Internal Revenue Code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of taxation and finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the state, such commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this article. Such commissioner may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the Internal Revenue Code for purposes of this article, or may withdraw any such designation if such commissioner finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the state. Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by such commissioner and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a postmark by the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the Internal Revenue Code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner.

(B) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of taxation and finance pursuant to the same criteria used by the secretary for such designation pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the Internal Revenue Code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in paragraph one of this subdivision. If such commissioner finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or such commissioner is inadequate for the needs of the state, such commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this article.

(b) Last known address. For purposes of this chapter, a taxpayer's last known address shall be the address given in the last return filed by such taxpayer, unless subsequent to the filing of such return the taxpayer shall have notified the tax commission of a change of address.

(c) Last day a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday.

(d) Certificate; unfiled return. For purposes of this chapter, the certificate of the tax commission to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied, as required by or under the provisions of this chapter, shall be prima facie evidence that such tax has not been paid, that such return has not been filed, or that such information has not been supplied.

(e) Attorney general; jurisdiction. The attorney general shall have concurrent jurisdiction with any district attorney in the prosecution of any offenses arising under article thirty-seven of the tax law with respect to the tax imposed under this chapter.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1792 Collection, levy and liens.

(a) Collection procedures. The taxes imposed by this chapter shall be collected by the tax commission, and it may establish the mode or time for the collection of any amount due it under this chapter if not otherwise specified. The tax commission shall, upon request, give a receipt for any sum collected under this chapter. The tax commission may authorize banks or trust companies which are depositaries or financial agents of the state to receive and give a receipt for any tax imposed under this chapter in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as the tax commission may prescribe; and the tax commission shall prescribe the manner, times and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the tax com- mission.

(b) Notice and demand for tax. The tax commission shall as soon as practicable give notice to each person liable for any amount of tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest, which has been assessed but remains unpaid, stating the amount and demanding payment thereof. Such notice shall be left at the dwelling or usual place of business of such person or shall be sent by mail to such person's last known address. Except where the tax commission determines that collection would be jeopardized by delay, if any tax is assessed prior to the last date (including any date fixed by extension) prescribed for payment of such tax, payment of such tax shall not be demanded until after such date.

(c) Issuance of warrant after notice and demand. If any person liable under this chapter for the payment of any tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest neglects or refuses to pay the same within twenty-one calendar days after notice and demand therefor is given to such person under subdivision (b) of this section (ten business days if the amount for which such notice and demand is made equals or exceeds one hundred thousand dollars), the commissioner of taxation and finance may within six years after the date of such assessment issue a warrant under such commissioner's official seal directed to the sheriff of any county of the state, or to any officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, commanding him or her to levy upon and sell such person's real and personal property for the payment of the amount assessed, with the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to such commissioner and pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of the warrant. If such commissioner finds that the collection of the tax or other amount is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by such commissioner and upon failure or refusal to pay such tax or other amount such commissioner may issue a warrant without regard to the twenty-one day period (or ten-day period if applicable) provided in this subdivision.

(d) Copy of warrant to be filed and lien to be created. Any sheriff or officer or employee who receives a warrant under subdivision (c) of this section shall within five days thereafter file a copy with the clerk of the appropriate county. The clerk shall thereupon enter in the judgment docket, in the column for judgment debtors, the name of the taxpayer mentioned in the warrant, and in appropriate columns the tax or other amounts for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed; and such amount shall thereupon be a lien upon the title to and interest in real, personal and other property of the taxpayer. Such lien shall not apply to personal property unless such warrant is filed in the department of state.

(e) Judgment. When a warrant has been filed with the county clerk the tax commission shall, in the right of the city, be deemed to have obtained judgment against the taxpayer for the tax or other amounts.

(f) Execution. The sheriff or officer or employee shall thereupon proceed upon the warrant in all respects, with like effect, and in the same manner prescribed by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and a sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees for his or her services in executing the warrant, to be collected in the same manner. An officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance may proceed in any county or counties of this state and shall have all the powers of execution conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of actual expenses paid in connection with the execution of the warrant.

(g) Taxpayer not a resident. Where a notice and demand under subdivision (b) of this section shall have been given to a taxpayer who is not then a resident, and it appears to the tax commission that it is not practicable to find in this state property of the taxpayer sufficient to pay the entire balance of tax or other amount owing by such taxpayer who is not then a resident, the tax commission may, in accordance with subdivision (c) of this section, issue a warrant directed to an officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, a copy of which warrant shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at his or her last known address, subject to the rules for mailing provided in subdivision (a) of section 11-1781. Such warrant shall command the officer or employee to proceed in Albany county, and he or she shall, within five days after receipt of the warrant, file the warrant and obtain a judgment in accordance with this section. Thereupon the tax commission may authorize the institution of any action or proceeding to collect or enforce the judgment in any place and by any procedure that a civil judgment of the supreme court of the state of New York could be collected or enforced. The tax commission may also, in its discretion, designate agents or retain counsel for the purpose of collecting, outside the state of New York, any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter against taxpayers who are not residents of this state, may fix the compensation of such agents and counsel to be paid out of money appropriated or otherwise lawfully available for payment thereof, and may require of them bonds or other security for the faithful performance of their duties, in such form and in such amount as the tax commission shall deem proper and sufficient.

(h) Action by state for recovery of taxes. Action may be brought by the attorney general at the instance of the tax commission in the name of the city or both to recover the amount of any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter within six years prior to the date the action is commenced.

(i) Release of lien. The tax commission, if it finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as it may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to this section, and such release may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed.

§ 11-1793 Transferees.

(a) General. The liability, at law or in equity, of a transferee of property of a taxpayer for any tax, additions to tax, penalty or interest due under this chapter, shall be assessed, paid, and collected in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as in the case of the tax to which the liability relates, except that the period of limitations for assessment against the transferee shall be extended by one year for each successive transfer, in order, from the original taxpayer to the transferee involved, but not by more than three years in the aggregate. The term transferee includes donee, heir, legatee, devisee and distributee.

(b) Exceptions.

(1) If before the expiration of the period of limitations for assessment of liability of the transferee, a claim has been filed by the tax commission in any court against the original taxpayer or the last preceding transferee based upon the liability of the original taxpayer, then the period of limitation for assessment of liability of the transferee shall in no event expire prior to one year after such claim has been finally allowed, disallowed or otherwise disposed of.

(2) If, before the expiration of the time prescribed in subdivision (a) or the immediately preceding paragraph of this subdivision for the assessment of the liability, the tax commission and the transferee have both consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon. For the purpose of determining the period of limitation on credit or refund to the transferee of overpayments of tax made by such transferee or overpayments of tax made by the transferor as to which the transferee is legally entitled to credit or refund, such agreement and any extension thereof shall be deemed an agreement and extension thereof referred to in subdivision (b) of section 11-1787. If the agreement is executed after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the original taxpayer, then in applying the limitations under subdivision (b) of section 11-1787 on the amount of the credit or refund, the periods specified in subdivision (a) of section 11-1787 shall be increased by the period from the date of such expiration to the date of the agreement.

(c) Deceased transferor. If any person is deceased, the period of limitation for assessment against such person shall be the period that would be in effect if he or she had lived.

(d) Evidence. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of section 11-1797 the tax commission shall use its powers to make available to the transferee evidence necessary to enable the transferee to determine the liability of the original taxpayer and of any preceding transferees, but without undue hardship to the original taxpayer or preceding transferee. See subdivision (e) of section 11-1789 for rule as to burden of proof.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1794 Jeopardy assessment.

(a) Authority for making. If the tax commission believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, it shall, notwithstanding the provisions of sections 11-1781 and 11-1796, immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, penalties and additions to tax provided for by law), and notice and demand shall be made by the tax commission for the payment thereof.

(b) Notice of deficiency. If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 11-1781, then the tax commission shall mail a notice under such section within sixty days after the making of the assessment.

(c) Amount assessable before decision of tax commission. The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that of which notice is mailed to the taxpayer and whether or not the taxpayer has theretofore filed a petition with the tax commission. The tax commission may, at any time before rendering its decision, abate such assessment, or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that it believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The tax commission may in its decision redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

(d) Amount assessable after decision of tax commission. If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the tax commission is rendered, such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the tax commission in its decision.

(e) Expiration of right to assess. A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the tax commission has become final or after the taxpayer has made an application for review of the decision of the tax commission.

(f) Collection of unpaid amounts. When a petition has been filed with the tax commission and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the tax commission which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the tax commission, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer as provided in section 11-1786 without the filing of claim therefor. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the tax commission.

(g) Abatement if jeopardy does not exist. The tax commission may abate the jeopardy assessment if it finds that jeopardy does not exist. Such abatement may not be made after a decision of the tax commission in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with the tax commission, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and levy or a proceeding for collection, in respect of any deficiency, shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the day on which such jeopardy assessment is abated.

(h) Bond to stay collection. The collection of the whole or any amount of any jeopardy assessment may be stayed by filing with the tax commission, within such time as may be fixed by regulation, a bond in an amount equal to the amount as to which the stay is desired, conditioned upon the payment of the amount (together with interest thereon) the collection of which is stayed at the time at which, but for the making of the jeopardy assessment, such amount would be due. Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The taxpayer shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced. If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated, or if a notice of deficiency under section 11-1781 is mailed to the taxpayer in a lesser amount, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Petition to tax commission. If the bond is given before the taxpayer has filed his or her petition under section 11-1789, the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such section, then the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subdivision. The bond shall be conditioned upon the payment of so much of such assessment (collection of which is stayed by the bond) as is not abated by a decision of the tax commission which has become final. If the tax commission determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced when the decision of the tax commission is rendered.

(j) Stay of sale of seized property pending tax commission decision. Where a jeopardy assessment is made, the property seized for the collection of the tax shall not be sold:

(1) if subdivision (b) of this section is applicable, prior to the issuance of the notice of deficiency and the expiration of the time provided in section 11-1789 for filing a petition with the tax commission, and

(2) if a petition is filed with the tax commission (whether before or after the making of such jeopardy assessment), prior to the expiration of the period during which the assessment of the deficiency would be prohibited if subdivision (a) of this section were not applicable.

Such property may be sold if the taxpayer consents to the sale, or if the tax commission determines that the expenses of conservation and maintenance will greatly reduce the net proceeds, or if the property is perishable.

(k) Interest. For the purpose of subdivision (a) of section 11-1784, the last date prescribed for payment shall be determined without regard to any notice and demand for payment issued under this section prior to the last date otherwise prescribed for such payment.

(l) Early termination of taxable year. If the tax commission finds that a taxpayer designs quickly to depart from this state or to remove his or her property therefrom, or to conceal himself or herself or his or her property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect the city personal income tax for the current or the preceding taxable year unless such proceedings be brought without delay, the tax commission shall declare the taxable period for such taxpayer immediately terminated, and shall cause notice of such finding and declaration to be given the taxpayer, together with a demand for immediate payment of the tax for the taxable period so declared terminated and of the tax for the preceding taxable year or so much of such tax as is unpaid, whether or not the time otherwise allowed by law for filing return and paying the tax has expired; and such taxes shall thereupon become immediately due and payable. In any proceeding brought to enforce payment of taxes made due and payable by virtue of the provisions of this subdivision, the finding of the tax commission made as herein provided, whether made after notice to the taxpayer or not, shall be for all purposes presumptive evidence of jeopardy.

(m) Reopening of taxable period. Notwithstanding the termination of the taxable period of the taxpayer by the tax commission, as provided in subdivision (1), the tax commission may reopen such taxable period each time the taxpayer is found by the tax commission to have received income, within the current taxable year, since the termination of such period. A taxable period so terminated by the tax commission may be reopened by the taxpayer if he or she files with the tax commission a true and accurate return of taxable income and credits allowed under this chapter for such taxable period, together with such other information as the tax commission may by regulations prescribe.

(n) Furnishing of bond where taxable year is closed by the tax commission. Payment of taxes shall not be enforced by any proceedings under the provisions of subdivision (1) of this section prior to the expiration of the time otherwise allowed for paying such taxes if the taxpayer furnishes, under regulations prescribed by the tax commission, a bond to insure the timely making of returns with respect to, and payment of, such taxes or any city personal income taxes for prior years.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1796 Income taxes of members of armed forces and victims of certain terrorist attacks.

(a) Time to be disregarded. In the case of an individual serving in the armed forces of the United States, or serving in support of such armed forces, in an area designated by the president of the United States by executive order as a "combat zone" at any time during the period designated by the president by executive order as the period of combatant activities in such zone, or hospitalized inside or outside the state as a result of injury received while serving in such an area during such time, the period of service in such area, plus the period of continuous hospitalization inside or outside the state attributable to such injury, and the next one hundred eighty days thereafter, shall be disregarded in determining, under this chapter, in respect of the city personal income tax liability (including any interest, penalty, or addition to the tax) of such individual:

(1) Whether any of the following acts was performed within the time prescribed therefor:

(A) filing any return of income tax (except withholding tax);

(B) payment of any income tax (except withholding tax) or any installment thereof or of any other liability in respect thereof;

(C) filing a petition with the tax commission for credit or refund or for redetermination of a deficiency, or application for review of a decision rendered by the tax commission;

(D) allowance of a credit or refund of city personal income tax; (E) filing a claim for credit or refund of city personal income tax;

(F) assessment of city personal income tax;

(G) giving or making any notice or demand for the payment of any city personal income tax, or with respect to any liability to the city in respect of such income tax;

(H) collection, by the tax commission, by levy or otherwise of the amount of any liability in respect of such income tax;

(I) bringing suit by the city, the state, or any officer, on their behalf, in respect of any liability in respect of such income tax; and

(J) any other act required or permitted under this chapter or specified in regulations prescribed under this section by the tax commission.

(2) The amount of any credit or refund.

(b) Special rule for overpayments. (1) Subdivision (a) of this section shall not apply for purposes of determining the amount of interest on any overpayment of tax.

(2) If an individual is entitled to the benefits of subdivision (a) of this section with respect to any return, amended return, or claim for credit or refund, and such return, amended return or claim is timely filed (determined after the application of such subdivision), paragraph three of subdivision (a) and subdivision (c) of section 11-1788 of this title shall not apply.

(c) Action taken before ascertainment of right to benefits. The assessment or collection of the tax imposed by this chapter or of any liability in respect of such tax, or any action or proceeding by or on behalf of the city in connection therewith, may be made, taken, begun, or prosecuted in accordance with law, without regard to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, unless prior to such assessment, collection, action, or proceeding it is ascertained that the person concerned is entitled to the benefits of subdivision (a) of this section.

(d) Members of armed forces dying in action. In the case of any person who dies while in active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States, if such death occurred while serving in a combat zone during a period of combatant activities in such zone, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, or as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while so serving, the tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply with respect to the taxable year in which falls the date of his or her death, or with respect to any prior taxable year ending on or after the first day so served in a combat zone, and no returns shall be required in behalf of such person or his or her estate for such year; and the tax for any such taxable year which is unpaid at the date of death, including interest, additions to tax and penalties, if any, shall not be assessed and, if assessed, the assessment shall be abated and, if collected, shall be refunded to the legal representative of such estate if one has been appointed and has qualified, or, if no legal representative has been appointed or has qualified, to the surviving spouse.

(e) Treatment of individuals performing Desert Shield services. (1) Any individual who performed Desert Shield services shall be entitled to the benefits of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section in the same manner as if such services were services referred to in subdivision (a) of this section.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "Desert Shield services" means any services in the armed forces of the United States or in support of such armed forces if

(A) such services are performed in the area designated by the president of the United States as the "Persian Gulf Desert Shield area", and

(B) such services are performed during the period beginning on August second, nineteen hundred ninety, and ending on the date on which any portion of the area referred to in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is designated by the president as a combat zone pursuant to section one hundred twelve of the internal revenue code.

(f) Relief for personnel under hostile fire. For purposes of this section, members of the armed forces of the United States who perform military service in an area outside an area designated by the president of the United States by executive order as a "combat zone", which service is in direct support of military operations in such zone and is performed under conditions which qualify such members for hostile fire pay, as authorized under subdivision (a) of section nine of the federal uniformed services pay act of nineteen hundred sixty-three, shall, during the period of such qualifying service, be deemed to have served in such combat zone.

(g) Application to spouse. The provisions of subdivisions (a), (b), (c), (e) and (f) of this section shall apply to the spouse of any individual entitled to the benefits of subdivision (a) of this section; provided, however, that such subdivisions shall not apply for any spouse for any taxable year beginning more than two years after the date designated under section one hundred twelve of the internal revenue code as the date of termination of combatant activities in a combat zone.

(h) Individuals dying as a result of certain attacks. (1) General. In the case of a specified terrorist victim, any tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply:

(A) with respect to the taxable year in which falls the date of death; and

(B) with respect to any prior taxable year in the period beginning with the last taxable year ending before the taxable year in which the wounds or injury referred to in paragraph three of this subdivision were incurred.

(2) Taxation of certain benefits. Paragraph one of this subdivision shall not apply to the amount of any tax imposed by this chapter which would be computed by only taking into account the items of income, gain, or other amounts determined by the United States secretary of the treasury to be taxable pursuant to paragraph 692(d)(3) of the internal revenue code.

(3) Specified terrorist victim. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "specified terrorist victim" means any decedent who dies as a result of wounds or injury incurred as a result of the terrorist attacks against the United States on September eleventh, two thousand one, provided, however, such term shall not include any individual identified by the attorney general of the United States to have been a participant or conspirator in any such attack or a representative of such an individual.

Provisions of chap 85/2002 § Q5:

§ 5. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of the law to the contrary, with respect to an estate of a specified terrorist victim dying on or after September 11, 2001, but before January 1, 2002:

(1) Subsection (h) of section 696 of the tax law, as added by section two of this act, shall not apply to the tax imposed by article 26 of the tax law on the estate of a specified terrorist victim;

(2) The reference in subsection (a) of section 951 of the tax law to "with all amendments enacted on or before July twenty-second, nineteen hundred ninety-eight" shall be read as "with all amendments enacted on or before July twenty-second, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, and all amendments enacted by the federal Victims of Terrorism Tax Relief Act of 2001 (P.L. 107-134) insofar as that Act relates to the estate of a specified terrorist victim"; and

(3) Subsection (d) of section 2011, contained in section 2 of chapter 1013 of the laws of 1962 amending the tax law relating to the imposition of a tax on the transfer of estates of certain decedents, as added to such chapter by section 140 of chapter 190 of the laws of 1990, shall not apply to the estate of a specified terrorist victim.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "specified terrorist victim" means any decedent who dies as a result of wounds or injury incurred as a result of the terrorist attacks against the United States on September 11, 2001, provided, however, such term shall not include any individual identified by the attorney general of the United States to have been a participant or conspirator in any such attack or a represenative of such an individual.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1797 General powers of tax commission.

(a) General. The tax commission shall administer and enforce the tax imposed by this chapter and it is authorized to make such rules and regulations, and to require such facts and information to be reported, as it may deem necessary to enforce the provisions of this chapter.

(b) Examination of books and witnesses. (1) The tax commission for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of taxable income of any person, shall have power to examine or to cause to have examined, by any agent or representative designated by it for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in the return, and may require the attendance of the person rendering the return or any officer or employee of such person, or the attendance of any other person having knowledge in the premises, and may take testimony and require proof material for its information, with power to administer oaths to such person or persons.

(2) The tax commission may take any action under paragraph one of this subdivision to inquire into the commission of any offense connected with the administration or enforcement of this chapter, provided, however, that notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-1774 no such action shall be taken after a referral by the department or the tax commission to the attorney general, a district attorney or any other prosecutorial agency is in effect.

(c) Abatement authority. The tax commission, of its own motion, may abate any small unpaid balance of an assessment of city personal income tax, or any liability in respect thereof, if the tax commission determines under uniform rules prescribed by it that the administration and collection costs involved would not warrant collection of the amount due. It may also abate, of its own motion, the unpaid portion of the assessment of any tax or any liability in respect thereof, which is excessive in amount, or is assessed after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, or is erroneously or illegally assessed. No claim for abatement under this subdivision shall be filed by a taxpayer.

(d) Special refund authority. Where no questions of fact or law are involved and it appears from the records of the tax commission that any moneys have been erroneously or illegally collected from any taxpayer or other person, or paid by such taxpayer or other person under a mistake of facts, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the tax commission at any time, without regard to any period of limitations, shall have the power, upon making a record of its reasons therefor in writing, to cause such moneys so paid and being erroneously and illegally held to be refunded and to issue therefor its certificate to the comptroller.

(e) Secrecy requirement and penalties for violation. (1) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the tax commission, any tax commissioner, any officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, any depositary to which any return may be delivered as provided in subdivision (h) or (i) of this section, any officer or employee of such depositary, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any report or return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any report or return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any report or return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner the amount of income or any particulars set forth or disclosed in any report or return required under this chapter.

(2) The officers charged with the custody of such reports and returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the tax commission in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, the tax law or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter or such tax law to which the city, state or the tax commission is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the reports, returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said reports, returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The tax commission may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered after the hearing required under section 11-1789.

(3) Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery by the state commissioner of taxation and finance to the county clerk of a county within the city of New York of a mailing list of individuals to whom income tax forms are mailed by the state commissioner of taxation and finance for the sole purpose of compiling a list of prospective jurors as provided in article sixteen of the judiciary law. Provided, however, such delivery shall only be made pursuant to an order of the chief administrator of the courts, appointed pursuant to section two hundred ten of such law. No such order may be issued unless such chief administrator is satisfied that such mailing list is needed to compile a proper list of prospective jurors for the county for which such order is sought and that, in view of the responsibilities imposed by the various laws of the state on the department of taxation and finance, it is reasonable to require the state commissioner of taxation and finance to furnish such list. Such order shall provide that such list shall be used for the sole purpose of compiling a list of prospective jurors and that such county clerk shall take all necessary steps to insure that the list is kept confidential and that there is no unauthorized use or disclosure of such list. Furthermore, nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or his or her duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return or report filed in connection with his or her tax or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular reports or returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state or city of the report or return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of taxation and finance, the corporation counsel or the attorney general or has been instituted, or the inspection of the reports or returns required under this chapter by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control, for purposes of the audit of a refund of any tax paid by a taxpayer under this chapter, or the furnishing to the state department of social services of the amount of an overpayment of tax and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against past-due support pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c of the tax law and of the name and social security number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment or the furnishing to the New York state higher education services corporation of the amount of an overpayment of tax and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against the amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student loan pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-d of the tax law and of the name and social security number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment or the furnishing to the state university of New York or the city university of New York or the attorney general on behalf of such state or city university the amount of an overpayment of tax and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against the amount of a default in repayment of a state university loan or city university loan pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-e of the tax law and of the name and social security number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment, or the disclosing to a state agency, pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-f of the tax law, of the amount of an overpayment and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against a past-due legally enforceable debt owed to such agency and of the name and social security number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment, or the disclosing to the commissioner of finance of the city of New York, pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-l of the tax law, of the amount of an overpayment and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt and of the name and social security number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment. Reports and returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the state commissioner of taxation and finance orders them to be destroyed.

(3-a) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph one of this subdivision, the state commissioner of taxation and finance or the commissioner of finance may disclose to a taxpayer or a taxpayer's related member, as defined in subdivision (t) of section 11-1712 of this chapter, information relating to any royalty paid, incurred or received by such taxpayer or related member to or from the other, including the treatment of such payments by the taxpayer or the related member in any report or return transmitted to the state commissioner of taxation and finance under this chapter or the New York state tax law or the commissioner of finance under this title.

(4) (A) Any officer or employee of the state, who willfully violates the provisions of this subdivision shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

(B) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of the tax law.

(f) Cooperation with the United States and other states. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section, the tax commission may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegates, or the proper tax officer of any state imposing an income tax upon the incomes of individuals, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this chapter, or may furnish to such officer or his or her authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his or her representative only if the laws of the United States or of such other state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commission or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this chapter and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or his or her authorized representative such returns filed under this chapter and other tax information, as he or she may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegates, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(g) Cooperation with the cities of the state of New York. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section, the tax commission may permit the proper city officer of any city of the state of New York imposing a personal income tax upon the incomes of residents, or an unincorporated business income tax, or an earnings tax on nonresidents, or the authorized representative of any such officer, to inspect any return filed under this chapter, or may furnish to such officer or his or her authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his or her representative only if the local laws of such city grant substantially similar privileges to the commission or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this chapter and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to such city officer or the legal representative of such city such returns filed under this chapter and other tax information, as he or she may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under such local law, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by such city officer or his or her delegate, provided the local law of such city grants substantially similar powers to such city officer or his or her delegate. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(h) Withholding returns. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section the tax commission in its discretion, when making deposits, pursuant to section 11-1798, of taxes withheld by employers, may deliver to the depositary the withholding returns filed by such employers as provided in section 11-1774, for the purpose of insuring that all money so deposited shall be correctly credited to taxpayers' accounts.

(i) Filing returns and making payments to depository banks. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section, the tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all individuals, estates or trusts liable for any tax imposed by this chapter, to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the tax commission and to file reports and returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the tax commission, in lieu of making any such payment to the tax commission. However, the tax commission shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are or shall be designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section 11-1798.

(j) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of taxation and finance shall set the overpayment and underpayment rates of interest to be paid pursuant to sections 11-1784, 11-1785 and 11-1788 of this subchapter, but if no such rates of interest are set, such overpayment rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum and the underpayment rate shall be deemed to be set at seven and one-half percent per annum. Such rates shall be the rates prescribed by paragraphs two and four of this subdivision, but the underpayment rate shall not be less than seven and one-half percent per annum. Any such rates set by such commissioner shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due or overpaid on or after the date on which such rates become effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period during which such rates are in effect.

(2) Rates of interest. (A) Overpayment rate. The overpayment rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) two percentage points.

(B) Underpayment rate. The underpayment rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five and one-half percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For the purposes of this subdivision: (A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clauses (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for individual estimated tax. In determining the addition to tax under subdivision (c) of section 11-1785 for failure to pay estimated tax for any taxable year, the federal short-term rate which applies during the third month following the taxable year shall also apply during the first fifteen days of the fourth month following such taxable year.

(iii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph two of this subdivision to the contrary, in the case of interest payable by an employer with respect to income taxes required to be withheld and paid over by him or her pursuant to the provisions of subchapter four of this chapter and with respect to interest payable to an employer pursuant to subdivision (c) of section 11-1786, the rates of interest prescribed by this section shall be the overpayment and underpayment rates of interest prescribed in paragraph two of subsection (e) of section one thousand ninety-six of the tax law.

(5) In computing the amount of any interest required to be paid under this article by the commissioner of taxation and finance or by the taxpayer, or any other amount determined by reference to such amount of interest, such interest and such amount shall be compounded daily. The preceding sentence shall not apply for purposes of computing the amount of any addition to tax for failure to pay estimated tax under subdivision (c) of section 11-1785.

(6) Publication of interest rates. The commissioner of taxation and finance shall cause to be published in the section for miscellaneous notices in the state register, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rates to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rates apply. The setting and publication of such interest rates shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section one hundred two of the state administrative procedure act relating to the definition of a rule.

(7) Cross-reference. For provisions relating to the power of the commissioner of taxation and finance to abate small amounts of interest, see subdivision (c) of this section.

(k) Disclosure of collection activities with respect to joint return. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of this section, if any deficiency of tax with respect to a joint return is assessed and the individuals filing such return are no longer married or no longer reside in the same household, upon request in writing by either of such individuals, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall disclose in writing to the individual making the request whether such commissioner has attempted to collect such deficiency from such other individual, the general nature of such collection activities, and the amount collected. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any deficiency which may not be collected by reason of expiration of time within which to issue a warrant under subdivision (c) of section 11-1792 of this title or within which to collect such tax by execution and levy or by court proceeding.

(l) Disclosure of certain information where more than one person is subject to penalty. If the commissioner of taxation and finance determines that a person is liable for a penalty under subdivision (g) of section 11-1785 of this title with respect to any failure, upon request in writing of such person, such commissioner shall disclose in writing to such person (1) the name of any other person whom such commissioner has determined to be liable for such penalty with respect to such failure, and (2) whether such commissioner has attempted to collect such penalty from such other person, the general nature of such collection activities, and the amount collected.

NOTE 1. Provisions of chap 85/2002 § R38: § 38. This act shall take effect immediately [Approved May 29, 2002], provided however, that: (a) Sections five through thirty-seven of this act shall take effect April 1, 2003, and shall apply to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on any other amounts, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due or overpaid on or after April 1, 2003; provided however that: (1) the interest rates set pursuant to subsection (j) of section 697 and subsection (e) of section 1096 of the tax law, as such subsections existed prior to amendment by sections nine, ten and eleven of this act, and pursuant to subdivision (j) of section 11-1797 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as such subdivision existed prior to amendment by section thirty-seven of this act, and the interest rates to be paid under subparagraph (ii) of paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 of subdivision (a) of section 1145 of the tax law, as such provisions existed prior to amendment by section twelve of this act, shall apply up to, and including March 31, 2003, to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on other amounts for which interest rates are set under this act; and (2) any rules or regulations necessary to implement the provisions of sections five through thirty-seven of this act may be promulgated and any procedures, forms or instructions necessary for such implementation may be issued on or after the date this act shall have become a law; (b) The commissioner of taxation and finance is authorized to promulgate regulations on an emergency basis pursuant to subdivision 6 of section 202 of the state administrative procedure act, in order to implement the provisions of sections one through four of this act; and (c) The amendments to paragraph (a) of subdivision 8 of section 2807-j of the public health law made by section twenty-seven of this act shall not affect the expiration of such section and shall be deemed to expire therewith. 2. Chapter 62/2003 [A2106-B] was vetoed May 14, 2003 overridden May 15, 2003 and generally effective on that date. Part M3 § 5 is effective as per part M3 § 6: § 6. This act shall take effect on the first day of the calendar quarter which begins at least 60 days after the date this act shall have become a law and shall apply to interest allowable and due on refunds or any other amounts, or any portion thereof, which remain or become overpaid on or after the effective date of this act. Provided, however, that interest rates applicable prior to the effective date of this act will apply up to and including the last day of the quarter before which this act takes effect, to interest allowable or due on refunds or other amounts for which interest rates are set under this act. Provided, further, that any rules or regulations necessary to implement the provisions of this act may be promulgated and any procedures, forms, or instructions necessary for such implementation may be issued on or after the date this act shall have become a law.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 5 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION*15

§ 11-1798 Deposit and disposition of revenues.

All revenue collected by the state commissioner of taxation and finance from the taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies, as may be designated by the state comptroller, to the credit of the comptroller, in trust for the city. Such deposits shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other moneys in the possession of the comptroller. The state comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories of such revenue collected by the state commissioner of taxation and finance. The state comptroller shall retain in his or her hands such amounts as the commissioner of taxation and finance may determine to be necessary for refunds in respect to the taxes imposed by this chapter and such chapter nineteen and for reasonable costs of the state commissioner of taxation and finance in administering, collecting and distributing such taxes, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds of such taxes to which taxpayers shall be entitled under this chapter and such chapter nineteen and except further that he shall pay to a non-obligated spouse that amount of overpayment of tax imposed pursuant to the authority of article thirty of the New York state tax law or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which has been credited pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of the New York state tax law and which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount due such non-obligated spouse pursuant to paragraph six of subsection (b) of section six hundred fifty-one of the New York state tax law, and he shall deduct a like amount which he shall pay into the treasury to the credit of the general fund from amounts subsequently payable to the department of social services, the state university of New York, the city university of New York, the higher education services corporation, or to the revenue arrearage account or special offset fiduciary account pursuant to section ninety-one-a or ninety-one-c of the state finance law, as the case may be, whichever had been credited the amount originally withheld from such overpayment and, with respect to amounts originally withheld from such overpayment pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-l of the tax law and paid to the city of New York, the comptroller shall collect a like amount from the city of New York. The state comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such costs shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, pay to the chief fiscal officer of the city the balance of such taxes collected, to be paid into the treasury of the city to the credit of the general fund except that he shall pay to the state department of social services that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against past-due support pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-c of the New York state tax law and except that he shall pay to the New York state higher education services corporation that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of guaranteed student loans pursuant to subdivision five of section one hundred seventy-one-d of the New York state tax law and except that he shall pay to the state university of New York or the city university of New York, respectively, that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of state university or city university loans pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-e of the New York state tax law, and except further that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, he shall credit to the revenue arrearage account, pursuant to section ninety-one-a of the state finance law, that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against a past-due legally enforceable debt owed to a state agency pursuant to paragraph (a) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of the New York state tax law, provided, however, he shall credit to the special offset fiduciary account, pursuant to section ninety-one-c of the state finance law, any such amount creditable as a liability as set forth in paragraph (b) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of the tax law, and except further that he shall pay to the city of New York that amount of overpayments of tax imposed pursuant to this chapter or chapter nineteen of this title and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against city of New York tax warrant judgment debt pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-l of the New York state tax law. The amount deducted for administering, collecting and distributing such taxes during such monthly period shall be paid by the state comptroller into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes fund therein. The first payment to such chief fiscal officer shall be made on or before March fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-six, which payment shall represent the balance of revenue after provision for refund and such reasonable costs, with respect to taxes collected from January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six through February twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred seventy-six. Subsequent payments shall be made on or before April fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-six and on or before the fifteenth day of each succeeding month thereafter, and shall represent the balance of revenue with respect to taxes collected the preceding calendar month. The amounts so payable shall be certified to the state comptroller by the state commissioner of taxation and finance or his or her delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Where the amount so paid over to such chief fiscal officer is more or less than the amount then due such city, the amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the state comptroller by the state commissioner of taxation and finance or his or her delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the state comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments by the state comptroller to such chief fiscal officer shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from, or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the state comptroller and the state commissioner of taxation and finance shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

(a) If there is assessed a tax under this chapter and there is also assessed a tax or taxes against the same taxpayer pursuant to article twenty-two of the tax law or under chapter nineteen of this title and if the tax commission takes action under such article twenty-two or under such chapter nineteen with respect to the enforcement and collection of the tax or taxes assessed under such articles and/or chapter, the tax commission shall, wherever possible, accompany such action with a similar action under similar enforcement and collection provisions of this chapter.

(b) Any moneys collected as a result of such joint action shall be deemed to have been collected in proportion to the amounts due, including tax, penalties, interest and additions to tax, under article twenty-two of the tax law and this city income tax.

(c) Whenever the tax commission takes any action with respect to a deficiency of income tax under article twenty-two of such law or under chapter nineteen of this title, other than the action set forth in subdivision (a) of this section, it may in its discretion accompany such action with a similar action under such city income tax.

§ 11-1801 Administration, collection and review.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, any tax imposed by this chapter shall be administered and collected by the tax commission in the same manner as the tax imposed by article twenty-two of the tax law is administered and collected by such commission. Whenever there is joint collection of state and city personal income taxes, it shall be deemed that such collections shall represent proportionately the applicable state and city personal income taxes in determining the amount to be remitted to the city.

(b) The tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this chapter to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest to such banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the tax commission and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies, as agent of the tax commission, in lieu of paying a tax imposed by this chapter directly to the tax commission. However, the tax commission shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies which are designated by the comptroller as depositories of the state.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the tax commission may require:

(1) the filing of any or all of the following:

(A) a combined return which, in addition to the return provided for in section 11-1751, may also include any or both of the returns required to be filed by a resident individual of New York state pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred fifty-one of the tax law and which may be required to be filed by such individual pursuant to chapter nineteen of this title and

(B) a combined employer's return which, in addition to the employer's return provided for by this chapter, may also include any or both of the employer's returns required to be filed by the same employer pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred seventy-four of such law and required to be filed by such employer pursuant to such chapter nineteen of this title and

(2) where a combined return or employer's return is required, and with respect to the payment of estimated tax, the tax commission may also require the payment to it of a single amount which shall equal the total of the amounts which would have been required to be paid with the returns or employer's returns or in payment of estimated tax pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-two of such tax law, and the provisions of this chapter as if no combined return or employer's return were required.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL

§ 11-1901 Meaning of terms.

As used in this chapter, the following terms shall mean and include:

(a) " Commissioner" means the commissioner of finance of the city except that with respect to taxes imposed for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six, such term shall mean state tax commission.

(b) "Payroll period" and "employer" mean the same as payroll period and employer as defined in subsections (b) and (d) of section thirty-four hundred one of the internal revenue code, and "employee" shall also include all those included as employees in subsection (c) of such section of such code.

(c) "Commissioner of finance" means the commissioner of finance of the city.

(d) "This state" means the state of New York.

(e) "Wages" means wages as defined in subsection (a) of section thirty-four hundred one of the internal revenue code, except that (1) wages shall not include payments for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States and shall not include, in the case of a nonresident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is such individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which such individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes, and (2) wages shall include (i) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen or subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1, 13-125.1, 13-125.2 or 13-521.1 of title thirteen of the code or subdivision nineteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law, (ii) the amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law, (iii) the amount by which an employee's salary is reduced pursuant to the provisions of subdivision b of section 12-126.1 and subdivision b of section 12-126.2 of title twelve of the code, and (iv) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer for members of the Manhattan and Bronx surface transportation authority pension plan and treated as employer contributions in determining income tax treatment under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(f) "Net earnings from self-employment" means the same as net earnings from self-employment as defined in subsection (a) of section fourteen hundred two of the internal revenue code, except that the deduction for wages and salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year which is not allowed pursuant to section two hundred eighty C of such code shall be allowed, and except that an estate or trust shall be deemed to have net earnings from self-employment determined in the same manner as if it were an individual subject to the tax on self-employment income imposed by section fourteen hundred one of the internal revenue code diminished by: (1) the amount of any deduction allowed by subsection (c) of section six hundred forty-two of the internal revenue code and (2) the deductions allowed by sections six hundred fifty-one and six hundred sixty-one of said code to the extent that they represent distributions or payments to a resident of the city. However, "trade or business" as used in subsection (a) of section fourteen hundred two of such code shall mean the same as trade or business as defined in subsection (c) of section fourteen hundred two of such code, except that paragraphs four, five and six of such subsection shall not apply in determining net earnings from self-employment taxable under this chapter. Provided, however, in the case of a nonresident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is the individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which the individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes shall not be considered to be "net earnings from self-employment".

(g) "Taxable year" means the taxpayer's taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(h) Resident individual. A resident individual means an individual:

(1) who is domiciled in the city, unless (A) he or she maintains no permanent place of abode in the city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in the city, or (B) (i) within any period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days he or she is present in a foreign country or countries for at least four hundred fifty days, and (ii) during such period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days he or she is not present in the city for more than ninety days and does not maintain a permanent place of abode in the city at which his or her spouse (unless such spouse is legally separated) or minor children are present for more than ninety days, and (iii) during any period of less than twelve months which would be treated as a separate taxable period pursuant to section 11-1919 of this chapter, and which period is contained within such period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days, he or she is present in the city for a number of days which does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to ninety as the number of days contained in such period of less than twelve months bears to five hundred forty-eight, or

(2) who is not domiciled in the city but maintains a permanent place of abode in the city and spends in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days of the taxable year in the city, unless such individual is in active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(i) Nonresident individual. A nonresident individual means an individual who is not a resident.

(j) Resident estate or trust. A resident estate or trust means:

(1) the estate of a decedent who at his or her death was domiciled in the city,

(2) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of property transferred by will of a decedent who at his or her death was domiciled in the city, or

(3) a trust, or portion of a trust, consisting of the property of:

(A) a person domiciled in the city at the time such property was transferred to the trust, if such trust or portion of a trust was then irrevocable, or if it was then revocable and has not subsequently become irrevocable; or

(B) a person domiciled in the city at the time such trust, or portion of a trust, became irrevocable, if it was revocable when such property was transferred to the trust but has subsequently become irrevocable.

For the purposes of the foregoing, a trust or portion of a trust is revocable if it is subject to a power, exercisable immediately or at any future time, to revest title in the person whose property constitutes such trust or portion of a trust, and a trust or portion of a trust becomes irrevocable when the possibility that such power may be exercised has been terminated.

(k) Nonresident estate or trust. A nonresident estate or trust means an estate or trust which is not a resident.

(l) Unless a different meaning is clearly required, any terms used in this chapter shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to federal taxes but such meaning shall be subject to the exceptions or modifications prescribed in or pursuant to article two-E of the general city law or by the laws of this state. Any reference in this chapter to the internal revenue code, the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six or to the laws of the United States shall mean the provisions of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six (unless a reference to the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four is clearly intended), and amendments thereto, and other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal taxes, as the same are included in the appendix and supplement to the appendix to this chapter. (The quotation of the aforesaid laws of the United States is intended to make them a part of this chapter and to avoid constitutional uncertainties which might result if such laws were merely incorporated by reference. The quotation of a provision of the federal internal revenue code or of any other law of the United States shall not necessarily mean that it is applicable to or has relevance to this chapter).

(m) With respect to any taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred seventy, until and including the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred seventy-one, "administrator" shall be read as "state tax commission"; "administrative agencies of the city" shall be read as "administrative agencies of the state"; "depositories or financial agents of the city" shall be read as "depositories or financial agents of the state"; "officers or employees of the department of finance of the city" shall be read as "officers or employees of the state department of taxation and finance"; in sections 11-1934, 11-1936, 11-1939, and 11-1942 of this chapter (except for the last sentence thereof) of this chapter "city" shall be read as "state"; "corporation counsel or other appropriate officer of the city" or "corporation counsel of the city" shall be read as "state attorney general"; and the words "it" or "its" shall apply instead of the pronouns used where the reference is to tax commission. Provided, however, with respect to declarations of estimated tax and payments of such tax and the withholding tax requirements, until and including the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred seventy-one, any such terms shall be so read with respect to any taxable year or other period beginning in nineteen hundred seventy-one. (Subds. e and f amended, ch. 639/86, § 147. Subd. j amended, ch. 639/86, § 148.)

(n) The term "partnership" shall include, unless a different meaning is clearly required, a subchapter K limited liability company. The term "subchapter K limited liability company" shall mean a limited liability company classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The term "limited liability company" means a domestic limited liability company or a foreign limited liability company, as defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law, a limited liability investment company formed pursuant to section five hundred seven of the banking law, or a limited liability trust company formed pursuant to section one hundred two-a of the banking law.

§ 11-1902 Persons subject to tax.

(a) Imposition of tax. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year ending on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy and for each taxable year beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, on the wages earned and net earnings from self-employment, within the city, of every nonresident individual, estate and trust which shall comprise:

(i) A tax at the rate of one-fourth of one per cent on all wages.

(ii) A tax at the rate of three-eighths of one per cent on all net earnings from self-employment.

(2) For each taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, a tax is hereby imposed on the wages earned, and net earnings from self-employment, within the city, of every nonresident individual, estate and trust which shall comprise:

(i) A tax at the rate of forty-five hundredths of one per cent on all wages.

(ii) A tax at the rate of sixty-five hundredths of one per cent on all net earnings from self-employment.

(3) For each taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred seventy and ending in nineteen hundred seventy-one, two tentative taxes shall be computed, the first as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision and the second as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision, and the tax for each such year shall be the sum of that proportion of each tentative tax which the number of days in nineteen hundred seventy and the number of days in nineteen hundred seventy-one, respectively, bears to the number of days in the entire taxable year.

(4) For each taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-nine and ending in two thousand, two tentative taxes shall be computed, the first as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision and the second as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision, and the tax for each such year shall be the sum of that proportion of each tentative tax which the number of days in nineteen hundred ninety-nine and the number of days in two thousand, respectively, bears to the number of days in the entire taxable year.

(b) Exclusion. (1) In computing the amount of wages and net earnings from self-employment taxable under subdivision (a) of this section, there shall be allowed an exclusion against the total of wages and net earnings from self-employment in accordance with the following table:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(2) The exclusion allowable shall be applied pro rata against wages and net earnings from self-employment.

(3) For taxable periods of less than one year, the exclusion allowable shall be prorated pursuant to regulations of the commissioner.

(c) Limitation. In no event shall a taxpayer be subject to the tax under this chapter in an amount greater than such taxpayer would be required to pay if such taxpayer were a resident of the city and subject to a tax on personal income of residents of the city adopted by the city pursuant to authority granted by the general city law or the tax law.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL

§ 11-1903 Taxable years to which tax imposed by this chapter applies; tax for taxable years beginning prior to and ending after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

(a) General. The tax imposed by this chapter is imposed for each taxable year beginning with taxable years ending on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

(b) Alternate methods for determining tax for taxable years ending on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six. (1) The tax for any taxable year ending on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, shall be the same part of the tax which would have been imposed had this chapter been in effect for the entire taxable year as the number of months (or major portions thereof) of the taxable year occurring after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six is of the number of months (or major portions thereof) in the taxable year.

(2) (i) In lieu of the method of computation of tax prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision, if the taxpayer maintains adequate records for any taxable year ending on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, the tax for such taxable year, at the election of the taxpayer, may be computed on the basis of the wages which the taxpayer would have reported had he or she filed a federal income tax return for a taxable year beginning July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and ending with the close of such taxable year ending on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and the net earnings from self-employment which the taxpayer would have reported for federal income tax purposes had he or she filed a self-employment tax return for a taxable year beginning July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and ending with the close of such taxable year ending on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-seven.

(ii) For purposes of this paragraph, the exclusions allowable under section 11-1902 of this subchapter shall be reduced by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of months (or major portions thereof) of the taxable year occurring before July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and the denominator of which is the number of months (or major portions thereof) in the taxable year. Except as provided in this paragraph, the tax for such period ending on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this chapter.

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL

§ 11-1904 Allocation to the city.

(a) General. If net earnings from self-employment are derived from services performed, or from sources, within and without the city, there shall be allocated to the city a fair and equitable portion of such earnings.

(b) Allocation of net earnings from self-employment.

(1) Place of business. If a taxpayer has no regular place of business outside the city all of his or her net earnings from self-employment shall be allocated to the city.

(2) Allocation by taxpayer's books. The portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city may be determined from the books and records of a taxpayer's trade or business, if the methods used in keeping such books and the accuracy thereof are approved by the commissioner as fairly and equitably reflecting net earnings from selfemployment within the city.

(3) Allocation by formula. If paragraph two of this subdivision does not apply to the taxpayer, the portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city shall be determined by multiplying (A) net earnings from self-employment within and without the city, by (B) the average of the following three percentages:

(i) Property percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of real and tangible personal property connected with net earnings from self-employment and located within the city, by (B) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of all real and tangible personal property connected with the net earnings from selfemployment and located both within and without the city. For this purpose, real property shall include real property whether owned or rented.

(ii) Payroll percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the net earnings from self-employment derived from a trade or business carried on within the city, by (B) the total of all wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the net earnings from self-employment derived from a trade or business carried on both within and without the city.

(iii) Gross income percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the gross sales or charges for services performed by or through an agency located within the city, by (B) the total of all gross sales or charges for services performed within and without the city. The sales or charges to be allocated to the city shall include all sales negotiated or consummated, and charges for services performed, by an employee, agent, agency or independent contractor chiefly situated at, connected by contract or otherwise with, or sent out from, offices or other agencies of the trade or business from which a taxpayer is deriving net earnings from self-employment, situated within the city.

(c) Other allocation methods. The portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city shall be determined in accordance with rules and regulations of the commissioner if it shall appear to the commissioner that the net earnings from self-employment are not fairly and equitably reflected under the provisions of subdivision (b) of this section.

(d) Special rules for real estate. Income and deductions from the rental of real property and gain and loss from the sale, exchange or other disposition of real property, shall not be subject to allocation under subdivision (b) or (c) of this section, but shall be considered as entirely derived from or connected with the place in which such property is located.

§ 11-1905 Accounting periods and methods.

(a) Accounting periods. A taxpayer's taxable year under this chapter shall be the same as his or her taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Change of accounting periods. If a taxpayer's taxable year is changed for federal income tax purposes, his or her taxable year for purposes of this chapter shall be similarly changed. If a taxable period of less than twelve months results from a change of taxable year, the exclusion allowable under section 11-1902 of this subchapter shall be prorated under regulations of the commissioner.

(c) Accounting methods. A taxpayer's method of accounting under this chapter shall be the same as his or her method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. In the absence of any method of accounting for federal income tax purposes, net earnings from self-employment within the city shall be computed under such method as in the opinion of the commissioner clearly reflects net earnings from self-employment within the city.

(d) Change of accounting methods. (1) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, his or her method of accounting for purposes of this chapter shall be similarly changed.

(2) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed, other than from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax which results from adjustments determined to be necessary solely by reason of the change shall not be greater than if such adjustments were ratably allocated and included for the taxable year of the change and the preceding taxable years, beginning after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, not in excess of two, during which the taxpayer used the method of accounting from which the change is made.

(3) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax for the year of such change of method and for any subsequent year which is attributable to the receipt of installment payments properly accrued in a prior year, shall be reduced by the portion of tax for any prior taxable year attributable to the accrual of such installment payments, in accordance with regulations of the commissioner.

§ 11-1911 Credit for tax withheld.

Wages upon which tax is required to be withheld shall be taxable under this chapter as if no withholding were required, but any amount of tax actually deducted and withheld under this chapter in any calendar year shall be deemed to have been paid on behalf of the employee from whom withheld, and such employee shall be credited with having paid that amount of tax in such calendar year. For a taxable year of less than twelve months, the credit shall be made under regulations of the commissioner.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL

§ 11-1912 Employer's return and payment of withheld taxes.

(a) General. On or after the first payroll period beginning August twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred sixty-six, every employer required to deduct and withhold tax under this chapter shall, for each calendar month, on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the close of such calendar month file a withholding return as prescribed by the commissioner and pay over to the commissioner or to the depository designated by the commissioner, the taxes so required to be deducted and withheld, except that for the month of December in any year the returns shall be filed and the taxes paid on or before January thirty-first of the succeeding year. Where the aggregate amount required to be deducted and withheld by any employer under this chapter and under chapter seventeen of this title is less than twenty-five dollars in a calendar month and the aggregate of such taxes for the semi-annual period ending on June thirtieth and December thirty-first can reasonably be expected to be less than one hundred fifty dollars, the commissioner may, by regulation, permit an employer to file a return on or before July thirty-first for the semi-annual period ending on June thirtieth and on or before January thirty-first for the semi-annual period ending on December thirty-first. The commissioner may, if he or she believes such action necessary for the protection of the revenues, require any employer to make a return and pay to him or her the tax deducted and withheld at any time, or from time to time. Where the amount of wages paid by an employer is not sufficient under this chapter and under chapter seventeen of this title to require the withholding of tax from the wages of any of his or her employees, the commissioner may, by regulation, permit such employer to file an annual return on or before February twenty-eighth of the following calendar year.

(b) Combined returns. The commissioner may by regulation provide for the filing of one return which shall include the return required to be filed under this section, together with the employer's return required to be filed under chapter seventeen of this title.

(c) Deposit in trust for city. Whenever any employer fails to collect, truthfully account for, pay over the tax, or make returns of the tax as required in this section, the commissioner may serve a notice requiring such employer to collect the taxes which become collectible after service of such notice, to deposit such taxes in a bank approved by the commissioner, in a separate account, in trust for the city and payable to the commissioner, and to keep the amount of such tax in such account until payment over to the commissioner. Such notice shall remain in effect until a notice of cancellation is served by the commissioner.

§ 11-1913 Employer's liability for withheld taxes.

Every employer required to deduct and withhold the tax under this chapter is hereby made liable for such tax. For purposes of assessment and collection, any amount required to be withheld and paid over to the commissioner, and any additions to tax, penalties and interest with respect thereto shall be considered the tax of the employer. Any amount of tax actually deducted and withheld under this chapter shall be held to be a special fund in trust for the city. No employee shall have any right of action against his or her employer in respect to any monies deducted and withheld from his or her wages and paid over to the commissioner in compliance or in intended compliance with this chapter.

§ 11-1915 Combined returns, employer's returns and payments.

The state tax commission may require:

(1) The filing of any or all of the following:

(A) A combined return which in addition to the return provided for in this chapter may also include returns required to be filed under a law authorized by article thirty of the tax law and under article twenty-two of the tax law.

(B) A combined employer's return which in addition to the employer's return provided for by this chapter may also include employer's returns required to be filed under a law authorized by article thirty of the tax law and under article twenty-two of the tax law.

(2) Where a combined return or employer's return is required, and with respect to the payment of estimated tax, the state tax commission may also require payment of a single amount which shall be the total of the amounts (total taxes less any credits or refunds) required to be paid with the returns or employer's returns or in payment of estimated tax pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, a law authorized by article thirty of the tax law and pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-two of the tax law.

SUBCHAPTER 2 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX

§ 11-1916 Returns and payment of tax.

(a) General. On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the taxable year, every person subject to the tax shall make and file a return and any balance of the tax shown due on the face of such return shall be paid therewith. The commissioner may, by regulation, provide for the filing of returns and payment of the tax at such other times as he or she deems necessary for the proper enforcement of this chapter. The commissioner may also provide by regulation that any return otherwise required to be made and filed under this chapter by any nonresident individual need not be made and filed if such nonresident individual had, during the taxable year to which the return would relate, no net earnings from self-employment within the city. Any regulation allowing such waiver of return may provide for additional limitations on and conditions and prerequisites to the privilege of not filing a return.

(b) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his or her executor, administrator, or other person charged with his or her property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(c) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by his or her guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his or her person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his or her property), or by his or her duly authorized agent.

(d) Estates and trust. The return for an estate trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(e) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

(f) Cross reference. For provisions as to information returns by partnerships, employers and other persons, see section 11-1921 of this subchapter.

§ 11-1918 Signing of returns and other documents.

(a) General. Any return, statement or other document required to be made pursuant to this chapter shall be signed in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the commissioner. The fact that an individual's name is signed to a return, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that the return, statement or other document was actually signed by such individual.

(b) Partnerships. Any return, statement or other document required of a partnership shall be signed by one or more partners. The fact that a partner's name is signed to a return, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that such partner is authorized to sign on behalf of the partnership.

(c) Certifications. The making or filing of any return, statement or other document or copy thereof required to be made or filed pursuant to this chapter, including a copy of a federal return, shall constitute a certification by the person making or filing such return, statement or other document or copy thereof that the statements contained therein are true and that any copy filed is a true copy.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 2 RETURNS AND PAYMENT OF TAX

§ 11-1919 Change of residence status during year.

(a) General. If an individual changes his or her status during his or her taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, he or she shall file a return as a nonresident for the portion of the year during which he or she is a nonresident if he or she is subject to the tax imposed by this chapter or, if not subject to such tax, an information return for the portion of the year during which he or she is a nonresident, subject to such exceptions as the commissioner may prescribe by regulation. Such information return shall be due at the same time as the return required by chapter seventeen of this title for the portion of the year during which such individual is a resident.

(b) City taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment for portion of year individual is a nonresident. The city taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment for the portion of the year during which he or she is a nonresident shall be determined, except as provided in subdivision (c) of this section, under this chapter as if his or her taxable year for federal income tax purposes were limited to the period of his or her nonresident status.

(c) Special accruals. (1) If an individual changes his or her status from resident to nonresident, he or she shall, regardless of his or her method of accounting, accrue for the portion of the taxable year prior to such change of status any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for city earnings tax purposes for such portion of the taxable year for a prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined as if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes.

(2) If an individual changes his or her status from nonresident to resident, he or she shall, regardless of his or her method of accounting, accrue for the portion of the taxable year prior to such change of status any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes for such portion of the taxable year or for prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes.

(3) No item of income, gain, loss or deduction which is accrued under this subdivision shall be taken into account in determining city adjusted wages earned, or net earnings from self-employment, within the city, for any subsequent taxable period.

(4) Where an individual changes his or her status from resident to nonresident, the accruals under this subdivision shall not be required if the individual files with the commissioner a bond or other security acceptable to the commissioner, conditioned upon the inclusion of amounts accruable under this subdivision in city adjusted gross income under chapter seventeen of this title for one or more subsequent taxable years as if the individual has not changed his or her resident status. In such event, the tax under this chapter shall not apply to such amounts.

(d) Prorations. Where an individual changes his or her status during his or her taxable year from resident to nonresident or from nonresident to resident, the exclusion allowable under subdivision (b) of section 11-1902 of this chapter shall be prorated, under regulations of the commissioner, to reflect the portions of the entire taxable year during which the individual was a resident and a nonresident.

§ 11-1920 Extension of time.

(a) General. The commissioner may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of tax or estimated tax (or any installment), or for filing any return, statement, or other document required pursuant to this chapter, on such terms and conditions as he or she may require. Except for a taxpayer who is outside the United States or who intends to claim nonresident status pursuant to subparagraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) of paragraph one of subdivision (h) of section 111901 of this chapter, no such extension for filing any return, statement or other document, shall exceed six months.

(b) Furnishing of security. If any extension of time is granted for payment of any amount of tax, the commissioner may require the taxpayer to furnish a bond or other security in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which the extension of time for payment is granted, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require.

§ 11-1921 Requirements concerning returns, notices, records and statements.

(a) General. The commissioner may prescribe regulations as to the keeping of records, the content and form of returns and statements, and the filing of copies of federal income tax returns and determinations. The commissioner may require any person, by regulation or notice served upon such person, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the commissioner may deem sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable under this chapter for tax or for collection of tax.

(b) Partnerships. Every partnership doing business in the city and having no partners who are residents shall make a return for the taxable year setting forth all items of income, gain, loss and deduction and such other pertinent information as the commissioner may by regulations and instructions prescribe. Such return shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of each taxable year. For purposes of this subdivision, "taxable year" means year or period which would be a taxable year of the partnership if it were subject to tax under this chapter.

(c) Information at source. The commissioner may prescribe regulations and instructions requiring returns of information to be made and filed on or before February twenty-eighth of each year as to the payment or crediting in any calendar year of amounts of six hundred dollars or more to any taxpayer under this chapter. Such returns may be required of any person, including lessees or mortgagors of real or personal property, fiduciaries, employers, and all officers and employees of this state, or any municipal corporation or political subdivision of this state, having the control, receipt, custody, disposal or payment of interest, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments or other fixed or determinable gains, profits or income, except interest coupons payable to bearer. A duplicate of the statement as to tax withheld on wages, required to be furnished by an employer to an employee, shall constitute the return of information required to be made under this section with respect to such wages.

(d) Notice of qualification as receiver, etc. Every receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, assignee for benefit of creditors, or other like fiduciary shall give notice of his or her qualifications as such to the commissioner, as may be required by regulation.

§ 11-1922 Report of change in federal or New York state taxable income.

If the amount of a taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income reported on his or her federal or New York state tax return for any taxable year is changed or corrected by the United States internal revenue service or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance or other competent authority, or as the result of a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States or New York state or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section six thousand two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of said section or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subdivision (f) of section six hundred eighty-one of the tax law executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subdivision (c) of said section, or if any tax on self-employment income in addition to that shown on his or her return is assessed, the taxpayer shall report such change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income or such execution of such notice of waiver or such assessment and the changes or corrections of his or her federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income on which it is based, within ninety days after the final determination of such change, correction, or renegotiation, or such execution of such notice of waiver or the making of such assessment as otherwise required by the commissioner, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended federal or New York state income or self-employment income tax return shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended return under this chapter, and shall give such information as the commissioner may require. The commissioner may by regulation prescribe such exceptions to the requirements of this section as he or she deems appropriate. For purposes of this section, (i) the term "taxpayer" shall include a partnership having any income derived from city sources, and (ii) the term "federal income tax return" shall include the returns of income required under section six thousand thirty-one of the internal revenue code. Reports made under this section by a partnership shall indicate the portion of the change in each item of income, gain, loss or deduction allocable to each partner and shall set forth such identifying information with respect to such partner as may be prescribed by the commissioner.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1923 Notice of deficiency.

(a) General. If upon examination of a taxpayer's return under this chapter the commissioner determines that there is a deficiency of tax, he or she may mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. If a taxpayer fails to file a return required under this chapter, the commissioner is authorized to estimate the taxpayer's wages and net earnings from self-employment or the wages from which taxes are required to be deducted and withheld and the tax thereon, from any information in the commissioner's possession, and to mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. A notice of deficiency shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at such taxpayer's last known address in or out of the city. If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of deficiency may be mailed to or her last know address in or out of the city, unless the commissioner has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(b) Notice of deficiency as assessment. The notice of deficiency shall be an assessment of the amount of tax specified in such notice, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice.

(c) Restrictions on collection and levy. No notice and demand for payment of an assessment of a deficiency in tax made by a notice of deficiency and no levy or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun or prosecuted, except as otherwise provided in section 11-1937 of this subchapter, until the expiration of the time for filing a petition contesting such notice, nor, if a petition with respect to the taxable year has been filed with the commissioner, until the decision of the commissioner has become final. After a petition has been filed the restriction provided herein shall not apply to such part of the deficiency as is not contested by the petition. For exception in the case of judicial review of the decision of the commissioner, see subdivision (c) of section 11-1932 of this subchapter.

(d) Exceptions for mathematical errors. If a mathematical error appears on a return (including an overstatement of the credit for tax withheld at the source or of the amount paid as estimated tax), the commissioner shall notify the taxpayer that an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that such excess has been assessed. Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the commissioner), or subdivision (b) of section 11-1931 of this subchapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the commissioner based on a notice of deficiency) nor shall collection of such assessment be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(e) Exception where change in federal or New York state taxable income is not reported (1) If the taxpayer fails to comply with section 11-1922 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction increasing his or her federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income as reported on such taxpayer's federal or New York state tax return or in not reporting a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state tax purposes or in not filing an amended return or in not reporting the execution of a notice of waiver or an assessment described in such section, instead of the mode and time of assessment and collection provided for in subdivision (b) of this section, the commissioner may assess a deficiency based upon such changed or corrected federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed and subject to collection procedures on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state change or correction or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-1922 of this chapter is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination of such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(2) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the commissioner), or subdivision (b) of section 11-1931 of this subchapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the commissioner based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall the collection of such assessment be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of the city, unless the commissioner has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(f) Waiver of restrictions. The taxpayer shall at any time have the right to waive the mailing of a notice of deficiency or restriction on collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency, or both, by a signed notice in writing filed with the commissioner.

(g) Deficiency defined. For purposes of this chapter, a deficiency means the amount of the tax imposed by this chapter, less (1) the amount shown as the tax upon the taxpayer's return (whether the return was made or the tax computed by the taxpayer or by the commissioner), and less, (2) the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency and plus (3) the amount of any rebates. For the purpose of this definition, the tax imposed by this chapter and the tax shown on the return shall both be determined without regard to payments on account of estimated tax or the credit for withholding tax; and a rebate means so much of an abatement, refund or other repayment (whether or not erroneous) made on the ground that the amounts entering into the definition of a deficiency showed a balance in favor of the taxpayer.

(h) Cross reference. For provisions permitting a notice of deficiency under chapter seventeen of this title to be treated as a notice of deficiency under this chapter and permitting a notice of deficiency or a payment for which credit or refund is sought under chapter seventeen of this title to be treated as though made under this chapter where the taxpayer has filed a petition under such chapter seventeen for either a redetermination of deficiency or for credit or refund, see subdivision (h) of section 11-1736 of this title and subdivision (h) of section 11-1744 of this title.

§ 11-1924 Assessment.

(a) Assessment date. The amount of tax which a return shows to be due, or the amount of tax which a return would have shown to be due but for a mathematical error, shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing of the return (including any amended return showing an increase of tax). In the case of a return properly filed without computation of tax, the tax computed by the commissioner shall be deemed to be assessed on the date on which payment is due. If a notice of deficiency has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date on which it is mailed. If an amended return or report filed pursuant to section 11-1922 of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a federal or New York state adjustment, change or correction, any deficiency in tax under this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing such report or amended return, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-1925 of this subchapter. If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision (e) of section 11-1923 of this subchapter, has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state change or correction or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-1922 of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous. Any amount paid as a tax or in respect of a tax, other than amounts withheld at the source or paid as estimated income tax, shall be deemed to be assessed upon the date of receipt of payment, notwithstanding any other provisions.

(b) Other assessment powers. If the mode or time for the assessment of any tax under this chapter (including interest, additions to tax and assessable penalties) is not otherwise provided for, the commissioner may establish the same by regulations.

(d) Supplemental assessment. The commissioner may, at any time within the period prescribed for assessment, make a supplemental assessment, subject to the provisions of section 11-1923 of this subchapter where applicable, whenever it is ascertained that any assessment is imperfect or incomplete in any material respect.

(e) Cross reference. For assessment in case of jeopardy, see section 11-1937 of this subchapter.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1925 Limitations on assessment.

(a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any tax under this chapter shall be assessed within three years after the return was filed (whether or not such return was filed on or after the date prescribed).

(b) Exceptions. (1) Assessment at any time. The tax may be assessed at any time if:

(A) no return is filed,

(B) a false or fraudulent return is filed with intent to evade tax, or

(C) the taxpayer fails to comply with section 11-1922 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction increasing his or her federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income as reported on the taxpayer's federal or New York state tax return, or the execution of a notice of waiver and the changes or corrections on which it is based or in not reporting an assessment or a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, or in not filing an amended return.

(2) Extension by agreement. Where, before the expiration of the time prescribed in this section for the assessment of tax, both the commissioner and the taxpayer have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the tax may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.

(3) Report of changed or corrected federal or New York state income. If the taxpayer shall, pursuant to section 11-1922 of this chapter, report a change or correction or file an amended return increasing the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income or earnings from self-employment or report an assessment or a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report or amended return) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax on earnings attributable to such federal or New York state change or correction. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

(4) Recovery of erroneous refund. An erroneous refund shall be considered an underpayment of tax on the date made, and an assessment of a deficiency arising out of an erroneous refund may be made at any time within two years from the making of the refund, except that the assessment may be made within five years from the making of the refund if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(5) Request for prompt assessment. If a return is required for a decedent or for the decedent's estate during the period of administration, the tax shall be assessed within eighteen months after written request therefor (made after the return is filed) by the executor, administrator or other person representing the estate of such decedent, but not more than three years after the return was filed, except as otherwise provided in this subdivision and subdivision (c) of this section.

(c) Omission of income on return. The tax may be assessed at any time within six years after the return was filed if a taxpayer omits from a return an amount properly includible therein which is in excess of twenty-five per centum of the amount of the gross income derived by the taxpayer from any trade or business.

For purposes of this subdivision there shall not be taken into account any amount which is omitted in the return if such amount is disclosed in the return, or in a statement attached to the return, in a manner adequate to apprise the commissioner of the nature and amount of such item.

(d) Suspension of running of period of limitation. The running of the period of limitations on or collection of tax or other amount (or of a transferee's liability) shall, after the mailing of a notice of deficiency, be suspended for the period during which the commissioner is prohibited under subdivision (c) of section 11-1923 of this subchapter collecting by levy or proceeding in court.

§ 11-1926 Interest on underpayment.

(a) General. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed in this chapter for payment, interest on such amount at the appropriate rates prescribed for underpayments of tax under chapter seventeen of this title shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date paid, whether or not any extension of time for payment was granted. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar. If the time for filing a return of tax withheld by an employer is extended, the employer shall pay interest for the period for which the extension is granted and may not charge such interest to the employee.

(c) Exception for mathematical error. No interest shall be imposed on any underpayment of tax due solely to mathematical error if the taxpayer files a return within the time prescribed in this chapter (including any extension of time) and pays the amount of underpayment within three months after the due date of such return, as it may be extended.

(d) No interest on interest. No interest under this chapter shall be imposed on any interest provided by this chapter.

(e) Suspension of interest on deficiencies. If a waiver of restrictions on collection of an assessment of a deficiency has been filed by the taxpayer, and if notice and demand by the commissioner for payment of such assessed deficiency is not made within thirty days after the filing of such waiver, interest shall not be imposed on such deficiency for the period beginning immediately after such thirtieth day and ending with the date of notice and demand.

(f) Interest treated as tax. Interest under this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as tax. Any reference in this chapter to the tax imposed by this chapter shall be deemed also to refer to interest imposed by this section on such tax.

(g) Interest on penalties or additions to tax. Interest shall be imposed under subdivision (a) of this section in respect of any assessable penalty or addition to tax only if such assessable penalty or addition to tax is not paid within ten days from the date of the notice and demand therefor under subdivision (b) of section 11-1934 of this subchapter, and in such case interest shall be imposed only for the period from such date of the notice and demand to the date of payment.

(h) Payment prior to notice of deficiency. If, prior to the mailing to the taxpayer of a notice of deficiency under subdivision (b) of section 11-1923 of this subchapter, the commissioner mails to the taxpayer a notice of proposed increase of tax and within thirty days after the date of the notice of proposed increase the taxpayer pays all amounts shown on the notice to be due to the commissioner, no interest under this section on the amount so paid shall be imposed for the period after the date of such notice of proposed increase.

(i) Payment within ninety days after notice of deficiency. If a notice of deficiency under section 11-1923 of this subchapter is mailed to the taxpayer, and the total amount specified in such notice is paid on or before the ninetieth day after the date of mailing, interest under this section shall not be imposed for the period after the date of the notice.

(j) Payment within ten days after notice and demand. If notice and demand is made for payment of any amount under subdivision (b) of section 11-1934 of this subchapter, and if such amount is paid within ten days after the date of such notice and demand, interest under this section on the amount so paid shall not be imposed for the period after the date of such notice and demand.

(k) Limitation on assessment and collection. Interest prescribed under this section may be assessed and collected at any time during the period within which the tax or other amount to which such interest relates may be assessed and collected, respectively.

(l) Interest on erroneous refund. Any portion of tax or other amount which has been erroneously refunded, and which is recoverable by the commissioner, shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of the payment of the refund, but only if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or a misrepresentation of a material fact.

(m) Satisfaction by credits. If any portion of a tax is satisfied by credit of an overpayment, then no interest shall be imposed under this section on the portion of the tax so satisfied for any period during which, if the credit had not been made, interest would have been allowable with respect to such overpayment.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1927 Additions to tax and civil penalties.

(a) Failure to file tax return. In case of failure to file a tax return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For this purpose, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(b) Deficiency due to negligence. If any part of a deficiency is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to five percent of the deficiency.

(c) Failure to file declaration or underpayment of estimated tax. If any taxpayer fails to file a declaration of estimated tax or fails to pay all or any part of an installment of estimated tax, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have made an underpayment of estimated tax. There shall be added to the tax for the taxable year an amount at the rate of six per centum upon the amount of the underpayment for the period of the underpayment but not beyond the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the taxable year. The amount of underpayment shall be the excess of the amount of the installment which would be required to be paid if the estimated tax were equal to seventy percent of the tax attributable to net earnings from self employment shown on the tax return for the taxable year (or if no return was filed, of the tax so attributable for such year) over the amount, if any, of the installment paid on or before the last day prescribed for such payment. No underpayment shall be deemed to exist with respect to a declaration or installment otherwise due on or after the taxpayer's death.

(d) Exception to addition for underpayment of estimated tax. The addition to tax under subdivision (c) of this section with respect to any underpayment of any installment shall not be imposed if the total amount of all payments of estimated tax made on or before the last date prescribed for the payment of such installment equals or exceeds whichever of the following is the lesser:

(1) The amount which would have been required to be paid on or before such date if the estimated tax were whichever of the following is the lesser:

(A) The tax attributable to net earnings from self-employment shown on the return of the individual for the preceding taxable year, if a return showing a liability for tax was filed by the individual for the preceding taxable year and such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months, or

(B) An amount equal to seventy percent of the tax so attributable for the taxable year computed by placing on an annualized basis the taxable net earnings from self-employment for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid. For purposes of this subparagraph, the taxable net earnings from self-employment shall be placed on an annualized basis by:

(i) multiplying by twelve (or, in the case of a taxable year of less than twelve months, the number of months in the taxable year) the taxable net earnings from self-employment for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid,

(ii) dividing the resulting amount by the number of months in the taxable year ending before the month in which such installment date falls, and

(iii) deducting from such amount the proper proportion of the exclusion allowable for the taxable year by subdivision (b) of section 11-1902 of this chapter; or

(2) An amount equal to ninety percent of the tax computed, at the rates applicable to the taxable year, on the basis of the actual taxable net earnings from self-employment for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid.

(e) Deficiency due to fraud. If any part of a deficiency is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to fifty percent of the deficiency. This amount shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (a) or (b) of this section.

(f) Non-willful failure to pay withholding tax. If any employer, without intent to evade or defeat any tax imposed by this chapter or the payment thereof, shall fail to make a return and pay a tax withheld by him or her at the time required by or under provisions of section 11-1912 of this chapter, such employer shall be liable for such tax and shall pay the same together with interest thereon and the addition to tax provided in subdivision (a) of this section, and such interest and addition to tax shall not be charged to or collected from the employee by the employer. The commissioner shall have the same rights and powers for the collection of such tax, interest and addition to tax against such employer as are now prescribed by this chapter for the collection of tax against an individual taxpayer.

(g) Willful failure to collect and pay over tax. Any person required to collect, truthfully account for, and pay over the tax imposed by this chapter who willfully fails to collect such tax or truthfully account for and pay over such tax or willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat the tax or the payment thereof, shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be liable to a penalty equal to the total amount of the tax evaded, or not collected, or not accounted for and paid over. No addition to tax under subdivision (b) or (e) of this section shall be imposed for any offense to which this subdivision applies.

(h) Failure to file certain information returns. In case of each failure to file a statement of a payment to another person, required under authority of subdivision (c) of section 11-1921 of this chapter (relating to information at source, including the duplicate statement of tax withheld on wages) on the date prescribed therefor (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect, there shall, upon notice and demand by the commissioner and in the same manner as tax, be paid by the person so failing to file the statement, a penalty of one dollar for each statement not so filed, but the total amount imposed on the delinquent person for all such failures during any calendar year shall not exceed one thousand dollars.

(i) Additional penalty. Any person who with fraudulent intent shall fail to pay, or to deduct or withhold and pay, any tax, or to make, render, sign or certify any return or declaration of estimated tax, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable to a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter, to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner. The commissioner shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(j) Additions treated as tax. The additions to tax and penalties provided by this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as taxes, and any reference in this chapter to tax or tax imposed by this chapter, shall be deemed also to refer to the additions to tax and penalties provided by this section. For purposes of section 11-1923 of this subchapter, this subdivision shall not apply to:

(1) any addition to tax under subdivision (a) except as to that portion attributable to a deficiency;

(2) any addition to tax under subdivision (c); and

(3) any additional penalty under subdivision (i).

(k) Determination of deficiency. For purposes of subdivisions (b) and (e), the amount shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon his or her return shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the deficiency only if such return was filed on or before the last day prescribed for the filing of such return, determined with regard to any extension of time for such filing.

(l) Person defined. For purposes of subdivisions (g) and (i), the term "person" includes an individual, corporation or partnership or an officer or employee of any corporation (including a dissolved corporation), or a member or employee of any partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

§ 11-1928 Overpayment.

(a) General. The commissioner, within the applicable period of limitations, may credit an overpayment of tax and interest on such overpayment against any liability in respect of any tax imposed by this chapter or by another chapter or chapters of this title on the person who made the overpayment, and the balance shall be refunded. Any refund under this section shall be made only upon the filing of a return.

(b) Excessive withholding. If the amount allowable as a credit for tax withheld from the taxpayer exceeds his or her tax to which the credit relates, the excess shall be considered an overpayment.

(c) Overpayment by employer. If there has been an overpayment of tax required to be deducted and withheld under section 11-1908 of this chapter, refund shall be made to the employer only to the extent that the amount of the overpayment was not deducted and withheld by the employer.

(d) Credits against estimated tax. The commissioner may prescribe regulations providing for the crediting against the estimated tax for any taxable year of the amount determined to be an overpayment of the tax for a preceding taxable year. If any overpayment of tax is so claimed as a credit against estimated tax for the succeeding taxable year, such amount shall be considered as a payment of the tax for the succeeding taxable year (whether or not claimed as a credit in the declaration of estimated tax for such succeeding taxable year), and no claim for credit or refund of such overpayment shall be allowed for the taxable year for which the overpayment arises.

(e) Rule where no tax liability. If there is no tax liability for a period in respect of which an amount is paid as tax, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(f) Assessment and collection after limitation period. If any amount of tax is assessed or collected after the expiration of the period of limitations properly applicable thereto, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(g) Notwithstanding any provision of law in article fifty-two of the civil practice law and rules to the contrary, the procedures for the enforcement of money judgments shall not apply to the department of finance, or to any officer or employee of the department of finance, as a garnishee, with respect to any amount of money to be refunded or credited to a taxpayer under this chapter.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1929 Limitations on credit or refund.

(a) General. Claim for credit or refund of an overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever of such periods expires the later, or if no return was filed, within two years from the time the tax was paid. If the claim is filed within the three year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid within the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim plus the period of any extension of time for filing the return. If the claim is not filed within the three year period, but is filed within the two year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if no claim is filed, the amount of a credit or refund shall not exceed the amount which would be allowable if a claim had been filed on the date the credit or refund is allowed.

(b) Extension of time by agreement. If an agreement under the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section 11-1925 of this subchapter (extending the period for assessment of tax) is made within the period prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section for the filing of a claim for credit or refund, the period for filing a claim for credit or refund, or for making credit or refund if no claim is filed, shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment may be made pursuant to the agreement or any extension thereof. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid after the execution of the agreement and before the filing of the claim or the making of the credit or refund, as the case may be, plus the portion of the tax paid within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a) if a claim had been filed on the date the agreement was executed.

(c) Notice of change or correction of federal or New York state income. If a taxpayer is required by section 11-1922 of this chapter to report a change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income reported on his or her federal or New York state tax return, or to report an assessment or a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were an overpayment for federal or New York state income tax purposes, or to file an amended return with the commissioner, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time the notice of such change or correction or such amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner. If the report or amended return required by section 11-1922 of this chapter is not filed within the ninety day period therein specified, interest on any resulting refund or credit shall cease to accrue after such ninetieth day. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such federal or New York state change, correction or items amended on the taxpayer's amended federal or New York state income tax or self-employment tax return. This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

(d) Failure to file claim within prescribed period. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made, except as provided in subdivision (e) of this section or subdivision (d) of section 11-1932 of this subchapter after the expiration of the applicable period of limitation specified in this chapter unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within such period. Any later credit shall be void and any later refund erroneous. No period of limitations specified in any other law shall apply to the recovery by a taxpayer of moneys paid in respect of taxes under this chapter.

(e) Effect of petition to commissioner. If a notice of deficiency for a taxable year has been mailed to the taxpayer under section 11-1923 of this subchapter and if the taxpayer files a timely petition with the commissioner under section 11-1931 of this subchapter, the commissioner may determine that the taxpayer has made an overpayment for such year (whether or not the commissioner also determines a deficiency for such year). No separate claim for credit or refund for such year shall be filed, and no credit or refund for such year shall be allowed or made, except:

(1) as to overpayments determined by a decision of the commissioner which has become final;

(2) as to any amount collected in excess of an amount computed in accordance with the decision of the commissioner which has become final;

(3) as to any amount collected after the period of limitation upon the making of levy for collection has expired; and

(4) as to any amount claimed as a result of a change or correction described in subdivision (c) of this section.

(f) Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of overpayment determined under subdivision (e) of this section shall, when the decision of the commissioner has become final, be credited or refunded in accordance with subdivision (a) of section 11-1928 of this subchapter and shall not exceed the amount of tax which the commissioner determines as part of his or her decision was paid:

(1) after the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or

(2) within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a), (b) or (c) of this section, if on the date of the mailing of the notice of deficiency a claim has been filed (whether or not filed) stating the grounds upon which the commissioner finds that there is an overpayment.

(g) Early return. For purposes of this section, any return filed before the last day prescribed for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day, determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

(h) Prepaid tax. For purposes of this section, any tax paid by the taxpayer before the last day prescribed for its payment, any tax withheld from the taxpayer during any calendar year, and any amount paid by the taxpayer as estimated tax for a taxable year shall be deemed to have been paid by the taxpayer on the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of his or her taxable year with respect to which such amount constitutes a credit or payment.

(i) Return and payment of withholding tax. Notwithstanding subdivision (g) of this section, for purposes of this section with respect to any withholding tax:

(1) if a return for any period ending with or within a calendar year is filed before April fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, such return shall be considered filed on April fifteenth of such succeeding calendar year; and

(2) if a tax with respect to remuneration paid during any period ending with or within a calendar year is paid before April fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, such tax shall be considered paid on April fifteenth of such succeeding calendar year.

(j) Cross reference. For provision barring refund of overpayment credited against tax of a succeeding year, see subdivision (d) of section 11-1928 of this subchapter.

§ 11-1930 Interest on overpayment.

(a) General. Notwithstanding the provisions of section three-a of the general municipal law, interest shall be allowed and paid as follows at the appropriate rates prescribed for overpayments of tax under chapter seventeen of this title upon any overpayment in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter:

(1) from the date of the overpayment to the due date of an amount against which a credit is taken; or

(2) from the date of the overpayment to a date (to be determined by the commissioner) preceding the date of a refund check by not more than thirty days, whether or not such refund check is accepted by the taxpayer after tender of such check to the taxpayer. The acceptance of such check shall be without prejudice to any right of the taxpayer to claim any additional overpayment and interest thereon.

No interest shall be allowed or paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) Advance payment of tax, payment of estimated tax, and credit for tax withholding. The provisions of subdivisions (g), (h) and (i) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter applicable in determining the date of payment of tax for purposes of determining the period of limitations on credit or refund, shall be applicable in determining the date of payment for purposes of this section.

(c) Refund within three months of due date of tax. If any overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter is refunded within three months after the last date prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for filing the return of such tax or within three months after the return was filed, whichever is later, no interest shall be allowed under this section on such overpayment.

(d) Cross-reference. For provision terminating interest after failure to file notice of federal or New York state change under section 11-1922 of this chapter, see subdivision (c) of 11-1929 of this subchapter.

§ 11-1931 Petition to commissioner.

(a) General. The form of a petition to the commissioner, and further proceedings before the commissioner in any case initiated by the filing of a petition, shall be governed by such rules as the commissioner shall prescribe. No petition shall be denied in whole or in part without opportunity for a hearing on reasonable prior notice. Such hearing shall be conducted by the commissioner, or by a hearing officer designated by the commissioner to take evidence and report to the commissioner. The commissioner shall decide the case as quickly as practicable. Notice of the decision shall be mailed promptly to the taxpayer by certified or registered mail at his or her last known address and such notice shall set forth the commissioner's findings of fact and a brief statement of the grounds of decision in each case decided in whole or in part adversely to the taxpayer. Any portion of an assessment of a deficiency disallowed by the commissioner's decision, shall be forthwith abated, or if paid, credited or refunded to the taxpayer without the making of a claim therefor.

(b) Petition for redetermination of a deficiency. Within ninety days, or one hundred fifty days if the notice is addressed to a person outside of the United States, after the mailing of the notice of deficiency authorized by section 11-1923 of this subchapter, the taxpayer may file a petition with the commissioner for a redetermination of the deficiency. Such petition may also assert a claim for refund for the same taxable year or years, subject to the limitations of subdivision (f) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter.

(c) Petition for refund. A taxpayer may file a petition with the commissioner for the amounts asserted in a claim for refund if:

(1) the taxpayer has filed a timely claim for refund with the commissioner,

(2) the taxpayer has not previously filed with the commissioner a timely petition under subdivision (b) of this section for the same taxable year unless the petition under this subdivision relates to a separate claim for credit or refund properly filed under subdivision (e) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter, and

(3) either: (A) six months have expired since the claim was filed, or (B) the commissioner has mailed to the taxpayer, by registered or certified mail, a notice of disallowance of such claim in whole or in part. No petition under this subdivision shall be filed more than two years after the date of mailing of a notice of disallowance, unless prior to the expiration of such a two-year period it has been extended by written agreement between the taxpayer and the commissioner. If a taxpayer files a written waiver of the requirement that he or she be mailed a notice of disallowance, the two year period prescribed by this subdivision for filing a petition for refund shall begin on the date such waiver is filed.

(d) Assertion and assessment of deficiency after filing petition.

(1) Petition for redetermination of deficiency. If a taxpayer files with the commissioner a petition for redetermination of a deficiency, the commissioner shall have power to determine and assess a greater deficiency than asserted in the notice of deficiency and to determine and assess any addition to tax or penalty provided in section 11-1927 of this subchapter, if claim therefor is asserted at or before the hearing and within the period in which an assessment would be timely under section 11-1925 of this subchapter under the rules of the commissioner.

(2) Petition for refund. If the taxpayer files with the commissioner a petition for credit or refund for a taxable year, the commissioner may:

(A) determine and assess a deficiency for such year as to any amount of deficiency claim (which shall be an assessment) for which is asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the commissioner, and within the period in which an assessment would be timely under section 11-1925 of this subchapter, or

(B) deny so much of the amount for which credit or refund is sought in the petition, as is offset by other issues pertaining to the same taxable year which are asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the commissioner.

(3) Opportunity to respond. A taxpayer shall be given a reasonable opportunity to respond to any matters asserted by the commissioner under this subdivision.

(4) Restriction on further notices of deficiency. If the taxpayer files a petition with the commissioner under this section, no notice of deficiency under section 11-1923 of this subchapter may thereafter be issued by the commissioner for the same taxable year, except in case of fraud or with respect to a change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income required to be reported under section 11-1922 of this chapter.

(e) Burden of proof. In any case before the commissioner under this chapter, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner except for the following issues, as to which the burden of proof shall be upon the commissioner:

(1) whether the petitioner has been guilty of fraud with intent to evade tax;

(2) whether the petitioner is liable as the transferee of property of a taxpayer (except where the petitioner's liability arises by reason of section 11-1936 of this subchapter), but not to show that the taxpayer was liable for the tax; and

(3) whether the petitioner is liable for any increase in a deficiency where such increase is asserted initially after a notice of deficiency was mailed and a petition under this section filed, unless such increase in deficiency is the result of a change or correction of federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income required to be reported under section 11-1922 of this chapter, and of which change or correction the commissioner had no notice at the time he or she mailed the notice of deficiency.

(f) Evidence of related federal determination. Evidence of a federal determination relating to issues raised in a case before the commissioner under this section shall be admissible, under rules established by the commissioner.

(g) Jurisdiction over other years. The commissioner shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other years as may be necessary correctly to determine the tax for the taxable year, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other year has been overpaid or underpaid.

§ 11-1932 Review of commissioner's decision.

(a) General. A decision of the commissioner shall be subject to judicial review for error, illegality or unconstitutionality at the instance of any taxpayer affected thereby in the manner provided by law for the review of a final decision or action of administrative agencies of the city. An application by a taxpayer for such review must be made within four months after notice of the decision is sent by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer.

(b) Judicial review exclusive remedy of taxpayer. The review of a decision of the commissioner provided by this section shall be exclusive remedy available to any taxpayer for the judicial determination of the liability of the taxpayer for the taxes imposed by this chapter.

(c) Collection pending review; review bond. Irrespective of any restrictions on the collection of assessments for deficiencies, the commissioner may collect by levy or, otherwise any assessment of a deficiency after the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section, nothwithstanding that an application for judicial review in respect of such deficiency has been duly made by the taxpayer, unless the taxpayer, at or before the time his or her application for review is made, has paid the assessed deficiency, has deposited with the commissioner the amount of the assessed deficiency, or has filed with the commissioner a bond (which may be a jeopardy bond under subdivision (h) of section 11-1937 of this subchapter) in the amount of the portion of the assessed deficiency (including interest and other amounts) in respect of which the application for review is made with surety approved by a justice of the supreme court of the state of New York, conditioned upon the payment of the assessed deficiency (including interest and other amounts) as finally determined. If as a result of a waiver of the restrictions on the collection of a deficiency any part of the amount determined by the commissioner is paid after the filing of the review bond, such bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced. A similar bond for all costs and charges which may accrue against the taxpayer in the prosecution of such judicial review proceeding must be filed with the commissioner before any such proceeding is instituted.

(d) Credit, refund or abatement after review. If the amount of a deficiency assessed and determined by the commissioner is disallowed in whole or in part by the court of review, the amount so disallowed shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer, without the making of claim therefor, or, if payment has not been made, shall be abated.

(e) Date of finality of commissioner's decision. A decision of the commissioner shall become final upon the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section for making an application for review, if no such application has been duly made within such time, or if such application has been duly made, upon expiration of the time for all further judicial review, or upon the rendering by the commissioner of a decision in accordance with the mandate of the court on review. Notwithstanding the foregoing, for the purpose of making an application for review, the decision of the commissioner shall be deemed final on the date the notice of decision is sent by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer.

§ 11-1933 Mailing rules; holidays.

(a) Timely mailing. If any claim, statement, notice, petition, or other document (including to the extent authorized by the commissioner, a return or declaration of estimated tax) required to be filed within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by the United States mail to the commissioner, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, determined with regard to any extension granted for such filing, and only if such document was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed. To the extent that the commissioner shall prescribe by regulation, certified mail may be used in lieu of registered mail under this section. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States post office only if and to the extent provided by regulations of the commissioner.

(b) Last known address. For purposes of this chapter, a taxpayer's last known address shall be the address given in the last return filed by the taxpayer, unless subsequent to the filing of such return the taxpayer shall have notified the commissioner of a change of address.

(c) Last day a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1934 Collection, levy and liens.

(a) Collection procedures. The taxes imposed by this chapter shall be collected by the commissioner, and he or she may establish the mode or time for the collection of any amount due the commissioner under this chapter if not otherwise specified. The commissioner shall, upon request, give a receipt for any sum collected under this chapter. The commissioner may authorize banks or trust companies which are depositories or financial agents of the city to receive and give a receipt for any tax imposed under this chapter in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as the commissioner may prescribe; and the commissioner shall prescribe the manner, times and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the commissioner.

(b) Notice and demand for tax. The commissioner shall as soon as practicable and, in the case of an assessment the collection of which is restricted by the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-1923 of this subchapter, as soon as practicable after the expiration of such restrictions give notice to each person liable for any amount of tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest, which has been assessed but remains unpaid, stating the amount and demanding payment thereof. Such notice shall be left at the dwelling or usual place of business of such person or shall be sent by mail to such person's last known address. Except where the commissioner determines that collection would be jeopardized by delay, if any tax is assessed prior to the last date (including any date fixed by extension) prescribed for payment of such tax, payment of such tax shall not be demanded until after such date.

(c) Issuance of warrant after notice and demand. If any person liable under this chapter for the payment of any tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest neglects or refuses to pay the same within ten days after notice and demand therefor is given to such person under subdivision (b) of this section, the commissioner may within six years after the date of the expiration of the period of restriction on the collection of such assessment issue a warrant directed to the sheriff of any county of the state, or to any officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, commanding the sheriff or such officer or employee to levy upon and sell such person's real and personal property for the payment of the amount assessed, with the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner and pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of the warrant. If the commissioner finds that the collection of tax or other amount is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the commissioner and upon failure or refusal to pay such tax or other amount the commissioner may issue a warrant without regard to the ten-day period provided in this subdivision.

(d) Copy of warrant to be filed and lien to be created. Any sheriff or officer or employee who receives a warrant under subdivision (c) of this section shall within five days thereafter file a copy with the clerk of the appropriate county. The clerk shall thereupon enter in the judgment docket, in the column for judgment debtors, the name of the taxpayer mentioned in the warrant, and in appropriate columns the tax or other amounts for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed; and such amount shall thereupon be a binding lien upon the real, personal and other property of the taxpayer.

(e) Judgment. When a warrant has been filed with the county clerk the commissioner shall, on behalf of the city, be deemed to have obtained judgment against the taxpayer for the tax or other amounts.

(f) Execution. The sheriff or officer or employee shall thereupon proceed upon the judgment in all respects, with like effect, and in the same manner prescribed by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and a sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees for such sheriff's services in executing the warrant, to be collected in the same manner. An officer or employee of the department of finance of the city may proceed in any county or counties of this state and shall have all the powers of execution conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of actual expenses paid in connection with the execution of the warrant.

(g) Taxpayer not then a resident. Where a notice and demand under subdivision (b) shall have been given to a taxpayer who is not then a resident of this state, and it appears to the commissioner that it is not practicable to find in this state property of the taxpayer sufficient to pay the entire balance of tax or other amount owing by such taxpayer who is not then a resident of this state, the commissioner may, in accordance with subdivision (c) of this section, issue a warrant directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance of the city a copy of which warrant shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at his or her last known address, subject to the rules for mailing provided in subdivision (a) of section 11-1933 of this subchapter. Such warrant shall command the officer or employee to proceed in the city, and such officer or employee shall, within five days after receipt of the warrant, file the warrant and obtain a judgment in accordance with this section. Thereupon the commissioner may authorize the institution of any action or proceeding to collect or enforce the judgment in any place and by any procedure where and by which a civil judgment of the supreme court of the state of New York could be collected or enforced. The commissioner may also, in his or her discretion, designate agents or retain counsel for the purpose of collecting, outside the state of New York, any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter against taxpayers who are not then residents of this state, may fix the compensation of such agents and counsel to be paid out of money appropriated or otherwise lawfully available for payment thereof, and may require of them bonds or other security for the faithful performance of their duties, in such form and in such amount as the commissioner shall deem proper and sufficient.

(h) Action by the city for recovery of taxes. Action may be brought by the corporation counsel or other appropriate officer of the city at the insistance of the commissioner to recover the amount of any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter within six years prior to the date the action is commenced. The period during which collection of any assessment is prohibited by subdivision (c) of section 11-1923 of this subchapter, shall be added to such six years.

(i) Release of lien. The commissioner, if he or she finds that the interest of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to this section, and such release may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed.

CHAPTER 19 EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1935 Transferees.

(a) General. The liability, at law or in equity, of a transferee of property of a taxpayer for any tax, additions to tax, penalty or interest due to the city under this chapter, shall be assessed, paid, and collected in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as in the case of the tax to which liability relates, except that the period of limitations for assessment against the transferee shall be extended by one year for each successive transfer, in order, from the original taxpayer to the transferee involved, but not by more than three years in the aggregate. The term "transferee" includes donee, heir, legatee, devisee and distributee; and also includes a person liable for the amount of any tax, additions to tax, penalty or interest under the provisions of section 11-1936 of this subchapter.

(b) Exceptions. (1) If before the expiration of the period of limitations for assessment of liability of the transferee, a claim has been filed by the commissioner in any court against the original taxpayer or the last preceding transferee based upon the liability of the original taxpayer, then the period of limitation for assessment of liability of the transferee shall in no event expire prior to one year after such claim has been finally allowed, disallowed or otherwise disposed of.

(2) If, before the expiration of the time prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section or paragraph one of this subdivision for the assessment of the liability, the commissioner and the transferee have both consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon. For the purpose of determining the period of limitation on credit or refund to the transferee of overpayments of tax made by such transferee or overpayments of tax made by the transferor as to which the transferee is legally entitled to credit or refund, such agreement and any extension thereof shall be deemed an agreement and extension thereof referred to in subdivision (b) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter. If the agreement is executed after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the original taxpayer, then in applying the limitations under subdivision (b) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter on the amount of the credit or refund, the periods specified in subdivision (a) of section 11-1929 of this subchapter shall be increased by the period from the date of such expiration to the date of the agreement.

(c) Deceased transferor. If any person is deceased, the period of limitation for assessment against such person shall be the period that would be in effect if he or she had lived.

(d) Evidence. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-1942 of this subchapter, the commissioner shall use his or her powers to make available to the transferee evidence necessary to enable the transferee to determine the liability of the original taxpayer and of any preceding transferees, but without undue hardship to the original taxpayer or preceding transferee. See subdivision (e) of section 11-1931 of this subchapter for rule as to burden of proof.

§ 11-1936 Liability of bulk transferees.

Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof, whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee, that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter, whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether or not any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give the notice to the commissioner required by this section, or whenever the commissioner shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes, theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax is imposed under this chapter.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1937 Jeopardy determination or assessment.

(a) Authority for making. If the commissioner believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, he or she shall, notwithstanding the provisions of sections 11-1923 and 11-1939 of this subchapter, immediately assess and/or proceed to collect such deficiency (together with all interest, penalties and additions to tax provided for by law), and notice and demand shall be made by the commissioner for the payment thereof.

(b) Notice of deficiency. If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 11-1923 of this subchapter, then the commissioner shall mail a notice under such section within sixty days after making of the assessment.

(c) Amount assessable before decision of commissioner. The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that of which notice is mailed to the taxpayer and whether or not the taxpayer has therefor filed a petition with the commissioner. The commissioner may, at any time before rendering his or her decision, abate such assessment or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that he or she believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The commissioner may in his or her decision redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

(d) Amount assessable after decision of commissioner. If the jeopardy assessment of determination of jeopardy is made after the decision of the commissioner is rendered, such assessment or determination may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the commissioner in his or her decision.

(e) Expiration of right to assess. A jeopardy determination may not be made after the decision of the commissioner has become final or after the taxpayer has made an application for review of the decision of the commissioner.

(f) Collection of unpaid amounts. When a petition has been filed with the commissioner and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the commissioner which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer as provided in section 11-1928 of this subchapter without the filing of claim therefor. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner.

(g) Abatement if jeopardy does not exist. The commissioner may abate the jeopardy determination if he or she finds that jeopardy does not exist. Such abatement may not be made after a decision of the commissioner in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with the commissioner, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition. The period of limitation on the making of a levy or a proceeding for collection, in respect of any deficiency, shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated has not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy determination until the expiration of the tenth day after the day on which such jeopardy determination is abated.

(h) Bond to stay collection. The collection of the whole or any amount of any assessment determined to be in jeopardy may be stayed by filing with the commissioner, within such time as may be fixed by regulation, a bond in an amount equal to the amount as to which the stay is desired conditioned upon the payment of the amount (together with interest thereon) the collection of which is stayed at the time at which, but for the making of the jeopardy assessment, such amount would be due. Upon the filing of the bond, the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The taxpayer shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond and, if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced. If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated, or if a notice of deficiency under section 11-1923 of this subchapter is mailed to the taxpayer in a lesser amount, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Petition to commissioner. If the bond is given before the taxpayer has filed his or her petition under section 11-1931 of this subchapter, the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such section, then the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subdivision. The bond shall be conditioned upon the payment of so much of such assessment (collection of which is stayed by the bond) as is not abated by a decision of the commissioner which has become final. If the commissioner determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced when the decision of the commissioner is rendered.

(j) Stay of sale of seized property pending commissioner's decision. Where a jeopardy assessment or a determination of jeopardy is made, the property seized for the collection of the tax shall not be sold:

(1) if subdivision (b) of this section is applicable, prior to the issuance of the notice of deficiency and the expiration of the time provided in section 11-1931 of this subchapter for filing a petition with the commissioner, and

(2) if a petition is filed with the commissioner (whether before or after the making of such jeopardy assessment or determination), prior to the expiration of the period during which the collection of the deficiency assessed would be prohibited if subdivision (a) of this section were not applicable.

Such property may be sold if the taxpayer consents to the sale, or if the commissioner determines that the expenses of conservation and maintenance will greatly reduce the net proceeds, or if the property is perishable.

(k) Interest. For the purpose of subdivision (a) of section 11-1926 of this subchapter, the last date prescribed for payment shall be determined without regard to any notice and demand for payment issued under this section prior to the last date otherwise prescribed for such payment.

(l) Early termination of taxable year. If the commissioner finds that a taxpayer designs quickly to depart from this state or to remove his or her property therefrom, or to conceal himself or herself or his or her property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect the tax for the current or the preceding taxable year unless such proceedings be brought without delay, the commissioner shall declare the taxable period for such taxpayer immediately terminated, and shall cause notice of such finding and declaration to be given the taxpayer, together with a demand for immediate payment of the tax for the taxable period so declared terminated and of the tax for the preceding taxable year or so much of such tax as is unpaid, whether or not the time otherwise allowed by law for filing return and paying the tax has expired; and such taxes shall thereupon become immediately due and payable. In any proceeding brought to enforce payment of taxes made due and payable by virtue of the provisions of this subdivision, the finding of the commissioner made as herein provided, whether made after notice to the taxpayer or not, shall be for all purposes presumptive evidence of jeopardy.

(m) Reopening of taxable period. Notwithstanding the termination of the taxable period of the taxpayer by the commissioner as provided in subdivision (1), the commissioner may reopen such taxable period each time the taxpayer is found by the commissioner to have received wages or net earnings from self-employment, within the current taxable year, since the termination of such period. A taxable period so terminated by the commissioner may be reopened by the taxpayer if he or she files with the commissioner a true and accurate return of taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment under this chapter for such taxable period, together with such other information as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe.

(n) Furnishing of bond where taxable year is closed by the commissioner. Payment of taxes shall not be enforced by any proceedings under the provisions of subdivision (1) prior to the expiration of the time otherwise allowed for paying such taxes if the taxpayer furnishes, under regulations prescribed by the commissioner, a bond to insure the timely making of returns with respect to, and payment of, such taxes or any taxes for prior years.

§ 11-1938 Criminal penalties.

(a) Attempt to evade tax. Any individual, corporation or partnership or any officer or employee of any corporation, or member or employee of any partnership, who, with intent to evade any tax or any requirement of this chapter or any lawful requirement of the commissioner thereunder, shall fail to pay the tax, or to make, render, sign or certify any return or declaration of estimated tax, or to supply any information within the time required by or under the provisions of this chapter, or who, with like intent, shall make, render, sign or certify any false or fraudulent return, declaration or statement, or shall supply any false or fraudulent information, or who shall fail to comply with the provisions of subdivision (b) of section 11-1912 of this chapter after the service of a notice by the commissioner thereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be fined not to exceed five thousand dollars or be imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(b) Limitations. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 30.10 of the criminal procedure law or of any other law of this state, a prosecution for any offense under this section may be commenced at any time not later than three years after the commission of such offense provided that, if such offense is the failure to do an act required by or under any provision of this chapter to be done before a certain date, a prosecution for such offense may be commenced not later than three years after such date.

(c) Willful failure to withhold. Any individual, corporation or partnership or any officer or employee of any corporation (including a dissolved corporation), or member or employee of any partnership, who willfully fails to collect or pay over any withholding tax as required, shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not to exceed five thousand dollars or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both.

(d) Two or more charges. In the prosecution of offenses under this section, if there are two or more charges against any person or corporation, involving a violation or violations of any provision or provisions of this chapter, whether for the same or different taxable years, instead of returning several indictments or filing several informations, all of such charges may be joined in one indictment or information, in separate counts, and if two or more indictments are found, or two or more informations are filed, the court may order them to be consolidated. If a person or corporation shall be convicted of two or more offenses constituting different crimes set forth in different counts of one indictment or information, or in separate indictments or informations consolidated as hereinbefore provided, the court may impose a separate sentence for each offense, and if imprisonment is imposed, the court may order any of such sentences to be served concurrently or consecutively.

(e) Miscellaneous rules. Any prosecution under this section may be conducted in any county where the person or corporation to whose tax liability the proceeding relates resides, or has a place of business, or in any county in which any such crime is committed. The corporation counsel of the city shall have concurrent jurisdiction with any district attorney in the prosecution of any offense under this section. If the provisions of this section conflict with those contained in any other law, this section shall control. The certificate of the commissioner to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return or declaration of estimated tax has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied, as required by or under the provisions of this chapter, shall be prima facie evidence that such tax has not been paid, that such return or declaration has not been filed, or that such information has not been supplied. All fines levied under this section shall be paid to the commissioner and deposited in the same manner as revenues collected or received under this chapter.

§ 11-1939 Armed forces relief provisions.

(a) Time to be disregarded. In the case of an individual serving in the armed forces of the United States or serving in support of such armed forces, in an area designated by the president of the United States by executive order as a "combat zone" at any time during the period designated by the president by executive order as the period of combatant activities in such zone, or hospitalized outside the state as a result of injury received while serving in such an area during such time, the period of service in such area, plus the period of continuous hospitalized outside the state attributable to such injury, and the next one hundred eighty days thereafter, shall be disregarded in determining, under this chapter in respect of the tax liability (including any interest, penalty, or addition to the tax) of such individual:

(1) Whether any of the following acts was performed within the time prescribed therefor:

(A) filing any return of tax (except withholding tax);

(B) payment of any tax (except withholding tax) or any installment thereof or of any other liability to the commissioner, in respect thereof;

(C) filing a petition with the commissioner for credit or refund or for redetermination of a deficiency, or application for review of a decision rendered by the commissioner;

(D) allowance of a credit or refund of tax;

(E) filing a claim for credit or refund of tax;

(F) giving or making any notice or demand for the payment of any tax, or with respect to any liability to the commissioner in respect of tax;

(G) collection, by the commissioner, by levy or otherwise of the amount of any liability in respect of tax;

(H) bringing suit by the city, or any officer, on its behalf, in respect of any liability in respect of tax; and

(I) any other act required or permitted under this chapter or specified in the regulations prescribed under this section by the commissioner.

(2) The amount of any credit or refund (including interest).

(b) Action taken before ascertainment of right to benefits. The collection of the tax imposed by this chapter or of any liability to the commissioner in respect of such tax, or any action or proceeding by or on behalf of the commissioner in connection therewith, may be made, taken, begun, or prosecuted in accordance with law, without regard to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, unless prior to such collection, action, or proceeding it is ascertained that the person concerned is entitled to the benefit of subdivision (a).

(c) Members of armed forces dying in action. In the case of any person who dies while in active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States, if such death occurred while serving in a combat zone during a period of combatant activities in such zone, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, or as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while so serving, the tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply with respect to the taxable year in which falls the date of his or her death, or with respect to any prior taxable year ending on or after the first day so served in a combat zone, and no returns shall be required in behalf of such person or his or her estate for such year; and the tax for any such taxable year which is unpaid at the date of death, including interest, additions to tax and penalties, if any, shall not be assessed and, if assessed, the assessment shall be abated and, if collected, shall be refunded to the legal representative of such estate if one has been appointed and has qualified, or, if no legal representative has been appointed or has qualified, to the surviving spouse.

SUBCHAPTER 3 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-1940 General powers of commissioner.

(a) General. The commissioner shall administer and enforce the tax imposed by this chapter and the commissioner is authorized to make such rules and regulations, and to require such facts and information to be reported, as the commissioner may deem necessary to enforce the provisions of this chapter and the commissioner may delegate his or her powers and functions under all subchapters of this chapter to one of his or her deputies or to any employee or employees of his or her department.

(b) Examination of books and witnesses. The commissioner for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment of any person, shall have power to examine or to cause to have examined, by any agent or representative designated by him or her for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in the return, and may require the attendance of the person rendering the return or any officer or employee of such person, or the attendance of any other person having knowledge in the premises, may take testimony and require proof material for the commissioner's information, with power to administer oaths to such person or persons and may issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend before the commissioner or excused from attendance, and for the production of books, papers, records or memoranda.

(c) Abatement authority. The commissioner, of his or her own motion, may abate any small unpaid balance of an assessment of tax, or any liability in respect thereof, if the commissioner determines under uniform rules prescribed by him or her that the administration and collection costs involved would not warrant collection of the amount due. The commissioner may also abate, of his or her own motion, the unpaid portion of the assessment of any tax or any liability in respect thereof, which is excessive in amount, or is assessed after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, or is erroneously or illegally assessed. No claim for abatement under this subdivision shall be filed by a taxpayer.

(d) Special refund authority. Where no questions of fact or law are involved and it appears from the records of the commissioner that any moneys have been erroneously or illegally collected from any taxpayer or other person, or paid by such taxpayer or other person under a mistake of facts, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the commissioner at any time, without regard to any period of limitations, shall have the power, upon making a record of his or her reasons therefor in writing, to cause such moneys so paid and being erroneously and illegally held to be refunded.

(e) Cooperation with the United States and other states. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-1942 of this subchapter, the commissioner may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegates, or the proper tax officer of any other state imposing an income tax upon the income of individuals, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this chapter, or may furnish to such officer or his or her authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his or her representative only if the laws of the United States or of such state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or his or her authorized representative such returns filed under this chapter and other tax information as he or she may consider proper for the use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or by his or her delegates, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegates. Where the commissioner has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

§ 11-1942 Secrecy requirement and penalties for violation.

1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner or any other officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, any person engaged or retained by such commissioner or department on an independent contract basis, any depository to which any return may be delivered as provided in subdivision two of this section, any officer or employee of such depository, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any report or return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any report or return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any report or return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner the amount of wages or earnings or any particulars set forth or disclosed in any report or return required under this chapter. The commissioner or any other officer and employee charged with the custody of such reports and returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the city in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the city is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the reports, returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said reports, returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more; except as provided in subdivision (e) of section 11-1940 of this subchapter. The commissioner may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after the hearing required under section 11-1931 of this subchapter of this chapter. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or the taxpayers's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return or report filed in connection with his or her tax or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular reports or returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of the city of the report or return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner. Reports and returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner orders them to be destroyed. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, and if the offender be the commissioner or any other officer or employee of the city, he or she shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in the city or the state for a period of five years thereafter.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, the commissioner of finance, in his or her discretion, may require or permit any or all individuals, estates or trusts, liable for any tax imposed by this chapter, to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner of finance and to file declarations of estimated tax and reports and returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner of finance, in lieu of making any such payment directly to the commissioner of finance. However, the commissioner of finance shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are depositories or financial agents of the city.

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL SALES AND COMPENSATING USE TAXES*53

§11-2001 Imposition of general sales and compensating use taxes.

(a) On and after August first, two thousand eight, there are hereby imposed and there shall be paid all of the sales and compensating use taxes described in article twenty-eight of the tax law as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of the tax law, at the rate of four percent, provided that the taxes described in paragraph six of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law shall be imposed and paid at the rate of six percent.

(b) Notwithstanding any contrary provision of this section or other law, this section:

(1) does not impose tax on (i) receipts from the sale of the services of laundering, dry-cleaning, tailoring, weaving, pressing, shoe repairing and shoe shining described in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph three of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law; (ii) receipts from the sale of services described in paragraph six of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law at facilities owned and operated by the city or an agency or instrumentality of the city or a public corporation the majority of whose members are appointed by the mayor or the city council or both of them;

(2) for purposes of the tax described in subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law, defines "permanent resident" to mean any occupant of any room or rooms in a hotel for at least one hundred eighty consecutive days with regard to the period of such occupancy;

(3) does not omit from the tax described in paragraph one of subdivision (f) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law charges to a patron for admission to, or use of, facilities for sporting activities in which such patron is to be a participant, such as bowling alleys and swimming pools; (4) does not provide the clothing and footwear exemption in paragraph thirty of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of the tax law but does exempt clothing and footwear and any item used or consumed to make or repair exempt clothing and which becomes a physical component part of that exempt clothing;

(5) omits the exemption provided in paragraph forty-one of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of the tax law;

(6) omits the exemption provided in subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred fifteen of the tax law insofar as it applies to fuel, gas, electricity, refrigeration and steam, and gas, electric, refrigeration and steam service of whatever nature for use or consumption directly and exclusively in the production of gas, electricity, refrigeration or steam; and

(7) omits the provision for refund or credit contained in clause six of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred nineteen of the tax law.

(c) The taxes imposed by this section shall be in addition to any and all other taxes authorized or imposed under any other provision of law.

(d) The taxes imposed by this section shall be administered and collected by the state commissioner of taxation and finance as provided in articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine of the tax law.

(e) The provisions of articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine of the tax law relating or applicable to the taxes imposed by this section, including the applicable definitions, transitional provisions, limitations, special provisions, exemptions, exclusions, refunds, credits and administrative provisions, so far as those provisions can be made applicable to the taxes imposed by this section, shall apply to the taxes imposed by this section with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full into this section and had expressly referred to the taxes imposed by this section, except to the extent that any provision of article twenty-eight or twenty-nine of the tax law is either inconsistent with or not relevant to the taxes imposed by this section.

(f) Net collections from the taxes imposed by this section paid to this city by the state comptroller shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of this city, but no part of such revenues may be expended unless appropriated in the annual budget of this city.

(g) If any provision of this section or the application thereof shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this section but shall be confined in its operation to the provision thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

When used in this subchapter the following terms shall mean and include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, jointstock company, corporation, estate, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise.

2. "City." The city of New York.

3. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

4. "Tax commission." The tax commission of the state of New York.

5. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the state of New York.

6. "Distributor." Any person who imports or causes to be imported into the city for use, distribution or sale within the city any motor fuel, or who produces, refines, manufactures or compounds motor fuel within the city. Motor fuel brought into the city in the ordinary fuel tank connecting with the engine of a motor vehicle, aeroplane, motor boat or other conveyance propelled by the use of motor fuel, and to be used only in the operation thereof, shall not be deemed imported within the meaning of this definition, if not removed from such tank except in the propulsion of such engine.

7. "Motor fuel." Gasoline, benzol or any other product which is suitable for use in operation of a motor vehicle.

8. "Motor vehicle." Any vehicle propelled by any power other than muscular, except boats, road building machinery, power shovels, tractor cranes, tractors used exclusively for agricultural purposes and such vehicles as are run only on rails or tracks.

9. "Sale." In addition to its usual meaning, includes the transfer of fuel by a distributor into a motor vehicle or into a receptacle from which fuel is supplied by such distributor to his or her own or other motor vehicles.

10. Any term used in this subchapter shall have the same meaning as when used in similar or comparable context in article twelve-A of the tax law of the state of New York.

SUBCHAPTER 2 TAX ON MOTOR FUEL CONTAINING TETRA ETHYL LEAD

§ 11-2035 Floor tax.

(a) There is hereby imposed upon all such motor fuel, as defined in section two hundred eighty-four-b of the tax law, which is within the city on August first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and which is held for the purpose of sale, a tax at the rate of one cent per gallon. Such tax shall be paid to the tax commission on the tenth day of the month succeeding the month in which the tax becomes effective. Such tax shall not be payable, however, in respect of:

(1) any motor fuel so held by a distributor on August first, nineteen hundred seventy-one as to which a tax will be payable by such distributor if such motor fuel is thereafter sold within the state; nor

(2) the first five hundred gallons of such motor fuel so held by any filling station licensed pursuant to section two hundred eighty-three-a of the tax law on August first, nineteen hundred seventy-one.

(b) If prior to the date upon which a tax imposed pursuant to section 11-2034 of this subchapter goes into effect, a contract of sale of motor fuel, as defined in section one of chapter four hundred eleven of the laws of nineteen hundred seventy-one, shall have been made, and delivery thereof pursuant to such contract is made within the city after such date from a stock of motor fuel which, at the time of the taking of such fuel therefrom for such delivery is subject to the taxing power of the city, the vendor shall be deemed a distributor for the purpose of such tax, and such motor fuel shall be determined to be sold, and shall be subject to the tax imposed pursuant to section 11-2034 of this subchapter, at the time of such delivery.

(c) All the provisions of article twelve-A of the tax law shall be applicable to the taxes imposed pursuant to this section.

(a) The tax commission shall deposit daily to the credit of the comptroller of the state of New York, all taxes, penalties and interest collected under this subchapter in such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies as may be designated by the comptroller. Such deposits shall be kept in trust for the city and separate and apart from all other monies in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories. Of the revenue collected under this subchapter the comptroller shall retain in his or her hands such amount as the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York may determine to be necessary for refunds under this subchapter and for reasonable costs of the tax commission in administering, collecting and distributing the taxes under this subchapter, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds made under the provisions of this subchapter. The comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such costs, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month, pay to the commissioner of finance of this city all taxes, interest and penalties collected under this subchapter and remaining to the comptroller's credit in such banks, banking houses or trust companies at the close of business on the last day of the preceding month, provided, however, that the comptroller shall on or before the last day of June and December make a partial payment consisting of the collections made during and including the first twenty-five days of said months to the commissioner of finance of this city. The amount so payable shall be certified to the comptroller by the president of the tax commission or such president's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Where the amount so paid over in any such distribution is more or less than the amount then due to this city, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the comptroller by the president of the tax commission or such president's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of the overpayment shall be so certified to the comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the comptroller to this city shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the comptroller and the president of the state tax commission shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

(b) All payments to the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of this city, but no part of such revenues may be expended unless appropriated in the annual budget of this city.

§ 11-2049 Imposition of tax.

On and after September first, nineteen hundred eighty, there is hereby imposed within the city of New York, and there shall be paid, a tax at the rate of eight percent on receipts from every sale of the service of providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles by persons operating a garage (other than a garage which is part of premises occupied solely as a private one or two family dwelling), parking lot or other place of business engaged in providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles, in every county within the city of New York with a population density in excess of fifty thousand persons per square mile, as determined by reference to the latest federal census; provided, however, that receipts for such services paid to a homeowner's association by its members or receipts paid by members of a homeowner's association to a person leasing the parking facility from the homeowner's association shall not be subject to the tax imposed by this section. For purposes of this section, a homeowner's association is an association (including a cooperative housing or apartment corporation) (i) the membership of which is comprised exclusively of owners or residents of residential dwelling units, including owners of units in a condominium, and including shareholders in a cooperative housing or apartment corporation, where such units are located in a defined geographical area such as a housing development or subdivision; and (ii) which owns or operates a garage, parking lot or other place of business engaged in providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles located in such area for use (whether or not exclusive) by such owners or residents. The tax imposed on the receipts described in this section is in addition to the tax imposed on such receipts under subchapter one of this chapter or section eleven hundred seven of the tax law, as the case may be.

SUBCHAPTER 4 ADDITIONAL PARKING TAX

§ 11-2051 Exempt organizations and individuals.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, any sale by or to any of the following shall not be subject to the taxes imposed by this subchapter:

(1) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or Canada) or political subdivisions where it is the purchaser, user or consumer, or where it is a vendor of services of a kind not ordinarily sold by private persons;

(2) The United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities, insofar as it is immune from taxation where it is the purchaser, user or consumer or where it sells services of a kind not ordinarily sold by private persons;

(3) The United Nations or any international organization of which the United States of America is a member where it is the purchaser, user or consumer, or where it sells services of a kind not ordinarily sold by private persons;

(4) Any corporation, association, trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, testing for public safety, literary or educational purposes, or to foster national or international amateur sports competition (but only if no part of its activities involve the provision of athletic facilities or equipment), or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which

inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, (except as otherwise provided in subsection (h) of section five hundred one of the United States internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, as amended), and which does not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distributing of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office;

(5) A post or organization of past or present members of the armed forces of the United States, or an auxiliary unit or society of, or a trust or foundation for, any such post or organization:

(A) organized in this state,

(B) at least seventy-five percent of the members of which are past or present members of the armed forces of the United States and substantially all of the other members of which are individuals who are cadets or are spouses, widows or widowers of past or present members of the armed forces of the United States or of cadets, and

(C) no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual;

(6) The following Indian nations or tribes residing in New York state: Cayuga, Oneida, Onondaga, Poospatuck, Saint Regis Mohawk, Seneca, Shinnecock, Tonawanda and Tuscarora, where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(7) A not-for-profit corporation operating as a health maintenance organization subject to the provisions of article forty-four of the public health law; and

(8) Cooperative and foreign corporations doing business in this state pursuant to the rural electric cooperative law.

(b) Nothing in this section shall exempt sales of the service of providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles by an organization described in paragraph four or paragraph five of subdivision (a) of this section operating a garage (other than a garage which is part of premises occupied solely as a private one-family or two-family dwelling), parking lot or other place of business engaged in providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles.

(c) (1) For purposes of paragraph four of subdivision (a) of this section, in the case of a qualified amateur sports organization (A) the requirement of such paragraph that no part of its activities involve the provision of athletic facilities or equipment shall not apply, and (B) such organization shall not fail to meet the requirement of such paragraph merely because its membership is local or regional in nature.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "qualified amateur sports organization" means any organization organized and operated exclusively to foster national or international amateur sports competition if such organization is also organized and operated primarily to conduct national or international competition in sports or to support and develop amateur athletes for national or international competition in sports.

(d) The tax imposed by this subchapter shall not apply to any sale of services to an individual resident of the county in which such tax is imposed when such services are rendered on a monthly or longer-term basis at the principal location for the parking, garaging or storing of a motor vehicle owned or leased (but only in the case of a lease for a term of one year or more) by such individual resident. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "individual resident" means a natural person who maintains in such county a permanent place of abode which is such person's primary residence; the term "motor vehicle" means a motor vehicle which is registered pursuant to the vehicle and traffic law at the address of the primary residence referred to in this subdivision, or which is registered pursuant to the vehicle and traffic law and leased to an individual resident at the address of the primary residence referred to in this subdivision, and which is not used in carrying on any trade, business or commercial activity; and the term "lease for a term of one year or more" shall not include any lease the term of which is less than one year, irrespective of the fact that the cumulative period for which such lease may be in effect is one year or more as the result of the right to exercise an option to renew or other like provision.

§ 11-2052 Administration and collection; penalties; refunds.

(a) The taxes imposed by this subchapter shall be administered and collected by the tax commission in the same manner as the taxes imposed by article twenty-eight of the tax law are administered and collected by such commission. All of the provisions of such article relating to or applicable to the administration and collection of the taxes imposed by that article shall apply to the taxes imposed by this subchapter, including section eleven hundred one and sections eleven hundred thirty-one through eleven hundred forty-seven, with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full into this subchapter and had expressly referred to the taxes imposed by this subchapter, except to the extent that any provisions of such article twenty-eight are either inconsistent with a provision of this subchapter, or of article twenty-nine of the tax law, or are not relevant to this subchapter or to article twenty-nine of the tax law. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "tax" in part IV of such article twenty-eight shall include the taxes imposed by this subchapter.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of this section or any other provision of law to the contrary, the tax commission shall, subject to such terms and conditions as it may consider necessary, delegate to the commissioner of finance the power and authority to develop and administer reasonable and necessary procedures, including the use of exemption certificates for presentation to vendors, for determining entitlement to exemption from tax under subdivision (d) of section 11-2051 of this subchapter, and to prescribe, subject to the approval of the tax commission, rules and regulations necessary and appropriate in carrying out such responsibilities.

(c) Any person who, in violation of any provision of subdivision (d) of section 11-2051 of this code or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder, obtains or uses a certificate of exemption relating to the exemption allowed by such subdivision, shall, if such violation was due to negligence or intentional disregard of such provision or rule or regulation (but without intent to defraud), be liable for a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars for each such violation, and, if such violation was due to fraud, be liable for a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars for each such violation. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty imposed pursuant to this subdivision. The penalties authorized by this subdivision shall be in addition to any penalty provided by section eleven hundred forty-five of the tax law, and shall be paid and disposed of, and, if unpaid, shall be determined, assessed, collected and enforced, in the same manner as the taxes imposed by this subchapter.

(d) Notwithstanding subdivision (d) of section 11-2051 of this subchapter, section eleven hundred thirty-nine of the tax law or any other provision of law to the contrary, an individual resident shall not be entitled to a refund or credit with respect to any amount of tax which was paid to a vendor prior to the date such individual resident presented to the vendor a valid certificate of exemption from such tax.

(a) The tax commission shall deposit daily to the credit of the comptroller of the state of New York, all taxes, penalties and interest collected under this subchapter in such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies as may be designated by the comptroller. Such deposits shall be kept in trust for the city and separate and apart from all other monies in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories. Of the revenue collected under this subchapter the comptroller shall retain in his or her hands such amount as the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York may determine to be necessary for refunds under this subchapter and for reasonable costs of the tax commission in administering, collecting and distributing the taxes under this subchapter, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds made under the provisions of this subchapter. The comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such costs shall, on or before the twelfth day of each month, pay to the commissioner of finance of this city all taxes, interest and penalties collected under this subchapter during the next preceding calendar month and remaining to the comptroller's credit in such banks, banking houses or trust companies at the close of business on the last day of such preceding month, provided, however, that the comptroller shall on or before the last day of June and December make a partial payment consisting of the collections made during and including the first twenty-five days of said months to the commissioner of finance of this city. The amount so payable shall be certified to the comptroller by the president of the tax commission or such president's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the tax commission at the time such certificate must be made under this section and may be estimated on the basis of percentages or other indices calculated from distributions for prior periods. Where the amount so paid over in any such distribution is more or less than the amount then due to this city, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the comptroller by the president of the tax commission or such president's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the comptroller to this city shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the comptroller and the president of the tax commission shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

(b) All payments to the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of this city.

§ 11-2055 Definitions.

When used in this subchapter the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, corporation, joint-stock company, and any combination of individuals, and also an executor, administrator, receiver, trustee or other fiduciary.

2. "Alcohol." Ethyl alcohol, hydrated oxide of ethyl or spirit of wine, from whatever source or by whatever process produced.

3. "Beers." All alcoholic beer, lager beer, ale, porter, and stout, and all other fermented beverages of any name or description manufactured from malt, wholly or in part, or from any substitute therefor containing one-half of one per centum, or more, of alcohol by volume.

4. "Liquors." Any and all distilled or rectified spirits, alcohol, brandy, cordial (whether the base therefor be wine or liquor), whiskey, rum, gin and all other distilled beverages containing alcohol, including all dilutions and mixtures of one or more of the foregoing, including any alcoholic liquids which would be wines if the alcoholic content thereof were not more than twenty-four per centum by volume. Such term shall not include liquors containing not more than twenty-four per centum of alcohol by volume.

5. "Alcoholic beverages." Beer or liquors.

6. "Distributor." Any person who imports or causes to be imported into this city any alcoholic beverages which are or will be offered for sale or used for any commercial purpose; any purchaser of warehouse receipts for alcoholic beverages stored in a warehouse in this city who causes such beverages to be removed from such warehouse; and also any person who produces, distills, manufactures, brews, compounds, mixes or ferments any alcoholic beverages within this city for sale, except: (a) a person who manufactures, mixes or compounds alcoholic beverages the ingredients of which consist only of alcoholic beverages on which the taxes imposed by this subchapter have been paid, and (b) a person who mixes or compounds alcoholic beverages with non-alcoholic ingredients for sale and immediate consumption on the premises, who shall be a distributor only with respect to the ingredients which consist of alcoholic beverages upon which the taxes imposed by this subchapter have not been paid.

7. "Noncommercial importer." A person other than a distributor who imports or causes to be imported into this city alcoholic beverages, except that such person shall not be a noncommercial importer where he or she imports or causes to be imported into this city alcoholic beverages in the quantities and under the conditions provided by subdivision (e) of section 11-2056 of this subchapter.

8. "Sale." Any transfer, exchange or barter in any manner or by any means whatsoever. The sale of warehouse receipts given upon the storage of alcoholic beverages shall not be construed as a sale of the beverages represented by such receipts.

9. "Use." Any compounding or mixing of alcoholic beverages with other ingredients or other treatment of the same in such manner as to render them unfit or unsuitable for consumption as a beverage and also the actual consumption or possession for consumption of alcoholic beverages as a beverage or otherwise.

10. "Gallon." One hundred twenty-eight fluid ounces; "quart" means thirty-two fluid ounces.

11. "Liter." A metric unit of capacity equal to one thousand cubic centimeters of alcoholic beverages and equivalent to thirty-three and eight hundred fourteen thousandths fluid ounces.

12. "City." The city of New York.

13. "Commissioner of finance." Commissioner of finance of the city.

14. "Tax commission." The tax commission of the state of New York.

15. Unless a different meaning is clearly required, any term used in this subchapter shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the state of New York relating to taxes on alcoholic beverages.

§ 11-2056 Imposition of tax.

(a) There are hereby imposed on a distributor and a noncommercial importer excise taxes at the following rates:

(1) twelve cents per gallon upon beers; and

(2) twenty-six and four-tenths cents per liter upon liquors, when sold or used within this city, except when sold or used under such circumstances that this city is without power to impose such tax or when sold to the United States, and except beers when sold to or by a voluntary unincorporated organization of the armed forces of the United States operating a place for the sale of goods pursuant to regulations promulgated by the appropriate executive agency of the United States, and except when sold to professional foreign consuls-general, consuls and vice-consuls who are nationals of the state appointing them and who are assigned to foreign consulates in this city provided that American consular officers of equal rank who are citizens of the United States and who exercise their official functions at American consulates in such foreign country are granted reciprocal exemptions; provided, however, that the tax commission may permit the sale of alcohol without tax to a holder of any industrial alcohol permit, alcohol permit or alcohol distributor's permit, issued by the state liquor authority, and by the holder of an alcohol distributor's permit, class A, issued by such authority to a holder of a distiller's license, class B, or a winery license, issued by such authority and may also permit the use of alcohol for any purpose other than the production of alcoholic beverages by such holders without tax.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, the tax commission may permit the purchase of liquors without tax by a holder of a distiller's license issued by the state liquor authority from another holder of a distiller's license by such authority, in which event the liquors so purchased shall be subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter in the hands of the purchaser in the same manner and to the same extent as if such purchaser had imported or caused the same to be imported into this city or had produced, distilled, manufactured, brewed, compounded, mixed or fermented the same within this city.

(b) There is also imposed on each person, other than a distributor within the meaning of this subchapter, who, on August first, nineteen hundred eighty, owns and possesses for the purposes of sale beers or liquors, a floor tax at the rates applicable under subdivision (a) upon such beer in excess of one hundred gallons and upon such liquor in excess of four hundred liters. Such floor tax shall be due and payable on the twentieth day of the month succeeding the month of August, nineteen hundred eighty.

(c) If, prior to August first, nineteen hundred eighty, a contract of sale of alcoholic beverages was made, and delivery thereof pursuant to such contract is made within this city on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty, the vendor shall be deemed a distributor for the purposes of this subchapter, and such alcoholic beverages shall be deemed to be sold, and shall be subject to such taxes, at the time of such delivery.

(d) In any case where the quantity of alcoholic beverages taxable pursuant to this subchapter is a fractional part of one liter (or one gallon in the case of beers) or an amount greater than a whole multiple of liters (or gallons in the case of beers), the amount of tax levied and imposed on such fractional part of one liter (or one gallon in the case of beers), or fractional part of a liter (or gallon) in excess of a whole multiple of liters or gallons shall be such fractional part of the rate imposed by subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this subchapter, there shall be exempt from the taxes imposed under this subchapter, per month, one quart of alcoholic beverages (or one gallon of such beverages in the case of a person arriving directly from American Samoa, Guam or the Virgin Islands of the United States not more than one quart of which shall have been acquired elsewhere than in such insular possessions):

(1) purchased outside this city as an incident to a journey from which the purchaser is returning and

(2) not to be offered for sale or used for any commercial purpose, provided such alcoholic beverages accompany such person on his or her return to this city and provided, further, that in the case of a person arriving in this city from other than a state of the United States (including the District of Columbia), the Virgin Islands of the United States or a contiguous country maintaining a free zone or free port, such person shall have remained beyond the territorial limits of the United States for a period of not less than forty-eight hours.

Provided, however, where the amounts purchased outside the city or brought in exceed the amounts specified in this subdivision (e) but are not in excess of one liter in the case of the references to one quart or four liters in the case of the reference to one gallon, and where no duty is required by the laws of the United States to be paid on such amounts, such metric standards of fill shall be substituted for one quart and one gallon, respectively, and such amounts shall be exempt from tax under the conditions provided for in this subdivision (e).

¶ 1. The provisions of this section which impose a New York City excise tax upon beer and liquor on distributors and noncommercial importers of alcohol sold or used in the city does not violate the import-export clause of the constitution which bans only duties on imports or exports nor is it violative of the commerce clause or the due process clause because it is either too indefinite and vague or as implemented constitutes a taking of property without due process.-Metropolitan Package Stores Asso. v. § 11-2101 Definitions.

When used in this title the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Deed." Any document or writing (other than a will), regardless of where made, executed or delivered, whereby any real property or interest therein is created, vested, granted, bargained, sold, transferred, assigned or otherwise conveyed, including any such document or writing whereby any leasehold interest in real property is granted, assigned or surrendered.

3. "Instrument." Any document or writing (other than a deed or a will), regardless of where made, executed or delivered, whereby any economic interest in real property is transferred.

4. "Transaction." Any act or acts, regardless of where performed, and whether or not reduced to writing, unless evidenced by a deed or instrument, whereby any economic interest in real property is transferred (other than a transfer pursuant to the laws of intestate succession).

5. "Real property." Every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, which are located in whole or in part within the city of New York. It shall not include a mortgage, a release of mortgage or, for purposes of paragraph three and subparagraphs (ii) and (iii) of paragraph seven of subdivision a of section 11-2102 of this chapter, a leasehold interest in a one, two or three-family house or an individual dwelling unit in a dwelling which is to be occupied or is occupied as the residence or home of four or more families living independently of each other. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

6. "Economic interest in real property." The ownership of shares of stock in a corporation which owns real property; the ownership of an interest or interests in a partnership, association or other unincorporated entity which owns real property; and the ownership of a beneficial interest or interests in a trust which owns real property.

7. "Transfer" or "transferred." When used in relation to an economic interest in real property, the terms "transfer" or "transferred" shall include the transfer or transfers or issuance of shares of stock in a corporation, interest or interests in a partnership, association or other unincorporated entity, or beneficial interests in a trust, whether made by one or several persons, or in one or several related transactions, which shares of stock or interest or interests constitute a controlling interest in such corporation, partnership, association, trust or other entity.

8. "Controlling interest." In the case of a corporation, fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the total fair market value of all classes of stock of such corporation; and, in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

9. "Consideration." The price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or economic interest therein, without deduction for mortgages, liens and encumbrances, whether or not expressed in the deed or instrument and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed.

10. "Net consideration." Any consideration, exclusive of any mortgage or other lien or emcumbrance on the real property or interest therein which existed before the delivery of the deed and remains thereon after the delivery of the deed.

11. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city of New York.

12. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city of New York.

13. "City." The city of New York.

14. "Grantor." The person or persons making, executing or delivering the deed. The term "grantor" also includes the entity with an interest in real property or the person or persons who transfer an economic interest in real property.

15. "Grantee." The person or persons accepting the deed or who obtain any of the real property which is the subject of the deed or any interest therein. The term "grantee" also includes the person or persons to whom an economic interest in real property is transferred.

16. "Affixed." Includes attached or annexed by adhesion, stapling or otherwise, or a notation by stamp, imprint or writing.

17. "Register." Includes the city register and the county clerk of the county of Richmond.

18. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

NOTE

1. Provisions of L.L. 71/1986 adding legislative intent and special provisions.

A LOCAL LAW

To amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to extending the coverage and application of the real property transfer tax imposed by title II of chapter forty-six of such code to include transfers of economic interests in real property.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section one. Declaration of legislative findings. On October second, nineteen hundred eighty-six, a judgment was entered by a justice of the New York state supreme court which invalidated local law number twenty-four for the year nineteen hundred eighty-six on the ground that the requirements for notice of public hearing prior to mayoral approval of the measure set forth in former section 38b-1.0 of the administrative code of the city of New York were not met. Since the hearing held in connection with mayoral approval of local law number twenty-three for the year nineteen hundred eighty-six, relating to extending the coverage and application of the real property transfer tax, was similarly noticed, questions may be raised as to the validity of local law number twenty-three for such year. While the corporation counsel advises that the judgment invalidating local law twenty-four for such year is before the appellate courts and that, in his view, the mayor properly approved local law number twenty-four for such year and the other local laws which were before the mayor at that time, the council has determined that to exercise utmost caution in order to protect the fiscal health of the city it is prudent at this time to re-enact the provisions of local law number twenty-three for such year so as to remove any uncertainty that may exist as to its status. In addition, when the text of the provisions of local law number twenty-three for such year was justaposed into the recodified administrative code of the city of New York in accordance with section fourteen of chapter nine hundred seven of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-five, several technical, non-substantive errors resulted which are corrected by the repeal and re-enactment of the provisions of such local law number twenty-three contained herein.

§ 10. To the extent that this local law has application prior to September first, nineteen hundred eighty-six, the references to sections 11-2101, 11-2102, 11-2103, 11-2104, 11-2105, 11-2106, 11-2115 and 11-2116 of the administrative code of the city of New York shall be deemed references to former sections II46-1.0, II46-2.0, II46-3.0, II46-4.0, II46-5.0, II46-6.0, II46-15.0 and II46-16.0, respectively, of such code repealed by chapter nine hundred seven of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-five.

§ 11. Notwithstanding the repeal of sections 11-2101, 11-2102, 11-2103, 11-2104, 11-2105, 11-2106, 11-2115 and 11-2116 of the administrative code of the city of New York by sections two through nine of this local law, all provisions of such sections and any regulations adopted thereunder, in respect to assessment, payment, determination, and collection of taxes imposed thereunder, the filing and preservation of returns in connection therewith, the secrecy of returns and the disposition of revenues shall continue in effect with respect to all taxes accrued up to the effective date of this local law.

§ 12. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part of this local law shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, section, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

§ 13. This local law shall take effect immediately, provided, however, that to the extent the provisions of this local law re-enact the amendments to the administrative code of the city of New York made by local law number twenty-three for the year nineteen hundred eighty-six, such provisions shall be retroactive to and deemed in full force and effect as of July eighth, nineteen hundred eighty-six and shall apply to conveyances or transfers made on or after July thirteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-six, and further provided, however, that such provisions shall not apply to any conveyance or transfer made pursuant to a written contract entered into prior to July thirty first, nineteen hundred eighty-one.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. Determination by the Finance Department of the amount of "net consideration" which may be deducted from the real property transfer tax liability to be the amount of liens and encumbrances existing before the sale and not removed thereby is not irrational or irresponsible. The regulation is not vague since it applies to all situations where a mortgage is obtained close to the date of sale of property. Park Ten Associates v. NYC Dept. of Finance, 136 AD2d 307 [1988].

¶ 2. Consolidated mortgage may be deducted from the net consideration subject to the real property transfer tax pursuant to § 11-2101(5) which defines net consideration as "any consideration, exclusive of any mortgage . . . which existed before the delivery of the deed and remains thereon after delivery of the deed." Both mortgages found to be permanent financing. Park Ten v. City NY Dept. of Finance, 136 AD2d 307 modified 74 NY2d 628 [1989].

¶ 3. Respondent appropriately taxed petitioner 2% on $4.3 million consolidated mortgage containing a provision precluding merger of the mortgage with the fee interest at 2% pursuant to Ad Code § 11-2102(a)(4) which provides that deeds delivered during a five-month transitional period, February 1, 1982 to July 1, 1982, be charged at 2% gross consideration on liens which existed before the transfer rather than 1% of net consideration. Net consideration is defined in Ad Code § 11-2101(10) providing any consideration, exclusive of any mortgage or other lien or encumbrance on real property or interest therein which existed before the delivery of the deed and remains thereon after delivery of the deed. Therefore, the hearing officer's determination that a mortgage assigned by one holder to a new holder is not deductible in computing the "net consideration" subject to the real property transfer tax must be upheld. 50 W. 23rd Assoc. v. City of New York, 160 AD2d 660.

¶ 4. For contracts on or before February 1, 1982, a transfer tax is required to be paid in the amount of 1% of the net consideration received upon a transfer of real property (Ad Code § 11-2102) and respondent's determination that a transfer tax is required to be paid on the total purchase price because it is the substance of a transaction, viewed in its entirety, which is material to a determination of its tax consequences, is justified. In addition, it is appropriate for a penalty to be assessed against petitioner under § 11-2114(c) of the Ad Code despite the absence of intentional wrongdoing. Exchange Plaza Partners v. City of New York, 159 AD2d 333.

¶ 5. The real property transfer tax is applicable to the taxpayer's syndication of limited partnership interests in itself when the taxpayer does not own any real estate but was the sole limited partner in a limited partnership that actually owned the real estate. The sale by syndication to limited partners of a more than 50 percent interest in the taxpayer was a taxable conveyance under the statute. The law applied here where the sole business of the taxpayer was its ownership of an entity that owned real estate located in New York City. 595 Investors Limited Partnership v. Biderman, 140 Misc.2d 441, 531 N.Y.S.2d 714 (Sup.Ct. New York Co. 1988).

¶ 6. Admin. Code § 2101(7) covers the sale of stock in a cooperative apartment. In Re Emerson Unitrust, 16 A.D.3d. 201, 791 N.Y.S.2d 110 (2d Dept. 2005).

a. A tax is hereby imposed on each deed at the time of delivery by a grantor to a grantee when the consideration for the real property and any improvement thereon (whether or not included in the same deed) exceed twenty-five thousand dollars. The tax shall be:

(1) at the rate of one-half of one per centum of the net consideration with respect to conveyances made before July first, nineteen hundred seventy-one, or made in performance of a contract therefor executed before such date;

(2) at the rate of one per cent of such net consideration with respect to-

(i) all conveyance*23 made on or after July first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and before February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two, or made in performance of a contract therefor executed during such period;

(ii) conveyances made on or after February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two of one, two or three-family houses and individual residential condominium units, and

(iii) conveyances made on or after February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two where the consideration is less than five hundred thousand dollars (other than grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property taxable under paragraph three of this subdivision); (3) at the rate of one percent of the consideration with respect to grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property made on or after February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or more, provided however, that for purposes of this paragraph the amount subject to tax in the case of a grant of a leasehold interest in real property shall be only such amount as is not considered rent for purposes of the tax imposed by chapter seven of this title;

(4) at the rate of two percent of the consideration with respect to all other conveyances made on or after February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two, except that, for purposes of this paragraph where the consideration includes the amount of any mortgage or other lien or encumbrance on the real property or interest therein which existed before the delivery of the deed and remains thereon after the delivery of the deed, the portion of the consideration ascribable to such mortgage, lien or encumbrance shall be taxed at the rate of one percent, and only the balance of such consideration shall be taxed at the rate of two percent;

(5) at the rate of one percent of the consideration with respect to conveyances made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine of one, two or three-family houses and individual residential condominium units;

(6) at the rate of one percent of the consideration with respect to conveyances made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine where the consideration is less than five hundred thousand dollars (other than grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property taxable as hereafter provided);

(7) (i) at the rate of one percent of the consideration with respect to a grant, assignment or surrender, made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, of a leasehold interest in a one, two or three-family house or an individual dwelling unit in a dwelling which is to be occupied or is occupied as the residence or home of four or more families living independently of each other,

(ii) at the rate of one percent of the consideration with respect to grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine where the consideration is less than five hundred thousand dollars, or

(iii) at the rate of two percent of the consideration with respect to grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or more:

(iv) provided, however, that for purposes of subparagraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) of this paragraph, the amount subject to tax in the case of a grant of a leasehold interest shall be only such amount as is not considered rent for purposes of the tax imposed by chapter seven of this title; and

(8) at the rate of two percent of the consideration with respect to all other conveyances made on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine;

(9) with respect to conveyances made on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine (other than grants, assignments or surrenders of leasehold interests in real property taxable as provided in paragraph ten of this subdivision), the tax shall be at the following rates:

(i) at the rate of one percent of the consideration for conveyances of one, two or three-family houses and individual residential condiminium units where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration for such conveyances where the consideration is more than five hundred thousand dollars, and

(ii) at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration with respect to all other conveyances where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of two and six hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent where the consideration for such conveyances is more than five hundred thousand dollars;

(10) With respect to a grant, assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest in real property made on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the tax shall be at the following rates:

(i) at the rate of one percent of the consideration for the granting, assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest in a one, two or three-family house or an individual dwelling unit in a dwelling which is to be occupied or is occupied as the residence or home of four or more families living independently of each other where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration where the consideration for granting, assignment or surrender or such leasehold interest is more than five hundred thousand dollars, and

(ii) at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration for the granting, assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest in all other real property where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of two and six hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration where the consideration for the granting, assignment or surrender of such a leasehold interest is more than five hundred thousand dollars;

(iii) provided, however, that for purposes of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of this paragraph, the amount subject to tax in the case of a grant of a leasehold interest shall be only such amount as is not considered rent for purposes of the tax imposed by chapter seven of this title.

Where any real property is situated partly within and partly without the boundaries of the city of New York the consideration and net consideration subject to tax shall be such part of the total consideration and total net consideration attributable to that portion of such real property situated within the city of New York or to the interest in such portion.

b. (1) In addition to the taxes imposed by subdivision a, there is hereby imposed a tax on each instrument or transaction (unless evidenced by a deed subject to tax under subdivision a), at the time of the transfer, whereby any economic interest in real property is transferred by a grantor to a grantee, where the consideration exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars.

(A) With respect to such transfers made on or after July thirteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-six and before August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the tax shall be (i) at the rate of one percent of the consideration where the real property the economic interest in which is transferred is a one, two or three-family house, an individual cooperative apartment, an individual residential condominium unit or an individual dwelling unit in a dwelling which is to be occupied or is occupied as the residence or home of four or more families living independently of each other, or where the consideration for the transfer is less than five hundred thousand dollars; and (ii) at the rate of two percent of the consideration with respect to all other transfers.

(B) With respect to such transfers made on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the tax shall be at the following rates: (i) at the rate of one percent of the consideration where the real property, the economic interest in which is transferred, is a one, two or three-family house, an individual cooperative apartment, an individual residential condominium unit or an individual dwelling unit in a dwelling which is to be occupied or is occupied as the residence or home of four or more families living independently of each other and where the consideration for such transfer of an economic interest in such real property is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration where the consideration for such transfer of an economic interest in such property is more than five hundred thousand dollars, and without the boundaries of the city of New York, the consideration subject to tax shall be such part of the consideration as is attributable to that portion of such real property which is situated within the city of New York.

(ii) at the rate of one and four hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration with respect to all other transfers of an economic interest in real property where the consideration is five hundred thousand dollars or less, and at the rate of two and six hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent of the consideration where the consideration for such transfers is more than five hundred thousand dollars.

(C) Where any real property, the economic interest in which is transferred, is situated partly within and partly

(2) Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in paragraph eight of section 11-2101 or anything to the contrary contained in paragraph seven of that section, in the case of any transfer of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold, the tax imposed by this subdivision shall apply to (i) the original transfer of such shares of stock by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (ii) any subsequent transfer of such shares of stock by the owner thereof. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the case of a transfer described in clause (ii) of this paragraph which relates to an individual residential unit, the consideration for such transfer shall not include any portion of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation. In determining the tax on a transfer described in clause (i) of this paragraph, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the land and building or buildings comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such proportionate part shall be the amount determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock transferred in a transaction described in clause (i) and the denominator of which shall be the total number of outstanding shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax on a transfer described in clause (i) below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for any tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of transfers of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in clause (i). For purposes of this paragraph, the term "cooperative housing corporation" shall not include a housing company organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article two, four, five or eleven of the private housing finance law.

(3) Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in paragraph eight of section 11-2101 or anything to the contrary contained in paragraph seven of that section, in the case of a corporation (other than a cooperative housing corporation), partnership,association, trust or other entity formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of real property, the tax imposed by this subdivision shall apply to each transfer of shares of stock in such corporation, interest in such partnership, association or other entity or beneficial interest in such trust, in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the case of a transfer described in this paragraph which relates to an individual residential unit (other than the original transfer of such a unit by the cooperative entity or cooperative plan sponsor), the consideration for such transfer shall not include any portion of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of such corporation, partnership, association, trust or other entity. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, all revenues arising from the tax imposed pursuant to this paragraph shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the city, but no part of such revenues may be expended unless appropriated in the annual budget of the city.

c. (1) Anything to the contrary notwithstanding, in the case of any conveyance or transfer of real property or any economic interest therein in complete or partial liquidation of a corporation, partnership, association, trust or other entity, the taxes imposed by this section shall be measured by (i) the consideration for such conveyance or transfer, or (ii) the value of the real property or economic interest therein, whichever is greater.

(2) If, within twenty-four months following the transfer of an economic interest in real property which is subject to the tax imposed by this chapter, the corporation, partnership, association, trust or other entity owning the real property the economic interest in which was so transferred, is liquidated, and such real property is conveyed to the grantee or grantees of such economic interest, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter upon such conveyance in liquidation to such grantee or grantees. The amount of such credit shall be equal to the amount of the tax paid upon the prior transfer of the economic interest in such real property, but shall in no event be greater than the tax payable upon the conveyance in liquidation.

d. In the case of a transfer of an economic interest in any entity that owns assets in addition to real property or interest therein, the consideration subject to tax shall be deemed equal to the fair market value of the real property or interest therein apportioned based on the percentage of the ownership interest in the entity transferred.

e. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the tax imposed under subdivisions a and b on any deed or other instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein, that qualifies as a real estate investment trust transfer, as defined below, shall be imposed at a rate equal to fifty percent of the otherwise applicable rate.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision e, a real estate investment trust transfer shall mean (A) any deed or other instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein to a real estate investment trust as defined in section eight hundred fifty-six of the internal revenue code (a "REIT") or to a partnership or corporation in which a REIT owns a controlling interest immediately following the transaction; and

(B) any issuance or transfer of an interest in a REIT, or in a partnership or corporation in which a REIT owns a controlling interest immediately following the issuance or transfer in connection with a transaction described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a transaction described in the preceding sentence shall not constitute a real estate investment trust transfer unless (i) it occurs in connection with the initial formation of the REIT and the conditions described in subparagraphs (C) and (D) of this paragraph are satisfied, or (ii) in the case of any real estate investment trust transfer occurring on or after July thirteenth, nineteen hundred ninety-six and before September first, two thousand eleven, the transaction is described in subparagraph (E) of this paragraph in which case the provision of such subparagraph shall apply.

(C) The value of the ownership interests in the REIT, or in a partnership or corporation in which the REIT owns a controlling interest, received by the grantor as consideration for such conveyance or transfer must be equal to an amount not less than forty percent of the value of the equity interest in the real property or economic interest therein conveyed or transferred by the grantor to the grantee and such ownership interests must be retained by the grantor or owners of the grantor for a period of not less than two years following the date of such conveyance or transfer; provided, however, that in the case of the death of the grantor or an owner of the grantor within such two year period, this two year retention requirement shall be deemed to be satisfied notwithstanding any conveyance or transfer of such ownership interests held by such individual as a result of such death. The value of the equity interest in such real property or economic interest therein shall be computed by subtracting from the consideration for the conveyance or transfer of the real property or economic interest therein the unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances which are liens on the real property or economic interest therein immediately before the conveyance or transfer. For purposes of this computation, in the case of a conveyance or transfer of real property other than a conveyance or transfer of an economic interest in real property, the amount of the unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances to be subtracted from consideration is determined by multiplying the total unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property by the percentage of the ownership interest in the real property being conveyed or transferred to the grantee. In the case of a transfer of an economic interest in real property, such amount to be subtracted is equal to the sum of the following amounts: (i) a reasonable apportionment to the interests in real property owned by the entity of the amount of any loans secured by encumbrances on the ownership interests in the entity which are being conveyed or transferred and (ii) the amount of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property of the entity multiplied by the percentage interest in the entity which is being conveyed or transferred.

Provided, however, that for purposes of the computation made pursuant to this subparagraph (C), any mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property or economic interest therein which are created in contemplation of the initial formation of the REIT or in contemplation of the conveyance or transfer of such real property or economic interest therein to the REIT or to a partnership or corporation in which the FEIT owns a controlling interest immediately following the conveyance or transfer shall not be considered.

(D) Seventy-five percent or more of the cash proceeds received by such REIT from the sale of ownership interests in such REIT upon its initial formation must be used: (i) to make payments on loans secured by any interest in real property (including an ownership interest in an entity owning real property) which is owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (ii) to pay for capital improvements to real property or any interest therein owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (iii) to pay brokerage fees and commissions, professional fees and payments to or on behalf of a tenant as an inducement to enter into a lease or sublease incurred in connection with the creation of a leasehold or sublease pertaining to real property or any interest therein owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (iv) to acquire any interest in real property (including an ownership interest in any entity owning real property), apart from any acquisition to which a reduced rate of tax is applicable pursuant to this subdivision (without regard to this subparagraph); or (v) for reserves established for any of the purposes described in clause (i), (ii) or (iii) of this subparagraph. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term real property shall include real property wherever located.

(E) If a transaction otherwise described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of this paragraph occurs other than in connection with the initial formation of a REIT, the condition set forth in subparagraph (D) shall be disregarded and such transaction shall constitute a "real estate investment trust transfer" if the condition set forth in subparagraph (C) would be satisfied if "fifty percent" is substituted for "forty percent" therein.

(3) For purposes of determining the consideration for a real estate investment trust transfer taxable under this subdivision e the value of the real property or interest therein shall be equal to the estimated market value as determined by the commissioner of finance for real property tax purposes as reflected on the most recent notice of assessment issued by such commissioner, or such other value as the taxpayer may establish to the satisfaction of such commissioner.

(4) This subdivision e shall only apply to real estate investment trust transfers occurring on or after the effective date of this subdivision.

f. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, in determining the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to a deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit, an individual residential cooperative apartment, or an interest therein, the consideration for such conveyance or transfer shall exclude, to the extent otherwise included therein, the amount of any mortgage or other lien or encumbrance on the real property or interest therein that existed before the delivery of the deed or the transfer and remains thereon after the date of delivery of the deed or the transfer, other than any mortgage, lien or encumbrance placed on the property or interest in connection with, or in anticipation of, the conveyance or transfer, or by reason of deferred payments of the purchase price whether represented by notes or otherwise. Provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply to a conveyance or transfer (1) to a mortgagee, lienor or encumbrancer, regardless of whether the grantor or transferor is or was personally liable for the indebtedness secured by the mortgage, lien or encumbrance or whether the mortgage, lien or encumbrance is canceled of record, or (2) which qualifies as a "real estate investment trust transfer" as defined in subdivision e of this section.

1. Note provisions of ch. 170/1994 §§ 309, 310:

§ 309. Notwithstanding any provision of this act to the contrary, the provisions of sections three hundred, three hundred one, three hundred three, and three hundred four of this act shall apply to any real estate investment trust transfer occurring on or after July 1, 1996 if such transfer is pursuant to a binding written contract entered into before July 1, 1996 between a transferor and a real estate investment trust, or a corporation or partnership in which a real estate investment trust owns a controlling interest, provided that (1) the fact that such transfer may occur is disclosed in the prospectus relating to the initial formation of such real estate investment trust and (2) the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence, such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances determined to be applicable by the commissioner of taxation and finance for purposes of the taxes imposed under sections 1402 and 1441 of the tax law, and by the commissioner of finance for purposes of the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (b) of section 1201 of the tax law.

§ 310. If the provisions of sections three hundred through three hundred nine of this act be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, for the period with respect to which such provisions are so adjudged, such provisions shall be deemed not to be in effect, such that real estate investment trust transfers shall be taxed pursuant to the provisions of law that were in effect immediately prior to the enactment of this act; provided, however, that a credit shall be allowed against any additional tax due for any tax paid pursuant to the provisions of sections three hundred through three hundred nine of this act prior to such judgment.

2. Provisions of Chap 309/1996:

§ 434. Section 309 of chapter 170 of the laws of 1994, amending the tax law, the administrative code of the city of New York and various other laws relating to taxation of real estate investment trust transfers, is REPEALED.

§ 435. Notwithstanding any provision of this act to the contrary, the provisions of sections four hundred twenty-nine through four hundred thirty-three of this act as they relate to a conveyance other than in connection with the initial formation of a REIT shall apply to such real estate investment trust transfer occurring on or after September 1, 1999 if such transfer is pursuant to a binding written contract entered into before September 1, 1999 between a transferor and a real estate investment trust, or a corporation or partnership in which a real estate investment trust owns a controlling interest, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence, such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances determined to be applicable by the commissioner of taxation and finance for purposes of the taxes imposed under section 1402 of the tax law, and by the commissioner of finance for purposes of the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (b) of section 1201 of the tax law.

§ 436. If any of the provisions of sections four hundred thirty through four hundred thirty-two of this act be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, for the period with respect to which such provisions are so adjudged such provisions shall be deemed not to be in effect, such that real estate investment trust transfers shall be taxed pursuant to the provisions of law that were in effect immediately prior to the enactment of this act; provided, however, that a credit shall be allowed against any additional tax due for any tax paid pursuant to the provisions of sections four hundred thirty through four hundred thirty-two of this act prior to such judgment.

§ 11-2103 Presumptions and burden of proof.

For the purpose of the proper administration of this chapter and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all deeds and transfers of economic interests in real property are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the value of the real property or interest therein. Such presumption shall prevail until the contrary is established and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the taxpayer. The burden of proving that a lien or encumbrance existed on the real property or interest therein before the delivery of the deed and remained thereon thereafter and the burden of proving the amount of such lien or encumbrance at the time of the delivery of the deed shall be on the taxpayer.

§ 11-2104 Payment.

The tax imposed hereunder shall be paid by the grantor to the commissioner of finance at the office of the register in the county where the deed is or would be recorded within thirty days after the delivery of the deed by the grantor to the grantee but before the recording of such deed, or, in the case of a tax on the transfer of an economic interest in real property, at such place as the commissioner of finance shall designate, within thirty days after the transfer. The grantee shall also be liable for the payment of such tax in the event that the amount of tax due is not paid by the grantor or the grantor is exempt from tax. All moneys received as such payments by the register during the preceding month shall be transmitted to the commissioner of finance on the first day of each month or on such other day as is mutually agreeable to the commissioner of finance and the register. From the moneys so received by him or her, the commissioner of finance shall set said*27 in a special account:

(1) the total amount of taxes imposed pursuant to the provisions of paragraph three of subdivision a of section 11-2102 of this chapter including any interest or penalties thereon;

(2) fifty percent of the total amount of taxes imposed pursuant to the provisions of paragraph four of subdivision a of section 11-2102 of this chapter, including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon, provided, however, that where such tax is measured by the consideration for a conveyance without deduction for the amount of any mortgage or other lien or encumbrance on the real property or interest therein which existed before the delivery of the deed and remains thereon after the delivery of the deed, the entire amount of tax imposed at the rate of one percent on the portion of the consideration ascribable to such nondeductible mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, including any interest or penalties thereon, and fifty percent of the tax on the balance of the consideration, including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon, shall be set aside in such special account;

(3) fifty percent of the total amount of taxes imposed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (iii) of paragraph seven of subdivision a of section 11-2102 of this chapter, including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon;

(4) fifty percent of the total amount of taxes imposed pursuant to the provisions of paragraph eight of subdivision a of section 11-2102 of this chapter, including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon;

(5) fifty percent of the total amount of taxes imposed at the rate of two percent pursuant to the provisions of clause (ii) of subparagraph A of paragraph one of subdivision b of section 11-2102 of this chapter including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon;

(6) with respect to any conveyance of real property, transfer of an economic interest therein, or any grant, assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest in real property, made on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and taxable under this chapter, in each instance where the tax rate is in excess of two percent, a portion of the tax received equal to one percent of the consideration subject to the tax plus any interest or penalty attributable to such portion of the tax; and

(7) notwithstanding anything in subdivision six to the contrary, in each instance where the tax rate imposed pursuant to subdivision e of section 11-2102 of this chapter is in excess of one percent, a portion of the tax received equal to one-half of one percent of the total consideration for the real property or economic interest therein conveyed or transferred, plus any interest or penalty attributable to such portion of the tax.

Moneys in such account shall be used for payment by such commissioner to the state comptroller for deposit in the urban mass transit operating assistance acount of the mass transportation operating assistance fund of any amount of insufficiency certified by the state comptroller pursuant to the provisions of subdivision six of section eight-eight-a of the state finance law, and, on the fifteenth day of each month, the commissioner of finance shall transmit all funds in such account on the last day of the preceding month, except the amount required for the payment of any amount of insufficiency certified by the state comptroller and such amount as he or she deems necessary for refunds and such other amounts necessary to finance the New York City transportation disabled committee and the New York City paratransit system as established by section fifteen-b of the transportation law, provided, however, that such amounts shall not exceed six percent of the total funds in the accunt*29 but in no event be less than one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars beginning April first, nineteen hundred eighty-six, and further that beginning November fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-four and during the entire period prior to operation of such system, the total of such amounts shall not exceed three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars for the administrative expenses of such committee and fifty thousand dollars for the expenses of the agency designated pursuant to paragraph b of subdivision five of such section, and other amounts necessary to finance the operating needs of the private bus companies franchised by the city of New York and eligible to receive state operating assistance under section eighteen-b of the transportation law, provided, however, that such amounts shall not exceed four percent of the total funds in the account, to the New York city transit authority for mass transit within the city.

a. A joint return shall be filed by both the grantor and the grantee for each deed whether or not a tax is due thereon. Such return shall be filed with the commissioner of finance within thirty days after the delivery of the deed by the grantor to the grantee but before the recording of such deed. The commissioner of finance may, by rule, require that such returns be filed electronically. Filing shall be accomplished by delivering the return to the register for transmittal to the commissioner of finance or, where required by the commissioner of finance, by electronic filing of the return in a manner designated by the commissioner of finance. In the case of a transfer of an economic interest in real property, a joint return shall be filed in the above manner by both the grantor and the grantee for each instrument or transaction by which such transfer is effected, whether or not a tax is due thereon. Such return shall be filed with the commissioner of finance, at such place and in such manner as he or she may designate within thirty days after the transfer. The commissioner of finance shall prescribe the form of the return and the information which it shall contain. The return shall be signed by both the grantor or the grantor's agent and the grantee or the grantee's agent. Where the commissioner of finance requires electronic filing, the return shall be signed electronically. Upon the filing of such return for a deed, evidence of the filing shall be affixed to the deed by the register. The commissioner of finance may provide for the use of stamps as evidence of payment and that they shall be affixed to the deed before it is recorded. Where either the grantor or grantee has failed to sign the return, it shall be accepted as a return, but the party who has failed to sign the return or file a separate return shall be subject to the penalties applicable to a person who has failed to file a return and the period of limitations for assessment of tax or of additional tax shall not apply to such party. For good cause, the commissioner of finance may waive any rule requiring electronic filing and may permit a return to be filed in such other manner as the commissioner of finance may designate.

b. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

c. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

d. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

e. Where a deed, or instrument or transaction has more than one grantor or more than one grantee, the return may be signed by any one of the grantors and by any one of the grantees, provided, however, that those not signing shall not be relieved of any liability for the tax imposed by this chapter.

f. The payment of, and the filing of returns relating to, the taxes imposed hereunder, shall be required as a condition precedent to the recording or filing of a deed, lease, assignment or surrender of lease or other instrument effecting a conveyance or transfer subject to such taxes.

(g)*30 Every cooperative housing corporation shall be required to file an information return with the commissioner of finance as follows: such information return shall be filed by February fifteenth of the year two thousand and of each year thereafter, covering the reporting period beginning on January sixth of the year preceding the filing and ending on January fifth of the year of the filing. For reporting periods beginning before January sixth, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, such information return shall be filed by July fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of January first through June thirtieth and by January fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of July first through December thirty-first provided, however, that for the reporting period from January first through June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, such information return shall be filed by July thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The return shall contain such information regarding the transfer of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation as the commissioner may deem necessary, including but not limited to, the names, addresses and employer identification numbers or social security numbers of the grantor and the grantee, the number of shares transferred, the date of the transfer and the consideration paid for such transfer, provided, however, that if such cooperative housing corporation elects that such information return be deemed an application for an abatement pursuant to paragraph (f) of subdivision three of section four hundred sixty-seven-a of the real property tax law, such return shall contain the information required pursuant to paragraph (d) of subdivision three of such section. The commissioner of finance may enter into an agreement with the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York to provide that a single information return may be filed for purposes of the tax imposed by this chapter and the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of the tax law.

g.*31 Returns with respect to the conveyance of a one- or two-family dwelling will not be accepted for filing unless accompanied by an affidavit signed by the grantor and grantee indicating that the premises is equipped with an approved and operational smoke detecting device as provided in article six of subchapter seventeen of chapter one of title twenty-seven of this code.

a. The following32 shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter and from filing a return:

1. The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada) or political subdivisions;

2. The United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities, insofar, as they are immune from taxation, provided, however, that the exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax or from filing a return.

b. The tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply to any of the following deeds, instruments or transactions:

1. A deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein by or to the United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

2. A deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein by or to any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized or operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph;

3. A deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein to any governmental body or person exempt from payment of the tax pursuant to subdivision a of this section;

4. A deed delivered pursuant to a contract made prior to May first, nineteen hundred fifty-nine;

5. A deed delivered by any governmental body or person exempt from payment of the tax pursuant to subdivision a of this section as a result of a sale at a public auction held in accordance with the provisions of a contract made prior to May first, nineteen hundred fifty-nine;

6. A deed or instrument given solely as security for, or a transaction the sole purpose of which is to secure, a debt or obligation or a deed or instrument given, or a transaction entered into, solely for the purpose of returning such security;

7. A deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein from a mere agent, dummy, straw man or conduit to his principal or a deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein from the principal to his agent, dummy, straw man or conduit.

8. A deed, instrument or transaction conveying or transferring real property or an economic interest therein that effects a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization to the extent the beneficial ownership of such real property or economic interest therein remains the same, other than a conveyance to a cooperative housing corporation of the land and building or buildings comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "cooperative housing corporation" shall not include a housing company organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article two, four, five or eleven of the private housing finance law.

c. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary, where stock of a cooperative housing corporation and the appurtenant proprietary leasehold are transferred to such cooperative housing corporation or a wholly owned subsidiary of such housing corporation, or to the holder of a mortgage on the real property of such cooperative housing corporation or a wholly owned subsidiary of such holder of a mortgage on the real property of such cooperative housing corporation, such cooperative housing corporation or its wholly owned subsidiary, or such mortgage holder or its wholly owned subsidiary, shall not be liable as grantee for the tax determined to be due under this chapter from the grantor in such transfer, provided that such transfer occurred pursuant to, as the result of, or in connection with an action, proceeding, or other procedure to which such cooperative housing corporation is a party, to enforce a lien, security interest or other rights on or in such stock and proprietary leasehold, including but not limited to rights under the proprietary lease. This subdivision shall apply to transfers occurring on or after June sixteenth, nineteen hundred ninety-two.

§ 11-2107 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from such information as may be obtainable, including the assessed valuation of the real property or interest therein. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or, unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and intterest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

Levinsky v. Kraut, 121 A.D.2d 723, 504 N.Y.S.2d 150 (2d Dept. 1986)(decided under the former Admin. Code § II 46-2.0, from which § 11-2107 was derived.).

¶ 2. Petitioner sought review of a determination of an administrative law judge of the New York City Tax Appeals Tribunal, that a transfer of real property from petitioner to another individual was not tax exempt. The court dismissed the petition for failure to exhaust administrative remedies. Only a determination by the New York City Tax Appeals Tribunal, sitting en banc (the entire "bench") to review a determination by one of its administrative law judges, is reviewable under CPLR Article 78. In the absence of a timely request by the taxpayer for such an en banc review, the termination of the administrative law judge, although deemed a final decision of the tribunal, is not subject to judicial review. Moreover, the Article 78 proceeding could not be maintained because the petitioner had not deposited the tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest, or an equivalent undertaking, prior to commencing the proceeding. CHAPTER 21 REAL PROPERTY TRANSFER TAX

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, the commissioner shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. Such application may be made by the grantor, grantee or other person who has actually paid the tax. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit made as herein provided shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to review such decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-2107 of this chapter where he or she has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-2107 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing, or on the commissioner of finance's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

a. Whenever any grantor or grantee shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that any such grantor or grantee subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax or penalty might be satisfied, and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, such commissioner may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the grantor, grantee or other person liable for the tax which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalty and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and the interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrant he or she shall be entitled to the same fees, which such sheriff may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding thirty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information from the tax commission of the state of New York or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford returns, reports and other information to such tax commission or such treasury department relative to any person, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or any employee or employees of the department of finance;

5. To prescribe the methods for determining the consideration and net consideration attributable to that portion of real property located partly within and partly without the city of New York which is located within the city of New York or any interest therein;

6. To require any grantor or grantee to keep such records, and for such length of time as may be required for the proper administration of this chapter and to furnish such records to the commissioner of finance upon request;

7. To assess, determine, revise and adjust the taxes imposed under this chapter.

§ 11-2114 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-2107 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax.)

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner to the effect that a tax has not been paid or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

(i) Failure to file information return. If a cooperative housing corporation fails to file an information return required under subdivision (g) of section 11-2105 of this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be imposed on such cooperative housing corporation a penalty of one hundred dollars for each such failure.

§ 11-2115 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, register or tax appeals tribunal or any officer or employee of the department of finance, register or tax appeals tribunal to divulge or make known in any manner any information contained in or relating to any return provided for by this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of a deed or to any subsequent owner of the real property conveyed by such deed or to the duly authorized representative of any of them of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with the tax on such deed; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto to the United States of America or any department thereof, the state of New York or any department thereof, the city of New York or any department thereof provided the same is required for official business; not to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the register, the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or items thereof.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

e. This section shall not apply to any information contained in or relating to a return filed on or after the first day of January, two thousand three with respect to a transaction or transfer occurring on or after that date; provided, however, that this section shall continue to apply to any social security account number contained in any report or return pursuant to this chapter.

The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, if any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal. Any return filed electronically shall be deemed to be filed on the date of issuance by the commissioner of finance of a confirmation.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

CHAPTER 22 TAX ON OWNERS OF MOTOR VEHICLES

When used in this chapter, the following terms shall mean and include:

1. "City". The city of New York.

2. "Commissioner of finance". The commissioner of finance of the city.

3. "Highway". The entire width between the boundary lines of every way publicly maintained when any part thereof is open to the use of the public for purposes of vehicular travel.

4. "Individual resident". One or more natural persons other than a firm, copartnership, trustee or trustees conducting a business or association who, or one of whom, owns a motor vehicle registered or required to be registered pursuant to section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law, the registration fees for which are provided for by subdivision six of said section, who, at the time he or she makes application for registration or renewal thereof of such motor vehicle (or such application is made on his or her behalf): (a) is domiciled in the city, unless he or she maintains no permanent place of abode in the city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and during the period of one year next preceding the date upon which such application is made, spent in the aggregate not more than thirty days in the city; or (b) is not domiciled in the city but maintains a permanent place of abode in the city and, during the period of one year next preceding the date upon which such application is made, spent in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days in the city, unless such individual is in the armed forces of the United States.

5. "Motor vehicle". Every vehicle, except electrically-driven invalid chairs being operated or driven by an invalid, operated or driven upon a public highway by any power, other than muscular power, which includes electric power obtained from overhead trolley wires, except vehicles which run only upon rails or tracks.

6. "Other resident". Every firm, copartnership, trustee or trustees conducting a business or association or a corporation, who or which regularly keeps, stores, garages or maintains within the city a motor vehicle owned by it which, at the time it makes application for registration or renewal of registration thereof, is registered or required to be registered pursuant to subdivision six of section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law.

7. "Person". Unless otherwise indicated, an individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise.

8. "Owner". A person, other than a lien holder, having the property in or title to a vehicle. The term includes a person entitled to the use and possession of a vehicle subject to a security interest in another person.

9. "Vehicle". Every device in, upon or by which any person or property is or may be transported or drawn upon a highway, except devices moved by human power or used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks.

10. "Leased or rented passenger motor vehicles". Any motor vehicle owned by any person engaged in the business of renting or leasing motor vehicles to be operated on the public highways for carrying passengers registered or required to be registered pursuant to any provision of section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law, which vehicle at the time when application is made for registration, re-registration or renewal thereof is regularly kept, stored, garaged or maintained in the city, including such vehicles which have been rented and leased by the owner and are in possession of lessees when such application for registration, re-registration or renewal is made.

11. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

§ 11-2203 Exemptions.

The tax imposed by this chapter shall not be imposed upon:

(1) owners of motor vehicles, the registration fees for which are or may be prescribed, governed or established by subdivisions seven (except for leased or rented passenger vehicles), eight, twelve, thirteen, sixteen of section four hundred one, articles fifteen and sixteen, or section four hundred twenty of the vehicle and traffic law;

(2) any owner to whom the provisions of the vehicle and traffic law relative to registration and equipment of motor vehicles are made inapplicable by the provisions of article three of title two of such law, for the period of such inapplicability;

(3) the state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada) or political subdivision;

(4) the United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities insofar as it is immune from taxation;

(5) the United Nations or other international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

(6) any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision.

§ 11-2204 Payment of tax and evidence of tax payment.

Every owner of a motor vehicle subject to tax hereunder shall pay the tax thereon to the commissioner of motor vehicles of the state of New York on or before the date upon which he or she registers or renews his or her registration thereof or is required to register or renew his or her registration thereof pursuant to section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law.

Notwithstanding the provisions of section four hundred of the vehicle and traffic law to the contrary, the payment of such tax shall be a condition precedent to the registration or renewal thereof of such motor vehicle and to the issuance of any certificate of registration and plates or removable tag specified in subdivision three of section four hundred one and in sections four hundred three and four hundred four of the vehicle and traffic law, and no such certificate of registration, plates or tag shall be issued unless such tax has been paid. The commissioner of motor vehicles shall not issue a registration certificate for any motor vehicle for which the registrant's address is within any such city, except upon proof, in a form approved by the commissioner of motor vehicles, that such tax has been paid, or is not due, with respect to such motor vehicle. The commissioner of motor vehicles, upon the payment of such tax or upon the application of any person exempt therefrom, shall furnish to each taxpayer paying the tax a receipt for such tax and to each such taxpayer or exempt person a statement, document or other form approved by the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to the last sentence, showing that such tax has been paid or is not due, with respect to such motor vehicle.

a. At the time the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter becomes due, every person subject to tax hereunder shall file a return with the commissioner of motor vehicles in form and containing such information as may be prescribed by such commissioner of motor vehicles. The taxpayer's application for registration or the renewal of registration shall constitute the return required under this chapter, unless the commissioner of motor vehicles, by regulation, shall otherwise provide.

b. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of motor vehicles permits them to be destroyed.

c. The commissioner of motor vehicles may require amended returns or certificates of facts to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice. Any such certificate shall be deemed to be part of the return required to be filed.

d. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face the commissioner of motor vehicles or the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, or if a tax or any part thereof due hereunder be not paid when required, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of motor vehicles or by the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, from such information as may be obtainable, including motor vehicle registration with the department of motor vehicles of the state of New York and/or other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the tax. Such a determination by the commissioner of motor vehicles shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, shall apply to the commissioner of motor vehicles for a hearing, or unless such commissioner of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. If the commissioner of finance is designated as the agent of the commissioner of motor vehicles, such a determination by the commissioner of finance shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) applies to the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing by filing a petition, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. A hearing following a petition to the tax appeals tribunal and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing by the commissioner of motor vehicles or the tax appeals tribunal, the commissioner of motor vehicles, if he or she holds the hearing, or the tax appeals tribunal if the tax appeals tribunal holds the hearing, shall give notice of the determination or decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and in the case of a tax appeals tribunal decision, to the commissioner of finance. Such determination by the commissioner of motor vehicles, or a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such determination or tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of motor vehicles and there shall be filed with the commissioner of motor vehicles an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of motor vehicles may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such determination or decision, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of motor vehicles shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof to the commissioner of motor vehicles or to the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent. Whenever a refund is made or denied, the reasons therefor shall be stated in writing by the commissioner of motor vehicles or by the commissioner of finance, as the case may be, who in lieu of any refund, may allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. (1) If the commissioner of motor vehicles has not designated the commissioner of finance as his or her agent, an application for a refund or credit made as herein provided shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of and the commissioner of motor vehicles shall hold a hearing and receive evidence with respect thereto. After such hearing, the commissioner of motor vehicles shall give notice of the determination of such application to the applicant who shall be entitled to review such determination by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of notice of such determination, and provided that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of motor vehicles in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such pro- ceeding.

(2) If the commissioner of motor vehicles has designated the commissioner of finance as his or her agent, a determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the administrative code and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accorrdance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refundd or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner of motor vehicles, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which has been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-2206 of this chapter where he or she has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination made pursuant to section 11-2206 of this chapter, unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper after a hearing, or on his or her own motion, by the commissioner of motor vehicles or after a hearing by the tax appeals tribunal, or on his or her own motion by the commissioner of finance, as the case may be, or in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

§ 11-2211 Proceedings to recover tax.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel, upon the request of the commissioner of motor vehicles or of the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, shall bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state of the United States. However, if in his or her discretion the commissioner of motor vehicles, or the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, believes that any such person subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax or penalty might be satisfied, and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of motor vehicles, or the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the person liable for the tax which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalty and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the person who issued it and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and the interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrant such sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees, which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of motor vehicles, or of the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of motor vehicles or the commissioner of finance, as the case may be, may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if he or she had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-2212 General powers of the commissioner of motor vehicles.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of motor vehicles in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof;

2. For cause shown, to remit penalties; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information concerning motor vehicles and persons subject to the provisions of this chapter from the department of motor vehicles of any other state or the treasury department of the United States, or any city or county of the state of New York; and to afford such information to such other state, treasury department, city or county, any provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner in the department of motor vehicles or any employee or employees of his or her department or to any county clerk or other officer who acts as the agent of such commissioner in the registration of motor vehicles;

5. To prescribe methods for determining the tax;

6. To require all persons owning motor vehicles subject to tax to keep such records as he or she may prescribe and to furnish such information upon his or her request;

7. To request the police department of the city to assist in the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter.

§ 11-2213 Administration of oaths and compelling testimony.

a. The commissioner of motor vehicles or his or her employees or agents duly designated and authorized by such commissioner, and the tax appeals tribunal, shall have power to administer oaths and take affidavits in relation to any matter or proceeding in the exercise of the powers and duties under this chapter. The commissioner of motor vehicles, or the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent or the tax appeals tribunal, shall have the power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the performance of the duties of the commissioner of motor vehicles, the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and of the enforcement of this chapter and to examine them in relation thereto, and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend before him or her or the tax appeals tribunal or excused from attendance.

b. A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of motor vehicles, or, if the commissioner of finance is designated as his or her agent under this chapter, of the commissioner of finance and the tax appeals tribunal.

c. Cross-reference; criminal penalties. For failure to obey subpoenas or for testifying falsely, see section 11-4007 of this title; for supplying false or fraudulent information, see section 11-4009 of this title.

d. a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of motor vehicles, any officer or employee of the department of motor vehicles, the commissioner of finance, any officer or employee of the department of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, any commissioner or employee of such tribunal, any agent of the commissioner of motor vehicles, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return or to whom a copy, an abstract or portion of any return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any return is furnished to divulge or make known in any manner any information contained in or relating to any return provided for by this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of motor vehicles or the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The commissioner of motor vehicles may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after a formal hearing held pursuant to section 11-2206 or 11-2208 of this chapter. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a person or his or her duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed by him or her pursuant to this chapter, or of the receipt, document or other form issued pursuant to section 11-2204 of this chapter, or a duplicate copy thereof; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto, to the United States of America or any department thereof, the state of New York or any department thereof, the city of New York or any department thereof provided the same is required for official business; nor to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or items thereof.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the state of New York or the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in the state of New York or this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tax appeals tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tax appeals tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

§ 11-2216 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by him or her pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, in any application made by him or her, or in any application for registration made by him or her pursuant to section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the commissioner of motor vehicles, or the commissioner of finance if designated as his or her agent, to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this title is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of motor vehicles, commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of motor vehicles, commis- sioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of motor vehicles, commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of motor vehicles is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States Postal Service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of motor vehicles.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this title (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

Section 1. Declaration of legislative findings and intent. The council acknowledges the paramount importance of the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the city of New York, and when the lives or property of its citizens are in imminent danger, timely and appropriate assistance must be rendered. The council recognizes further that such assistance is often summoned by the three-digit number, "911", a nationally recognized and applied telephone number which is used to summon police, firefighting, medical and other emergency services. The council finds that the enhanced emergency service known as "E911" provides substantial benefits beyond the basic 911 system, through, inter alia, the provision of selective routing and automatic number and location identification, and that these enhancements not only significantly reduce the response time of emergency services but also represent the state-of-the-art in fail-safe emergency telephone system technology.

The council further finds that a major obstacle to the establishment of an E911 system is the cost of the telecommunication equipment and services which are necessary to provide such system. In recognition of the necessity to provide a funding mechansim for the establishment of an E911 system, in 1989 the New York state legislature enacted article six of the county law, which authorizes municipalities of the state to adopt local laws to impose a monthly surcharge on the customers of telephone service suppliers. Nothing herein shall be construed to abridge the powers of the New York city department of finance or any other city department, or the right of such departments to engage in any of their necessary or proper activities.

CHAPTER 23-A*33 ENHANCED 911 TELEPHONE SURCHARGE

When used in this chapter the following terms shall mean:

(a) "E911 system" means an enhanced emergency telephone service which automatically connects a person dialing the digits 9-1-1 to the answering point established within the New York city police department, and which shall include, but not be limited to, selective routing, automatic number identification and automatic location identification.

(b) "Lifeline" means a discounted or low-priced telephone service available to eligible low-income residential customers.

(c) "Access line" means a communications circuit that connects a customer location to a facility housing the switching system and related equipment that provides telephone service.

(d) "911 service area" means the area within the geographic boundaries of the city of New York.

(e) "Municipality" means any New York city agency, or any public benefit corporation, local development corporation or other governmental entity the majority of whose members or governing body is appointed by a city official.

(f) "Service supplier" means a telephone corporation which provides local exchange access service within the 911 service area.

(g) "System costs" means the costs associated with obtaining and maintaining the telecommunication equipment and the telephone services costs necessary to establish and provide an E911 system.

The council acknowledges the paramount importance of the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the city of New York, and when the lives or property of its citizens are in imminent danger, timely and appropriate assistance must be rendered. The council recognizes further that such assistance is often summoned by the three-digit number, "911", a nationally recognized and applied telephone number which is used to summon police, firefighting, medical and other emergency services. The council finds that the enhanced emergency service known as "E911" provides substantial benefits beyond the basic 911 system, through, inter alia, the provision of selective routing and automatic number and location identification, and that these enhancements not only significantly reduce the response time of emergency services but also represent the state-of-the-art in fail-safe emergency telephone system technology.

The council further finds that a major obstacle to the establishment of an E911 system is the cost of the telecommunication equipment and services which are necessary to provide such system. In recognition of the necessity to provide a funding mechansim for the establishment of an E911 system, in 1989 the New York state legislature enacted article six of the county law, which authorizes municipalities of the state to adopt local laws to impose a monthly surcharge on the customers of telephone service suppliers. Nothing herein shall be construed to abridge the powers of the New York city department of finance or any other city department, or the right of such departments to engage in any of their necessary or proper activities.

Every retail licensee shall keep such records of its business and in such form as the commissioner may by regulation require. Such records shall be offered for inspection and examination at any time upon demand by the commissioner or his or her duly authorized agent or employee and shall be preserved for a period of three years, except that the commissioner may consent to their destruction within that period or may require that they be kept longer.

§ 11-2405 Returns.

a. On or before the twenty-fifth day of June in each tax year, every person subject to tax hereunder shall file a return with the commissioner on a form prescribed by the commissioner. A retail licensee who obtains a license subsequent to the commencement of a tax year shall file a return for such tax year on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following the month in which such license was obtained.

b. The return shall state the amount of license fees paid to the state under the alcoholic beverage control law and the date when a license under such law was issued to the retail licensee and shall contain any other information which the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

c. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

d. The return otherwise required to be filed on or before June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred eighty under the provisions of subdivision a of this section, shall be made and filed on or before August twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred eighty.

§ 11-2407 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the commissioner shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner and there shall be filed with the commissioner an undertaking issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceedings or (b) at the option of the taxpayer, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such decision, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section, the commissioner shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid, if written application to the commissioner for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied, the commissioner shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. The commissioner may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit made as herein provided shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section, of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-2407 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner made pursuant to section 11-2407 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or of the commissioner's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax or penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce payment of the same against the person liable for the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which tax or penalties or interest might be satisfied and that any such tax or penalty or interest will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax or penalty or interest to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commission may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff, commanding such sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall, within five days after the receipt of the warrant, file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant such sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but he or she shall be entitled to no fee for compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-2412 General powers of the commissioner.

In addition to all other powers granted to the commissioner in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof; and to prescribe the form of blanks, reports and other records relating to the enforcement and administration of this chapter;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding thirty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information from the department of taxation and finance of the state of New York or the state liquor authority or the officials of any political subdivision of this state or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford information to such department of taxation and finance, liquor authority, officials or treasury department relative to any person, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy or assistant or other employee or employees of his or her department; 5. To assess, reassess, determine, revise and readjust the taxes imposed under this chapter;

6. To provide by regulation for granting a refund of an appropriate portion of the tax where the retail licensee ceases to do business during the course of the tax year under circumstances which result in, or would entitle such licensee to, a refund of license fee by the state liquor authority. The provisions of section 11-2408 of this chapter shall

§ 11-2414 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twentyfive percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-2407 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or that records have not been retained pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-2415 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner, the tax appeals tribunal or any officer or employee of the city to divulge or make known in any manner any information relating to the business of a taxpayer contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or the taxpayer's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with his or her tax nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city, or by the district attorney of any county within the city, or the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter may be instituted. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner permits them to be destroyed.

(b) (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

(c) This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

(d) Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by him or her pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by him or her, or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty or interest provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

When used in this chapter the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, jointstock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise and any combination of individuals or of the foregoing.

2. "Operator." Any person operating a hotel in the city of New York, including, but not limited to, the owner or proprietor of such premises, lessee, sublessee, mortgage in possession, licensee or any other person otherwise operating such hotel.

3. "Occupant." A person who, for a consideration, uses, possesses, or has the right to use or possess, any room or rooms in a hotel under any lease, concession, permit, right of access, license to use or other agreement, or otherwise.

4. "Occupancy." The use or possession, or the right to the use or possession of any room or rooms in a hotel, or the right to the use or possession of the furnishings or to the services and accommodations accompanying the use and possession of the room or rooms.

5. "Hotel." A building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel, boarding house or club, whether or not meals are served.

6. "Room." Any room of any kind, other than a bathroom or lavatory, in any part or portion of a hotel which is available for, or let out for, use or possession for any purpose other than a place of assembly as defined in section 27-232 of the code.

7. "Rent." The consideration received for occupancy valued in money, whether received in money or otherwise, including all receipts, cash, credits, and property or services of any kind or nature, and also any amount for which credit is allowed by the operator to the occupant, without any deduction therefrom whatsoever.

8. "Permanent resident." Any occupant of any room or rooms in a hotel for at least one hundred eighty consecutive days shall be considered a permanent resident with regard to the period of such occupancy.

9. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

10. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

11. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

§ 11-2502 Imposition of tax.

a. (1) On and after July first, nineteen hundred seventy until and including August thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid a tax for every occupancy of each room in a hotel in the city of New York at the rates set forth in, and determined in accordance with the following table:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(2) On and after September first, nineteen hundred eighty, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid a tax for every occupancy of each room in a hotel in the city of New York at the rates set forth in, and determined in accordance with, the following table:

[See tabular material in printed version]

Where a person occupies a room for less than a full day and pays less than the rent for a full day, the tax shall nevertheless be the same amount as would be due had such person occupied the room for a full day at the rent for a full day.

(3) In addition to the tax imposed by paragraph two of this subdivision, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid a tax for every occupancy of each room in a hotel in the city of New York (A) at the rate of five percent of the rent or charge per day for each such room up to and including August thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety, (B) at the rate of six percent of the rent or charge per day for each such room on and after September first, nineteen hundred ninety and before December first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, (C) at the rate of five percent of the rent or charge per day for each such room on and after December first, nineteen hundred ninety-four and before March first, two thousand nine, (D) at the rate of five and seven-eighths percent of the rent or charge per day for each such room on and after March first, two thousand nine and before December first, two thousand eleven, and (E) at the rate of five percent of the rent or charge per day for each such room on and after December first, two thousand eleven.

(4) Where the rent is paid or charged or billed, or falls due on either a weekly, monthly or other term basis, the daily rent upon which the tax is determined shall be the result obtained by dividing the rent for such term by the number of days in such term. Where the rent is for more than one room, including but not limited to a suite of rooms, the daily rent per room upon which tax is determined shall be calculated by multiplying the daily rent for the group of rooms by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the daily rent for the particular room, or a similar room, when such room is rented alone with similar bath facilities, and the denominator of which shall be the total of the daily rent for the individual rooms in the group of rooms, or similar rooms, when such rooms are rented alone with similar bath facilities. In any case in which it is not possible to determine the daily rent per room in the foregoing manner, the commissioner of finance shall prescribe methods for making such determination.

b. (1) No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon a permanent resident.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision, an occupant who is eligible to request and has requested a lease pursuant to the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section 2522.5 of the rent stabilization regulations promulgated by the division of housing and community renewal of the state of New York (title nine, subtitle S, chapter VIII of the official compilation of codes, rules and regulations of the state of New York), shall tentatively be accorded the status of permanent resident as of the date of such request, notwithstanding that such occupant has not met the one hundred eighty-consecutive-day requirement contained in subdivision eight of section 11-2501 of this chapter as of such date. In the case of such an occupant, the operator shall not collect the taxes imposed by this chapter for any day, commencing with the date such lease is requested, which falls within a period of continuous occupancy by such occupant of a room or rooms in the hotel. Provided, however, if such occupant ceases to occupy a room or rooms in the hotel prior to the completion of one hundred eighty consecutive days of occupancy, any taxes not collected theretofore by reason of the provisions of this paragraph shall become immediately due and payable on the date of cessation of occupancy and shall be collected by the operator from such occupant. In the event, however, that the operator is unable to collect such taxes from the occupant, the operator shall not be liable to the city for such taxes. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply with respect to leases requested on or after September first, nineteen hundred ninety.

c. No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon any organization described in subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred sixteen of the tax law to the extent such organization is not subject to the tax imposed under subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law.

d. (1) No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon any person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel solely and directly as a result of such person's involuntary displacement from premises by the attack on the World Trade Center on September eleventh, two thousand one, provided such premises were not subject to the tax imposed by this section or the tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law.

(2) Where an occupant claims exemption from the tax under the provisions of paragraph one of this subdivision, the rent shall be deemed taxable hereunder unless the operator shall receive from the occupant claiming such exemption a signed written statement describing the specific circumstances providing the basis for such claim and containing such other information as the commissioner of finance may require. The operator shall retain such statement and provide it to the commissioner of finance upon request.

e. Where any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propanganda,*35 or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, carries on its activities in furtherance of any of the purposes for which it was organized, in premises in which, as part of said activities, it operates a hotel, occupancy of rooms in said premises and rents therefrom received by such corporation or association shall not be subject to tax hereunder. Nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of it36 profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision.

f. The tax to be collected shall be stated and charged separately from the rent and shown separately on any record thereof, at the time when the occupancy is arranged or contracted for and charged for and upon every evidence of occupancy or any bill or statement or charge made for said occupancy issued or delivered by the operator, and the tax shall be paid by the occupant to the operator as trustee for and on account of the city, and the operator shall be liable for the collection thereof and for the tax. The operator and any officer of any corporate operator shall be personally liable for the tax collected or required to be collected under this chapter, and the operator shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the occupant, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the occupant as if the tax were a part of the rent for the occupancy payable at the time such tax shall become due and owing, including all rights of eviction, dispossession, repossession and enforcement of any innkeeper's lien that he or she may have in the event of nonpayment of rent by the occupant; provided however, that the commissioner of finance shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought by the operator to collect or enforce collection of the tax.

g. Where the occupant has failed to pay and the operator has failed to collect a tax as imposed by this chapter, then in addition to all other rights, obligations and remedies provided, such tax shall be payable by the occupant directly to the commissioner of finance, and it shall be the duty of the occupant to file a return thereof with the commissioner of finance and to pay the tax imposed therein to the commissioner of finance within fifteen days after such tax was due.

h. The commissioner of finance may, wherever he or she deems it necessary for the proper enforcement of this chapter, provide by regulation that the occupant shall file returns and pay directly to the commissioner of finance the tax herein imposed, at such times as returns are required to be filed and payment over made by the operator.

i. The tax imposed by this chapter shall be paid upon any occupancy on and after July first, nineteen hundred seventy, although such occupancy is had pursuant to a contract, lease or other arrangement made prior to such effective date. Where rent is paid, or charged or billed, or falls due on either a weekly, monthly, or other term basis, the rent so paid, charged, billed or falling due shall be subject to the tax herein imposed to the extent that it covers any portion of the period on and after July first, nineteen hundred seventy, and such payment, bill, charge or rent due shall be apportioned on the basis of the ratio of the number of days falling within said period, to the total number of days covered thereby. Where any tax has been paid hereunder upon any rent which has been ascertained to be worthless, the commissioner of finance may by regulation provide for credit and/or refund of the amount of such tax upon application therefor as provided in section 11-2507 of this chapter.

j. For the purpose of the proper administration of this chapter and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all rents are subject to tax until the contrary is established, and the burden of proving that a rent for occupancy is not taxable hereunder shall be upon the operator or the occupant. Where an occupant claims exemption from the tax under the provisions of subdivision c of this section, the rent shall be deemed taxable hereunder unless the operator shall receive from the occupant claiming such exemption a copy of the exempt organization certificate that is necessary to obtain exemption from the tax imposed under subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred five of the tax law, together with a certificate duly executed by the organization named in such certificate certifying that the occupant is its agent, representative or employee and that his or her occupancy is paid or to be paid by, and is necessary or required in the course of or in connection with the affairs of said organization.

k. No operator shall advertise or hold out to the public in any manner, directly or indirectly, that the tax imposed by this chapter is not considered as an element in the rent charged to the occupant.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The NY City hotel occupancy tax provides in Section 11-2502(a)(2) of the Ad Code that these shall be paid a tax for every occupancy of each room in a hotel in the City of New York at certain rates and the commissioner's determination that the kitchens in questions were "rooms" subject to the law is reasonable and in accord with the statutory definition. The hotel suites contained one or more bedrooms and certain spaces contained cooking facilities alleged to be kitchens. Parker Meridien Assoc. v. Grayson, 159 A.D.2d 391, 563 N.Y.S.2d 95 (1st Dept. 1990).

¶ 2. Local Law 29 of 1986 reversed and §11-2502(a)(3) declared null and void. Defendant exceeded its authority by imposing 5% tax on reduced room rate, utilizing rate that would be paid for full day. 1986 amendment to enabling act does not contain language specifically authorizing flat percentage tax on short-stay occupancies based on full day rate. Specific authorization contained in earlier 1980 amendment to enabling act does not authorize flat percentage tax contained in §11-2502(a)(3) because it authorizes local law imposing tax at rates "specified in this paragraph (b)" to tax short-stay occupancies. Paragraph (b) specifies graduated schedule of tax rates. 80-05 Grand Cent. Parkway Corp. v. NYC Fin. Commser., 191 AD2d 239 [1993].

a. Every operator shall file with the commissioner of finance a return of occupancy and of rents, and of the taxes payable thereon, for the quarterly periods ending on the last day of February, May, August and November of each year. Such returns shall be filed within twenty days after the end of the quarterly period covered thereby. The commissioner of finance may permit or require returns to be made by other periods and upon such dates as he or she may specify. If the commissioner of finance deems it necessary in order to insure the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter, he or she may require returns to be made for shorter periods than those prescribed pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this subdivision and upon such dates as he or she may specify.

b. The forms of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance and shall contain such information as he or she may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

c. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or a corrected return.

§ 11-2505 Payment of tax.

At the time of filing a return of occupancy and of rents each operator shall pay to the commissioner of finance the taxes imposed by this chapter upon the rents required to be included in such return, as well as all other moneys collected by the operator acting or purporting to act under the provisions of this chapter, even though it be judicially determined that the tax collected is invalidly imposed. All the taxes for the period for which a return is required to be filed shall be due from the operator and payable to the commissioner of finance on the date limited for the filing of the return for such period, without regard to whether a return is filed or whether the return which is filed correctly shows the amount of rents and the taxes due thereon. Where the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion deems it necessary to protect revenues to be obtained under this chapter he or she may require any operator required to collect the tax imposed by this chapter to file with him or her a bond, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as the commissioner of finance may fix, to secure the payment of any tax and/or penalties and interest due or which may become due from such operator. In the event that the commissioner of finance determines that an operator is to file such bond he or she shall give notice to such operator to that effect specifying the amount of the bond required. The operator shall file such bond within five days after the giving of such notice unless within such five days the operator shall request in writing a hearing before the commissioner of finance at which the necessity, propriety and amount of the bond shall be determined by the commissioner of finance. Such determination shall be final and shall be complied with within fifteen days after the giving of notice thereof. In lieu of such bond, securities approved by the commissioner of finance or cash in such amount as he or she may prescribe, may be deposited which shall be kept in the custody of the commissioner of finance who may at any time without notice to the depositor apply them to any tax and/or interest or penalties due, and for that purpose the securities may be sold by him or her at public or private sale without notice to the depositor thereof.

§ 11-2506 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, the tax may be estimated on the basis of external indices, such as number of rooms, location, scale of rents, comparable rents, type of accommodations and service, number of employees and/or other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the collection and/or payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after giving of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed, within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a person liable for the tax unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (b) at the option of such person such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event such person shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if written application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, he or she shall state his or her reasons therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. Such application may be made by the occupant, operator or other person who has actually paid the tax. Such application may also be made by an operator who has collected and paid over such tax to the commissioner of finance provided that the application is made within one year of the payment by the occupant to the operator, but no actual refund of moneys shall be made to such operator until he or she shall first establish to the satisfaction of the commissioner of finance, under such regulations as the commissioner of finance may prescribe, that he or she has repaid to the occupant the amount for which the application for refund is made. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance, has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to review such decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a person liable for the tax, that a final determination of tax was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a person liable for the tax unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-2506 of this chapter where he or she has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-2506 of this chapter unless it be found that such determinatiion was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or of the commissioner of finance's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provision of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

§ 11-2510 Proceedings to recover tax.

a. Whenever any operator or any officer of a corporate operator or any occupant or other person shall fail to collect and pay over any tax and/or to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as therein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that any such operator, officer, occupant or other person is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax, penalties or interest might be satisfied, and that any such tax, penalty or interest will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax, penalty or interest to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the operator or officer of a corporate operator or of the occupant or other person liable for the tax, which may be found within the city for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant, in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant such sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees, which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance , and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever an operator shall make a sale, transfer, or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of such operator's hotel or of his or her lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such hotel, or of the equipment, furnishings, fixtures, supplies or stock of merchandise, or of the said premises or lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such hotel and the equipment, furnishings, fixtures, supplies and stock of merchandise pertaining to the conduct or operation of said hotel, other- wise than in the ordinary and regular prosecution of business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of the subject of said sale, transfer or assignment, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter, and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-2512 Administration of oaths and compelling testimony.

a. The commissioner of finance, his or her employees or agents duly designated and authorized by him or her, the tax appeals tribunal and any of its duly designated and authorized employees or agents shall have power to administer oaths and take affidavits in relation to any matter or proceeding in the exercise of their powers and duties under this chapter. The commissioner of finance and the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the performance of the duties of the commissioner or the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and of the enforcement of this chapter and to examine them in relation thereto, and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state of unable to attend before such commissioner or tax appeals tribunal or excused from attendance.

b. A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal under this chapter.

c. Cross-reference; criminal penalties. For failure to obey subpoenas or for testifying falsely, see section 11-4007 of this title; for supplying false or fraudulent information, see section 11-4009 of this title.

d. The officers who serve the summons or subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal and witnesses attending in response thereto shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to officers and witnesses in civil cases in courts of record, except as herein otherwise provided. CHAPTER 25 TAX ON OCCUPANCY OF HOTEL ROOMS

§ 11-2515 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid or paid over on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-2506 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such paragraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) Officers of a corporate operator and partners in a partnership which is an operator shall be personally liable for the tax collected or required to be collected by such corporation or partnership under this chapter, and subject to the penalties and interest imposed by this section.

(2) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return, bond or registration certificate has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(3) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-2516 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, any officer or employee of the department of finance, any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, the tax appeals tribunal, any commissioner or employee of such tribunal, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner the rents or other information relating to the business of a taxpayer contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or his or her duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with his or her tax; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto, to the United States of America or any department thereof, to the state of New York or any department thereof, or to any agency or department of the city of New York, provided the same is requested for official business; nor to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by him or her pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by him or her or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

-Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, with respect to the additional tax imposed at the rate of six percent on and after September first, nineteen hundred ninety and before December first, nineteen hundred ninety-four pursuant to subparagraph (B) of paragraph three of subdivision a of section 11-2502 of this chapter, four and one-sixth percent of the total revenues resulting from the imposition of such tax, including four and one-sixth percent of any interest or penalties thereon, shall be credited to and deposited in a special tourism and convention fund, which shall be used solely for the purpose of promoting tourism and conventions in the city. Seven-eighths of the moneys in such fund shall be made available to the New York Convention and Visitor's Bureau, Inc. pursuant to an annual contract with the city which may specify, among other things, the services which shall be provided by such bureau with such moneys and the content and number of reports which will have to be provided by such bureau to the city concerning the expenditure of such moneys, and provided that the annual budget and business plan of such bureau is approved by the mayor of the city or his or her designee. The remaining one-eighth of the fund shall be spent for promoting tourism and conventions which may include, at the mayor's discretion, moneys spent in connection with additional contracts made with the New York Convention and Visitor's Bureau, Inc. For purposes of this section, the term "promoting tourism and conventions" shall mean developing, placing, and purchasing advertising promoting the city, and engaging in such other efforts as are designed to attract tourists and conventions to the city.

CHAPTER 26 TAX ON MORTGAGES

a. A tax of fifty cents for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation which is, or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof or at any time thereafter by a mortgage on real property situated within the city and recorded on or after August first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and prior to February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two, is hereby imposed on each such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter. If the principal debt or obligation which is or by any contingency may be secured by such mortgage is less than one hundred dollars, a tax of fifty cents is hereby imposed on such mortgage, and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter.

b. With respect to: (1) one, two or three-family houses, individual cooperative apartments and individual residential condominium units, and (2) real property securing a principal debt or obligation of less than five hundred thousand dollars, a tax of fifty cents, and with respect to all other real property a tax of one dollar and twelve and one-half cents, for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation which is, or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof or at any time thereafter by a mortgage on such real property situated within the city and recorded on or after February first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two, is hereby imposed on each such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter. If the principal debt or obligation which is or by any contingency may be secured by such mortgage is less than one hundred dollars, a tax of one dollar is hereby imposed on such mortgage, and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter.

c. With respect to: (1) real property securing a principal debt or obligation of less than five hundred thousand dollars, a tax of fifty cents, (2) with respect to one, two or three-family houses, individual cooperative apartments and individual residential condominium units securing a principal debt or obligation of five hundred thousand dollars or more, a tax of sixty-two and one-half cents, and (3) with respect to all other real property, a tax of one dollar and twenty-five cents, for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation which is, or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof or at any time thereafter by a mortgage on such real property situated within the city and recorded on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-two and before August first, nineteen hundred ninety, is hereby imposed on each such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter. If the principal debt or obligation which is or by any contingency may be secured by such mortgage is less than one hundred dollars, a tax of one dollar is hereby imposed on such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter.

d. With respect to: (1) real property securing a principal debt or obligation of less than five hundred thousand dollars, a tax of one dollar, (2) with respect to one, two or three-family houses and individual residential condominium units securing a principal debt or obligation of five hundred thousand dollars or more, a tax of one dollar and twelve and one-half cents, and (3) with respect to all other real property, a tax of one dollar and seventy-five cents, for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation which is, or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof, or at any time thereafter by a mortgage on such real property situated within the city and recorded on or after August first, nineteen hundred ninety, is hereby imposed on each such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter. If the principal debt or obligation which is or by any contingency may be secured by such mortgage is less than one hundred dollars, a tax of one dollar is hereby imposed on such mortgage and shall be collected and paid as provided in this chapter.

e. (1) For the purpose of determining whether a mortgage is subject to the tax imposed by subdivision b or c of this section at a rate in excess of fifty cents, or by subdivision d of this section at a rate in excess of one dollar, for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation, the principal debt or obligation which is or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof, or at any time thereafter, by such mortgage shall be aggregated with the principal debt or obligation which is or under any contingency may be secured at the date of execution thereof, or at any time thereafter, by any other mortgage, where such mortgages form part of the same or related transactions and have the same or related mortgagors. If the commissioner of taxation and finance finds that a mortgage transaction or mortgage transactions have been formulated for the purpose of avoiding or evading a rate of tax imposed under this section in excess of the lowest such rate, rather than solely for an independent business or financial purpose, such commissioner shall treat all of the mortgages forming part of such transaction or transactions as a single mortgage for the purpose of determining the applicable rate of tax. For the purposes of this subdivision, all mortgages having the same or related mortgagors offered for recording within a period of twelve consecutive months shall be presumed to form part of a related transaction, unless clear and convincing evidence is offered to the contrary. The commissioner of taxation and finance may require such affidavits and forms, and may prescribe such rules and regulations, as he determines to be necessary to enforce the provisions of this subdivision.

(2) The term "related", when used in this subdivision with reference to mortgagors, shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following relationships:

(i) members of a family, including spouses, ancestors, lineal descendants, and brothers and sisters (whether by the whole or half blood);

(ii) a shareholder and a corporation more than fifty percent of the value of the outstanding stock of which is owned or controlled directly or indirectly by such shareholder;

(iii) a partner and a partnership more than fifty percent of the capital or profits interest in which is owned or controlled directly or indirectly by such partner;

(iv) a beneficiary and a trust more than fifty percent of the beneficial interest in which is owned or controlled directly or indirectly by such beneficiary;

(v) two or more corporations, partnerships, associations, or trusts, or any combination thereof, which are owned or controlled, either directly or indirectly, by the same person, corporation or other entity, or interests; and

(vi) a grantor of a trust and such trust.

f. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section two hundred fifty-five of the tax law, the taxes imposed by subdivision c or d of this section shall also apply to principal indebtedness or obligation secured by or which under any contingency may be secured by a supplemental instrument or additional mortgage, whether or not there is any new or further indebtedness or obligation other than the principal indebtedness or obligation secured by a recorded primary mortgage, where (1) the supplemental instrument or additional mortgage imposes the lien of a recorded mortgage upon real property situated within the city not previously subject to the mortgage or where an additional mortgage upon such additional property is recorded as additional or substitute security for indebtness or obligation already secured by a recorded mortgage and (2) the recorded primary mortgage was on real property outside the city and recorded without payment of the city tax.

CHAPTER 26 TAX ON MORTGAGES

§ 11-2602 Payment and payment over of taxes.

The taxes imposed by this chapter shall be payable on the recording of each mortgage of real property subject to taxes thereunder. Such taxes shall be paid to the recording officer of the county in which the real property or any part thereof is situated, except where real property is situated within and without the city, the recording officer of the county in which the mortgage is first recorded shall collect the tax imposed by this chapter, as required by subdivision three of section two hundred fifty-three-a of the tax law. It shall be the duty of such recording officer to indorse upon each mortgage a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid. Any mortgage so endorsed may thereupon or thereafter be recorded by any recording officer and the receipt for such tax indorsed upon each mortgage shall be recorded therewith. The record of such receipt shall be conclusive proof that the amount of tax stated therein has been paid upon such mortgage. Upon the first day of each month the city register and the recording officer of Richmond county shall pay over to the commissioner of finance of the city for credit to the general fund of such city, the balance of the moneys received during the preceding month upon account of taxes paid to him or her as herein prescribed, after deducting the necessary expenses of his or her office as provided in section two hundred sixty-two of the tax law, except taxes paid upon mortgages which are first to be apportioned by the commissioner of taxation and finance, which taxes and money shall be paid over by him or her as provided by the determination of the said commissioner of taxation and finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, in each instance where the tax imposed pursuant to section 11-2601 of this chapter is one dollar and twenty-five cents for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of such principal debt or obligation, fifty percent of the total amount of such tax, including fifty percent of any interest or penalties thereon, shall be set aside in a special account by the commissioner of finance, and in each instance where the tax imposed pursuant to that section is one dollar and seventy-five cents for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of such principal debt or obligation, thirty-five and seven-tenths percent of the total amount of such tax, including thirty-five and seven-tenths percent of any interest or penalties thereon, shall also be set aside in such special account. Moneys in such account shall be used for payment by such commissioner to the state comptroller for deposit in the urban mass transit operating assistance account of the mass transportation operating assistance fund of any amount of insufficiency certified by the state comptroller pursuant to the provisions of subdivision six of section eighty-eight-a of the state finance law, and on the fifteenth day of each month, such commissioner shall transmit all funds in such account at the end of the preceding month, except the amount required for the payment of any amount of insufficiency certified by the state comptroller and such amount as he or she deems necessary for refunds and such other amounts necessary to finance the New York city transportation disabled committee and the New York city paratransit system as established by section fifteen-b of the transportation law, provided, however, that such amounts shall not exceed six percent of the total funds in the account but in no event be less than two hundred twenty-five thousand dollars beginning April first, nineteen hundred eighty-six, and further that beginning November fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-four and during the entire period prior to operation of such system, the total of such amounts shall not exceed three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars for the administrative expenses of such committee and fifty thousand dollars for the expenses of the agency designated pursuant to paragraph b of subdivision five of such section, and other amounts necessary to finance the operating needs of the private bus companies franchised by the city of New York and eligible to receive state operating assistance under section eighteen-b of the transportation law, provided, however, that such amounts shall not exceed four percent of the total funds in the account, to the New York city transit authority for mass transit within the city.

§ 11-2603 Manner of administration and collection.

The taxes imposed under this chapter shall be administered and collected in the same manner as the taxes imposed under subdivision one of section two hundred fifty-three and subdivision one of section two hundred fifty-five of the tax law. All the provisions of article eleven of the tax law relating to or applicable to the administration and collection of the taxes imposed by subdivision one of section two hundred fifty-three and subdivision one of section two hundred fifty-five of the tax law shall apply to the taxes imposed under this chapter with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been set forth in full in this chapter except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this chapter or not relevant to the tax imposed by this chapter. For purposes of this chapter any reference in article eleven of the tax law to the tax or taxes imposed by such article shall be deemed to refer to a tax imposed by this chapter, and any reference to the phrase "within this state" shall be read as "within this city" unless a different meaning is clearly required. Whenever real property covered by the mortgage is partly within and partly without the city of New York, the portion of the mortgage taxable under this chapter shall be determined in the manner prescribed in the first paragraph of section two hundred sixty of the tax law where the property without the city is located within the state and, in the manner prescribed in the second paragraph of such section of the tax law, where the property without the city is located without the state.

CHAPTER 27 ANNUAL VAULT CHARGE

When used in this chapter, the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, lessee, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

2. "Vault." Any subsurface opening, structure or erection, whether or not wholly or partly covered over, to the extent that it extends from the building line into any street of the city, for the erection of which a license fee is required pursuant to the charter or code of the city.

3. "Street." Every public street, avenue, road, alley, lane, highway, boulevard, concourse, parkway, driveway, culvert, sidewalk, crosswalk and viaduct, and every other class of public highway, road, square and place within or belonging to the city.

4. "Using, occupying or maintaining." Any right or authority to install, store or maintain property of any kind in a vault, or otherwise to use, occupy or maintain such vault for any purpose whatsoever. Such right or authority shall be deemed to exist wherever a vault has not been filled in or closed by the licensee or abutting property owner and the street restored to its original condition pursuant to the requirements of the charter or code of the city.

5. "City surveyor." Any person appointed a surveyor of the city of New York pursuant to the code of the city.

6. "Owner of the premises immediately adjoining the vault." Any person who is the owner of record of real property located in whole or in part within the city, from which a vault has been extended.

7. "Depth." The vertical distance from the ceiling, roof or top of a vault to the floor, bottom or lowest point thereof.

8. "City." The city of New York.

9. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

10. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

11. "Return." Any return required to be filed as herein provided.

12. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

¶ 1. Entire area of vault is taxable unless rendered unusable through closure procedures enumerated in bulletins. Keeping the doors to vault locked does not render them unavailable for use or storage because petitioner had a key. Vault charge was proper regardless of actual use. 71 Fifth Ave. Co. v. CHAPTER 27 ANNUAL VAULT CHARGE

§ 11-2702 Imposition of charge.

(a) In addition to any and all other license fees, charges and taxes, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid an annual vault charge, beginning as of July first, nineteen hundred sixty-two, for the privilege of occupying, using or maintaining a vault in the streets of the city, to be paid by the owner of the premises immediately adjoining the vault.

(A) For periods prior to July first, nineteen hundred seventy-one such annual vault charges shall be at the following rates:

1. On any vault occupying up to two hundred and fifty square feet in plane or surface area but no more than twelve feet in depth, thirty-five cents per square foot but not less than five dollars for the total occupancy;

2. On any vault occupying more than two hundred fifty square feet in plane or surface area but not more than twelve feet in depth, thirty-five cents per square foot for the first two hundred fifty square feet of an area and sixty cents per square foot for that portion of the area in excess of two hundred fifty square feet;

3. On any vault more than twelve feet in depth, an additional charge for each additional ten feet in depth or fraction thereof calculated by adding the plane or surface area for each such additional depth to the area calculated pursuant to subparagraphs one and two and by applying to such total area the same rates as provided in subparagraphs one and two. The additional area for any additional depth of ten feet or fraction thereof shall however, be reduced by ten per cent for each foot of depth less than ten feet.

(B) For periods beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, such annual vault charges shall be at the following rates:

1. On any vault occupying no more than twelve feet in depth, one dollar per square foot of plane or surface area but not less than five dollars for the total occupancy;

2. On any vault more than twelve feet in depth, an additional charge for each additional ten feet in depth, or fraction thereof calculated by adding the plane or surface area for each such additional depth to the area calculated pursuant to subparagraph one and by applying to such total area the same rate as provided in subparagraph one. The additional area for any additional depth of ten feet or fraction thereof shall however, be reduced by ten percent for each foot of depth less than ten feet.

(C) For periods beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred eighty such annual vault charge shall be at the following rates: 1. On any vault occupying no more than twelve feet in depth, two dollars per square foot of plane or surface area;

2. On any vault more than twelve feet in depth, an additional charge for each additional ten feet in depth, or fraction thereof calculated by adding the plane or surface area for each such additional depth to the area calculated pursuant to subparagraph one and by applying to such total area the same rate as provided in subparagraph one. The additional area for any additional depth of ten feet or fraction thereof shall however, be reduced by ten percent for each foot of depth less than ten feet.

(D) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, no annual vault charge or additional charge shall be imposed pursuant to this chapter on or after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight.

(b) Where the owner of the premises immediately adjoining the vault is exempt from or otherwise not liable for the annual vault charge, the tenant, lessee or any other person using, occupying or maintaining such vault shall be liable therefor.

(c) The annual vault charge imposed by this section shall be due from, and shall be paid by, the person who is the owner of the premises immediately adjoining the vault on the first day of July of the year for which such charge is imposed except that, on and after June first, nineteen hundred seventy-two, such charge shall be due from, and shall be paid by the person who is the owner of the premises immediately adjoining the vault on the first day of June of the year for which such charge is imposed. Where the annual vault charge is imposed pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, such annual vault charge shall be due from and paid by, the tenant, lessee or any other person using, occupying or maintaining the vault on the first day of July of the year for which such charge is imposed, except that for years beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred seventy-two, such charge shall be due from, and paid by, the tenant, lessee or any other person using, occupying or maintaining the vault on the first day of June of the year for which such charge is imposed.

(d) In the event that the annual vault charge as imposed by this chapter shall be held invalid, then such annual vault charge shall be deemed a tax on the same basis and at the same rates as provided in this chapter and all other provisions of this chapter shall be equally applicable.

(e) Where, prior to the first day of August in any year in which the annual vault charge imposed hereunder shall be due and payable, if a vault or part thereof is made unavailable for use or occupancy, the annual vault charge paid for such year, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be refunded in full upon application to and furnishing of such proof as the commissioner of finance may require. Where such closing of a vault occurs prior to the last day of December in any such year, fifty percent of the annual vault charge due and actually paid for such year shall be refunded to the payor upon application to and furnishing of such proof as the commissioner of finance may require. Where such closing is limited to a part of a vault, such a refund shall be granted only to the extent that the closing reduces the area of the vault and thereby the amount of the charge for the vault.

§ 11-2703 Exemptions.

The charges imposed by this chapter shall not apply to the following:

1. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

2. The United States of America, in so far as it is immune from taxation;

3. The United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

4. Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision.

5. Any vault constituting property defined as a special franchise in section one hundred two of the real property tax law or assessed as such pursuant to article six of such law.

6. Any vault to the extent that it is used, occupied or maintained pursuant to a revocable consent granted pursuant to section three hundred seventy-four of the charter.

7. Any vault immediately adjoining a building or structure designed for and used exclusively as a single-family or a two-family dwelling house or any other real property which is classified as class one real property pursuant to section eighteen hundred two of the real property tax law.

8. Any street occupancy usable solely and exclusively for the melting of snow and ice, or for delivery into the immediately adjoining premises, of coal, oil or other fuel for the heating thereof.

9. Any vault occupying no more than thirty-six square feet in plane or surface area, irrespective of the depth of such vault.

§ 11-2704 Filing of returns.

a. Every person subject to the annual vault charge under this chapter shall, on or before the first day of August, nineteen hundred sixty-two, and on or before the fifteenth day of July of every year thereafter, file with the commissioner of finance a return showing the dimensions of the vault as to length, width and depth, except that the return required to be filed on or before July fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-two shall be filed on or before June fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-two and those due in later years shall be required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of such years. The commissioner of finance, if he or she deems it necessary to insure adequate information with regard to the proper charge to be imposed, may require information returns from other persons, including the owners of real property regardless of whether a vault has been extended therefrom, the users or lessees of the vault or lessees or tenants of the property adjoining the vault.

b. The forms of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance and shall contain such information as he or she may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter; and the commissioner of finance or his or her duly authorized agents or employees shall be empowered to require supplemental returns. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if the return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return. Upon failure to comply with a notice to furnish a return or a sufficient return, the commissioner of finance may require the filing of a certificate signed by a city surveyor specifying the dimensions of the vault.

c. For each annual vault charge year beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the commissioner of finance shall, at least thirty days prior to the commencement of such year, mail to each person who has filed an annual vault charge return for the immediately preceding year an annual vault charge return form on which shall be shown the amount of the charge for such immediately preceding year. Such return form shall be accompanied by instructions which explain in clear and simple terms how to determine the dimensions and extent of street occupancy of a vault, how to calculate the amount of the charge, and such other matters as the commissioner considers necessary or helpful to an understanding of the requirements of this chapter. Notwithstanding the foregoing, neither the failure of the commissioner to mail such return form and instructions nor the failure of any person to receive the same shall relieve any person of the obligation to file any return required under this section or of liability for the charge, interest or penalties imposed by this chapter.

d. If no form or other notice has previously been sent to a person subject to the annual vault charge with respect to the amount of vault charge owed for any year, the commissioner of finance shall notify such person of the amount owed as soon as practicable after discovering that such amount is owed.

§ 11-2705 Payment of vault charges.

a. At the time of filing a return as required by this chapter the person subject to the annual vault charge shall pay to the commissioner of finance the charge imposed by this chapter. Such charge shall be due and payable on the last day on which such return is required to be filed, without regard to whether a return is filed or whether the return which is filed correctly shows the amount due.

b. The charge otherwise required to be paid with the return due on or before June fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty shall be paid in two equal installments as follows: one-half of the charge shall be paid with the return on or before June fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty, and one-half of the charge shall be paid on or before September fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty.

§ 11-2707 Determination of vault charge.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of the vault charge due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, the charge may be estimated on the basis of external indices, including but not limited to the records of the department of transportation, the reports of tax assessors, the reports of inspectors and investigators in the offices of the commissioner of finance and commissioner of transportation, and/or other information or factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment thereof. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the vault charge unless the person against whom it is assessed shall, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and such person has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Upon such hearing the tax appeals tribunal may require the filing of a certificate signed by a city surveyor specifying the dimensions of the vault. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the vault charge is assessed. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the vault charge was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a person against whom the vault charge is assessed unless (a) the amount of any vault charge sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the vault charge confirmed the person against whom the vault charge is assessed will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding, or (b) at the option of such person, such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the vault charge, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against him or her in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event such person shall not be required to deposit such vault charge, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section, the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any vault charge, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, he or she shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the applicant in writing. Such application may be made by the owner of the premises, or other person, who has actually paid the vault charge. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the administrative code and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any vault charge, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to review such decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a person against whom the vault charge is assessed, that a final determination of the vault charge due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a person against whom the vault charge is assessed unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the vault charge confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a vault charge, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-2707 of this chapter where he or she has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of annual vault charge, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-2707 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or on the commissioner's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the vault charge, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any vault charge, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring, or cause to be brought, an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States.

b. As an additional remedy or as an alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff, commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the person liable for vault charges which may be found within the city for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the vault charge, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrant he or she shall be entitled to the same fees, which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. In addition to any other lien provided for in this section, the annual vault charge imposed by this chapter shall become a lien, binding upon the premises immediately adjoining such vault, on the date such charge is required to be paid until the same is paid in full.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid vault charges, additions to vault charges, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-2712 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to all other powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purpose thereof;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding sixty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the vault charges hereby imposed;

3. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or any employee or employees of the department of finance;

4. To prescribe methods for determining the size, dimensions, depth and extent of street occupancy of a vault; to set forth the manner of computing the vault charges hereunder; to prescribe standards or methods, by regulation or otherwise, for determining whether a vault has been made unavailable for use or occupancy; and the commissioner of finance or his or her designated employees or agents shall have power to inspect premises for the purpose of determining the extent, if any, of liability imposed by this chapter.

5. To require any owner of premises or licensee or other person using, occupying or maintaining a vault to obtain from the commissioner of finance a certificate stating the dimensions and depth of the vault and that the vault charge thereon has been paid and to exhibit the same to duly authorized employees at the premises or real property adjoining the said vault, and to keep such records, and for such length of time, as may be required for the proper administration of this chapter, and to furnish such records to the commissioner of finance upon request;

6. To assess, reassess, determine, revise and readjust the vault charges imposed under this chapter;

7. Where he or she has exercised his or her authorized power to require the filing of a certificate signed by a city surveyor specifying the dimensions of a vault and the owner of the premises has failed to comply, he or she may obtain such certificate and, in such situation, the necessary expense of obtaining such certificate shall constitute a lien against such premises until paid.

8. The commissioner of finance or his or her designated employees or agents shall have power to inspect premises for the purpose of determining the extent, if any, of liability imposed by this chapter.

§ 11-2713 Administration of oaths and compelling testimony.

a. The commissioner of finance, his or her employees duly designated and authorized by the commissioner, the tax appeals tribunal and any of its duly designated and authorized employees shall have power to administer oaths and take affidavits in relation to any matter or proceeding in the exercise of their powers and duties under this chapter. The commissioner of finance and the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the performance of the duties of the commissioner or of the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and of the enforcement of this chapter and to examine them in relation thereto, and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend before such commissioner or the tax appeals tribunal or excused from attend- ance.

b. A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal under this chapter.

c. Cross-reference; criminal penalties. For failure to obey subpoenas or for testifying falsely, see section 11-4007 of this title; for supplying false or fradulent information, see section 11-4009 of this title.

d. The officers who serve the summons or subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and witnesses attending in response thereto shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to officers and witnesses in civil cases in courts of record, except as herein otherwise provided. Such officers shall be the city sheriff and his or her duly appointed deputies or any officers or employees of the department of finance or the tax appeals tribunal, designated to serve such process.

§ 11-2714 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any annual vault charge is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as vault charge on such return five percent of the amount of such charge if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a vault charge return within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to the vault charge under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as vault charge on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of vault charge required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the charge which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the charge and by the amount of any credit against the charge which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay vault charge shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as vault charge on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as vault charge on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such charge if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of vault charge shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the charge which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the charge which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of vault charge required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as such charge on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay vault charge required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any vault charge required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-1106 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of vault charge stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such charge if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of vault charge stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the charge which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the charge for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of a vault charge is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the charge a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the charge (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the charge (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the charge).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of a vault charge is due to fraud, there shall be added to the charge a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the charge (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the charge (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the charge).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to the vault charge imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any vault charge imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the vault charge imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance, shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to vault charges, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a vault charge has not been paid, that a vault has not been licensed, that a return has not been filed, that access has not been allowed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-2715 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given to the person for whom it is intended by mailing it in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the return filed by him or her pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by him or her or, if no such return has been filed or application made, then to the address of the premises immediately adjoining the vault. The mailing of a notice as in this subdivision provided, shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice as in this subdivision provided.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to appraise, assess, determine, levy or enforce the collection of any vault charge or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the vault charge, no assessment shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of such return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law, the annual vault charge may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional vault charge, a person has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional vault charge due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state , the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

a. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, there is hereby established a nine-month amnesty program, beginning January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and ending September thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine (hereinafter referred to as the "amnesty period"), for all persons owing the annual vault charge imposed by this chapter. Such amnesty program shall be administered by the commissioner of finance and shall apply to liabilities for annual vault charge years ending prior to June first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

b. (1) A person seeking amnesty pursuant to this section must, during the amnesty period, file a written application therefor with the commissioner of finance, on a form prescribed by the commissioner, and must provide such information as the commissioner may require. In order to qualify for amnesty, such person must pay all annual vault charges for which he or she is liable. Upon payment by such person to the commissioner of all such charges as provided in this subdivision, the commissioner shall waive any applicable penalties and interest, and no civil, administrative or criminal action or proceeding shall be brought against such person with respect to the charges so paid. In addition, the commissioner shall release the lien binding upon the premises immediately adjoining the vault pursuant to subdivision c of section 11-2711 of this chapter for charges which became payable prior to the time such person acquired title to the premises. Failure to pay all charges as provided in this subdivision shall invalidate any amnesty granted pursuant to this section.

(2) In the case of any vault adjoining premises owned by a person who (A) prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, paid all annual vault charges and interest and penalties for which he or she was liable, and (B) is otherwise in full compliance with this chapter, the commissioner of finance shall release the lien binding upon the premises immediately adjoining the vault pursuant to subdivision c of section 11-2711 of this chapter for charges which became payable prior to the time such person acquired title to the premises.

c. Amnesty shall not be granted to any person subject to the annual vault charge who is a party to any civil litigation which is pending on the date of such person's application in any court of this state or the United States for nonpayment or other delinquency in relation to the annual vault charge. A civil litigation shall not be deemed to be pending if such person withdraws from such litigation prior to the granting of amnesty.

d. No refund or credit shall be granted of any penalty or interest paid prior to the time the person subject to the annual vault charge makes a request for amnesty pursuant to subdivision b of this section.

e. Unless the commissioner of finance on his or her own motion redetermines the amount of the annual vault charge, no refund or credit shall be granted of any charges paid under this section.

f. The commissioner of finance shall formulate such regulations as are necessary, issue forms and instructions, and take any and all other actions necessary to implement the provisions of this section. Furthermore, prior to and throughout the duration of the amnesty period, the commissioner of finance shall implement a plan for prominently announcing and explaining the amnesty program. Such plan shall be reasonably calculated to inform all property owners who may be liable for vault charges and may include written announcements sent in tax bills and other mailings done by the city of New York to property owners, public service announcements, advertisements in newspapers of general circulation and notification of community boards. The plan shall include, but not be limited to, information which explains the determination of vault size and charge.

CHAPTER 28 CLAIMS AGAINST FIRE INSURANCE PROCEEDS

§ 11-2801 Claims against fire insurance proceeds.

Definitions. 1. As used in this chapter, any inconsistent provision of law notwithstanding, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Commissioner" means the commissioner of finance.

(b) "Real property" means property upon which there is erected any residential, commercial or industrial building or structure except a one or two family residential structure.

(c) "Lien" means any lien including liens for taxes, special ad valorem levies, special assessments and municipal charges arising by operation of law against property in favor of the city and remaining undischarged for a period of one year or more.

(d) "Board" means the board created by subdivision five of this section.

(e) "Special lien" means a lien upon fire insurance proceeds pursuant to this chapter and chapter seven hundred thirty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred seventy-seven.

(f) "Fund" means the fire insurance proceeds fund created pursuant to subdivision ten of this section.

2. The commissioner shall file a notice of intention to claim against the proceeds of fire insurance policies pursuant to section twenty-two of the general municipal law with the state superintendent of insurance for entry in the index of liens maintained by him or her as provided in section three hundred thirty-one of the insurance law.

3. Prior to the payment of any proceeds of a policy of insurance for damages caused by fire to real property, which policy insures the interest of an owner and is issued on real property located within the city, and following notification to the commissioner by an insurer of the filing of a claim for payment of such proceeds, the commissioner shall claim, by serving a certificate of lien, against such proceeds to the extent of any lien (including interest and penalties to the date of the claim) thereon, which claim when made and perfected in the manner provided for in section twenty-two of the general municipal law and section three hundred thirty-one of the insurance law, shall constitute a special lien against such proceeds and shall, as to such proceeds, be prior to all other liens and claims except the claim of a mortgagee of record named in such policy. Notice of the service of the certificate of the special lien shall be given to the insured by certified mail.

4. The provisions of this chapter shall not be deemed or construed to alter or impair the right of the city to acquire or enforce any lien against property but shall be in addition to any other power provided by law to acquire or enforce such right.

5. The fire insurance proceeds claims board is hereby established to administer the provisions of subdivisions six through thirteen of this section. The board shall consist of the first deputy mayor, who shall be chairperson, the commissioner of buildings, the commissioner of housing preservation and development, the commissioner of finance and the deputy mayor for economic development, each of whom shall have the power to designate an alternate to represent him or her at board meetings with all the rights and powers, including the right to vote, reserved to all board members, provided that such designation shall be in writing to the chairperson. So far as practicable and subject to the approval of the mayor, the services of all other city departments and agencies shall be made available by their respective heads to the board for the carrying out of its functions. Each member shall serve without additional compensation except for expenses actually incurred.

6. Whenever the proceeds of policy of fire insurance which will be or has been paid to the city instead of an insured, all or part of such proceeds may be paid or released to the insured if the insured satisfies the board that the affected premises have been or will be repaired or restored, that such repairs or restoration are in the public interest, and the insured is issued and complies with a certificate of the board pursuant to this chapter. To secure such payment or release of proceeds the insured must notify the board within forty-five days after the mailing to the insured of a notice of the service of the certificate of special lien pursuant to subdivision three hereof, of the intention to restore or repair the affected premises and must file with the board a completed application with all required supporting documentation pursuant to subdivision seven of this section within sixty days thereafter, unless the board grants an extension for a stated period of time.

7. The release or return to the insured of any amounts to which he or she or it would otherwise be entitled to claim shall be subject to the following conditions:

(a) Such release or return shall be subject to the repair or restoration of the affected premises, in accordance with applicable building laws, to the condition it was in prior to the time the lien of the city arose, or to an improved condition.

(b) The insured shall file with the board an application in affidavit form, with such supporting documentation as the board shall require, containing the following:

(i) A complete description of the nature and extent of the damage to the insured premises and of the condition of the premises prior to the time the lien of the city arose;

(ii) A complete description of the nature of the repairs or restoration to be undertaken and the cost thereof;

(iii) A statement as to the source of funds needed to complete such repairs or restoration if the insurance proceeds are not sufficient therefor;

(iv) The name and address of each contractor who will effect such repairs or restoration;

(v) An estimated time schedule showing how long the repairs or restoration, and each phase thereof, will take; and

(vi) Such other information as may be required by the board to enable it to determine whether the repairs or restoration are in the public interest and will be or have been timely and properly made.

(c) Upon a preliminary approval by the board of an application pursuant to paragraph (b) of this subdivision, the board may issue a certificate, to be signed by the chairperson or his or her designee; evidencing the right of release to the insured of amounts representing insurance proceeds, upon such conditions as may be set forth therein. The repairs or restoration required by the board shall be completed in compliance with the terms and conditions of the certificate prior to the release or return of any part of the insurance proceeds, provided however that the board may, upon the written request of the insured and in its sole discretion, approve a prior release of such proceeds or a portion thereof, in a lump sum or in installments, where the insured certifies and demonstrates that such release is required to permit such repairs or restoration to go forward. Any such insurance proceeds released or returned prior to the completion of the repairs or restoration required by the board may be paid directly to the contractor or contractors responsible for making such repairs or restoration. Such payment shall, to the extent thereof, release the board from further liability to the insured.

8. If the insured: (i) fails to notify the city of his or her or its intention to repair or restore the affected premises as required in subdivision six of this section, (ii) fails to file a completed application pursuant to this chapter, or (iii) fails to obtain a certificate from the board or comply therewith within the time set forth, the right of the insured to assert a claim against the insurance proceeds, except to the extent they exceed the amount of the lien, shall terminate.

9. Until such termination, any insurance proceeds received by the city shall be deposited in a special fund and shall be retained therein. Upon termination of the insured's right to claim against the proceeds, the proceeds and any interest accrued thereon shall be applied to the liens affecting the premises in a manner determined by the board and may be transferred to the general fund.

10. There shall be established in the office of the commissioner a fund for the deposit of fire insurance proceeds to be held and applied in accordance with this chapter. Such funds shall not be held together with the general tax levies in the general fund.

11. The lien or liens against the affected premises upon which the special lien against proceeds is based shall continue in full force and effect except to the extent that such lien or liens are or have been paid.

12. The board may, pursuant to this chapter, release, compromise or adjust the special lien upon insurance proceeds created by this chapter. Any certificate issued by such board pursuant to this chapter shall be for the purpose of preserving and evidencing the right of release of the special lien created by this chapter, shall be subject solely to the provisions of this chapter, and shall not be deemed to be a contract subject to city regulation. Any repair or restoration performed in anticipation of a release of insurance proceeds shall not be deemed to be a public work or municipal project nor to have been done pursuant to a muncipal contract.

13. The board shall be empowered to promulgate rules and regulations and to adopt approved forms to be used by applicants.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Title C is meant to apply to tax arrears accruing before effective date of statute.-Kroll v. N.Y. Property Ins. Underwriting Assoc., 120 Misc. 2d 1 [1983].

¶ 2. Where Department of Finance of City filed a notice of intent to claim fire insurance proceeds and its lien became effective December 22, 1977 lien of city for unpaid taxes was superior to right of mortgagee who was not named in fire policy and thus had only equitable lien and whose mortgage was not recorded until December 23, 1977.-Kovacs v. N.Y. Property Ins. Underwriting Asso., 101 Misc. 2d 244, 420 N.Y.S. 2d 837 [1979].

¶ 4. N.Y.C. is clearly given right to claim proceeds of fire ins. policy issued upon real property upon which there are outstanding unpaid taxes, assessments and charges, to extent of any liens on property, whether city's rights thereunder are "independent" or merely "derivative" is of no practical importance.-Kroll v. N.Y. Property Ins. Underwriting Assoc., 120 Misc. 2d 1 [1983].

¶ 5. Constitutionality of section upheld as against claim of plaintiff that he was not given an opportunity to repair and restore the damaged property where he had ignored all prior notices and did nothing to demonstrate any intention to restore the premises for over one year.-Shirpsen Realty Corp. v. City of N.Y., 107 Misc. 2d 714 [1981].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. City is entitled to the fire insurance proceeds for unpaid real property taxes pursuant to § 11-2801(3). This policy "insures the interest of an owner" for purposes of a tax lien. Insurance Company of North America v. City of New York, 71 NY2d 983 [1988].

¶ 2. The City claimed that this section gave it a lienholder's priority over the entirety of fire insurance proceeds obtained from an insurer through a settlement of the action against it. The court, however, held that the insured's attorneys were entitled to fees. Otherwise, the court said, attorneys would have no incentive to bring coverage actions against insurers and the City would not obtain any insurance proceeds at all. LMWT Realty Corp. v. CHAPTER 29 TAX STUDY COMMISSION a. There is established a joint tax study commission to advise the mayor and the council. The commission shall consist of seventeen voting members, nine of whom shall be elected or appointed officials of the city of New York and eight who shall be public members. The commission shall be appointed as follows:

(1) four members appointed by the mayor;

(2) three members appointed by the vice chairman;

(3) one member appointed by the council president;

(4) one member appointed by the comptroller; and

(5) eight public members appointed jointly by the mayor and the vice chairman.

One member shall be designated by both the mayor and the vice chairman to serve as chairperson.

b. Vote of the commission; delegates. The commission shall be authorized to vote on any motion properly before it when a quorum, consisting of more than one-half of its members, is present. The motion shall be adopted if a majority of the members vote thereon. Each member may designate a representative who may vote on behalf of such member and who shall be counted as a member for the purposes of determining the existence of a quorum. The designation of a representative shall be made in a prior written notice served upon the chairperson of the commission.

c. Mandates of the commission. The commission is hereby mandated:

(1) to analyze the impact of the extensive changes in federal taxation, the implementation of which is to begin in 1987, and to consider how the local tax system might best adapt to anticipated changes in tax burdens and tax receipts; and

(2) to analyze the city's current personal income tax laws to determine their effectiveness in realizing municipal fiscal and policy goals, and in satisfying the traditional objectives of equity and efficiency; and

(3) to analyze the city's real property, business and other tax structures to determine their effectiveness in realizing municipal fiscal and policy goals; and

(4) to make recommendations in each instance for such actions as it deems necessary to achieve these objectives.

d. Duties and powers of the commission. The commission shall, in order to achieve its mandates:

(1) meet at such times as it shall deem necessary;

(2) utilize the best expertise available as it proceeds with its work, seeking both the advice and the active participation of tax professionals, economists, and fiscal analysts who shall act as advisors and/or paid consultants.

e. Reports. The commission shall issue at least two separate reports to the mayor and the council. The first report shall be submitted to the mayor and the council no later than four months from the effective date of this local law and shall address possible municipal adaptations to the new federal tax law. The second report shall be issued no later than twenty-four months from the effective date of this local law and shall address the reforms of the city's tax system as a whole. Additional separate studies and reports may be issued from time to time as the commission deems appropriate. In all instances, to the greatest extent possible, the commission shall recommend, legislative and other courses of action to the mayor and the council.

f. Duration of the commission. The commission shall expire on January thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred eighty-nine.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Section added L.L. 48/1986 § 2. [See Note.]

Provision of L.L. 48/1986 adding legislative intent

Section one. Declaration of legislative intent. The council finds that the economic and social well-being of the people of the city of New York is clearly related to the tax policies and procedures of the city and the manner in which those policies and procedures are administered. The council is aware that the changes made in the federal tax law and contemplated for the state tax laws, as well as major changes taking place in our national and local economies, have significant effects on the operation and impact of our tax system. Accordingly, the council finds it appropriate to establish a joint tax study commission to: (1) analyze the impact of the federal tax reform law on the city and consider how the local tax system might best adapt to anticipated changes in tax burdens and tax receipts; (2) analyze the city's current tax laws to determine their effectiveness in realizing municipal fiscal, and policy goals, and in satisfying the traditional objectives of equity and efficiency; and (3) make recommendations in each instance for such improvements as it deems necessary to achieve these objectives, including, but not limited to, identifying in what instances state legislative approval would be a prerequisite to such improvements.

§ 11-4004 False returns or reports; utility tax, corporate taxes or unincorporated business tax.

(a) Any person who, with intent to evade any tax imposed by or any requirement of chapter five, six or eleven of this title, or any lawful requirement of the commissioner of finance thereunder, shall make, render, sign, certify or file any false or fraudulent return or report, declaration or statement shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Any person who, with intent to evade any tax imposed by chapter five, six or eleven, files a false or fraudulent return or report and, with such intent, substantially understates on such return or report his or her tax liability under such chapters, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(c) For purposes of subdivision (b) hereof, the term "substantially understates" refers to the excess amount of the tax required to be shown on the return or report for the taxable year or other applicable taxable period over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return or report, provided that the excess is more than one thousand five hundred dollars, and provided that the taxpayer, acting without reasonable ground for belief that his conduct is lawful, intended to evade at least said amount of such excess.

(d) As used in this section in relation to the tax imposed under chapter six or eleven of this title, the terms "return" and "report" shall have the same meaning as defined in subdivision (c) of section 11-4003 of this chapter, and as used in this section in relation to the tax imposed under chapter five of this title, the terms "return" and "report" shall mean a return or report required under section 11-514, but shall not include a declaration of estimated tax required under section 11-511.

(a) Attempt to evade or defeat tax. (1) Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat any tax imposed by chapter thirteen of this title or the payment thereof shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(2) Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat any tax imposed by chapter thirteen of this title or payment thereof on ten thousand cigarettes or more or has previously been convicted two or more times of a violation of paragraph one of this subdivision shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(b) Any person, other than an agent so authorized by the commissioner of finance, who possesses or transports for the purpose of sale any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes subject to tax under chapter thirteen of this title, or who sells or offers for sale unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes in violation of the provisions of such chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who violates the provisions of this subdivision after having previously been convicted of a violation of this subdivision within the preceding five years shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(c) (1) Any person, other than an agent so authorized by the commissioner of finance, who willfully possesses or transports for the purpose of sale ten thousand or more cigarettes subject to the tax imposed by chapter thirteen of this title in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages or who willfully sells or offers for sale ten thousand or more cigarettes in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages in violation of such chapter shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(2) Any person, other than an agent appointed by the commissioner of finance, who willfully possesses or transports for the purpose of sale thirty thousand or more cigarettes subject to the tax imposed by chapter thirteen of this title in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages or who willfully sells or offers for sale thirty thousand or more cigarettes in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages in violation of such chapter shall be guilty of a class D felony.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the possession or transportation within this city by any person, other than an agent, at any one time of five thousand or more cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages shall be presumptive evidence that such cigarettes are possessed or transported for the purpose of sale and are subject to the tax imposed by chapter thirteen of this title. With respect to such possession or transportation, any provisions of chapter thirteen of this title providing for a time period during which a use tax imposed by such chapter may be paid on unstamped cigarettes or unlawfully or improperly stamped cigarettes or during which such cigarettes may be returned to an agent shall not apply. The possession within this city of more than four hundred cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages by any person other than an agent at any one time shall be presumptive evidence that such cigarettes are subject to tax as provided by chapter thirteen of this title.

(e) Nothing in this section shall apply to common or contract carriers or warehouseman while engaged in lawfully transporting or storing unstamped packages of cigarettes as merchandise, nor to any employee of such carrier or warehouseman acting within the scope of his employment, nor to public officers or employees in the performance of their official duties requiring possession or control of unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes, nor to temporary incidental possession by employees or agents of persons lawfully entitled to possession, not*37 to persons whose possession is for the purpose of aiding police officers in performing their duties.

(f) Any willful act or omission, other than those described in subdivision (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) or (g) of this section, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of chapter thirteen of this title or subchapter one of chapter two of title twenty of the code shall constitute a misdemeanor.

(g) Any person who falsely or fraudulently makes, alters or counterfeits any stamp prescribed by the commissioner of finance under the provisions of chapter thirteen of this title, or causes or procures to be falsely or fraudulently made, altered or counterfeited any such stamp, or knowingly and willfully utters, purchases, passes or tenders as true any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, or knowingly and willfully possess any cigarettes in packages bearing any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, and any person who knowingly and willfully makes, causes to be made, purchases or receives any device for forging or counterfeiting any stamp, prescribed by the commissioner of finance under the provisions of chapter thirteen of this title, or who knowingly and willfully possesses any such device, shall be guilty of a class E felony. For the purposes of this subdivision, the words "stamp prescribed by the commissioner of finance" shall include a stamp, impression or imprint made by a metering machine, the design of which has been approved by the commissioner of finance and the state tax commission.

(a) Any person required under chapter twenty-five of this title to make any return or report, who willfully fails to make such return or report at the time or times so required, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) The penalties provided for in this section shall not preclude prosecution pursuant to the penal law with respect to the willful failure of any person to pay over to the city any hotel room occupancy tax imposed by chapter twenty-five of this title, whenever such person has been required to collect and has collected any such tax. In any such prosecution under the penal law, a person who has been required to collect and has collected any such tax shall be deemed to have acted in a fiduciary character with respect to the city, and the tax collected shall be deemed to have been entrusted to such person by the city.

(c) Any person who willfully fails to file a registration certificate as required pursuant to the provisions of chapter twenty-five of this title and such data in connection therewith as the commissioner of finance by regulation or otherwise may require, or willfully fails to display or surrender a certificate of authority as required by chapter twenty-five of this title, or willfully assigns or transfers such certificate of authority, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, provided, however, that the provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to a failure to surrender a certificate of authority which is required to be surrendered where business never commenced.

(d) Any person who willfully fails to charge separately the tax imposed under chapter twenty-five or willfully fails to state such tax separately on any bill, statement, memorandum or receipt issued or employed by such person upon which the tax is required to be stated separately as provided in such chapter, or who shall refer or cause reference to be made to this tax in a form or manner other than required by such chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(a) Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision five of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to his special duties, shall discover any cigarettes subject to any tax provided by chapter thirteen of this title, and upon which the tax has not been paid or the stamps not affixed as required by such chapter, they are hereby authorized and empowered forthwith to seize and take possession of such cigarettes, together with any vending machine or receptacle in which they are held for sale. Such cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle seized by a police officer or such peace officer shall be turned over to the commissioner of finance.

(b) The seized cigarettes and any vending machine or receptacle seized therewith, but not the money contained in such vending machine or receptacle shall thereupon be forfeited to the city, unless the person from whom the seizure is made, or the owner of such seized cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle, or any other person having an interest in such property, shall within ten days of such seizure, apply to the commissioner of finance for a hearing to determine the propriety of the seizure, or unless the commissioner of finance shall on his own motion release the seized cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle. After such hearing the commissioner of finance shall give notice of his decision to the petitioner. The decision of the commissioner shall be reviewable for error, illegality, unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such decision. Such proceeding shall not be instituted unless there shall first be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in New York state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of New York state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed, or the seizure confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

(c) The commissioner of finance may, within a reasonable time after the forfeiture to the city of such cigarettes, vending machines or receptacles, upon publication of a notice to such effect for at least five successive days, in a newspaper published or circulated in the city, sell such forfeited cigarettes and vending machines or receptacles at public sale and pay the proceeds into the treasury of the city to the credit of the general fund. Cigarettes so seized and sold shall be sold only to an agent under chapter thirteen of this title and the notice of sale shall contain a provision to this effect. Such seized cigarettes, vending machines or receptacles may be sold prior to forfeiture if the owner of the seized property consents to the sale. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the commissioner of finance may enter into an agreement with the state tax commission to provide for the disposition between the city and state of the proceeds from any such sale.

(d) In the alternative, the commissioner of finance, on reasonable notice by mail or otherwise, may permit the person from whom said cigarettes were seized to redeem the said cigarettes, and any vending machine or receptacle seized therewith, or may permit the owner of any such cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle to redeem the same, by the payment of the tax due, plus a penalty of fifty percent thereof, plus interest on the amount of tax due for each month or fraction thereof after such tax became due (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing or paying) at the rate applicable under subdivision (d) of section 11-1317 of this title and the costs incurred in such proceeding, which total payment shall not be less than five dollars; provided, however, that such seizure and sale or redemption shall not be deemed to relieve any person from fine or imprisonment provided for in this chapter for violation of any provisions of this chapter or chapter thirteen of this title.

(e) In the alternative, if the commissioner of finance concludes that any cigarettes seized pursuant to this section, when offered at public sale, will bring a price less than the reasonably estimated price which the department of correction would have to pay for the purchase of such cigarettes for sale to or use by inmates in institutions under the jurisdiction of such department, the commissioner of finance may dispose of such cigarettes by transferring them to the department of correction for sale to or use by inmates in such institutions.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. In directing the attention of the Civil Service Commission to civil service employee's meretricious relationship with a female City employee, who had been found guilty of a serious offense, and in requiring them to act thereon, the Mayor did not usurp the Commission's functions nor deprive them of their freedom of action. The Mayor, as the chief executive officer of the City, was authorized by the Charter and by standards of proper official conduct to keep himself informed as to acts of subordinate officials and employees and to cause appropriate action to be taken when impropriety was brought to his attention. Consequently, having acted on their own independent judgment in framing and serving charges against the employee, the Commission was authorized to suspend him for not more than one month without pay, pending hearing and determination of the charges (Admin. Code § 884-1.0. subd. 30.-Guinier v. Kern, 29 N.Y.S. 2d 822 [1941].

¶ 2. Issues as to procedural irregularities in service of charges and the order of suspension upon employee by the Civil Service Commission might be raised only after an adverse decision, and reviewed by certiorari.-Id.

¶ 3. Administrative Code § 884-1.0 does not apply to a teacher in the employ of the Board of Education.-Wolf v. Board of Education, 184 Misc. 890, 57 N.Y.S. 2d 63 [1945].

¶ 4. Petitioner, city social worker, was given a medical leave of absence with pay in order to obtain psychiatric care. At end of leave her superiors extended the leave without pay. Four months later petitioner sought to vacate order made by Commissioner which extended her leave, contending that Commission had no authority in the absence of written charges alleging her incompetency. Held: Petitioner not guilty of laches as found by special term and she was reinstated from end of first leave.-Matter of Smith v. McNamara, 277 App. Div. 585, 101 N.Y.S. 2d 522 [1950].

¶ 5. The Court's sense of fairness was so shocked that it held that a dismissal of a physician who had a record of 23 years of good and faithful service was an abuse of discretion, and it annulled the dismissal and remitted the matter to the Commissioner for the imposition of disciplinary measures consistent with the provisions of subdivision 2 of this section. The record indicated that all the charges against the physician were trivial in nature.-Matter of Nimelman, 5 A.D. 2d 984, 173 N.Y.S. 2d 136 [1958].

¶ 6. Under subdivision 3 of this section and subdivision 3 of § 75 of the Civil Service Law, an employee may be suspended for not more than one month without pay pending the hearing and determination of charges against him, and if the employee so suspended be removed, he shall not be entitled to salary or compensation after suspension and in construing these provisions, the court found that a correction officer was not entitled to back salary where he was ordered discharged by the Commissioner of Correction on three charges; where one of the charges on judicial review was found to be unsupported; where the court then ordered a redetermination; and where a year later the Commissioner adhered to his original determination of discharge. The order of the App. Div. did not direct a reinstatement of the officer pending the redetermination by the Commissioner.-Matter of Phinn v. Kross, 26 Misc. 2d 889, 205 N.Y.S. 2d 692 [1900], aff'd 15 A.D. 2d 641, 223 N.Y.S. 2d 855 [1961].

¶ 7. The city could not require sewage workers to work overtime in excess of 8 hours per day with compensatory time off rather than overtime pay.-DelGaudio v. Zurmuhlen, 29 Misc. 2d 84, 213 N.Y.S. 2d 157 [1961].

¶ 8. The one-month suspension period authorized by § 75 (3) of the Civil Service Law and § 884-1.0 of the Administrative Code does not apply to school teachers or employees of the City Board of Education, since they are governed by the provisions of § 2566 of the Education Law.-Matter of Nash v. Board of Education of the City of New York, 26 Misc. 2d 46, 198 N.Y.S. 2d 180 [1960].

¶ 9. Employees who were in permanent competitive civil service and who were charged with misconduct in that they participated in an unauthorized meeting of employees which was held during regular working hours in a welfare center of the city were not subject to this section and thus had no standing to challenge its constitutionality but had standing to challenge its implementation by executive order. Coleman v. Ginsberg, 66 Misc. 2d 46, 319 N.Y.S. 2d 338 [1971].

a. The head of any agency, upon written application by any person who has been dismissed from service, setting forth the reasons for demanding an opportunity of making a further explanation, shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to rehear the explanation and any new matter offered in further reply to the charges or complaint upon which such person was dismissed from service. Such person shall be required to waive, in writing, all claims against the city for back pay. Such application for another opportunity to explain shall only be presented to and granted by the officer who made the removal or such officer's immediate successor, when the applicant for the further explanation shall make it appear, by affidavit:

1. That on a further opportunity to explain, he or she can produce such evidence as would probably have changed the decision if it had been presented theretofore; and

2. If such evidence has been discovered since the previous explanation, that it is not cumulative; and

3. That the failure to produce it at the first explanation was not owing to want of diligence.

b. If upon the further explanation, the head of such agency shall determine that such person has been illegally or unjustly dismissed, the head of such agency may, in his or her discretion, and with the approval in writing of the commissioner of citywide administrative services, cause such person to be reinstated.

c. The consent of the mayor shall be required when reinstatement of an applicant is made by the immediate Nothing in the record sustained his averment that his rights were prejudiced.-Purcell v. Moses, 134 (14) N.Y.L.J. (7-21-55) 2, Col. 8 M.

¶ 2. Although courts ordinarily are reluctant to interfere with conduct of municipal affairs, where it appeared that employee in Department of Public Works had been unjustly dismissed from service and on the facts was entitled to reinstatement but that such relief was denied him by Commissioner of the Department for wholly inadequate reasons, court granted an order directing the Commissioner to reinstate the employee.-Matter of Kelly (Morgan), 169 Misc. 242, 6 N.Y.S. 2d 852 [1938], aff'd 256 App. Div. 814, 9 N.Y.S. 2d 904 [1939].

¶ 3. Failure of removed chief supervisor of Department of Public Markets to comply with the statutory requirements governing a rehearing did not preclude Commissioner from granting the rehearing, since the Commissioner could waive the requirement that the application for rehearing be made "by affidavit".-Matter of Kelly.-Id.

¶ 4. Administrative Code § 884-2.0 (c), requiring consent of the Mayor for reinstatement of an applicant by the immediate successor of the removing official, did not apply in a case where the reinstatement was attempted to be made by the removing officer, following a rehearing of charges.-Id.

¶ 5. Four month statute of limitations for Article 78 proceeding seeking to annul decision which terminated petitioner's services as a caretaker for the N.Y.C. Housing Authority because of failure to meet medical requirements could not be extended by subsequent requests for reconsideration of the decision as there is no statutory authority for a rehearing in this situation. This statute applies only to those dismissed from services because of complaints against them.-Avilles v. Hoberman, 162 (63) N.Y.L.J. (9-29-69) 17, Col. 7 F.

CHAPTER 1 OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other statute, general, special or local, the mayor may authorize the head of any agency to require any officer or employee in such agency or any class or group of officers or employees in such agency to work in excess of the maximum number of hours of employment prescribed for such officer or employee or class or group of officers or employees by any statute, general, special or local, provided that each such officer or employee shall be paid overtime compensation for such work at not less than his or her regular basic pay rate. The amounts received as overtime compensation pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be regarded as salary or compensation for the purposes of any pension or retirement system of which the employee receiving such overtime compensation is a member. Such overtime compensation shall not be regarded as salary or compensation for the purpose of determining the right to any increase of salary or any salary increment on account of length of service or otherwise, nor shall the payment of such overtime compensation be construed to constitute a promotion.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Sewage treatment workers were required to work overtime in excess of eight hours a day and they were given equal time off in place of overtime pay at the risk of disciplinary action if such overtime work was refused. Held, such practice was unlawful and violated the provisions of § 220 of the Labor Law and § 888-4.0 of the Administrative Code. There was no claim of any emergency requiring such procedures.-DelGaudio v. Zurmuhlen, 29 Misc. 2d 84, 213 N.Y.S. 2d 157 [1961].

¶ 2. Firemen were not entitled to overtime in accordance with this section on the ground that the Board of Estimate had reduced the work week of firemen from 42 hours to 40 hours and that they had been compelled to work 40.32 hours per week as the application of § 487-11.0 of administrative code which is the only statute prescribing hours of employment of firemen results in a work week of approximately 4.032 hours and no overtime compensation is permissible under this section in the absence of any statute reducing the hours of work or an authorization by the Mayor requiring them to work in excess of the hours prescribed by statute. Ryan v. Lindsay, 158 (63) N.Y.L.J. (9-29-67) 17, Col. 5 M.

¶ 3. Plaintiff who brought action on behalf of her husband's estate was entitled to monetary value of accumulated and unused vacation and compensatory time where her husband was a clerk of the criminal court of the city who was separated from service by death. Koenig v. McCoy, 164 (43) N.Y.L.J. (8-31-70) 11, Col. 5 T.

¶ 4. Estate of deceased city employee was not entitled to a cash payment for back salary for accumulated sick leave and unused vacation days accrued by decedent where under the applicable rulings, determinations and agreements of the Comptroller the decedent had he retired while in the employ of the city would have been entitled to terminal leave of 111 days and $32^1/_2$ unused vacation days where there was no statute or duly authorized action or agreement by an appropriate official for its payment.-Biondi v. City of N.Y., 171 (71) N.Y.L.J. (4-12-74) 15, Col. 3 F.

¶ 5. Assistant district attorney could not recover a liquidated sum for overtime compensation absent proof that the mayor had authorized the district attorney to require overtime and that the district attorney had consented to the overtime service.-Menoudakos v. Title 12 Personnel and Labor

a. Definitions. As used in this section:

1. The term "business dealings with a state or local agency" shall mean any transaction with any state or local agency involving the sale, purchase, rental, disposition or exchange of any goods, services or property, any license, permit, grant or benefit, and any performance of or litigation with respect to any of the foregoing, but shall not include any transaction involving a public servant's residence or any ministerial matter.

2. The term "city employee" shall be defined as an employee of a city, county, borough or other office, position, administration, department, division, bureau, board, commission, authority, corporation or other agency of government, the expenses of which are paid in whole or in part from the city treasury and shall include but not be limited to employees of the New York city health and hospitals corporation, the New York city industrial development agency, the offices of the district attorneys of the counties of Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens and Richmond and of the special narcotics prosecutor, and the New York city housing development corporation.

3. The "conflicts of interest board" shall mean the conflicts of interest board appointed pursuant to section twenty-six hundred two of the New York city charter.

4. The term "domestic partners" shall mean persons who have a registered domestic partnership, which shall include any partnership registered pursuant to section 3-240 of the administrative code of the city of New York.

5. The term "independent body" shall mean any organization or group of voters which nominates a candidate or candidates for office to be voted for at an election, and which is not a political party as defined in paragraph seven of this subdivision.

6. The term "local political party official" shall mean:

(1) any chair of a county committee elected pursuant to section 2-112 of the election law, or his or her successor in office, who received compensation or expenses, or both, from constituted committee or political committee funds, or both, during the reporting period aggregating thirty thousand dollars or more;

(2) that person (usually designated by the rules of a county committee as the "county leader" or "chair of the executive committee") by whatever title designated, who pursuant to the rules of a county committee or in actual practice, possesses or performs any or all of the following duties or roles, provided that such person received compensation or expenses, or both, from constituted committee or political committee funds, or both, during the reporting period aggregating thirty thousand dollars or more:

(i) the principal political, executive and administrative officer of the county committee;

(ii) the power of general management over the affairs of the county committee;

(iii) the power to exercise the powers of the chair of the county committee as provided for in the rules of the county committee;

(iv) the power to preside at all meetings of the county executive committee if such a committee is created by the rules of the county committee or exists de facto, or any other committee or subcommittee of the county committee vested by such rules with or having de facto the power of general management over the affairs of the county committee at times when the county committee is not in actual session;

(v) the power to call a meeting of the county committee or of any committee or subcommittee vested with the rights, powers, duties or privileges of the county committee pursuant to the rules of the county committee, for the purpose of filling an office at a special election in accordance with section 6-114 of the election law, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in accordance with section 6-116 of such law or for the purpose of filling a vacancy or vacancies in the county committee which exist by reason of an increase in the number of election districts within the county occasioned by a change of the boundaries of one or more election districts, taking effect after the election of its members, or for the purpose of determining the districts that the elected members shall represent until the next election at which such members of such committee are elected; provided, however, that in no event shall such power encompass the power of a chair of an assembly district committee or other district committee smaller than a county and created by the rules of the county committee, to call a meeting of such district committee for such purpose;

(vi) the power to direct the treasurer of the party to expend funds of the county committee; or

(vii) the power to procure from one or more bank accounts of the county committee the necessary funds to defray the expenses of the county committee.

The terms "constituted committee" and "political committee" as used in this subparagraph shall have the same meanings as those contained in section 14-100 of the election law.

7. The term "political party" shall mean any political organization which at the last preceding election for governor polled at least fifty thousand votes for its candidate for governor.

8. The term "political organization" shall mean any political party as defined in paragraph seven of this subdivision, or independent body, as defined in paragraph five of this subdivision, or any organization that is affiliated with or a subsidiary of a party or independent body.

9. The term "relative" shall mean the spouse, domestic partner, parent, grandparent, child, stepchild, or stepparent of the person reporting, or any person who is the direct descendant of the grandparents of the person reporting or of the spouse or domestic partner of the person reporting.

10. The terms "state agency" and "local agency" shall be given the same meanings as such terms are given in section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law.

b. Persons required to file a financial disclosure report. The following persons shall file with the conflicts of interest board a report, in such form as the board shall determine, disclosing certain financial interests as hereinafter provided. Reports filed prior to January first, two thousand six may be filed electronically, in such form as the board may determine, and thereafter shall, except as otherwise provided by the board in consultation with the filer's agency, be filed electronically, in such form as the board may determine:

1. Elected and political party officials.

(a) Each elected officer described in sections four, twenty-four, twenty-five, eighty-one, ninety-one and eleven hundred twenty-five of the New York city charter, and each local political party official described in paragraph six of subdivision a of this section, shall file such report not later than May first of each year.

(b) A local political party official required to file a report pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph who is also subject to the financial disclosure filing requirements of subdivision two of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law may satisfy the requirements of paragraph one by filing with the conflicts of interest board a copy of the statement filed pursuant to section seventy-three-a of the public officers law, on or before the filing deadline provided in such section seventy-three-a, notwithstanding the filing deadline otherwise imposed by paragraph one of this subdivision.

2. Candidates for public office.

(a) Each person, other than any person described in paragraph one, who has declared his or her intention to seek nomination or election and who has filed papers or petitions for nomination or election, or on whose behalf a declaration or nominating paper or petition has been made or filed which has not been declined, for an office described in paragraph one of subdivision b of this section shall file such report on or before the last day for filing his designating petitions pursuant to the election law.

(b) Each person, other than any person described in paragraph one, who was a write-in candidate at the primary election for an office described in paragraph one of subdivision b of this section and whose name is thereafter entered in the nomination book at the board of elections, shall file such report within twenty days after such primary election.

(c) Each person, other than any person described in paragraph one, who has been designated to fill a vacancy in a designation or nomination for an office described in paragraph one of subdivision b of this section shall file such report within fifteen days after a certificate designating such person to fill such vacancy is filed with the board of elections, or within five days before the election for which the certificate is filed, whichever is earlier.

(d) The conflicts of interest board shall obtain from the board of elections lists of all candidates for the elected positions set forth below, and from such lists, shall determine and publish lists of those candidates who have not, within ten days after the required date for filing such reports, filed the reports required by this section.

3. (a) The following categories of persons who had such status during the preceding calendar year or up until the date of filing their financial disclosure report shall be required to file a report not later than May first of each year:

(1) Each agency head, deputy agency head, assistant agency head, member of any board or commission, other than a member of a board or a commission who serves without compensation, provided, however, that a member of the

New York city housing development corporation shall be deemed to be a compensated member of such corporation for purposes of this section;

(2) Each employee of the mayor's office, the city council, a district attorney's office, the office of the special narcotics prosecutor, or any other agency that does not employ M-level mayor's management plan indicators for its managers, whose responsibilities on April thirtieth of each year involve the independent exercise of managerial or policymaking functions, as annually determined by the appointing authority of his or her agency, subject to review by the conflicts of interest board;

(3) Each city employee, other than an employee of the mayor's office, the city council, a district attorney's office or the special narcotics prosecutor's office, who, on April thirtieth of each year, is paid in accordance with the mayor's management pay plan at level M4 or higher, or who holds a policymaking position on such date, as defined by rule of the conflicts of interest board and as annually determined by the head of his or her agency, subject to review by the conflicts of interest board;

(4) Each employee whose duties at any time during the preceding calendar year involved the negotiation, authorization or approval of contracts, leases, franchises, revocable consents, concessions and applications for zoning changes, variances and special permits, as defined by rule of the conflicts of interest board and as annually determined by his or her agency head or employer, subject to review by the conflicts of interest board.

(5) Each assessor required to file a report solely by reason of section three hundred thirty-six of the real property tax law, provided, however, that the report filed by any such assessor shall be the report prescribed by such section of the real property tax law;

(6) Any other person required by New York law to file a financial disclosure report with the conflicts of interest board.

(b) Separation from service.

(1) Each person described in this paragraph shall, following separation from service, file such report for the portion of the last calendar year in which he or she served in his or her position within sixty days of his or her separation from service or on the May first next succeeding, whichever is earlier, if such person met the criteria of this subparagraph on his or her last day of service. Each such person who leaves service prior to May first shall also file a report for the previous calendar year within sixty days of his or her separation from service or on the May first next succeeding, whichever is earlier.

(2) Each person who is terminating or separating from service shall not receive his or her final paycheck, and/or any lump sum payment to which he or she may be entitled, until such person has complied with the requirements of this section.

(3) Each elected officer and each local political party official described in paragraph six of subdivision a of this section shall, after leaving office, file such report for the previous calendar year, if such officer or local political party official has not previously filed such report, and shall file such report for the portion of the last calendar year in which he or she served in office, within sixty days of his or her last day in office or on the May first next succeeding, whichever is earlier.

c. Procedures involving the filing of financial disclosure reports.

1. Each agency shall file with the conflicts of interest board, prior to the date required for the filing of reports, a list of persons obligated to report pursuant to this section.

2. Each agency head shall determine, subject to review by the conflicts of interest board, which persons within the agency occupy positions that are described in clauses three and four of subparagraph (a) of paragraph three of subdivision b of this section, and shall, prior to the date on which the filing of the report is required, inform such employees of their obligation to report. The conflicts of interest board shall promulgate rules establishing procedures whereby any employee may seek review of the agency's determination that he or she is required to report.

3. The speaker of the council, each district attorney and the special narcotics prosecutor shall determine, subject to review by the conflicts of interest board, which persons on their staff occupy positions that are described in clause two of subparagraph (a) of paragraph three of subdivision b of this section, and shall, prior to the date required for the filing of the reports, inform such employees of their obligation to report.

4. The conflicts of interest board shall promulgate rules establishing procedures whereby a person required to file an annual financial disclosure report may request an additional period of time within which to file such report, due to justifiable cause or undue hardship. Such rules shall include, but not be limited to, the establishment of a date beyond which in all cases of justifiable cause or undue hardship no further extension of time will be granted.

5. Any amendments and changes to a financial disclosure report made after its filing shall be made on a separate form to be provided by the conflicts of interest board and attached to the report. Said form shall contain the corresponding page and item numbers of the report, the amendment, the signature of the person making such amendment and the initials of the chair of the board or his or her designee. Amendments shall be made only by the person who originally filed such report.

d. Information to be reported. The report shall contain the following information:

1. List the name of the person reporting; his or her title or position; the entity by which he or she is employed; his or her office address and telephone number; list the marital status of the person reporting, and if married, list the spouse's full name including maiden name where applicable; indicate whether the person is a member of a domestic partnership, and if so, list the partner's full name; list the names of all unemancipated children. For purposes of this section, the term "unemancipated child" shall mean any son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter who is under age eighteen, unmarried and living in the household of the person reporting, and shall also include any son or daughter of the spouse or domestic partner of such person who is under age eighteen, unmarried and living in the household of the person.

2. List any office, trusteeship, directorship, partnership, or position of any nature including honorary positions, whether compensated or not, held by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner or unemancipated child with any firm, corporation, association, partnership, or other organization other than the state of New York. Do not list membership positions. If the listed entity was licensed or regulated by any state or local agency, or engaged in business dealings with, or had matters other than ministerial matters before, any state or local agency, list the name of such agency.

3. (a) List the name, address and description of any occupation, trade, business, profession or employment, other than the employment listed pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision, engaged in by the person reporting. If such employer or business was licensed or regulated by any state or local agency, or engaged in business dealings with, or had matters other than ministerial before, and state or local agency, list the name of any such agency.

(b) If the spouse, domestic partner or unemancipated child of the person reporting was engaged in any occupation, employment, trade, business or profession which activity was licensed or regulated by any state or local agency, or engaged in business dealings with, or had matters other than ministerial matters before, any state or local agency, list the name, address and description of such occupation, employment, trade, business or profession and the name of any such agency.

4. List any positions the person reporting held as an officer of any political party or political organization, as a member of any political party committee, or as a political party district leader.

5. If the person reporting practices law, is licensed by the department of state as a real estate broker or agent or practices a profession licensed by the state department of education, give a general description of the principal subject areas of matters undertaken by such person. If the person reporting practices with a firm or corporation of which he or she is a partner or shareholder, give a general description of principal subject areas of matters undertaken by such firm or corporation. Do not list the name of the individual clients, customers or patients.

6. (a) Describe the terms of, and the parties to, any agreement providing for continuation of payments or benefits to the person reporting of one thousand dollars or more from a prior employer other than the city of New York. Such description of an agreement shall include interests in or contributions to a pension fund, profit-sharing plan, life or health insurance, buy-out agreements or severance payments, etc.

(b) Describe the terms of, and the parties to, any contract, promise or agreement between the person reporting and any person, firm or corporation with respect to the employment of such reporting person after leaving his or her office or position, other than a leave of absence.

7. List the nature and amount of any income of one thousand dollars or more from each source derived during the preceding calendar year, to the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner. For purposes of this paragraph, "income" shall include, but not be limited to, salary for government employment, income from other compensated employment whether public or private, directorships and other fiduciary or advisory positions, contractual arrangements, teaching income, partnership income, lecture fees, consultant fees, bank and bond interest, dividends, income derived from a trust, real estate rents, and recognized gains from the sale or exchange of real or other property. Income from a business or profession and real estate rents shall be reported with the source identified by the building address in the case of real estate rents and otherwise by the name of the entity and not by the name of the individual customers, clients or tenants, with the aggregate net income before taxes for each building address or entity. The receipt of maintenance received in connection with a matrimonial action, alimony and child support payments shall not be listed.

8. List the source of each of the following items received or accrued during the preceding calendar year by the person reporting:

(a) Any deferred income to be paid following the close of the calendar year for which this disclosure statement is filed, other than any source of income otherwise disclosed pursuant to subparagraph (a) of paragraph nine of this subdivision, of one thousand dollars or more from each source. Deferred income derived from the practice of a profession shall be listed in the aggregate and shall be identified as to the source, including the name of the firm, corporation, partnership or association through which the income was derived, but shall not include individual clients' identities.

(b) Reimbursement to the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner, for expenditures, excluding campaign expenditures and expenditures in connection with official duties reimbursed by the city, of one thousand dollars or more in each instance. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "reimbursements" shall mean any travel-related expenses provided by non-governmental sources, whether directly or as repayment, for activities related to the reporting person's official duties, such as speaking engagements, conferences, or fact-finding events, but shall not include gifts reported pursuant to subparagraph (d) of this paragraph.

(c) Honoraria received by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner from a single source in the aggregate amount of one thousand dollars or more.

(d) Any gift, its value and nature, in the aggregate amount or value of one thousand dollars or more from any single source received by the person reporting, his or her spouse or domestic partner or unemancipated child, during the preceding calendar year, excluding gifts from a relative, except as otherwise provided under the election law covering campaign contributions. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "gift" shall not include reimbursements, as defined in subparagraph (b) of this paragraph.

9. (a) List the identity and value, if reasonably ascertainable, of each interest in a trust, estate or beneficial interest held by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner, including but not limited to (1) retirement plans (other than retirement plans of the state of New York or city of New York) and (2) deferred compensation plans established in accordance with the internal revenue code, where the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner held a beneficial interest of one thousand dollars or more during the preceding calendar year. Do not report interests in an estate of a relative or interests in a trust or other beneficial interest established by or for a relative or by or for the estate of a relative.

(b) List each assignment of income of one thousand dollars or more, and each transfer other than to a relative during the preceding calendar year for less than fair consideration of an interest of one thousand dollars or more, in a trust, estate, or other beneficial interest, securities or real property, by the person reporting, which would otherwise be required to be reported herein and is not or has not been reported.

10. List any interest of one thousand dollars or more, excluding bonds and notes, held by the person reporting, his or her spouse or domestic partner or the reporting person's unemancipated child, or partnership of which any such person is a member, or corporation, ten per centum or more of the stock of which is owned or controlled by any such person, whether vested or contingent, in any contract made or executed by a state or local agency. Include the name of the entity which holds such interest and the relationship of the person reporting, or his or her spouse or domestic partner or unemancipated child, to such entity and the interest in such contract. Do not list any interest in any such contract on which final payment has been made and all obligations under the contract, except for guarantees and warranties, have been performed, provided, however, that such an interest shall be listed if there has been an ongoing dispute during the calendar year for which this statement is filed with respect to any such guarantees or warranties. Do not list any interest in a contract made or executed by a state agency after public notice and pursuant to a process for competitive bidding or a process for competitive requests for proposals.

11. List the name, principal address and general description or the nature of the business activity of any entity in which the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner had an investment of one thousand dollars or more, excluding investments in securities and interests in real property.

12. List the type and market value of securities held by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner from each issuing entity, valued at one thousand dollars or more at the close of the preceding calendar year, including the name of the issuing entity, exclusive of securities held by the person reporting issued by a professional corporation. Whenever an interest in securities exists through a beneficial interest in a trust, the securities held in such trust shall be listed only if the person reporting has knowledge thereof, except where the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner has transferred assets to such trust for his or her benefit; in that event the securities shall be listed unless they are not ascertainable by the person reporting because the trustee is under an obligation or has been instructed in writing not to disclose the contents of the trust to the person reporting. Securities of which the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner is the owner of record but in which he or she has no beneficial interest shall not be listed. Where the person or his or her spouse or domestic partner holds more than five per centum of the stock of a publicly held corporation or more than ten per centum of a privately held corporation, percentage of ownership shall be listed. List any securities owned for investment purposes by a corporation more than fifty per centum of the stock of which is owned or controlled by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner. For pusposes of this paragraph the term "securities" shall mean bonds, mortgages, notes, obligations, warrants and stocks of any class, investment interests in limited or general partnerships and certificates of deposits and such other evidences of indebtedness and certificates of interest as are usually referred to as securities. The market value for such securities shall be reported only if reasonably ascertainable and shall not be reported if the security is an interest in a general partnership that was listed in paragraph five of this subdivision or if the security is corporate stock, not publicly traded, in a trade or business of the reporting person or his or her spouse or domestic partner.

13. List the location, size, general nature, acquisition date, market value and percentage of ownership of any real property in which any vested or contingent interest of one thousand dollars or more was held by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner during the preceding calendar year. List real property owned for investment purposes by a corporation more than fifty per centum of the stock of which is owned or controlled by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner. Do not list any real property which is the primary or secondary personal residence of the reporting person or his or her spouse or domestic partner, except where there is a co-owner who is other than a relative.

14. List the identity of each note or account receivable or other outstanding loan in the amount of one thousand dollars or more held by the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner during the preceding calendar year, including debts secured by a mortgage, and other secured and unsecured debts. List the name of the debtor, type of obligation, date due and the nature of the collateral, if any, securing payment for each such debt. Debts, notes and accounts receivable owed to the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner by a relative shall not be reported.

15. List each creditor to whom the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner was indebted, for a period of ninety consecutive days or more during the preceding calendar year, and each such creditor to whom any debt was owed on the date of filing, in an amount of five thousand dollars or more. Debts to be listed include real estate mortgages and other secured and unsecured loans. If any reportable liability has been guaranteed by any third person, list the name of such guarantor. Do not list liabilities incurred by, or guarantees made by, the person reporting or his or her spouse or domestic partner or by any proprietorship, partnership or corporation in which such person has an interest, when incurred or made in the ordinary course of trade, business or professional practice of such person. Include the name of the creditor and any collateral pledged by such individual to secure payment of any such liability. Do not list any liability to a relative or any obligation to pay maintenance in connection with a matrimonial action, alimony or child support payments. Revolving charge account information shall only be set forth if the liability thereon is in excess of five thousand dollars for a period of ninety consecutive days or more during the preceding calendar year, or if the liability thereon is in excess of five thousand dollars as of the time of filing. Any loan issued in the ordinary course of business by a financial institution to finance educational costs, the cost of home purchase or improvements for a primary or secondary residence, or purchase of a personally owned motor vehicle, household furniture or appliances shall be excluded.

16. Whenever a "value" or "amount" is required to be reported pursuant to this section, such value or amount shall be reported as being within one of the following categories: (a) at least one thousand dollars but less than five thousand dollars; (b) at least five thousand dollars but less than thirty-two thousand dollars, or such other amount as the conflicts of interest board shall set pursuant to subdivision sixteen of section twenty-six hundred one and subdivision a of section twenty-six hundred three of the charter; (c) at least thirty-two thousand dollars, or such other amount as the conflicts of interest board shall set pursuant to subdivision sixteen of section twenty-six hunddred one and subdivision a of section twenty-six hundred three of the charter, but less than sixty thousand dollars; (d) at least sixty thousand dollars but less than one hundred thousand dollars; (e) at least one hundred thousand dollars but less than two hundred fifty thousand dollars; (f) at least two hundred fifty thousand dollars but less than five hundred thousand dollars; and (g) five hundred thousand dollars or more.

e. Public inspection of reports and privacy considerations. Information filed in reports required by this section shall be maintained by the conflicts of interest board and shall be made available for public inspection, upon written request on such form as the board shall prescribe, subject to the following provisions:

1. Privacy, safety and security requests.

(a) Any person required to file a report pursuant to this section may, at the time the report is filed or at any time thereafter, except when a request for inspection is pending, submit a request to the conflicts of interest board, in such form as the board shall require, to withhold any item disclosed therein from public inspection on the ground that the inspection of such item by the public would constitute an unwarranted invasion of his or her privacy or a risk to the safety or security of any person. Such request shall be in writing and shall be in such form as the conflicts of interest board shall prescribe and shall set forth the reason such person believes the item should not be disclosed.

(b) The conflicts of interest board shall evaluate such request and any such item shall be withheld from public inspection upon a finding by the board that the inspection of such item by the public would constitute an unwarranted invasion of privacy or a risk to the safety or security of any person. In making this determination, the board shall consider the following factors:

(1) whether the item is of a highly personal nature;

(2) whether the item in any way relates to the duties of the positions held by such person, including whether there are security or safety issues relating to such duties;

(3) whether the disclosure poses a risk to the security or safety of the reporting person or any other individual;

(4) whether the item involves an actual or potential conflict of interest.

(c) The conflicts of interest board shall provide a written notification of the board's determination to the person who requested that information be withheld from public inspection and shall not release the information subject to the request until at least ten days after mailing of the notification. Such notification shall advise the person of his or her right to seek review of such determination by the supreme court of the state of New York and that the conflicts of interest board will not release the information subject to the request until ten days after the mailing of the notification.

(d) Any information regarding any financial interests of the spouse, domestic partner or an unemancipated child of a person filing in which the person filing has no financial interest shall be withheld from public inspection as an unwarranted invasion of privacy unless the conflicts of interest board determines that such information involves an actual or potential conflict of interest on the part of the person filing, subject to the factors set forth in subparagraph (b) of paragraph one of this subdivision.

(e) Whether or not a person required to file a report pursuant to this section has submitted a request for privacy, the conflicts of interest board may upon its own initiative grant privacy as to any information contained in such person's report upon a finding by the board that the release of such information would constitute a risk to the safety or security of any person.

(f) Where a person required to file a report pursuant to this section files an amendment to a previously submitted report, both the original submission and the amendment shall be available for public inspection, subject to the provisions of this subdivision.

(g) The conflicts of interest board shall establish procedures governing the withholding of information on the ground of privacy. Such procedures shall include provision for the person who filed the information to appear in person to set forth, or submit a written statement setting forth, the reasons why the information should be withheld from public inspection.

2. Requests to examine reports. Whenever pursuant to this section the conflicts of interest board produces a report for public inspection, the board shall notify the person who filed the report of the production and of the identity of the person to whom such report was produced, except that no such notification shall be required if the request to examine the report is made by the department of investigation or any governmental unit, or component thereof, which performs as one of its principal functions any activity pertaining to the enforcement of criminal laws, provided that such report is requested solely for a law enforcement function. Nothing in this section shall preclude the conflicts of interest board from disclosing any and all information in a financial disclosure report to the department of investigation or any other governmental unit, or component thereof, which performs as one of its principal functions any activity pertaining to the enforcement of criminal laws, provided that such report is requested solely for a law enforcement function.

f. Retention of reports. Reports filed pursuant to this section shall be retained by the conflicts of interest board for a period of two years following the termination of the public employment of the person who filed the report. In the case of candidates for office who have filed reports pursuant to this section and who were not elected, the reports shall be retained by the board for a period of two years following the day of an election on which the candidates were defeated. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the board, in consultation with the department of records and information services and the department of investigation, may establish by rule a different period or periods of retention of financial disclosure reports which takes into account the need for efficient records management and the need to retain such reports for a reasonable period for investigatory and other purposes. Such reports shall thereafter be destroyed by the board unless a request for public disclosure of an item contained in such report is pending. In lieu of the destruction of such reports, the board, in its discretion, may establish procedures providing for their return to the persons who filed them.

g. Penalties.

1. Any person required to file a report pursuant to this section who has not so filed at the end of one week after the date required for filing shall be subject to a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars or more than ten thousand dollars. Factors to be considered by the conflicts of interest board in determining the amount of the fine shall include but not be limited to the person's failure in prior years to file a report in a timely manner, and the length of the delay in filing. In addition, two weeks after the date required for filing, the conflicts of interest board shall inform the appropriate agency and the commissioner of investigation of the failure to file of any such person.

2. Any intentional violation of the provisions of this section, including but not limited to failure to file, failure to include assets or liabilities, and misstatement of assets or liabilities, shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year or by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars, or by both, and shall constitute grounds for imposition of disciplinary penalties, including removal from office in the manner provided by law. In addition, any intentional violation of the provisions of this section may subject the person reporting to assessment by the conflicts of interest board of a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars.

3. Any intentional and willful disclosure of confidential information that is contained in a report filed in accordance with this section, by a city officer or employee or by any other person who has obtained access to such a report or confidential information contained therein, shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year or a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars, or by both, and shall constitute grounds for imposition of disciplinary penalties, including removal from office in the manner provided by law.

4. The conflicts of interest board shall establish procedures governing the receipt of complaints alleging a violation of this section.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. This section which requires city employees and their spouses whose base pay is more than $25,000 a year to disclose personal financial information is not unconstitutional as an invasion of privacy and classification of employees earning more than $25,000 a year as managerial or policymaking in nature is not an arbitrary one.-Hunter v. CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Failure of City Board of Education to award simultaneously all contracts for construction of school building for which it had advertised for bids, or to advise plaintiffs, who were the successful bidders for the electrical contract, of inability to grant the same until additional funds were available, would not support a claim of fraud and deceit, as no contract can be let in the absence of a specific appropriation sufficient to pay the estimated expense, and furthermore the instructions to bidders gave notice to the plaintiffs that defendant reserved the right to reject any and all bids. Also, the delay in construction was occasioned by the general contractor's inability to obtain a delivery of the necessary steel as scheduled, and not by defendant's failure to award the plumbing and heating contract simultaneously with the contract to the plaintiffs and the general contractor.-Bank v. Board of Education, 280 App. Div. 58, 111 N.Y.S. 2d 130 [1952].

CHAPTER 1 OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

a. Definitions. For purposes of this section:

1. "Adverse personnel action" shall include dismissal, demotion, suspension, disciplinary action, negative performance evaluation, any action resulting in loss of staff, office space or equipment or other benefit, failure to appoint, failure to promote, or any transfer or assignment or failure to transfer or assign against the wishes of the affected officer or employee.

2. "Remedial action" means an appropriate action to restore the officer or employee to his or her former status, which may include one or more of the following:

(a) reinstatement of the officer or employee to a position the same as or comparable to the position the officer or employee held or would have held if not for the adverse personnel action, or, as appropriate, to an equivalent position;

(b) reinstatement of full seniority rights;

(c) payment of lost compensation; and

(d) other measures necessary to address the effects of the adverse personnel action.

3. "Commissioner" shall mean the commissioner of investigation.

4. "Child" shall mean any person under the age of nineteen, or any person ages nineteen through twenty-one if such person receives instruction pursuant to an individualized education plan.

5. "Educational welfare" shall mean any aspect of a child's education or educational environment that significantly impacts upon such child's ability to receive appropriate instruction, as mandated by any relevant law, rule, regulation or sound educational practice.

6. "Superior officer" shall mean an agency head, deputy agency head or other person designated by the head of the agency to receive a report pursuant to this section, who is employed in the agency in which the conduct described in such report occurred.

b. 1. No officer or employee of an agency of the city shall take an adverse personnel action with respect to another officer or employee in retaliation for his or her making a report of information concerning conduct which he or she knows or reasonably believes to involve corruption, criminal activity, conflict of interest, gross mismanagement or abuse of authority by another city officer or employee, which concerns his or her office or employment, or by persons dealing with the city, which concerns their dealings with the city, (i) to the commissioner, or (ii) to a council member, the public advocate or the comptroller, who shall refer such report to the commissioner. For purposes of this subdivision, an agency of the city shall be deemed to include, but not be limited to, an agency the head or members of which are appointed by one or more city officers, and the offices of elected city officers.

2. Upon request, the commissioner, council member, public advocate or comptroller receiving the report of alleged adverse personnel action shall make reasonable efforts to protect the anonymity and confidentiality of the officer or employee making such report.

3. No officer or employee of an agency of the city shall take an adverse personnel action with respect to another officer or employee in retaliation for his or her making a report of information concerning conduct which he or she knows or reasonably believes to present a substantial and specific risk of harm to the health, safety or educational welfare of a child by another city officer or employee, which concerns his or her office or employment, or by persons dealing with the city, which concerns their dealings with the city, (i) to the commissioner, (ii) to a council member, the public advocate, the comptroller or the mayor, or (iii) to any superior officer.

c. An officer or employee (i) of an agency of the city, or (ii) of a public agency or public entity subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner pursuant to chapter thirty-four of the charter who believes that another officer or employee has taken an adverse personnel action in violation of subdivision b of this section may report such action to the commissioner.

d. 1. Upon receipt of a report made pursuant to subdivision c of this section, the commissioner shall conduct an inquiry to determine whether retaliatory adverse personnel action has been taken.

2. Within fifteen days after receipt of an allegation of a prohibited adverse personnel action, the commissioner shall provide written notice to the officer or employee making the allegation that the allegation has been received by the commissioner. Such notice shall include the name of the person in the department of investigation who shall serve as a contact with the officer or employee making the allegation.

3. Upon the completion of an investigation initiated under this section, the commissioner shall provide a written statement of the final determination to the officer or employee who complained of the retaliatory adverse personnel action. The statement shall include the commissioner's recommendations, if any, for remedial action, or shall state the commissioner has determined to dismiss the complaint and terminate the investigation.

e. Upon a determination that a retaliatory adverse personnel action has been taken, the commissioner shall without undue delay report his or her findings and, if appropriate, recommendations to the head of the appropriate agency or entity, who (i) shall determine whether to take remedial action and (ii) shall report such determination to the commissioner in writing. Upon a determination that the agency or entity head has failed to take appropriate remedial action, the commissioner shall consult with the agency or entity head and afford the agency or entity head reasonable opportunity to take such action. If such action is not taken, the commissioner shall report his or her findings and the response of the agency or entity head (i) if the complainant was employed by an agency the head or members of which are appointed by the mayor, to the mayor, (ii) if the complainant was employed by a non-mayoral agency of the city, to the city officer or officers who appointed the agency head, or (iii) if the complainant was employed by a public agency or other public entity not covered by the preceding categories but subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner pursuant to chapter thirty-four of the charter, to the officer or officers who appointed the head of the public agency or public entity, who shall take such action as is deemed appropriate.

f. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the rights of any officer or employee with regard to any administrative procedure or judicial review, nor shall anything in this section be construed to diminish or impair the rights of a public employee or employer under any law, rule, regulation or collective bargaining agreement or to prohibit any personnel action which otherwise would have been taken regardless of any report of information made pursuant to this section.

g. Violation of this section may constitute cause for administrative penalties.

h. The commissioner shall conduct ongoing public education efforts as necessary to inform employees and officers of covered agencies of their rights and responsibilities under this section.

i. Not later than October thirty-first of each year, the commissioner shall prepare and forward to the mayor and the council a report on the complaints governed by this section during the preceding fiscal year. The report shall include, but not be limited to, the number of complaints received pursuant to this section, and the disposition of such complaints.

CHAPTER 1 OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

a. Every officer of the city government shall be paid a fixed salary and all fees, percentages or commissions or other money paid to such officer in his or her official capacity, shall be the property of the city. All sums so received, including sums received for licenses or permits, shall be paid over not later than the next succeeding business day after receipt thereof, except as otherwise provided by law, to the commissioner of finance without deduction.

b. Each such officer who shall receive any fees, perquisites, commissions or percentages, or money paid to such officer in his or her official capacity, or any other money which should be paid over to the city, shall make a detailed return to the comptroller, under oath, and in such form as the comptroller shall prescribe, showing the amount of all such fees, commissions, percentages, perquisites and money received by him or her since the last preceding statement and return, and showing when, from whom and for what reason such money was received.

c. The comptroller may require any such officer to make such statement and return to him or her, if it has not been made as herein provided, and he or she shall order the commissioner of finance to withhold the salary of such officers until such return is produced, and upon the production of said return the comptroller shall immediately issue a release to the commissioner of finance for the salary so withheld.

d. This section shall not apply to city marshals.

a. Except as otherwise provided in section 12-121, any person who enters city service on or after September first nineteen hundred eighty-six (i) shall be a resident of the city on the date that he or she enters city service or shall establish city residence within ninety days after such date and (ii) shall thereafter maintain city residence as a condition of employment. Failure to establish or maintain city residence as required by this section shall constitute a forfeiture of employment; provided, however, that prior to dismissal for failure to establish or maintain city residence an employee shall be given notice of and the opportunity to contest the charge that his or her residence is outside the city.

b. Notwithstanding subdivision a of this section, employees who have completed two years of city employment and are either (i) in titles certified to a collective bargaining representative that has entered into an agreement with the city dated September 29, 2006 to modify the residency requirements contained herein or (ii) represented by or affiliated with said representative and hold titles covered by Section 220 of the New York State Labor Law which subsequently enter into collective bargaining agreements or consent determinations to modify the residency requirements, shall be deemed to be in compliance with the residency requirements of this section if they are residents of Nassau, Westchester, Suffolk, Orange, Rockland or Putnam county.

§ 3. The amendments to the administrative code enacted by this local law shall not be construed to affect administrative or judicial actions taken to enforce the residency requirements in effect prior to the effective date of this local law, or to supersede, alter or affect any provision of the public officers law requiring that a person appointed to a position in city service be a resident. In addition, such amendments shall not be construed to require the termination of any certification issued by the commissioner of citywide administrative services pursuant to subdivision a of § 12-121 of such code, as such subdivision was in effect prior to the effective date of this local law, or to require the recertification of any positions so certified prior to such effective date.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. In view of rules of Temporary Emergency Relief Administration, under which the New York City Emergency Relief Bureau functioned, that residence should not be a condition of employment, employees who had been selected for discharge because of nonresidence in City held entitled to injunction to restrain dismissal.-Cromer et al., etc., v. City of N.Y. et al., 97 (47) N.Y.L.J. (2-27-37) 1005, Col. 3 M.

¶ 2. Where, in answer to complaint of New York City teacher who sought an injunction pendente lite and a declaratory judgment that Local Law No. 40 of 1937 (the Residence Law) was inapplicable to City teachers, Corporation Counsel as legal representative of both the City and the City Board of Education, filed an affidavit stating agreement of defendants with plaintiff on the inapplicability of the law, both the injunction and the declaratory judgment were denied. Denial of injunction was on ground that there was no threat of injury to plaintiff. Declaratory judgment was denied, notwithstanding importance of public question involved and possibility that subsequent City officers might take a different position, on ground that no issue having yet arisen and a motion for judgment on the pleadings still being impossible as time to answer had not yet expired, action was merely one for an advisory opinion.-Eriksen v. City of N.Y., 167 Misc. 42, 2 N.Y.S. 2d 280 [1937].

¶ 3. Local Law No. 40 of 1937, requiring New York City employees to reside within the City, would seem not to apply to members of the teaching and supervisory staff of the City Board of Education, in view of the state policy to separate public education from all other municipal functions, provisions of Education Law § 872 fixing the statutory policy of the state with reference to protection of members of teaching and supervising staff in their tenure rights, and restrictions in Home Rule Law § 21 preventing a city from adopting a local law superseding a statute affecting the educational system in the city.-Id.

¶ 4. Local Law No. 40 of 1937, requiring New York City employees to reside within the City, held not applicable to members of the teaching and supervising staff of the Board of Education, since in delegation of function of education, the state Legislature delegated the local power not to the corporation of the City of New York, but to the Board of Education, and while the City is custodian of the funds for educational purposes, the Board of Education has the power to administer such funds and to control members of the teaching and supervising staff without interference by the City authorities.-Id.

¶ 5. Orders of Municipal Civil Service Commission denying certification and appointment of petitioners as patrolman and fireman, respectively, because of the residence requirements of Administrative § B40-4.0, were affirmed without opinion.-Mullins v. Kern, 255 App. Div. 969, 8 N.Y.S. 2d 466 [1938], aff'd 280 N.Y. 543, 20 N.E. 2d 10 [1939].

¶ 6. Section held invalid as in conflict with Public Officers Law §§ 3 and 30 which prohibit more restrictive residency requirements.-Uniformed Firefighters Asso. v. The City of N.Y., 50 N.Y. 2d 85 [1980].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. In one case, the City began to suspect that petitioner, a permanent civil service employee who had been employed by the City for nine years, was living in Nassau County, in contravention to the City residency requirement. He was asked to appear at a meeting, and to bring with him documents, including federal and state tax returns, in support of his claim that he resided in the City. At the meeting, the only documentation he presented was a driver's license reflecting a New York City address that was no longer current. He was given an opportunity to attend a second meeting, at which he was to present further proof. At the second meeting, he presented a voter registration card and vehicle registration card reflecting what he claimed was his address in Queens; those documents were first created between the first and second meetings, after he was already aware that his residency was being challenged. The only tax return he produced at the second meeting reflected an address in Nassau County. At that point, the City terminated petitioner's employment by reason of non-City residency. In the subsequent Article 78 proceeding, the court held that, so long as petitioner had an opportunity to be heard and to produce documentation on the issue of residence, the City did not have to conduct a pre-termination hearing. The court explained that employees terminated for non-residence differ from those who are disciplined for misconduct; in the latter case, the employees are entitled to a pre-termination hearing under Civil Service Law §75. The rationale is that the City residency rule was enacted to encourage City workers to maintain a commitment to and involvement with the municipality that employs them, and is unrelated to job performance or misconduct. In other words, the Civil Service Law and the City residence rules had different purposes. The court also held that the respondent's determination of non-residence had a reasonable basis. The tax returns, which were crucial, showed an address outside the City, and the voter registration and vehicle registration were done after the fact in an effort to establish a City residency which did not exist before his residency was challenged. Felix v. New York City Dept. of Administrative Services, 3 N.Y.3d 498, 788 N.Y.S.2d 631, 821 N.E.2d 935 (2004).

¶ 2. OATH does not have jurisdiction to provide an evidentiary hearing before or after removal of an employee for not maintaining city residence. Gajwani v. Dep't of Design & Construction, OATH Index No. 1498/99, mem. dec. (Mar. 15, 1999).

¶ 3. In Prendergast v. City of New York, 44 A.D.3d 414, 843 N.Y.S.2d 256 (1st Dept. 2007), the court upheld a determination that an employee of the Human Resources Administration was not a bona fide resident of the City for purposes of the residency requirement. Petitioner's wife, to whom he remained married despite asserting that they had been separated for ten years, owned a home with petitioner (purchased together at the time they allegedly separated), at which he was seen spending the night on most of the occasions he was under surveillance. He was never seen residing at the Queens home. Petitioner also refused to allow the investigators to come to his Queens home to prove that he had access to that residence, which was occupied by another person. Under these circumstances, the HRA determination that petitioner did not reside at the Queens residence had a rational basis.

a. The commissioner of citywide administrative services on his or her own initiative or upon application of the head of an agency may certify that there is difficulty in the recruitment of personnel for a position and that to restrict recruitment for such position to persons who meet the residency requirements of section 12-120 based on their residence or their willingness to establish residence consistent with such requirements would not be in the public interest. Persons appointed to positions so certified by the commissioner shall not be required to establish or maintain residence consistent with the requirements of such section as a condition of employment while in service in that position. Each agency head may make application to the commissioner, in such form as the commissioner shall prescribe, for the certification of positions within the agency head's jurisdiction. The commissioner may certify such positions subject to such limitations and conditions as the commissioner may deem appropriate. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, positions in the city council may be so certified by the speaker of the city council. Copies of all certifications of the commissioner and the speaker shall be filed with the city clerk and shall be subject to annual review by the commissioner and speaker.

b. Residence in the city or Nassau, Westchester, Suffolk, Orange, Rockland or Putnam county shall not be required as a condition of employment for:

(1) persons appointed to the position of chaplain; or

(2) employees whose regular work site is outside the city; or

(3) employees who have performed functions at a regular work site outside the city, where the city has reduced or terminated, or is in the process of reducing or terminating, the direct performance by city employees of such functions at such site, and the city seeks to transfer, reassign, or appoint such employees to positions located within the city. This paragraph shall apply only where the commissioner of citywide administrative services finds that it is in the public interest to waive the residence requirement for reasons including, but not limited to, facilitating the operations of the affected agency or agencies or furthering the interests of employee relations.

c. City residence shall not be required as a condition of employment for campus peace officers level I, level II and level III, as defined by subdivision twenty-seven of section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, employed by the city university of New York before the effective date of this subdivision.

CHAPTER 1 OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

a. Definitions. As used in this section, the following terms shall have the meaning hereinafter stated:

i. "City employee." A person: (1) who is employed by a department or agency of the city; and (2) is paid out of the city treasury; and (3) is employed under terms prescribing a work week regularly consisting of twenty or more hours during the fiscal year; and (4) is not employed by the board of education.

ii. "City retiree." A person who: (1) is receiving a retirement allowance, pension or other retirement benefit from a retirement or pension system either maintained by the city or to which the city has made contributions on behalf of such person pursuant to subdivision (g) of section 80-a of the retirement and social security law; and (2) immediately prior to such person's retirement as a member of such system, was a city employee, or was an employee of the board of education employed under terms prescribing a work week regularly consisting of twenty or more hours during the fiscal year; and (3) had at the time of retirement, at least five years of credited service as a member of such retirement or pension system, except that (A) such requirement of credited service shall not apply in cases of retirement for accident disability, and (B) the requirement of credited service for vested retirement and service retirement shall be at least ten years for a person who was not an employee of the city or the board of education on or before the effective date of the local law that added this clause.

iii. "Dependent." The spouse of a city employee or city retiree or any child of a city employee or city retiree during the period of eligibility of such child for coverage under the insurance contract applicable to such employee or retiree; provided, however, that no spouse or child of any such employee or retiree shall be deemed a dependent after the death of such employee or retiree.

iv. "Health insurance coverage." A program of hospital-surgical-medical benefits to be provided by health and hospitalization insurance contracts entered into between the city and companies providing such health and hospitalization insurance.

b. Payment of health insurance costs. Except as otherwise provided in section 12-126.1 and section 12-126.2 of this chapter, for city employees, city retirees and their dependents:

(1) The city will pay the entire cost of health insurance coverage for city employees, city retirees, and their dependents, not to exceed one hundred percent of the full cost of H.I.P.-H.M.O. on a category basis. Where such health insurance coverage is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the Social Security Act, the city will pay the amount set forth in such act under 1839(a) as added by title XVIII of the 1965 amendment to the Social Security Act; provided that such amount shall not exceed the sum of nineteen dollars and fifty-three cents per month per individual for the period beginning January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight and ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, and provided further however that such amount shall not exceed the sum of twenty-seven dollars and ninety cents per month per individual for the period beginning January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-one, and provided further that such amount shall not exceed the sum of twenty-nine dollars per month per individual for the period beginning January first, nineteen hundred ninety-two and ending December thirty-first nineteen hundred ninety-five. Provided further, that such amount shall not exceed the sum of thirty-two dollars per month per individual effective January first, nineteen hundred ninety-six. Provided further, that such amount shall not exceed the sum of thirty eight dollars and seventy cents per month effective January first, two thousand and provided further that each year thereafter, the City shall reimburse covered employees in an amount equal to one hundred percent of the Medicare Part-B premium rate applicable to that year.

(2) Health insurance coverage for surviving spouses, domestic partners and children of police officers, firefighters and certain other city employees:

(i) Where the death of a member of the uniformed forces of the police or fire departments is or was the natural and proximate result of an accident or injury sustained while in the performance of duty, the surviving spouse or domestic partner, until he or she dies, and the children under the age of nineteen years and any such child who is enrolled on a full-time basis in a program of undergraduate study in an accredited degree-granting institution of higher education until such child completes his or her educational program or reaches the age of twenty-three years, whichever comes first, shall be afforded the right to health insurance coverage, and health insurance coverage which is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the social security act, as is provided for city employees, city retirees and their dependents as set forth in paragraph one of this subdivision. Where the death of a uniformed member of the correction or sanitation departments has occurred while such employee was in active service as the natural and proximate result of an accident or injury sustained while in the performance of duty, the surviving spouse or domestic partner, until he or she dies, and the child of such employee who is under the age of nineteen years and any such child who is enrolled on a full-time basis in a program of undergraduate study in an accredited degree-granting institution of higher education until such child completes his or her educational program or reaches the age of twenty-three years, whichever comes first, shall be afforded the right to health insurance coverage, and health insurance coverage which is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the social security act, as is provided for city employees, city retirees and their dependents as set forth in paragraph one of this subdivision. Where the death of an employee of the fire department of the city of New York who was serving in a title whose duties are those of an emergency medical technician or advanced emergency medical technician (as those terms are defined in section three thousand one of the public health law), or whose duties required the direct supervision of employees whose duties are those of an emergency medical technician or advanced emergency medical technician (as those terms are defined in section three thousand one of the public health law) is or was the natural and proximate result of an accident or injury sustained while in the performance of duty on or after September eleventh, two thousand one, the surviving spouse or domestic partner, until he or she dies, and the children under the age of nineteen years and any such child who is enrolled on a full-time basis in a program of undergraduate study in an accredited degree-granting institution of higher education until such child completes his or her educational program or reaches the age of twenty-three years, whichever comes first, shall be afforded the right to health insurance coverage, and health insurance coverage which is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the social security act, as is provided for city employees, city retirees and their dependents as set forth in paragraph one of this subdivision. The mayor may, in his or her discretion, authorize the provision of such health insurance coverage for the surviving spouses, domestic partners and children of employees of the fleet services division of the police department who died on or after October first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and before April thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, and the surviving spouses, domestic partners and children of employees of the roadway repair and maintenance division of the department of transportation who died on or after September first, two thousand five and before September twenty-eighth, two thousand five, and the surviving spouses, domestic partners and children of employees of the bureau of wastewater treatment of the department of environmental protection who died on or after January eighth, two thousand nine and before January tenth, two thousand nine as a natural and proximate result of an accident or injury sustained while in the performance of duty, subject to the same terms, conditions and limitations set forth in the section. Provided, however, and notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, and solely for the purposes of this subparagraph, a member otherwise covered by this subparagraph shall be deemed to have died as the natural and proximate result of an accident or injury sustained while in the performance of duty upon which his or her membership is based, provided that such member was in active service upon which his or her membership is based at the time that such member was ordered to active duty, other than for training purposes, pursuant to Title 10 of the United States Code, with the armed forces of the United States, and such member died while on active duty on or after the effective date of local law number ninety-six of the city of New York for the year two thousand five while serving on such active military duty.

(ii) Where a retired member of the fire department dies and is enrolled in a health insurance plan, the surviving spouse shall be afforded the right to such health insurance coverage and health insurance coverage which is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the social security act as is provided for retirees and their dependents as set forth in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, provided such surviving spouse pays one hundred two percent of the group rate for such coverage, with two percent intended to cover administrative costs incurred, provided such spouse elects such health insurance coverage within one year of the death of his or her spouse. For purposes of this subparagraph, "retired member of the fire department" shall include persons who, immediately prior to retirement, were employed by the fire department of the city of New York in a title whose duties are those of an emergency medical technician or advanced emergency medical technician (as those terms are defined in section three thousand one of the public health law), or whose duties required the direct supervision of employees whose duties are those of an emergency medical technician or advanced emergency medical technician (as those terms are defined in section three thousand one of the public health law).

(iii) Where a retired member of the police department, including premerger retirees who were police officers employed by the New York city housing authority or the New York city transit authority, dies and is enrolled in a health insurance plan, the surviving spouse shall be afforded the right to such health insurance coverage and health insurance coverage which is predicated on the insured's enrollment in the hospital and medical program for the aged and disabled under the social security act as is provided for retirees and their dependents as set forth in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, provided such surviving spouse pays one hundred two percent of the group rate for such coverage, with two percent intended to cover administrative costs incurred, provided such spouse elects such health insurance coverage within one year of the death of his or her spouse.

c. Any amount paid by the city pursuant to subdivision b of this section shall not be deemed to be salary, wages or compensation within the meaning of any law relating to any retirement or pension system and shall not be considered or included for the purpose of computing or determining employee or city contributions or the rights, allowances and benefits to which a city employee or such employee's heirs or beneficiaries shall become entitled under any retirement or pension system; and shall not be construed as a change of grade or classification or as a promotion to higher grade or position.

d. Such health insurance coverage as is provided under this section shall be administered by office of labor relations.

NOTE

1. Provisions of L.L. 19/2006, eff. June 19, 2006:

A Local Law in relation to the establishment of a retiree health benefits trust fund.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Legislative Intent. The Council hereby finds that it is in the best interests of the City to begin to address the ongoing liability of funding the increasing costs of health benefits for the City's retired workers and their dependents covered under the City's health and welfare plans. In his Fiscal 2007 Preliminary Budget the Mayor proposed the establishment of a retiree health benefits trust fund into which would be deposited money for the exclusive purpose of funding the health and welfare benefits (other than those paid through the Management Benefits Fund) of retired city employees and their dependents. The rationale behind the fund's creation is to give the City the ability to place certain surplus and potentially non-recurring funds in fiscal years of strong revenues in trust for the purpose of irrevocably funding certain of the City's retiree health and welfare benefit obligations. The Council, agreeing with this goal, approved a budget modification in March, appropriating $1 billion for such a trust fund.

The Council further finds that it is imperative that in order to establish and employ such a trust for the purpose of funding these costs, the trust fund must be irrevocable so that the funds may not be able to be used for any other purpose than for the payment of such retiree health and welfare benefits. Funds in the trust must be used only to pay these costs and must be paid directly to the retirees, to the providers of the health and welfare benefits to retired City workers and their dependents or to welfare funds established for their benefit.

In addition, the Council finds that the creation and existence of such a trust fund must in no way affect the operation of the budget adoption process as it relates to the funding of these costs. In other words, decisions as to whether or not the liability for retiree health benefits should be paid from current revenues or from money previously set aside in the trust fund should be made in the budget adoption process and neither the Council nor the Mayor should be able to use the trust fund to circumvent or short circuit that process. For this reason the Council and the Mayor have agreed that all appropriations for such retiree health and welfare benefits shall be paid into the fund and all expenses shall be paid from the fund as long as such funds are available. In this way the annual liability will be paid first from money available in the trust fund to the extent these funds are available, and the City will determine, in the course of adopting a budget, how much will be paid into the fund from current revenues.

Finally, to ensure accountability, the Council finds that the City's chief fiscal officer, the Comptroller, should be responsible for auditing the trust and managing the investment of the funds.

§ 2. Establishment of Trust. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the mayor is hereby authorized to establish a retiree health benefits trust fund for the exclusive benefit of retired city employees and their dependents.

(b) Such trust fund shall be established under the common law of the state of New York.

(c) The sole purpose of the trust fund established pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be to fund the health and welfare benefits of retired city workers and their dependents.

§ 3. Payments into and from the trust. (a) Payments into and from the trust fund established pursuant to section two of this local law shall be made in accordance with this section.

(b) All appropriations in the city's expense budget for retiree health and welfare benefits (other than those provided through the management benefits fund) shall be paid into such trust fund.

(c) All payments for retiree health and welfare benefits (other than those provided through the management benefits fund) shall be made from such trust fund to the extent funds are available therefore.

§ 4. Investments; audits. (a) The comptroller shall be responsible for managing the investments of the trust fund established pursuant to section two of this local law.

(b) The comptroller shall have the power to audit such trust fund and shall ensure that all funds appropriated for retiree health and welfare benefits (other than those provided through the management benefits fund) are paid into such trust fund and that monies paid out of such trust fund are used solely as set forth in section two of this local law.

§ 5. Other Matters. Prior actions taken by the city in connection with the establishment of the trust fund are hereby ratified.

a. Definitions. The following terms, as used in this section, shall have the following meanings, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context:

(1) "NYCERS former fractional plan member". A member of the New York city employees' retirement system who, pursuant to the provisions of subdivision m of section 13-162 of the code, is deemed to have elected to become a career pension plan member (as defined in subdivision forty-six of section 13-101 of the code), and who currently is such a career pension plan member or a fifty-five-year-increased-service-fraction member (as defined in subdivision fifty-one of section 13-101 of the code).

(2) "BERS former fractional plan member". A member of the board of education retirement system of the city of New York who, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (g) of subdivision eighteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law, is deemed to have elected to become a career pension plan member (as defined in paragraph twenty-eight of section two of the rules and regulations of such retirement system), and who currently is such a career pension plan member or a fifty-five-year-increased-service-fraction member (as defined in paragraph thirty-one of section two of such rules and regulations).

(3) "Health insurance and welfare benefits fund surcharge". An amount, expressed as a percentage of salary, specified in a collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) between the city of New York (or the board of education of the city) and the employee organization or organizations representing NYCERS former fractional plan members or BERS former fractional plan members in which it is provided that such members shall absorb the additional health insurance and welfare benefit fund increases caused by the enactment of subdivision m of section 13-162 of the code and paragraph (g) of subdivision eighteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law.

b. Commencing with the first full payroll period which begins after October first, nineteen hundred ninety-three, the salary of each NYCERS former fractional plan member and each BERS former fractional plan member shall be reduced by the amount of the health insurance and welfare benefits fund surcharge on each and every payroll of such member for each and every payroll period.

c. The commissioner of labor relations shall promulgate rules for the appropriate administration of this section.

d. Any salary reduction effectuated pursuant to subdivision b of this section shall be considered part of such member's salary for the purpose of computing employer and employee pension contributions and all retirement benefits administered by the New York city employees' retirement system or the board of education retirement system of the city of New York.

§ 12-126.2 Special provisions applicable to health insurance and welfare benefit fund coverage for certain correction officers and sanitation workers.

a. Definitions. The following terms, as used in this section shall have the following meanings, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context:

(1) "RSSL". The New York state retirement and social security law.

(2) "Tier II member". A member of a retirement system or pension fund maintained by the city who is subject to the provisions of article eleven of the RSSL.

(3) "Tier III member". A member of a retirement system or pension fund maintained by the city who is subject to the provisions of article fourteen of the RSSL.

(4) "Tier IV member". A member of a retirement system or pension fund maintained by the city who is subject to the provisions of article fifteen of the RSSL.

(5) "Tier II or tier III correction officer participant in a twenty year retirement program." A tier II or tier III member of the uniformed correction force who is a participant in the twenty-year retirement program established pursuant to (A) section four hundred forty-five-a of the RSSL or (B) section four hundred forty-five-c of the RSSL or (C) section five hundred four-a of the RSSL or (D) section five hundred four-b of the RSSL.

(6) "Tier II or tier IV sanitation worker participant in a twenty-year retirement program." A tier II or tier IV member of the uniformed force of the New York city department of sanitation who is a participant in the twenty-year improved benefit retirement program established pursuant to section four hundred forty-five-b of the retirement and social security law or is a participant in the twenty-year retirement program established pursuant to section six hundred four-a of the retirement and social security law.

(7) "Health insurance and welfare benefits fund surcharge." An amount, expressed as a percentage of salary, specified in a collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) between the city of New York and the employee organization or organizations representing tier II and tier III correction officer participants in a twenty-year retirement program or tier II or tier IV sanitation worker participants in a twenty-year retirement program in which it is provided that such participants shall absorb the additional health insurance and welfare benefit fund increases caused by the enactment of section four hundred forty-five-a of the retirement and social security law, section four hundred forty-five-b of the retirement and social security law, section four hundred forty-five-c of the retirement and social security law, section five hundred four-a of the retirement and social security, section five hundred four-b of the retirement and social security law and section six hundred four-a of the retirement and social security law.

(8) "Starting date." The first day of the first whole payroll period commencing after the date which is thirty days after the effective date of this section.

b. Effective as of the starting date, the salary of any tier II or tier III correction officer participant in a twenty-year retirement program or any tier II or tier IV sanitation worker participant in a twenty-year retirement program shall be reduced by the amount of the health insurance and welfare benefits fund surcharge on each and every payroll of such member for each and every payroll period.

c. The commissioner of labor relations shall promulgate rules for the appropriate administration of this section.

d. Any salary reduction effectuated pursuant to subdivision b of this section shall be considered part of such participant's final average salary for the purpose of computing employer and employee pension contributions and all retirement benefits administered by any retirement system or plan to which the city of New York contributes on behalf of said such participant. However, this subdivision shall in no way be construed to supersede the provisions of sections four hundred thirty-one, five hundred twelve and six hundred eight of the retirement and social security law or any other similar provision of law which limits the salary base for computing retirement benefits payable by a public retirement system.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Provisions of chap 531/1994

§ 11. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as limiting or restricting the power of the city of New York to make deductions from employee compensation where authorized or permitted by a collective bargaining agreement (or similar agreement) for the period of time commencing as of the date referenced in such agreement and ending on the starting date, as defined in paragraph 8 of subdivision a of section 12-126.2 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by section two of this act.

§ 12. This act shall take effect immediately provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be deemed to affect the application, qualification, expiration or repeal of any provision of law amended by any section of this act and such provision shall be applied or qualified or shall expire or be deemed repealed in the same manner, to the same extent and on the same date as the case may be as otherwise provided by law.

FISCAL NOTE.-This proposed legislation provides for a salary reduction for additional contributions to be paid for health insurance and welfare benefits by certain members of the New York City Employees' Retirement System ("NYCERS") who are Tier II, Tier III or Tier IV members of the uniformed forces of the Department of Corrections or the Department of Sanitation.

This proposed legislation provides that any such salary reductions will be made on a federally tax-favored basis, but will be considered part of such members' salary for New York State and local income tax purposes and for computing member contributions to and pension benefits from NYCERS.

The enactment of this proposed legislation would not result in any increase in benefits or employer contributions.

The enactment of this proposed legislation would cause a modest increase in administrative expenses for the City of New York and NYCERS.

This estimate is intended for use only during the 1994 Legislation Session. It is Fiscal Note 94-04 dated April 26, 1994, prepared by the Chief Actuary for the New York City Employees' Retirement System.

§ 12-126.3 Health2 insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits of certain retirees and their dependents.

a. Definitions. The following terms, as used in this section, shall have the following meanings, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context:

(1) "Pre-merger transit police retiree". A member of the uniformed force of the former transit police department of the New York city transit authority who retired as such a member prior to April thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five or retired thereafter as such an employee as a result of an application to retire filed prior to such April thirtieth.

(2) "Pre-merger civilian retiree of the transit police department". An employee of such former transit police department who was not a member of its uniformed force and who retired as such an employee prior to April thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five or retired thereafter as such an employee as a result of an application to retire filed prior to such April thirtieth.

(3) "Pre-merger housing police retiree". A member of the uniformed force of the former housing police department of the New York city housing authority who retired as such a member prior to April thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five or retired thereafter as such an employee as a result of an application to retire filed prior to such April thirtieth.

(4) "Pre-merger civilian retiree of the housing police department". An employee of such former housing police department who was not a member of its uniformed force and who retired as such an employee prior to April thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five or retired as such an employee thereafter as a result of an application to retire filed prior to such April thirtieth.

(5) "Health insurance coverage". The program of hospital-surgical-medical benefits provided to participants therein and their dependents at city cost pursuant to section 12-126 of this chapter and any supplements to such program (i) provided for by an applicable collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) or (ii) provided by other action or practice of the city and/or an appropriate public employee organization representing employees of the city police department.

(6) "Welfare fund benefits". The benefits provided to eligible participants and their dependents pursuant to (i) the provisions of a collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) which denominates such benefits as welfare fund benefits or (ii) a welfare fund agreement executed pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) and benefits provided as welfare fund benefits pursuant to other action or practice of the city and/or an appropriate employee organization representing employees of the city police department.

(7) "Appropriate public employee organization representing employees of the city police department". The certified or recognized public employee organization under article fourteen of the civil service law and chapter three of title twelve of the code which represents employees of the police department of the city who have a title and rank which are the same as or equivalent to the title and rank which a pre-merger retiree had at the time of the retirement of such pre-merger retiree.

(8) "Pre-merger retiree". A retiree identified in any of paragraphs one, two, three and four of this subdivision.

(9) "Similarly situated retiree of the city police department". A person (i) who retired as an employee of the police department of the city on a date the same as the retirement date of a pre-merger retiree and (ii) whose title and rank on the date of retirement were the same as or equivalent to the title and rank of such pre-merger retiree at the time of the retirement of such pre-merger retiree.

b. Health insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits shall be provided pursuant to the provisions of this section to each pre-merger transit police retiree and each pre-merger housing police retiree, and the dependents of each such retiree, in the same manner and to the same extent as if such retiree, at the time of his or her retirement, was a similarly situated retiree of the city police department.

c. (1) Subject to the provisions of paragraphs two and three of this subdivision, health insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits shall be provided pursuant to the provisions of this section to each pre-merger civilian retiree of the transit police department and each pre-merger civilian retiree of the housing police department, and the dependents of each such retiree, in the same manner and to the same extent as if such retiree, at the time of his or her retirement, was a similarly situated retiree of the city police department.

(2) Where any civilian retiree referred to in paragraph one of this subdivision was not entitled, under the collective bargaining agreement (or other similar instrument) and/or employer-provided health insurance program applicable to such retiree immediately prior to his or her retirement, to reimbursement by his or her employer for the whole or any part of Medicare premiums paid, such retiree shall not be entitled to reimbursement under this section for the whole or any part of Medicare premiums paid.

(3) Subject to the provisions of paragraph two of this subdivision, all costs of providing health insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits to pre-merger civilian retirees of the housing police department shall be paid by the New York city housing authority.

d. In relation to providing health insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits pursuant to the preceding provisions of this section to each pre-merger retiree, the respective powers and obligations of the city and the appropriate employee organization representing employees of the city police department (subject to the provisions of paragraphs two and three of subdivision c of this section) shall be the same as in the case of a similarly situated retiree of the city police department.

e. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs two and three of subdivision c of this section, the costs of providing the health insurance coverage and welfare fund benefits prescribed by the preceding subdivisions of this section to each pre-merger retiree shall be paid by the city and/or paid by or shared with the appropriate public employee organization representing employees of the city police department in the same manner and to the same extent as the city and/or such public employee organization pay or share such costs with respect to a similarly situated retiree of the city police department.

f. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as amending or altering any provision of article fourteen of the civil service law or chapter three of title twelve of the code.

§ 12-127 City employees injured in course of duty.

a. Any member of the uniformed forces of the fire or police departments or any person employed in the department of sanitation in the sanitation service classification of the classified civil service who shall be injured while actually employed in the discharge of police orders of his or her superior officers in the police station, fire house or sanitation section station, as the case may be, or as the result of illness traceable directly to the performance of police, fire or sanitation duty, as the case may be, or any employee of the department of parks, general services, ports and terminals or environmental protection or a person employed by the police commissioner as a school crossing guard who shall be injured while actually employed in the discharge of duty, shall be received by any hospital for care and treatment when such facts are certified to by the head of the department. Unless otherwise provided in this section, such members shall be received by any hospital at the usual ward patient rates. The bill for such care and treatment at such rates, when certified by the superintendent or other person in charge of such hospital and approved by the head of the department concerned, shall be paid by the city.

b. Any member of the uniformed forces of the fire or police department or any person employed in the department of sanitation in the sanitation service classification of the classified civil service or a person employed by the police commissioner as a school crossing guard who, while in the actual performance of duty, and by reason of the performance of such duty and without fault or misconduct on his or her part, shall receive injuries to an extent which may endanger his or her life, shall be received by any hospital for care and treatment, and shall be afforded such medical or surgical care and hospitalization as may be ordered by the chief medical officer of the respective departments in conformity with the provisions of this section. Such medical officer shall forthwith notify the comptroller of the care and hospitalization so ordered. The rate charged for such care and hospitalization for such member or such person shall not exceed the rate charged any person in receipt of an income equal to the salary of such member or of such person for the same accommodations. The comptroller and the heads of the departments affected shall make necessary rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this section. Upon certification by the chief medical officer of the department concerned, the bill for such care and hospitalization, when certified by the superintendent or other person in charge of the hospital and approved by the head of the department concerned, shall be paid by the city.

Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, a provider of medical treatment or hospital care furnished pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not collect or attempt to collect reimbursement for such treatment or care from any such city employee.

c. (1) Each agency shall keep a record of any workers' compensation claim filed by an employee, the subject of which concerns an injury sustained in the course of duty while such employee was employed at such agency. Such record shall include, but not be limited to, the following data:

(i) the name of the agency where such employee worked;

(ii) such employee's title;

(iii) the date such employee or the city filed such claim with the appropriate office of the state of New York, if any;

(iv) the date the city began to make payment for such claim, or the date such claim was established by the appropriate state office and the date the city began to make payment for such claim pursuant to such establishment, if any;

(v) the date such injury occurred;

(vi) the location at which such injury occurred;

(vii) the nature of such injury, including, but not limited to, the circumstances of such injury, the type or diagnosis of such injury and a description of how such injury occurred;

(viii) the length of time such employee is unable to work due to such injury, if any; and

(ix) a list of any expenses paid as a result of such claim, including, but not limited to, expenses relating to wage replacement, medical costs, administrative costs and any penalties.

(2) Each agency shall transmit records gathered pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision c of this section, as soon as practicable, to the mayor of the city of New York.

(3) The mayor of the city of New York shall ensure that an annual report is prepared utilizing the records received from each city agency pursuant to paragraph (2) of subdivision c of this section. Such report shall be transmitted to the mayor, the comptroller, the public advocate and the speaker of the council of the city of New York by the first day of May, covering the previous calendar year. Such report shall include, but not be limited to:

(i) an analysis, with respect to each agency included in the report, of expenses paid as a result of workers' compensation claims, including, but not limited to, expenses relating to wage replacement, medical costs, administrative costs and any penalties paid by an agency;

(ii) a list of the occurrence of specific claims for each agency and for the city as a whole;

(iii) a list of the specific sites where injuries occurred for each agency and for the city as a whole;

(iv) year-to-year comparisons of information compiled pursuant to this paragraph.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. That motorcycle policeman had been injured in collision with automobile owned by defendant and that City had paid for the hospitalization of such policeman pursuant to Code of Ordinances, Art. 1, ch. 13, § 5, providing that City would pay hospitalization of any policeman or fireman injured in discharge of duties, held not to entitle City to recover amount thereof from defendant, in view of facts that City's claim was dependent upon policeman's cause of action for personal injuries, that such cause had vested in policeman and was nontransferable; that defendant was still subject to a suit for damages by the policeman and, since medical expenses constituted a part of his damages, to authorize the action by the City would result in a forbidden splitting up of cause of action, and that City may have become liable to hospital under the ordinance, which contained no expression or expectation of reimbursement, did not impose liability upon defendant as expense to City was a remote cause of the damage sustained. That not to sanction the cause of action would result in defendant escaping liability since policeman, not having expended money for medical services, might not recover therefor, was insufficient to sustain the action. Action might not be sustained on theory of subrogation since conventional subrogation arises by contract, which did not exist in present case, and legal subrogation arises in equity, necessitating a strong and clear showing of right and was never available to a volunteer.-City of N.Y. v. Barbato, 5 N.Y.S. 2d 125 [1938].

¶ 2. Where settlement effected between taxicab company's insurer and policeman provided for payment to policeman of $1000 for injuries sustained when struck by taxicab, and also for assumption of responsibility for bill of City hospital in which the policeman had been confined, insurer could not escape liability to the hospital on theory it had assumed liability only for so much of the hospital bill as the policeman would be legally liable for and that under Code of Ordinances, ch. 13, § 5, such bill was payable by the City. The agreement to pay the hospital expenses was part of the consideration for the settlement and such promise inured to benefit of Commissioner of City Hospitals, the obligation to pay was one imposed by law on the taxicab company and was not primarily an obligation of the policeman, in paying for hospital services the City did so out of generosity and not as a matter of legal duty, a patient who is able to pay for treatment in a public hospital is liable therefor and the Commissioner is required to collect such payment (old Charter § 692m), and there was no showing that the City ever intended treating the policeman without compensation.-Goldwater v. Citizens Casualty Co., 7 N.Y.S. 2d 242 [1938].

¶ 3. Nothing in this section precludes a malpractice action against a fellow employee who is a physician also employed by the department of sanitation, and such a suit could be maintained where the department of sanitation was excluded from workers' compensation coverage.-Liantenio v. Baum, 95 Misc. 2d 636, 408 N.Y.S. 2d 257 [1978].

¶ 4. Petitioner police officer was injured as an "incident of employment" when he fell on ice in family ct. parking lot 5 min. before going on duty there. The denial of line of duty designation was arbitrary and capricious.-Brullman v. McGuire, 189 (37) N.Y.L.J. (2-24-83) 12, Col. 1 T.

¶ 5. Policeman was injured in uniform while in the precinct when he reported to work 30 min. early. Ct. determined that injury should be designated "line-of-duty".-Yacano v. McGuire, 191 (72) N.Y.L.J. (4-13-84) 6, Col. 2 B.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. A police officer slipped in a puddle of water in a precinct bathroom and sustained a back injury. Petitioner was disqualified from receiving payment of her hospital bills pursuant to § 12-127(b) which does not authorize such payment if an officer's injury resulted from his or her "fault or misconduct". Petitioner was negligent, failing to avoid an obvious hazard. Matter of Heintz v. Brown, 178 AD2d 333 affirmed 80 NY2d, 998 [1992].

¶ 2. A police officer was in the ladies' room, brushing her teeth, when a mirror dislodged and struck her. The court held that the officer was not entitled to a line-of-duty injury designation. The law does not provide for compensation for injuries sustained while performing personal hygiene function not undertaken at the behest of a superior officer, the court said (would the result have been different if a superior officer had complained about her teeth and had directed her to go to the ladies' room to brush the teeth?). The court construed the legislation to mean that even here an officer is still on duty at the time of the injury, a line-of-duty injury designation is available only where the injury itself arises out of police duties. CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. City ordinance (Admin. Code § B40-11.0) providing that four hours on any Saturday during July and August should constitute a full day's work for City employees, held not to warrant recovery by laborer for work done on Saturdays in excess of four hours during July and August over a period of three years, since neither the Board of Aldermen nor the head of the Park Department had authority to increase the compensation fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, such as would be the practical result of giving validity to the ordinance. Furthermore, the ordinance ran counter to Greater New York Charter § 56, which exempted day laborers from the authorization otherwise given the Board of Aldermen to fix salaries with concurrence of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. It was also significant that during the 20 years existence of the ordinance no other attempt to enforce it had been made.-Hagan v. Moses, 173 Misc. 327, 17 N.Y.S. 2d 438 (1939). Followed in In re Baker (O'Dwyer), 118 (97) N.Y.L.J. (11-5-47) 1175, Col. 1 F.

¶ 2. Order denying petition of auto engine men employed by Department of Hospitals at per annum salaries, for additional compensation for period during which they worked on some of the legal holidays without being paid additional compensation or being given compensating time off, was affirmed, without opinion. Respondent City officials contended that Admin. Code § B40-11.0 was invalid insofar as it purported to impose financial budgetary obligations upon the City without concurrence of the Board of Estimate and to confer upon department heads the power to increase salaries beyond amounts fixed in the budget, and that petitioners could not in any event recover additional compensation for legal holidays worked if they did not sign the payrolls under protest.-Brooks v. ¶ 1. In view of provisions of this section, fixing an eight hour working day in City departments, petitioner, an employee of the Department of Public Welfare, was within his legal rights in refusing to accede to a request to remain after 5 o'clock to mail checks to relief recipients, which was an ordinary routine duty of petitioner, and hence no disciplinary action should have been taken against him. No emergency was shown to exist at the time.-In re Weiselberg (McNamara), 198 Misc. 48, 97 N.Y.S. 2d 224 [1950], reversed in part, 279 App. Div. 694, 103 N.Y.S. 2d 1014 [1951].

¶ 2. The budget of 1959-60 provided for savings of $60,000 through the elimination of 15 positions in the office of City Registrar, the savings to be effected by conforming the office hours of that office with the provisions of § B40-12.0. The City Registrar issued an order increasing the working hours of his employees. They filed an action for declaratory judgment that the savings provision of the budget and the order of the City Registrar pursuant thereto were invalid. Held: The budget provision did not constitute an usurpation of the legislative power of the Council of the City of New York. The Board of Estimate is vested with the power to create and abolish positions. The order issued by the City Registrar was the only means by which he could accomplish the savings: to wit, increase the working hours of the employees. CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Alleged unconstitutionality of Laws of 1936, ch. 610, § 3, did not render the remainder of chapter 610 unconstitutional, in view of fact that § 3 was nothing more than a "saving clause" and clearly severable from the remainder of the chapter. Furthermore, since petitioners were not affected by such saving clause they had no standing to attack the constitutionality thereof.-Matter of Benedetto (Kern), 167 Misc. 831, 4 N.Y.S. 2d 844 [1938], aff'd without opinion, 255 App. Div. 753, 7 N.Y.S. 2d 227 [1938], aff'd, 279 N.Y. 798, 12 N.E. 2d 92 [1939].

¶ 2. Laws of 1936, ch. 610, § 3, providing for licensing of plumbers in City of New York, was not unconstitutional because it conferred upon the Municipal Civil Service Commission the power to examine applicants for plumbers' licenses notwithstanding plumbers were not in the civil service.-Id.

¶ 3. Balance of Laws of 1936, ch. 610, dealing with licensing of plumbers, was not affected by an unconstitutionality in section dealing with examination for renewal licenses, since such provision was clearly severable from remaining provisions.-Id.

¶ 4. Severance of section providing for examination of applicants for renewal licenses did not render statute invalid on ground no test was then provided for licensing of plumbers prescribed for the renewal of licenses, since statute, reasonably construed, required issuance of renewal licenses to those possessing original licenses, unless good cause existed for denying the renewal.-Id.

¶ 5. Requirement of statute that applicants for licenses as master plumber should have not less than ten years' experience in plumbing industry or three years of such experience together with an engineering degree, did not render the statute constitutionally unreasonable. In any event, petitioners were in no position to contest such provision as they were not aggrieved thereby inasmuch as they all had the requisite experience. Also, since they sued as a single and indivisible group without differentiating as to which possessed engineering degrees and which only experience, they might not attack the provision because of discrimination as to candidates possessing engineering degrees.-Id.

¶ 6. Provisions of statute providing for licensing of plumbers, which authorized Municipal Civil Service Commission to call upon the plumbing industry for assistance in preparation, conduct and grading of practical and written examinations, were not invalid because of possibilities of domination of the industry by present personnel, inasmuch as the examination was actually prepared, conducted and graded by the Commission itself through its own experts.-Id.

¶ 7. A character deficiency based on criminal charges which were 28 and 39 years old was not sufficient grounds for the denial of petitioner's application for license as a master plumber.-In re Drexler, 146 (97) N.Y.L.J. (11-20-61) 14, Col. 1 M.

Such assistance shall consist of the obtaining of the services of two registered and licensed master plumbers of not less than ten years' experience as such, and one journeyman plumber of not less than ten years' experience as such, for each examination. The commissioner may also call upon duly accredited sanitary engineers or physicians to assist in the preparation and conduct of such examination. The names of such master and journeyman plumbers selected to assist the commissioner shall be publicly drawn for each examination from a panel of not less than thirty names furnished to the commissioner by a special committee to consist of one experienced master plumber representing each of the established and recognized master plumbers' associations, or branches thereof, in the five boroughs of the city, and one experienced journeyman plumber representing the established and recognized organization having jurisdiction over journeyman plumbers in the city. Such committee members shall be named once each year by the incumbent presidents or boards of directors or governors of their respective associations or organizations. No such master or journeyman plumber shall serve as such assistant oftener than once in five years.
