(5) No release for which application has been made pursuant to this subdivision shall be granted until the final payment under the agreement herein provided is received by the city. Upon receipt of such final payment by the city the corporation counsel shall effect the release in the manner provided in section 11-424 of this chapter. In the event of any default in an agreement executed as provided in this subdivision or any failure to pay current taxes, assessments or other legal charges as they become due or within the grace period provided by law, such agreement shall thereupon become void, the release process shall be terminated, and all payments theretofore made shall be forfeited to the city.

(6) In addition to the terms and conditions required by the preceding paragraphs of this subdivision to be included in agreements authorized thereby, the commissioner of general services may, in his or her discretion, include in such agreements such additional terms and conditions, not inconsistent with this subdivision, as the commissioner determines to be necessary in order to properly carry out the provisions hereof. The commissioner of general services may also adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subdivision.

CHAPTER 4 TAX LIEN FORECLOSURE BY ACTION IN REM

a. During the period beginning September first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight and ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the commissioner of finance, or, when so specified hereinafter, the commissioner of general services, shall be authorized and empowered to make and execute agreements in the circumstances and subject to the terms, conditions and limitations set forth in the following subdivisions of this section; provided, however, that if the commissioner of finance or, where applicable, the commissioner of general services, determines in his or her sole discretion that good cause exists, he or she may make and execute such agreements during an additional period ending not later than January thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine.

b. (1) Whenever it shall appear that a tax lien on a parcel has been due and unpaid for a period of at least six months from the date on which the tax, assessment or other legal charge represented thereby became a lien, the commissioner of finance may enter into an agreement with the owner of such parcel or other person claiming to have an interest therein providing for the payment of such delinquent taxes, assessments or other legal charges and interest and penalties in installments, the first of which shall be equal to at least fifteen percent of such arrears and shall be payable upon the execution of such agreement. Each remaining installment shall be equal to at least an amount produced by dividing the balance of such arrears by a factor determined by multiplying the number of quarters of such arrears by two.

In no event, however, shall the factor referred to in the preceding sentence be in excess of thirty-two. Each such remaining installment shall be payable quarterly on the first days of July, October, January and April.

(2) If an agreement authorized by the preceding paragraph is executed prior to the time the commissioner of finance files in the office of the appropriate county clerk a list of delinquent taxes covering the borough or portion of the borough in which the subject parcel is located, such parcel shall be excluded from such list of delinquent taxes, provided, at the time such list is filed, there is no default in the agreement and all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges were paid as they became due or within the period of grace provided by law. In the event of any default in the agreement or any failure to make timely payment of any current item, the parcel shall, if then delinquent for the applicable period specified in section 11-404 of this chapter, be eligible for inclusion in any list of delinquent taxes thereafter filed.

(3) If an in rem foreclosure action has been commenced against any parcel prior to September first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the commissioner of finance may, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph three of subdivision a of section 11-413 of this chapter, enter into an agreement authorized and described in the foregoing provisions of this section with respect to such parcel. However, if such an agreement is entered into subsequent to the last date for redemption specified in subdivision a of section 11-407 of this chapter, there shall be paid to the commissioner of finance at the time said agreement is executed an amount equal to the penalty which would have been payable under subdivision c of section 11-407 of this chapter had the person executing the agreement made a late redemption payment. Such amount shall be in addition to any installment payments required to be made under the agreement and shall not be credited against any such installment payments. Any parcel which is the subject of an agreement made pursuant to this paragraph may, prior to final judgment, be withdrawn from the action, provided there has been no default in the agreement, and provided further that all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges are paid when they become due or within the period of grace provided by law. Such withdrawal shall be effected by the commissioner of finance in the manner provided in section 11-413 of this chapter.

(4) Any person who, prior to September first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, has made, executed and filed with the commissioner of finance an agreement pursuant to the provisions of paragraph three of subdivision a of section 11-413 of this chapter, shall be permitted to make application to the commissioner of finance for the purpose of having such agreement cancelled and a new agreement executed as hereinabove provided.

If an agreement executed prior to September first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight is not cancelled as herein provided, any installments due and payable under such agreement on or after February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine shall be subject to interest at the rate specified in paragraph six of this subdivision, but only if, as of February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine, there is no default in the agreement and all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges have been paid within the time allowed by law. Such rate of interest shall be calculated in the manner and shall be subject to all the conditions provided in said paragraph six.

(5) Notwithstanding the preceding paragraphs of this subdivision, no owner of, or other person claiming to have an interest in, any parcel shall be eligible to enter into an agreement authorized by such paragraphs where such parcel was included in an in rem foreclosure action but was severed therefrom pursuant to the judgment of foreclosure in such action because an answer was still pending as to such parcel. The commissioner of finance may, however, on notice to the corporation counsel, enter into an agreement with such owner or other interested person providing for the payment of all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges on the parcel as they become due or within the grace period provided by law, and, in addition, providing for payment of the amount of all delinquent taxes, assessments or other legal charges and interest due as of the date the agreement is executed in installments, the first of which shall be equal to at least twenty-five percent of such amount and shall be payable upon the execution of such agreement, and the balance of which shall be payable in twelve equal quarterly installments, each of which shall be paid on the first days of July, October, January and April. In addition, there shall be paid to the commissioner of finance at the time such agreement is executed a penalty equal to five percent of the amount of the delinquent taxes, assessments or other legal charges and interest due as of the date of the agreement, which penalty shall not exceed five hundred dollars. Any installments due and payable on or after February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine under an agreement described in this paragraph shall be subject to interest at the rate specified in paragraph six of this subdivision, but only if, as of February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine, there is no default in the agreement and all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges have been paid within the time allowed by law. Such rate of interest shall be calculated in the manner and shall be subject to all the conditions provided in said paragraph six.

Upon receipt of the final payment due under an agreement executed pursuant to this paragraph, the commissioner of finance shall discontinue the in rem action pending with respect to the parcel which is the subject of such agreement, and shall cancel the lis pendens pertaining thereto by issuing a certificate of withdrawal pursuant to section 11-413 of this chapter. In the event of any default in such agreement or any failure to pay current taxes, assessments or other legal charges as they become due or within the grace period provided by law, such agreement and the answer which was the basis for the severance of the subject parcel from the in rem action shall both be deemed null and void and the city shall be entitled to acquire title to such parcel by entry of an appropriate supplemental judgment of foreclosure in such in rem action without further notice to the answering party.

(6) When an agreement has been entered into pursuant to any of the preceding paragraphs of this subdivision, the commissioner of finance shall, notwithstanding the rates of interest prescribed in section 11-224, 11-312 or 11-313 of this title, charge, collect and receive interest on the arrears due and payable under such agreement, to be calculated at the rate of seven percent per annum from February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine to the date of payment of each installment. Any interest accrued or accruing prior to February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine shall not be affected by the provisions of this paragraph, but shall be charged, collected and received in the manner and at the rates specified in section 11-224, 11-312 or 11-313 of this title. The seven percent rate of interest specified in this paragraph shall be applicable only if (i) there is no default in the agreement entered into as provided in this section, and (ii) all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges are paid as they become due or within the period of grace provided by law. In the event of any default or failure to make timely payment of any current item, the seven percent rate of interest specified in this paragraph shall thereupon cease to be applicable and the commissioner of finance shall thereafter charge, collect and receive interest in the manner and at the rates otherwise specified in this chapter.

c. (1) If, pursuant to the provisions of section 11-424 of this chapter, an application for the release of property acquired by the city through in rem tax foreclosure has been filed within the four-month period specified in subdivision f of that section, and the sixty-day period for payment referred to in that subdivision has not expired prior to the commencement of the period specified in subdivision a of this section, the following paragraphs of this subdivision shall, at the election of the applicant, apply with respect to such application and the release sought thereby, provided notice of such election is given to the commissioner of general services during the period specified in subdivision a of this section, but in no event later than the last day of the sixty-day period referred to in subdivision f of section 11-424 of this chapter.

(2) An applicant who elects to have the provisions of this subdivision apply to him or her, shall, at the time such applicant notifies the commissioner of general services of his or her election, pay to the city the amounts specified in paragraphs two, three and four of subdivision d of section 11-424 of this chapter; for this purpose, the amount specified in paragraph two thereof shall be deemed to be the amount which would have been required to be paid thereunder had this section not been in effect. Concurrent with the making of such payment, the applicant shall enter into an agreement with the commissioner of general services providing for the payment of all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges on the property as they become due or within the grace period provided by law, and, in addition, providing for the payment of the amount specified in paragraph one of subdivision d of section 11-424 of this chapter in installments, the first of which shall be equal to at least twenty-five percent of such amount and shall be payable upon the execution of such agreement. The balance of such amount shall be payable in twelve equal quarterly installments, each of which shall be paid quarterly on the first days of July, October, January and April.

(3) Pending approval by the corporation counsel of an application for release as to form, timeliness and eligibility of the applicant, all payments made pursuant to the preceding paragraph shall be held in escrow; in the event the corporation counsel disapproves the application, such payments shall be returned to the applicant, and the agreement executed by him or her shall thereupon be cancelled.

(4) In the case of any agreement made and executed pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision, interest on any installment due and payable thereunder shall, notwithstanding the rates of interest prescribed in section 11-224, 11-312 or 11-313 of this title, be charged, collected and received at the rate of seven percent per annum from February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine to the date of payment of each installment. Any interest accrued or accruing prior to February first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine shall not be affected by the provisions of this paragraph, but shall be charged, collected and received in the manner and at the rates specified in section 11-224, 11-312 or 11-313 of this title. The seven percent rate of interest specified in this paragraph shall be applicable only if (i) there is no default in the agreement entered into as provided in this subdivision, and (ii) all current taxes, assessments or other legal charges are paid as they become due or within the period of grace provided by law.

(5) No release for which application has been made pursuant to subdivision f of section 11-424 of this chapter shall be granted until the final payment under the agreement herein provided is received by the city. Upon receipt of such final payment by the city the corporation counsel shall effect the release in the manner provided in section 11-424 of this chapter. In the event of any default in an agreement executed as provided in this subdivision or any failure to pay current taxes, assessments or other legal charges as they become due or within the grace period provided by law, such agreement shall thereupon become void, the release process shall be terminated and all payments theretofore made shall be forfeited to the city.

(6) In addition to the terms and conditions required by the preceding paragraphs of this subdivision to be included in agreements authorized thereby, the commissioner of general services may, in his or her discretion, include in such agreements such additional terms and conditions, not inconsistent with this subdivision, as the commissioner determines to be necessary in order to properly carry out the provisions hereof. The commissioner of general services may also adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subdivision.

§ 11-428 Disposition of proceeds of sales of properties acquired by city through tax enforcement foreclosure proceedings.

The proceeds of the sale of real property acquired through tax enforcement foreclosure proceedings, or by deed in lieu thereof, including subsequent receipts in diminution of purchase money mortgages accepted at the time of sale, shall be applied as follows: a. The amount of the unpaid real estate taxes accrued against such property from the first day of January or the first day of July, whichever first immediately precedes the date on which title vested in the city to the date of conveyance of title by the city, without interest or penalties thereon, shall be credited to the tax deficiency account.

b. The balance, if any, remaining after deduction of the amount specified in paragraph a hereof, shall be paid into the funds hereinafter specified in the following order:

1. A sum equal to the amount of the unpaid assessments for local improvements accrued against such property at the date of commencement of the foreclosure proceeding and up to the date of conveyance of title by the city, without interest or penalties thereon, shall be paid into the appropriate assessment funds.

2. A sum equal to the amount of unpaid sewer rents, including interest and penalties thereon, accrued against such property at the date of commencement of the foreclosure proceedings and up to the date of conveyance of title by the city shall be paid into the sewer fund.

3. The amount of the brokerage fee and other expenses expended by the city in connection with such sale shall be paid into the fund or code to which such fee was charged.

4. The balance of such proceeds, if any, and the interest on any purchase money mortgage accepted by the city at the time of such sale shall be paid into the general fund. In the event that any part of such balance is represented by bonds and mortgages, such bonds and mortgages may be deposited in the tax appropriation and general fund stabilization reserve fund and a sum equal to the amount of the cash represented by such bonds and mortgages shall in such event be transferred from the tax appropriation and general fund stabilization reserve fund to the general fund.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-501 Meaning of terms.

(a) General. Unless a different meaning is clearly required, any term used in this chapter shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, and any reference in this chapter to the laws of the United States shall mean the provisions of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, and amendments thereto, and other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, as the same are included in this chapter as an appendix or as included by reference to an appendix of another chapter enacted by the same law as enacts this chapter. (The quotation of the aforesaid laws of the United States is intended to make them a part of this chapter and to avoid constitutional uncertainties which might result if such laws were merely incorporated by reference. The quotation of a provision of the federal internal revenue code or of any other law of the United States shall not necessarily mean that it is applicable to or has relevance to this chapter.)

(b) "State", "this state" or "the state" when used in this chapter shall mean the state of New York.

(c) "Local income taxes", when used in this chapter shall mean an income tax imposed by a political subdivision of a state.

(d) "Commissioner of finance" when used in this chapter shall mean the commissioner of finance of the city.

(e) "Department of finance" when used in this chapter shall mean the department of finance of the city.

(f) "Tax appeals tribunal" when used in this chapter shall mean the tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

(g) "Unincorporated business entire net income" when used in this chapter shall mean the excess of the unincorporated business gross income of an unincorporated business over its unincorporated business deductions.

(h) "Investment capital" when used in this chapter shall mean investments of the unincorporated business in stocks, bonds and other securities, corporate and governmental (excluding governmental stocks, bonds and other securities the interest or dividends from which are fully exempt from tax under this chapter, other than any such governmental stock, bond or other security which is sold or otherwise disposed of during the taxable year in a transaction which results in a gain or loss which is included in computing unincorporated business entire net income for the taxable year), not held for sale to customers in the regular course of business, provided, however, that in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, there shall be deducted from investment capital any liabilities of the unincorporated business which are directly or indirectly attributable to investment capital.

(i) "Investment income" when used in this chapter shall mean income, gains and losses from investment capital, to the extent included in computing unincorporated business entire net income, less, in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, any deductions allowable in computing unincorporated business entire net income which are directly or indirectly attributable to investment capital or investment income, provided, however, that in no case shall investment income exceed unincorporated business entire net income.

(j) "Business capital" when used in this chapter shall mean all assets of the unincorporated business other than investment capital, less liabilities of the unincorporated business not deducted from investment capital, except that cash on hand and on deposit shall be treated as investment capital or as business capital as the taxpayer may elect.

(k) "Business income" when used in this chapter shall mean unincorporated business entire net income minus investment income.

(l) "Dealer" when used in this chapter shall mean an individual or unincorporated entity that (A) holds or disposes of property that is stock in trade of the taxpayer, inventory or is otherwise held for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business, or (B) regularly offers to enter into, assume, offset, assign or otherwise terminate positions in property with customers in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business, provided, however, an individual or unincorporated entity shall not be treated as a dealer based solely on such individual's or entity's ownership of an interest in an entity that is a dealer, and provided, further, that an unincorporated entity shall not be treated as a dealer based solely on the ownership by a dealer of an interest in that unincorporated entity.

(m) "Unincorporated entity" when used in this chapter shall include an entity classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes regardless of whether the entity is formed as a corporation, joint-stock company, joint-stock association, body corporate or body politic or whether the entity is organized under a federal or state statute, or under a statute of a federally recognized Indian tribe, or under a statute of a country other than the United States that describes or refers to the entity as incorporated.

(n) Repealed.

Administrative Code of the City of New York

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-502 Unincorporated business defined.

(a) General. An unincorporated business means any trade, business, profession or occupation conducted, engaged in or being liquidated by an individual or unincorporated entity, including a partnership, a fiduciary, a corporation in liquidation or an unincorporated entity that has made the election permitted under paragraph (b) of subdivision one of section 11-602 of this title (but only for the period during which such election is in effect), but not including any entity subject to tax under chapter six of this title and not including any entity doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in paragraph one of subsection (b) of section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law. Unincorporated businesses subject to tax under a local law of the city imposing a tax on utilities shall not be subject to tax under this chapter; provided, however, that unincorporated businesses, other than (1) utility businesses subject to the supervision of the state department of public service and (2) for taxable years beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, utilities as defined in subdivision six of section 11-1101 of this title, which are subject to tax under a local law of the city imposing a tax on vendors of utility services shall be subject to tax under this chapter on that percentage of their entire net income allocable to the city under section 11-508 of this chapter which their receipts other than those taxable under such local law taxing vendors of utility services is of their total receipts. If an individual or an unincorporated entity carries on wholly or partly in the city two or more unincorporated businesses, all such businesses shall be treated as one unincorporated business for the purposes of this chapter. For purposes of this chapter, an unincorporated entity shall be treated as carrying on any trade, business, profession or occupation carried on in whole or in part in the city by any other unincorporated entity in which the first unincorporated entity owns an interest, and the ownership by an unincorporated entity of an interest in another unincorporated entity that is not carrying on any trade, business, profession, or occupation in whole or in part in the city shall not be deemed the conduct of an unincorporated business by the first unincorporated entity. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence, for taxable years beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, an unincorporated business that is a partner in a partnership subject to tax under a local law of the city imposing a tax on utilities, as defined in subdivision six of section 11-1101 of this title, shall not be considered to be carrying on the trade, business, profession or occupation carried on by such partnership.

(b) Services as employee. The performance of services by an individual as an employee or as an officer or director of a corporation, society, association, or political entity, or as a fiduciary, shall not be deemed an unincorporated business, unless such services constitute part of a business regularly carried on by such individual.

(c) Purchase and sale for own account. (1) Definitions. (A) Property. For purposes of this subdivision, property shall mean real and personal property, including but not limited to, property qualifying as investment capital within the meaning of subdivision (h) of section 11-501 of this chapter, other stocks, notes, bonds, debentures, or other evidences of indebtedness, interest rate, currency, or equity notional principal contracts, foreign currencies, interests in, or derivative financial instruments (including options, forward or futures contracts, short positions, and similar financial instruments) in any property described above, and any commodity traded on or subject to the rules of a board of trade or commodity exchange, provided, however, property shall not include: (i) debt instruments issued by the taxpayer; (ii) accounts receivable held by a factor; (iii) property held as stock in trade, inventory or otherwise held for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business; (iv) debt instruments acquired in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business for funds loaned, services rendered or for the sale, rental or other transfer of property by the taxpayer; (v) interests in unincorporated entities; or (vi) positions in property described above entered into, assumed, offset, assigned or terminated by a dealer with respect to such positions in property.

(B) Investor. For purposes of this subdivision, a taxpayer shall be treated as acquiring, holding or disposing of an interest in an unincorporated entity as an investor if: (i) the unincorporated entity meets the requirements of subparagraph (B) of paragraph four of this subdivision and the taxpayer does not receive a distributive share of such entity's income, gain, loss, deduction, credit and basis from a business carried on in whole or in part in the city that is materially greater than its distributive share of any other item of income, gain, loss*19 deduction, credit or basis of such entity; or (ii) with respect to any other unincorporated entity, the taxpayer is neither a general partner nor authorized under the entity's governing instrument to manage or participate in, nor managing, nor participating in, the day-to-day business of the unincorporated entity.

(2) An individual or other unincorporated entity, except a dealer as defined in subdivision (1) of section 11-501 of this chapter, shall not be deemed engaged in an unincorporated business solely by reason of (A) the purchase, holding and sale for his, her or its own account of property, as defined in paragraph one of this subdivision, or the entry into, assumption, offset, assignment, or other termination of a position in any property so defined, or both, (B) the acquisition, holding or disposition, other than in the ordinary course of a trade or business, of interests in unincorporated entities engaged solely in activities described in subparagraph (A), (B) or (C) of this paragraph, or (C) any combination of the activities described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph and any other activity not otherwise constituting the conduct of an unincorporated business subject to the tax imposed by this chapter, but this paragraph shall not apply if the unincorporated entity is taxable as a corporation for federal income tax purposes.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, the receipt by an individual or other unincorporated entity of twenty-five thousand dollars or less of gross receipts during the taxable year (determined without regard to any deductions) from an unincorporated business wholly or partly carried on within the city by such individual or unincorporated entity shall not cause such individual or other unincorporated entity to be treated as not engaged solely in the activities described in subparagraph (A), (B) or (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(4) (A) If a taxpayer that is an unincorporated entity is primarily engaged in (i) activities described in subparagraph (A), (B) or (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision, or (ii) the acquisition, holding or disposition, other than in the ordinary course of a trade or business, of interests as an investor in unincorporated entities carrying on any unincorporated business in whole or in part in the city, or both, the activities described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision carried on by the taxpayer or by any unincorporated entity primarily engaged in the activities described in clause (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph in which the taxpayer owns an interest shall not be deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer.

(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, an unincorporated entity will be treated as primarily engaged in activities described in clause (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, or both, if at least ninety percent of the value of its total assets is represented by assets described in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph.

(C) For purposes of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, assets described in this subparagraph include:

(i) property as defined in paragraph one of this subdivision;

(ii) interests in unincorporated entities not carrying on any unincorporated business in whole or in part in the city; and

(iii) interests in unincorporated entities carrying on an unincorporated business in whole or in part in the city held by the taxpayer as an investor, as defined in paragraph one of this subdivision.

(D) For purposes of determining whether a taxpayer meets the requirements of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, the value of assets described in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph shall be the average monthly gross value of the assets of the taxpayer. For purposes of this paragraph, the value of assets of the taxpayer that consist of real property or marketable securities shall be the fair market value thereof and the value of assets other than real property or marketable securities shall be the value thereof shown on the books and records of the taxpayer in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. In case it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that the use of gross value in determining whether the requirements of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph are met, improperly or inaccurately reflects the taxpayer's primary activities, the commissioner of finance is authorized in his or her discretion and in such manner as he or she may determine, to reduce the gross value of the taxpayer's assets by liabilities attributable thereto or to eliminate assets, so as to properly and accurately reflect the taxpayer's primary activities.

(d) Holding, leasing or managing real property. An owner of real property, a lessee or a fiduciary shall not be deemed engaged in an unincorporated business solely by reason of holding, leasing or managing real property. If an owner of real property or lessee or fiduciary (except a dealer holding real property primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his or her trade or business) who is holding, leasing or managing real property is also carrying on an unincorporated business in whole or in part in the city, whether or not such unincorporated business is carried on at or is connected with such real property, such holding, leasing or managing of real property shall not be deemed an unincorporated business if, and only to the extent that, such real property is held, leased or managed for the purpose of producing rental income from such real property or gain upon the sale or other disposition of such real property. For purposes of this subdivision, the conduct by such owner, lessee or fiduciary, at such real property, of a trade, business, profession or occupation, including, but not limited to, a garage, restaurant, laundry or health club, shall be deemed to be an incident to the holding, leasing or managing of such real property, and shall not be deemed the conduct of an unincorporated business, if such trade, business, profession or occupation is conducted solely for the benefit of tenants at such real property, as an incidental service to such tenants, and is not open or available to the general public, provided, however, if any such owner, lessee or fiduciary operates a garage, parking lot or other similar facility at such real property that is open or available to the general public, the provision by any such owner, lessee or fiduciary of the service of parking, garaging or storing of motor vehicles on a monthly or longer term basis shall be deemed to be an incident to the holding, leasing or managing of such real property, and shall not be deemed the conduct of an unincorporated business if, and only to the extent that, such monthly or longer term parking, garaging or storing service is provided to tenants at such real property as an incidental service to such tenants. If an owner, lessee or fiduciary holding, leasing or managing real property operates at such real property a garage, parking lot or other similar facility that is open or available to the public, each such owner, lessee or fiduciary shall file, together with and as a party of the returns required under section 11-514 of this chapter, a report or schedule for each such garage, parking lot or other similar facility, or in the discretion of the commissioner, make a separate entry on such returns, identifying the specific location and address, license number and licensed capacity of each such garage, parking lot or other similar facility, and shall include such additional information, data and other matters relating to the provision of such monthly or longer term parking, garaging or storing service to tenants as shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance. If the separate information required to be reported by any owner, lessee or fiduciary holding, leasing or managing real property for any garage, parking lot or other similar facility at such real property that is open or available to the public is not contained in the returns required under section 11-514 of this chapter, or in any amended returns, in any material respect, the provision of parking, garaging or storing service to tenants at such real property shall be deemed the conduct of an unincorporated business and not incident to the holding, leasing or managing of such real property.

(e) Sales representative. An individual, other than one who maintains an office or who employs one or more assistants or who otherwise regularly carries on a business, shall not be deemed engaged in an unincorporated business solely by reason of selling goods, wares, merchandise or insurance for more than one enterprise. For purposes of this subdivision, space utilized solely for the display of merchandise and/or for the maintenance and storage of records normally used in the course of business shall not be deemed an office, and the employment of clerical and secretarial assistance shall not be deemed the employment of assistants.

(f) Exempt trusts and organizations. A trust or other unincorporated organization which by reason of its purposes or activities is exempt from federal income tax shall not be deemed an unincorporated business (regardless of whether subject to federal income tax on unrelated business taxable income).

Administrative Code of the City of New York

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-503 Imposition of tax.

(a) General. A tax at the rate of four percent is hereby imposed for each taxable year, beginning with taxable years ending after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, on the unincorporated business taxable income of every unincorporated business wholly or partly carried on within the city. This tax shall be in addition to any other taxes imposed.

(b) Credit against tax. (1) For each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six but before nineteen hundred ninety-six:

(A) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is six hundred dollars or less, a credit shall be allowed for the entire amount of such tax;

(B) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section exceeds six hundred dollars but is less than eight hundred dollars, a credit shall be allowed in the amount determined by multiplying such tax by a fraction the numerator of which is eight hundred dollars minus the amount of such tax and the denominator of which is two hundred dollars; or

(C) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is eight hundred dollars or more, no credit shall be allowed.

(2) For each taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-six:

(A) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is eight hundred dollars or less, a credit shall be allowed for the entire amount of such tax;

(B) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section exceeds eight hundred dollars but is less than one thousand dollars, a credit shall be allowed in the amount determined by multiplying such tax by a fraction the numerator of which is one thousand dollars minus the amount of such tax and the denominator of which is two hundred dollars; or

(C) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is one thousand dollars or more, no credit shall be allowed.

(3) For each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-six:

(A) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is one thousand eight hundred dollars or less, a credit shall be allowed for the entire amount of such tax;

(B) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section exceeds one thousand eight hundred dollars but is less than three thousand two hundred dollars, a credit shall be allowed in the amount determined by multiplying such tax by a fraction the numerator of which is three thousand two hundred dollars minus the amount of such tax and the denominator of which is one thousand four hundred dollars; or

(C) if the tax computed under subdivision (a) of this section is three thousand two hundred dollars or more, no credit shall be allowed.

(4) If separate partnerships, joint ventures or other unincorporated entities have substantially the same partners or members, each of such partners or members has substantially the same interest in each of such partnerships, joint ventures or other unincorporated entities, and such partnerships, joint ventures or other unincorporated entities are engaged in substantially the same business or businesses or in substantially related businesses, all of such partnerships, joint ventures or other unincorporated entities shall be treated as one unincorporated business for purposes of this subdivision. The preceding sentence shall not be construed to limit or affect the meaning or application of any other provision of this chapter.

(5) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, the credit allowable under this subdivision shall be taken prior to any other credit allowed by this section.

(c) Credit relating to stock transfer tax. (1) In addition to any other credit permitted under this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter after the allowance of any other credit under this section. The amount of such credit shall be fifty percent of the tax incurred in market making transactions under the provisions of article twelve of the tax law on such transactions subject to such tax occurring on and after August first, nineteen hundred seventy-six and paid by such taxpayer (except when such tax shall have been paid pursuant to section two hundred seventy-nine-a of the tax law).

(2) For purposes of this subdivision:

(a) the term "taxpayer" shall mean any unincorporated business subject to tax under this chapter registered with the United States securities and exchange commission in accordance with subsection (b) of section fifteen of the securities exchange act of nineteen hundred thirty-four, as amended, and acting as a dealer in a transaction described in subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, and

(b) the term "market making transaction" shall mean any transaction involving a sale (including a short sale) by a dealer of shares or certificates subject to the tax imposed by article twelve of the tax law, provided such shares or certificates are sold:

(i) as stock in trade or inventory or as property held for sale in the ordinary course of such dealer's trade or business (including transfers which are part of an underwriting),

(ii) in (a) a bona fide arbitrage transaction; (b) a bona fide hedge transaction involving a long or short position in any equity security and a long or short position in a security entitling the holder to acquire or sell such equity security; or (c) a risk arbitrage transaction in connection with a merger, acquisition, tender offer, recapitalization, reorganization, or similar transaction, or

(iii) to offset a transaction made in error.

Provided, however, that, except as to subclause (c) of clause (ii) of subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, the term "market making transaction" shall not include any sale of shares or certificates identified in such dealer's records as a security held for investment within the meaning of section twelve hundred thirty-six of the internal revenue code.

(3) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter, except as otherwise provided in subdivision (g) of sections 11-512 and 11-514 of this chapter; provided, however, that the provisions of this chapter notwithstanding, the amount to be refunded pursuant to this subdivision shall not be paid prior to the first day of the eighth month following the close of the taxable year, and the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-528 of this chapter notwithstanding, interest shall be allowed and paid on the overpayment of the credit under this subdivision from the first day of the eleventh month following the close of the taxable year, or three months after a claim for the credit or refund provided for in this subdivision has been filed, whichever is later.

(4) Provided, however, that the credit provided under this subdivision shall be allowed only to the extent that the amount of credit allowable with respect to market making transactions under the provisions of this subdivision (determined without regard to the provisions of this paragraph) exceeds fifty percent of all rebates (provided for under the provisions of section two hundred eighty-a of article twelve of the tax law) allowed for such taxes incurred in the same market making transactions with respect to which the credit is determined. No credit shall be allowed under this subdivision with respect to any tax incurred in market making transactions occurring on or after October first, nineteen hundred eighty-one.

(d) Credit relating to certain sales and compensating use taxes. (1) In addition to the credits allowed by subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this section. The amount of such credit shall be the excess of (A) the amount of sales and compensating use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law during the taxpayer's taxable year which became legally due on or after and was paid on or after July first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven, less any credit or refund of such taxes, with respect to the purchase or use by the taxpayer of machinery or equipment for use or consumption directly and predominantly in the production of tangible personal property, gas, electricity, refrigeration or steam for sale, by manufacturing, processing, generating, assembling, refining, mining or extracting, or telephone central office equipment or station apparatus or comparable telegraph equipment for use directly and predominantly in receiving at destination or initiating and switching telephone or telegraph communication, but not including parts with a useful life of one year or less or tools or supplies used in connection with such machinery, equipment or apparatus over (B) the amount of any credit for such sales and compensating use taxes allowed or allowable against the taxes imposed by subchapter two of chapter eleven of this title, for any periods embraced within the taxable year of the taxpayer under this chapter.

(2) The credit allowed under this section for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter.

(3) Where the taxpayer receives a refund or credit of any tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law for which the taxpayer had claimed a credit under the provisions of this section in a prior taxable year, the amount of such tax refund or credit shall be added to the tax imposed by this section, and such amount shall be subtracted in computing unincorporated business taxable income for the taxable year.

(e) Credit relating to the annual increase in certain payments to a landlord by a taxpayer relocating industrial and commercial employment opportunities. (1) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter to be credited or refunded, without interest, in the manner hereinafter provided in this section.

(A) Where a taxpayer shall have relocated to the city from a location outside the state, and by such relocation shall have created a minimum of one hundred industrial or commercial employment opportunities, and where such taxpayer shall have entered into a written lease for the relocation premises, the terms of which lease provide for increased additional payments to the landlord which are based solely and directly upon any increase or addition in real estate taxes imposed on the leased premises, the taxpayer upon approval and certification by the industrial and commercial incentive board as hereinafter provided shall be entitled to a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of such credit shall be: An amount equal to the annual increased payments actually made by the taxpayer to the landlord which are solely and directly attributable to an increase or addition to the real estate tax imposed upon the leased premises. Such credit shall be allowed only to the extent that the taxpayer has not otherwise claimed said amount as a deduction against the tax imposed by this chapter.

The industrial and commercial incentive board in approving and certifying to the qualifications of the taxpayer to receive the tax credit provided for herein shall first determine that the applicant has met the requirements of this section, and further, that the granting of the tax credit to the applicant is in the "public interest." In determining that the granting of the tax credit is in the public interest, the board shall make affirmative findings that: the granting of the tax credit to the applicant will not effect an undue hardship on similar taxpayers already located within the city; the existence of this tax incentive has been instrumental in bringing about the relocation of the applicant to the city; and the granting of the tax credit will foster the economic recovery and economic development of the city.

The tax credit, if approved and certified by the industrial and commercial incentive board, must be utilized annually by the taxpayer for the length of the term of the lease or for a period not to exceed ten years from the date of relocation, whichever period is shorter.

(B) Definitions: When used in this section, "Employment opportunity" means the creation of a full time position of gainful employment for an industrial or commercial employee and the actual hiring of such employee for the said position.

"Industrial employee" means one engaged in the manufacture or assembling of tangible goods or the processing of raw materials.

"Commercial employee" means one engaged in the buying, selling or otherwise providing of goods or services other than on a retail basis.

"Retail" means the selling or otherwise disposing or furnishing of tangible goods or services directly to the ultimate user or consumer.

"Full time position" means the hiring of an industrial or commercial employee in a position of gainful employment where the number of hours worked by such employee is not less than thirty hours during any given week.

"Industrial and commercial incentive board" means the board created pursuant to subchapter two of chapter two of this title.

(2) The credit allowed under this section for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter.

(f) Credit relating to certain expenses involved in the cost of relocating industrial and commercial employment opportunities. (1) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this section. The amount of such credit shall be:

(A) A maximum of three hundred dollars for each commercial employment and a maximum of five hundred dollars for each industrial employment opportunity relocated to the city from an area outside the state. Such credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer who relocates a minimum of ten employment opportunities. The credit shall be allowed against employment opportunity relocation costs incurred by the taxpayer. Such credit shall be allowed only to the extent that the taxpayer has not claimed a deduction for allowable employment opportunity relocation costs. The credit allowed hereunder may be taken by the taxpayer in whole or in part in the year in which the employment opportunity is relocated by such taxpayer or either of the two years succeeding such event; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to a taxpayer for industrial employment opportunities relocated to premises (i) that are within an industrial business zone established pursuant to section 22-626 of this code and (ii) for which a binding contract to purchase or lease was first entered into by the taxpayer on or after July first, two thousand five.

The commissioner of finance is empowered to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe the form of application to be used.

(B) Definitions: When used in this section, "Employment Opportunity" means the creation of a full time position of gainful employment for an industrial or commercial employee and the actual hiring of such employee for the said position.

"Industrial Employee" means one engaged in the manufacture or assembling of tangible goods or the processing of raw materials.

"Commercial Employee" means one engaged in the buying, selling or otherwise providing of goods or services other than on a retail basis.

"Retail" means the selling or otherwise disposing of tangible goods directly to the ultimate user or consumer.

"Full Time Position" means the hiring of an industrial or commercial employee in a position of gainful employment where the number of hours worked by such employee is not less than thirty hours during any given work week.

"Employment Opportunity Relocation Costs" means the costs incurred by the taxpayer in moving furniture, files, papers and office equipment into the city from a location outside the state; the costs incurred by the taxpayer in the moving from a location outside the state; the costs of installation of telephones and other communications equipment required as a result of the relocation to the city from a location outside the state; the cost incurred in the purchase of office furniture and fixtures required as a result of the relocation to the city from a location outside the state; and the cost of renovation of the premises to be occupied as a result of the relocation provided, however, that such renovation costs shall be allowable only to the extent that they do not exceed seventy-five cents per square foot of the total area utilized by the taxpayer in the occupied premises.

(2) The credit allowed under this section for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter.

(g) Repealed.

(h) Repealed.

(i) Relocation and employment assistance credit. (1) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying five hundred dollars or, in the case of a taxpayer that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, one thousand dollars or, in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, two thousand, for a relocation to eligible premises located within a revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, three thousand dollars, by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are not within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of section 22-621 of the code is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, and before July first, two thousand, one thousand dollars; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; provided, further, that no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to any taxpayer that has elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 22-622 of the code to take such credit against a gross receipts tax imposed under chapter eleven of this title; and provided that in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two certifications of eligibility for more than one relocation, the portion of the total amount of eligible aggregate employment shares to be multiplied by the dollar amount specified in this paragraph for each such certification of a relocation shall be the number of total attributed eligible aggregate employment shares determined with respect to such relocation pursuant to subdivision (o) of section 22-621 of the code. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares," "relocate," "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-621 of the code.

(2) The credit allowed under this subdivision with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the first taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to such premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the eligible business maintained employment shares in the eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises. Except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(3) The credit allowable under this subdivision shall be deducted after the credits allowed by subdivisions (b) and (j) of this section, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this section.

(4) In the case of a taxpayer that has obtained a certification of eligibility pursuant to chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code dated on or after July first, two thousand for a relocation to eligible premises located within the revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, the credits allowed under this subdivision, or in the case of a taxpayer that has relocated more than once, the portion of such credits attributed to such certification of eligibility pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of such relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year ; provided, however, that this paragraph shall not apply to any relocation for which an application for a certification of eligibility was not submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, unless the date of such relocation is on or after July first, two thousand.

(j) (1) If a partner in an unincorporated business is taxable under this chapter and is required to include in unincorporated business taxable income his, her or its distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, or guaranteed payments from, such unincorporated business, such partner shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter equal to the lesser of the amounts determined in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph:

(A) The amount determined in this subparagraph is the product of (i) the sum of (I) the tax imposed by this chapter on the unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner and paid by the unincorporated business and (II) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under this section (except the credit allowed by subdivision (b) or this section) for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner, to the extent that such credits do not reduce such unincorporated business's tax below zero, and (ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the net total of the partner's distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business for such taxable year, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(B) The amount determined in this subparagraph is the difference between (i) the tax computed pursuant to this chapter on the unincorporated business taxable income of the partner, without allowance of any credits allowed by this section, and (ii) the tax so computed, determined as if the partner had no such distributive share or guaranteed payments with respect to the unincorporated business, provided, however, that the amounts computed in clauses (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph shall be computed with the following modifications:

(I) such amounts shall be computed without taking into account any carryforward or carryback by the partner of a net operating loss;

(II) if, prior to taking into account any distributive share or guaranteed payments from any unincorporated business or any net operating loss carryforward or carryback, the unincorporated business taxable income of the partner is less than zero, such unincorporated business taxable income shall be treated as zero; and

(2) (A) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in paragraph one of this subdivision, the credit or the sum of the credits that may be taken by a partner for a taxable year under this subdivision with respect to an unincorporated business or unincorporated businesses in which he, she or it is a partner shall not exceed the tax imposed on the unincorporated business taxable income of such partner under this chapter for such taxable year reduced by the credit allowed under subdivision (b) of this section. If the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision or the sum of such credits exceeds such tax as so reduced, the amount of the excess may be carried forward, in order, to each of the seven immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously taken, shall be allowed as a credit in each of such years. In applying the provisions of the preceding sentence, the credit determined for the taxable year under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be taken before taking any credit carryforward pursuant to this paragraph and the credit carryforward attributable to the earliest taxable year shall be taken before taking a credit carryforward attributable to a subsequent taxable year.

(B) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, in the case of a partner which is a partnership, no credit carryforward to any taxable year shall be allowed unless one or more of the partners therein during such taxable year where persons having a proportionate interest or interests, amounting to at least eighty percent of all such interests, in the unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions of the partnership which was allowed the credit for which a carryforward is claimed. In such event, the carryforward allowable on account of such credit shall not exceed the percentage of the amount otherwise allowable, determined by dividing (i) the sum of the proportionate interests in the unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions of the partnership, for the year to which the credit is carried forward, attributable to such partners, by (ii) the sum of such proportionate interests owned by all partners for such taxable year. The amount by which the carryforward otherwise allowable exceeds the amount allowable pursuant to the preceding sentence shall not be a carryforward to any other taxable year.

(3) The credit allowed under this subdivision shall not be allowed to a partner in an unincorporated business with respect to any tax paid by the unincorporated business under this chapter for any taxable year beginning before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four.

(5) The commissioner of finance of the city of New York shall convene a working group, consisting of representatives of the department of finance of the city of New York and representatives of affected industries, and other persons the commissioner deems appropriate, to study the treatment under the unincorporated business tax of income from investment and real estate activities and the impact of the credit permitted by this subdivision, including but not limited to cases where interests in a taxpayer are held by another taxpayer subject to tax on unincorporated business taxable income and the first taxpayer is entitled to claim a deduction for a net operating loss carryover and the second is not entitled to a corresponding deduction with the result, in certain cases, that the net income allocated to the second taxpayer may be subject to an effective rate of tax in excess of the rate imposed by this chapter. In addition, the working group shall also study the tax treatment of parking garages which are open or available to the general public and which also provide available space to tenants. In conducting such study, such working group shall take into account such factors as economic development, tax administration and other goals of tax policy and shall consider alternatives that would reduce disincentives for investing in corporations and other entities engaged in business in the city of New York, such as exempting income from investment activities from the tax on unincorporated business taxable income. The commissioner shall prepare a report based on the deliberations of the working group on or before April fifteenth, nineteen hundred ninety-five.

(k) Credit relating to certain sales and compensating use taxes on certain services. (1) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision. The amount of such credit shall be equal to the amount of sales and compensating use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law during the taxpayer's taxable year (and the amount of any interest imposed in connection therewith) which was paid after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, less any credit or refund of such taxes (or such interest), with respect to the purchase or use by the taxpayer of the services described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five-b of the tax law.

(3) Where the taxpayer receives a refund or credit of any tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law (or of any interest imposed in connection therewith) for which the taxpayer had claimed a credit under this subdivision in a prior taxable year, the amount of such tax (or such interest) refund or credit shall be added to the tax imposed by this chapter, and such amount shall be subtracted in computing unincorporated business taxable income for the taxable year.

(l) Lower Manhattan relocation and employment assistance credit. (1) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-C of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying three thousand dollars by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; provided, further, that no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to any taxpayer that has elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 22-624 of the code to take such credit against a gross receipts tax imposed under chapter eleven of this title. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares", "eligible premises", "relocate", "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-623 of the code.

(2) The credit allowed under this subdivision with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the taxable year of the relocation and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to eligible premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the taxpayer maintained employment shares in eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises.

(3) Except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(4) The credits allowed under this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of the relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year.

(5) The credit allowable under this subdivision shall be deducted after the credits allowed by subdivisions (b), (i) and (j) of this section, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this section.

(m) Film production credit.*26 (1) allowance of credit. A taxpayer which is a qualified film production company as defined in this subdivision and which is subject to tax under this chapter, shall be allowed a credit against the unincorporated business income tax imposed pursuant to this chapter, in accordance with the provisions in paragraph (5) of this subdivision, to be computed as hereinafter provided.

(2) The amount of the credit shall be the product of five percent and the qualified production costs paid or incurred in the production of a qualified film, provided that the qualified production costs (excluding post production costs) paid or incurred which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at a qualified film production facility in the production of such qualified film equal or exceed seventy-five percent of the production costs (excluding post production costs) paid or incurred which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at any film production facility within and without the city of New York in the production of such qualified film. However, if the qualified production costs (excluding post production costs) which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at a qualified film production facility in the production of such qualified film are less than three million dollars, then the portion of the qualified productions costs attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services in the production of such qualified film outside of a qualified film production facility shall be allowed only if the shooting days spent in the city of New York outside of a film production facility in the production of such qualified film equal or exceed seventy-five percent of the total shooting days spent within and without the city of New York outside of a film production facility in the production of such qualified film. The credit shall be allowed for the taxable year in which the production of such qualified film is completed.

(3) No qualified production costs used by a taxpayer either as the basis for the allowance of the credit provided for under this subdivision or used in the calculation of the credit provided for under this subdivision shall be used by such taxpayer to claim any other credit allowed pursuant to this title.

(4) Definitions. As used in this subdivision, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(A) "Qualified production costs" means production costs only to the extent such costs are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services within the city of New York directly and predominantly in the production (including pre-production and post production) of a qualified film.

(B) "Production costs" means any costs for tangible property used and services performed directly and predominantly in the production (including pre-production and post production) of a qualified film. "Production costs" shall not include (i) costs for a story, script or scenario to be used for a qualified film and (ii) wages or salaries or other compensation for writers, directors, including music directors, producers and performers (other than background actors with no scripted lines). "Production costs" generally include technical and crew production costs, such as expenditures for film production facilities, or any part thereof, props, makeup, wardrobe, film processing, camera, sound recording, set construction, lighting, shooting, editing and meals.

(C) "Qualified film" means a feature-length film, television film, television pilot and/or each episode of a television series, regardless of the medium by means of which the film, pilot or episode is created or conveyed. "Qualified film" shall not include (i) a documentary film, news or current affairs program, interview or talk program, "how-to" (i.e., instructional) film or program, film or program consisting primarily of stock footage, sporting event or sporting program, game show, award ceremony, film or program intended primarily for industrial, corporate or institutional end-users, fundraising film or program, daytime drama (i.e., daytime "soap opera"), commercials, music videos or "reality" program, or (ii) a production for which records are required under section 2257 of title 18, United States code, to be maintained with respect to any performer in such production (reporting of books, films, etc. with respect to sexually explicit conduct).

(D) "Film production facility" shall mean a building and/or complex of buildings and their improvements and associated back-lot facilities in which films are or are intended to be regularly produced and which contain at least one sound stage.

(E) "Qualified film production facility" shall mean a film production facility in the city of New York, which contains at least one sound stage having a minimum of seven thousand square feet of contiguous production space.

(F) "Qualified film production company" is an unincorporated business which is principally engaged in the production of a qualified film and controls the qualified film during production.

(5) Application of credit. (A) If the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year exceeds the taxpayer's tax for such year, fifty percent of the excess shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded as provided in section 11-526 of this chapter, provided, however, that notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-528 of this chapter, no interest shall be paid thereon. The balance of such credit not credited or refunded in such taxable year may be carried over to the immediately succeeding taxable year and may be deducted from the taxpayer`s tax for such year. The excess, if any, of the amount of the credit over the tax for such succeeding year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter, provided, however, that notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-528 of this chapter, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(B) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section to the contrary, the credit provided by this subdivision shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this chapter for the taxable year after reduction by all other credits permitted by this chapter.

(n) Industrial business zone tax credit. (1) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand six, in addition to any other credit allowed by this section, an eligible business that first enters into a binding contract on or after July first, two thousand five to purchase or lease eligible premises to which it relocates shall be allowed a one-time credit against the tax imposed by this chapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision. The amount of such credit shall be one thousand dollars per full-time employee; provided, however, that the amount of such credit shall not exceed the lesser of actual relocation costs or one hundred thousand dollars.

(2) When used in this subdivision, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"Eligible business" means any business subject to tax under this chapter that (A) has been conducting substantial business operations and engaging primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities at one or more locations within the city of New York or outside the state of New York continuously during the twenty-four consecutive full months immediately preceding relocation, (B) has leased the premises from which it relocates continuously during the twenty-four consecutive full months immediately preceding relocation, (C) first enters into a binding contract on or after July first, two thousand five to purchase or lease eligible premises to which such business will relocate, and (D) will be engaged primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities at such eligible premises.

"Eligible premises" means premises located entirely within an industrial business zone. For any eligible business, an industrial business zone tax credit shall not be granted with respect to more than one eligible premises.

"Full-time employee" means (A) one person gainfully employed in an eligible premises by an eligible business where the number of hours required to be worked by such person is not less than thirty-five hours per week; or (B) two persons gainfully employed in an eligible premises by an eligible business where the number of hours required to be worked by each such person is more than fifteen hours per week but less than thirty-five hours per week.

"Industrial business zone" means an area within the city of New York established pursuant to section 22-626 of this code.

"Industrial business zone tax credit" means a credit, as provided for in this subdivision, against a tax imposed under this chapter.

"Industrial and manufacturing activities" means activities involving the assembly of goods to create a different article, or the processing, fabrication, or packaging of goods. Industrial and manufacturing activities shall not include waste management or utility services.

"Relocation" means the physical relocation of furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery and supplies directly to an eligible premises, from one or more locations of an eligible business, including at least one location at which such business conducts substantial business operations and engages primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities. For purposes of this subdivision, the date of relocation shall be (A) the date of the completion of the relocation to the eligible premises or (B) ninety days from the commencement of the relocation to the eligible premises, whichever is earlier.

"Relocation costs" means costs incurred in the relocation of such furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery and supplies, including, but not limited to, the cost of dismantling and reassembling equipment and the cost of floor preparation necessary for the reassembly of the equipment. Relocation costs shall include only such costs that are incurred during the ninety-day period immediately following the commencement of the relocation to an eligible premises. Relocation costs shall not include any costs for structural or capital improvements or items purchased in connection with the relocation.

(3) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-526 of this chapter.

(4) The number of full-time employees for the purposes of calculating an industrial business zone tax credit shall be the average number of full-time employees, calculated on a weekly basis, employed in the eligible premises by the eligible business in the fifty-two week period immediately following relocation.

(5) The credit allowed under this subdivision must be taken by the taxpayer in the taxable year in which such fifty-two week period ends.

(6) For the purposes of calculating entire net income in the taxable year that an industrial business zone tax credit is allowed, a taxpayer must add back the amount of the credit allowed under this subdivision, to the extent of any relocation costs deducted in the current taxable year or a prior taxable year in calculating federal taxable income.

(7) The credit allowed under this subdivision shall not be granted for an eligible business for more than one relocation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an industrial business zone tax credit allowed under this subdivision shall not be granted if the eligible business receives benefits pursuant to chapter six-B or six-C of title twenty-two of this code, through a grant program administered by the business relocation assistance corporation, or through the New York city printers relocation fund grant.

(8) The commissioner of finance is authorized to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe forms necessary to effectuate the purposes of this subdivision.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-504 Taxable years to which tax applies; tax for taxable years beginning prior to and ending after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

(a) General. The tax imposed by section 11-503 of this chapter, with any modification permitted by subdivision (b) of this section, is imposed for each taxable year beginning with taxable years ending on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

(b) Alternate methods for determining tax for taxable years ending on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six. (1) The tax for any taxable year ending on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be an amount equal to the tax which would have been imposed had section 11-503 of this chapter been in effect for the entire taxable year, multiplied by the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year which occur after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five and divided by the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year.

(2) In lieu of the method of computation of tax prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision, if the taxpayer maintained adequate records for the portion of any taxable year ending on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, which falls within the calendar year nineteen hundred sixty-six, the tax for such taxable year at the election of the taxpayer may be computed on the basis of the unincorporated business taxable income which the taxpayer would have reported had he or she filed a federal income tax return for a taxable year beginning January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and ending with the close of such taxable year ending before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six. Such taxable year beginning January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and ending before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six shall be deemed (unless clearly indicated otherwise) to be the taxable year of the taxpayer. For purposes of this paragraph, the unincorporated business exemptions allowable under section 11-510 of this chapter, the credit allowable under subdivision (b) of section 11-503 of this chapter and any net operating loss deduction as modified pursuant to subdivision two of section 11-507 of this chapter shall each be reduced by the same part of such exemptions, credit, or net operating loss deduction (as the case may be) as the number of months (or major portions thereof) in the taxable year occurring before January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six is of the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year. Except as provided in paragraph two, the tax for such period ending before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this chapter.

§ 11-506 Unincorporated business gross income.

(a) (1) General. Unincorporated business gross income of an unincorporated business means the sum of the items of income and gain of the business, of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, includible in gross income for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes, including income and gain from any property employed in the business, or from liquidation of the business, or from collection of installment obligations of the business, or from the sale or other disposition by an unincorporated entity of an interest in another unincorporated entity if and to the extent such income or gain is attributable to a trade, business, profession or occupation carried on in whole or in part in the city by such other unincorporated entity, with the modifications specified in this section.

(2) The character of a partner's distributive share of gross income, gains, losses and deductions of an unincorporated entity shall be determined as if such gross income, gains, losses and deductions were realized directly by such partner regardless of how the interest in the unincorporated entity was acquired and regardless of whether the distributive share is proportionate to the partner's capital interest in the unincorporated entity, provided, however, this paragraph shall not apply to payments to a partner treated as occurring between the unincorporated entity and one who is not a partner under section seven hundred seven of the internal revenue code, and provided, further, this paragraph shall not affect the determination of whether gross income, gains, losses or deductions of an unincorporated entity are subject to the tax imposed by this chapter as realized from an unincorporated business.

(b) Modifications increasing federal gross income. There shall be added to federal gross income of the business the following items attributable to the business:

(1) Interest income on obligations of any state other than this state, or of a political subdivision of any such other state unless created by compact or agreement to which this state is a party.

(2) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States, which the laws of the United States exempt from federal income tax but not from state or local income taxes.

(3) In the case of a taxpayer who has exercised the election permitted by subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter, if the property to which such election relates was sold or otherwise disposed of during the taxable year, the amount required by said subdivision to be added to federal gross income.

(4) The entire amount allowable as an exclusion or deduction for stock transfer taxes imposed by article twelve of the tax law in determining federal gross income but only to the extent that such taxes are incurred and paid in market making transactions.

(5) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law in determining federal gross income but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(6) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction as rent in determining federal gross income but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (e) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(7) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction in determining federal gross income but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (f) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(8) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which would properly be includible for federal income tax purposes had the taxpayer not made the election permitted pursuant to such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four.

(9) Upon the disposition of property to which subdivision fifteen of section 11-507 of this chapter applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in such subdivision fifteen attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in subdivision fourteen of section 11-507 of this chapter attributable to such property.

(10) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law in determining federal gross income, but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (g) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(11) Repealed.

(12) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law (or for any interest imposed in connection therewith) in determining federal gross income, but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (k) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(13) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction in determining federal gross income of any loss, including but not limited to, losses from notional principal contracts, losses, other than as a dealer, from the holding, sale, disposition, assumption, offset or termination of a position in, property, as defined in paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter, or other substantially similar losses from ordinary and routine trading or investment activity to the extent determined by the commissioner of finance, realized in connection with activities described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter if, and to the extent that, such activities are not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(14) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the case of a taxpayer that is an unincorporated entity described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph four of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter, the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction in determining federal gross income of any loss realized from the sale or other disposition of an interest in another unincorporated entity if, and to the extent that, such loss is attributable to activities of such other unincorporated entity not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(15) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction in determining federal gross income of any loss realized from the holding, leasing or managing of real property if, and to the extent that, such holding, leasing or managing of real property is not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(16) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction in determining federal gross income of any loss realized from the provision by an owner, lessee or fiduciary holding, leasing or managing real property of the service of parking, garaging or storing of motor vehicles on a monthly or longer term basis to tenants at such real property if, and to the extent that, the provision of such services to such tenants is not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(c) Modifications reducing federal gross income. There shall be subtracted from federal gross income of the business the following items attributable to the business:

(1) Interest income on obligations of the United States and its possessions to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes;

(2) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities of any authority, commission or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state or local income taxes under the laws of the United States;

(3) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities to the extent exempt from income tax under the laws of the city or this state authorizing the issuance of such obligations or securities but includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes;

(3-a) Fifty percent of dividends to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes and not subtracted under paragraph two or three of this subdivision, provided, however, that there shall be no subtraction pursuant to this paragraph for any portion of a dividend from stock with respect to which a dividend deduction would be disallowed by subsection (c) of section two hundred forty-six of the internal revenue code if the unincorporated business were a corporation;

(4) The amount of any refund or credit for overpayment of income taxes imposed by the city, this state or any other taxing jurisdiction, or the tax imposed by article thirteen-A of the tax law, to the extent properly included in gross income for federal tax purposes;

(5) With respect to gain derived from the sale or other disposition of any property acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, except property described in subsections one and four of section twelve hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code, the difference between:

(a) the amount of gain included in federal gross income with respect to each such property, and

(b) the amount of gain (if smaller than the amount described in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph) that would be included in federal gross income with respect to each such property if the federal adjusted basis of such property on the date of the sale or other disposition had been equal to its fair market value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, or the date of its sale or other disposition prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, plus or minus all adjustments to basis made with respect to such property for federal income tax purposes for periods on and after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six; provided, however, that the total modification provided by this subparagraph shall not exceed the taxpayer's net gain from the sale or other disposition of all such property.

(6) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount properly includible in federal gross income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four.

(8) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount of any income or gain (to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes) realized from the holding, leasing or managing of real property if, and to the extent that, such holding, leasing or managing of real property is not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(9) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount of any income or gain (to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes), including but not limited to, dividends, interest, payments with respect to securities loans, income from notional principal contracts, or income and gains, other than as a dealer, from the holding, sale, disposition, assumption, offset or termination of a position in, property, as defined in paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter, or other substantially similar income from ordinary and routine trading or investment activity to the extent determined by the commissioner of finance, realized in connection with activities described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter if, and to the extent that, such activities are not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the case of a taxpayer that is an unincorporated entity described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph four of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter, the amount of any income or gain (to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes) realized from the sale or other disposition of an interest in another unincorporated entity if, and to the extent that, such income or gain is attributable to activities of such other unincorporated entity not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(11) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the amount of any income or gain (to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes) realized from the provision by an owner, lessee or fiduciary holding, leasing or managing real property of the service of parking, garaging or storing of motor vehicles on a monthly or longer term basis to tenants at such real property if, and to the extent that, the provision of such services to such tenants is not deemed an unincorporated business pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(d) Upon the disposition of property to which subdivisions twenty and twenty-one of section 11-507 apply, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the modifications provided in such subdivisions attributable to such property.

(e) Related members expense add back and income exclusion.

(1) Definitions. (A) Related member or members. For purposes of this subdivision, the term related member or members means a person, corporation, or other entity, including an entity that is treated as a partnership or other pass-through vehicle for purposes of federal taxation, whether such person, corporation or entity is a taxpayer or not, where one such person, corporation, or entity, or set of related persons, corporations or entities, directly or indirectly owns or controls a controlling interest in another entity. Such entity or entities may include all taxpayers under this title.

(B) Controlling interest. A controlling interest shall mean (i) in the case of a corporation, either thirty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

(C) Royalty payments. Royalty payments are payments directly connected to the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange, or any other disposition of licenses, trademarks, copyrights, trade names, trade dress, service marks, mask works, trade secrets, patents and any other similar types of intangible assets as determined by the commissioner of finance, and includes amounts allowable as interest deductions under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such amounts are directly or indirectly for, related to or in connection with the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange or disposition of such intangible assets.

(D) Valid business purpose. A valid business purpose is one or more business purposes, other than the avoidance or reduction of taxation, which alone or in combination constitute the primary motivation for some business activity or transaction, which activity or transaction changes in a meaningful way, apart from tax effects, the economic position of the taxpayer. The economic position of the taxpayer includes an increase in the market share of the taxpayer, or the entry by the taxpayer into new business markets.

(2) Royalty expense add backs. (A) For the purpose of computing unincorporated business entire net income, a taxpayer must add back royalty payments to a related member during the taxable year to the extent deductible in calculating federal taxable income.

(B) The add back of royalty payments shall not be required if and to the extent that such payments meet either of the following conditions:

(i) the related member during the same taxable year directly or indirectly paid or incurred the amount to a person or entity that is not a related member, and such transaction was done for a valid business and the payments are made at arm's length;

(ii) the royalty payments are paid or incurred to a related member organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, are subject to a comprehensive income tax treaty between such country and the United States, and are taxed in such country at a tax rate at least equal to that imposed by this state.

(3) Royalty income exclusions. For the purpose of computing unin- corporated business entire net income, a taxpayer shall be allowed to deduct royalty payments directly or indirectly received from a related member during the taxable year to the extent included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income unless unless such royalty payments would not be required to be added back under paragraph two of this subdivision or other similar provision in this chapter.

(f) Upon the disposition of property to which subdivisions twenty-three and twenty-four of section 11-507 of this chapter apply, the amount of any gain or loss includible in unincorporated business gross income shall be adjusted to reflect the modifications provided in such subdivisions attributable to such property.

§ 11-507 Unincorporated business deductions.

The unincorporated business deductions of an unincorporated business means the items of loss and deduction directly connected with or incurred in the conduct of the business, which are allowable for federal income tax purposes for the taxable year (including losses and deductions connected with any property employed in the business), with the following modifications:

(1) A deduction shall be allowed for charitable contributions of the unincorporated business, to the extent that such contributions would be deductible for federal income tax purposes if made by a corporation, but not in excess of five per centum of the amount by which the unincorporated business gross income exceeds the sum of (A) the unincorporated business deductions computed without the benefit of any deduction for charitable contributions and (B) the deduction allowed under subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter, where the election permitted by such subsection has been exercised.

(2) (a) A deduction shall be allowed for net operating losses incurred by the unincorporated business, except as otherwise provided by paragraph (b) of this subdivision, in an amount computed in the same manner as the net operating loss deduction which would be allowed for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes if the unincorporated business were an individual taxpayer (but determined solely by reference to the unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions, allocated to the city, of the unincorporated business); provided, however, that such net operating loss deduction which would be allowed for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes shall for purposes of this paragraph be determined as if the unincorporated business had elected under section one hundred seventy-two of the internal revenue code to relinquish the entire carryback period with respect to net operating losses, except with respect to the first ten thousand dollars of each of such losses, sustained during taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. Such deduction shall not include any net operating loss sustained during any taxable year beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and for the purposes of this paragraph a net operating loss shall be determined without regard to any deductions allowed pursuant to subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter and any net operating loss for a taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-one shall be computed without regard to the deduction allowed with respect to recovery property under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code; in lieu of such deduction, a taxpayer shall be allowed for such taxable year with respect to such property the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of such internal revenue code as such section was in full force and effect on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty.

(b) In the case of a partnership, no net operating loss carryback or carryover to any taxable year shall be allowed unless one or more of the partners during such taxable year were persons having a proportionate interest or interests, amounting to at least eighty percent of all such interests, in the unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions of the partnership which sustained the loss for which a carryback or carryover is claimed. In such event, the carryback or carryover allowable on account of such loss shall not exceed the percentage of the amount otherwise allowable, determined by dividing (A) the sum of the proportionate interests in the unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions of the partnership, for the year to which the loss is carried back or carried over, attributable to such partners, by (B) the sum of such proportionate interests owned by all partners for such taxable year. The amount by which the carryback or carryover otherwise allowable exceeds the amount allowable pursuant to the preceding sentence shall not be a carryback or carryover to any other taxable year.

(3) No deduction shall be allowed (except as provided in section 11509 of this chapter) for amounts paid or incurred to a proprietor or partner for services or for use of capital.

(4) No deduction shall be allowed for income taxes imposed by the city, this state or any other taxing jurisdiction, or the tax imposed by article thirteen-A of the tax law.

(5) No deduction shall be allowed for (A) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is exempt from tax under this chapter; (B) expenses paid or incurred for the production or collection of such income or the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income; or (C) the amortizable bond premium on any bond the interest income from which is so exempt.

(6) No deduction shall be allowed in respect of the excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss, but capital losses incurred in the unincorporated business shall be treated as ordinary losses and shall be allowed in full.

(7) In the case of a taxpayer who has exercised the election permitted by subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter, no deduction shall be allowed for expenditures with reference to the property to which such election relates, or for depreciation of such property, except as permitted by said subdivision.

(8) A deduction shall be allowed (to the extent not allowable for federal income tax purposes) for (A) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax; (B) ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for the production or collection of such income or the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income; and (C) the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax.

(9) At the election of the taxpayer, a deduction shall be allowed for expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of industrial waste treatment facilities and air pollution control facilities.

(A) (i) The term "industrial waste treatment facilities" shall mean facilities for the treatment, neutralization or stabilization of industrial waste (as the term "industrial waste" is defined in section 17-0105 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such treatment, neutralization or stabilization to the point of disposal, including the necessary pumping and transmitting facilities, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable.

(ii) The term "air pollution control facilities" shall mean facilities which remove, reduce, or render less noxious air contaminants emitted from an air contamination source (as the terms "air contaminant" and "air contamination source" are defined in section 19-0107 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such removal, reduction or rendering to the point of discharge of air, meeting emission standards as established by the air pollution control board, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable and excluding those facilities which rely for their efficacy on dilution, dispersion or assimilation of air contaminants in the ambient air after emission.

(B) However, such deduction shall be allowed only (i) with respect to tangible property which is depreciable, pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in the city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of which, in the case of industrial waste treatment facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and only for expenditures paid or incurred prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-two, or which, in the case of air pollution control facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and

(ii) on condition that such facilities have been certified by the state commissioner of environmental conservation or his or her designated representative, in the same manner as provided in either section 17-0707 or 19-0309 of the environmental conservation law, as applicable, as complying with the provision of the environmental conservation law, the sanitary code and regulations, permits or orders promulgated pursuant thereto, and

(iii) on condition that for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, no deduction for such expenditures or for depreciation of the same property allowed for federal income tax purposes shall be allowed under this chapter, except to the extent that the basis of the property may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, or in case a deduction is allowable pursuant to this subdivision, for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that any deduction allowed for federal income tax purposes for such expenditures or for depreciation of the same property be proportionately reduced in computing unincorporated business deductions for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, and

(iv) where the election provided for in subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter has not been exercised in respect to the same property.

(C) (i) If expenditures in respect to an industrial waste treatment facility or an air pollution control facility have been deducted as provided herein and if within ten years from the end of the taxable year in which such deduction was allowed such property or any part thereof is used for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable, the taxpayer shall report such change of use in its return for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed and any carryback or carryover year, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-523 of this chapter.

(ii) If a deduction is allowed as herein provided for expenditures paid or incurred during any taxable year on the basis of a temporary certificate of compliance issued pursuant to the public health law, and if the taxpayer fails to obtain a permanent certificate of compliance upon completion of the facilities with respect to which such temporary certificate was issued, the taxpayer shall report such failure in its report for the taxable year during which such facilities are completed, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed and any carryback or carryover year, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-523 of this chapter.

(D) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this subdivision, such deduction shall be disregarded in computing gain or loss, and the gain or loss on the sale or other disposition of such property shall be the gain or loss allowable for federal income tax purposes for such taxable year.

(10) In the case of mines, oil and gas wells and other natural deposits, no deduction of any allowance for percentage depletion pursuant to section six hundred thirteen or section six hundred thirteen A of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, as amended, shall be allowed. However, an allowance for depletion with respect to such property shall be deductible in the amount which would be allowable under section six hundred eleven of such internal revenue code if such deduction were computed without reference to such section six hundred thirteen or section six hundred thirteen A of such code. With respect to the computation of depletion pursuant to this section, the basis for such computation for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred seventy-two shall be the federal basis. For subsequent taxable years, the basis of such computation shall be reduced only by the deduction for the allowance for depletion deductible pursuant to this section. In any taxable year when any such property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this subdivision, the gain or loss thereon entering into the computation of federal taxable income shall be disregarded in computing unincorporated business taxable income and there shall be added to or subtracted from federal gross income, so modified, the gain or loss upon such sale or other disposition. In computing such gain or loss, the basis of the property sold or disposed of shall be adjusted to reflect the deduction allowed with respect to such property pursuant to this subdivision.

(11) A deduction shall be allowed for that portion of wages and salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year for which a deduction is not allowed pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred eighty C of the internal revenue code.

(12) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), a deduction shall be allowed for any amount which the taxpayer could have excluded for purposes of this chapter had it not made the election provided for in such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four.

(14) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, no deduction shall be allowed for the amount allowable as a deduction determined under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code.

(15) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, and provided a deduction has not been disallowed pursuant to subdivision thirteen of this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to property which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to property placed in service on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty.

(16) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, no deduction shall be allowed for interest, depreciation or any other expense directly or indirectly attributable to the holding, leasing or managing of real property or to income or gain therefrom if, and to the extent that, such holding, leasing or managing of real property is not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(17) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, no deduction shall be allowed for any expenses directly or indirectly attributable to activities described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter if, and to the extent that, such activities are not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(18) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, in the case of a taxpayer that is an unincorporated entity described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph four of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter, no deduction shall be allowed for any losses or expenses directly or indirectly attributable to the sale or other disposition of an interest in another unincorporated entity if, and to the extent that, such losses or expenses are attributable to activities of such other unincorporated entity not deemed an unincorporated business carried on by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(19) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, no deduction shall be allowed for interest, depreciation or any other expense directly or indirectly attributable to the provision by an owner, lessee or fiduciary holding, leasing or managing real property of the service of parking, garaging or storing of motor vehicles on a monthly or longer term basis to tenants at such real property if, and to the extent that, the provision of such services to such tenants is not deemed an unincorporated business pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (d) of section 11-502 of this chapter.

(20) For taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in subdivision twenty-two of this section, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), no deduction shall be allowed for the amount allowable as a deduction under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code.

(21) For taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code other than qualified resurgence zone property described in subdivision twenty-two of this section, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), a deduction shall be allowed with respect to such property equal to the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September tenth, two thousand one, provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a passenger motor vehicle or a sport utility vehicle subject to the provisions of subdivision twenty-four of this section, the limitation under clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code applicable to the amount allowed as a deduction under this paragraph shall be determined as of the date such vehicle was placed in service and not as of September tenth, two thousand one.

(22) For purposes of subdivisions twenty and twenty-one of this section, qualified resurgence zone property shall mean qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code substantially all of the use of which is in the resurgence zone, as defined below, and is in the active conduct of a trade or business by the taxpayer in such zone, and the original use of which in the resurgence zone commences with the taxpayer after September tenth, two thousand one. The resurgence zone shall mean the area of New York county bounded on the south by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel, and running thence east to Canal Street, then running along the centerline of Canal Street to the intersection of the Bowery and Canal Street, running thence in a southeasterly direction diagonally across Manhattan Bridge Plaza, to the Manhattan Bridge, and thence along the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge to the point where the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge would intersect with the easterly bank of the East River, and bounded on the north by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel and running thence north along West Avenue to the intersection of Clarkson Street then running east along the centerline of Clarkson Street to the intersection of Washington Avenue, then running south along the centerline of Washington Avenue to the intersection of West Houston Street, then east along the centerline of West Houston Street, then at the intersection of the Avenue of the Americas continuing east along the centerline of East Houston Street to the easterly bank of the East River.

(23) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, no deduction shall be allowed for the amounts allowable as a deduction under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code.

(24) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, a deduction shall be allowed with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code equal to the amounts allowable as a deduction under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, determined as if such sport utility vehicle were a passenger automobile as defined in such paragraph five.

Provisions of L.L. 17/2002:

§ 10, If any provisions of sections one through nine of this local law is adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, for taxable years ending after September 10, 2001, for purposes of the general corporation tax, banking corporation tax and unincorporated business tax, the depreciation deduction allowable for qualified property described in paragraph 2 of subsection k of section 168 of the internal revenue code, for qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph 2 of subsection b of section 1400L of the internal revenue code and for qualified New York Liberty Zone leasehold improvement property described in subsection c of such section, shall be limited to the depreciation deduction allowable under section 167 of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September 10, 2001, and the expense deduction allowable under section 179 of the internal revenue code with respect to such property shall be limited to the deduction allowable under such section as it would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September 10, 2001, and, for purposes of such taxes, any gain or loss upon the disposition of such property shall be adjusted to reflect such modifications to the allowable depreciation and expense deductions with respect thereto.

§ 11. This local law shall take effect immediately and shall apply to taxable years ending after September 10, 2001.

§ 12. Notwithstanding the provisions of section eleven of this local law, if New York Assembly Bill No. 11817 [A11817 became Chap 93/2002 effective June 25, 2002] has not become a law prior to the time that this local law is enacted, then this local law shall take effect immediately upon the enactment into law of such bill and shall then apply as provided in section eleven of this local law.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. Payments made in liquidation of partnership interests and representing the outgoing partners' share in the amortization of player contracts are not payment "for services or use of capital" within the meaning of the statute and therefore could be deducted from the partnership's unincorporated business gross income. New York Yankee Partnership v. O'Cleireacain, 83 N.Y.2d 550, 611 N.Y.S.2d 805 (1994).

¶ 2. This section prohibits tax deductions for payments made to partners for services. However, where retired partners are being paid not for their own services, but the payments represented the partners' pro rata share of the partnership's unrealized receivables for services rendered by the partnership, such payments are deductible. Buchbinder Tunick & Co. v. Tax Appeals Tribunal of the City of New York, 292 A.D.2d 217, 739 N.Y.S.2d 57 (1st Dept. 2002).

¶ 3. Although solo practitioner attorney's payments for self-employed health insurance premiums, one-half of the federal self-employment tax and contributions to a defined benefit plan may be deductible for federal income tax purposes, they are not deductible for purposes of the New York City Unincorporated Business Tax.Horowitz v. Administrative Code of the City of New York

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-508 Allocation to the city.

(a) General; allocation of business income. If an unincorporated business is carried on both within and without the city, as determined under regulations of the commissioner of finance, there shall be allocated to the city, in the manner provided in subdivision (b), (c) or (d) of this section, a fair and equitable portion of its business income. For taxable years beginning before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, if the unincorporated business has no regular place of business outside the city, all of such business income shall be allocated to the city.

(b) (1) Allocation by taxpayer's books. For taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand five, the portion allocable to the city may be determined from the books of the business if the methods used in keeping such books are approved by the commissioner of finance as fairly and equitably reflecting the income from the city.

(2)(i) If a taxpayer determines the portion of business income to be allocated to the city using the method prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision on a timely filed original return with respect to each of the two taxable years, each of which must consist of twelve months, immediately preceding the taxpayer's first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand five, the taxpayer may make a one-time election to continue to use that method for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand five and before January first, two thousand twelve. Such election shall be made by using the method prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision on an original timely filed return with respect to the first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand five and before January first, two thousand six. Such election may not be made, or if made, shall be deemed revoked as of the beginning of the taxable year if, for either of the two taxable years immediately preceding the year in which the election is made, the commissioner of finance has determined the methods used in keeping such books do not fairly and equitably reflect the income from the city.

(ii) (A) A taxpayer that has made the election provided for in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph may revoke it by filing an original or amended return using an allocation method permitted by this section other than the method prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision unless the commissioner of finance has determined that such method does not fairly and equitably reflect the income from the city.

(B) The election provided for in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall be deemed to have been revoked as of the beginning of the taxable year if, for any taxable year during which the election is intended to be in effect, the commissioner of finance has determined that the methods used in keeping the taxpayer's books do not fairly and equitably reflect the income from the city.

(C) In the case of a taxpayer that is a partnership or other unincorporated entity, the election provided for in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall be deemed to have been revoked as of the beginning of the taxable year unless one or more of the persons having a proportionate interest or interests, amounting to more than fifty percent of all such interests, in the taxpayer's unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions for such taxable year were persons having a proportionate interest or interests, amounting to more than fifty percent of all such interests, in the taxpayer's unincorporated business gross income and unincorporated business deductions at the end of the taxpayer's last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand five. For purposes of this clause, a transfer of an ownership interest in unincorporated business gross income or unincorporated business deductions upon the death of a partner or owner to such deceased partner's or owner's estate shall be disregarded but transfers by such decedent's estate shall not be disregarded.

(D) Once the election provided for in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph has been revoked by the taxpayer pursuant to clause (A) or deemed revoked pursuant to clauses (B) or (C) of this subparagraph, the taxpayer shall be barred from using the method prescribed in paragraph one of this subdivision for the taxable year in which the election has been revoked or deemed revoked and any subsequent taxable year.

(c) Allocation by formula. If subdivision (b) does not apply to the taxpayer, the portion allocable to the city shall be determined by multiplying (A) the business income by (B) a business allocation percentage to be determined by adding together the percentages computed under paragraphs one, two and three of this subdivision, and dividing the result by the number of percentages; provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, a taxpayer that is a "manufacturing business," as defined in subdivision (g) of this section, may determine its business allocation percentage as provided in such subdivision (g):

(1) Property percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of real and tangible personal property connected with the unincorporated business and located within the city, by (B) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of all real and tangible personal property connected with the unincorporated business and located both within and without the city. For this purpose, for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand five, real property shall include real property rented to the unincorporated business and, for this purpose, for taxable years beginning on and after January first, two thousand five, real and tangible personal property shall include real and tangible personal property rented to the unincorporated business and the value of such real and tangible personal property rented to the unincorporated business shall mean the product of (i) eight and (ii) the gross rents payable for the rental of such property during the taxable year.

(2) Payroll percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the unincorporated business carried on within the city, by (B) the total of all wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the unincorporated business carried on both within and without the city.

(3) Gross income percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (A) the gross sales or charges for services performed by or through an agency located within the city, by (B) the total of all gross sales or charges for services performed within and without the city. The sales or charges to be allocated to the city shall include all sales negotiated or consummated, and charges for services performed, by an employee, agent, agency or independent contractor chiefly situated at, connected by contract or otherwise with, or sent out from, offices of the unincorporated business, or other agencies, situated within the city; provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, sales of tangible personal property shall not be allocated to the city as hereinabove in this paragraph provided, but shall be allocated to the city only where shipments are made to points within the city, and provided, further, that:

(A) for taxable years beginning on or after July first, two thousand five, for taxpayers having gross receipts for the taxable year (determined without regard to any deductions) of less than one hundred thousand dollars, charges for services performed shall be allocated to the city to the extent that the services are performed within the city;

(B) for taxable years beginning on or after July first, two thousand six, for taxpayers having gross receipts for the taxable year (determined without regard to any deductions) of less than three hundred thousand dollars, charges for services performed shall be allocated to the city to the extent that the services are performed within the city; and

(C) for taxable years beginning on or after July first, two thousand seven, for all other taxpayers, charges for services performed shall be allocated to the city to the extent that the services are performed within the city.

(d) Other allocation methods. The portion allocable to the city shall be determined in accordance with rules and regulations of the commissioner of finance if it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that the income from the city is not fairly and equitably reflected under the provisions of either subdivision (b) or subdivision (c) of this section.

(e) Special rules for real estate. Income and deductions from the rental of real property, and gain and loss from the sale, exchange or other disposition of real property, shall not be subject to allocation under subdivision (b), (c), or (d) of this section, but shall be considered as entirely derived from or connected with the state, other than this state, in which such property is located or, if such property is located in this state, the political subdivision thereof. To the extent that anything in the preceding sentence is inconsistent with any provision of subdivision (d) of section 11-502, subdivision (c) of section 11-506 or subdivision sixteen of section 11-507 of this chapter, the provisions of such subdivisions shall take precedence over the provisions of the preceding sentence.

(e-1) Special rules for publishers and broadcasters. (1) Notwithstanding anything in paragraph three of subdivision (c) of this section to the contrary and except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of such paragraph three, the gross sales or charges for services arising from sales of subscriptions to, and advertising contained in, such newspapers or periodicals, to the extent that such newspapers or periodicals are delivered to points within the city.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in paragraph three of subdivision (c) of this section to the contrary and except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of broadcasting radio or television programs, whether through the public airwaves or by cable, direct or indirect satellite transmission, or any other means of transmission, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of such paragraph three, a portion of the gross sales or charges for services arising from the sale of subscriptions to such programs or from the broadcasting of such programs and of commercial messages in connection therewith, such portion to be determined according to the number of listeners or viewers within and without the city.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section (other than subdivision (e) of this section) to the contrary, in the case of a taxpayer that is substantially engaged, in the aggregate, in any combination of the businesses referred to in paragraphs one, two and four of this subdivision, the portion of business income allocable to the city shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section (as modified by paragraphs one, two and four of this subdivision), unless the commissioner of finance determines that the business income from the city is not fairly and equitably reflected under the provisions of such subdivision (c), in which event the provisions of subdivision (d) of this section shall apply in determining the portion of business income allocable to the city and the provisions of subdivision (b) of this section shall not apply. For purposes of this subdivision, a taxpayer shall be deemed to be substantially engaged in a business or businesses referred to in such paragraphs one and two if more than ten percent of the taxpayer's gross receipts for the taxable year are attributable to such business or businesses.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in paragraph one or two of this subdivision to the contrary, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand two, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, or broadcasting radio or television programs, whether through the public airwaves or by cable, direct or indirect satellite transmission, or any other means of transmission, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of paragraph three of subdivision (c) of this section, the gross sales or charges to subscribers located in the city for subscriptions to such newspapers, periodicals, or program services. For purposes of this paragraph, a subscriber shall be deemed located in the city if, in the case of newspapers and periodicals, the mailing address for the subscription is within the city and, in the case of program services, the billing address for the subscription is within the city. For purposes of this clause, "subscriber" shall mean a member of the general public who receives such newspapers, periodicals or program services and does not further distribute them.

(e-2) Rules for receipts from certain services to investment companies. (1) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand one, for purposes of paragraph three of subdivision (c) of this section, the portion of receipts received from an investment company arising from the sale of management, administration or distribution services to such investment company determined in accordance with paragraph two of this subdivision shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city (such portion referred to herein as the New York city portion).

(2) The New York city portion shall be the product of the total of such receipts from the sale of such services and a fraction. The numerator of that fraction is the sum of the monthly percentages (as defined hereinafter) determined for each month of the investment company's taxable year for federal income tax purposes which taxable year ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer (but excluding any month during which the investment company had no outstanding shares). The monthly percentage for each such month is determined by dividing the number of shares in the investment company which are owned on the last day of the month by shareholders that are domiciled in the city by the total number of shares in the investment company outstanding on that date. The denominator of the fraction is the number of such monthly percentages.

(3)(A) For purposes of this subdivision the term "domicile", in the case of an individual shall have the meaning ascribed to it under chapter seventeen of this title; an estate or trust is domiciled in the city if it is a city resident estate or trust as defined in paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section 11-1705 of this code; a business entity is domiciled in the city if the location of the actual seat of management or control is in the city. It shall be presumed that the domicile of a shareholder, with respect to any month, is his, her or its mailing address on the records of the investment company as of the last day of such month.

(B) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "investment company" means a regulated investment company, as defined in section 851 of the internal revenue code, and a partnership to which section 7704(a) of the internal revenue code applies (by virtue of section 7704(c)(3) of such code) and that meets the requirements of section 851(b) of such code. The preceding sentence shall be applied to the taxable year for federal income tax purposes of the business entity that is asserted to constitute an investment company that ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer.

(C) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "receipts from an investment company" includes amounts received directly from an investment company as well as amounts received from the shareholders in such investment company in their capacity as such.

(D) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "management services" means the rendering of investment advice to an investment company, making determinations as to when sales and purchases of securities are to be made on behalf of an investment company, or the selling or purchasing of securities constituting assets of an investment company, and related activities, but only where such activity or activities are performed pursuant to a contract with the investment company entered into pursuant to section 15(a) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(E) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "distribution services" means the services of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions), marketing shares or selling shares of an investment company, but, in the case of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions) or marketing shares, only where such service is performed by a person who is (or was, in the case of a closed end company) also engaged in the service of selling such shares. In the case of an open end company, such service of selling shares must be performed pursuant to a contract entered into pursuant to section 15(b) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(F) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "administration services" includes clerical, accounting, bookkeeping, data processing, internal auditing, legal and tax services performed for an investment company but only if the provider of such service or services during the taxable year in which such service or services are sold also sells management or distribution services, as defined hereinabove, to such investment company.

(f) Allocation of investment income. (1) The investment income of an unincorporated business shall be allocated to the city by multiplying such investment income by an investment allocation percentage to be determined as follows:

(A) multiply the amount of its investment capital invested in each stock, bond or other security (other than governmental securities) during the period covered by its return by the issuer's allocation percentage (determined as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision) of the issuer or obligor thereof:

(B) add together the products so obtained; and

(C) divide the sum so obtained by the total of its investment capital invested during such period in stocks, bonds and other securities; provided, however, that in case any investment capital is invested in any stock, bond or other security during only a portion of the period covered by the return, only such portion of such capital shall be taken into account; and provided, further, that if a taxpayer's investment allocation percentage is zero, interest received on bank accounts shall be allocated in the manner provided in subdivision (b), (c) or (d) of this section.

(2) (A) In the case of an issuer or obligor subject to tax under subchapter two of chapter six of this title, or subject to tax as a utility corporation under chapter eleven of this title, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be the percentage of the appropriate measure (as defined hereinafter) which is required to be allocated within the city on the report or reports, if any, required of the issuer or obligor under chapter six or eleven of this title for the preceding year. The appropriate measure referred to in the preceding sentence shall be: in the case of an issuer or obligor subject to subchapter two of chapter six of this title, entire capital; and in the case of an issuer or obligor subject to chapter eleven of this title as a utility corporation, gross income.

(B) In the case of an issuer or obligor subject to tax under part four of subchapter three of chapter six of this title, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined as follows:

(i) In the case of a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this title which is organized under the laws of the United States, this state or any other state of the United States, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be its alternative entire net income allocation percentage, as defined in subdivision (c) of section 11-642 of this title, for the preceding year. In the case of such a banking corporation whose alternative entire net income for the preceding year is derived exclusively from business carried on within the city, its issuer's allocation percentage shall be one hundred percent.

(ii) In the case of a banking corporation described in paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this title which is organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined by dividing (I) the amount described in clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section 11-642 of this title with respect to such issuer or obligor for the preceding year, by (II) the gross income of such issuer or obligor from all sources within and without the United States, for such preceding year, whether or not included in alternative entire net income for such year.

(iii) In the case of an issuer or obligor described in paragraph nine of subdivision (a) or in paragraph two of subdivision (d) of section 11-640 of this title, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined by dividing the portion of the entire capital of the issuer or obligor allocable to the city for the preceding year by the entire capital, wherever located, of the issuer or obligor for the preceding year.

(C) Provided, however, that if a report or reports for the preceding year are not filed, or if filed do not contain information which would permit the determination of such issuer's allocation percentage, then the issuer's allocation percentage to be used shall, at the discretion of the commissioner of finance, be either (i) the issuer's allocation percentage derived from the most recently filed report or reports of the issuer or obligor or (ii) a percentage calculated, by the commissioner of finance, reasonably to indicate the degree of economic presence in the city of the issuer or obligor during the preceding year.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, investment capital shall be determined by taking the average value of the gross assets included therein (less liabilities deductible therefrom pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (h) of section 11-501 of this chapter). The value of investment capital which consists of marketable securities shall be the fair market value thereof and the value of investment capital other than marketable securities shall be the value thereof shown on the books and records of the unincorporated business in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(4) Repealed.

(g) Special rules for manufacturing businesses. (1) For taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, a manufacturing business may elect to determine its business allocation percentage by adding together the percentages determined under paragraphs one, two and three of subdivision (c) of this section and an additional percentage equal to the percentage determined under paragraph three of subdivision (c) of this section, and dividing the result by the number of percentages so added together.

(2) An election under this subdivision must be made on a timely filed (determined with regard to extensions granted) original return for the taxable year. Once made for a taxable year, such election shall be irrevocable for that taxable year. A separate election must be made for each taxable year. A manufacturing business that has failed to make an election as provided in this paragraph shall be required to determine its business allocation percentage without regard to the provisions of this subdivision. Notwithstanding anything in this paragraph to the contrary, the commissioner of finance may permit a manufacturing business to make or revoke an election under this subdivision, upon such terms and conditions as the commissioner may prescribe, where the commissioner determines that such permission should be granted in the interests of fairness and equity due to a change in circumstances resulting from an audit adjustment.

(3) As used in this subdivision, the term "manufacturing business" means an unincorporated business primarily engaged in the manufacturing and sale thereof of tangible personal property; and the term "manufacturing" includes the process (including the assembly process) (i) of working raw materials into wares suitable for use or (ii) which gives new shapes, new qualities or new combinations to matter which already has gone through some artificial process, by the use of machinery, tools, appliances and other similar equipment. An unincorporated business shall be deemed to be primarily engaged in the activities described in the preceding sentence if more than fifty percent of its gross receipts for the taxable year are attributable to such activities.

(h) Notwithstanding subdivision (d) of this section, if it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that any business or investment allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided does not properly reflect the activity, business, or income of a taxpayer within the city, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his or her discretion, in the case of a business allocation percentage, to adjust it by (1) excluding one or more of the factors therein; (2) including one or more factors, such as expenses, purchases, contract values (minus subcontract values); (3) excluding one or more assets in computing such allocation percentage, provided the income therefrom is also excluded in determining unincorporated business entire net income, or (4) any other similar or different method calculated to effect a fair and proper allocation of the income reasonably attributable to the city, and in the case of an investment allocation percentage, to adjust it by excluding one or more assets in computing such percentage; provided the income therefrom is also excluded in determining unincorporated business entire net income. The commissioner of finance from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of this subdivision.

§ 11-509 Deductions not subject to allocation.

(a) In computing unincorporated business taxable income, there shall be allowed (without allocation under section 11-508 of this chapter) deductions for reasonable compensation for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand seven, not in excess of five thousand dollars, and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand seven, not in excess of ten thousand dollars, for personal services of the proprietor and each partner actively engaged in the unincorporated business, but the aggregate of such deductions shall not exceed twenty per centum of the unincorporated business taxable income computed without the benefit of any deductions under this subdivision or the unincorporated business exemptions under section 11-510 of this chapter.

(b) Subject to the conditions provided in paragraphs three and four of this subdivision at the election of the taxpayer there shall also be allowed (without allocation under section 11-508 of this chapter) either or both of the items set forth in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision, except that only one of the items shall be allowed with respect to any one item of property.

(1) Depreciation with respect to any property such as described in paragraphs three or four of this subdivision, and subject to the conditions provided therein, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes. Such deduction shall be allowed only upon condition that no deduction shall be allowed pursuant to section 11-507 of this chapter for depreciation of the same property, and the total of all deductions allowed pursuant to this paragraph in any taxable year or years with respect to any property shall not exceed its cost or other basis and, in the case of an unincorporated business carried on both within and without this city, with respect to property described in paragraph four of this subdivision, such total shall not exceed its cost or other basis multiplied by (A) the percentage of the excess of the taxpayer's unincorporated business gross income over its unincorporated business deductions allocated to this city, or (B) the percentage of the taxpayer's business income allocated to this city, whichever is applicable, which percentage shall be determined under section 11-508 of this chapter for the first year such depreciation is deducted.

(2) Expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or acquisition of any property such as described in paragraph three or four of this subdivision, and subject to the conditions provided therein, which is used or to be used for purposes of research or development in the experimental or laboratory sense. Such purposes shall not be deemed to include the ordinary testing or inspection of materials or products for quality control, efficiency surveys, management studies, consumer surveys, advertising, promotions or research in connection with literary, historical or similar projects. Such deduction shall be allowed only on condition that, in the case of an unincorporated business carried on both within and without this city, with respect to property described in paragraph four of this subdivision, such deduction does not exceed the expenditures multiplied by (A) the percentage of the excess of the taxpayer's unincorporated business gross income over its unincorporated business deductions allocated to this city, or (B) the percentage of the taxpayer's business income allocated to this city, whichever is applicable, which percentage shall be determined under section 11-508 of this chapter for the first year such depreciation is deducted, and that, for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, no deduction shall be allowed pursuant to section 11-507 of this chapter on account of such expenditures or on account of depreciation of the same property, except to the extent that its basis may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, or in case a deduction is allowable pursuant to this paragraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that any deduction allowable for federal income tax purposes on account of such expenditures or on account of depreciation of the same property shall be proportionately reduced in determining the deductions allowable pursuant to section 11-507 of this chapter for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years. With respect to property which is used or to be used for research and development only in part, or during only part of its useful life, the deduction allowable pursuant to this paragraph shall be limited to a proportionate part of the expenditures relating thereto. If a deduction shall have been allowed pursuant to this paragraph for all or part of such expenditures with respect to any property, and such property is used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported, the taxpayer shall report such use in the taxpayer's return for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by subdivision (c) of section 11-523 of this chapter.

(3) For purposes of this paragraph, such deduction shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in the city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, (A) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditure relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in the city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five or (C) acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subsection (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under subparagraph (A), (B) or (C) of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. However, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property leased to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which a taxpayer uses for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, a deduction under paragraph one may be taken in proportion to the part of the year such property is used by the taxpayer.

(4) For purposes of this paragraph, such deductions shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, (A) the construction, reconstruction, or erection of which is completed after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five. Provided, however, a deduction under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be allowed with respect to property described in this paragraph only on condition that such property shall be principally used by the taxpayer in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assembling; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture; viticulture or commercial fishing. For purposes of the preceding sentence, manufacturing shall mean the process of working raw materials into wares suitable for use or which gives new shapes, new qualities or new combinations to matter which already has gone through some artificial process by the use of machinery, tools, appliances, and other similar equipment. Property used in the production of goods shall include machinery, equipment or other tangible property which is principally used in the repair and service of other machinery, equipment or other tangible property used principally in the production of goods and shall include all facilities used in the manufacturing operation, including storage of material to be used in manufacturing and of the products that are manufactured. At the option of the taxpayer, air and water pollution control facilities which qualify for elective deductions under subdivision nine of section 11-507 of this chapter may be treated, for purposes of this paragraph, as tangible property principally used in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assembling; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture ; viticulture or commercial fishing, in which event, a deduction shall not be allowed under subdivision nine of section 11-507 of this chapter. However, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property leased to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which a taxpayer uses for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, a deduction under paragraph one shall be allowed in proportion to the part of the year such property is used by the taxpayer.

(5) If the deductions allowable for any taxable year pursuant to this subdivision exceed the taxpayer's unincorporated business taxable income, determined without the allowance of such deductions, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted (without allocation under section 11-508 of this chapter) in computing unincorporated business taxable income for such year or years.

(6) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to paragraph one or two of this subdivision, the basis of such property shall be adjusted to reflect the deductions so allowed, and if the basis as so adjusted is lower than the adjusted basis of the same property for federal income tax purposes, there shall be added to federal gross income the amount of the difference between such adjusted bases.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-510 Unincorporated business exemptions.

In computing unincorporated business taxable income, there shall be allowed (without allocation under section 11-508 of this chapter):

(1) an unincorporated business exemption of five thousand dollars, prorated for taxable years of less than twelve months under regulations of the commissioner of finance;

(2) if a partner in an unincorporated business is taxable under this chapter or under any local law imposed pursuant to section one of chapter seven hundred seventy-two of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-six, an exemption for the amount of the partner's proportionate interest in the excess of the unincorporated business gross income over the deductions allowed under sections 11-507 and 11-509 of this chapter, but this exemption shall be limited to the amount which is included in the partner's unincorporated business taxable income allocable to the city, or included in a corporate partner's net income allocable to the city, provided, however, no such exemption shall be allowed to an unincorporated business for any taxable year of the unincorporated business beginning after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-four.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Even where the corporate partner's net taxable income after losses and other deductions is less than the distributive share received from the unincorporated business, the exemption in subdivision 2 of this section from city unincorporated business taxable income for the amount "included in" a corporate partner's net income allocable to the city is not limited to the amount of a corporate partner's net taxable income allocable to the city.-Matter of Richmond Construction v. Tishelman, 90 App. Div. 2d 414 [1982].

¶ 2. Exemption under subd. 2 is limited to aggregate of each corporate partner's distributive share of net income which does not exceed the partner's "net income allocable to the city" under N.Y.C. Gen. Corp. Tax Law, and a corporate partner's "net income allocable to the city" is the amount calculated under the N.Y.C. Gen. Corp. Tax Law on which it must pay such tax. The statute does not permit an exemption for all amounts considered in computing the corp. partner's allocated net income; such a construction would render the limitation on the exemption a nullity since unincorp. business would thus always be able to exempt the full amount of its distributions to corporate partners.-Matter of Richmond Construction v. Tishelman, 90 App. Div. 2d 414 [1982], reversed 61 N.Y. 2d 1 [1983].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The provisions of Admin. Code §11-510(2) which intend to avoid double taxation of income, are properly interpreted as taking into account the amounts "added back" to the corporate partners' income for the purpose of computing an alternative corporate tax base.-Matter of LeBoeuf, Lamb, Leiby & MacRae v. O'Cleireacain, 193 AD2d 438 [1993].

¶ 2. Law partnerships were entitled to exemption from unincorporated business tax (UBT) for income paid to partners who were organized as professional corporations (PCs). The City did not lose the tax income because the PCs were subject to the City General Corporation Tax. The double taxation sought here by the City would have rendered the exemption meaningless. Weil, Gotschal & Manges v. O'Cleireacain, 83 N.Y.2d 591, 611 N.Y.S.2d 823 (1994).

§ 11-511 Declaration of estimated tax.

(a) Requirement of declaration. Except as provided in subdivision (j) of this section, every unincorporated business shall make a declaration of its estimated tax for the taxable year, containing such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulations or instruction, if: (1) for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six but before nineteen hundred ninety-six, its unincorporated business taxable income can reasonably be expected to exceed fifteen thousand dollars; (2) for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-six, its unincorporated business taxable income can reasonably be expected to exceed twenty thousand dollars; and (3) for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-six, its estimated tax can reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand eight hundred dollars.

(b) Definition of estimated tax. The term "estimated tax" means the amount which an unincorporated business estimates to be its tax under this chapter for the taxable year, less the amount which it estimates to be the sum of any credits allowable against the tax other than the credit allowable under subdivision (c) of section 11-503 of this chapter.

(c) Time for filing declaration. Except as hereinafter provided, a declaration of estimated tax required under this section shall be filed on or before April fifteenth of the taxable year provided, however, that if the requirements of subdivision (a) of this section are first met:

(1) after April first and before June second of the taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before June fifteenth, or

(2) after June first and before September second of the taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before

September fifteenth, or

(3) after September first of the taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding year.

(d) Filing of declarations on or before January fifteenth.

(1) A declaration of estimated tax by an unincorporated business having an estimated unincorporated business taxable income from farming (including oyster farming) for the taxable year which is at least two-thirds of its total estimated unincorporated business taxable income for the taxable year may be filed at any time on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding year.

(2) For taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-seven, a declaration of estimated tax under this section of forty dollars or less for the taxable year may be filed at any time on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding year under regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(e) Amendments of declaration. An unincorporated business may amend a declaration under regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(f) Return as declaration or amendment. If on or before February fifteenth of the succeeding taxable year an unincorporated business subject to the estimated tax requirements of this section files its return for the taxable year for which the declaration is required, and pays on or before such date the full amount of the tax shown to be due on the return:

(1) such return shall be considered as its declaration if no declaration was required to be filed during the taxable year, but is otherwise required to be filed on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding year, and

(2) such return shall be considered as the amendment permitted by subdivision (e) to be filed on or before January fifteenth if the tax shown on the return is greater than the estimated tax shown in a declaration previously made.

(g) Fiscal year. This section shall apply to a taxable year other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in this section.

(h) Short taxable year. An unincorporated business subject to the estimated tax requirements of this section and having a taxable year of less than twelve months shall make a declaration in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(i) Declaration of unincorporated business under a disability. The declaration of estimated tax for an unincorporated business which is unable to make a declaration for any reason shall be made and filed by the committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of the property of such unincorporated business (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of such property), or by his or her duly authorized agent.

(j) Declaration of estimated tax for taxable years beginning prior to July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six. Notwithstanding subdivision (c) of this section, no declaration of estimated tax required by subdivision (a) of this section need be filed until September twelfth, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

§ 11-512 Payments of estimated tax.

(a) General. The estimated tax with respect to which a declaration is required shall be paid as follows:

(1) If the declaration is filed on or before April fifteenth of the taxable year, the estimated tax shall be paid in four equal installments. The first installment shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, and the second, third and fourth installments shall be paid on the following June fifteenth, September fifteenth, and January fifteenth, respectively.

(2) If the declaration is filed after April fifteenth and not after June fifteenth of the taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before April fifteenth of the taxable year, the estimated tax shall be paid in three equal installments. The first installment shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, and the second and third installments shall be paid on the following September fifteenth and January fifteenth, respectively.

(3) If the declaration is filed after June fifteenth and not after September fifteenth of the taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of the taxable year, the estimated tax shall be paid in two equal installments. The first installment shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, and the second shall be paid on the following January fifteenth.

(4) If the declaration is filed after September fifteenth of the taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before September fifteenth of the taxable year, the estimated tax shall be paid in full at the time of the filing of the declaration.

(5) If the declaration is filed after the time prescribed therefor, or after the expiration of any extension of time therefor, paragraphs two, three and four of this subdivision shall not apply, and there shall be paid at the time of such filing all installments of estimated tax payable at or before such time, and the remaining installments shall be paid at the times at which, and in the amounts in which, they would have been payable if the declaration had been filed when due.

(b) Amendments of declaration. If any amendment of a declaration is filed, the remaining installments, if any, shall be ratably increased or decreased (as the case may be) to reflect any increase or decrease in the estimated tax by reason of such amendment, and if any amendment is made after September fifteenth of the taxable year, any increase in the estimated tax by reason thereof shall be paid at the time of making such amendment.

(c) Application to short taxable year. This section shall apply to a taxable year of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(d) Fiscal year. This section shall apply to a taxable year other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in this section.

(e) Installments paid in advance. An unincorporated business may elect to pay any installment of its estimated tax prior to the date prescribed for the payment thereof.

(f) Cross reference. For unincorporated businesses with taxable years beginning prior to July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six, see subdivision (j) of section 11-511 of this chapter.

(g) Taxpayers with credit relating to stock transfer tax. The portion of an overpayment attributable to a credit allowable pursuant to subdivision (c) of section 11-503 of this chapter may not be credited against any payment due under this section.

§ 11-513 Accounting periods and methods.

(a) Accounting periods. A taxpayer's taxable year under this chapter shall be the same as the taxpayer's taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Accounting methods. A taxpayer's method of accounting under this chapter shall be the same as the taxpayer's method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. In the absence of any method of accounting for federal income tax purposes, unincorporated business taxable income shall be computed under such method as in the opinion of the commissioner of finance clearly reflects income.

(c) Change of accounting period or method. (1) If a taxpayer's taxable year or method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, the taxable year or method of accounting for purposes of this chapter shall be similarly changed.

(2) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed, other than from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax which results from adjustments determined to be necessary solely by reason of the change shall not be greater than if such adjustments were ratably allocated and included for the taxable year of the change and the preceding taxable years, not in excess of two, beginning after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, during which the taxpayer used the method of accounting from which the change is made.

(3) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax for the year of such change of method and for any subsequent year, which is attributable to the receipt of installment payments properly accrued in a prior year, shall be reduced by the portion of tax for any prior taxable year attributable to the accrual of such installment payments, in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

§ 11-514 Returns, payment of tax.

(a) General. On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of a taxable year, an unincorporated business income tax return shall be made and filed, and the balance of any tax shown on the face of such return, not previously paid as installments of estimated tax, shall be paid: (1) by or for every unincorporated business, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six but before nineteen hundred ninety-seven, having unincorporated business gross income, determined for purposes of this subdivision without any deduction for the cost of goods sold or services performed, of more than ten thousand dollars, or having any amount of unincorporated business taxable income; (2) by or for every partnership, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-six, having unincorporated business gross income, determined for purposes of this subdivision without any deduction for the cost of goods sold or services performed, of more than twenty-five thousand dollars, or having unincorporated business taxable income of more than fifteen thousand dollars; and (3) by or for every unincorporated business other than a partnership, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-six, having unincorporated business gross income, determined for purposes of this subdivision without any deduction for the cost of goods sold or services performed, of more than seventy-five thousand dollars, or having unincorporated business taxable income of more than thirty-five thousand dollars.

(b) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his or her executor, administrator, or other person charged with his or her property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(c) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by such individual's guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his or her person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his or her property), or by such individual's duly authorized agent.

(d) Estates and trusts. The return for an estate or trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(e) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

(f) Returns for taxable years ending prior to December thirty-first nineteen hundred sixty-six. With respect to taxable years ending prior to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, the returns required to be made and filed pursuant to this section shall be made and filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of such taxable year or September twelfth, nineteen hundred sixty-six, whichever is later.

(g) Taxpayers with credit relating to stock transfer tax. Subdivisions one and two of this section shall apply to a taxpayer which has a right to a credit pursuant to subdivision (c) of section 11-503 of this chapter, except that the tax, or balance thereof, payable to the commissioner of finance in full pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, at the time the report is required to be filed, shall be calculated and paid at such time as if the credit provided for in subdivision (c) of section 11-503 of this chapter were not allowed.

§ 11-515 Time and place for filing returns and paying tax.

A person required to make and file a return under this chapter shall, without assessment, notice or demand, pay any tax due thereon to the commissioner of finance on or before the date fixed for filing such return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return). The commissioner of finance shall prescribe by regulation the place for filing any return, declaration, statement, or other document required pursuant to this chapter and for payment of any tax.

§ 11-516 Signing of returns and other documents.

(a) General. Any return, declaration, statement or other document required to be made pursuant to this chapter shall be signed in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the commissioner of finance. The fact that an individual's name is signed to a return, declaration, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that the return, declaration, statement or other document was actually signed by such individual.

(b) Partnerships. Any return, statement or other document required of a partnership shall be signed by one or more partners. The fact that a partner's name is signed to a return, statement, or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that such partner is authorized to sign on behalf of the partnership.

(c) Certifications. The making or filing of any return, declaration, statement or other document or copy thereof required to be made or filed pursuant to this chapter, including a copy of a federal return, shall constitute a certification by the person making or filing such return, declaration, statement or other document or copy thereof that the statements contained therein are true and that any copy filed is a true copy.

§ 11-517 Extensions of time.

(a) General. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of tax or estimated tax (or any installment), or for filing any return, declaration, statement, or other document required pursuant to this chapter, on such terms and conditions as it may require. Except for a taxpayer who is outside the United States, no such extension for filing any return, declaration, statement or other document, shall exceed six months.

(b) Furnishing of security. If any extension of time is granted for payment of any amount of tax, the commissioner of finance may require the taxpayer to furnish a bond or other security in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which the extension of time for payment is granted, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner of finance may require.

(a) General. The commissioner of finance may prescribe regulations as to the keeping of records, the content and forms of returns and statements, and the filing of copies of federal income tax returns and determinations. The commissioner of finance may require any person, by regulation or notice served upon such person, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the commissioner of finance may deem sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable under this chapter for tax or for collection of tax.

(b) Notice of qualification as receiver, etc. Every receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, assignee for benefit of creditors, or other like fiduciary shall give notice of his or her qualification as such to the commissioner of finance, as may be required by regulation.

§ 11-519 Report of change in federal or New York state taxable income.

If the amount of a taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income reported on his or her federal or New York state income tax for any taxable year is changed or corrected by the United States internal revenue service or the New York state tax commission or other competent authority, or as the result of a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States or the state of New York, or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section sixty-two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of said section, or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (f) of section six hundred eighty-one of the tax law, executes a notice or waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (c) of such section of the tax law, the taxpayer shall report such change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income or such execution of such notice of waiver and the changes or corrections of the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income on which it is based, within ninety days after the final determination of such change, correction, or renegotiation, or such execution of such notice of waiver, or as otherwise required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended federal or New York state income tax return shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended return under this chapter, and shall give such information as the commissioner of finance may require. The commissioner of finance may by regulation prescribe such exceptions to the requirements of this section as the commissioner deems appropriate.

§ 11-521 Notice of deficiency.

(a) General. If upon examination of a taxpayer's return under this chapter the commissioner of finance determines that there is a deficiency of income tax, the commissioner may mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. If a taxpayer fails to file a return required under this chapter, the commissioner of finance is authorized to estimate the taxpayer's city unincorporated business taxable income and tax thereon, from any information in the commissioner's possession, and to mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. A notice of deficiency shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at his or her last known address in or out of the city. If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of deficiency may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of the city, unless the commissioner of finance has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(b) Notice of deficiency as assessment. After ninety days from the mailing of a notice of deficiency or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, after ninety-days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, such notice shall be an assessment of the amount of tax specified therein, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, except only for any such tax or other amounts as to which the taxpayer has within such ninety day period filed with the tax appeals tribunal a petition under section 11-529 of this chapter. If the notice of deficiency or conciliation decision is addressed to a person outside of the United States, such period shall be one hundred fifty days instead of ninety days.

(c) Restrictions on assessment and levy. No assessment of a deficiency in tax and no levy or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun or prosecuted, except as otherwise provided in section 11-534 of this chapter, until a notice of deficiency has been mailed to the taxpayer, nor until the expiration of the time for filing a petition with the tax appeals tribunal contesting such notice, nor, if a petition with respect to the taxable year has been both served upon the commissioner of finance and filed with the tax appeals tribunal, until the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final. For exception in the case of judicial review of the decision of the tax appeals tribunal, see subdivision (c) of section 11-530 of this chapter.

(d) Exceptions for mathematical errors. If a mathematical error appears on a return (including an overstatement of the amount paid as estimated tax), the commissioner of finance shall notify the taxpayer that an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that such excess has been assessed.

Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-527 of this chapter (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision (b) of section 11-529 of this chapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency) nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(e) Exception where change in federal or New York state taxable income is not reported.

(1) If the taxpayer fails to comply with section 11-519 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction increasing or decreasing the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income as reported on the taxpayer's federal or New York state return or in not reporting a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes or in not filing an amended return or in not reporting the execution of a notice of waiver described in such section, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in subdivision (b) of this section, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency based upon such changed or corrected federal or New York state taxable income by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state change or correction or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-519 of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(2) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-527 of this chapter (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision (b) of section 11-529 of this chapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or collection thereof be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(3) If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of the city, unless the commissioner of finance has received notice of the existence of a fiduciary relationship with respect to the taxpayer.

(f) Waiver of restrictions. The taxpayer shall at any time (whether or not a notice of deficiency has been issued) have the right to waive the restrictions on assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency by a signed notice in writing filed with the commissioner of finance.

(g) Deficiency defined. For purposes of this chapter, a deficiency means the amount of the tax imposed by this chapter, less (i) the amount shown as the tax upon the taxpayer's return (whether the return was made or the tax computed by the taxpayer or by the commissioner of finance), and less, (ii) the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency and plus (iii) the amount of any rebates. For the purpose of this definition, the tax imposed by this chapter and the tax shown on the return shall both be determined without regard to payments on account of estimated tax; and a rebate means so much of an abatement, credit, refund or other repayment (whether or not erroneous) made on the ground that the amounts entering into the definition of a deficiency showed a balance in favor of the taxpayer.

(h) Exception where change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability is not reported. (1) If a taxpayer fails to comply with section 11-519.1 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction of his or her sales and compensating use tax liability or in not filing a copy of an amended return or report relating to his or her sales and compensating use tax liability, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in subdivision (b) of this section, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency based upon such changed or corrected sales and compensating use tax liability, as same relates to credits claimed under this chapter by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the state change or correction or a copy of an amended return or report, where such copy was required by section 11-519.1 of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing where such state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(2) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision (f) of section 11-527 of this chapter (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision (b) of section 11-529 of this chapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or the collection thereof be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision (c) of this section.

(3) If the taxpayer is deceased or under a legal disability, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to his or her last known address in or out of the city, and such notice shall be sufficient for purposes of this chapter. If the commissioner of finance has received notice that a person is acting for the taxpayer in a fiduciary capacity, a copy of such notice shall also be mailed to the fiduciary named in such notice.

§ 11-522 Assessment.

(a) Assessment date. The amount of tax which a return shows to be due, or the amount of tax which a return would have shown to be due but for a mathematical error, shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing of the return (including any amended return showing an increase of tax). In the case of a return properly filed without computation of tax, the tax computed by the commissioner of finance shall be deemed to be assessed on the date on which payment is due. If a notice of deficiency has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in subdivision (b) of section 11-521 of this chapter if no petition is both served on the commissioner of finance and filed with the tax appeals tribunal, or if a petition is filed, then upon the date when a decision of the tax appeals tribunal establishing the amount of the deficiency becomes final. If an amended return or report filed pursuant to section 11-519 of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a federal or New York state adjustment, change or correction, any deficiency in tax under this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing such report or amended return, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-523 of this chapter.

If a report or amended return or report filed pursuant to section 11-519.1 of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a state change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, any deficiency in tax under this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed assessed on the date of filing such report, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-523 of this chapter.

If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision (e) of section 11-521 of this chapter has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state change or correction or an amended return, where such return was required by section 11-519 of this chapter is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision (h) of section 11-521 of this chapter, has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the state change or correction, or a copy of an amended return or report, where such copy was required by section 11-519.1 of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

Any amount paid as a tax or in respect of a tax, other than amounts paid as estimated income tax, shall be deemed to be assessed upon the date of receipt of payment, notwithstanding any other provisions.

(b) Other assessment powers. If the mode or time for the assessment of any tax under this chapter (including interest, additions to tax and assessable penalties) is not otherwise provided for, the commissioner of finance may establish the same by regulations.

(c) Estimated income tax. No unpaid amount of estimated tax under section one hundred sixteen shall be assessed.

(d) Supplemental assessment. The commissioner of finance may, at any time within the period prescribed for assessment, make a supplemental assessment, subject to the provisions of section 11-521 of this chapter where applicable, whenever it is ascertained that any assessment is imperfect or incomplete in any material respect.

(e) Cross reference. For assessment in case of jeopardy, see section 11-534 of this chapter.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-523 Limitations on assessment.

(a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any tax under this chapter shall be assessed within three years after the return was filed (whether or not such return was filed on or after the date prescribed).

(b) Time return deemed filed. For purposes of this section a return of tax filed before the last day prescribed by law or by regulations promulgated pursuant to law for the filing thereof, shall be deemed to be filed on such last day.

(c) Exceptions. (1) Assessment at any time. The tax may be assessed at any time if:

(A) no return is filed,

(B) a false or fraudulent return is filed with intent to evade tax,

(C) the taxpayer fails to comply with section 11-519 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction increasing or decreasing the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income as reported on the taxpayer's federal or New York state income tax return, or the execution of a notice of waiver and the changes or corrections on which it is based or in not reporting a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, or in not filing an amended return, or

(D) the taxpayer fails to file a report or amended return or report required under section 11-519.1 of this chapter, in respect of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, relating to the purchase or use of items for which a sales or compensating use tax credit against the tax imposed by this chapter was claimed.

(2) Extension by agreement. Where, before the expiration of the time prescribed in this section for the assessment of tax, both the commissioner of finance and the taxpayer have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the tax may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.

(3) Report of changed or corrected federal or New York state income. If the taxpayer shall, pursuant to section 11-519 of this chapter, report a change or correction or file an amended return increasing or decreasing federal or New York state taxable income or report the execution of a notice of waiver and the changes and corrections on which it is based, or a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report or amended return) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax attributable to such federal or New York state change or correction. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

(4) Deficiency attributable to net operating loss carryback. If a deficiency is attributable to the application to the taxpayer of a net operating loss carryback, it may be assessed at any time that a deficiency for the taxable year of the loss may be assessed.

(5) Recovery of erroneous refund. An erroneous refund shall be considered an underpayment of tax on the date made, and an assessment of a deficiency arising out of an erroneous refund may be made at any time within two years from the making of the refund, except that the assessment may be made within five years from the making of the refund if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(6) Request for prompt assessment. If a return is required for a decedent or for his or her estate during the period of administration, the tax shall be assessed within eighteen months after written request therefor (made after the return is filed) by the executor, administrator or other person representing the estate of such decedent, but not more than three years after the return was filed, except as otherwise provided in this subdivision and subdivision (d) of this section.

(7) Report on use of certain property. Under the circumstances described in paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section 11-509 of this chapter, the tax may be assessed within three years after the filing of a return reporting that property has been used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported.

(8) Report concerning waste treatment facility. Under the circumstances described in paragraph nine of section 11-507 of this chapter, the tax may be assessed within three years after the filing of the return containing the information required by such paragraph.

(9) Report of changed or corrected sales and compensating use tax liability. If the taxpayer files a report or amended return or report required under section 11-519.1 of this chapter, in respect of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return or report was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax attributable to such state change or correction. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

(d) Omission of income on return. The tax may be assessed at any time within six years after the return was filed if (1) a taxpayer omits from his or her city unincorporated business gross income an amount properly includible therein which is in excess of twenty-five per centum of the amount of city unincorporated business gross income stated in the return, or (2) an estate or trust omits income from its return in an amount in excess of twenty-five percent of its income determined as if it were an individual.

For purposes of this subdivision there shall not be taken into account any amount which is omitted in the return if such amount is disclosed in the return, or in a statement attached to the return, in a manner adequate to apprise the commissioner of finance of the nature and amount of such item.

(e) Suspension of running of period of limitation. The running of the period of limitations on assessment or collection of tax or other amount (or of a transferee's liability) shall, after the mailing of a notice of deficiency, be suspended for the period during which the commissioner of finance is prohibited under subdivision (c) of section 11-521 of this chapter from making the assessment or from collecting by levy.

§ 11-524 Interest on underpayment.

(a) General. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed in this chapter for payment, interest on such amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-537 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date paid, whether or not any extension of time for payment was granted. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) Exception as to estimated tax. This section shall not apply to any failure to pay estimated tax under section 11-512 of this chapter.

(c) Exception for mathematical error. No interest shall be imposed on any underpayment of tax due solely to mathematical error if the taxpayer files a return within the time prescribed in this chapter (including any extension of time) and pays the amount of underpayment within three months after the due date of such return, as it may be extended.

(d) Suspension of interest on deficiencies. If a waiver of restrictions on assessment of a deficiency has been filed by the taxpayer, and if notice and demand by the commissioner of finance for payment of such deficiency is not made within thirty days after the filing of such waiver, interest shall not be imposed on such deficiency for the period beginning immediately after such thirtieth day and ending with the date of notice and demand.

(e) Tax reduced by carryback. If the the amount of tax for any taxable year is reduced by reason of a carryback of a net operating loss, such reduction in tax shall not affect the computation of interest under this section for the period ending with the filing date for the taxable year in which the net operating loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file.

(f) Interest treated as tax. Interest under this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as tax. Any reference in this chapter to the tax imposed by this chapter shall be deemed also to refer to interest imposed by this section on such tax.

(g) Interest on penalties or additions to tax. Interest shall be imposed under subdivision (a) of this section in respect of any assessable penalty or addition to tax only if such assessable penalty or addition to tax is not paid within ten days from the date of the notice and demand therefor under subdivision (b) of section 11-532 of this chapter, and in such case interest shall be imposed only for the period from such date of the notice and demand to the date of payment.

(h) Payment within ten days after notice and demand. If notice and demand is made for payment of any amount under subdivision (b) of section 11-532 of this chapter, and if such amount is paid within ten days after the date of such notice and demand, interest under this section on the amount so paid shall not be imposed for the period after the date of such notice and demand.

(i) Limitation on assessment and collection. Interest prescribed under this section may be assessed and collected at any time during the period within which the tax or other amount to which such interest relates may be assessed and collected, respectively.

(j) Interest on erroneous refund. Any portion of tax or other amount which has been erroneously refunded, and which is recoverable by the commissioner of finance, shall bear interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-537 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum from the date of the payment of the refund, but only it if appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or a misrepresentation of a material fact.

(k) Satisfaction by credits. If any portion of a tax is satisfied by credit of an overpayment, then no interest shall be imposed under this section on the portion of the tax so satisfied for any period during which, if the credit had not been made, interest would have been allowable with respect to such overpayment.

§ 11-525 Additions to tax and civil penalties.

(a) (1) Failure to file tax return. (A) In case of failure to file a tax return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a tax return within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amounts shown as tax on any return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by he amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including an assessment made pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-522 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions. (A) With respect to any return the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two of this subdivision. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph one shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph one) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(b) Deficiency due to negligence. (1) If any part of a deficiency is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to five percent of the deficiency.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of section 11-524 with respect to the portion of the deficiency described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such deficiency (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) If any payment is shown on a return made by a payor with respect to dividends, patronage dividends and interest under subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-two, subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-four or subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-nine of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, respectively, and the payee fails to include any portion of such payment in unincorporated business gross income, as that term is defined in section 11-506, any portion of a deficiency attributable to such failure shall be treated, for purposes of this subdivision, as due to negligence in the absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary. If any addition to tax is imposed under this subdivision by reason of the preceding sentence, the amount of the addition to tax imposed by paragraph one of this subdivision shall be five percent of the portion of the deficiency which is attributable to the failure described in the preceding sentence.

(c) Failure to file declaration or underpayment of estimated tax. If any taxpayer fails to file a declaration of estimated tax or fails to pay all or any part of an installment of estimated tax, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have made an underpayment of estimated tax. There shall be added to the tax for the taxable year an amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-537 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount of the underpayment for the period of the underpayment but not beyond the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the taxable year. The amount of the underpayment shall be the excess of the amount of the installment which would be required to be paid if the estimated tax were equal to ninety percent of the tax shown on the return for the taxable year (or if no return was filed, ninety percent of the tax for such year) over the amount, if any, of the installment paid on or before the last day prescribed for such payment. No underpayment shall be deemed to exist with respect to a declaration or installment otherwise due on or after the taxpayer's death. In any case in which there would be no underpayment if this subdivision were applied by substituting "eighty percent" for "ninety percent" where it appears in the second preceding sentence, the addition to tax under this subdivision shall be equal to seventy-five percent of the amount otherwise determined under this subdivision.

(d) Exception to addition for underpayment of estimated tax. The addition to tax under subdivision (c) of this section with respect to any underpayment of any installment shall not be imposed if the total amount of all payments of estimated tax made on or before the last date prescribed for the payment of such installment equals or exceeds whichever of the following is the lesser:

(1) The amount which would have been required to be paid on or before such date if the estimated tax were whichever of the following is the least:

(A) The tax shown on the return of the taxpayer for the preceding taxable year, if a return showing a liability for tax was filed by the taxpayer for the preceding taxable year and such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months, or

(B) An amount equal to the tax computed, at the rates applicable to the taxable year, but otherwise on the basis of the facts shown on the taxpayer's return for, and the law applicable to, the preceding taxable year, or

(C) An amount equal to ninety percent of the tax for the taxable year computed by placing on an annualized basis the unincorporated business taxable income for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid. For purposes of this subparagraph, the unincorporated business taxable income shall be placed on an annualized basis by:

(i) multiplying by twelve (or, in the case of a taxable year of less than twelve months, the number of months in the taxable year) the unincorporated business taxable income for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid, and

(ii) dividing the resulting amount by the number of months in the taxable year ending before the month in which such installment date falls, or

(D) (i) If the base period percentage for any six consecutive months of the taxable year equals or exceeds seventy percent, an amount equal to ninety percent of the tax determined in the following manner:

(I) take the unincorporated business taxable income for all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month,

(II) divide such amount by the base period percentage for all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month,

(III) determine the tax on the amounts determined under subclause (II), and

(IV) multiply the tax determined under subclause (III) by the base period percentage for the filing month and all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month.

(ii) For purposes of clause (i) of this subparagraph:

(I) the base period percentage for any period of months shall be the average percent which the unincorporated business taxable income for the corresponding months in each of the three preceding years bears to the unincorporated business taxable income for the three preceding taxable years. The commissioner of finance may by regulations provide for the determination of the base period percentage in the case of new unincorporated businesses and other similar circumstances, and

(II) the term "filing month" means the month in which the installment is required to be paid;

(2) An amount equal to ninety percent of the tax computed, at the rates applicable to the taxable year, on the basis of the actual unincorporated business taxable income for the months in the taxable year ending before the month in which the installment is required to be paid.

(e) (1) Except as provided in paragraph two hereof, subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph one of subdivision (d) of this section shall not apply in the case of any taxpayer which had unincorporated business taxable income, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, of one million dollars or more for any taxable year during the three taxable years immediately preceding the taxable year involved.

(2) The amount treated as the estimated tax under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph one of subdivision (d) of this section shall in no event be less than seventy-five percent of the tax shown on the return for the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-three or, if no return was filed, seventy-five percent of the tax for such year.

(f) Deficiency due to fraud. (1) If any part of a deficiency is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to fifty percent of the deficiency.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of section 11-524 with respect to the portion of the deficiency described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such deficiency (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The addition to tax under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (a) or (b).

(g) Additional penalty. Any taxpayer who with fradulent intent shall fail to pay any tax, or to make, render, sign or certify any return or declaration of estimated tax, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter shall be liable to a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter, to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(h) Additions treated as tax. The additions to tax and penalties provided by this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as taxes, and any reference in this chapter to tax or tax imposed by this chapter, shall be deemed also to refer to the additions to tax and penalties provided by this section. For purposes of section 11-521, this subdivision shall not apply to-

(1) any addition to tax under subdivision (a) except as to that portion attributable to a deficiency;

(2) any addition to tax under subdivision (c); and

(3) any additional penalties under subdivisions (g) and (k).

(i) Determination of deficiency. For purposes of subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section, the amounts shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon his or her return shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the deficiency only if such return was filed on or before the last day prescribed for the filing of such return, determined with regard to any extension of time for such filing.

(j) Substantial understatement of liability. If there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable year, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to ten percent of the amount of any underpayment attributable to such understatement. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable year if the amount of the understatement for the taxable year exceeds the greater of ten percent of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, or five thousand dollars. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "understatement" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return, reduced by any rebate (within the meaning of subdivision (g) of section 11-521). The amount of such understatement shall be reduced by that portion of the understatement which is attributable to the tax treatment of any item by the taxpayer if there is or was substantial authority for such treatment, or any item with respect to which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. The commissioner of finance may waive all or any part of the addition to tax provided by this subdivision on a showing by the taxpayer that there was reasonable cause for the understatement (or part thereof) and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

(k) Aiding or assisting in the giving of fraudulent returns, reports, statements or other documents. (1) Any person who, with the intent that tax be evaded, shall, for a fee or other compensation or as an incident to the performance of other services for which such person receives compensation, aid or assist in, or procure, counsel, or advise the preparation or presentation under, or in connection with any matter arising under this chapter of any return, report, declaration, statement or other document which is fraudulent or false as to any material matter, or supply any false or fraudulent information, whether or not such falsity or fraud is with the knowledge or consent of the person authorized or required to present such return, report, declaration, statement or other document shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the term "procures" includes ordering (or otherwise causing) a subordinate to do an act, and knowing of, and not attempting to prevent, participation by a subordinate in an act. The term "subordinate" means any other person (whether or not a member, employee, or agent of the taxpayer involved) over whose activities the person has direction, supervision, or control.

(3) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, a person furnishing typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assistance with respect to a document shall not be treated as having aided or assisted in the preparation of such document by reason of such assistance.

(4) The penalty imposed by this subdivision shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-526 Overpayment.

(a) General. The commissioner of finance, within the applicable period of limitations, may credit an overpayment of tax and interest on such overpayment against any liability in respect of any tax imposed by this chapter or by chapters six, seventeen and nineteen of this title, on the person who made overpayment, and the balance shall be refunded.

(b) Credits against estimated tax. The commissioner of finance may prescribe regulations providing for the crediting against the estimated tax for any taxable year of the amount determined to be an overpayment of the tax for a preceding taxable year. If any overpayment of tax is so claimed as a credit against estimated tax for the succeeding taxable year, such amount shall be considered as a payment of the tax for the succeeding taxable year (whether or not claimed as a credit in the declaration of estimated tax for such succeeding taxable year), and no claim for credit or refund of such overpayment shall be allowed for the taxable year for which the overpayment arises.

(c) Rule where no tax liability. If there is no tax liability for a period in respect of which an amount is paid as tax, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(d) Assessment and collection after limitation period. If any amount of income tax is assessed or collected after the expiration of the period of limitations properly applicable thereto, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

(e) Notwithstanding any provision of law in article fifty-two of the civil practice law and rules to the contrary, the procedures for the enforcement of money judgments shall not apply to the department of finance, or to any officer or employee of the department of finance, as a garnishee, with respect to any amount of money to be refunded or credited to a taxpayer under this chapter.

§ 11-527 Limitation on credit or refund.

(a) General. Claim for credit or refund of an overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever of such periods expires the later, or if no return was filed, within two years from the time the tax was paid. If the claim is filed within the three year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid within the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim plus the period of any extension of time for filing the return. If the claim is not filed within the three year period, but is filed within the two year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if no claim is filed, the amount of a credit or refund shall not exceed the amount which would be allowable if a claim had been filed on the date the credit or refund is allowed.

(b) Extension of time by agreement. If an agreement under the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section 11-523 of this chapter (extending the period for assessment of income tax) is made within the period prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section for the filing of a claim for credit or refund the period for filing a claim for credit or refund, or for making credit or refund if no claims filed, shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment may be made pursuant to the agreement or any extension thereof. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid after the execution of the agreement and before the filing of the claim or the making of the credit or refund, as the case may be, plus the portion of the tax paid within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a) of this section if a claim had been filed on the date the agreement was executed.

(c) Notice of change or correction of federal or New York state taxable income. If a taxpayer is required by section 11-519 of this chapter to report a change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income reported on the taxpayer's federal or New York state income tax return, or to report a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were an overpayment for federal or New York state income tax purposes, or to file an amended return with the commissioner of finance, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time the notice of such change or correction or such amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner of finance. If the report or amended return required by section 11-519 of this chapter is not filed within the ninety day period therein specified, no interest shall be payable on any claim for credit or refund of the overpayment attributable to the federal or New York state change or correction. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such federal or New York state change, correction or items amended on the taxpayer's amended federal or New York state income tax return. This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

(d) Overpayment attributable to net operating loss carryback. A claim for credit or refund of so much of an overpayment as is attributable to the application to the taxpayer of a net operating loss carryback shall be filed within three years from the time the return was due for the taxable year of the loss, or within the period prescribed in subdivision (b) of this section in respect of such taxable year, or within the period prescribed in subdivision (c) of this section, where applicable in respect of the taxable year to which the net operating loss is carried back, whichever expires the latest.

(e) Failure to file claim within prescribed period. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made, except as provided in subdivision (f) of this section or subdivision (d) of section 11-530 of this chapter after the expiration of the applicable period of limitation specified in this chapter unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within such period. Any later credit shall be void and any later refund erroneous. No period of limitations specified in any other law shall apply to the recovery by a taxpayer of moneys paid in respect of taxes under this chapter.

(f) Effect of petition to tax appeals tribunal. If a notice of deficiency for a taxable year has been mailed to the taxpayer under section 11-521 of this chapter and if the taxpayer files a timely petition with the tax appeals tribunal under section 11-529 of this chapter, the tax appeals tribunal may determine that the taxpayer has made an overpayment for such year (whether or not it also determines a deficiency for such year). No separate claim for credit or refund for such year shall be filed, and no credit or refund for such year shall be allowed or made, except:

(1) as to overpayments determined by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final;

(2) as to any amount collected in excess of an amount computed in accordance with the decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final;

(3) as to any amount collected after the period of limitation upon the making of levy for collection has expired; and

(4) as to any amount claimed as a result of a change or correction described in subdivision (c) of this section.

(g) Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of overpayment determined under subdivision (f) of this section shall, when the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final, be credited or refunded in accordance with subdivision (a) of section 11-526 of this chapter and shall not exceed the amount of tax which the tax appeals tribunal determines as part of its decision was paid: (1) after the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or

(2) within the period which would be applicable under subdivision (a), (b) or (c) of this section, if on the date of the mailing of the notice of deficiency a claim has been filed (whether or not filed) stating the grounds upon which the tax appeals tribunal finds that there is an overpayment.

(h) Early return. For purposes of this section, any return filed before the last day prescribed for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day, determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

(i) Prepaid tax. For purposes of this section, any tax paid by the taxpayer before the last day prescribed for its payment and any amount paid by the taxpayer as estimated tax for a taxable year shall be deemed to have been paid by the taxpayer on the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of his or her taxable year with respect to which such amount constitutes a credit or payment.

(j) Cross reference. For provision barring refund of overpayment credited against tax of a succeeding year, see subdivision (d) of section 11-526 of this chapter.

(k) Notice of change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability. If a taxpayer is required by section 11-519.1 of this chapter to file a report or amended return or report in respect of a change or correction of his or her sales and compensating use tax liability, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time such report or amended return or report was required to be filed with the commissioner of finance. The amount of such credit or refund shall be computed without change of the allocation of income upon which the taxpayer's return (or any additional assessment) was based, and shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability.

This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-528 Interest on overpayment.

(a) General. Notwithstanding the provisions of section three-a of the general municipal law, interest shall be allowed and paid as follows at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-537 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon any overpayment in respect of the tax imposed by this chapter:

(1) from the date of the overpayment to the due date of an amount against which a credit is taken; or

(2) from the date of the overpayment to a date (to be determined by the commissioner of finance) preceding the date of a refund check by not more than thirty days, whether or not such refund check is accepted by the taxpayer after tender of such check to the taxpayer. The acceptance of such check shall be without prejudice to any right of the taxpayer to claim any additional overpayment and interest thereon.

(3) Late and amended returns and claims for credit or refund. Notwithstanding paragraph one or two of this subdivision, in the case of an overpayment claimed on a return of tax which is filed after the last date prescribed for filing such return (determined with regard to extensions), or claimed on an amended return of tax or claimed on a claim, for credit or refund, no interest shall be allowed or paid for any day before the date on which such return or claim is filed.

(4) Interest on certain refunds. To the extent provided for in regulations promulgated by the commissioner of finance, if an item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit is changed from the taxable year or period in which it is reported to the taxable year or period in which it belongs and the change results in an underpayment in a taxable year or period and an overpayment in some other taxable year or period, the provisions of paragraph three of this subdivision with respect to an overpayment shall not be applicable to the extent that the limitation in such paragraph on the right to interest would result in a taxpayer not being allowed interest for a length of time with respect to an overpayment while being required to pay interest on an equivalent amount of the related underpayment. However, this paragraph shall not be construed as limiting or mitigating the effect of any statute of limitations or any other provisions of law relating to the authority of such commissioner to issue a notice of deficiency or to allow a credit or refund of an overpayment.

(5) Amounts of less than one dollar. No interest shall be allowed or paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) Advance payment of tax and payment of estimated tax. The provisions of subdivisions (h) and (i) of section 11-527 of this chapter applicable in determining the date of payment of tax for purposes of determining the period of limitations on credit or refund, shall be applicable in determining the date of payment for purposes of this section.

(c) Refund within three months of claim for overpayment. If any overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter is credited or refunded within three months after the last date prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for filing the return of such tax on which such overpayment was claimed or within three months after such return was filed, whichever is later, or within three months after an amended return was filed claiming such overpayment or within three months after a claim for credit or refund was filed on which such overpayment was claimed, no interest shall be allowed under this section on any such overpayment. For purposes of this subdivision, any amended return or claim for credit or refund filed before the last day prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for the filing of the return of tax for such year shall be considered as filed on such last day.

(d) Refund of tax caused by carryback. For purposes of this section, if any overpayment of tax imposed by this chapter results from a carryback of a net operating loss, such overpayment shall be deemed not to have been made prior to the filing date for the taxable year in which such net operating loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file. For purposes of subdivision (c) of this section any overpayment described herein shall be treated as an overpayment for the loss year and such subdivision shall be applied with respect to such overpayment by treating the return for the loss year as not filed before claim for such overpayment is filed. The term "loss year" means the taxable year in which such loss arises.

(e) No interest until return in processible form. (1) For purposes of subdivisions (a) and (c) of this section, a return shall not be treated as filed until it is filed in processible form.

(2) For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, a return is in a processible form if:

(A) such return is filed on a permitted form, and

(B) such return contains:

(i) the taxpayer's name, address, and identifying number and the required signatures, and

(ii) sufficient required information (whether on the return or on required attachments) to permit the mathematical verification of tax liability shown on the return.

(f) Cross-reference. For provision with respect to interest after failure to file notice of federal or New York state change under section 11-519 of this chapter, see subdivision (c) of section 11-527 of this chapter.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-529 Petition to tax appeals tribunal.

(a) General. The form of a petition to the tax appeals tribunal, and further proceedings before the tax appeals tribunal in any case initiated by the filing of a petition, shall be governed by such rules as the tax appeals tribunal shall prescribe. No petition shall be denied in whole or in part without opportunity for a hearing on reasonable prior notice. Such hearing and any appeal to the tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall be rendered, and notice thereof shall be given, in the manner provided by section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

(b) Petition for redetermination of a deficiency. Within ninety days, or one hundred fifty days if the notice is addressed to a person outside of the United States, after the mailing of the notice of deficiency authorized by section 11-521 of this chapter, or if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, the taxpayer may file a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a redetermination of the deficiency. Such petition may also assert a claim for refund for the same taxable year or years, subject to the limitations of subdivision (g) of section 11-527 of this chapter.

(c) Petition for refund. A taxpayer may file a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for the amounts asserted in a claim for refund if:

(1) the taxpayer has filed a timely claim for refund with the commissioner of finance,

(2) the taxpayer has not previously filed with the tax appeals tribunal a timely petition under subdivision (b) of this section for the same taxable year unless the petition under this subdivision relates to a separate claim for credit or refund properly filed under subdivision (f) of section 11-527 of this chapter, and

(3) either: (A) six months have expired since the claim was filed, or (B) the commissioner of finance has mailed to the taxpayer, by registered or certified mail, a notice of disallowance of such claim in whole or in part. No petition under this subdivision shall be filed more than two years after the date of mailing of a notice of disallowance, unless prior to the expiration of such two year period it has been extended by written agreement between the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance. If a taxpayer files a written waiver of the requirement that he or she be mailed a notice of disallowance, the two year period prescribed by this subdivision for filing a petition for refund shall begin on the date such waiver is filed.

(4) If the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code, a taxpayer who is eligible to file a petition for refund with the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to this subdivision may request a conciliation conference prior to filing such petition, provided the request is made within the time prescribed for filing the petition. Notwithstanding anything in this subdivision to the contrary, if the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance with the procedure established pursuant to section 11-124 of the code, a petition for refund may be filed no later than ninety days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding.

(d) Assertion of deficiency after filing petition. (1) Petition for redetermination of deficiency. If a taxpayer files with the tax appeals tribunal a petition for redetermination of a deficiency, the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to determine a greater deficiency than asserted in the notice of deficiency and to determine if there should be assessed any addition to tax or penalty provided in section 11-525 of this chapter, if claim therefor is asserted at or before the hearing under the rules of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Petition for refund. If the taxpayer files with the tax appeals tribunal a petition for credit or refund for a taxable year, the tax appeals tribunal may:

(A) determine a deficiency for such year as to any amount of deficiency asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax appeals tribunal, and within the period in which an assessment would be timely under section 11-523 of this chapter, or

(B) deny so much of the amount for which credit or refund is sought in the petition, as is offset by other issues pertaining to the same taxable year which are asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax appeals tribunal.

(3) Opportunity to respond. A taxpayer shall be given a reasonable opportunity to respond to any matters asserted by the commissioner of finance under this subdivision.

(4) Restriction on further notices of deficiency. If the taxpayer files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal under this section, no notice of deficiency under section 11-521 of this chapter may thereafter be issued by the commissioner of finance for the same taxable year, except in case of fraud or with respect to a change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income required to be reported under section 11-519 of this chapter or with respect to a state change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability to be reported under section 11-519.1 of this chapter.

(e) Burden of proof. In any case before the tax appeals tribunal under this chapter, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner except for the following issues, as to which the burden of proof shall be upon the commissioner of finance:

(1) whether the petitioner has been guilty of fraud with intent to evade tax;

(2) whether the petitioner is liable as the transferee of property of a taxpayer, but not to show that the taxpayer was liable for the tax;

(3) whether the petitioner is liable for any increase in a deficiency where such increase is asserted initially after a notice of deficiency was mailed and a petition under this section filed, unless such increase in deficiency is the result of a change or correction of federal or New York state taxable income required to be reported under section 11-519 of this chapter, and of which change or correction the commissioner of finance had no notice at the time he or she mailed the notice of deficiency or unless such increase in deficiency is the result of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability required to be reported under section 11-519.1 of this chapter, and of which change or correction the commissioner of finance had no notice at the time he or she mailed the notice of deficiency; and

(4) whether any person is liable for a penalty under subdivision (k) of section 11-525.

(f) Evidence of related federal or state determination. Evidence of a federal or state determination relating to issues raised in a case before the tax appeals tribunal under this section shall be admissible, under rules established by the tax appeals tribunal.

(g) Jurisdiction over other years. The tax appeals tribunal shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other years as may be necessary correctly to determine the tax for the taxable year, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other year has been overpaid or underpaid.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. A registered futures commodities merchant engaged in futures commodities transactions on a retail basis and for their own account are not exempt by Ad Cd §11-502(c) because they were not trading solely for their own account. Petitioners failed to carry their burden of proof to establish otherwise, Ad Cd §11-529(e). Matter of Lakeview Futures v. NYC Fin. Dep't, 210 AD2d 31, 618 N.Y.S.2d 818 [1994].

¶ 2. Although solo practitioner attorney's payments for self-employed health insurance premiums, one-half of the federal self-employment tax and contributions to a defined benefit plan may be deductible for federal income tax purposes, they are not deductible for purposes of the New York City Unincorporated Business Tax. Horowitz v. NYC Tax App. Trib., 41 A.D.3d 101, 837 N.Y.S.2d 89 (1st Dept. 2007).

¶ 3. Exemption and deduction provisions are to be construed in favor of the taxing authority, and the extent to which a deduction shall be allowed is a matter of legislative grace. Where payments by the taxpayer to retired partners were denominated as "past service compensation," and the partners had agreed to recognize the payments as ordinary income for federal tax purposes, the court upheld the City's finding that the payments were non-deductible for purposes of City unincorporate business tax.

§ 11-530 Review of tax appeals tribunal's decision.

(a) General. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be subject to judicial review at the instance of any taxpayer affected thereby in the manner provided by law for the review of a final decision or action of administrative agencies of the city. An application by a taxpayer for such review must be made within four months after notice of the decision is sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance.

(b) Judicial review exclusive remedy. The review of a decision of the tax appeals tribunal provided by this section shall be the exclusive remedy available to any taxpayer for the judicial determination of the liability of the taxpayer for the taxes imposed by this chapter.

(c) Assessment pending review; review bond. Irrespective of any restrictions on the assessment and collection of deficiencies, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal in a decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter after the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section, notwithstanding that an application for judicial review in respect of such deficiency has been duly made by the taxpayer, unless the taxpayer, at or before the time his or her application for review is made, has paid the deficiency, has deposited with the commissioner of finance the amount of the deficiency, or has filed with the commissioner of finance a bond (which may be a jeopardy bond under subdivision (h) of section 11-534 of this chapter) in the amount of the portion of the deficiency (including interest and other amounts) in respect of which the application for review is made and all costs and charges which may accrue against such taxpayer in the prosecution of the proceeding, including costs of all appeals, and with surety approved by a justice of the supreme court of the state of New York, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency (including interests and other amounts) as finally determined and such costs and charges. If, as a result of a waiver of the restrictions on the assessment and collection of a deficiency, any part of the amount determined by the tax appeals tribunal is paid after the filing of the review bond, such bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(d) Credit, refund or abatement after review. If the amount of a deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal is disallowed in whole or in part by the court of review, the amount so disallowed shall be credited, or refunded to the taxpayer, without the making of claim therefor, or, if payment has not been made, shall be abated.

(e) Date of finality of tax appeals tribunal's decision. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall become final upon the expiration of the period specified in subdivision (a) of this section for making an application for review, if no such application has been duly made within such time, or if such application has been duly made, upon expiration of the time for all further judicial review, or upon the rendering by the tax appeals tribunal of a decision in accordance with the mandate of the court on review. Notwithstanding the foregoing, for the purpose of making an application for review, the decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall be deemed final on the date the notice of decision is sent by certified mail to the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance.

§ 11-531 Mailing rules; holidays; miscellaneous.

(a) Timely mailing. (1) If any return, declaration of estimated tax, claim, statement, notice, petition, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by the United States mail to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed. To the extent that the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal shall prescribe by regulation, certified mail may be used in lieu of registered mail under this section. Except as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulations of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) (A) Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(B) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in paragraph one of this subdivision. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(b) Last known address. For purposes of this chapter, a taxpayer's last known address shall be given in the last return filed by the taxpayer, unless subsequently to the filing of such return the taxpayer shall have notified the commissioner of finance of a change of address.

(c) Last day a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

(d) Certificate: unfiled return. For purposes of this chapter and sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter, the certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return or declaration of estimated tax has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied, as required by or under the provisions of this title, shall be prima facie evidence that such tax has not been paid, that such return or declaration has not been filed, or that such information has not been supplied.

§ 11-532 Collection, levy and liens.

(a) Collection procedures. The taxes imposed by this chapter shall be collected by the commissioner of finance, and the commissioner may establish the mode or time for the collection of any amount due it under this chapter if not otherwise specified. The commissioner of finance shall, upon request, give a receipt for any sum collected under this chapter. The commissioner of finance may authorize banks or trust companies which are depositories or financial agents of the city to receive and give a receipt for any tax imposed under this chapter in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as the commissioner of finance may prescribe; and the commissioner of finance shall prescribe the manner, times and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the commissioner of finance.

(b) Notice and demand for tax. The commissioner of finance shall as soon as practicable give notice to each person liable for any amount of tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest, which has been assessed but remains unpaid, stating the amount and demanding payment thereof. Such notice shall be left at the dwelling or usual place of business of such person or shall be sent by mail to such person's last known address. Except where the commissioner of finance determines that collection would be jeopardized by delay, if any tax is assessed prior to the last date (including any date fixed by extension) prescribed for payment of such tax, payment of such tax shall not be demanded until after such date.

(c) Issuance of warrant after notice and demand. If any person liable under this chapter for the payment of any tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest neglects or refuses to pay the same within the ten days after notice and demand herefor is given to such person under subdivision (b) of this section, the commissioner of finance may within six years after the date of such assessment issue a warrant directed to the sheriff of any county of the state, or to any officer or employee of the department of finance, commanding such person to levy upon and sell such person's real and personal property for the payment of the amount assessed, with the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of the warrant. If the commissioner of finance finds that the collection of the tax or other amount is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the commissioner of finance and upon failure or refusal to pay such tax or other amount the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant without regard to the ten-day period provided in this subdivision.

(d) Copy of warrant to be filed and lien to be created. Any sheriff or officer or employee who receives a warrant under subdivision (c) of this section shall within five days thereafter file a copy with the clerk of the appropriate county. The clerk shall thereupon enter in the judgment docket, in the column for judgment debtors, the name of the taxpayer mentioned in the warrant, and in appropriate columns the tax or other amounts for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed; and such amount shall thereupon be a binding lien upon the real, personal and other property of the taxpayer.

(e) Judgment. When a warrant has been filed with the county clerk the commissioner of finance shall, on behalf of the city, be deemed to have obtained judgment against the taxpayer for the tax or other amounts.

(f) Execution. The sheriff or officer or employee shall thereupon proceed upon the judgment in all respects, with like effect, and in the same manner prescribed by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and a sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees for the sheriff's services in executing the warrant, to be collected in the same manner. An officer or employee of the department of finance may proceed in any county or counties of this state and shall have all the powers of execution conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of actual expenses paid in connection with the execution of the warrant.

(g) Taxpayer not a resident of this state. Where a notice and demand under subdivision (b) of this section shall have been given to a taxpayer who is not then a resident of this state, and it appears to the commissioner of finance that it is not practicable to find in this state property of the taxpayer sufficient to pay the entire balance of tax or other amount owing by such taxpayer who is not then a resident of this state, the commissioner of finance may, in accordance with subdivision (c) of this section, issue a warrant directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance, a copy of which warrant shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer at the taxpayer's last known address, subject to the rules for mailing provided in subdivision (a) of section 11-521 of this chapter. Such warrant shall command the officer or employee to proceed in New York county, and such officer or employee shall, within five days after receipt of the warrant, file the warrant and obtain a judgment in accordance with this section. Thereupon the commissioner of finance may authorize the institution of any action or proceeding to collect or enforce the judgment in any place and by any procedure that a civil judgment of the supreme court of the state of New York could be collected or enforced. The commissioner of finance may also, in the commissioner's discretion, designate agents or retain counsel for the purpose of collecting, outside the state of New York, any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter against taxpayers who are not residents of this state, may fix the compensation of such agents and counsel to be paid out of money appropriated or otherwise lawfully available for payment thereof, and may require of them bonds or other security for the faithful performance of their duties, in such form and in such amount as the commissioner of finance shall deem proper and sufficient.

(h) Action by city for recovery of taxes. Action may be brought by the corporation counsel of the city at the instance of the commissioner of finance as agent and trustee for the city to recover the amount of any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this chapter within six years prior to the date the action is commenced.

(i) Release of lien or vacating warrant. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision (d) or (g) of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

CHAPTER 5 CITY UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

§ 11-533 Transferees.

(a) General. The liability, at law or in equity, of a transferee of property of a taxpayer for any tax, additions to tax, penalty or interest due the commissioner of finance under this chapter, shall be assessed, paid, and collected in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as in the case of the tax to which the liability relates, except that the period of limitations for assessment against the transferee shall be extended by one year for each successive transfer, in order, from the original taxpayer to the transferee involved, but not by more than three years in the aggregate. The term "transferee" includes donee, heir, legatee, devisee and distributee.

(b) Exceptions. (1) If before the expiration of the period of limitations for assessment of liability of the transferee, a claim has been filed by the commissioner of finance in any court against the original taxpayer or the last preceeding transferee based upon the liability of the original taxpayer, then the period of limitation for assessment of liability of the transferee shall in no event expire prior to one year after such claim has been finally allowed, disallowed or otherwise disposed of.

(2) If, before the expiration of the time prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section or the immediately preceding paragraph of this subdivision for the assessment of the liability, the commissioner of finance and the transferee have both consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon. For the purpose of determining the period of limitation on credit or refund to the transferee of overpayments of tax made by such transferee or overpayments of tax made by the transferor as to which the transferee is legally entitled to credit or refund, such agreement and any extension thereof shall be deemed an agreement and extension thereof referred to in subdivision (b) of section 11-527 of this chapter. If the agreement is executed after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the original taxpayer, then in applying the limitations under subdivision (b) of section 11-527 of this chapter on the amount of the credit or refund, the periods specified in subdivision (a) of section 11-527 of this chapter shall be increased by the period from the date of such expiration to the date of agreement.

(c) Deceased transferor. If any person is deceased, the period of limitation for assessment against such person shall be the period that would be in effect if such person had lived.

(d) Evidence. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (e) of section 11-537 of this chapter the commissioner of finance shall use his or her powers to make available to the transferee evidence necessary to enable the transferee to determine the liability of the original taxpayer and of any preceding transferees, but without undue hardship to the original taxpayer or preceding transferee. See subdivision (e) of section 11-529 of this chapter for rules as to burden of proof.

§ 11-534 Jeopardy assessment.

(a) Authority for making. If the commissioner of finance believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, the commissioner shall, notwithstanding the provision of sections 11-521 and 11-536 of this chapter, and immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, penalties and additions to tax provided for by law), and notice and demand shall be made by the commissioner of finance for the payment thereof.

(b) Notice of deficiency. If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect to the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 11-521 of this chapter, then the commissioner of finance shall mail a notice under such section within sixty days after the making of the assessment.

(c) Amount assessable before decision of tax appeals tribunal. The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that of which notice is mailed to the taxpayer and whether or not the taxpayer has heretofore filed a petition with the tax appeals tribunal. The commissioner of finance may, at any time before the tax appeals tribunal renders its decision, abate such assessment, or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that the commissioner believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The tax appeals tribunal may in its decision redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

(d) Amount assessable after decision of tax appeals tribunal. If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the tax appeals tribunal is rendered, such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal in its decision.

(e) Expiration of right to assess. A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final or after the taxpayer has made an application for review of the decision of the tax appeals tribunal.

(f) Collection of unpaid amounts. When a petition has been filed with the tax appeals tribunal and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner of finance, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer as provided in section 11-526 of this chapter without the filing of claim therefor. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner of finance.

(g) Abatement if jeopardy does not exist. The commissioner of finance may abate the jeopardy assessment if the commissioner finds that jeopardy does not exist. Such abatement may not be made after a decision of the tax appeals tribunal in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with the tax appeals tribunal, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and levy or a proceeding for collection, in respect of any deficiency, shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the day on which such jeopardy assessment is abated.

(h) Bond to stay collection. The collection of the whole or any amount of any jeopardy assessment may be stayed by filing with the commissioner of finance, within such time as may be fixed by regulation, a bond in an amount equal to the amount as to which the stay is desired, conditioned upon the payment of the amount (together with interest thereon) the collection of which is stayed at the time at which, but for the making of the jeopardy assessment, such amount would be due. Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The taxpayer shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced. If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated, or if a notice or deficiency under section 11-521 of this chapter is mailed to the taxpayer in a lesser amount, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

(i) Petition to tax appeals tribunal. If the bond is given before the taxpayer has filed his or her petition under section 11-529 of this chapter, the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such section, then the amount the collection of which is stayed by the bond, will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subdivision. The bond shall be conditioned upon the payment of so much of such assessment (collection of which is stayed by the bond) as is not abated by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final. If the tax appeals tribunal determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced when the decision of the tax appeals tribunal is rendered.

(j) Stay of sale of seized property pending tax appeals tribunal decision. Where a jeopardy assessment is made, the property seized for the collection of the tax shall not be sold:

(1) if subdivision (b) of this section is applicable, prior to the issuance of the notice of deficiency and the expiration of the time provided in section 11-529 of this chapter for filing a petition with the tax appeals tribunal, and

(2) if a petition is filed with the tax appeals tribunal (whether before or after the making of such jeopardy assessment), prior to the expiration of the period during which the assessment of the deficiency would be prohibited if subdivision (a) of this section were not applicable.

Such property may be sold if the taxpayer consents to the sale, or if the commissioner of finance determines that the expenses of conservation and maintenance will greatly reduce the net proceeds, or if the property is perishable.

(k) Interest. For the purpose of subdivision (a) of section 11-524 of this chapter, the last date prescribed for payment shall be determined without regard to any notice and demand for payment issued under this section prior to the last date otherwise prescribed for such payment.

(l) Early termination of taxable year. If the commissioner of finance finds that a taxpayer designs quickly to depart from this state or to remove his or her property therefrom, or to conceal himself or herself or his or her property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect the income tax for the current or the preceding taxable year unless such proceedings be brought without delay, the commissioner of finance shall declare the taxable period for such taxpayer immediately terminated, and shall cause notice of such finding and declaration to be given to the taxpayer, together with a demand for immediate payment of the tax for the taxable period so declared terminated and of the tax for the preceding taxable year or so much of such tax as is unpaid, whether or not the time otherwise allowed by law for filing return and paying the tax has expired; and such taxes shall thereupon become immediately due and payable. In any proceeding brought to enforce payment of taxes made due and payable by virtue of the provisions of this subdivision, the finding of the commissioner of finance made as herein provided, whether made after notice to the taxpayer or not, shall be for all purposes presumptive evidence of jeopardy.

(m) Reopening of taxable period. Notwithstanding the termination of the taxable period of the taxpayer by the commissioner of finance as provided in subdivision (l) of this section, the commissioner of finance may reopen such taxable period each time the taxpayer is found by the commissioner of finance to have received income, within the current taxable year, since the termination of such period. A taxable period so terminated by the commissioner of finance may be reopened by the taxpayer if the taxpayer files with the commissioner of finance a true and accurate return of taxable income and credits allowed under this chapter for taxable period, together with such other information as the commissioner of finance may by regulations prescribe.

(n) Furnishing of bond where taxable year is closed by the commissioner of finance. Payment of taxes shall not be enforced by any proceedings under the provisions of subdivision (1) of this section prior to the expiration of the time otherwise allowed for paying such taxes if the taxpayer furnishes, under regulations prescribed by the commissioner of finance, a bond to insure the timely making of returns with respect to, and payment of, such taxes or any taxes under this chapter for prior years.

§ 11-536 Armed forces relief provisions.

(a) Time to be disregarded. In the case of an individual serving in the armed forces of the United States or serving in support of such armed forces, in an area designated by the president of the United States by executive order as a "combat zone" at any time during the period designated by the president by executive order as the period of combatant activities in such zone, or hospitalized outside the state as a result of injury received while serving in such an area during such time, the period of service in such area, plus the period of continuous hospitalization outside the state attributable to such injury, and the next one hundred eighty days thereafter, shall be disregarded in determining, under this chapter, in respect of the tax liability (including any interest, penalty, or addition to the tax) of such individual:

(1) Whether any of the following acts was performed within the time prescribed therefor:

(A) filing any return of tax;

(B) payment of any tax or any installment thereof or of any other liability to the commissioner of finance, in respect thereof;

(C) filing a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for credit or refund or for redetermination of a deficiency, or application for review of a decision rendered by the tax appeals tribunal;

(D) allowance of a credit or refund of tax;

(E) filing a claim for credit or refund of tax;

(F) assessment of tax;

(G) giving or making any notice or demand for the payment of any tax, or with respect to any liability to the commissioner of finance in respect of tax;

(H) collection, by the commissioner of finance, by levy or otherwise of the amount of any liability in respect of tax;

(I) bringing suit by the city, or any officer, on its behalf, in respect of any liability in respect of tax; and

(J) any other act required or permitted under this chapter or specified in regulations prescribed under this section by the commissioner of finance.

(2) The amount of any credit or refund (including interest).

(b) Action taken before ascertainment of right to benefits. The assessment or collection of the tax imposed by this chapter or of any liability to the commissioner of finance in respect of such tax, or any action or proceeding by or on behalf of the commissioner of finance in connection therewith, may be made, taken, begun, or prosecuted in accordance with law, without regard to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, unless prior to such assessment, collection, action, or proceeding it is ascertained that the person concerned is entitled to the benefit of subdivision (a) of this section.

(c) Members of armed forces dying in action. In the case of any person who dies during an induction period while in active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States, if such death occurred while serving in a combat zone during a period of combatant activities in such zone, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, or as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while so serving, the tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply with respect to the taxable year in which falls the date of such person's death, or with respect to any prior taxable year ending on or after the first day he or she so served in a combat zone, and no returns shall be required in behalf of such person or such person's estate for such year; and the tax for any such taxable year which is unpaid at the date of his or her death, including interest, additions to tax and penalties, if any, shall not be assessed and if assessed, the assessment shall be abated and, if collected, shall be refunded to the legal representative of such person's estate if one has been appointed and has qualified, or, if no legal representative has been appointed or has qualified, to such person's surviving spouse.

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

§ 11-537 General powers of commissioner of finance.

(a) General. The commissioner of finance shall administer and enforce the tax imposed by this chapter and the commissioner is authorized to make such rules and regulations, and to require such facts and information to be reported, as the commissioner may deem necessary to enforce the provision of this chapter; and the commissioner may delegate his or her powers and functions under all parts of this chapter to one of the commissioner's deputies or to any employee or employees of the commissioner's department.

(b) Examination of books and witnesses. The commissioner of finance for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of tax of any person, shall have power to examine or to cause to have examined, by any agent or representative designated by the commissioner for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in the return, and may require the attendance of the person rendering the return or any officer or employee of such person, or the attendance of any other person having knowledge in the premises, and may take testimony and require proof material for the commissioner's information, with power to administer oaths to such person or persons.

(c) Abatement authority. The commissioner of finance, of his or her own motion, may abate any small unpaid balance of an assessment of tax under this part, or any liability in respect thereof, if the commissioner of finance determines under uniform rules prescribed by the commissioner that the administration and collection costs involved would not warrant collection of the amount due. The commissioner may also abate, of his or her own motion, the unpaid portion of the assessment of any tax or any liability in respect thereof, which is excessive in amount, or is assessed after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, or is erroneously or illegally assessed. No claim for abatement under this subdivision shall be filed by a taxpayer.

(d) Special refund authority. Where no questions of fact or law are involved and it appears from the records of the commissioner of finance that any moneys have been erroneously or illegally collected from any taxpayer or other person, or paid by such taxpayer or other person under a mistake of facts, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the commissioner of finance at any time, without regard to any period of limitations, shall have the power, upon making a record of his or her reasons therefor in writing, to cause such moneys so paid and being erroneously and illegally held to be refunded.

(e) Cooperation with the United States, this state and other states. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-538 of this chapter, the commissioner of finance may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or the secretary's delegates, or the proper officer of this or any other state imposing an income tax upon the incomes of individuals, or the authorized representative of any such officer, to inspect any return filed under this chapter or may furnish to such officer or his or her authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such officer with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or such officer's representative only if the laws of the United States or of such state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner of finance and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of finance may furnish to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or the secretary's delegates or to the tax commission of the state of New York or its delegates such returns filed under this chapter and other tax information, as he or she may consider proper for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code or the tax law of the state of New York, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of finance by the secretary of the treasury or by such tax commission or by their delegates, provided the laws of the United States or the laws of the state of New York grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or the secretary's delegates or to such tax commission or its delegates. Where the commissioner of finance has so authorized use of returns or other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(f) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the overpayment and underpayment rates of interest to be paid pursuant to sections 11-524, 11-525 and 11-528 of this chapter, but if no such rate or rates of interest are set, such rate or rates shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such overpayment and underpayment rates shall be the rates prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision, but the underpayment rate shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rates set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due or overpaid on or after the date on which such rates become effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period during which such rates are in effect.

(2) General rule. (A) Overpayment rate. The overpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) two percentage points.

(B) Underpayment rate. The underpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the overpayment and underpayment rates for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rates to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rates apply. The setting and publication of such interest rates shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(5) Cross-reference. For provisions relating to the power of the commissioner of finance to abate small amounts of interest, see subdivision (c) of this section.

(g) In computing the amount of any interest required to be paid under this chapter by the commissioner of finance or by the taxpayer, or any other amount determined by reference to such amount of interest, such interest and such amount shall be compounded daily. The preceding sentence shall not apply for purposes of computing the amount of any addition to tax for failure to pay estimated tax under subdivision (c) of section 11-525 of this chapter.

§ 11-538 Secrecy requirement and the penalties for violation.

1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the department of finance of the city, any officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, any depository to which any return may be delivered as provided in subdivision four of this section, any officer or employee of such depository, the tax appeals tribunal, any commissioner or employee of such tribunal, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any report or return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any report or return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any report or return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner the amount of income or any particulars set forth or disclosed in any report or return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such reports and returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the city in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the city is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the reports, returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said reports, returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or to the taxpayer's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return or report filed in connection with his or her tax or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular reports or returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city of the report or return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of finance or the corporation counsel or has been instituted, or the inspection of the reports or returns required under this chapter by the duly designated officers or employees of the city for purposes of an audit under this chapter or an audit authorized by the enacting of this chapter. Reports and returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance orders them to be destroyed.

2. Any officer or employee of the city or the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision one of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in the city or the state for a period of five years thereafter.

3. Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, the commissioner of finance, in his or her discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this chapter, to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner of finance and to file declarations of estimated tax and reports and returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner of finance, in lieu of making any such payment directly to the commissioner of finance. However, the commissioner of finance shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are depositories or financial agents of the city.

5. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

6. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision one of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

7. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision one of this section, the commissioner of finance may disclose to a taxpayer or a taxpayer's related member, as defined in subdivision (e) of section 11-506 of this chapter, information relating to any royalty paid, incurred or received by such taxpayer or related member to or from the other, including the treatment of such payments by the taxpayer or the related member in any report or return transmitted to the commissioner of finance under this title.

CHAPTER 6 (IN PART) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 11-601 Definitions.

When used in subchapters one through five:

1. "Taxpayer" means any corporation, association or other entity or individual subject to tax under this chapter;

2. "State," "the state" or "this state" means the state of New York;

3. "Tax law," "insurance law," "private housing finance law," "environmental conservation law," "public housing law," "state finance law," "general municipal law," "public service law," "workers' compensation law," "business corporation law," "civil practice law and rules," "criminal procedure law," and "banking law" refer to laws of the state;

4. "Superintendent of insurance," and "commissioner of health" refer to officials of the state;

5. "Commissioner of finance" means the commissioner of finance of the city;

6. "Department of finance" means the department of finance of the city;

7. "Domestic corporation" means a corporation organized under the laws of the state; and

8. "Tax appeals tribunal" means the tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

9. Unless a different meaning is clearly required, any term used in this chapter shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, and any reference to the laws of the United States shall mean the provisions of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, and amendments thereto, and other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, as the same are included in the appendix to this chapter. (The quotation of the aforesaid laws of the United States is intended to make them a part of any appropriate chapter and to avoid constitutional uncertainties which might result if such laws were merely incorporated by reference. The quotation of a provision of the federal internal revenue code or of any other law of the United States shall not necessarily mean that it is applicable to or has relevance to any of the chapters.)

CHAPTER 6 (IN PART) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 2 GENERAL CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-602 Definitions.

When used in this subchapter:

1. (a) "Corporation" includes (1) an association within the meaning of paragraph three of subsection (a) of section seventy-seven hundred one of the internal revenue code (including a limited liability company), (2) a joint-stock company or association, (3) a publicly traded partnership treated as a corporation for purposes of the internal revenue code pursuant to section seventy-seven hundred four thereof and (4) any business conducted by a trustee or trustees wherein interest or ownership is evidenced by certificate or other written instrument;

(b) (1) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this subdivision, an unincorporated organization that (i) is described in subparagraph one or three of such paragraph (a) and (ii) was subject to the provisions of chapter five of this title for its taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-five, may make a one-time election not to be treated as a corporation and, instead, to continue to be subject to the provisions of chapter five of this title for its taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-six and thereafter. Such election shall be made on the return prescribed pursuant to such chapter five for such electing organization's taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-six, which shall be filed on or before the due date (determined with regard to extensions) for filing such return.

(2) An election under this paragraph shall continue to be in effect until revoked by the unincorporated organization. An election under this paragraph shall be revoked by the filing of a return under this subchapter for the first taxable year with respect to which such revocation is to be effective, which return shall be filed on or before the due date (determined with regard to extensions) for filing such return. In no event shall such election or revocation be for a part of a taxable year.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a corporation shall not include an entity classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes.

2. "Subsidiary" means a corporation of which over fifty per centum of the number of shares of stock entitling the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is owned by the taxpayer;

3. "Subsidiary capital" means investments in the stock of subsidiaries and any indebtedness from subsidiaries, exclusive of accounts receivable acquired in the ordinary course of trade or business for services rendered or for sales of property held primarily for sale to customers, whether or not evidenced by written instrument, on which interest is not claimed and deducted by the subsidiary for purposes of taxation under this subchapter or subchapter three of this chapter, provided, however, that, in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, there shall be deducted from subsidiary capital any liabilities which are directly or indirectly attributable to subsidiary capital;

4. "Investment capital" means investments in stocks, bonds and other securities, corporate and governmental, not held for sale to customers in the regular course of business, exclusive of subsidiary capital and stock issued by the taxpayer, provided, however, that, in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, there shall be deducted from investment capital any liabilities which are directly or indirectly attributable to investment capital; and provided, further, that investment capital shall not include any such investments the income from which is excluded from entire net income pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of this section, and that investment capital shall be computed without regard to any liabilities directly or indirectly attributable to such investments, but only if air carriers organized in the United States and operating in the foreign country or countries in which the taxpayer has its major base of operations and in which it is organized, resident or headquartered (if not in the same country as its major base of operations) are not subject to any tax based on or measured by capital imposed by such foreign country or countries or any political subdivision thereof, or if taxed are provided an exemption, equivalent to that provided for herein, from any tax based on or measured by capital imposed by such foreign country or countries and from any such tax imposed by any political subdivision thereof; 5. "Investment income" means income, including capital gains in excess of capital losses, from investment capital to the extent included in computing entire net income, less, (a) in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, any deductions allowable in computing entire net income which are directly or indirectly attributable to investment capital or investment income, and (b) such portion of any net operating loss deduction allowable in computing entire net income, as the investment income, before such deduction, bears to entire net income, before such deduction, provided, however, that in no case shall investment income exceed entire net income;

6. (a) "Business capital" means all assets, other than subsidiary capital, investment capital and stock issued by the taxpayer, less liabilities not deducted from subsidiary or investment capital except that cash on hand and on deposit shall be treated as investment capital or as business capital as the taxpayer may elect;

(b) Provided, however, "business capital" shall not include assets to the extent employed for the purpose of generating income which is excluded from entire net income pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of this section and shall be computed without regard to liabilities directly or indirectly attributable to such assets, but only if air carriers organized in the United States and operating in the foreign country or countries in which the taxpayer has its major base of operations and in which it is organized, resident or headquartered (if not in the same country as its major base of operations) are not subject to any tax based on or measured by capital imposed by such foreign country or countries or any political subdivision thereof, or if taxed, are provided an exemption, equivalent to that provided for herein, from any tax based on or measured by capital imposed by such foreign country or countries and from any such tax imposed by any political subdivision thereof.

7. "Business income" means entire net income minus investment income;

8. "Entire net income" means total net income from all sources, which shall be presumably the same as the entire taxable income (but not alternative minimum taxable income),

(i) which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department, or

(ii) which the taxpayer would have been required to report to the United States treasury department if it had not made an election under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code, or

(iii) which the taxpayer, in the case of a corporation which is exempt from federal income tax (other than the tax on unrelated business taxable income imposed under section five hundred eleven of the internal revenue code) but which is subject to tax under this subchapter, would have been required to report to the United States treasury department but for such exemption, or

(iv) which the taxpayer would have been required to report to the United States treasury department if no election had been made to treat the taxpayer as a qualified subchapter s subsidiary under paragraph three of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred sixty-one of the internal revenue code, except as hereinafter provided, and subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter.

(a) Entire net income shall not include:

(1) income, gains and losses from subsidiary capital which do not include the amount of a recovery in respect of any war loss;

(2) fifty percent of dividends other than from subsidiaries, except that entire net income shall include one hundred percent of dividends on shares of stock with respect to which a dividend deduction is disallowed by subsection (c) of section two hundred forty-six of the internal revenue code;

(2-a) any amounts treated as dividends pursuant to section seventy-eight of the internal revenue code and not otherwise deductible under subparagraphs one and two of this paragraph;

(3) bona fide gifts;

(4) income and deductions with respect to amounts received from school districts and from corporations and associations, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, for the operation of school buses;

(5) any refund or credit of a tax imposed under this chapter, or imposed by article nine, nine-A, twenty-three, or thirty-two of the tax law, for which tax no exclusion or deduction was allowed in determining the taxpayer's entire net income under this subchapter or subchapter three of this chapter for any prior year;

(6) in the case of a taxpayer who is separately or as a partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is the taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which the taxpayer is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes;

(7) that portion of wages and salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year for which a deduction is not allowed pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred eighty C of the internal revenue code;

(8) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection

(f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles) and property of a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, which is placed in service before taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-nine, any amount which is included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(9) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles) and property of a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, which is placed in service before taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-nine, any amount which the taxpayer could have excluded from federal taxable income had it not made the election provided for in such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(10) the amount deductible pursuant to paragraph (j) of this subdivision;

(11) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph (j) of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraph eleven of paragraph (b) of this subdivision attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in paragraph (j) of this subdivision attributable to such property; and

(12) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, the amount deductible pursuant to paragraph (k) of this subdivision; and

(13) the amount deductible pursuant to paragraph (o) of this subdivision.

(a-1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, for taxable years beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, in the case of a taxpayer that is a partner in a partnership subject to the tax imposed by chapter eleven of this title as a utility, as defined in subdivision six of section 11-1101 of such chapter, entire net income shall not include the taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes of any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such partnership, or any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such partnership that the taxpayer is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Entire net income shall be determined without the exclusion, deduction or credit of:

(1) the amount of any specific exemption or credit allowed in any law of the United States imposing any tax on or measured by the income of any corporation,

(2) any part of any income from dividends or interest on any kind of stock, securities, or indebtedness, except as provided in clauses one and two of paragraph (a) hereof,

(3) taxes on or measured by profits or income paid or accrued to the United States, any of its possessions or to any foreign country, including taxes in lieu of any of the foregoing taxes otherwise generally imposed by any foreign country or by any possession of the United States, or taxes paid or accrued to the state under article nine, nine-A, thirteen-A or thirty-two of the tax law,

(3-a) taxes on or measured by profits or income, or which include profits or income as a measure, paid or accrued to any other state of the United States, or any political subdivision thereof, or to the District of Columbia, including taxes expressly in lieu of any of the foregoing taxes otherwise generally imposed by any other state of the United States, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia;

(4) taxes imposed under this chapter,

(4-a) (A) the entire amount allowable as an exclusion or deduction for stock transfer taxes imposed by article twelve of the tax law in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department but only to the extent that such taxes are incurred and paid in market making transactions, and

(B) the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision twelve of section 11-604 of this subchapter,

(4-b) the amount allowed as an exclusion or a deduction imposed by the tax law in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision thirteen of section 11-604 of this subchapter,

(4-c) the amount allowed as an exclusion or a deduction imposed by the tax law in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision fourteen of section 11-604 of this subchapter,

(4-d) the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States Treasury Department, but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision fifteen of section 11-604 of this chapter,

(4-e) Repealed.

(4-f) Repealed.

(4-g) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for sales and use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law (or for any interest imposed in connection therewith) in determining the entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department but only such portion of such exclusion or deduction which is not in excess of the amount of the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision seventeen-a of section 11-604 of this subchapter.

(5) Repealed.

(6) in the discretion of the commissioner of finance, any amount of interest directly or indirectly and any other amount directly or indirectly attributable as a carrying charge or otherwise to subsidiary capital or to income, gains or losses from subsidiary capital,

(6-a) Repealed.

(7)* any amount by21 reason of the granting, issuing or assuming of a restricted stock option, as defined in the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, or by reason of the transfer of the share of stock upon the exercise of the option, unless such share is disposed of by the grantee of the option within two years from the date of the granting of the option or within six months after the transfer of such share to the grantee,

such taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share of the allocated entire net income of such business as determined under sections fifteen hundred three and fifteen hundred four of the tax law, provided however, in the event such allocated entire net income is a loss, such taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share of such loss shall not be subtracted from federal taxable income in computing entire net income under this sub- division,

(9) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles) and property of a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, which is placed in service before taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-nine, any amount which the taxpayer claimed as a deduction in computing its federal taxable income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four,

(11) in the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code, property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and property of a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, which is placed in service before taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the amount allowable as a deduction determined under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code,

(12) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph (j) of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in such paragraph (j) attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraph eleven of this paragraph attributable to such property.

(13) Repealed.

(14) Repealed.

(15) Repealed.

(16) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in paragraph (m) of this subdivision, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), the amount allowable as a deduction under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code.

(17) for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, the amount allowable as a deduction under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code.

(18) The amount of any deduction allowed pursuant to section one hundred ninety-nine of the internal revenue code.

(19) The amount of any federal deduction for taxes imposed under article twenty-three of the tax law.

(c) Entire net income shall include income within and without the United States;

(c-1) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, in the case of a taxpayer which is a foreign air carrier holding a foreign air carrier permit issued by the United States department of transportation pursuant to section four hundred two of the federal aviation act of nineteen hundred fifty-eight, as amended, and which is qualified under subparagraph two of this paragraph, entire net income shall not include, and shall be computed without the deduction of, amounts directly or indirectly attributable to, (i) any income derived from the international operation of aircraft as described in and subject to the provisions of section eight hundred eighty-three of the internal revenue code, (ii) income without the United States which is derived from the operation of aircraft, and (iii) income without the United States which is of a type described in subdivision (a) of section eight hundred eighty-one of the internal revenue code except that it is derived from sources without the United States. Entire net income shall include income described in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph in the case of taxpayers not described in the previous sentence.

(2) A taxpayer is qualified under this subparagraph if air carriers organized in the United States and operating in the foreign country or countries in which the taxpayer has its major base of operations and in which it is organized, resident or headquartered (if not in the same country as its major base of operations) are not subject to any income tax or other tax based on or measured by income or receipts imposed by such foreign country or countries or any political subdivision thereof, or if so subject to such tax, are provided an exemption from such tax equivalent to that provided for herein.

(d) The commissioner of finance may, whenever necessary in order properly to reflect the entire net income of any taxpayer, determine the year or period in which any item of income or deduction shall be included, without regard to the method of accounting employed by the taxpayer;

(e) The entire net income of any bridge commission created by act of congress to construct a bridge across an international boundary means its gross income less the expense of maintaining and operating its properties, the annual interest upon its bonds and other obligations, and the annual charge for the retirement of such bonds or obligations at maturity;

(f) A net operating loss deduction shall be allowed which shall be the same as the net operating loss deduction allowed under section one hundred seventy-two of the internal revenue code or which would have been allowed if the taxpayer had not made an election under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code, except that in every instance where such deduction is allowed under this subchapter:

(1) any net operating loss included in determining such deduction shall be adjusted to reflect the inclusions and exclusions from entire net income pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b), (g) and (h) hereof,

(2) such deductions shall not include any net operating loss sustained during any taxable year in which the taxpayer was not subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter,

(2-a) Repealed.

(2-b) Repealed.

(2-c) Repealed.

(3) such deduction shall not exceed the deduction for the taxable year allowed under section one hundred seventy-two of the internal revenue code, or the deduction for the taxable year which would have been allowed if the taxpayer had not made an election under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code,

(4) any net operating loss for a taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-one shall be computed without regard to the deduction allowed with respect to recovery property under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code; in lieu of such deduction, a taxpayer shall be allowed for such taxable year with respect to such property the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of such code as such section was in full force and effect on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, and

(5) the net operating loss deduction allowed under section one hundred seventy-two of the internal revenue code shall for purposes of this paragraph be determined as if the taxpayer had elected under such section to relinquish the entire carryback period with respect to net operating losses, except with respect to the first ten thousand dollars of each of such losses, sustained during taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine;

(g) At the election of the taxpayer, a deduction shall be allowed for expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of industrial waste treatment facilities and air pollution control facilities.

(1) (A) The term "industrial waste treatment facilities" shall mean facilities for the treatment, neutralization or stabilization of industrial waste (as the term "industrial waste" is defined in section 17-0105 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such treatment, neutralization or stabilization to the point of disposal, including the necessary pumping and transmitting facilities, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable.

(B) The term "air pollution control facilities" shall mean facilities which remove, reduce, or render less noxious air contaminants emitted from an air contamination source (as the terms "air contaminant" and "air contamination source" are defined in section 19-0107 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such removal, reduction or rendering to the point of discharge of air, meeting emission standards as established by the air pollution control board, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable and excluding those facilities which rely for their efficacy on dilution, dispersion or assimilation of air contaminants in the ambient air after emission.

(2) However, such deduction shall be allowed only (A) with respect to tangible property which is depreciable, pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in the city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of which, in the case of industrial waste treatment facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and only for expenditures paid or incurred prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-two, or which, in the case of air pollution control facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and

(B) on condition that such facilities have been certified by the state commissioner of environmental conservation or the state commissioner's designated representative, in the same manner as provided for in section 17-0707 or 19-0309 of the environmental conservation law, as applicable, as complying with applicable pro- visions of the environmental conservation law, the state sanitary code and regulations, permits or orders issued pursuant thereto, and

(C) on condition that entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years be computed without any deductions for such expenditures or for depreciation of the same property other than the deductions allowed by this paragraph (g) except to the extent that the basis of the property may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, or in case a deduction is allowable pursuant to this paragraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that any deduction allowed for federal income tax purposes for such expenditures or for depreciation of the same property be proportionately reduced in computing entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, and

(D) where the election provided for in paragraph (d) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter has not been exercised in respect to the same property.

(3) (A) If expenditures in respect to an industrial waste treatment facility or an air pollution control facility have been deducted as provided herein and if within ten (10) years from the end of the taxable year in which such deduction was allowed such property or any part thereof is used for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable, the taxpayer shall report such change of use in its report for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed and any carryback or carryover year, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph (h) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this chapter.

(B) If a deduction is allowed as herein provided for expenditures paid or incurred during any taxable year on the basis of a temporary certificate of compliance issued pursuant to the environmental conservation law and if the taxpayer fails to obtain a permanent certificate of compliance upon completion of the facilities with respect to which such temporary certificate was issued, the taxpayer shall report such failure in its report for the taxable year during which such facilities are completed, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed and any carryback or carryover year, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph (h) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this chapter.

(4) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this paragraph, such deduction shall be disregarded in computing gain or loss, and the gain or loss on the sale or other disposition of such property shall be the gain or loss entering into the computation of entire taxable income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury for such taxable year;

(h) With respect to gain derived from the sale or other disposition of any property acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six; which had a federal adjusted basis on such date (or on the date of its sale or other disposition prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six) lower than its fair market value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six or the date of its sale or other disposition prior thereto, except property described in subsections one and four of section twelve hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code, there shall be deducted from entire net income, the difference between (1) the amount of the taxpayer's federal taxable income, and (2) the amount of the taxpayer's federal taxable income (if smaller than the amount described in subparagraph one of this paragraph computed as if the federal adjusted basis of each such property (on the sale or other disposition of which gain was derived) on the date of the sale or other disposition had been equal to either (A) its fair market value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six or the date of its sale or other disposition prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, plus or minus all adjustments to basis made with respect to such property for federal income tax purposes for periods on and after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six or (B) the amount realized from its sale or disposition, whichever is lower; provided, however, that the total modification provided by this paragraph (h) shall not exceed the amount of the taxpayer's net gain from the sale or other disposition of all such property.

(i) If the period covered by a report under this subchapter is other than the period covered by the report of the United States treasury department, entire net income shall be determined by multiplying the federal taxable income (as adjusted pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter) by the number of calendar months or major parts thereof covered by the report under this subchapter and dividing by the number of calendar months or major parts thereof covered by the report to such department. If it shall appear that such method of determining entire net income does not properly reflect the taxpayer's income during the period covered by the report under this subchapter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his or her discretion to determine such entire net income solely on the basis of the taxpayer's income during the period covered by its report under this subchapter.

(j) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, and provided a deduction has not been excluded from entire net income pursuant to subparagraph nine of paragraph (b) of this subdivision, a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to property which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to property placed in service on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty. This paragraph shall not apply to property of a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, which is placed in service before taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(k) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in paragraph (m) of this subdivision, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven as such section would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September tenth, two thousand one, provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a passenger motor vehicle or a sport utility vehicle subject to the provisions of paragraph (o) of this subdivision, the limitation under clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code applicable to the amount allowed as a deduction under this paragraph shall be determined as of the date such vehicle was placed in service and not as of September tenth, two thousand one.

(l) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, upon the disposition of property to which paragraph (k) of this subdivision applies, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the inclusions and exclusions from entire net income pursuant to subparagraph twelve of paragraph (a) and subparagraph sixteen of paragraph (b) of this subdivision attributable to such property.

(m) for purposes of paragraphs (l) and (m) of this subdivision, qualified resurgence zone property shall mean qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code substantially all of the use of which is in the resurgence zone, as defined below, and is in the active conduct of a trade or business by the taxpayer in such zone, and the original use of which in the resurgence zone commences with the taxpayer after September tenth, two thousand one. The resurgence zone shall mean the area of New York county bounded on the south by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel, and running thence east to Canal Street, then running along the centerline of Canal Street to the intersection of the Bowery and Canal Street, running thence in a southeasterly direction diagonally across Manhattan Bridge Plaza, to the Manhattan Bridge, and thence along the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge to the point where the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge would intersect with the easterly bank of the East River, and bounded on the north by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel and running thence north along West Avenue to the intersection of Clarkson Street then running east along the centerline of Clarkson Street to the intersection of Washington Avenue, then running south along the centerline of Washington Avenue to the intersection of West Houston Street, then east along the centerline of West Houston Street, then at the intersection of the Avenue of the Americas continuing east along the centerline of East Houston Street to the easterly bank of the East River.

(n) Related members expense add back and income exclusion.

(1) Definitions. (A) Related member or members. For purposes of this paragraph, the term related member or members means a person, corporation, or other entity, including an entity that is treated as a partnership or other pass-through vehicle for purposes of federal taxation, whether such person, corporation or entity is a taxpayer or not, where one such person, corporation, or entity, or set of related persons, corporations or entities, directly or indirectly owns or controls a controlling interest in another entity. Such entity or entities may include all taxpayers under this title.

(B) Controlling interest. A controlling interest shall mean (i) in the case of a corporation, either thirty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

(C) Royalty payments. Royalty payments are payments directly connected to the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange, or any other disposition of licenses, trademarks, copyrights, trade names, trade dress, service marks, mask works, trade secrets, patents and any other similar types of intangible assets as determined by the commissioner of finance, and includes amounts allowable as interest deductions under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such amounts are directly or indirectly for, related to or in connection with the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange or disposition of such intangible assets.

(D) Valid business purpose. A valid business purpose is one or more business purposes, other than the avoidance or reduction of taxation, which alone or in combination constitute the primary motivation for some business activity or transaction, which activity or transaction changes in a meaningful way, apart from tax effects, the economic position of the taxpayer. The economic position of the taxpayer includes an increase in the market share of the taxpayer, or the entry by the taxpayer into new business markets.

(2) Royalty expense add backs. (A) For the purpose of computing entire net income or other applicable taxable basis, a taxpayer must add back royalty payments to a related member during the taxable year to the extent deductible in calculating federal taxable income.

(B) The add back of royalty payments shall not be required if and to the extent that such payments meet either of the following conditions:

(i) the related member during the same taxable year directly or indirectly paid or incurred the amount to a person or entity that is not a related member, and such transaction was done for a valid business purpose and the payments are made at arm's length;

(ii) the royalty payments are paid or incurred to a related member organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, are subject to a comprehensive income tax treaty between such country and the United States, and are taxed in such country at a tax rate at least equal to that imposed by this state.

(3) Royalty income exclusions. For the purpose of computing entire net income or other taxable basis, a taxpayer shall be allowed to deduct royalty payments directly or indirectly received from a related member during the taxable year to the extent included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income unless such royalty payments would not be required to be added back under subparagraph two of this paragraph or other similar provision in this chapter.

(o) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, the deductions allowable under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code, determined as if such sport utility vehicle were a passenger automobile as defined in such paragraph five. For purposes of paragraph (k) and subparagraph sixteen of paragraph (b) of subdivision eight of this section, the terms qualified resurgence zone property and qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code shall not include any sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code.

(p) Upon the disposition of property to which paragraph (o) of this subdivision applies, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the inclusions and exclusions from entire net income pursuant to subparagraph thirteen of paragraph (a) and subparagraph seventeen of paragraph (b) of this subdivision attributable to such property.

9. (a) The term "calendar year" means a period of twelve calendar months (or any shorter period beginning on the date the taxpayer becomes subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter) ending on the thirty-first day of December, provided the taxpayer keeps its books on the basis of such period or on the basis of any period ending on any day other than the last day of a calendar month, or provided the taxpayer does not keep books, and includes, in case the taxpayer changes the period on the basis of which it keeps its books from a fiscal year to a calendar year, the period from the close of its last old fiscal year up to and including the following December thirty-first.

(b) The term "fiscal year" means a period of twelve calendar months (or any shorter period beginning on the date the taxpayer becomes subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter) ending on the last day of any month other than December, provided the taxpayer keeps its books on the basis of such period, and includes, in case the taxpayer changes the period on the basis of which it keeps its books from a calendar year to a fiscal year or from one fiscal year to another fiscal year, the period from the close of its last old calendar or fiscal year up to the date designated as the close of its new fiscal year.

10. The term "tangible personal property" means corporeal personal property, such as machinery, tools, implements, goods, wares and merchandise, and does not mean money, deposits in banks, shares of stock, bonds, notes, credits or evidence of an interest property and evidences of debt.

1. Provisions of chap 525/1988 § 54

§ 54. Optional phase-in of leased personal property. Under conditions set forth by the commissioner of finance of the city of New York, a corporation subject to the tax imposed by subchapter two of chapter six of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York for its taxable year commencing during nineteen hundred eighty-seven may make a one-time election on or before the due date for filing its return for such taxable year (determined with regard to extensions) to phase-in over a five year period the provisions of section sixteen of this act to the extent such provisions require the value of leased tangible personal property to be included in the value of the taxpayer's tangible personal property. If such an election is made, the taxpayer shall include the following percentage of the value of its leased tangible personal property for the taxable year in the value of its tangible personal property computed for the taxable year:

For taxable years commencing in:					The percentage shall be:

2. Provisions of chap 241/1989

§ 77. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, a taxpayer which is principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, shall be allowed a net operating loss deduction under paragraph (f) of subdivision 8 of section 11-602 of the administrative code of the city of New York (subject to limitations contained in such paragraph) for a net operating loss or proportionate part of a net operating loss sustained during the federal taxable period or periods covering the years 1985 through and including 1988, provided that such taxpayer was subject to taxation (whether or not all types of its gross earnings were taxable) under subchapter 4 of chapter 6 of title 11 of such code for the entire calendar years 1985 through and including 1988, with such loss being computed (i) as if such taxpayer had been subject to taxation under subchapter 2 of chapter 6 of title 11 of such code rather than under subchapter 4 of chapter 6 of title 11 of such code during the period or periods such loss was sustained, (ii) as if such loss was sustained in 1988, and (iii) as if such taxpayer had elected under section 172 of the internal revenue code to relinquish the entire carryback period with respect to such loss.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of this section, for taxable years covering the whole or any part of the twelve calendar months of 1989, no net operating loss deduction of a corporation principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, shall be allowed under subchapter 2 of chapter 6 of title 11 of such code, either directly or indirectly, for taxable periods containing the whole or any part of the year 1989 (i) if such corporation is acquired by or acquires another corporation subject to tax under such subchapter 2 of chapter 6 of title 11 during the period covered by 1989 or (ii) if such corporation is merged or consolidated during the period covered by 1989.

§ 78. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (c) of section 11-525 or subdivision 3 of section 11-676 of the administrative code of the city of New York, no addition to tax shall be made with respect to the portion of any underpayment of an installment of estimated tax due prior to the date this act shall have become a law, which was created or increased by any provision of this act.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The City corporate tax scheme, in conformity with state tax law, had disallowed deductions of petroleum taxes from corporate taxpayers' income for purposes of calculating corporate taxes. However, once the New York State tax law was changed to permit this deduction, the City law had to be changed to conform to state law and allow the deduction. Castle Oil Corp v. CHAPTER 6 (IN PART) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

§ 11-603 Imposition of tax; exemptions.

1. For the privilege of doing business, or of employing capital, or of owning or leasing property in the city in a corporate or organized capacity, or of maintaining an office in the city, for all or any part of each of its fiscal or calendar years, every domestic or foreign corporation, except corporations specified in subdivision four of this section, shall annually pay a tax, upon the basis of its entire net income, or upon such other basis as may be applicable as hereinafter provided, for such fiscal or calendar year or part thereof, on a report which shall be filed, except as hereinafter provided, on or before the fifteenth day of March next succeeding the close of each such year, or, in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a fiscal year, within two and one-half months after the close of such fiscal year, and shall be paid as hereinafter provided.

2. A corporation shall not be deemed to be doing business, employing capital, owning or leasing property, or maintaining an office in the city, for the purposes of this subchapter, by reason of (a) the maintenance of cash balances with banks or trust companies in the city, or (b) the ownership of shares of stock or securities kept in the city, if kept in a safe deposit box, safe, vault or other receptacle rented for the purpose, or if pledged as collateral security, or if deposited with one or more banks or trust companies, or brokers who are members of a recognized security exchange, in safekeeping or custody accounts, or (c) the taking of any action by any such bank or trust company or broker, which is incidental to the rendering of safekeeping or custodian service to such corporation, or (d) the maintenance of an office in the city by one or more officers or directors of the corporation who are not employees of the corporation if the corporation otherwise is not doing business in the city, and does not employ capital or own or lease property in the city, or (e) the keeping of books or records of a corporation in the city if such books or records are not kept by employees of such corporation and such corporation does not otherwise do business, employ capital, own or lease property or maintain an office in the city, or (f) any combination of the foregoing activities.

2-a. An alien corporation shall not be deemed to be doing business, employing capital, owning or leasing property, or maintaining an office in the city, for the purposes of this subchapter, if its activities in the city are limited solely to (a) investing or trading in stocks and securities for its own account within the meaning of clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2) of subsection (b) of section eight hundred sixty-four of the internal revenue code or (b) investing or trading in commodities for its own account within the meaning of clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subsection (b) of section eight hundred sixty-four of the internal revenue code or (c) any combination of activities described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subdivision. For purposes of this subdivision, an alien corporation is a corporation organized under the laws of a country, or any political subdivision thereof, other than the United States.

3. Any receiver, referee, trustee, assignee or other fiduciary, or any officer or agent appointed by any court, who conducts the business of any corporation, shall be subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter in the same manner and to the same extent as if the business were conducted by the agents or officers of such corporation. A dissolved corporation which continues to conduct business shall also be subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter.

4. (a) Corporations subject to tax under subchapter three of this chapter or under chapter eleven of this title, any trust company organized under a law of this state all of the stock of which is owned by not less than twenty savings banks organized under a law of this state, bank holding companies filing a combined return in accordance with subdivision (f) of section 11-646 of this chapter, housing companies organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article two of the private housing finance law, housing development fund companies organized pursuant to the provisions of article eleven of the private housing finance law, corporations described in section three of the tax law, a corporation principally engaged in the operation of marine vessels whose activities in the city are limited exclusively to the use of property in interstate or foreign commerce, provided, however, such a corporation will not be subject to tax under this subchapter solely because it maintains an office in the city, or employs capital in the city, in connection with such use of property, a corporation principally engaged in the conduct of a ferry business and operating between any of the boroughs of the city under a lease granted by the city and a corporation principally engaged in the conduct of an aviation, steamboat, ferry or navigation business, or two or more of such businesses, all of the capital stock of which is owned by a municipal corporation of this state, shall not be subject to tax under this subchapter; provided, however, that any corporation, other than (1) a utility corporation subject to the supervision of the state department of public service, and (2) for taxable years beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, a utility as defined in subdivision six of section 11-1101 of this title, which is subject to tax under chapter eleven of this title as a vendor of utility services shall be subject to tax under this subchapter, but in computing the tax imposed by this section pursuant to the provisions of clause one of subparagraph (a) of paragraph A of subdivision one of section 11-604, business income allocated to the city pursuant to paragraph (a) of subdivision three of such section shall be reduced by the percentage which such corporation's gross operating income subject to tax under chapter eleven of this title is of its gross operating income.

(b) The term "gross operating income", when used in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, means receipts received in or by reason of any transaction had and consummated in the city, including cash, credits and property of any kind or nature (whether or not such transaction is made for profit), without any deduction therefrom on account of the cost of the property sold, the cost of materials used, labor or other services, delivery costs or any other costs whatsoever, interest or discount paid or any other expenses whatsoever.

(c) If it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that the application of the proviso of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, does not fairly and equitably reflect the portion of the taxpayer's business income allocable to the city which is attributable to its city activities which are not taxable under subchapter two of chapter eleven of this title, the commissioner may prescribe other means or methods of determining such portion, including the use of the books and records of the taxpayer, if the commissioner finds that such means or methods used in keeping them fairly and equitably reflect such portion.

5. The tax imposed by subdivision one of this section, with the modifications provided by subdivision six of this section, is imposed for each calendar or fiscal year beginning with calendar or fiscal years ending in or with the calendar year nineteen hundred sixty-six.

6. (a) The tax for any taxable year ending prior to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six shall be an amount equal to the tax imposed by subdivision one of this section for such taxable year, multiplied by the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year which occur after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five and divided by the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year.

(b) In lieu of the method of computation of tax prescribed in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, if the taxpayer maintained adequate records for the portion of any taxable year ending prior to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, which portion falls within the calendar year nineteen hundred sixty-six, it may elect to compute the tax for such taxable year by determining entire net income on the basis of the entire taxable income which it would have reported for federal income tax purposes had it filed a federal income tax return for a taxable year beginning January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six and ending with the close of its actual taxable year and such taxable year beginning January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be deemed to be the period covered by its report, except that in computing such tax any portion of a capital loss which results from a capital loss carryover and any net operating loss deduction, as modified pursuant to paragraph (f) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter, shall be reduced by the same part of such portion of such capital loss or of such net operating loss deduction (as the case may be) as the number of months (or major portions thereof) in the taxable year occurring before January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six is of the number of months (or major portions thereof) in such taxable year.

7. For any taxable year of a real estate investment trust as defined in section eight hundred fifty-six of the internal revenue code in which such trust is subject to federal income taxation under section eight hundred fifty-seven of such code, such trust shall be subject to a tax computed under either clause one of paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section 11-604 of this subchapter with respect to its entire net income, or clause four, whichever is greater, and shall not be subject to any tax under subchapter three of this chapter. In the case of such a trust the term "entire net income" means "real estate investment trust taxable income" as defined in paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-seven (as modified by section eight hundred fifty-eight) of the internal revenue code plus the amount taxable under paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-seven of such code, subject to the modification required by subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter (other than the modification required by clause two of paragraph (a) and by paragraph (f) thereof) including the modifications required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter.

8. For any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-one of a regulated investment company, as defined in section eight hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code, in which such company is subject to federal income taxation under section eight hundred fifty-two of such code, such company shall be subject to a tax computed under clause one or four of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of section 11-604 of this subchapter, whichever is greater, and such company shall not be subject to any tax under subchapter three of this chapter. The term "entire net income" used in subdivision one of this section means "investment company taxable income" as defined in paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-two, as modified by section eight hundred fifty-five, of the internal revenue code plus the amount taxable under paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-two of such code subject to the modifications required by subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter, other than the modification required by clause two of paragraph (a) and by paragraph (f) thereof, including the modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter.

9. For any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, an organization described in paragraph two or twenty-five of subdivision (c) of section five hundred one of the Internal Revenue Code of nineteen hundred eighty-six shall be exempt from all taxes imposed by this chapter.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Social club incorporated for nonprofit purposes but which was not operated exclusively for nonprofit purposes in that it operated a store for profit was subject to general corporation tax.-Matter of Pan American Athletic & Social Club v. Com'r of Finance of City of N.Y., 94 App. Div. 2d 606 [1983].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. New York City may constitutionally tax any portion of the dividend and capital gain income that a nondomiciliary corporation receives by reason if its investment in another corporation doing business in the city in the absence of a unitary business relationship between the two corporations.-Allied-Signal v. Comm. of Finance, 167 AD2d 327 aff'd 79 NY2d 73 [1991].

¶ 2. Rule of the City Commissioner of Finance, which made the general city corporation tax applicable to foreign corporate limited partners, could lawfully be applied retroactively, even though the taxpayer had previously received a refund of taxes in reliance upon a prior ruling (involving another taxpayer) that such limited partners were not subject to the tax. Retroactive tax legislation is valid unless it reaches so far into the past or so unfairly as to constitute a deprivation of property without due process. Thus, the City was permitted to recover a corporation tax deficiency going back three years. Varrington Corp. v. New York City Department of Finance, 85 N.Y.2d 28, 623 N.Y.S.2d 534 (1995).

¶ 3. The court held that plaintiff's regular and systematic activities in New York City, involving the solicitation and sales of imported wine and attendant services, such as suggesting store arrangements and providing promotional displays, constituted "doing business" in the City so as to subject plaintiff to the City's General Corporation Tax. CHAPTER 6 (IN PART) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

§ 11-604 Computation of tax.

1. *A. For24 taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer: (a) a tax (1) computed at the rate of six and seven-tenths per centum of its entire net income, or the portion of such entire net income allocated within the city as hereinafter provided, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (2) computed at one mill for each dollar of its total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, as hereinafter provided, except that in the case of a cooperative housing corporation as defined in the internal revenue code, or in the case of a housing company organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article four of the private housing finance law, the applicable rates shall be one-quarter of one mill, or (3) computed at the rate of six and seven-tenths per centum on thirty per centum of the taxpayer's entire net income plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five per centum of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars (except as hereinafter provided) and any net loss for the reported year, or on the portion of any such sum allocated within the city as hereinafter provided for the allocation of entire net income, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (4) twenty-five dollars, whichever is greatest, plus (b) a tax computed at the rate of one-half mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided. In the case of a taxpayer which is not subject to tax for an entire year, the exemption allowed in clause three of paragraph (a) shall be prorated according to the period such taxpayer was subject to tax.

A. For25 taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-one and ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer: (a) a tax (1) computed at the rate of six and seven-tenths per centum of its entire net income, or the portion of such entire net income allocated within the city as hereinafter provided, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (2) computed at one mill for each dollar of its total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, as hereinafter provided, except that in the case of a cooperative housing corporation as defined in the internal revenue code, or in the case of a housing company organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article four of the private housing finance law, the applicable rates shall be one-quarter of one mill, or (3) computed at the rate of six and seven-tenths per centum on thirty per centum of the taxpayer's entire net income plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five per centum of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars (except as hereinafter provided) and any net loss for the reported year, or on the portion of any such sum allocated within the city as hereinafter provided for the allocation of entire net income, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (4) twenty-five dollars, whichever is greatest, plus (b) a tax computed at the rate of one-half mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided. In the case of a taxpayer which is not subject to tax for an entire year, the exemption allowed in clause three of paragraph (a) shall be prorated according to the period such taxpayer was subject to tax.

B. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five and before January first nineteen hundred seventy-seven, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer: (a) a tax (1) computed at the rate of ten and five one-hundredths per centum of its entire net income, or the portion of such entire net income allocated within the city as hereinafter provided, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (2) computed at one and one-half mills for each dollar of its total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, as hereinafter provided, except that in the case of a cooperative housing corporation as defined in the internal revenue code, or in the case of a housing company organized and operating pursuant to the provisions of article four of the private housing finance law, the applicable rate shall be four-tenths of one mill, or (3) computed at the rate of ten and five one-hundredths per centum on thirty per centum of the taxpayer's entire net income plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five per centum of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars (except as hereinafter provided) and any net loss for the reported year, or on the portion of any such sum allocated within the city as hereinafter provided for the allocation of entire net income, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (4) one hundred twenty-five dollars, whichever is greatest, plus (b) a tax computed at the rate of three-quarters of a mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided. In the case of a taxpayer which is not subject to tax for an entire year, the exemption allowed in clause three of paragraph (a) shall be prorated according to the period such taxpayer was subject to tax.

C. For each taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred seventy-four and ending in nineteen hundred seventy-five, two tentative taxes shall be computed, the first as provided in paragraph A and the second as provided in paragraph B, and the tax for each such year shall be the sum of that proportion of each tentative tax which the number of days in nineteen hundred seventy-four and the number of days in nineteen hundred seventy-five, respectively, bears to the number of days in the entire taxable year.

D. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer: (a) a tax (1) computed at the rate of nine and one-half per centum of its entire net income, or the portion of such entire net income allocated within the city as hereinafter provided, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (2) computed at one and one-half mills for each dollar of its total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, as hereinafter provided, except that in the case of a cooperative housing corporation as defined in the internal revenue code, the applicable rate shall be four-tenths of one mill, or (3) computed at the rate of nine and one-half per centum on thirty per centum of the taxpayer's entire net income plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five per centum of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars (except as hereinafter provided) and any net loss for the reported year, or on the portion of any such sum allocated within the city as hereinafter provided for the allocation of entire net income, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, or (4) one hundred twenty-five dollars, whichever is greatest, plus (b) a tax computed at the rate of three-quarters of a mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided. In the case of a taxpayer which is not subject to tax for an entire year, the exemption allowed in clause three of paragraph (a) shall be prorated according to the period such taxpayer was subject to tax.

E. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight but before January first, two thousand twelve, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer:

(a) whichever of the following amounts is the greatest:

(1) an amount computed, for taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred eighty-seven, at the rate of nine per centum, and for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six, at the rate of eight and eighty-five one-hundredths per centum, of its entire net income or the portion of such entire net income allocated within the city as hereinafter provided, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section,

(2) an amount computed at one and one-half mills for each dollar of its total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, as hereinafter provided, except that in the case of a cooperative housing corporation as defined in the internal revenue code, the applicable rate shall be four-tenths of one mill,

(3) an amount computed, for taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred eighty-seven, at the rate of nine per centum, and for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six, at the rate of eight and eighty-five one-hundredths per centum, on thirty per centum of the taxpayer's entire net income plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five per centum of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars (subject to proration as hereinafter provided) and any net loss for the reported year, or on the portion of any such sum allocated within the city as hereinafter provided for the allocation of entire net income, subject to any modification required by paragraphs (d) and (e) of subdivision three of this section, provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, the provisions of paragraph H of this subdivision shall apply for purposes of the computation under this clause, or

(4) for taxable years ending on or before June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, one hundred twenty-five dollars and for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, three hundred dollars, plus;

(b) an amount computed at the rate of three-quarters of a mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided.

In the case of a taxpayer which is not subject to tax for an entire year, the exemption allowed in clause three of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph shall be prorated according to the period such taxpayer was subject to tax. Provided, however, that this paragraph shall not apply to taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, two thousand eleven. For the taxable years specified in the preceding sentence, the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be, in the case of each taxpayer, determined as specified in paragraph A of this subdivision, provided, however, that the provisions of paragraphs G and H of this subdivision shall apply for purposes of the computation under clause three of subparagraph (a) of such paragraph A.

F. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subdivision to the contrary, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-seven the amount of tax computed on the basis of the taxpayer's total business and investment capital, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, shall in no event exceed three hundred fifty thousand dollars.

G. In the case of a foreign air carrier described in the first sentence of subparagraph one of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter, there shall be excluded from the computation of the tax under clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision salaries and other compensation described therein which are directly attributable to the generation of income excluded from entire net income for the taxable year pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter.

H. For taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, the computation under clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision shall be subject to the following modifications:

(a) (1) For taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six but before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, only seventy-five percent of the total salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers shall be added to the entire net income entering into such computation; for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight but before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, only fifty percent of such salaries and other compensation shall be added to such entire net income; and for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, no part of such salaries and other compensation shall be added to such entire net income.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in clause one of this subparagraph to the contrary, the full amount of the salary or other compensation paid to any such elected or appointed officer shall be added to entire net income as provided in clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision if such officer was, at any time during the taxable year, a stockholder owning more than five percent of taxpayer's issued capital stock.

(b) For taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven but before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, the fixed dollar amount entering into the computation under clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision shall be thirty thousand dollars instead of fifteen thousand dollars; and for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, such fixed dollar amount shall be forty thousand dollars.

(c) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand seven and before January first, two thousand eight the per centum entering into the computation under clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision shall be twenty-six and one-fourth per centum instead of thirty per centum, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand nine such per centum shall be twenty-two and one-half per centum, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand nine and before January first, two thousand ten such per centum shall be eighteen and three-fourths per centum and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand ten such per centum shall be fifteen per centum.

I. Notwithstanding any provision of this subdivision to the contrary, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand seven for any corporation that:

(a) has a business allocation percentage for the taxable year, as determined under paragraph (a) of subdivision three of this section, of one hundred percent;

(b) has no investment capital or income at any time during the taxable year;

(c) has no subsidiary capital or income at any time during the taxable year; and

(d) has gross income, as defined in section sixty-one of the internal revenue code, less than two hundred fifty thousand dollars for the taxable year:

the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter shall be the greater of the tax on entire net income computed under clause one of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision and the fixed dollar minimum tax specified in clause four of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of this subdivision.

For purposes of this paragraph, any corporation for which an election under subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law is not in effect for the taxable year may elect to treat as entire net income the sum of:

(i) entire net income as determined under section two hundred eight of the tax law; and

(ii) any deductions taken for the taxable year in computing federal taxable income for New York city taxes paid or accrued under this chapter.

2. The amount of subsidiary capital, investment capital and business capital shall each be determined by taking the average value of the gross assets included therein (less liabilities deductible therefrom pursuant to the provisions of subdivisions three, four and six of section 11-602 of this subchapter), and, if the period covered by the report is other than a period of twelve calendar months, by multiplying such value by the number of calendar months or major parts thereof included in such period, and dividing the product thus obtained by twelve. For purposes of this subdivision, real property and marketable securities shall be valued at fair market value and the value of personal property other than marketable securities shall be the value thereof shown on the books and records of the taxpayer in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

3. The portion of the entire net income of a taxpayer to be allocated within the city shall be determined as follows:

(a) multiply its business income by a business allocation percentage to be determined by:

(1) ascertaining the percentage which the average value of the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property, whether owned or rented to it, within the city during the period covered by its report bears to the average value of all the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property, whether owned or rented to it, wherever situated during such period. For the purpose of this subparagraph, the term "value of the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property" shall mean the adjusted bases of such properties for federal income tax purposes (except that in the case of rented property such value shall mean the product of (A) eight and (B) the gross rents payable for the rental of such property during the taxable year); provided, however, that the taxpayer may make a one-time, revocable election, pursuant to regulations promulgated by the commissioner of finance to use fair market value as the value of all of its real and tangible personal property, provided that such election is made on or before the due date for filing a report under section 11-605 of this subchapter for the taxpayer's first taxable year commencing on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight and provided that such election shall not apply to any taxable year with respect to which the taxpayer is included on a combined report unless each of the taxpayers included on such report has made such an election which remains in effect for such year;

(2) ascertaining the percentage which the receipts of the taxpayer, computed on the cash or accrual basis according to the method of accounting used in the computation of its entire net income, arising during such period from:

(A) except as otherwise provided in subparagraph nine of this paragraph, sales of its tangible personal property where shipments are made to points within the city,

(B) services performed within the city, provided, however, that (i) in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, receipts arising from sales of advertising contained in such newspapers and periodicals shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city to the extent that such newspapers and periodicals are delivered to points within the city, (ii) receipts received from an investment company arising from the sale of management, administration or distribution services to such investment company shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city to the extent set forth in subparagraph five of this paragraph,

(iii) in the case of taxpayers principally engaged in the activity of air freight forwarding acting as principal and like indirect air carriage, receipts arising from such activity shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city as follows: one hundred percent of such receipts if both the pickup and delivery associated with such receipts are made in the city and fifty percent of such receipts if either the pickup or delivery associated with such receipts is made in the city, and (iv) for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand two, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, or broadcasting radio or television programs, whether through the public airwaves or by cable, direct or indirect satellite transmission, or any other means of transmission, receipts arising from sales of subscriptions, advertising or broadcasting shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city to the extent provided in subparagraph nine of this paragraph,

(C) rentals from property situated and royalties from the use of patents or copyrights, within the city, and

(D) all other business receipts earned within the city, bear to the total amount of the taxpayer's receipts, similarly computed, arising during such period from all sales of its tangible personal property, services, rentals, royalties and all other business transactions, whether within or without the city;

(3) ascertaining the percentage of the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation, similarly computed, during such period of employees within the city, except general executive officers, to the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation, similarly computed, during such period of all the taxpayer's employees within and without the city, except general executive officers, and

(4) adding together the percentages so determined and dividing the result by the number of percentages; provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, a taxpayer that is a "manufacturing corporation," as defined in subparagraph eight of this paragraph, may determine its business allocation percentage as provided in such subparagraph eight; and provided, further, however, that for taxable years beginning before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, if the taxpayer does not have a regular place of business outside the city other than a statutory office, the business allocation percentage shall be one hundred per centum.

(5) Rules for receipts from certain services to investment companies. (A) For purposes of subclause (ii) of clause (B) of subparagraph two of this paragraph, the portion of receipts received from an investment company arising from the sale of management, administration or distribution services to such investment company determined in accordance with clause (B) of this subparagraph shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city (such portion referred to herein as the New York city portion).

(B) The New York city portion shall be the product of (a) the total of such receipts from the sale of such services and (b) a fraction. The numerator of that fraction is the sum of the monthly percentages (as defined hereinafter) determined for each month of the investment company's taxable year for federal income tax purposes which taxable year ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer (but excluding any month during which the investment company had no outstanding shares). The monthly percentage for each such month is determined by dividing (a) the number of shares in the investment company which are owned on the last day of the month by shareholders which are domiciled in the city by (b) the total number of shares in the investment company outstanding on that date. The denominator of the fraction is the number of such monthly percentages.

(C) (i) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "domicile", in the case of an individual, shall have the meaning ascribed to it under chapter seventeen of this title; an estate or trust is domiciled in the city if it is a city resident estate or trust as defined in paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section 11-1705 of this code; a business entity is domiciled in the city if the location of the actual seat of management or control is in the city. It shall be presumed that the domicile of a shareholder, with respect to any month, is his, her or its mailing address on the records of the investment company as of the last day of such month.

(ii) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "investment company" means a regulated investment company, as defined in section 851 of the internal revenue code, and a partnership to which section 7704(a) of the internal revenue code applies (by virtue of section 7704(c)(3) of such code) and that meets the requirements of section 851(b) of such code. The preceding sentence shall be applied to the taxable year for federal income tax purposes of the business entity that is asserted to constitute an investment company that ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer.

(iii) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "receipts from an investment company" includes amounts received directly from an investment company as well as amounts received from the shareholders in such investment company in their capacity as such.

(iv) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "management services" means the rendering of investment advice to an investment company, making determinations as to when sales and purchases of securities are to be made on behalf of an investment company, or the selling or purchasing of securities constituting assets of an investment company, and related activities, but only where such activity or activities are performed pursuant to a contract with the investment company entered into pursuant to section 15(a) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(v) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "distribution services" means the services of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions), marketing shares or selling shares of an investment company, but, in the case of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions) or marketing shares, only where such service is performed by a person who is (or was, in the case of a closed end company) also engaged in the service of selling such shares. In the case of an open end company, such service of selling shares must be performed pursuant to a contract entered into pursuant to section 15(b) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(vi) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "administration services" includes (1) clerical, accounting, bookkeeping, data processing, internal auditing, legal and tax services performed for an investment company but only (2) if the provider of such service or services during the taxable year in which such service or services are sold also sells management or distribution services, as defined hereinabove, to such investment company.

(6) (A) Provided, further, however, that a taxpayer principally engaged in the conduct of aviation (other than as provided in clause (C) of this subparagraph) shall, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, determine the portion of entire net income to be allocated within the city by multiplying its business income by a business allocation percentage which is equal to the arithmetic average of the following three percentages:

(i) the percentage determined by dividing aircraft arrivals and departures within the city by the taxpayer during the period covered by its report by the total aircraft arrivals and departures within and without the city during such period; provided, however, arrivals and departures solely for maintenance or repair, refueling (where no debarkation or embarkation of traffic occurs), arrivals and departures of ferry and personnel training flights or arrivals and departures in the event of emergency situations shall not be included in computing such arrival and departure percentage; provided, further, the commissioner of finance may also exempt from such percentage aircraft arrivals and departures of all non-revenue flights including flights involving the transportation of officers or employees receiving air transportation to perform maintenance or repair services or where such officers or employees are transported in conjunction with an emergency situation or the investigation of an air disaster (other than on a scheduled flight); provided, however, that arrivals and departures of flights transporting officers and employees receiving air transportation for purposes other than specified above (without regard to remuneration) shall be included in computing such arrival and departure percentage;

(ii) the percentage determined by dividing the revenue tons handled by the taxpayer at airports within the city during such period by the total revenue tons handled by it at airports within and without the city during such period; and

(iii) the percentage determined by dividing the taxpayer's originating revenue within the city for such period by its total originating revenue within and without the city for such period.

(B) As used herein, the term "aircraft arrivals and departures" means the number of landings and takeoffs of the aircraft of the taxpayer and the number of air pickups and deliveries by the aircraft of such taxpayer; the term "originating revenue" means revenue to the taxpayer from the transportation of revenue passengers and revenue property first received by the taxpayer either as originating or connecting traffic at airports; and the term "revenue tons handled" by the taxpayer at airports means the weight in tons of revenue passengers (at two hundred pounds per passenger) and revenue cargo first received either as originating or connecting traffic or finally discharged by the taxpayer at airports;

(C) A foreign air carrier described in the first sentence of subparagraph one of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter shall determine its business allocation percentage pursuant to the provisions of subparagraphs one through four of this paragraph, except that the numerators and denominators involved in such computation shall exclude property to the extent employed in generating income excluded from entire net income pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter, exclude such receipts as are excluded from entire net income for the taxable year pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter, and exclude wages, salaries or other personal service compensation which are directly attributable to the generation of income excluded from entire net income for the taxable year pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c-1) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter.

(7) Provided, further, however, that a taxpayer principally engaged in the operation of vessels shall, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, determine the portion of entire net income to be allocated within the city by multiplying its business income by a business allocation percentage determined by dividing the aggregate number of working days of the vessels it owns or leases in territorial waters of the city during the period covered by its report by the aggregate number of working days of all the vessels it owns or leases during such period.

(8) (A) For taxable years beginning on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, a manufacturing corporation may elect to determine its business allocation percentage by adding together the percentages determined under subparagraphs one, two and three of this paragraph and an additional percentage equal to the percentage determined under subparagraph two of this paragraph, and dividing the result by the number of percentages so added together.

(B) An election under this subparagraph must be made on a timely filed (determined with regard to extensions granted) original report for the taxable year. Once made for a taxable year, such election shall be irrevocable for that taxable year. A separate election must be made for each taxable year. A manufacturing corporation that has failed to make an election as provided in this clause shall be required to determine its business allocation percentage without regard to the provisions of this subparagraph. Notwithstanding anything in this clause to the contrary, the commissioner of finance may permit a manufacturing corporation to make or revoke an election under this subparagraph, upon such terms and conditions as the commissioner may prescribe, where the commissioner determines that such permission should be granted in the interests of fairness and equity due to a change in circumstances resulting from an audit adjustment.

(C) As used in this subparagraph, the term "manufacturing corporation" means a corporation primarily engaged in the manufacturing and sale thereof of tangible personal property: and the term "manufacturing" includes the process (including the assembly process) (i) of working raw materials into wares suitable for use or (ii) which gives new shapes, new qualities or new combinations to matter which already has gone through some artificial process, by the use of machinery, tools, appliances and other similar equipment. A corporation shall be deemed to be primarily engaged in the activities described in the preceding sentence if more than fifty percent of its gross receipts for the taxable year are attributable to such activities.

(D) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, if a taxpayer that is otherwise eligible to make the election authorized by this subparagraph is required or permitted to make a report on a combined basis with one or more other corporations pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter, the taxpayer shall be permitted to make an election under this subparagraph only if such taxpayer and such other corporation or corporations would be a manufacturing corporation if they were treated as a single corporation. In making such determination, intercorporate transactions shall be eliminated. Where such election has been made by the taxpayer for a taxable year, each of the other corporations included in the combined report shall also be deemed to have made a proper election under this subparagraph for such taxable year.

(9) Special rules for publishers and broadcasters. (A) Notwithstanding anything in subparagraph two of this paragraph to the contrary and except as provided in clause (C) of this subparagraph, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of subparagraph two of this paragraph, the gross sales or charges for services arising from sales of advertising contained in such newspapers or periodicals, to the extent that such newspapers or periodicals are delivered to points within the city.

(B) Notwithstanding anything in subparagraph two of this paragraph to the contrary and except as provided in clause (C) of this subparagraph, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of broadcasting radio or television programs, whether through the public airwaves or by cable, direct or indirect satellite transmission, or any other means of transmission, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of subparagraph two of this paragraph, a portion of the gross sales or charges for services arising from the broadcasting of such programs and of commercial messages in connection therewith, such portion to be determined according to the number of listeners or viewers within and without the city.

(C) Notwithstanding anything in clause (A) or (B) of this subparagraph to the contrary, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or periodicals, or broadcasting radio or television programs, whether through the public airwaves or by cable, direct or indirect satellite transmission, or any other means of transmission, there shall be allocated to the city, for purposes of subparagraph two of this paragraph, the gross sales or charges to subscribers located in the city for subscriptions to such newspapers, periodicals, or program services. For purposes of this clause, a subscriber shall be deemed located in the city if, in the case of newspapers and periodicals, the mailing address for the subscription is within the city and, in the case of program services, the billing address for the subscription is within the city. For purposes of this clause, "subscriber" shall mean a member of the general public who receives such newspapers, periodicals or program services and does not further distribute them.

(b) multipy its investment income by an investment allocation percentage to be determined by:

(1) multiplying the amount of its investment capital invested in each stock, bond or other security (other than governmental securities) during the period covered by its report by the issuer's allocation percentage of the issuer or obligor thereof.

(i) In the case of an issuer or obligor subject to tax under this subchapter or subchapter four of this chapter, or subject to tax as a utility corporation under chapter eleven of this title, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be the percentage of the appropriate measure (as defined hereinafter) which is required to be allocated within the city on the report or reports, if any, required of the issuer or obligor under this title for the preceding year. The appropriate measure referred to in the preceding sentence shall be: in the case of an issuer or obligor subject to this subchapter, entire capital; in the case of an issuer or obligor subject to subchapter four of this chapter, issued capital stock; in the case of an issuer or obligor subject to chapter eleven of this title as a utility corporation, gross income.

(ii) In the case of an issuer or obligor subject to tax under part four of subchapter three of this chapter, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined as follows:

(A) In the case of a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this chapter which is organized under the laws of the United States, this state or any other state of the United States, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be its alternative entire net income allocation percentage, as defined in subdivision (c) of section 11-642 of this chapter, for the preceding year. In the case of such a banking corporation whose alternative entire net income for the preceding year is derived exclusively from business carried on within the city, its issuer's allocation percentage shall be one hundred percent.

(B) In the case of a banking corporation described in paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this chapter which is organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined by dividing (I) the amount described in clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section 11-642 of this chapter with respect to such issuer or obligor for the preceding year, by (II) the gross income of such issuer or obligor from all sources within and without the United States, for such preceding year, whether or not included in alternative entire net income for such year.

(C) In the case of an issuer or obligor described in paragraph nine of subdivision (a) or in paragraph two of subdivision (d) of section 11-640 of this chapter, the issuer's allocation percentage shall be determined by dividing the portion of the entire capital of the issuer or obligor allocable to the city for the preceding year by the entire capital, wherever located, of the issuer or obligor for the preceding year.

(iii) Provided, however, that if a report or reports for the preceding year are not filed, or if filed do not contain information which would permit the determination of such issuer's allocation percentage, then the issuer's allocation percentage to be used shall, at the discretion of the commissioner of finance, be either (A) the issuer's allocation percentage derived from the most recently filed report or reports of the issuer or obligor or (B) a percentage calculated, by the commissioner of finance, reasonably to indicate the degree of economic presence in the city of the issuer or obligor during the preceding year.

(2) adding together the sum so obtained, and

(3) dividing the result so obtained by the total of its investment capital invested during such period in stocks, bonds and other securities; provided, however, that in case any investment capital is invested in any stock, bond or other security during only a portion of the period covered by the report, only such portion of such capital shall be taken into account; and provided further, that if a taxpayer's investment allocation percentage is zero, interest received on bank accounts shall be multiplied by its business allocation percentage; and

(c) add the products so obtained.

(d) Except as provided in subparagraph three of this paragraph or in paragraph (e) of this subdivision, at the election of the taxpayer there shall be deducted from the portion of its entire net income allocated within the city either or both of the items set forth in subparagraphs one and two of this paragraph, except that only one of such deductions shall be allowed with respect to any one item of property.

(1) Depreciation with respect to any property such as described in subparagraph three of this paragraph, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes. Such deduction shall be allowed only upon condition that entire net income be computed without any deduction for the depreciation of the same property, and the total of all deductions allowed in any taxable year or years with respect to the depreciation of any such property shall not exceed its cost or other basis.

(2) Expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or acquisition of any property such as described in subparagraph three of this paragraph which is used or to be used for purposes of research and development in the experimental or laboratory sense. Such purposes shall not be deemed to include the ordinary testing or inspection of materials or products for quality control, efficiency surveys, management studies, consumer surveys, advertising, promotions or research in connection with literary, historical or similar projects. Such deduction shall be allowed only on condition that entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years be computed without the deduction of any such expenditures and without any deduction for depreciation of the same property, except to the extent that its basis may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, or in case a deduction is allowable pursuant to this subparagraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that any deduction allowed for federal income tax purposes on account of such expenditures or on account of depreciation of the same property be proportionately reduced in computing entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years. With respect to property which is used or to be used for research and development only in part, or during only part of its useful life, a proportionate part of such expenditures shall be deductible. If all or part of such expenditures with respect to any property shall have been deducted as provided herein, and such property is used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported, the taxpayer shall report such use in its report for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation regardless of the time limitations set forth in section 11-674 of this chapter.

(3) Such deductions shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in the city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, (A) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in the city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (C) acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraphs four, five or six of subsection (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clauses (A), (B) or (C) of this subparagraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. Provided, however, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph (d) hereof with respect to tangible personal property leased by it to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which the taxpayer uses itself for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, the taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under paragraph (d) in proportion to the part of the year it uses such property.

(4) If the deductions allowable for any taxable year, pursuant to this subdivision, exceed the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to the city for such year, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted from the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to the city for such year or years.

(5) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to subparagraph one or two of this paragraph, the gain or loss thereon entering into the computation of federal taxable income shall be disregarded in computing entire net income, and there shall be added to or subtracted from the portion of entire net income allocated within the city the gain or loss upon such sale or other disposition. In computing such gain or loss the basis of the property sold or disposed of shall be adjusted to reflect the deduction allowed with respect to such property pursuant to subparagraph one or two of this paragraph. Provided, however, that no loss shall be recognized for the purposes of this subparagraph with respect to a sale or other disposition of property to a person whose acquisition thereof is not a purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code.

(e) At the election of the taxpayer there shall be deducted from the portion of its entire net income allocated within the city either or both of the items set forth in subparagraphs one and two of this paragraph, except that only one of such deductions shall be allowed with respect to any one item of property.

(1) Depreciation with respect to any property such as described in subparagraphs three and four of this paragraph, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes. Such deduction shall be allowed only upon condition that entire net income be computed without any deduction for the depreciation of the same property, and the total of all deductions allowed in any taxable year or years with respect to the depreciation of any such property shall not exceed its cost or other basis multiplied by the taxpayer's business allocation percentage determined under this subdivision for the first year it deducts such depreciation under this paragraph.

(2) Expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or acquisition of any property such as described in subparagraph three of this paragraph which is used or to be used for purposes of research and development in the experimental or laboratory sense. Such purposes shall not be deemed to include the ordinary testing or inspection of materials or products for quality control, efficiency surveys, management studies, consumer surveys, advertising, promotions or research in connection with literary, historical or similar projects. Such deductions shall be allowed only on condition that it does not exceed the amount of the expenditures multiplied by the taxpayer's business allocation percentage determined under this subdivision for the year the expenditures are paid or incurred and that entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years be computed without the deduction of any such expenditures and without any deduction for depreciation of the same property, except to the extent that its basis may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, or in case a deduction is allowable pursuant to this subparagraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that any deduction allowed for federal income tax purposes on account of such expenditures or on account of depreciation of the same property be proportionately reduced in computing entire net income for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years. With respect to property which is used or to be used for research and development only in part, or during only part of its useful life, a proportionate part of such expenditures shall be deductible. If all or part of such expenditures with respect to any property shall have been deducted as provided herein, and such property is used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported, the taxpayer shall report such use in its report for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the commissioner of finance may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation regardless of the time limitations set forth in section 11-674 of this chapter.

(3) Such deduction shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in the city and used in the taxpayer's trade or business (A) the construction, reconstruction or erection of which is completed after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven by purchase or defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this state and commenced after December thirty-first nineteen hundred sixty-five. Provided, however, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph (e) hereof with respect to tangible personal property leased by it to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which the taxpayer uses itself for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, the taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under paragraph (e) in proportion to the part of the year it uses such property.

(4) A deduction under subparagraph one of this paragraph shall be allowed with respect to tangible property described in subparagraph three only if such property is principally used by the taxpayer in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assembling; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture; viticulture or commercial fishing. For purposes of this subparagraph, manufacturing shall mean the process of working raw materials into wares suitable for use or which gives new shapes, new qualities or new combinations to matter which already has gone through some artificial process by the use of machinery, tools, appliances and other similar equipment. Property used in the production of goods shall include machinery, equipment or other tangible property which is principally used in the repair and service of other machinery, equipment or other tangible property used principally in the production of goods and shall include all facilities used in the manufacturing operation, including storage of material to be used in manufacturing and of the products that are manufactured. At the option of the taxpayer, air and water pollution control facilities which qualify for elective deductions under paragraph (g) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this subchapter may be treated, for purposes of this paragraph, as tangible property principally used in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assembling; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture; viticulture; or commercial fishing, in which event, a deduction shall not be allowed under such paragraph (g).

(5) Subject to the limitation imposed by subparagraphs one and two hereof, if the deductions allowable for any taxable year, pursuant to this subdivision, exceed the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to the city for such year, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted from the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to the city for such year or years.

(6) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to subparagraph one or two of this paragraph, the gain or loss thereon entering into the computation of federal taxable income shall be disregarded in computing entire net income, and there shall be added to or subtracted from the portion of entire net income allocated within the city the gain or loss upon such sale or other disposition. In computing such gain or loss the basis of the property sold or disposed of shall be adjusted to reflect the deduction allowed with respect to such property pursuant to subparagraph one or two of this paragraph. Provided, however, that no loss shall be recognized for the purposes of this subparagraph with respect to a sale or other disposition of property to a person whose acquisition thereof is not a purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code.

4. The portion of the business capital of a taxpayer to be allocated within the city shall be determined by multiplying the amount thereof by the business allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided. Provided, however, such business allocation percentage, for purposes of allocating business capital, shall (a) for taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, be determined without regard to clause (C) of subparagraph six of paragraph (a) of subdivision three of this section and (b) for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-three, be determined with regard to such clause (C) but only in the case of a taxpayer subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of subdivision six of section 11-602 of this subchapter.

5. The portion of the investment capital of a taxpayer to be allocated within the city shall be determined by multiplying the amount thereof by the investment allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided.

6. Repealed.

7. The portion of the subsidiary capital of a taxpayer to be allocated within the city shall be determined by (a) multiplying the amount of its subsidiary capital invested in each subsidiary during the period covered by its report (or, in the case of any such capital so invested during only a portion of such period, such portion of such capital) by the issuer's allocation percentage, as defined in subparagraph one of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of this section, of each such subsidiary and (b) adding together the sums so obtained.

8. If it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that any business or investment allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided does not properly reflect the activity, business, income or capital of a taxpayer within the city, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his or her discretion, in the case of a business allocation percentage, to adjust it by (a) excluding one or more of the factors therein, (b) including one or more other factors, such as expenses, purchases, contract values (minus subcontract values), (c) excluding one or more assets in computing such allocation percentage, provided the income therefrom is also excluded in determining entire net income, or (d) any other similar or different method calculated to effect a fair and proper allocation of the income and capital reasonably attributable to the city, and in the case of an investment allocation percentage to adjust it by excluding one or more assets in computing such percentage provided the income therefrom is also excluded in determining entire net income. The commissioner of finance from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of this subdivision.

9. If it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that any business allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided does not properly reflect the activity, business, income or capital of a taxpayer within the city, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his or her discretion to adjust it by (a) excluding one or more of the factors therein, (b) including one or more other factors, such as expenses, purchases, contract values (minus subcontract values), (c) excluding one or more assets in computing such allocation percentage, provided the income therefrom, is also excluded in determining entire net income, or (d) any other similar or different method calculated to effect a fair and proper allocation of the income and capital reasonably attributable to the city, and in the case of an investment allocation percentage, to adjust it by excluding one or more assets in computing such percentage provided the income therefrom is also excluded in determining entire net income. The commissioner of finance from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of this subdivision.

10. Repealed.

11. (a) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of such credit shall be fifty percent of the tax incurred in market making transactions under the provisions of article twelve of the tax law on such transactions subject to such tax occurring on and after August first, nineteen hundred seventy-six and paid by such taxpayer (except when such tax shall have been paid pursuant to section two hundred seventy-nine-a of such tax law).

(b) For purposes of this subdivision:

(1) the term "taxpayer" shall mean any corporation subject to tax under this chapter registered with the United States securities and exchange commission in accordance with subsection (b) of section fifteen of the securities exchange act of nineteen hundred thirty-four, as amended, and acting as a dealer in a transaction described in subparagraph two of this paragraph, and

(2) the term "market making transaction" shall mean any transaction involving a sale (including a short sale) by a dealer of shares or certificates subject to the tax imposed by article twelve of the tax law, provided such shares or certificates are sold:

(i) as stock in trade or inventory or as property held for sale in the ordinary course of such dealer's trade or business (including transfers which are part of an underwriting),

(ii) in (a) a bona fide arbitrage transaction; (b) a bona fide hedge transaction involving a long or short position in any equity security and a long or short position in a security entitling the holder to acquire or sell such equity security; or (c) a risk arbitrage transaction in connection with a merger, acquisition, tender offer, recapitalization, reorganization, or similar transaction, or

(iii) to offset a transaction made in error.

Provided, however, that, except as to subclause (c) of clause (ii) of this paragraph, the term "market making transaction" shall not include any sale of shares or certificates identified in such dealer's records as a security held for investment within the meaning of section twelve hundred thirty-six of the internal revenue code.

(c) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter, except as otherwise provided in subdivision three of section 11-606 and subdivision eleven of section 11-608; provided, however, that the provisions of this title notwithstanding, the amount to be refunded pursuant to this subdivision shall not be paid prior to the first day of the eighth month following the close of the taxable year, and the provisions of subdivision three of section 11-679 of this chapter notwithstanding interest shall be allowed and paid on the overpayment of the credit under this subdivision from the first day of the eleventh month following the close of the taxable year, or three months after a claim for the credit or refund provided for in this subdivision has been filed, whichever is later.

(d) Provided, however, that the credit provided under this subdivision shall be allowed only to the extent that the amount of credit allowable with respect to market making transactions under the provisions of this subdivision (determined without regard to the provisions of this paragraph) exceeds fifty percent of all rebates (provided for under the provisions of section two hundred eighty-a of article twelve of the tax law) allowed for such taxes incurred in the same market making transactions with respect to which the credit is determined. No credit shall be allowed under this subdivision with respect to any tax incurred in market making transactions occurring on or after October first, nineteen hundred eighty-one.

12. (a) In addition to the credit allowed by subdivision eleven of this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this section. The amount of such credit shall be the excess of (A) the amount of sales and compensating use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law during the taxpayer's taxable year which became legally due on or after and was paid on or after July first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven, less any credits or refunds of such taxes, with respect to the purchase or use by the taxpayer of machinery or equipment for use or consumption directly and predominantly in the production of tangible personal property, gas, electricity, refrigeration or steam for sale, by manufacturing, processing, generating, assembling, refining, mining or extracting, or telephone central office equipment or station apparatus or comparable telegraph equipment for use directly and predominantly in receiving at destination or initiating and switching telephone or telegraph communication, but not including parts with a useful life of one year or less or tools or supplies used in connection with such machinery, equipment or apparatus over (B) the amount of any credit for such sales and compensating use taxes allowed or allowable against the taxes imposed by subchapter two of chapter eleven of this title for any periods embraced within the taxable year of the taxpayer under this subchapter.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter.

(c) Where the taxpayer receives a refund or credit of any tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law for which the taxpayer had claimed a credit under the provisions of this subdivision in a prior taxable year, the amount of such tax refund shall be added to the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter, and such amount shall be subtracted in computing entire net income for the taxable year.

13. (a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter to be credited or refunded without interest, in the manner hereinafter provided in this section.

(1) Where a taxpayer shall have relocated to the city from a location outside the state, and by such relocation shall have created a minimum of one hundred industrial or commercial employment opportunities; and where such taxpayer shall have entered into a written lease for the relocation premises, the terms of which lease provide for increased additional payments to the landlord which are based solely and directly upon any increase or addition in real estate taxes imposed on the leased premises, the taxpayer upon approval and certification by the industrial and commercial incentive board as hereinafter provided shall be entitled to a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter. The amount of such credit shall be: An amount equal to the annual increased payments actually made by the taxpayer to the landlord which are solely and directly attributable to an increase or addition to the real estate tax imposed upon the leased premises. Such credit shall be allowed only to the extent that the taxpayer has not otherwise claimed said amount as a deduction against the tax imposed by this subchapter.

The industrial and commercial incentive board in approving and certifying to the qualifications of the taxpayer to receive the tax credit provided for herein shall first determine that the applicant has met the requirements of this section, and further, that the granting of the tax credit to the applicant is in the "public interest". In determining that the granting of the tax credit is in the public interest, the board shall make affirmative findings that: the granting of the tax credit to the applicant will not effect an undue hardship on similar taxpayers already located within the city; the existence of this tax incentive has been instrumental in bringing about the relocation of the applicant to the city; and the granting of the tax credit will foster the economic recovery and economic development of the city.

The tax credit, if approved and certified by the industrial and commercial incentive board, must be utilized annually by the taxpayer for the length of the term of the lease or for a period not to exceed ten years from the date of relocation whichever period is shorter.

(2) Definitions: When used in this section, "employment opportunity" means the creation of a full time position of gainful employment for an industrial or commercial employee and the actual hiring of such employee for the said position.

"Industrial employee" means one engaged in the manufacture or assembling of tangible goods or the processing of raw materials.

"Commercial employee" means one engaged in the buying, selling or otherwise providing of goods or services other than on a retail basis.

"Retail" means the selling or otherwise disposing or furnishing of tangible goods or services directly to the ultimate user or consumer.

"Full time position" means the hiring of an industrial or commercial employee in a position of gainful employment where the number of hours worked by such employees is not less than thirty hours during any given work week.

"Industrial and commercial incentive board" means the board created pursuant to part three of subchapter two of chapter two of this title.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter.

14. (a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter to be credited or refunded without interest, in the manner hereinafter provided in this section. The amount of such credit shall be:

(1) A maximum of three hundred dollars for each commercial employment opportunity and a maximum of five hundred dollars for each industrial employment opportunity relocated to the city from an area outside the state. Such credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer who relocates a minimum of ten employment opportunities. The credit shall be allowed against employment opportunity relocation costs incurred by the taxpayer. Such credit shall be allowed only to the extent that the taxpayer has not claimed a deduction for allowable employment opportunity relocation costs. The credit allowed hereunder may be taken by the taxpayer in whole or in part in the year in which the employment opportunity is relocated by such taxpayer or either of the two years succeeding such event, provided, however, no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to a taxpayer for industrial employment opportunities relocated to premises (A) that are within an industrial business zone established pursuant to section 22-626 of this code and (B) for which a binding contract to purchase or lease was first entered into by the taxpayer on or after July first, two thousand five.

The commissioner of finance is empowered to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe the form of application to be used by a taxpayer seeking the credit provided hereunder.

(2) Definitions: When used in this section, "employment opportunity" means the creation of a full time position of gainful employment for an industrial or commercial employee and the actual hiring of such employee for the said position.

"Industrial employee" means one engaged in the manufacture or assembling of tangible goods or the processing of raw materials.

"Commercial employee" means one engaged in the buying, selling or otherwise providing of goods or services other than on a retail basis.

"Retail" means the selling or otherwise disposing of tangible goods directly to the ultimate user or consumer.

"Full time position" means the hiring of an industrial or commercial employee in a position of gainful employment where the number of hours worked by such employee is not less than thirty hours during any given work week.

"Employment opportunity relocation costs" means the costs incurred by the taxpayer in moving furniture, files, papers and office equipment into the city from a location outside the state; the costs incurred by the taxpayer in the moving and installation of machinery and equipment into the city from a location outside the state; the costs of installation of telephones and other communications equipment required as a result of the relocation to the city from a location outside the state; the cost incurred in the purchase of office furniture and fixtures required as a result of the relocation to the city from a location outside the state; and the cost of renovation of the premises to be occupied as a result of the relocation provided, however, that such renovation costs shall be allowable only to the extent that they do not exceed seventy-five cents per square foot of the total area utilized by the taxpayer in the occupied premises.

(b) The credit allowed under this section for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded without interest in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter.

17. (a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying five hundred dollars or, in the case of a taxpayer that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, one thousand dollars or, in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, two thousand, for a relocation to eligible premises located within a revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section

22-621 of the code, three thousand dollars, by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are not within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of section 22-621 of the code is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, and before July first, two thousand, one thousand dollars; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; provided, further, that no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to any taxpayer that has elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 22-622 of the code to take such credit against a gross receipts tax imposed by chapter eleven of this title; and provided that in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two certifications of eligibility for more than one relocation, the portion of the total amount of eligible aggregate employment shares to be multiplied by the dollar amount specified in this subdivision for each such certification of a relocation shall be the number of total attributed eligible aggregate employment shares determined with respect to such relocation pursuant to subdivision (o) of section 22-621 of the code. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares," "relocate," "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-621 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the first taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to such premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the eligible business maintained employment shares in the eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this subdivision, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(c) The credit allowable under this subdivision shall be deducted after the credit allowed by subdivision eighteen of this section, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this section.

(d) In the case of a taxpayer that has obtained a certification of eligibility pursuant to chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code dated on or after July first, two thousand for a relocation to eligible premises located within the revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, the credits allowed under this subdivision, or in the case of a taxpayer that has relocated more than once, the portion of such credits attributed to such certification of eligibility pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of such relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year; provided, however, that this paragraph shall not apply to any relocation for which an application for a certification of eligibility was not submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, unless the date of such relocation is on or after July first, two thousand.

17-a. (a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision. The amount of such credit shall be equal to the amount of sales and compensating use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law during the taxpayer's taxable year (and the amount of any interest imposed in connection therewith) which was paid after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, less any credit or refund of such taxes (or such interest), with respect to the purchase or use by the taxpayer of the services described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five-b of the tax law.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter.

(c) Where the taxpayer receives a refund or credit of any tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law (or of any interest imposed in connection therewith) for which the taxpayer had claimed a credit under the provisions of this subdivision in a prior taxable year, the amount of such tax (or such interest) refund or credit shall be added to the tax imposed by subdivision one of section 11-603 of this subchapter, and such amount shall be subtracted in computing entire net income for the taxable year.

17-b. (a) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand six, in addition to any other credit allowed by this section, an eligible business that first enters into a binding contract on or after July first, two thousand five to purchase or lease eligible premises to which it relocates shall be allowed a one-time credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter to be credited or refunded in the manner hereinafter provided in this subdivision. The amount of such credit shall be one thousand dollars per full-time employee; provided, however, that the amount of such credit shall not exceed the lesser of actual relocation costs or one hundred thousand dollars.

(b) When used in this subdivision, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"Eligible business" means any business subject to tax under this subchapter that (1) has been conducting substantial business operations and engaging primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities at one or more locations within the city of New York or outside the state of New York continuously during the twenty-four consecutive full months immediately preceding relocation, (2) has leased the premises from which it relocates continuously during the twenty-four consecutive full months immediately preceding relocation, (3) first enters into a binding contract on or after July first, two thousand five to purchase or lease eligible premises to which such business will relocate, and (4) will be engaged primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities at such eligible premises.

"Eligible premises" means premises located entirely within an industrial business zone. For any eligible business, an industrial business zone tax credit shall not be granted with respect to more than one eligible premises.

"Full-time employee" means (1) one person gainfully employed in an eligible premises by an eligible business where the number of hours required to be worked by such person is not less than thirty-five hours per week; or (2) two persons gainfully employed in an eligible premises by an eligible business where the number of hours required to be worked by each such person is more than fifteen hours per week but less than thirty-five hours per week.

"Industrial business zone" means an area within the city of New York established pursuant to section 22-626 of this code.

"Industrial business zone tax credit" means a credit, as provided for in this subdivision, against a tax imposed under this subchapter.

"Industrial and manufacturing activities" means activities involving the assembly of goods to create a different article, or the processing, fabrication, or packaging of goods. Industrial and manufacturing activities shall not include waste management or utility services.

"Relocation" means the physical relocation of furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery and supplies directly to an eligible premises, from one or more locations of an eligible business, including at least one location at which such business conducts substantial business operations and engages primarily in industrial and manufacturing activities. For purposes of this subdivision, the date of relocation shall be (1) the date of the completion of the relocation to the eligible premises or (2) ninety days from the commencement of the relocation to the eligible premises, whichever is earlier.

"Relocation costs" means costs incurred in the relocation of such furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery and supplies, including, but not limited to, the cost of dismantling and reassembling equipment and the cost of floor preparation necessary for the reassembly of the equipment. Relocation costs shall include only such costs that are incurred during the ninety-day period immediately following the commencement of the relocation to an eligible premises. Relocation costs shall not include costs for structural or capital improvements or items purchased in connection with the relocation.

(c) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall be deemed to be an overpayment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter.

(d) The number of full-time employees for the purposes of calculating an industrial business tax credit shall be the average number of full-time employees, calculated on a weekly basis, employed in the eligible premises by the eligible business in the fifty-two week period immediately following the earlier of (1) the date of the completion of the relocation to eligible premises or (2) ninety days from the commencement of the relocation to the eligible premises.

(e) The credit allowed under this subdivision must be taken by the taxpayer in the taxable year in which such twelve month period selected by the taxpayer ends.

(f) For the purposes of calculating entire net income in the taxable year that an industrial business tax credit is allowed, a taxpayer must add back the amount of the credit allowed under this subdivision, to the extent of any relocation costs deducted in the current taxable year or a prior taxable year in calculating federal taxable income.

(g) The credit allowed under this subdivision shall not be granted for an eligible business for more than one relocation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an industrial business tax credit shall not be granted if the eligible business receives benefits pursuant to chapter six-B or six-C of title twenty-two of this code, through a grant program administered by the business relocation assistance corporation, or through the New York city printers relocation fund grant.

(h) The commissioner of finance is authorized to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe forms necessary to effectuate the purposes of this subdivision.

18. (a) If a corporation is a partner in an unincorporated business taxable under chapter five of this title, and is required to include in entire net income its distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, or guaranteed payments from, such unincorporated business, such corporation shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this subchapter equal to the lesser of the amounts determined in subparagraphs one and two of this paragraph:

(1) The amount determined in this subparagraph is the product of (A) the sum of (i) the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on the unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the corporation and paid by the unincorporated business and (ii) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under section 11-503 of this title (except the credit allowed by subdivision (b) of such section) for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the corporation, to the extent that such credits do not reduce such unincorporated business's tax below zero, and (B) a fraction, the numerator of which is the net total of the corporation's distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business for such taxable year, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(2) The amount determined in this subparagraph is the product of (A) the excess of (i) the tax computed under clause one of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section, without allowance of any credits allowed by this section, over (ii) the tax so computed, determined as if the corporation had no such distributive share or guaranteed payments with respect to the unincorporated business, and (B) a fraction, the numerator of which is four and the denominator of which is eight and eighty-five one hundredths, provided, however, that the amounts computed in clauses (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph shall be computed with the following modifications:

(I) such amounts shall be computed without taking into account any carryforward or carryback by the partner of a net operating loss;

(II) if, prior to taking into account any distributive share or guaranteed payments from any unincorporated business or any net operating loss carryforward or carryback, the entire net income of the partner is less than zero, such entire net income shall be treated as zero; and

(III) if such partner's net total distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, any unincorporated business is less than zero, such net total shall be treated as zero.

The amount determined in this subparagraph shall not be less than zero.

(b)(1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, in the case of a corporation that, before the application of this subdivision or any other credit allowed by this section, is liable for the tax on entire net income under clause one of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section, the credit or the sum of the credits that may be taken by such corporation for a taxable year under this subdivision with respect to an unincorporated business or unincorporated businesses in which it is a partner shall not exceed the tax so computed, without allowance of any credits allowed by this section, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is four and the denominator of which is eight and eighty-five one hundredths. If the credit allowed under this subdivision or the sum of such credits exceeds the product of such tax and such fraction, the amount of the excess may be carried forward, in order, to each of the seven immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously taken, shall be allowed as a credit in each of such years. In applying the provisions of the preceding sentence, the credit determined for the taxable year under paragraph (a) of this subdivision shall be taken before taking any credit carryforward pursuant to this paragraph and the credit carryforward attributable to the earliest taxable year shall be taken before taking a credit carryforward attributable to a subsequent taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, in the case of a corporation that, before the application of this subdivision or any other credit allowed by this section, is liable for the tax on entire net income plus certain salaries and other compensation under clause three of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section, the maximum credit that may be taken in any taxable year is the amount that will reduce the tax so computed, without allowance of any credits allowed by this section, to zero. For purposes of this paragraph each dollar of credit shall be applied so as to reduce such tax for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand seven by sixty-six and thirty-eight one hundredths cents; for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand seven and before January first, two thousand eight by fifty-eight and eight one-hundredths cents; for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand nine by forty-nine and seventy-eight one-hundredths cents; for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand nine and before January first, two thousand ten by forty-one and forty-eight one-hundredths cents; and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand ten by thirty-three and nineteen one-hundredths cents. If the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision or the sum of such credits exceeds the amount that may be taken against such tax, the amount of the excess may be carried forward, in order, to each of the seven immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously taken, shall be allowed as a credit in each of such years. In applying the provisions of the preceding sentence, the credit determined for the taxable year under paragraph (a) of this subdivision shall be taken before taking any credit carryforward pursuant to this paragraph and the credit carryforward attributable to the earliest taxable year shall be taken before taking a credit carryforward attributable to a subsequent taxable year.

(3) No credit allowed under this subdivision may be taken in a taxable year by a taxpayer that, in the absence of such credit, would be liable for the tax computed on the basis of business and investment capital under clause two of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section or the fixed-dollar minimum tax under clause four of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section. No credit allowed under this subdivision may be taken against the tax computed on the basis of subsidiary capital under subparagraph (b) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section.

(c) For corporations that file a report on a combined basis pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter, the credit allowed by this subdivision shall be computed as if the combined group were the partner in each unincorporated business from which any of the members of such group had a distributive share or guaranteed payments, provided, however, if more than one member of the combined group is a partner in the same unincorporated business, for purposes of the calculation required in subparagraph one of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, the numerator of the fraction described in clause (B) of such subparagraph one shall be the sum of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business of all of the partners of the unincorporated business within the combined group for which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero, and the denominator of such fraction shall be the sum of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business of all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(d) The credit allowed by this subdivision shall not be allowed to a partner in an unincorporated business with respect to any tax paid by the unincorporated business under chapter five of this title for any taxable year beginning before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, the credit allowable under this subdivision shall be taken prior to the taking of any other credit allowed by this section. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, the application of this subdivision shall not change the basis on which the taxpayer's tax is computed under paragraph E of subdivision one of this section.

19. Lower Manhattan relocation and employment assistance credit. (a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this section, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-C of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying three thousand dollars by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; provided, further, that no credit shall be allowed under this subdivision to any taxpayer that has elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 22-624 of the code to take such credit against a gross receipts tax imposed under chapter eleven of this title. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares," "eligible premises," "relocate," "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-623 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the taxable year of the relocation and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to eligible premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the taxpayer maintained employment shares in eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises.

(c) Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this subdivision, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(d) The credits allowed under this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of the relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year.

(e) The credit allowable under this subdivision shall be deducted after the credits allowed by subdivisions seventeen and eighteen of this section, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this section.

20. Film production credit.*27 (a)(1) allowance of credit. A taxpayer which is a qualified film production company, and which is subject to tax under this subchapter, shall be allowed a credit against such tax, pursuant to the provisions in subdivision (c) of this section, to be computed as hereinafter provided.

(2) The amount of the credit shall be the product of five percent and the qualified production costs paid or incurred in the production of a qualified film, provided that the qualified production costs (excluding post production costs) paid or incurred which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at a qualified film production facility in the production of such qualified film equal or exceed seventy-five percent of the production costs (excluding post production costs) paid or incurred which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at any film production facility within and without the city of New York in the production of such qualified film. However, if the qualified production costs (excluding post production costs) which are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services at a qualified film production facility in the production of such qualified film are less than three million dollars, then the portion of the qualified production costs attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services in the production of such qualified film outside of a qualified film production facility shall be allowed only if the shooting days spent in the city of New York outside of a film production facility in the production of such qualified film equal or exceed seventy-five percent of the total shooting days spent within and without the city of New York outside of a film production facility in the production of such qualified film. The credit shall be allowed for the taxable year in which the production of such qualified film is completed.

(3) No qualified production costs used by a taxpayer either as the basis for the allowance of the credit provided for under this subdivision or used in the calculation of the credit provided for under this subdivision shall be used by such taxpayer to claim any other credit allowed pursuant to this title.

(b) Definitions. As used in this subdivision, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(1) "Qualified production costs" means production costs only to the extent such costs are attributable to the use of tangible property or the performance of services within the city of New York directly and predominantly in the production (including pre-production and post production) of a qualified film.

(2) "Production costs" means any costs for tangible property used and services performed directly and predominantly in the production (including pre-production and post production) of a qualified film. "Production costs" shall not include (i) costs for a story, script or scenario to be used for a qualified film and (ii) wages or salaries or other compensation for writers, directors, including music directors, producers and performers (other than background actors with no scripted lines). "Production costs" generally include technical and crew production costs, such as expenditures for film production facilities, or any part thereof, props, makeup, wardrobe, film processing, camera, sound recording, set construction, lighting, shooting, editing and meals.

(3) "Qualified film" means a feature-length film, television film, television pilot and/or each episode of a television series, regardless of the medium by means of which the film, pilot or episode is created or conveyed. "Qualified film" shall not include (i) a documentary film, news or current affairs program, interview or talk program, "how-to" (i.e., instructional) film or program, film or program consisting primarily of stock footage, sporting event or sporting program, game show, award ceremony, film or program intended primarily for industrial, corporate or institutional end-users, fundraising film or program, daytime drama (i.e., daytime "soap opera"), commercials, music videos or "reality" program, or (ii) a production for which records are required under section 2257 of title 18, United States code, to be maintained with respect to any performer in such production (reporting of books, films, etc. with respect to sexually explicit conduct).

(4) "Film production facility" shall mean a building and/or complex of buildings and their improvements and associated back-lot facilities in which films are or are intended to be regularly produced and which contain at least one sound stage.

(5) "Qualified film production facility" shall mean a film production facility in the city of New York, which contains at least one sound stage having a minimum of seven thousand square feet of contiguous production space.

(6) "Qualified film production company" shall mean a corporation which is principally engaged in the production of a qualified film and controls the qualified film during production.

(c) Application of credit. (1) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the amount prescribed in clause (4) of subparagraph (a) of paragraph E of subdivision one of this section. Provided, however, that if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, fifty percent of the excess shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter; provided, however, the provisions of section 11-679 of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon. The balance of such credit not credited or refunded in such taxable year may be carried over to the immediately succeeding taxable year and may be credited against the taxpayer's tax for such year. The excess, if any, of the amount of the credit over the tax for such succeeding year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of section 11-679 of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section to the contrary, the credit provided by this subdivision shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this chapter for the taxable year after reduction by all other credits permitted by this chapter.

1. Provisions of L.L. 2/2005 (as am'd L.L. 24/2006):

§4. Maximum amount of credits. (a) The aggregate amount of tax credits allowed pursuant to subdivision (m) of § 11-503 of the administrative code of the city of New York and subdivision twenty of § 11-604 of the administrative code of the city of New York in any calendar year shall be $12.5 million in 2004 and 2005 and $30 million in 2006 through 2011. Such aggregate amount of credits shall be allocated by the mayor's office of film, theatre and broadcasting among taxpayers in order of priority based upon the date of filing an application for allocation of film production credit with such office. If the total amount of allocated credits applied for in any particular year exceeds the aggregate amount of tax credits allowed for such year under this section, such excess shall be treated as having been applied for on the first day of the subsequent year.

§5. The mayor's office of film, theatre and broadcasting shall, in accordance with sections two and three of part Y of a chapter of the laws of 2006, as set forth in legislative bill number S.6460-C, which was delivered to the secretary of state on April 28, 2006, amend, as soon as practicable, rules to establish procedures for the allocation of tax credits as required by section four of this local law. Such rules shall include provisions describing the application process, the due dates for such applications, the standards which shall be used to evaluate the applications, the documentation that will be provided by taxpayers to substantiate the amount of tax credits allocated to such taxpayers, and such other provisions as deemed necessary and appropriate.

§6. This local law shall take effect immediately, except that sections two and three of this local law shall take effect as of the effective date of a chapter of the laws of New York that authorizes the enactment of an empire state film production credit against the unincorporated business income tax of the city of New York. This local law shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005 with respect to "qualified production costs" paid or incurred on or after August 20, 2004, in connection with qualified films completed on or after January 1, 2005 regardless of whether the initial application relating to such qualified film was first submitted before August 20, 2004; provided, however, that this local law shall expire and shall be deemed to have no force and effect as of December 31, 2011, and provided further, that the expiration of this local law shall not affect the carry over of any credit allowed pursuant to this local law and, subsequent to the expiration of this local law, such carry over credits shall be allowed as provided by and pursuant to the provisions of this local law.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Motion of respondent to dismiss declaratory judgment action of plaintiff, a professional corporation, which claimed that defendant had improperly measured the tax due from it by including officers' salaries as part of its taxable income was granted since the Department of Finance and not the city has primary jurisdiction to determine this question of statutory construction and there is no need for a declaratory judgment action.-Bayridge Orthopedic Associates v. City of N.Y., 184 (22) N.Y.L.J. (7-31-81) 6, Col. 2 T.

¶ 2. Authority given to the Commissioner of Finance to adjust a percentage by excluding one or more assets where the investment allocation percentage "does not properly reflect the activity, business, income or capital of a taxpayer within the city" is not an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power nor unconstitutionally vague.-Matter of Barneys v. Dept. of Finance v. City of N.Y., 93 App. Div. 2d 642 [1983].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The Finance Commissioner's rules relating to the NYC General Corporation Tax §1-5, 19 RCNY 11-06, adopted in 1990 make the general corporation tax applicable to foreign corporate limited partners in limited partnerships doing business in the city, and were properly applied retroactively to petitioner foreign corporation and limited partner where petitioner paid general corporation taxes for the tax years 1984, 1985 and 1986, Ad Cd §11-604(1)(E). Varrington v. NYC Dept. of Fin., 85 NY2d 28 [1995], 201 AD2d 282 affirmed.

¶ 2. In National Bulk Carriers, Inc. et al. v. New York City Tax Appeals Tribunal, 61 A.D.3d 522, 817 N.Y.S.2d 279 (1st Dept. 2009), leave to appeal denied, 2009 WL 1852004 (NY 2009), the Tribunal held that Petitioner's General

Corporate Tax (GCT) returns should be based on the fair market value of Petitioner's partnership assets rather than the book value of its partnership interests as related to capital assets pursuant to Admin. Code of NYC Sec. 11-604(2). The court upheld the decision, stating that it was rationally based.

§ 11-605 Reports.

1. Every corporation having an officer, agent or representative within the city, shall annually on or before March fifteenth, transmit to the commissioner of finance a report in a form prescribed by the commissioner (except that a corporation which reports on the basis of a fiscal year shall transmit its report within two and one-half months after the close of its fiscal year), setting forth such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe and every taxpayer which ceases to do business in the city or to be subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter shall transmit to the commissioner of finance a report on the date of such cessation or at such other time as the commissioner may require covering each year or period for which no report was theretofore filed. Every taxpayer shall also transmit such other reports and such facts and information as the commissioner of finance may require in the administration of this subchapter. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing reports whenever good cause exists.

With respect to taxable years ending prior to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, the returns required to be made and filed pursuant to this section shall be made and filed on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of such taxable year or September eleventh, nineteen hundred sixty-six, whichever is later.

An automatic extension of six months for the filing of its annual report shall be allowed any taxpayer if, within the time prescribed by either of the preceding paragraphs, whichever is applicable, such taxpayer files with the commissioner of finance an application for extension in such form as the commissioner may prescribe by regulation and pays on or before the date of such filing the amount properly estimated as its tax.

2. Every report shall have annexed thereto a certification by the president, vice-president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, chief accounting officer or another officer of the taxpayer duly authorized so to act to the effect that the statements contained therein are true. In the case of an association, within the meaning of paragraph three of section (a) of section seventy-seven hundred one of the internal revenue code, a publicly-traded partnership treated as a corporation for purposes of the internal revenue code pursuant to section seventy-seven hundred four thereof and any business conducted by a trustee or trustees wherein interest or ownership is evidenced by certificates or other written instruments, such certification shall be made by any person duly authorized so to act on behalf of such association, publicly-traded partnership or business. The fact that an individual's name is signed on a certification of the report shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to sign and certify the report on behalf of the corporation. Blank forms of reports shall be furnished by the commissioner of finance, on application, but failure to secure such a blank shall not release any corporation from the obligation of making any report required by this subchapter.

2-a. The commissioner of finance may prescribe regulations and instructions requiring returns of information to be made and filed in conjunction with the reports required to be filed pursuant to this section, relating to payments made to shareholders owning, directly or indirectly, individually or in the aggregate, more than fifty percent of the issued capital stock of the taxpayer, where such payments are treated as payments of interest in the computation of entire net income reported on such reports.

3. If the amount of taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax for any year of any taxpayer, or of any shareholder of any taxpayer which has elected to be taxed under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code or of any shareholder of any taxpayer with respect to which an election has been made to be treated as a qualified subchapter s subsidiary under paragraph three of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred sixty-one of the internal revenue code, as returned to the United States treasury department or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance is changed or corrected by the commissioner of internal revenue or other officer of the United States or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance or other competent authority, or where a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States or the state of New York results in a change in taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax, or where a recovery of a war loss results in a computation or recomputation of any tax imposed by the United States or the state of New York, or if a taxpayer or such shareholder of a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section sixty-two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of said section, or if a taxpayer, or such shareholder of a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (f) of section one thousand eighty-one of the tax law, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (c) of said section, such taxpayer shall report such changed or corrected taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax, or the results of such renegotiation, or such computation, or recomputation, or such execution of such notice of waiver and the changes or corrections of the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax on which it is based, within ninety days (or one hundred twenty days, in the case of a taxpayer making a combined report under this subchapter for such year) after such execution or the final determination of such change or correction or renegotiation, or such computation, or recomputation, or as required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. The allowance of a tentative carryback adjustment based upon a net operating loss carryback or net capital loss carryback pursuant to section sixty-four hundred eleven of the internal revenue code shall be treated as a final determination for purposes of this subdivision. Any taxpayer filing an amended return with such department shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended report with the commissioner of finance.

4. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance, any taxpayer which owns or controls either directly or indirectly substantially all the capital stock of one or more other corporations, or substantially all the capital stock of which is owned or controlled either directly or indirectly by one or more other corporations or by interests which own or control either directly or indirectly substantially all the capital stock of one or more other corporations, may be required or permitted to make a report on a combined basis covering any such other corporations and setting forth such information as the commissioner of finance may require; provided, however, that no taxpayer may be permitted to make a report on a combined basis covering any such other corporations where (a) such taxpayer or any such other corporation allocates in accordance with clause (A) of subparagraph six of paragraph (a) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter and such taxpayer or any such other corporation does not so allocate, or (b) such taxpayer or any such other corporation allocates in accordance with subparagraph seven of paragraph (a) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this subchapter and such taxpayer or any such other corporation does not so allocate; provided, further that no combined report covering any corporation not a taxpayer shall be required unless the commissioner of finance deems such a report necessary, because of inter-company transactions or some agreement, understanding, arrangement or transaction referred to in subdivision five of this section, in order properly to reflect the tax liability under this subchapter and provided, further, that a corporation which elects the application of section nine hundred thirty-six of the internal revenue code with respect to a particular federal taxable year shall not, in the case of a taxpayer, be required or permitted to make a report on a combined basis with respect to a taxable year under this subchapter which is the same as such federal taxable year (or a portion thereof), and, in the case of a corporation which is not a taxpayer, no combined report covering such corporation with respect to such taxable year under this subchapter shall be required or permitted. In the case of a combined report the tax shall be measured by the combined entire net income or combined capital, of all the corporations included in the report; provided, however, in no event shall the tax measured by combined capital exceed the limitation provided for in paragraph F of subdivision one of section 11-604 of this subchapter. In computing combined entire net income intercorporate dividends shall be eliminated, in computing combined business and investment capital intercorporate stock holdings and intercorporate bills, notes and accounts receivable and payable and other intercorporate indebtedness shall be eliminated and in computing combined subsidiary capital intercorporate stockholdings shall be eliminated.

5. In case it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that any agreement, understanding or arrangement exists between the taxpayer and any other corporation or any person or firm, whereby the activity, business, income or capital of the taxpayer within the city is improperly or inaccurately reflected, the commissioner of finance is authorized and empowered, in its discretion and in such manner as it may determine, to adjust items of income, deductions and capital, and to eliminate assets in computing any allocation percentage provided only that any income directly traceable thereto be also excluded from entire net income, so as equitably to determine the tax. Where (a) any taxpayer conducts its activity or business under any agreement, arrangement or understanding in such manner as either directly or indirectly to benefit its members or stockholders, or any of them, or any person or persons directly or indirectly interested in such activity or business, by entering into any transaction at more or less than a fair price which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, might have been paid or received therefor, or (b) any taxpayer, a substantial portion of whose capital stock is owned either directly or indirectly by another corporation, enters into any transaction with such other corporation on such terms as to create an improper loss or net income, the commissioner of finance may include in the entire net income of the taxpayer the fair profits, which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, the taxpayer might have derived from such transaction.

6. An action may be brought at any time by the corporation counsel at the instance of the commissioner of finance to compel the filing of reports due under this subchapter.

7. Reports shall be preserved for five years, and thereafter until the commissioner of finance orders them to be destroyed.

8. Where the state tax commission changes or corrects a taxpayer's sales and compensating use tax liability with respect to the purchase or use of items for which a sales or compensating use tax credit against the tax imposed by this chapter was claimed, the taxpayer shall report such change or correction to the commissioner of finance within ninety days of the final determination of such change or correction, or as required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended return or report relating to the purchase or use of such items shall also file within ninety days thereafter a copy of such amended return or report with the commissioner of finance.

§ 11-606 Payment and lien of tax.

1. To the extent the tax imposed by section 11-603 of this subchapter shall not have been previously paid pursuant to section 11-608 of this subchapter,

(a) such tax, or the balance thereof, shall be payable to the commissioner of finance in full at the time the report is required to be filed, and

(b) such tax, or the balance thereof, imposed on any taxpayer which ceases to do business in the city or to be subject to the tax imposed by this subchapter shall be payable to the commissioner of finance at the time the report is required to be filed; all other taxes of any such taxpayer, which pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this section would otherwise be payable subsequent to the time such report is required to be filed, shall nevertheless be payable at such time.

If the taxpayer, within the time prescribed by section 11-605 of this subchapter, shall have applied for an automatic extension of time to file its annual report and shall have paid to the commissioner of finance on or before the date such application is filed an amount properly estimated as provided by said section, the only amount payable in addition to the tax shall be interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount by which the tax, or the portion thereof payable on or before the date the report was required to be filed, exceeds the amount so paid. For purposes of the preceding sentence:

(1) an amount so paid shall be deemed properly estimated if it is either: (A) not less than ninety percent of the tax as finally determined (computed without regard to any credit allowable under subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter), or (B) not less than the tax shown (computed without regard to any credit allowable under subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter) on the taxpayer's report for the preceding taxable year, if such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months; and

(2) the time when a report is required to be filed shall be determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such report.

2. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of any tax imposed by this subchapter under such conditions as it deems just and proper.

3. Subdivision one of this section shall apply to a taxpayer which has a right to a credit pursuant to subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter, except that the tax, or balance thereof, payable to the commissioner of finance in full pursuant to subdivision one of this section, at the time the report is required to be filed, shall be calculated and paid at such time as if the credit provided for in subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter were not allowed.

§ 11-607 Declaration of estimated tax.

1. Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by section 11-603 of this subchapter shall make a declaration of its estimated tax for the current privilege period, containing such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulations or instructions, if such estimated tax can reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand dollars.

2. The term "estimated tax" means the amount which a taxpayer estimates to be the tax imposed by section 11-603 of this subchapter for the current privilege period, less the amount which it estimates to be the sum of any credits allowable against the tax other than the credit allowable under subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter.

3. In the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, a declaration of estimated tax shall be filed on or before June fifteenth of the current privilege period, except that if the requirements of subdivision one are first met:

(a) after May thirty-first and before September first of such current privilege period, the declaration shall be filed on or before September fifteenth, or

(b) after August thirty-first and before December first of such current privilege period, the declaration shall be filed on or before December fifteenth.

4. A taxpayer may amend a declaration under regulations of the commissioner of finance.

5. If, on or before February fifteenth of the succeeding year in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, a taxpayer files its report for the year for which the declaration is required, and pays therewith the balance, if any, of the full amount of the tax shown to be due on the report,

(a) such report shall be considered as its declaration if no declaration is required to be filed during the calendar or fiscal year for which the tax was imposed, but is otherwise required to be filed on or before December fifteenth pursuant to subdivision three, and

(b) such report shall be considered as the amendment permitted by sudivision four to be filed on or before December fifteenth if the tax shown on the report is greater than the estimated tax shown on a declaration previously made.

6. This section shall apply to privilege periods of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in this section.

7. If the privilege period for which a tax is imposed by section 11-603 of this subchapter is less than twelve months, every taxpayer required to make a declaration of estimated tax for such privilege period shall make such a declaration in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

8. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed three months, for the filing of any declaration required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as it may require.

§ 11-608 Payments on account of estimated tax.

1. Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by section 11-603 of this subchapter shall pay with the report required to be filed for the preceding privilege period, if any, or with an application for extension of the time and filing such report, an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the preceding year's tax if such preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars.

1-b. Repealed.

1-c. Repealed.

1-d. Repealed.

1-e. Repealed.

1-f. Repealed.

2. The estimated tax with respect to which a declaration for such privilege period is required shall be paid, in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, as follows:

(a) If the declaration is filed on or before June fifteenth, the estimated tax shown thereon, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same privilege period pursuant to subdivision one, shall be paid in three equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, one shall be paid on the following September fifteenth, and one on the following December fifteenth.

(b) If the declaration is filed after June fifteenth and not after September fifteenth of such privilege period, and is not required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of such period, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same privilege period pursuant to subdivision one, shall be paid in two equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration and one shall be paid on the following December fifteenth.

(c) If the declaration is filed after September fifteenth of such privilege period, and is not required to be filed on or before September fifteenth of such privilege period, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid in respect to such privilege period pursuant to subdivision one, shall be paid in full at the time of the filing of the declaration.

(d) If the declaration is filed after the time prescribed therefor, or after the expiration of any extension of time therefor, paragraphs (b) and (c) of this subdivision shall not apply, and there shall be paid at the time of such filing all installments of estimated tax payable at or before such time, and the remaining installments shall be paid at the times at which, and in the amounts in which, they would have been payable if the declaration had been filed when due.

3. If any amendment of a declaration is filed, the remaining installments, if any, shall be ratably increased or decreased (as the case may be) to reflect any increase or decrease in the estimated tax by reason of such amendment, and if any amendment is made after September fifteenth of the privilege period, any increase in the estimated tax by reason thereof shall be paid at the time of making such amendment.

4. Any amount paid shall be applied after payment as a first installment against the estimated tax of the taxpayer for the current privilege period shown on the declaration required to be filed pursuant to section 11-607 of this subchapter or, if no declaration of estimated tax is required to be filed by the taxpayer to such section, any such amount shall be considered a payment on account of the tax shown on the report required to be filed by the taxpayer for such privilege period.

5. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-679 of this chapter or of section three-a of the general municipal law, if an amount paid pursuant to subdivision one exceeds the tax shown on the report required to be filed by the taxpayer for the privilege period during which the amount was paid, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount by which the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision exceeds such tax, at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of four percent per annum from the date of payment of the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision to the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the privilege period, provided, however, that no interest shall be allowed or paid under this subdivision if the amount thereof is less than one dollar or if such interest becomes payable solely because of a carryback of a net operating loss in a subsequent privilege period.

6. As used in this section, "the preceding year's tax" means the tax imposed upon the taxpayer by section 11-603 of this subchapter for the preceding calendar or fiscal year, or, for purposes of computing the first installment of estimated tax when an application has been filed for extension of the time for filing the report required to be filed for such preceding calendar or fiscal year, the amount properly estimated pursuant to section 11-607 of this subchapter as the tax imposed upon the taxpayer for such calendar or fiscal year.

7. This section shall apply to a privilege period of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

8. The provisions of this section shall apply to privilege periods of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in such provisions.

9. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to not to exceed six months, for payment of any installment of estimated tax required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require including the furnishing of a bond or other security by the taxpayer in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted, provided however that interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum for the period of the extension shall be charged and collected on the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted under this subdivision.

10. A taxpayer may elect to pay any installment of estimated tax prior to the date prescribed in this section for payment thereof.

11. The portion of an overpayment attributable to a credit allowable pursuant to subdivision eleven of section 11-604 of this subchapter may not be credited against any payment due under this section.

§ 11-609 Collection of taxes.

Every foreign corporation (other than a moneyed corporation) subject to the provisions of this subchapter, except a corporation having authority to do business by virtue of section thirteen hundred five of the business corporation law, shall file in the department of state a certificate of designation in its corporate name, signed and acknowledged by its president or a vice-president or its secretary or treasurer, under its corporate seal, designating the secretary of state as its agent upon whom process in any action provided for by this subchapter may be served within this state, and setting forth an address to which the secretary of state shall mail a copy of any such process against the corporation which may be served upon the secretary of state. In case any such corporation shall have failed to file such certificate of designation, it shall be deemed to have designated the secretary of state as its agent upon whom such process against it may be served; and until a certificate of designation shall have been filed the corporation shall be deemed to have directed the secretary of state to mail copies of process served upon him or her to the corporation at its last known office address within or without the state. When a certificate of designation has been filed by such corporation the secretary of state shall mail copies of process thereafter served upon the secretary of state to the address set forth in such certificate. Any such corporation, from time to time, may change the address to which the secretary of state is directed to mail copies of process, by filing a certificate to that effect executed, signed and acknowledged in like manner as a certificate of designation as herein provided. Service of process upon any such corporation or upon any corporation having a certificate of authority under section two hundred twelve of the general corporation law or having authority to do business by virtue of section thirteen hundred five of the business corporation law, in any action commenced at any time pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter, may be made by either: (a) personally delivering to and leaving with the secretary of state, a deputy secretary of state or with any person authorized by the secretary of state to receive such service duplicate copies thereof at the office of the department of state in the city of Albany, in which event the secretary of state shall forthwith send by registered mail, return receipt requested, one of such copies to the corporation at the address designated by it or at its last known office address within or without the state, or (b) personally delivering to and leaving with the secretary of state, a deputy secretary of state or with any person authorized by the secretary of state to receive such service, a copy thereof at the office of the department of state in the city of Albany and by delivering a copy thereof to, and leaving such copy with, the president, vice-president, secretary, assistant secretary, treasurer, assistant treasurer, or cashier of such corporation, or the officer performing corresponding functions under another name, or a director or managing agent of such corporation, personally without the state. Proof of such personal service without the state shall be filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending within thirty days after such service, and such service shall be complete ten days after proof thereof is filed.

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-611 Definitions.

When used in this part:

1. The term "financial corporation" means every corporation doing a banking business as defined in this section, other than a national banking association, a trust company all of the capital stock of which is owned by not less than twenty savings banks organized under a law of this state, or a corporation taxable under subchapter two of this chapter, and shall include the mortgage facilities corporation created by chapter five hundred sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred fifty-six and any corporation eighty percent or more of whose voting stock is beneficially owned by a corporation or corporations subject to article three or article three-a of the banking law or a national banking association or associations, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned is principally engaged in business which might be lawfully conducted by a corporation subject to article three of the banking law or a national banking association.

2. The word "paid", for the purpose of the deductions and credits under this part, means "paid or accrued" or "paid or incurred," and the terms "paid or incurred" and "paid or accrued" shall be construed according to the method of accounting upon the basis of which the net income is computed, under this part. The term "received," for the purpose of the computation of net income under this part means "received or accrued" and the term "received or accrued" shall be construed according to the method of accounting upon the basis of which the net income is computed under this part.

3. The word "dividend" means any distribution made by a corporation to its shareholders or members, out of its earnings or profits, whether in cash, or in property other than stock of the corporation.

4. The words "doing a banking business" means doing such business as a corporation may be created to do under articles three, five, five-a, and six of the banking law, or doing any business which a corporation is authorized by such articles to do.

5. The words "foreign banker doing a banking business" in the city, include every foreign corporation doing a banking business in the city, except a national banking association.

6. The words "savings and loan association" mean every corporation doing such business as a corporation may be created to do under article ten of the banking law, including every federal savings and loan association organized under authority of the United States.

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 1 TAX ON STATE BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES, FINANCIAL CORPORATIONS AND SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

§ 11-612 Tax based on net income; imposition; minimum tax; new incorporations; dissolution; consolidations; mergers, etc.

1. For the privilege of doing business in the city:

(a) Every bank and savings and loan association organized under the authority of this state;

(b) Every trust company incorporated, organized or formed under, by or pursuant to a law of the state, other than a trust company all of the stock of which is owned by not less than twenty savings banks organized under a law of the state, and every domestic corporation authorized to do a trust company's business solely or in connection with any other business, under a general or special law of the state;

(c) Every other domestic financial corporation;

(d) Every incorporated foreign banker doing a banking business and every other foreign financial corporation; and

(e) Every federal savings and loan association located within the city, shall annually pay a tax at the rate of four and one-half per centum except that for the years nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following, the rate shall be five and sixty-three one hundredths per centum, to be computed as provided in this part, upon the basis of its net income for each calendar year, beginning with the calendar year nineteen hundred sixty-six, next preceding the date when such tax becomes due, if the taxpayer is required to file a declaration of estimated tax and to make payments on account of such estimated tax as provided by section 11-636 of this subchapter, upon the basis of its net income for the calendar year with respect to which such declaration is required to be filed.

2. Every such corporation for the privilege of doing business in the city and every federal savings and loan association located in the city shall be subject to a minimum tax of not less than ten dollars and not less than one mill except that for the years nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following such minimum tax shall be not less than twelve and one-half dollars and not less than one and one-quarter mills upon each dollar of such a part of its issued capital stock on the last day of the calendar year preceding that in which such tax becomes due, at its face value, as the gross income of such corporation derived from business carried on within the city during such calendar year, bears to its gross income derived from all business, both within and without the city, during said year, but if such a corporation has stock without par value, such stock shall be taken at its actual or market value, and not less than five dollars per share, as may be determined by the commissioner of finance; except that a savings bank and savings and loan association shall be subject to a minimum tax of not less than an amount equal to two per centum of the amount of interest or dividends credited by it to depositors or shareholders during the calendar year preceding that in which such tax becomes due except that for the years nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following such minimum tax shall be not less than twelve and one-half dollars and not less than an amount equal to two and one-half per centum of the amount of interest or dividends credited by it to depositors or shareholders during the calendar year preceding that in which such tax becomes due, provided that, in determining such amount each interest or dividend credit to a depositor or shareholder shall be deemed to be the interest or dividend actually credited or the interest or dividend which would have been credited if it had been computed and credited at the rate of two per centum per annum whichever is less and except also that in the case of a trust company or savings bank incorporated in the calendar year preceding that in which its first return under this part shall be due and after the thirtieth day of June in such year, the minimum tax, computed as in this subdivision provided, shall be reduced one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, subsequent to said thirtieth day of June during which such trust company or savings bank did not exercise the privilege of doing business in the city.

3. For the privilege of doing business in the city, every such domestic corporation, except trust companies and savings banks, shall be subject to a tax for the calendar year in which its organization certificate is filed, and, for the privilege of doing business in the city, every such foreign corporation shall be subject to a tax for the calendar year in which it first does business in the city, and, every federal savings and loan association located within the city shall be subject to a tax for the calendar year in which it first becomes located within the city, computed in the same manner and at the same rate as the minimum tax under subdivision two of this section, except that the income forming the basis for proration shall be the income for such calendar year, and the issued capital stock shall be taken as of the last day of such calendar year; provided, however, that the tax so computed shall be reduced one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, in such calendar year, during which such corporation was not doing business in the city, or, if a federal savings and loan association, was not located in the city, and in no event shall the tax be less than ten dollars except that for the year nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following, in no event shall the tax be less than twelve and one-half dollars.

4. For the privilege of doing business in the city, every such trust company and savings bank which shall become incorporated between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding first day of July, shall be subject to a tax for such period, computed in the same manner and at the same rate as the minimum tax under subdivision two of this section, except that the income forming the basis for proration shall be the income for such period; and the issued capital stock, or interest credited to depositors of a savings bank, shall be taken as of the last day of such period; provided, however, that the tax so computed shall be reduced one-half and an additional one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, in such period, during which such trust company or savings bank was not doing business in the city, and in no event shall the tax be less than ten dollars except that for the year nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following, in no event shall the tax be less than twelve and one-half dollars.

5. For the privilege of doing business in the city, every such corporation, except trust companies and savings banks, which shall be dissolved between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding second day of September, and shall not become merged or consolidated with another corporation taxable under this part and, every such foreign corporation which shall cease to do business in the city during the same period, and every federal savings and loan association which ceases to be located in the city during the same period, and shall not become merged or consolidated with another corporation taxable under this part, shall pay a tax for the period from the thirty-first day of December up to the time of dissolution, ceasing to do business in the city, or ceasing to be located in the city, as the case may be, equal to that which would have been payable had it not been dissolved, ceased to do business in the city, or ceased to be located in the city, except that such tax shall be reduced one-third and an additional one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, prior to such succeeding second day of September, during which such corporation was not doing business in the city, or was not located in the city, and in no event shall the tax be less than ten dollars except that for the year nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following, in no event shall the tax be less than twelve and one-half dollars. If such dissolution or cessation occurs beteween the fifteenth day of March and the second day of September, and if such corporation shall have filed its return on or before the fifteenth day of March as required by section 11-633 of this subchapter, it may file a claim for refund as provided in section 11-678 of this chapter, showing any reduction in tax to which it may be entitled as provided in the preceding sentence; and if it shall be made to appear that the amount of tax due is less than the amount as computed on the basis of the original return, the commissioner of finance shall adjust the computation of tax accordingly. If the amount of tax as so adjusted shall be less than the amount theretofore paid, the excess shall be refunded by the commissioner of finance as provided in subdivision one of section 11-677 of this chapter.

6. Every such trust company and savings bank, which shall be dissolved, and shall not become merged or consolidated with another corporation taxable under this part, shall, if dissolution takes place between the thirtieth day of June and the succeeding first day of January, be subject to a tax, for that part of such period in which it had been doing business, computed in the same manner and at the same rate as the minimum tax under subdivision two of this section, except that the income forming the basis for proration shall be the income for the calendar year in which such dissolution occurs; and the issued capital stock, or interest credited to depositors of a savings bank, shall be taken as of the date of dissolution; provided, however, that the tax so computed shall be reduced one-half and an additional one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, between the date of dissolution and the succeeding first day of January. If dissolution occurs between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding sixteenth day of March, such trust company and savings bank shall be subject to the same tax that would have been due from it on or before the fifteenth day of March had it not been dissolved, except that such tax shall be reduced one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, from the date of dissolution to the succeeding first day of July, and shall be for the period beginning on the preceding first day of July and ending on the date of dissolution. In no event shall the tax under this subdivision be less than ten dollars except that for the year nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following, in no event shall the tax under this subdivision be less than twelve and one-half dollars.

7. In the case of a consolidation or merger of taxpayers, or in case a national bank taxable under part two of this subchapter shall be consolidated or merged with a taxpayer under this part, or in case of a series of such transactions, there shall be added to the net income of the taxpayer resulting from such consolidations or mergers the net income of the taxpayers which are consolidated or merged for the period for which the taxpayer resulting from such consolidation or merger is required to render any return under this part, and if such resulting taxpayer is a savings bank or savings and loan association, there shall be added to the interest or dividends credited by it to depositors or shareholders the amount of interest or dividends credited to depositors or shareholders during such period by the taxpayers which are consolidated or merged, except that net income, interest or dividends shall not be included if they have already been used as the basis for a tax under this part, and the tax payable on filing such return shall be based upon the entire net income reported therein or upon the entire amount of interest or dividends so reported, as the case may be. The acquisition by a taxpayer, directly or indirectly, of the assets or franchises of another taxpayer or national bank shall be deemed a merger for the purposes of this section.

8. The tax imposed by this part shall be for the calendar year next preceding the year in which it becomes due; except that with respect to corporations subject to a tax imposed under subdivision three, four, five or six of this section, the tax shall be for the period therein specified, and except that with respect to corporations required to file a declaration of estimated tax and to make payments on account of such estimated tax as provided by section 11-636 of this subchapter, all payments of tax within a calendar year, whether computed on the basis of net income for the current calendar year or on the basis of net income for the preceding calendar year, shall be for the calendar year in which the payments are required to be made.

9. In the event that it shall be finally determined by a court of competent jurisdiction that the taxes imposed on national banking associations by part two of this subchapter are unconstitutional or invalid for the reason that they are not in conformity with the provisions of section fifty-two hundred nineteen of the United States revised statutes, then, in lieu of the taxes imposed by the provisions of this part, every corporation that otherwise would have been subject to tax under this part shall be subject to the tax imposed under subchapter two as of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and all of the provisions of subchapter two, unless clearly inappropriate, shall be applicable except subdivision four of section 11-603 of this chapter; and, in such event, any payments made, reports or returns filed or any act of the commissioner of finance or of a taxpayer purportedly under this subchapter shall be treated as though made, filed or done pursuant to subchapter two.

10. Cross reference. For years for which tax is imposed, see section 11-613 of this part.

1. For the purpose of ascertaining the gain derived or loss sustained from the sale or other disposition of property, real, personal or mixed, the basis shall be the cost thereof, or the inventoried value if the inventory is made in accordance with section 11-617 of this part.

2. Notwithstanding subdivision one of this section, with respect to gain derived from the sale or other disposition of any property acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, except stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business, and accounts or notes receivable acquired in the ordinary course of trade or business from the sale of such stock in trade or property, or for services rendered, net income shall not include:

(a) That portion of the gain included in determining net income pursuant to subdivision one of this section with respect to each such property, which exceeds:

(b) The amount of gain that would be included in determining net income pursuant to subdivision one of this section with respect to each such property if the basis of such property on the date of sale or other disposition were equal to its fair market value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, plus or minus all adjustments to basis made with respect to each such property in computing net income for periods on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six provided that the total adjustment to net income provided by this subdivision shall not exceed the amount of the taxpayer's net gain from the sale or other disposition of all such property, as determined pursuant to subdivision one of this section.

3. In the case of any bond, with respect to which a deduction for amortizable bond premium is allowable under subdivision nine of section 11-621 of this part, the basis for determining gain or loss shall be reduced by the total amount of such deductions so allowable.

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 1 TAX ON STATE BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES, FINANCIAL CORPORATIONS AND SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

§ 11-615 Exchange of property.

Upon the sale or exchange of property the entire amount of the gain or loss, determined under section 11-614 of this part, shall be recognized, except as hereinafter provided in this section:

1. No gain or loss shall be recognized if common stock in a corporation is exchanged solely for common stock in the same corporation, or if preferred stock in a corporation is exchanged solely for preferred stock in the same corporation;

2. No gain or loss shall be recognized if stock or securities in a corporation a party to a reorganization are, in pursuance of the plan or reorganization, exchanged solely for stock or securities in such corporation or in another corporation a party to the reorganization; 3. No gain or loss shall be recognized if a taxpayer, a party to a reorganization, exchanges property, in pursuance of the plan of reorganization, solely for stock or securities in another corporation a party to the reorganization; and

4. No gain or loss shall be recognized if property is transferred to a corporation by a taxpayer solely in exchange for stock or securities in such corporation, and immediately after the exchange such taxpayer is in control of the corporation; but in the case of an exchange by a taxpayer and one or more other corporations or persons this subdivision shall apply only if the amount of the stock and securities received by each is substantially in proportion to its interest in the property prior to the exchange.

5. If property (as a result of its destruction in whole or in part, theft or seizure, or an exercise of the power of requisition or condemnation, or the threat of imminence thereof) is compulsorily or involuntarily converted into property similar or related in service or use to the property so converted, or into money which is forthwith in good faith, under regulations prescribed by the commissioner of finance, expended in the acquisition of other property similar or related in service or use to the property so converted, or in the acquisition of control of a corporation owning such other property, or in the establishment of a replacement fund, no gain or loss shall be recognized. If any part of the money is not so expended, the gain, if any, shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the money which is not so expended.

6. If there is distributed, in pursuance of a plan of reorganization, to a taxpayer shareholder in a corporation a party to the reorganization, stock or securities in such corporation or in another corporation a party to the reorganization, without the surrender by such taxpayer shareholder of stock or securities in such a corporation, no gain to the distributee from the receipt of such stock or securities shall be recognized.

7. If an exchange would be within the provisions of subdivision one, two, or four of this section if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such subdivision to be received without the recognition of gain, but also of other property or money, then the gain, if any, to the recipient shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property.

8. If an exchange would be within the provisions of subdivision three of this section if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of stock or securities permitted by such subdivision to be received without the recognition of gain, but also of other property or money, then:

(a) If the taxpayer receiving such other property or money distributes it in pursuance of the plan of reorganization, no gain to the taxpayer shall be recognized from the exchange, but

(b) If the taxpayer receiving such other property or money does not distribute it in pursuance of the plan of reorganization, the gain, if any, to the taxpayer shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property so received, which is not so distributed.

9. If an exchange would be within the provisions of subdivision one, two, three, or four of this section if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such subdivision to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, but also of other property or money, then no loss from the exchange shall be recognized.

10. As used in this section:

The term "reorganization" means (a) a merger or consolidation (including the acquisition by one corporation of at least a majority of the voting stock and at least a majority of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation, or substantially all the properties of another corporation), or (b) a transfer by a corporation of all or a part of its assets to another corporation if immediately after the transfer the transferor or its stockholders or both are in control of the corporation to which the assets are transferred, or (c) a recapitalization, or (d) a mere change in identity, form or place of organization, however effected;

The term "a party to a reorganization" includes a corporation resulting from a reorganization and includes both corporations in the case of an acquisition by one corporation of at least a majority of the voting stock and at least a majority of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation; and

The term "control" means the ownership of at least eighty per centum of the voting stock and at least eighty per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of the corporation.

11. No gain or loss shall be recognized upon the receipt by a taxpayer of property distributed in complete liquidation of a corporation. For the purposes of this subdivision a distribution shall be considered to be in complete liquidation only if:

(a) the taxpayer receiving such property was, on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation, and has continued to be at all times until the receipt of the property, the owner of stock (in such corporation) possessing at least eighty per centum of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote and the owner of at least eighty per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock (except non-voting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends), and was at no time on or after the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation and until the receipt of the property the owner of a greater percentage of any class of stock than the percentage of such class owned at the time of the receipt of the property; and either:

(b) the distribution is by such corporation in complete cancellation or redemption of all its stock, and the transfer of all the property occurs within the base year; in such case the adoption by the shareholders of the resolution under which is authorized the distribution of all the assets of the corporation in complete cancellation or redemption of all its stock, shall be considered an adoption of a plan of liquidation, even though no time for the completion of the transfer of the property is specified on such resolution; or

(c) such distribution is one of a series of distributions by such corporation in complete cancellation or redemption of all its stock in accordance with a plan of liquidation under which the transfer of all the property under the liquidation is to be completed within three years from the close of the year during which is made the first of the series of distributions under the plan, except that if such transfer is not completed within such period, or if the taxpayer does not continue qualified under paragraph (a) until the completion of such transfer, no distribution under the plan shall be considered a distribution in complete liquidation.

If such transfer of all the property does not occur within the year, the commissioner of finance may require of the taxpayer such bond, or waiver of the statute of limitations on assessment and collection, or both, as the commissioner may deem necessary to insure, if the transfer of the property is not completed within such three year period, or if the taxpayer does not continue qualified under paragraph (a) until the completion of such transfer, the assessment and collection of all taxes then imposed under this part for such year or subsequent years, to the extent attributable to property so received. A distribution otherwise constituing a distribution in complete liquidation within the meaning of this paragraph shall not be considered as not constituting such a distribution merely because it does not constitute a distribution or liquidation within the meaning of the corporate law under which the distribution is made; and for the purposes of this paragraph a transfer of property of such corporation to the taxpayer shall not be considered as not constituting a distribution (or one of a series of distributions) in complete cancellation or redemption of all the stock of such corporation, merely because the carrying out of the plan involves: (1) the transfer under the plan to the taxpayer by such corporation of property, not attributable to shares owned by the taxpayer, upon an exchange described in subdivision three of this section, and (2) the complete cancellation or redemption under the plan, as a result of exchanges described in subdivision two of this section, of the shares not owned by the taxpayers.

1. The term "gross income" includes gains, profits and income derived from the business, of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, including gains, profits or income from dealings in property, whether real or personal, or gains, profits or income received as compensation for services, as interest, rents, commissions, brokerage or other fees, or otherwise in carrying on such business, including all dividends received on stocks and all interest received from federal, state, municipal or other bonds.

2. If the gross income of a taxpayer is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, "gross income" means that proportion thereof which is derived from business carried on within the city, to be allocated and determined on the basis of separate accounting for each office or branch or, at the election of the taxpayer, under rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner of finance.

3. "Gross income" of a savings bank shall include the amount received by it in any taxable year as a distribution in liquidation of the mutual savings bank fund.

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 1 TAX ON STATE BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES, FINANCIAL CORPORATIONS AND SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

§ 11-621 Deductions.

In computing net income there shall be allowed as deductions:

1. All the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the year in carrying on business, including a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered, and including rentals or other payments required to be made as a condition to the continued use or possession for business purposes of property to which the taxpayer has not taken or is not taking title or in which such taxpayer has no equity.

2. All interest paid or accrued during the year on indebtedness.

3. Taxes, other than taxes on income or profits paid or accrued within the year, imposed, first, by the authority of the United States, or of any of its possessions, or, second, by the authority of any state, or territory, or any county, school district, municipality, or other taxing subdivisions of any state or territory, not including those assessed against local benefits of a kind tending to increase the value of the property assessed, or, third, by the authority of any foreign government.

4. Losses sustained during the year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in business; unless in order to clearly reflect the income the losses should in the opinion of the commissioner of finance be accounted for as of a different period. No deduction shall be allowed for any loss claimed to have been sustained in any sale or other disposition of shares of stock or securities where it appears that within thirty days before or after the date such sale or other disposition the taxpayer has acquired substantially identical property, and the property so acquired is held by the taxpayer for any period after such sale or other disposition, unless such claim is made with respect to a transaction made in the ordinary course of business. If such acquisition is to the extent of part only of substantially identical property, only a proportionate part of the loss shall be disallowed.

5. Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year; or in the discretion of the commissioner of finance a reasonable addition to a reserve for bad debts. When satisfied that a debt is recoverable only in part, the commissioner of finance may allow such debt to be charged off in part.

6. A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence. In the case of any such property acquired before January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, the amount of such deduction shall be equal to the deduction properly taken for such property in reporting the tax due pursuant to article nine-b of the tax law. With respect to property such as described in subdivision twelve of this section, this deduction may be computed and allowed as provided therein.

7. If the gross income be derived from business carried on within and without the city, the deductions allowed by this section shall be allocated and determined on the basis of separate accounting for each office or branch or, at the election of the taxpayer, under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the commissioner of finance.

8. In the case of any taxpayer who establishes or maintains a pension trust to provide for the payment of reasonable pensions to its employees, there shall be allowed as a deduction (in addition to the contributions to such trust during the taxable year to cover the pension liability accruing during the year, allowed as a deduction under subdivision one of this section) a reasonable amount transferred or paid into such trust during the taxable year in excess of such contributions, but only if such amount (a) has not theretofore been allowable as a deduction, and (b) is apportioned in equal parts over a period of ten consecutive years beginning with the year in which the transfer or payment is made or, under regulations of the commissioner of finance, covers not more than one-tenth of the total pension liability with respect to services rendered prior to such taxable year; provided that said deduction shall be allowable only with respect to a taxable year (whether the year of the transfer or payment or a subsequent year) of the taxpayer ending within or with a taxable year of the trust with respect to which the trust, by reason of its purposes or activities, is exempt from federal income tax.

9. The amount of the amortizable bond premium on a bond for the year shall be allowed as a deduction as hereinafter provided. In computing such deduction : (a) the amount of the bond premium shall be determined with reference to the amount of the basis (for determining loss on sale or exchange) of such bond, and with reference to the amount payable on maturity or on earlier call date, with adjustments proper to reflect unamortized bond premium with respect to the bond, for the period prior to July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six with respect to the taxpayer with respect to such bond, and (b) the amortizable bond premium of the year shall be the amount of the bond premium attributable to such year. The determination required in the preceding sentence shall be made in accordance with the method of amortizing bond premium regularly employed by the holder of such bond, if such method is reasonable, and in all other cases in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance prescribing reasonable methods of amortizing bond premium. This subdivision shall apply only if the taxpayer shall so elect, in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance, and such election shall be made separately with respect to (1) bonds, the interest of which is wholly taxable, and (2) bonds, the interest of which is wholly or partially tax exempt, for purposes of the income tax imposed by chapter one of the internal revenue code. If such election is made with respect to any bond of the taxpayer described in clauses one or two hereof, it shall also apply to all bonds in the same class held by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first year to which the election applies and to all such bonds thereafter acquired by it and shall be binding for all subsequent years with respect to all such bonds of the taxpayer, unless upon the application by the taxpayer, the commissioner of finance permits the taxpayer, subject to such conditions as the commissioner of finance deems necessary, to revoke such election. As used in this subdivision the term "bond" means any bond, debenture, note or certificate or other evidence of indebtedness, issued by any corporation and bearing interest (including any like obligation issued by a government or political subdivision thereof), with interest coupons or in registered form, but does not include any such obligation which constitutes stock in trade of the taxpayer or any such obligation of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the year, or any such obligation held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business.

10. In the case of a savings bank and savings and loan association, amounts paid or credited to depositors or holders of accounts as interest or dividends on their deposits or withdrawable accounts, if such amounts are withdrawable on demand subject only to customary notice of intention to withdraw.

11. A savings bank and savings and loan association may deduct in any taxable year the amount of the repayment of any loan or advance from the mutual savings bank fund in computing its net income and the amount of interest or dividends subject to the minimum tax under subdivision three of section 11-612 of this part.

12. (a) At the election of the taxpayer there shall be deducted from gross income, or if gross income is derived from business carried on within and without this city, from the portion thereof allocated within the city, depreciation with respect to any property such as described in paragraph (b) of this subdivision, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Such deduction shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this city and used in the taxpayer's business, (i) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (ii) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (iii) acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subsection (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clause (i), (ii) or (iii) of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. Provided, however, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph (a) hereof with respect to tangible personal property leased by it to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which the taxpayer uses itself for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, the taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under paragraph (a) in proportion to the part of the year it uses such property.

(c) If the deduction allowable for any taxable year pursuant to this subdivision exceeds the taxpayer's net income computed without the allowance of such deduction and without the allowance of any deduction pursuant to subdivision six of this section with references to the same property, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted in computing net income for such year or years.

(d) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this subdivision, the gain or loss thereon shall be computed by adjusting the basis of such property to reflect the deductions so allowed, and if the taxpayer's gross income is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, shall be allocated within the city. Provided, however, that no loss shall be recognized for the purposes of this paragraph with respect to a sale or other disposition of property to a person whose acquisition thereof is not a purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code.

§ 11-623 Imposition of tax.

1. Pursuant to the authority conferred by section fifty-two hundred nineteen of the United States revised statutes and in conformity with the provisions contained in subdivision c of clause one of such section, every national banking association organized under authority of the United States and located within the city, shall annually pay a tax, measured by its net income, to be computed, as provided in this part, at the rate of four and one-half per centum except that for the year nineteen hundred seventy-one and those following the rate shall be five and sixty-three one hundredths per centum, upon the basis of its net income for the calendar year next preceding the date when such tax becomes due. Such tax shall be for the calendar year next preceding the year in which it becomes due; except that with respect to national banking associations required to file a declaration of estimated tax and to make payments on account of such estimated tax in accordance with the provisions of section 11-636 of this subchapter, all payments of tax within a calendar year, whether computed on the basis of net income for the current calendar year or on the basis of net income for the preceding calendar year, shall be for the calendar year in which the payments are required to be made. If, however, such a national banking association shall be dissolved between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding second day of September, and shall not become merged or consolidated with a corporation taxable under part one of this subchapter, it shall pay a tax for the period from the thirty-first day of December up to the time of dissolution equal to that which would have been payable had it not been dissolved, except that such tax shall be reduced by one-third and an additional one-twelfth for each month, or major portion thereof, prior to such succeeding second day of September, during which such corporation was so dissolved. If such dissolution occurs between the fifteenth day of March and the second day of September, and if such corporation shall have filed its return on or before the fifteenth day of March as required by sections 11-630 and 11-633 of this subchapter, it may file a claim for refund as provided in section 11-678 of this chapter, showing any reduction in tax to which it may be entitled as provided in the preceding sentence; and if it shall be made to appear that the amount of tax due is less than the amount as computed on the basis of the original return, the commissioner of finance shall adjust the computation of tax accordingly. If the amount of tax as so adjusted shall be less than the amount theretofore paid, the excess shall be refunded by the commissioner of finance as provided in subdivision one of section 11-677 of this chapter.

2. In the event that the taxes imposed by this part shall be finally determined to be unconstitutional or invalid for the reason that they do not conform with the provisions of section fifty-two hundred nineteen of the United States revised statutes, then, in lieu of the taxes imposed by the provisions of this part, every national banking association and every production credit association that otherwise would have been subject to tax under this part shall be subject to the tax imposed under subchapter two as of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and all of the provisions of subchapter two, unless clearly inappropriate, shall be applicable except subdivision four of section 11-603 of this chapter; and, in such event, any payments made, reports or returns filed or any act of the commissioner of finance or of a taxpayer purportedly under this subchapter shall be treated as though made, filed or done pursuant to subchapter two.

3. Cross reference. For years for which tax is imposed, see section 11-624 of this part.

§ 11-625 Ascertainment of gain or loss; exchange of property.

1. For the purpose of ascertaining the gain derived or loss sustained from the sale or other disposition of property, real, personal or mixed, the basis shall be the cost thereof, or the inventoried value if the inventory is made in accordance with section 11-626 of this part.

2. Notwithstanding subdivision one of this section, with respect to gain derived from the sale or other disposition of any property acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, except stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business and accounts or notes receivable acquired in the ordinary course of trade or business from the sale of such stock in trade or property, or for services rendered, net income shall not include:

(a) That portion of the gain included in determining net income pursuant to subdivision one of this section with respect to each such property which exceeds:

(b) The amount of gain, if any, that would be included in determining net income pursuant to subdivision one of this section with respect to each such property if the basis of such property on the date of sale or other disposition were equal to its fair market value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, plus or minus all adjustments to basis made with respect to each such property in computing net income for periods on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six; provided that the total adjustment to net income provided by this subdivision shall not exceed the amount of the taxpayer's net gain from the sale or other disposition of all such property, as determined pursuant to subdivision one of this section.

3. Upon the sale or exchange of property the amount of the gain or loss shall be determined in the manner prescribed by section 11-615 of this subchapter and the basis of such property shall be determined in the manner prescribed by section 11-616 of this subchapter.

4. In the case of any bond, with respect to which a deduction for amortizable bond premium is allowable under paragraph (i) of subdivision one of section 11-629 of this part, the basis for determining gain or loss shall be reduced by the total amount of such deductions so allowable.

The term "net income" means the gross income of a taxpayer less the deductions allowed by this part.

The net income shall be computed in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed in keeping the books of such taxpayer; but if no such method of accounting has been so employed, or if the method employed does not clearly reflect the income, the computation shall be made upon such basis and in such manner as in the opinion of the commissioner of finance does clearly reflect the income. In determining net income, war losses, taxation of property recovered, and basis of property shall be treated in substantially the same manner as such losses, recoveries and basis are treated under the applicable provisions of section thirteen hundred thirty-one of the internal revenue code.

2. If the gross income of such an association is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, "gross income" means that proportion thereof which is derived from business carried on within the city, to be allocated and determined on the basis of separate accounting for each office or branch or, at the election of the taxpayer, under rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner of finance.

PART 2 TAX ON NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATIONS AND PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATIONS

§ 11-629 Deductions.

1. In computing net income there shall be allowed as deductions:

(a) All the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the year in carrying on business, including a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered, and including rentals or other payments required to be made as a condition to the continued use or possession for business purposes of property to which the taxpayer has not taken or is not taking title or in which such taxpayer has no equity;

(b) All interest paid or accrued during the year on indebtedness; (c) Taxes, other than taxes on income or profits paid or accrued within the year, imposed, first, by the authority of the United States, or of any of its possessions, or, second, by the authority of any state, or territory, or any county, school district, municipality, or other taxing subdivisions of any state or territory, not including those assessed against local benefits of a kind tending to increase the value of the property assessed, or, third, by the authority of any foreign government;

(d) Losses sustained during the year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in business; unless in order to clearly reflect the income the losses should in the opinion of the commissioner of finance be accounted for as of a different period. No deduction shall be allowed for any loss claimed to have been sustained in any sale or other disposition of shares of stock or securities where it appears that within thirty days before or after the date of such sale or other disposition the taxpayer has acquired substantially identical property, and the property so acquired is held by the taxpayer for any period after such sale or other disposition, unless such claim is made with respect to a transaction made in the ordinary course of business. If such acquisition is to the extent of part only of substantially identical property, only a proportionate part of the loss shall be disallowed;

(e) Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year; or in the discretion of the commissioner of finance a reasonable addition to a reserve for bad debts. When satisfied that a debt is recoverable only in part, the commissioner of finance may allow such debt to be charged off in part;

(f) A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence. In the case of any such property acquired before January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, the amount of such deduction shall be equal to the deduction properly taken for such property in reporting the tax due pursuant to article nine-c of the tax law. With respect to property such as described in paragraph (j) of this subdivision, this deduction may be computed and allowed as provided therein;

(g) If the gross income be derived from business carried on within and without the city, the deductions allowed by this section shall be allocated and determined on the basis of separate accounting for each office or branch or, at the election of the taxpayer, under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the commissioner of finance;

(h) In the case of any taxpayer, who establishes or maintains a pension trust to provide for the payment of reasonable pensions to its employees, there shall be allowed as a deduction (in addition to the contributions to such trust during the taxable years, to cover the pension liability accruing during the year, allowed as a deduction under paragraph (a) of this subdivision) a reasonable amount transferred or paid into such trust during the taxable year in excess of such contributions, but only if such amount: (1) has not theretofore been allowable as a deduction, and (2) is apportioned in equal parts over a period of ten consecutive years beginning with the year in which the transfer of payment is made; provided that said deduction shall be allowable only with respect to a taxable year (whether the year of the transfer or payment or a subsequent year) of the taxpayer ending within or with a taxable year of the trust with respect to which the trust, by reason of its purposes or activities is exempt from federal income tax;

(i) The amount of the amortizable bond premium on a bond for the year shall be allowed as a deduction as hereinafter provided. In computing such deduction, (a) the amount of the bond premium shall be determined with reference to the amount of the basis (for determining loss on sale or exchange) of such bond, and with reference to the amount payable on maturity or on earlier call date, with adjustments proper to reflect unamortized bond premium with respect to the bond, for the period prior to July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty-six with respect to the taxpayer with respect to such bond, and (b) the amortizable bond premium of the year shall be the amount of the bond premium attributable to such year. The determinations required in the preceding sentence shall be made in accordance with the method of amortizing bond premium regularly employed by the holder of such bond, if such method is reasonable, and in all other cases in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance prescribing reasonable methods of amortizing bond premium. This paragraph shall apply only if the taxpayer shall so elect, in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance, and such election shall be made separately with respect to: (1) bonds, the interest of which is wholly taxable, and (2) bonds, the interest of which is wholly or partially tax exempt, for purposes of the income tax imposed by chapter one of the internal revenue code. If such election is made with respect to any bond of the taxpayer described in clauses one or two hereof, it shall also apply to all bonds in the same class held by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first year to which the election applies and to all such bonds thereafter acquired by it and shall be binding for all subsequent years with respect to all such bonds of the taxpayer, unless, upon application by the taxpayer, the commissioner of finance permits the taxpayer, subject to such conditions as the commissioner of finance deems necessary, to revoke such election. As used in this paragraph, the term "bond" means any bond, debenture, note, or certificate or other evidence of indebtedness, issued by any corporation and bearing interest (including any like obligation issued by a government or political subdivision thereof), with interest coupons or in registered form, but does not include any such obligation which constitutes stock in trade of the taxpayer or any such obligation of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the year, or any such obligation held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business; and

(j) (1) At the election of the taxpayer there shall be deducted from gross income, or if gross income is derived from business carried on within and without this city, from the portion thereof allocated within the city, depreciation with respect to any property such as described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes.

(2) Such deduction shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this city and used in the taxpayer's business, (i) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d), of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five or (iii) acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subsection (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clause (i), (ii) or (iii) of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. Provided, however, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph (a) hereof with respect to tangible personal property leased by it to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which the taxpayer uses itself for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, the taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under paragraph (a) in proportion to the part of the year it uses such property.

(3) If the deduction allowable for any taxable year pursuant to this subdivision exceeds the taxpayer's net income computed without the allowance of such deduction and without the allowance of any deduction pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section with reference to the same property, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted in computing net income for such year or years.

(4) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this paragraph, the gain or loss thereon shall be computed by adjusting the basis of such property to reflect the deductions so allowed, and if the taxpayer's gross income is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, shall be allocated within the city. Provided, however, that no loss shall be recognized for the purposes of this paragraph with respect to a sale or other disposition of property to a person whose acquisition thereof is not a purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code.

2. In computing net income no deduction shall in any case be allowed in respect of:

(a) Any amount paid out for new buildings or for permanent improvements or betterments made to increase the value of any property.

(b) Any amount expended in restoring or in making good the exhaustion thereof for which an allowance is or has been made.

§ 11-633 Taxpayer's returns.

1. Every taxpayer, on or before March fifteenth of each year, beginning with the year nineteen hundred sixty-seven and ending with the year nineteen hundred seventy-three, shall make a return subscribed by the taxpayer and affirmed by the taxpayer to be true under the penalties of perjury to the commissioner of finance, for the calendar year next preceding, as to the business or that portion of the business of such taxpayer the income from which is the basis of taxation under part one or two of this subchapter, except that every trust company and savings bank which shall become incorporated between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding first day of July, shall make its return for such period on or before September first, and every taxpayer, other than a trust company and savings bank, which shall commence to do business in the city or become located in the city, shall make its return for the calendar year in which it commences to do business or becomes located, on or before the twentieth day of January of the year succeeding such calendar year, and except that every taxpayer, other than a trust company and savings bank, which shall be dissolved, cease to do business in the city or cease to be located in the city, between the thirty-first day of December and the succeeding sixteenth day of March and shall not become merged or consolidated with another corporation taxable under the same part, shall make its return for such period on or before the date of such dissolution, or cessation of business, and every trust company and savings bank which shall be dissolved, and shall not become merged or consolidated with another corporation taxable under the same part, shall make its return, for the period for which it is taxable under subdivision six of section 11-612 of this subchapter on or before the date of such dissolution. Such return shall be in such form and contain such information as the commissioner of finance may require for the purpose of making any computation or otherwise performing its duty under parts one, two, and three of this subchapter. Such return shall state specifically the items of gross income derived from such business and the deductions allowed by the part for which the return is filed, the net income which is the basis of the tax, and the amount of tax due. The return shall be subscribed by the president, vice-president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, chief accounting officer or any other officer of the taxpayer duly authorized so to act. The fact that an individual's name is signed on the return shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to subscribe and affirm the return on behalf of the corporation. Blank forms of return shall be furnished by the commissioner of finance upon application, but failure to secure the form shall not relieve any taxpayer from the obligation of making any return herein required. An automatic extension of three months for the filing of its annual return shall be allowed for any taxpayer if, within the time prescribed herein for the filing thereof, such taxpayer files with the commissioner of finance an application for extension in such form as the commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulation and pays on or before the date of such filing the amount properly estimated as its tax. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing a return, which may be in addition to any automatic extension allowed under the preceding sentence, whenever in the commissioner's judgment good cause exists and shall keep a record of every such extension and the reason therefor. No such extension or extensions shall aggregate more than three months, exclusive of any automatic extension.

2. If the amount of taxable income for any year of any taxpayer as returned to the United States treasury department or the New York state tax department is changed or corrected by the commissioner of internal revenue or other officer of the United States or the New York state tax commission or other competent authority; or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section sixty-two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of such section, or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subdivision (f) of section one thousand eighty-one of the tax law, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subdivision (c) of such section, such taxpayer shall report such change or corrected taxable income or such execution of such notice of waiver and the changes or corrections of such taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income on which it is based, within ninety days after such execution or the final determination of such change or correction, or as required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended return with such department shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended return with the commissioner of finance which shall contain such information as it shall require.

§ 11-636 Declaration of estimated tax; payments on account of estimated tax.

1. Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by part one or two of this subchapter shall make a declaration of the estimated tax upon the basis of its net income for the current calendar year, containing such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulations or instructions, if such estimated tax can reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand dollars.

2. The term "estimated tax" means the amount which a taxpayer estimates to be the tax imposed upon it by part one or two of this subchapter upon the basis of its net income for the current calendar year, less the amount which it estimates to be the sum of any credits allowable against the tax.

3. A declaration of estimated tax shall be filed on or before June fifteenth of the calendar year upon the net income of which the tax is based, except that if the requirements of subdivision one are first met:

(a) after June first and before October second of such calendar year, the declaration shall be filed on or before October fifteenth, or

(b) after October first of such calendar year, the declaration shall be filed on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this subdivision, no declaration need be filed prior to September eleventh, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

4. A taxpayer may amend a declaration under regulations of the commissioner of finance.

5. If, on or before February fifteenth of the succeeding year, a taxpayer files its return for the calendar year upon the net income of which the declaration is required to be based, and pays therewith the balance, if any, of the full amount of the tax shown to be due on the return,

(a) such return shall be considered as its declaration if no declaration was required to be filed during such calendar year, but is otherwise required to be filed on or before January fifteenth of the succeeding year pursuant to subdivision three,

(b) such return shall be considered as an amendment permitted by subdivision four to be filed on or before January fifteenth if the tax shown on the return is greater than the estimated tax shown on a declaration previously made.

6. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed three months, for the filing of any declaration required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require.

7. Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by part one or two of this subchapter shall pay with the return of tax, if any, required to be filed upon the basis of its net income for the preceding calendar year, or with an application for extension of the time for filing such return, an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the preceding year's tax, if such preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars.

8. The estimated tax with respect to which a declaration for such calendar year is required pursuant to this section shall be paid as follows:

(a) If the declaration is filed on or before June fifteenth, the estimated tax shown thereon, after applying thereto the amount if any, paid during the same calendar year pursuant to subdivision seven, shall be paid in three equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, one shall be paid on the following October fifteenth, and one on the following January fifteenth.

(b) If the declaration is filed after June fifteenth, and not after October fifteenth of such calendar year, and is not required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of such calendar year, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same calendar year pursuant to subdivision seven, shall be paid in two equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration and one shall be paid on the following January fifteenth.

(c) If the declaration is filed after October fifteenth of such calendar year, and is not required to be filed on or before October fifteenth of such calendar year, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid in respect of such calendar year pursuant to subdivision seven, shall be paid in full at the time of the filing of the declaration.

(d) If the declaration is filed after the time prescribed therefor, or after the expiration of any extension of time therefor, paragraphs (b) and (c) of this subdivision shall not apply, and there shall be paid at the time of such filing all installments of estimated tax payable at or before such time, and the remaining installments shall be paid at the times at which, and in the amounts in which, they would have been payable if the declaration had been filed when due.

9. If any amendment of a declaration is filed, the remaining installments, if any, shall be ratably increased or decreased (as the case may be) to reflect any increase or decrease in the estimated tax by reason of such amendment, and if any amendment is made after October fifteenth of the calendar year, any increase in the estimated tax by reason thereof shall be paid at the time of making such amendment.

10. Any amount paid pursuant to subdivision seven shall be applied after payment as a first installment against the estimated tax of the taxpayer shown on the declaration next required to be filed pursuant to this section or, if no declaration of estimated tax is required to be filed by the taxpayer pursuant to this section, any such amount shall be considered a payment on account of the tax shown on the return of tax required to be filed by the taxpayer upon the basis of its net income for the calendar year during which such amount was paid.

11. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-679 of this chapter or of section three-a of the general municipal law, if any amount paid pursuant to subdivision seven, exceeds the tax shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer upon the basis of its net income for the calendar year during which the amount was paid, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount by which the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision exceeds such tax, at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of payment of the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision to March fifteenth of the succeeding calendar year, provided, however, that no interest shall be allowed or paid under this subdivision if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

12. As used in this section, "the preceding year's tax" means the tax imposed upon the taxpayer by part one or two of this subchapter upon the basis of its net income for the preceding calendar year, or, for purposes of computing the first installment of estimated tax when an application has been filed for extension of time for filing the return required to be filed for such preceding calendar year, the amount properly estimated pursuant to section 11-635 of this part as the tax imposed upon the basis of its net income for such calendar year.

13. This section shall apply to an income period of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

14. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed six months, for payment of any installment of estimated tax required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require, including the furnishing of a bond or other security by the taxpayer in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted, provided however, that interest at the rate of six per centum per annum for the period of the extension shall be charged and collected on the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted under this subdivision.

15. A taxpayer may elect to pay any installment of estimated tax prior to the date prescribed in this section for payment thereof.

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-638 General definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) The word "taxpayer" means a corporation or association subject to a tax imposed by this part.

(b) The phrase "taxable year" means the taxpayer's taxable year for federal income tax purposes, or the part thereof during which the taxpayer is subject to the tax imposed by this part.

(c) The term "international banking facility" shall mean an international banking facility located in New York state and shall have the same meaning as is set forth in the New York state banking law or regulations of the New York state banking department or as is set forth in the laws of the United States or regulations of the board of governors of the federal reserve system.

(d) The term "subsidiary" means a corporation or association of which over fifty percent of the number of shares of stock entitling the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is owned by the taxpayer.

(e) The term "subsidiary capital" means investments in the stock of subsidiaries and any indebtedness from subsidiaries, exclusive of accounts receivable acquired in the ordinary course of trade or business for services rendered or for sales of property held primarily for sale to customers, whether or not evidenced by written instrument, on which interest is not claimed and deducted by the subsidiary for purposes of taxation under this part or subchapter two of this chapter, provided, however, there shall be deducted from subsidiary capital any liabilities payable by their terms on demand or within one year from the date incurred, other than loans or advances outstanding for more than a year as of any date during the year covered by the return, which are attributable to subsidiary capital.

(f) The term "financial holding company" means a corporation that, pursuant to subsection (1) of section 4 of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended, has filed with the federal reserve board a written declaration that the corporation elects to be a financial holding company and whose election has not been found to be ineffective by the federal reserve board.

§ 11-639 Imposition of tax.

(a) For the privilege of doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity, a tax, computed under section 11-643 of this part, is hereby annually imposed on every banking corporation for each of its taxable years, or any part thereof, beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three.

(b) In the case of a taxpayer whose taxable year is other than a calendar year, there is hereby imposed a tax for the privilege of doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity for the period beginning January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three and extending through the subsequent part of its first such taxable year ending after such date. Such tax shall be computed under section 11-643 of this part on the basis of such taxpayer's entire net income, or other applicable basis as the case may be, for such period and shall be paid with a return which shall be separately filed with the department of finance not later than the fifteenth day of the third month succeeding the close of such period. The requirements of sections 11-644 and 11-645, relating to declarations and payments of estimated tax, except subdivision (a) of section 11-645, shall not be applicable to the tax imposed by this subdivision.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The NYC Banking Corporation Tax, Admin. Code §11-639(a), tracks the language of Model Law enabling cities to tax financial corporations. While it does not employ the words "franchise tax" it functions as such a tax. The NYC Banking Corporation Tax is not to be viewed as an income tax.-Matter of Bankers Trust N.Y. Corp. v. Dep't of Finance, 171 AD2d 550 [1991].

¶ 2. Federal law, 31 U.S.C. § 3124(a), exempts United States Government obligations and interest from state or municipal taxation. There is an exception, however, for nondiscriminatory franchise taxes. The court held that the New York City Corporation Tax, which is imposed on corporations for the privilege of doing business in the City, is a franchise tax for this purpose. Thus, the corporation tax can be imposed with respect to income received by the taxpayer from government obligations. Bankers Trust New York Corp. v. Department of Finance of the City of New York, 79 N.Y.2d 457, 583 N.Y.S.2d 821 (1992).

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-640 Banking, corporation defined; exempt corporations.

(a) For the purpose of this part, a banking corporation means: (1) every corporation or association organized under the laws of this state which is authorized to do a banking business or which is doing a banking business;

(2) every corporation or association organized under the laws of any other state or country which is doing a banking business;

(3) every national banking association organized under the authority of the United States which is doing a banking business;

(4) every federal savings bank which is doing a banking business;

(5) every federal savings and loan association which is doing a banking business;

(6) a production credit association organized under the federal farm credit act of nineteen hundred thirty-three, which is doing a banking business and all of whose stock held by the federal production credit corporation has been retired;

(7) every other corporation or association organized under the authority of the United States which is doing a banking business;

(8) the mortgage facilities corporation created by chapter five hundred sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred fifty-six;

(9) any corporation sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a corporation or corporations subject to article three-a of the banking law, or registered under the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended, or registered as a savings and loan holding company (but excluding a diversified savings and loan holding company) under the federal national housing act, as amended, or by a corporation or corporations described in any of the foregoing paragraphs of this subdivision, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in a business, regardless of where conducted, which (i) might be lawfully conducted by a corporation subject to article three of the banking law or by a national banking association or (ii) is so closely related to banking or managing or controlling banks as to be a proper incident thereto, as set forth in paragraph eight of subsection (c) of section four of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended.

(b) Banking business defined. The words "banking business" as used in this section mean such business as a corporation or association may be created to do under article three, three-B, five, five-A, six or ten of the banking law or any business which a corporation or association is authorized by such article to do. However, with respect to a national banking association organized under the authority of the United States, a federal savings bank, a federal savings and loan association or a production credit association, the words "banking business" as used in this section mean such business as a national banking association, federal savings bank, federal savings and loan association or production credit association, respectively, may be created to do or is authorized to do under the laws of the United States or this state. The words "banking business" as used in this section shall also mean such business as any corporation or association organized under the authority of the United States or organized under the laws of any other state or country has authority to do which is substantially similar to the business which a corporation or association may be created to do under article three, three-B, five, five-A, six or ten of the banking law or any business which a corporation or association is authorized by such article to do.

(c) Exempt corporations. A trust company all of whose capital stock is owned by twenty or more savings banks organized under New York law shall be exempt from the tax under this part.

(d) Corporations taxable under subchapter two. Notwithstanding the provisions of this part, all corporations of classes now or heretofore taxable under subchapter two of this chapter shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two, except: (1) corporations orga- nized under article five-a of the banking law; (2) corporations subject to article three-A of the banking law, or registered under the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended, or registered as a savings and loan holding company (but excluding a diversified savings and loan holding company) under the federal national housing act, as amended, which make a combined return under the provisions of subdivision (f) of section 11-646; and (3) banking corporations described in paragraph nine of subdivision (a) of section 11-640. Provided, however, that a corporation described in paragraph three of this subdivision which was subject to the tax imposed by subchapter two of this chapter for its taxable year ending during nineteen hundred eighty-four may, on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions) for its taxable year ending during nineteen hundred eighty-five, make a one time election to continue to be taxable under such subchapter two. Such election shall continue to be in effect until revoked by the taxpayer. In no event shall such election or revocation be for a part of a taxable year.

(e) Corporations taxable under article thirty-three of the tax law. Except for corporations described in subsection (1) of section fourteen hundred fifty-three of the tax law, corporations liable to tax under article thirty-three of the tax law shall not be subject to tax under this part.

(f) A banking corporation organized under the laws of a country, or any political subdivision thereof, other than the United States shall not be deemed to be doing business in the city under this subchapter if its activities in the city are limited solely to (1) investing or trading in stocks and securities for its own account within the meaning of clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2) of subsection (b) of section eight hundred sixty-four of the internal revenue code or (2) investing or trading in commodities for its own account within the meaning of clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (2) of subsection (b) of section eight hundred sixty-four of the internal revenue code or (3) any combination of activities described in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision.

(g) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand, shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one. Provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with such subdivision (d).

For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this chapter for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section 368 of the internal revenue code of 1986, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this chapter. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph two shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand one, provided that the stock ownership requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section 46 of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

(h) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand one and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand one, shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand one and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand one, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three. Provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section.

For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this chapter for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand one but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand one if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand one but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand one if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section 368 of the internal revenue code of 1986, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this chapter. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand one and before January first, two thousand three, provided that the stock ownership requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section 46 of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

(i) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand three and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand three, shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand three and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand three, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four. Provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section.

For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this chapter for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand three but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand three if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand three but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand three if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section 368 of the internal revenue code of 1986, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this chapter. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand three and before January first, two thousand four, provided that the stock ownership requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section 46 of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

(j) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand four and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand four, shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand four and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand four, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six. Provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section.

For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this chapter for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand four but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand four if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand four but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand four if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section three hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this chapter. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand four and before January first, two thousand six, provided that the stock ownership requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section forty-six of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

(k) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act.

(1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand six and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand six, shall continue to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand six and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand six, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight. Provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section.

For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this part for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand six but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand six if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand six but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand six if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section 368 of the internal revenue code of 1986, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this part. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand six and before January first, two thousand eight, provided that the stock ownership requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section 46 of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

(l) Transitional provisions relating to the enactment and implementation of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley act. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand eight and was subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand eight, shall continue to be taxable under such subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any taxable year during which such corporation is a banking corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a banking corporation or corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand eight and was subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand eight, shall continue to be taxable under this subchapter for all taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten or in which the corporation satisfies the requirements for a corporation to elect to be taxable under this subchapter. Provided further, that nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit a corporation that elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section to be taxable under subchapter two of this chapter from revoking that election in accordance with subdivision (d) of this section. For purposes of this paragraph, a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision four of section 11-605 of this chapter for such taxable year and a corporation shall be considered to be subject to tax under this subchapter for a taxable year if such corporation was not a taxpayer but was properly included in a combined report filed pursuant to subdivision (f) or (g) of section 11-646 of this part for such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand eight but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under subchapter two of this chapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand eight if such corporation would have been subject to tax under such subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year. A corporation that was in existence before January first, two thousand eight but first becomes a taxpayer in a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten, shall be considered for purposes of this paragraph to have been subject to tax under this subchapter for its last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand eight if such corporation would have been subject to tax under this subchapter for such taxable year if it had been a taxpayer during such taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this section, a corporation formed on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten may elect to be subject to tax under this subchapter or under subchapter two of this chapter for its first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten in which either (i) sixty-five percent or more of its voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a financial holding company, provided the corporation whose voting stock is so owned or controlled is principally engaged in activities that are described in section 4(k)(4) or 4(k)(5) of the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended and the regulations promulgated pursuant to the authority of such section or (ii) it is a financial subsidiary. An election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation described in paragraphs one through eight of subdivision (a) of this section or in subdivision (e) of this section. In addition, an election under this paragraph may not be made by a corporation that is a party to a reorganization, as defined in subsection (a) of section 368 of the internal revenue code of 1986, as amended, of a corporation described in paragraph one of this subdivision if both corporations were sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by the same interests at the time of the reorganization.

An election under this paragraph must be made by the taxpayer on or before the due date for filing its return (determined with regard to extensions of time for filing) for the applicable taxable year. The election to be taxed under subchapter two of this chapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-605 of this chapter and the election to be taxed under this subchapter shall be made by the taxpayer by filing the return required pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-646 of this part. Any election made pursuant to this paragraph shall be irrevocable and shall apply to each subsequent taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand eight and before January first, two thousand ten, provided that the stock ownership and activities requirements described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph are met or such corporation described in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph continues as a financial subsidiary.

(3) For purposes of this section, a financial subsidiary means a corporation (i) sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly by a banking corporation described in paragraph one, two or three of subdivision (a) of this section and (ii) is described in section 5136A(g) of the revised statutes of the United States or section 46 of the federal deposit insurance act. For purposes of this subchapter, the term "banking corporation" shall include a corporation electing to be taxed under this subchapter pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision for so long as such election shall be in effect.

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-641 Computations of entire net income.

(a) Entire net income means total net income from all sources which shall be the same as the entire taxable income (but not alternative minimum taxable income)

(1) which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department, or

(2) which the taxpayer, in the case of a corporation which is exempt from federal income tax (other than the tax on unrelated business taxable income imposed under section 511 of the internal revenue code) but which is subject to tax under this part, would have been required to report to the United States treasury department but for such exemption, or

(3) which, in the case of a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States as determined under section 882 of the internal revenue code, or

(4) which the taxpayer would have been required to report to the United States treasury department if the taxpayer had not elected to be taxed under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code, or

(5) which the taxpayer would have been required to report to the United States treasury department if no election had been made to treat the taxpayer as a qualified subchapter s subsidiary under paragraph three of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred sixty-one of the internal revenue code, subject to the modifications and adjustments hereinafter provided.

(b) Entire net income shall be computed without the deduction or exclusion of:

(1) (A) in the case of a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, (i) any part of any income from dividends or interest on any kind of stock, securities or indebtedness, but only if such income is treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States pursuant to section eight hundred sixty-four of the internal revenue code, (ii) any income exempt from federal taxable income under any treaty obligation of the United States, but only if such income would be treated as effectively connected in the absence of such exemption, provided that such treaty obligation does not preclude the taxation of such income by a state, or (iii) any income which would be treated as effectively connected if such income were not excluded from gross income pursuant to subsection (a) of section one hundred three of the internal revenue code; (B) in the case of any other corporation, any part of any income from dividends or interest on any kind of stock, securities or indebtedness; (C) except that for purposes of subparagraphs (A) and (B) above there shall be excluded any amounts treated as dividends pursuant to section seventy-eight of the internal revenue code and any amounts described in paragraphs eleven and twelve of subdivision (e) of this section;

(2) taxes on or measured by income or profits paid or accrued within the taxable year to the United States, or any of its possessions or to any foreign country and taxes imposed under article nine, nine-A, thirteen-A or thirty-two of the tax law and any tax imposed under this part or subchapter two of this chapter;

(3) any net operating loss deduction for the taxable year allowable for federal income tax purposes;

(4) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer claimed as a deduction in computing its federal taxable income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(6) in the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, the amount allowable as a deduction determined under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code; (7) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph seven of subdivision (e) of this section applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in such paragraph seven attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in paragraph six of this subdivision attributable to such property;

(8) Repealed.

(9) Repealed.

(10) Repealed

(11) in the case of a taxpayer subject to the provisions of section 585(c) of the internal revenue code, the amount allowed as a deduction pursuant to section 166 of such code; and

(12) for taxpayers subject to the provisions of subdivision (i) of this section, twenty percent of the excess of (A) the amount determined pursuant to such subdivision (i) over (B) the amount which would have been allowable had such institution maintained its bad debt reserve for all taxable years on the basis of actual experience.

(13) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property defined in subdivision (p) of this section, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), the amount allowable as a deduction under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code.

(14) for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, the amount allowable as a deduction under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code.

(15) The amount of any deduction allowed pursuant to section one hundred ninety-nine of the internal revenue code.

(16) The amount of any federal deduction for taxes imposed under article twenty-three of the tax law.

(c) (1) Except as otherwise provided in paragraphs two and three hereof, in the case of the sale or exchange of property by a taxpayer which has been subject to part one or two of this subchapter three where the property has a higher adjusted basis for city tax purposes than for federal tax purposes, there shall be allowed as a deduction from entire net income, the portion of any gain or loss on such sale which equals the difference in such basis.

(2) In case of property of a taxpayer, other than a savings bank, acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and disposed of thereafter, the computation of entire net income shall be modified as follows:

(i) no gain shall be deemed to have been derived if either the cost or the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, exceeds the value realized;

(ii) no loss shall be deemed to have been sustained if either the cost or the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, is less than the value realized;

(iii) where both the cost and the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, are less than the value realized, the basis for computing gain shall be the cost or the fair market price or value on such date, whichever is higher;

(iv) where both the cost and the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, are in excess of the value realized, the basis for computing loss shall be the cost or the fair market price or value on such date, whichever is lower.

(3) In case of property of a savings bank acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and disposed of thereafter, in computing entire net income the basis of such property shall be the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six.

(d) Entire net income shall not include any refund or credit of a tax for which no exclusion or deduction was allowed in determining the taxpayer's entire net income under this subchapter or subchapter two of this chapter, or imposed by article twenty-three of the tax law for any prior year.

(e) There shall be allowed as a deduction in determining entire net income, to the extent not deductible in determining federal taxable income:

(1) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the income from which is subject to tax under this part but exempt from federal income tax,

(2) ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year attributable to income which is subject to tax under this part but exempt from federal income tax,

(3) the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is subject to tax under this part but exempt from federal income tax,

(4) that portion of wages or salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year for which a deduction is not allowed pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred eighty C of the internal revenue code,

(5) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which is included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four,

(7) in the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, and provided a deduction has not been excluded from entire net income pursuant to paragraph four of subdivision (b) of this section, an amount with respect to property which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code equal to the amount allowable as the depreciation deduction under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to property placed in service on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty,

(8) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph seven of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in paragraph six of subdivision (b) of this section attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in paragraph seven of this subdivision attributable to such property,

(9) any amount of money or other property received from the federal deposit insurance corporation pursuant to subsection (c) of section thirteen of the federal deposit insurance act, as amended, regardless of whether any note or other instrument is issued in exchange therefor,

(10) any amount of money or other property received from the federal savings and loan insurance corporation pursuant to paragraph one, two, three or four of subsection (f) of section four hundred six of the federal national housing act, as amended, regardless of whether any note or other instrument is issued in exchange therefor,

(11) (i) seventeen percent of interest income from subsidiary capital, and

(ii) sixty percent of dividend income from subsidiary capital, and

(iii) sixty percent of the amount by which gains from subsidiary capital exceed losses from subsidiary capital, to the extent such gains and losses were taken into account in determining the entire taxable income referred to in subdivision (a) of this section,

(12) twenty-two and one-half percent of interest income on obligations of New York state, or of any political subdivision thereof, or on obligations of the United States, other than obligations held for resale in connection with regular trading activities,

(13) in the case of a taxpayer which recaptures its balance of the reserve for losses on loans for federal income tax purposes pursuant to section 585(c) of the internal revenue code, any amount which is included in federal taxable income pursuant to section 585(c) of such code,

(14) in the case of a taxpayer subject to the provisions of section 585(c) of the internal revenue code, any amount which is included in federal taxable income as a result of a recovery of a loan.

(15) in the case of a taxpayer which is currently or has previously been subject to subdivision (h) of this section, any amount which is included in federal taxable income pursuant to section 593(e)(2) of the internal revenue code, and any other amount so included as a result of a recovery of or termination from the use of a bad debt reserve as defined in section 593 of such code as in existence on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five as a result of federal legislation enacted after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five.

(f) Provided the taxpayer has not made an election pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section 11-642 of this part, there shall be allowed as a deduction in determining entire net income, to the extent not deductible in determining federal taxable income, the adjusted eligible net income of an international banking facility determined as follows:

(1) The eligible net income of an international banking facility shall be the amount remaining after subtracting from the eligible gross income the applicable expenses.

(2) Eligible gross income shall be the gross income derived by an international banking facility from:

(A) making, arranging for, placing or servicing loans to foreign persons, provided, however, that in the case of a foreign person which is an individual, or which is a foreign branch of a domestic corporation (other than a bank), or which is a foreign corporation or foreign partnership which is eighty per centum or more owned or controlled, either directly or indirectly, by one or more domestic corporations (other than banks), domestic partnerships or resident individuals, substantially all the proceeds of the loan are intended for use outside of the United States;

(B) making or placing deposits with foreign persons which are banks or foreign branches of banks (including foreign subsidiaries or foreign branches of the taxpayer) or with other international banking facilities; or

(C) entering into foreign exchange trading or hedging transactions related to any of the transactions described in this paragraph.

(3) Applicable expenses shall be any expenses or other deductions attributable, directly or indirectly, to the eligible gross income described in paragraph two of this subdivision.

(4) Adjusted eligible net income shall be determined by subtracting from eligible net income the ineligible funding amount, and by subtracting from the amount then remaining the floor amount.

(5) The ineligible funding amount shall be the amount, if any, determined by multiplying eligible net income by a fraction, the numerator of which is the average aggregate amount for the taxable year of all liabilities, including deposits, and other sources of funds of the international banking facility which were not owed to or received from foreign persons, and the denominator of which is the average aggregate amount for the taxable year of all liabilities, including deposits and other sources of funds of the international banking facility.

(6) The floor amount shall be the amount, if any, determined by multiplying the amount remaining after subtracting the ineligible funding amount from the eligible net income by a fraction, not greater than one, which is determined as follows:

(A) The numerator shall be

(i) the percentage, as set forth in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph, of the average aggregate amount of the taxpayer's loans to foreign persons and deposits with foreign persons which are banks or foreign branches of banks (including foreign subsidiaries or foreign branches of the taxpayer), which loans and deposits were recorded in the financial accounts of the taxpayer for its branches, agencies and offices within the state for taxable years nineteen hundred seventy-five, nineteen hundred seventy-six and nineteen hundred seventy-seven, minus

(ii) the average aggregate amount of such loans and such deposits for the taxable year of the taxpayer (other than such loans and deposits of an international banking facility), provided, however, that in no case shall the amount determined in this clause exceed the amount determined in clause (i) of this subparagraph; and

(B) The denominator shall be the average aggregate amount of the loans to foreign persons and deposits with foreign persons which are banks or foreign branches of banks (including foreign subsidiaries or foreign branches of the taxpayer), which loans and deposits were recorded in the financial accounts of the taxpayer's international banking facility for the taxable year.

(C) The percentage shall be one hundred percent for the first taxable year in which the taxpayer establishes an international banking facility and for the next succeeding four taxable years. The percentage shall be eighty percent for the fifth, sixty percent for the sixth, forty percent for the seventh, and twenty percent for the eighth taxable year next succeeding the year such taxpayer establishes such international banking facility, and zero in the ninth succeeding year and thereafter.

(7) In the event adjusted eligible net income is a loss, such loss shall be added to entire net income.

(8) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "foreign person" means:

(A) an individual who is not a resident of the United States,

(B) a foreign corporation, a foreign partnership or a foreign trust, as defined in section seventy-seven hundred one of the internal revenue code, other than a domestic branch thereof,

(C) a foreign branch of a domestic corporation (including the taxpayer),

(D) a foreign government or an international organization or an agency of either, or

(E) an international banking facility.

For purposes of this paragraph, the terms "foreign" and "domestic" shall have the same meaning as set forth in section seventy-seven hundred one of the internal revenue code.

(g) Entire net income shall be computed without regard to the reduction in the basis of property that is required by section three hundred sixty-two of the internal revenue code, because of any amount of money or other property received from the federal deposit insurance corporation pursuant to subsection (c) of section thirteen of the federal deposit insurance act, as amended, or from the federal savings and loan insurance corporation pursuant to paragraph one, two, three or four of subsection (f) of section four hundred six of the federal national housing act, as amended.

(h) (1) For purposes of this subdivision, a "thrift institution" is a banking corporation which satisfies the requirements of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph.

(A) Such banking corporation must be (i) a banking corporation as defined in paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part created or authorized to do business under article six or ten of the banking law, (ii) a banking corporation as defined in paragraph two or seven of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part which is doing a business substantially similar to the business which a corporation or association may be created to do under article six or ten of the banking law or any business which a corporation or association is authorized by such article to do, or (iii) a banking corporation as defined in paragraph four or five of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part.

(B) At least sixty percent of the amount of the total assets (at the close of the taxable year) of such banking corporation must consist of (i) cash; (ii) obligations of the United States or of a state or political subdivision thereof, and stock or obligations of a corporation which is an instrumentality of the United States or of a state or political subdivision thereof, but not including obligations the interest on which is excludable from gross income under section 103 of the internal revenue code; (iii) loans secured by a deposit or share of a member; (iv) loans secured by an interest in real property which is (or from the proceeds of the loan, will become) residential real property or real property used primarily for church purposes, loans made for the improvement of residential real property or real property used primarily for church purposes, provided that for purposes of this clause, residential real property shall include single or multifamily dwellings, facilities in residential developments dedicated to public use or property used on a nonprofit basis for residents, and mobile homes not used on a transient basis; (v) property acquired through the liquidation of defaulted loans described in clause (iv) of this subparagraph; (vi) any regular or residual interest in a REMIC, as such term is defined in section 860D of the internal revenue code and any regular interest in a FASIT, as such term is defined in section 860L of the internal revenue code, but only in the proportion which the assets of such REMIC or FASIT consist of property described in any of the preceding clauses of this subparagraph, except that if ninety-five percent or more of the assets of such REMIC or FASIT are assets described in clauses (i) through (v) of this subparagraph, the entire interest in the REMIC or FASIT shall qualify; (vii) any mortgage-backed security which represents ownership of a fractional undivided interest in a trust, the assets of which consist primarily of mortgage loans, provided that the real property which serves as security for the loans is (or from the proceeds of the loan, will become) the type of property described in clause (iv) of this subparagraph and any collateralized mortgage obligation, the security for which consists primarily of mortgage loans, provided that the real property which serves as security for the loans is (or from the proceeds of the loan, will become) the type of property described in clause (iv) of this subparagraph; (viii) certificates of deposit in, or obligations of, a corporation organized under a state law which specifically authorizes such corporation to insure the deposits or share accounts of member associations; (ix) loans secured by an interest in real property located within any urban renewal area to be developed for predominantly residential use under an urban renewal plan approved by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development under part A or part B of title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, or located within any area covered by a program eligible for assistance under section 103 of the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, as amended, and loans made for the improvement of any such real property; (x) loans secured by an interest in educational, health, or welfare institutions or facilities, including structures designed or used primarily for residential purposes for students, residents, and persons under care, employees, or members of the staff of such institutions or facilities; (xi) loans made for the payment of expenses of college or university education or vocational training; (xii) property used by the taxpayer in the conduct of business which consists principally of acquiring the savings of the public and investing in loans; (xiii) loans for which the taxpayer is the creditor and which are wholly secured by loans described in clause (iv) of this subparagraph, but excluding loans for which the taxpayer is the creditor to any banking corporation described in paragraphs one through seven of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part or a real estate investment trust, as such term is defined in section 856 of the internal revenue code, and excluding loans which are treated by the taxpayer as subsidiary capital for purposes of the deductions provided by paragraph eleven of subdivision (e) of this section; (xiv) small business loans or small farm loans located in low-income or moderate-income census tracts or block numbering areas delineated by the United States bureau of the census in the most recent decennial census; and (xv) community development loans or community development investments. For purposes of clause (xv) of this subparagraph, a "community development loan" is a loan that (1) has as its primary purpose community development, (II) has not been reported or collected by the taxpayer for consideration in the taxpayer's community reinvestment act evaluation pursuant to the federal community reinvestment act of 1977, as amened, or section twenty-eight-b of the banking law as a mortgage loan described in clause (iv) of this subparagraph or a small business loan, small farm loan, or consumer loan, (III) benefits the taxpayer's assessment area or areas for purposes of the federal community reinvestment act of 1977, as amended or section twenty-eight-b of the banking law or a broader statewide or regional area that includes the taxpayer's assessment area, and (IV) is identified in the taxpayer's books and records as a community development loan for purposes of its community reinvestment act evaluation pursuant to the federal community reinvestment act of 1977, as amended or section twenty-eight-b of the banking law. For purposes of clause (xv) of this subparagraph, a "community development investment" is an investment in a security which has as its primary purpose community development and which is identified in the taxpayer's books and records as a qualified investment for purposes of its community reinvestment act evaluation pursuant to the federal community reinvestment act of 1977, as amended or section twenty-eight-b of the banking law. For purposes of the two preceding sentences, "community development" means (I) affordable housing (including multifamily rental housing for low-income or moderate-income individuals); (II) community services targeted to low-income or moderate-income individuals; (III) activities that promote economic development by financing businesses or farms that meet the size eligibility standards of the small business administration's development company or small business investment company programs or have gross annual revenues of one million dollars or less; (IV) activities that revitalize or stabilize low-income or moderate-income census tracts or block numbering areas delineated by the United States bureau of the census in the most recent decennial census; or (V) activities that seek to prevent defaults and/or foreclosures in loans included in items (I) and (III) of this sentence.

(C) At the election of the taxpayer, the percentage specified in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be applied on the basis of the average assets outstanding during the taxable year, in lieu of the close of the taxable year. For purposes of clause (iv) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, if a multifamily structure securing a loan is used in part for nonresidential use purposes, the entire loan is deemed a residential real property loan if the planned residential use exceeds eighty percent of the property's planned use (determined as of the time the loan is made). Also, for purposes of clause (iv) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, loans made to finance the acquisition or development of land shall be deemed to be loans secured by an interest in residential real property if there is a reasonable assurance that the property will become residential real property within a period of three years from the date of acquisition of such land; but this sentence shall not apply for any taxable year unless, within such three year period, such land becomes residential real property. For purposes of determining whether any interest in a REMIC qualifies under clause (vi) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, any regular interest in another REMIC held by such REMIC shall be treated as a loan described in a preceding clause under principles similar to the principle of such clause (vi); except that if such REMICS are part of a tiered structure, they shall be treated as one REMIC for purposes of such clause (vi).

(2) A thrift institution must exclude from the computation of its entire net income any amount allowed as a deduction for federal income tax purposes pursuant to section 166, 585 or 593 of the internal revenue code.

(3) A thrift institution shall be allowed as a deduction in computing entire net income the amount of a reasonable addition to its reserve for bad debts. This amount shall be equal to the sum of

(A) the amount determined to be a reasonable addition to the reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans, computed in the same manner as is provided with respect to additions to the reserves for losses on loans of banks under paragraph one of subdivision (i) of this section, plus

(B) the amount determined by the taxpayer to be a reasonable addition to the reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans, but such amount shall not exceed the amount determined under paragraph four or five of this subdivision, whichever is the larger, but the amount determined under this subparagraph shall in no case be greater than the larger of

(i) the amount determined under paragraph five of this subdivision, or

(ii) the amount which, when added to the amount determined under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, equals the amount by which twelve percent of the total deposits or withdrawable accounts of depositors of the taxpayer at the close of such year exceeds the sum of its surplus, undivided profits and reserves at the beginning of such year (taking into account any portion thereof attributable to the period before the first taxable year beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one).

The taxpayer must include in its tax return for each year a computation of the amount of the addition to the bad debt reserve determined under this subdivision. The use of a particular method in the return for a taxable year is not a binding election by the taxpayer.

(4) (A) Subject to subparagraphs (B) and (C) of this paragraph, the amount determined under this paragraph for the taxable year shall be an amount equal to thirty-two percent of the entire net income for such year.

(B) The amount determined under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the amount determined under subparagraph (A) of paragraph three of this subdivision.

(C) The amount determined under this paragraph shall not exceed the amount necessary to increase the balance at the close of the taxable year of the reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans to six percent of such loans outstanding at such time.

(D) For purposes of this paragraph, entire net income shall be computed

(i) by excluding from income any amount included therein by reason of subparagraph (B) of paragraph eight of this subdivision,

(ii) without regard to any deduction allowable for any addition to the reserve for bad debts, and

(iii) by excluding from income an amount equal to the net gain for the taxable year arising from the sale or exchange of stock of a corporation or of obligations the interest on which is excludable from gross income under section 103 of the internal revenue code.

(iv) Whenever a thrift institution is properly includable in a combined return, entire net income, for purposes of this paragraph, shall not exceed the lesser of the thrift institution's separately computed entire net income as adjusted pursuant to clauses (i) through (iii) of this subparagraph or the combined group's entire net income as adjusted pursuant to clauses (i) through (iii) of this subparagraph.

(5) The amount determined under this paragraph for the taxable year shall be computed in the same manner as is provided under paragraph one of subdivision (i) of this section with respect to additions to reserves for losses on loans of banks. Provided, however, that for any taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-five, for purposes of such computation, the base year shall be the later of (A) the last taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-five or (B) the last taxable year before the current year in which the amount determined under the provisions of subparagraph (B) of paragraph three of this subdivision exceeded the amount allowable under this paragraph.

(6) (A) (i) Each taxpayer described in paragraph one of this subdivision shall establish and maintain a New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans, a New York reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans and a supplemental reserve for losses on loans. Such reserves shall be maintained for all subsequent taxable years that this subdivision applies to the taxpayer.

(ii) For purposes of this subdivision, such reserves shall be treated as reserves for bad debts, but no deduction shall be allowed for any addition to the supplemental reserve for losses on loans.

(iii) Except as noted below, the balances of each such reserve at the beginning of the first day of the first taxable year beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five shall be the same as the balances maintained for federal income tax purposes in accordance with section 593(c)(1) of the internal revenue code as in existence on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five for the last day of the last tax year beginning before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-six. A taxpayer which maintained a New York reserve for loan losses on qualifying real property loans in the last tax year beginning before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-six shall have a continuation of such New York reserve balance in lieu of the amount determined under the preceding sentence.

(iv) Notwithstanding clause (ii) of this subparagraph, any amount allocated to the reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans pursuant to section 593(c)(5) of the internal revenue code as in effect immediately prior to the enactment of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 shall not be treated as a reserve for bad debts for any purpose other than determining the amount referred to in subparagraph (B) of paragraph three of this subdivision, and for such purpose such amount shall be treated as remaining in such reserve.

(B) Any debt becoming worthless or partially worthless in respect of a qualifying real property loan shall be charged to the reserve for losses on such loans and any debt becoming worthless or partially worthless in respect of a nonqualifying loan shall be charged to the reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans, except that any such debt may, at the election of the taxpayer, be charged in whole or in part to the supplemental reserve for losses on loans.

(C) The New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans shall be increased by the amount determined under subparagraph (B) of paragraph three of this subdivision and the New York reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans shall be increased by the amount determined under subparagraph (A) of paragraph three of this subdivision.

(7) (A) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "qualifying real property loan" shall mean any loan secured by an interest in improved real property or secured by an interest in real property which is to be improved out of the proceeds of the loan. Such term shall include any mortgage-backed security which represents ownership of a fractional undivided interest in a trust, the assets of which consist primarily of mortgage loans, provided that the real property which serves as security for the loans is (or from the proceeds of the loan, will become) the type of property described in clauses (i) through (v) of subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subdivision. However, such term shall not include: (i) any loan evidenced by a security (as defined in section 165(g)(2)(C) of the internal revenue code); (ii) any loan, whether or not evidenced by a security (as defined in such section 165(g)(2)(C)), the primary obligor of which is (I) a government or political subdivision or instrumentality thereof, (II) a banking corporation, or (III) any corporation sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by the taxpayer or by a banking corporation or bank holding company that owns or controls, directly or indirectly, sixty-five percent or more of the voting stock of the taxpayer; (iii) any loan, to the extent secured by a deposit in or share of the taxpayer; or (iv) any loan which, within a sixty-day period beginning in one taxable year of the creditor and ending in its next taxable year, is made or acquired and then repaid or disposed of, unless the transactions by which such loan was made or acquired and then repaid or disposed of are established to be for bona fide business purposes.

(B) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "nonqualifying loan" shall mean any loan which is not a qualifying real property loan.

(C) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "loan" shall mean debt, as the term "debt" is used in section 166 of the internal revenue code.

(D) A regular or residual interest in a REMIC, as such term is defined in section 860D of the internal revenue code, shall be treated as a qualifying real property loan, except that, if less than ninety-five percent of the assets of such REMIC are qualifying real property loans (determined as if the taxpayer held the assets of the REMIC), such interest shall be so treated only in the proportion which the assets of such REMIC consist of such loans. For purposes of determining whether any interest in a REMIC qualifies under the preceding sentence, any interest in another REMIC held by such REMIC shall be treated as a qualifying real property loan under principles similar to the principles of the preceding sentence, except that if such REMICS are part of a tiered structure, they shall be treated as one REMIC for purposes of this paragraph.

(8) (A) Any distribution of property (as defined in section 317(a) of the internal revenue code) by a thrift institution to a shareholder with respect to its stock, if such distribution is not allowable as a deduction under section 591 of such code, shall be treated as made

(i) first out of its New York earnings and profits accumulated in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one, to the extent thereof,

(ii) then out of the New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans, to the extent additions to such reserve exceed the additions which would have been allowed under paragraph five of this subdivision,

(iii) then out of the supplemental reserve for losses on loans, to the extent thereof,

(iv) then out of such other accounts as may be proper.

This subparagraph shall apply in the case of any distribution in redemption of stock or in partial or complete liquidation of a thrift institution, except that any such distribution shall be treated as made first out of the amount referred to in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, second out of the amount referred to in clause (iii) of this subparagraph, third out of the amount referred to in clause (i) of this subparagraph and then out of such other accounts as may be proper. This subparagraph shall not apply to any transaction to which section 381 of such code (relating to carryovers and certain corporate acquisitions) applies, or to any distribution to the federal savings and loan insurance corporation or the federal deposit insurance corporation in redemption of an interest in an association or institution, if such interest was originally received by the federal savings and loan insurance corporation or the federal deposit insurance corporation in exchange for financial assistance pursuant to section 406(f) of the federal national housing act or pursuant to subsection (c) of section thirteen of the federal deposit insurance act.

(B) If any distribution is treated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph as having been made out of the reserves described in clauses (ii) and (iii) of such subparagraph, the amount charged against such reserve shall be the amount which, when reduced by the amount of tax imposed under the internal revenue code and attributable to the inclusion of such amount in gross income, is equal to the amount of such distribution; and the amount so charged against such reserve shall be included in the entire net income of the taxpayer.

(C) (i) For purposes of clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, additions to the New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans for the taxable year in which the distribution occurs shall be taken into account.

(ii) For purposes of computing under this subdivision the amount of a reasonable addition to the New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans for any taxable year, the amount charged during any year to such reserve pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall not be taken into account.

(9) A taxpayer which maintains a New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans and which ceases to meet the definition of a thrift institution as defined in paragraph one of this subdivision, must include in its entire net income for the last taxable year such paragraph applied the excess of its New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans over the greater of (A) its reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans as of the last day of the last taxable year such reserve is maintained for federal income tax purposes or (B) the balance of the New York reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans which would be allowable to the taxpayer for the last taxable year such taxpayer met such definition of a thrift institution if the taxpayer had computed its reserve balance pursuant to the method described in subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (i) of this section.

(i) (1) A taxpayer subject to the provisions of section 585(c) of the internal revenue code and not subject to subdivision (h) of this section may, in computing entire net income, deduct an amount equal to or less than the amount determined pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this paragraph or subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, whichever is greater. Provided, however, in no event shall the deduction be less than the amount determined pursuant to such subparagraph (A).

(A) The amount determined pursuant to this subparagraph shall be the amount necessary to increase the balance of its New York reserve for losses on loans (at the close of the taxable year) to the amount which bears the same ratio to loans outstanding at the close of the taxable year as (i) the total bad debts sustained during the taxable year and the five preceding taxable years (or, with the approval of the commissioner of finance, a shorter period), adjusted for recoveries of bad debts during such period, bears to (ii) the sum of the loans outstanding at the close of such six or fewer taxable years.

(B) (i) The amount determined pursuant to this subparagraph shall be the amount necessary to increase the balance of its New York reserve for losses on loans (at the close of the taxable year) to the lower of-

(I) the balance of the reserve at the close of the base year, or

(II) if the amount of loans outstanding at the close of the taxable year is less than the amount of loans outstanding at the close of the base year, the amount which bears the same ratio to loans outstanding at the close of the taxable year as the balance of the reserve at the close of the base year bears to the amount of loans outstanding at the close of the base year.

(ii) For purposes of this paragraph, the base year shall be (I) for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-seven, the last taxable year before the most recent adoption of the experience method for federal income tax purposes or for purposes of this part, whichever is earlier, and (II) for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-seven, the last taxable year beginning before nineteen hundred eighty-eight.

(2) (A) Each taxpayer described in paragraph one of this subdivision shall establish and maintain a New York reserve for losses on loans. Such reserve shall be maintained for all subsequent taxable years. The balance of the New York reserve for losses on loans at the beginning of the first day of the first taxable year the taxpayer becomes subject to this subdivision shall be the same as the balance at the beginning of such day of the reserve for losses on loans maintained for federal income tax purposes. The New York reserve for losses on loans shall be reduced by an amount equal to the deduction allowed, but not more than the amount allowable, for worthless debts for federal income tax purposes pursuant to section 166 of the internal revenue code plus the amount, if any, charged against its reserve for losses on loans pursuant to section 585(c)(4) of such code.

(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, a taxpayer which had previously been subject to the provisions of subdivision (h) of this section shall establish a New York reserve for losses on loans equal to the sum of (i) the greater of (I) the balance of its federal reserve for losses on qualifying real property loans as of the first day of the first taxable year the taxpayer becomes subject to the provisions of this subdivision or (II) the greater of the amounts determined under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph nine of subdivision (h) of this section in the year such paragraph applied to the taxpayer, (ii) the greater of (I) the balance in its federal reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans as of the first day of the first taxable year the taxpayer becomes subject to this subdivision or (II) the balance in its New York reserve for losses on nonqualifying loans as of the last date the taxpayer was subject to the provisions of subdivision (h) of this section, and (iii) the balance in its supplemental reserve for losses on loans as of the last date the taxpayer was subject to the provisions of subdivision (h) of this section.

(3) The determination and treatment of the New York reserve balance, including any additions thereto, subtractions therefrom, or recapture thereof, for

(A) any banking corporation which was subject to tax for federal income tax purposes but not subject to tax under this part for prior taxable years,

(B) any taxpayer which ceases to be subject to tax under this part, or

(C) any other unusual circumstances shall be determined by the commissioner of finance. Provided, however, any banking corporation which was subject to tax for federal income tax purposes but not subject to tax under this part for prior taxable years shall have as its opening New York reserve for losses on loans the amount determined by applying the provisions of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of this subdivision to loans outstanding at the close of its last taxable year for federal income tax purposes ending prior to the first taxable year for which the taxpayer is subject to tax under this part and provided, further, that the provisions of subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subdivision shall not apply.

(j) (1) For any taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred seventy-three or for any period for which a tax is imposed under subdivision (b) of section 11-639 of this part, entire net income shall be computed without regard to the amount allowable as a deduction for bad debts or an addition to a reserve for bad debts in computing federal taxable income for the taxable year, but, in lieu thereof, a deduction shall be allowed to the extent and in the manner authorized by subdivision five of section 11-621 or subdivision (e) of section 11-629 of this subchapter as if such provisions were set forth in full in this part and by treating such provisions as applicable under this part.

(2) In the case of property placed in service prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three, for which the taxpayer properly adopted a different method of computing depreciation under section 11-621 or section 11-629 of this subchapter than was adopted for federal income tax purposes with respect to such property, entire net income under this part shall be computed without regard to the amount allowable as a deduction for depreciation of such property in computing federal taxable income for the taxable year but, in lieu thereof, shall be computed as if such deduction were determined by the method of depreciation adopted with respect to such property under section 11-621 or 11-629 of this subchapter.

(3) In computing entire net income, the amount allowable as a deduction for charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes shall be: (a) increased for the first taxable year or period beginning in nineteen hundred seventy-three by the amount of any contributions made during such taxable year or period which were not allowable as a deduction for charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes for such taxable year or period because of an election pursuant to paragraph two of subsection (a) of section one hundred seventy of the internal revenue code and which were not deductible in computing the tax due under part one or two of this subchapter three, and (b) decreased by any amount allowed as a deduction for federal income tax purposes for the taxable year under section one hundred seventy of the internal revenue code as a carryover of excess contributions which are not made in such taxable year and which were deductible in computing the tax due under part one or two of this subchapter three.

(4) There shall be excluded from the computation of entire net income any amount allowed as a deduction for federal income tax purposes for the taxable year under section twelve hundred twelve of the internal revenue code as a capital loss carry forward to the taxable year, which was deductible as a loss in computing the tax due under part one or two of this subchapter three.

(5) There shall be excluded from the computation of entire net income the amount of any income or gain from the sale of real or personal property which is includible in determining federal taxable income for the taxable year pursuant to the installment method under section four hundred fifty-three of the internal revenue code, to the extent that such income or gain was includible in the computation of the tax due under part one or two of this subchapter three.

(6) To the extent not otherwise provided in this part, there shall be excluded from entire net income the amount necessary to prevent the taxation under this part of any other amount of income or gain which was properly included in income or gain and was taxable under part one or two of this subchapter three and there shall be disallowed as a deduction in computing entire net income any amount which was allowed as a deduction in computing the tax due under such parts.

(k) (1) At the election of the taxpayer, there shall be deducted from the portion of its entire net income allocated within the city, depreciation with respect to any property such as described in paragraph two of this subdivision, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes. Such deduction shall be allowed only upon condition that entire net income be computed without any deduction for depreciation or amortization of the same property, and the total of all deductions allowed under parts one and two of this subchapter three and this part in any taxable year or years with respect to the depreciaton of any such property shall not exceed its cost or other basis.

(2) Such deduction shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this city and used in the taxpayer's business, (i) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (ii) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this city and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or (iii) acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subsection (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clause (i), (ii) or (iii) of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. Provided, however, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a deduction under paragraph one hereof with respect to tangible personal property leased by it to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which the taxpayer uses itself for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, the taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under paragraph one in proportion to the part of the year it uses such property.

(3) If the deduction allowable for any taxable year pursuant to this subdivision exceeds the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to this city for such year, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be deducted from the portion of the taxpayer's entire net income allocated to this city for such year or years.

(4) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a deduction has been allowed pursuant to this subdivision, subdivision twelve of section 11-621 or subdivision (j) of section 11-629 of this subchapter, the gain or loss entering into the computation of federal taxable income shall be disregarded in computing entire net income, and there shall be added or subtracted from the portion of entire net income allocated within the city the gain or loss upon such sale or other disposition. In computing such gain or loss the basis of the property sold or disposed of shall be adjusted to reflect the deduction allowed with respect to such property pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision. Provided, however, that no loss shall be recognized for the purposes of this paragraph with respect to a sale or other disposition of property to a person whose acquisition thereof is not a purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code.

(l) If the period covered by a return under this part is other than the period covered by the return to the United States treasury department, entire net income and alternative entire net income shall be determined by multiplying the taxable income reported to such department (as adjusted pursuant to the provisions of this part) by the number of calendar months or major parts thereof covered by the return under this part and dividing by the number of calendar months or major parts thereof covered by the return to such department. If it shall appear that such method of determining entire net income or alternative entire net income does not properly reflect the taxpayer's income during the period covered by the return under this part, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his or her discretion to determine such entire net income or alternative entire net income solely on the basis of the taxpayer's income during the period covered by its return under this part.

(m) The commissioner of finance, may, whenever necessary in order properly to reflect the entire net income of any taxpayer, determine the year or period in which any item of income or deduction shall be included, without regard to the method of accounting employed by the taxpayer.

(n)* Notwithstanding23 any other provision of this subchapter, for taxable years beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, in the case of a taxpayer that is a partner in a partnership subject to the tax imposed by chapter eleven of this title as a utility, as defined in subdivision six of section 11-1101 of such chapter, entire net income shall not include the taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes of any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such partnership, or any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such partnership that the taxpayer is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes.

(n)* for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in subdivision (p) of this section, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section fourteen hundred L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to such property the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven as such section would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September tenth, two thousand one, provided, however, that for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a passenger motor vehicle or a sport utility vehicle subject to the provisions of subdivision (r) of this section, the limitation under clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code applicable to the amount allowed as a deduction under this paragraph shall be determined as of the date such vehicle was placed in service and not as of September tenth, two thousand one.

(o) for taxable years ending after September tenth, two thousand one, upon the disposition of property to which subdivision (n) of this section applies, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the inclusions and exclusions from entire net income pursuant to paragraph thirteen of subdivision (b) and subdivision (n) of this section attributable to such property.

(p) for purposes of subdivisions (n) and (o) of this section, qualified resurgence zone property shall mean qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code substantially all of the use of which is in the resurgence zone, as defined below, and is in the active conduct of a trade or business by the taxpayer in such zone, and the original use of which in the resurgence zone commences with the taxpayer after September tenth, two thousand one. The resurgence zone shall mean the area of New York county bounded on the south by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel, and running thence east to Canal Street, then running along the centerline of Canal Street to the intersection of the Bowery and Canal Street, running thence in a southeasterly direction diagonally across Manhattan Bridge Plaza, to the Manhattan Bridge, and thence along the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge to the point where the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge would intersect with the easterly bank of the East River, and bounded on the north by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel and running thence north along West Avenue to the intersection of Clarkson Street then running east along the centerline of Clarkson Street to the intersection of Washington Avenue, then running south along the centerline of Washington Avenue to the intersection of West Houston Street, then east along the centerline of West Houston Street, then at the intersection of the Avenue of the Americas continuing east along the centerline of East Houston Street to the easterly bank of the East River.

(q) Related members expense add back and income exclusion.

(1) Definitions. (A) Related member or members. For purposes of this subdivision, the term related member or members means a person, corporation, or other entity, including an entity that is treated as a partnership or other pass-through vehicle for purposes of federal taxation, whether such person, corporation or entity is a taxpayer or not, where one such person, corporation, or entity, or set of related persons, corporations or entities, directly or indirectly owns or controls a controlling interest in another entity. Such entity or entities may include all taxpayers under this title.

(B) Controlling interest. A controlling interest shall mean (i) in the case of a corporation, either thirty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

(C) Royalty payments. Royalty payments are payments directly connected to the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange, or any other disposition of licenses, trademarks, copyrights, trade names, trade dress, service marks, mask works, trade secrets, patents and any other similar types of intangible assets as determined by the commissioner of finance, and includes amounts allowable as interest deductions under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such amounts are directly or indirectly for, related to or in connection with the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange or disposition of such intangible assets.

(D) Valid business purpose. A valid business purpose is one or more business purposes, other than the avoidance or reduction of taxation, which alone or in combination constitute the primary motivation for some business activity or transaction, which activity or transaction changes in a meaningful way, apart from tax effects, the economic position of the taxpayer. The economic position of the taxpayer includes an increase in the market share of the taxpayer, or the entry by the taxpayer into new business markets.

(2) Royalty expense add backs. (A) For the purpose of computing entire net income, a taxpayer must add back royalty payments to a related member during the taxable year to the extent deductible in calculating federal taxable income.

(B) The add back of royalty payments shall not be required if and to the extent that such payments meet either of the following conditions:

(i) the related member during the same taxable year directly or indirectly paid or incurred the amount to a person or entity that is not a related member, and such transaction was done for a valid business and the payments are made at arm's length;

(ii) the royalty payments are paid or incurred to a related member organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, are subject to a comprehensive income tax treaty between such country and the United States, and are taxed in such country at a tax rate at least equal to that imposed by this state.

(3) Royalty income exclusions. For the purpose of computing entire net income, a taxpayer shall be allowed to deduct royalty payments directly or indirectly received from a related member during the taxable year to the extent included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income unless such royalty payments would not be required to be added back under paragraph two of this subdivision or other similar provision in this chapter.

(r) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand four, in the case of a taxpayer that is not an eligible farmer as defined in subsection (n) of section six hundred six of the tax law, a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to a sport utility vehicle that is not a passenger automobile as defined in paragraph five of subsection (d) of section two hundred eighty F of the internal revenue code, the deductions allowable under sections one hundred seventy-nine, one hundred sixty-seven and one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, determined as if such sport utility vehicle were a passenger automobile as defined in such paragraph five.

(s) Upon the disposition of property to which subdivision (r) of this section applies, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the modification provided in such subdivision attributable to such property.

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-642 Allocation.

(a) In general. If a taxpayer's entire net income, alternative entire net income, or taxable assets are derived from business carried on within and without the city, the taxpayer shall for purposes of computing allocation percentages compute payroll, receipts, and deposits percentages in accordance with the following rules:

(1) The taxpayer shall ascertain the percentage which eighty percent of the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation during the taxable year of employees within the city, except wages, salaries and other personal service compensation of general executive officers, bears to the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation during the taxable year of all the taxpayer's employees within and without the city, except wages, salaries and other personal service compensation of general executive officers.

(2) (A) The taxpayer shall ascertain the percentage which the receipts of the taxpayer arising during the taxable year from:

(i) loans (including a taxpayer's portion of a participation in a loan) and financing leases within the city, and all other business receipts earned within the city, bear to

(ii) the total amount of the taxpayer's receipts from loans (including a taxpayer's portion of a participation in a loan) and financing leases and all other business receipts within and without the city.

(B) All interest from loans and financing leases is located where the greater portion of income producing activity related to the loan or financing lease occurred; provided, however:

(i) In the case of a taxpayer described in paragraph one, two, three, four, five or seven of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part, a loan or financing lease attributed by such taxpayer to a branch without the city shall be presumed to be properly so attributed provided that such presumption may be rebutted if the commissioner of finance demonstrates that the greater portion of income producing activity related to the loan or financing lease did not occur at such branch. Where such presumption has been rebutted, the loan or financing lease shall be presumed to be within the city if the taxpayer had a branch within the city at the time the loan or financing lease was made. The taxpayer may rebut such presumption by demonstrating that the greater portion of income producing activity related to the loan or financing lease did not occur within the city. In the case of a loan or financing lease which is recorded on the books of a place without the city which is not a branch, it shall be presumed that the greater portion of incomeproducing activity related to such loan or financing lease occurred within the city if the taxoayer had a branch within the city at the time the loan or financing lease was made. The taxpayer may rebut such presumption by demonstrating that the greater portion of the income producing activity related to the loan or financing lease did not occur within the city.

(ii) In the case of a taxpayer described in paragraph six or nine of subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this part, a loan or financing lease attributed by such taxpayer to a bona fide office without the city shall be presumed to be properly so attributed provided that such presumption may be rebutted if the commissioner of finance demonstrates that the greater portion of income producing activity related to the loan or financing lease did not occur without the city.

(C) Receipts from lease transactions other than financing leases referred to in subparagraph (B) are located where the property subject to the lease is located.

(D) (i) Interest, and fees and penalties in the nature of interest, from bank, travel, and entertainment card receivables are earned within the city if the card holder's domicile is in the city, and

(ii) Service charges and fees from such cards are earned within the city if the card is serviced in the city; and

(iii) Receipts from merchant discounts are earned within the city.

(E) The portion of total net gains and other income from trading activities (including but not limited to foreign exchange, options and financial futures), and from investment activities which is attributed within the city shall be ascertained by multiplying such total net gains and other income by a fraction the numerator of which is the average value of the trading assets and investment assets attributable to the city and the denominator of which is the average value of all trading and investment assets. A trading asset or investment is attributable to the city if the greater portion of income producing activity related to the trading asset or investment occurred within the city.

(F) Fees or charges from the issuance of letters of credit, travelers checks and money orders are earned within the city if such letters of credit, travelers checks or money orders are issued within the city.

(G) Rules for receipts from certain services to investment companies. (1) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand one, the portion of receipts received from an investment company arising from the sale of management, administration or distribution services to such investment company determined in accordance with clause two of this subparagraph shall be deemed to arise from services performed within the city (such portion referred to herein as the New York city portion).

(2) The New York city portion shall be the product of (i) the total of such receipts from the sale of such services and (ii) a fraction. The numerator of that fraction is the sum of the monthly percentages (as defined hereinafter) determined for each month of the investment company's taxable year for federal income tax purposes which taxable year ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer (but excluding any month during which the investment company had no outstanding shares). The monthly percentage for each such month is determined by dividing (i) the number of shares in the investment company which are owned on the last day of the month by shareholders that are domiciled in the city by (ii) the total number of shares in the investment company outstanding on that date. The denominator of the fraction is the number of such monthly percentages.

(3)(i) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "domicile", in the case of an individual, shall have the meaning ascribed to it under chapter seventeen of this title; an estate or trust is domiciled in the city if it is a city resident estate or trust as defined in paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section 11-1705 of this code; a business entity is domiciled in the city if the location of the actual seat of management or control is in the city. It shall be presumed that the domicile of a shareholder, with respect to any month, is his, her or its mailing address on the records of the investment company as of the last day of such month.

(ii) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "investment company" means a regulated investment company, as defined in section 851 of the internal revenue code, and a partnership to which section 7704(a) of the internal revenue code applies (by virtue of section 7704(c)(3) of such code) and that meets the requirements of section 851(b) of such code. The preceding sentence shall be applied to the taxable year for federal income tax purposes of the business entity that is asserted to constitute an investment company that ends within the taxable year of the taxpayer.

(iii) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "receipts from an investment company" includes amounts received directly from an investment company as well as amounts received from the shareholders in such investment company in their capacity as such.

(iv) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "management services" means the rendering of investment advice to an investment company, making determinations as to when sales and purchases of securities are to be made on behalf of an investment company, or the selling or purchasing of securities constituting assets of an investment company, and related activities, but only where such activity or activities are performed pursuant to a contract with the investment company entered into pursuant to section 15(a) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(v) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "distribution services" means the services of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions), marketing shares or selling shares of an investment company, but, in the case of advertising, servicing investor accounts (including redemptions) or marketing shares, only where such service is performed by a person who is (or was, in the case of a closed end company) also engaged in the service of selling such shares. In the case of an open end company, such service of selling shares must be performed pursuant to a contract entered into pursuant to section 15(b) of the federal investment company act of nineteen hundred forty, as amended.

(vi) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "administration services" includes clerical, accounting, bookkeeping, data processing, internal auditing, legal and tax services performed for an investment company but only if the provider of such service or services during the taxable year in which such service or services are sold also sells management or distribution services, as defined hereinabove, to such investment company.

(H) All receipts from the performance of services not described above are earned within the city if the services are performed in the city. When a service is performed both within and without the city, the receipts shall be allocated within and without the city in accordance with rules and regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(I) All other receipts not described in subparagraphs (B) through (H) of this paragraph shall be attributable within and without the city in accordance with rules and regulations issued by the commissioner of finance.

(3) The taxpayer shall ascertain the percentage which the average value of deposits maintained at branches within the city during the taxable years, bears to the average value of all the taxpayer's deposits maintained at branches within and without the city during the taxable year.

(4) Each percentage computed pursuant to this subsection shall be computed on a cash or accrual basis according to the method of accounting used for the taxable year. The receipts percentage shall include only receipts which are included in alternative entire net income for the taxable year. The deposits and payroll percentages shall include only deposits and payroll the expenses of which are included in the computation of alternative entire net income for the taxable year.

(5) For purposes of this section:

(A) The term "bona fide office" means an office at which the taxpayer carries on its business in a regular and systematic manner and which is continuously maintained, occupied and used by employees of the taxpayer.

(B) The term "branch" means a bona fide office which is used by the taxpayer on a regular and systematic basis to (i) approve loans (regardless of whether the approval of certain classes of loans requires review of final approval by another office of the taxpayer), (ii) accept loan repayments, (iii) disburse funds, and (iv) conduct one or more other functions of a banking business.

(6) If it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that the allocation percentage determined in subdivision (b), (c), or (d) of this section does not properly reflect the activity, business, income or assets of a taxpayer within the city, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized in his discretion to adjust it by (1) excluding one or more of the factors therein, (2) including one or more other factors, or (3) any other similar or different method calculated to effect a fair and proper allocation of the income or assets reasonably attributable to the city.

(7) The commissioner of finance from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of paragraph six of this subdivision.

(b) Allocation of entire net income.

(1) If a taxpayer's entire net income is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, the portion thereof which is dervied from business carried on within the city shall be determined by multiplying its entire net income by the income allocation percentage determined as follows: add the percentages ascertained under paragraphs one, two and three of subdivision (a) of this section, plus an additional percentage equal to the receipts percentage ascertained under paragraph two of such subdivision and an additional percentage equal to the deposits percentage ascertained under paragraph three of such subdivision, and divide the result by the number of percentages so added together.

(2) (A) In lieu of the modification provided for in subdivision (f) of section 11-641 of this part, (relating to a modification for the adjusted eligible net income of an international banking facility), a taxpayer may, in the manner prescribed by the commissioner of finance, elect to modify on an annual basis its income allocation percentage in the manner described in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) below:

(i) wages, salaries and other personal service compensation properly attributable to the production of eligible gross income of the taxpayer's international banking facility shall not be included in the computation of wages, salaries and other personal service compensation of employees within the city.

(ii) receipts properly attributable to the production of eligible gross income of the taxpayer's international banking facility shall not be included in the computation of receipts within the city, and

(iii) deposits from foreign persons which are properly attributable to the production of eligible gross income of the taxpayer's international banking facility shall not be included in the computation of deposits maintained at branches within the city.

(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "eligible gross income" refers to such term as set out in subdivision (f) of section 11-641 of this part except that the term "foreign person" as defined in paragraph eight of such subdivision (f) shall not include a foreign branch of the taxpayer and in no event shall transactions between the taxpayer's international banking facility and its foreign branches be considered.

(c) Allocation of alternative entire net income. If a taxpayer's alternative net income is derived from business carried on both within and without the city, the portion thereof which is derived from business carried on within the city shall be determined by multiplying its alternative entire net income by the alternative net income allocation determined as follows:

(1) Recompute the payroll percentage under paragraph one of subdivision (a) of this section without giving consideration to the phrase "eighty percent of," add to the resulting percentage the percentages ascertained under paragraphs two and three of such subdivision, and divide the result by the number of percentages so added together.

(2) When an election has been made pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (b) of this section (relating to international banking facilities) the taxpayer shall make the modifications described in such paragraph for purposes of its alternative entire net income allocation percentage.

(d) Allocation of taxable assets. If the taxpayer's taxable assets are derived from business carried on both within and without the city, the portion thereof which is derived from business carried on within the city shall be determined by multiplying its taxable assets by an asset allocation percentage determined in the same manner as the income allocation percentage under subdivision (b) of this section is determined when the election provided for in paragraph two of such subdivision has been made, except that the modifications described in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (A) of such paragraph shall not be made.

§ 11-643.3 Computation of tax for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five and before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five.

For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five and before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, the tax imposed by section 11-639 of this part shall be the greater of the following computations:

(a) Basic tax. (1) Except for a savings bank and savings and loan association, thirteen and eight hundred twenty-three one-thousandths percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or the portion thereof allocated to this city, for the taxable year, or part thereof.

(2) For a savings bank and savings and loan association, twelve and one hundred thirty-four thousandths percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or the portion thereof allocated to this city, for the taxable year, or part thereof.

(b) Alternative minimum tax. If the tax under subdivision (a) is less than any of the following amounts, the tax shall be the largest of the following amounts:

(1) Except for a savings bank and savings and loan association, two and six-tenths mills upon each dollar of such part of the taxpayer's issued capital stock on the last day of the taxable year, at its face value, but if such taxpayer has stock without par value, such stock shall be taken at its actual or market value, and not less than five dollars per share, as may be determined by the commissioner of finance, as the gross income of such taxpayer derived from business carried on within the city during such taxable year bears to its gross income derived from all business, both within and without the city during said year; except that if the period covered by the return is other than twelve months, the tax shall be prorated on the basis of the number of months or major portions thereof included in the return. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "gross income" shall have the same meaning as it has in the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph three of this subdivision, for a savings bank and savings and loan association, two and five hundred seventy-four one-thousandths percent of the interest or dividends credited by it to depositors or shareholders during any taxable year, provided that, in determining such amount, each interest or dividend credit to a depositor or shareholder shall be deemed to be the interest or dividend actually credited or the interest or dividend which would have been credited if it had been computed and credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum, whichever is less.

(3) (i) For a savings bank and savings and loan association, for any quarterly accounting period in which such savings bank or savings and loan association credits or pays dividends to its depositors or shareholders on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred eighty-one but before the first day of July, nineteen hundred eighty-six, and after such credit or payment the net worth of such savings bank or savings and loan association is less than five percent of the amount due depositors, one and eight hundred twenty-four one-thousandths percent of the interest or dividends credited by it to a depositor or shareholder during such accounting period, provided that, in determining such amount, each interest or dividend credit to depositors or shareholders shall be deemed to be the interest or dividend actually credited or the interest or dividend which would have been credited if it had been computed and credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum, whichever is less. In determining the lesser of the amount of interest or dividends actually credited to depositors or shareholders or the amount of interest or dividends which would have been credited if such interest or dividends had been computed and credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum, the provisions of subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph shall not be considered.

(ii) For purposes of the computation provided for in subparagraph (i), except where the tax computed under subparagraph (i) of this paragraph is computed as if the interest or dividends were computed and credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum, that portion of the interest or dividends credited on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred eighty-one but before the first day of July, nineteen hundred eighty-six by:

(A) a savings bank to a depositor or shareholder which is attributable to an increase or a deemed increase in the gross earnings, surplus fund, or net worth of the savings bank, which increase became available for interest or dividends upon the prior written approval of the superintendent of banks pursuant to the provisions of subdivision four of section two hundred forty-four of the banking law; or

(B) a savings and loan association to a depositor or shareholder which is attributable to an increase or a deemed increase in gross income, undivided profits, surplus account or net worth of the savings and loan association, which increase became available for interest or dividends upon the prior written approval of the superintendent of banks pursuant to the provisions of subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-seven of the banking law; or

(C) a federal savings bank or a federal savings and loan association to a depositor or shareholder, which would have required and received prior written approval of the superintendent of banks in respect to increases in gross income, gross earnings, undivided profits, surplus funds, surplus accounts or net worth available for dividends pursuant to the provisions of subdivision four of section two hundred forty-four of the banking law and subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-seven of the banking law, respectively, were the provisions of sections two hundred forty-four and three hundred eighty-seven of the banking law applicable to federal savings banks and federal savings and loan associations shall not be considered to have been credited to depositors or shareholders. Where the tax computed under subparagraph (i) of this paragraph is computed as if the interest or dividends were computed and credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum, the amount of interest or dividends which shall not be considered to have been credited to depositors or shareholders is an amount which bears the same ratio to the interest or dividends which would have been credited at the rate of three and one-half percent per annum as the amount of that portion of the interest or dividends paid or credited on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred eighty-one but before the first day of July, nineteen hundred eighty-six, which is attributable to an increase or deemed increase in gross income, gross earnings, undivided profits, surplus funds, surplus account or net worth available for dividends pursuant to the provisions of subdivision four of section two hundred forty-four of the banking law or subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-seven of the banking law, bears to the amount of interest or dividends actually credited. For purposes of this clause, the determination of whether a federal savings bank or federal savings and loan association would have required and received prior written approval of the superintendent of banks shall be made by the superintendent of banks, upon application and upon such forms as he or she may require, by applying the provision of subdivision four of section two hundred forty-four of the banking law, as if such provisions were applicable to federal savings banks, and subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-seven of the banking law, as if such provisions were applicable to federal savings and loan associations, and the superintendent of banks may require and examine such information as he or she may deem necessary to make such determinations.

(4) (i) Except for a savings bank and savings and loan association, twenty-five dollars.

(ii) For a savings bank and savings and loan association, twenty dollars.

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-643.5 Computation of tax for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five.

For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, the tax imposed by section 11-639 shall be the greater of the following computations:

(a) Basic tax. Nine percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or the portion thereof allocated to the city, for the taxable year or part thereof.

(b) Alternative minimum tax. If the tax under subdivision (a) of this section is less than any of the following amounts, the tax shall be the larger of the following amounts:

(1) (i) Except in the case of a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, one-tenth of a mill upon each dollar of taxable assets, or the portion thereof allocated to the city.

(ii) For the purposes of this part, the term "taxable assets" shall mean the average value of total assets reduced by any amount of money or other property received from or attributable to amounts received from the federal deposit insurance corporation pursuant to subsection (c) of section thirteen of the federal deposit insurance act, as amended, or the federal savings and loan insurance corporation pursuant to paragraph one, two, three or four of subsection (f) of section four hundred six of the federal national housing act, as amended. Total assets are those assets which are properly reflected on a balance sheet the income or expenses of which are properly reflected (or would have been properly reflected if not fully depreciated or expensed or depreciated or expensed to a nominal amount) in the computation of alternative entire net income for the taxable year or in the computation of the eligible net income of the taxpayer's international banking facility for the taxable year.

(iii) A taxpayer shall not be subject to the provisions of this paragraph for that portion of the taxable year (A) in which it was a "qualified institution" as defined in subparagraph (B) of paragraph five of subsection (f) of section four hundred six of the federal national housing act, as amended, or as defined in paragraph two of subsection (i) of section thirteen of the federal deposit insurance act, as amended, and (B) in which it had outstanding net worth certificates issued in accordance with such paragraph five or issued in accordance with such subsection (i) provided it would have been exempt from any tax determined on the basis of the deposits held by it or the interest paid on such deposits pursuant to subparagraph (I) of such paragraph five or paragraph nine of such subsection (i).

(2) In the case of a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States,

(i) two and six-tenths mills upon each dollar of such part of the taxpayer's issued capital stock on the last day of the taxable year, at its face value, but if such taxpayer has stock without par value, such stock shall be taken at its actual or market value, and not less than five dollars per share, as may be determined by the commissioner of finance, or

(ii) if the taxpayer does not have issued capital stock, two and six-tenths mills upon each dollar of such part of the amount by which its average total assets exceeds its average total liabilities, as the gross income of such taxpayer derived from business carried on within the city during such taxable year bears to its gross income derived from all business, both within and without the city during said year; except that if the period covered by the return is other than twelve months, the tax shall be prorated on the basis of the number of months or major portions thereof included in the return. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "gross income" shall have the same meaning as it has in the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes.

(3) Three percent of the taxpayer's alternative entire net income, or portion thereof allocated to the city, for the taxable year, or part thereof.

(4) One hundred twenty-five dollars.

(c) Repealed.

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-643.7 Relocation and employment assistance credit.

(a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this part, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this part. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying five hundred dollars or, in the case of a taxpayer that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, one thousand dollars or, in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, two thousand, for a relocation to eligible premises located within a revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, three thousand dollars, by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three to eligible premises that are not within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of section 22-621 of the code is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be five hundred dollars, and if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of such section is on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, and before July first, two thousand, one thousand dollars; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; and provided that in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two certifications of eligibility for more than one relocation, the portion of the total amount of eligible aggregate employment shares to be multiplied by the dollar amount specified in this subdivision for each such certification of a relocation shall be the number of total attributed eligible aggregate employment shares determined with respect to such relocation pursuant to subdivision (o) of section 22-621 of the code. For purposes of this section, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares," "relocate," "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-621 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this section with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the first taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to such premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the eligible business maintained employment shares in the eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises. Except as provided in subdivision (d) of this section, if the amount of the credit allowable under this section for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(c) The credit allowable under this section shall be deducted after the credit allowed by section 11-643.8, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this part.

(d) In the case of a taxpayer that has obtained a certification of eligibility pursuant to chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code dated on or after July first, two thousand for a relocation to eligible premises located within the revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, the credits allowed under this section, or in the case of a taxpayer that has relocated more than once, the portion of such credits attributed to such certification of eligibility pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of such relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year; provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply to any relocation for which an application for a certification of eligibility was not submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, unless the date of such relocation is on or after July first, two thousand.

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-643.8 Credit relating to certain distributions from partnerships.

(a) If a banking corporation is a partner in an unincorporated business taxable under chapter five of this title, and is required to include in entire net income its distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, or guaranteed payments from, such unincorporated business, such banking corporation shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this part equal to the lesser of the amounts determined in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision:

(1) The amount determined in this paragraph is the product of (A) the sum of (i) the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on the unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the banking corporation and paid by the unincorporated business and (ii) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under section 11-503 of this title (except the credit allowed by subdivision (b) of such section) for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the banking corporation, to the extent that such credits do not reduce such unincorporated business's tax below zero, and (B) a fraction, the numerator of which is the net total of the banking corporation's distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business for such taxable year and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners of the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(2) The amount determined in this paragraph is the product of (A) the excess of (i) the basic tax computed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 11-643.5 of this part, without allowance of any credits allowed by this part, over (ii) the basic tax so computed, determined as if the banking corporation had no such distributive share or guaranteed payments with respect to the unincorporated business, and (B) a fraction, the numerator of which is four and the denominator of which is nine, provided, however, that the amounts computed in clauses (i) and (ii) of this paragraph shall be computed with the following modifications:

(I) if, prior to taking into account any distributive share or guaranteed payments from any unincorporated business, the entire net income of the partner is less than zero, such entire net income shall be treated as zero; and

(II) if such partner's net total distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from any unincorporated business is less than zero, such net total shall be treated as zero.

The amount determined in this paragraph shall not be less than zero.

(b) (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in subdivision (a) of this section, in the case of a banking corporation that, before the application of this section or any other credit allowed by this part, is liable for the basic tax computed under subdivision (a) of section 11-643.5 of this part, the credit or the sum of the credits that may be taken by such banking corporation for a taxable year under this section with respect to an unincorporated business or unincorporated businesses in which it is a partner shall not exceed the tax so computed, without allowance of any credits allowed by this part, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is four and the denominator of which is nine. If the credit allowed under this subdivision or the sum of such credits exceeds the product of such tax and such fraction, the amount of the excess may be carried forward, in order, to each of the seven immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously taken, shall be allowed as a credit in each of such years. In applying the provisions of the preceding sentence, the credit determined for the taxable year under subdivision (a) of this section shall be taken before taking any credit carryforward pursuant to this paragraph and the credit carryforward attributable to the earliest taxable year shall be taken before taking a credit carryforward attributable to a subsequent taxable year.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in subdivision (a) of this section, in the case of a banking corporation that, before the application of this section or any other credit allowed by this part, is liable for the alternative minimum tax on alternative entire net income under paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section 11-643.5 of this part, the maximum credit that may be taken in any taxable year is the amount that will reduce the tax so computed, without allowance of any credits allowed by this part, to zero. For purposes of this paragraph each dollar of credit shall be applied so as to reduce such tax by seventy-five cents. If the amount of credit allowed under this section or the sum of such credits exceeds the amount that may be taken against such tax, the amount of the excess may be carried forward, in order, to each of the seven immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously taken, shall be allowed as a credit in each of such years. In applying the provisions of the preceding sentence, the credit determined for the taxable year under subdivision (a) of this section shall be taken before taking any credit carryforward pursuant to this subdivision and the credit carryforward attributable to the earliest taxble year shall be taken before taking a credit carryforward attributable to a subsequent taxable year.

(3) No credit under this section may be taken in a taxable year by a taxpayer that, in the absence of such credit, would be liable for the tax computed on the basis of taxable assets under paragraph one, the tax computed on the basis of issued capital stock under paragraph two or the fixed-dollar minimum tax under paragraph four of subdivision (b) of section 11-643.5 of this part.

(c) For banking corporations that file a report on a combined basis pursuant to subdivision (f) of section 11-646 of this part, the credit allowed by this section shall be computed as if the combined group were the partner in each unincorporated business from which any of the members of such group had a distributive share or guaranteed payments, provided, however, if more than one member of the combined group is a partner in the same unincorporated business, for purposes of the calculation required in paragraph one of subdivision (a) of this section, the numerator of the fraction described in subparagraph (B) of such paragraph one shall be the sum of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business of all of the partners of the unincorporated business within the combined group for which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero, and the denominator of such fraction shall be the sum of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business of all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(d) The credit allowed by this section shall not be allowed to a partner in an unincorporated business with respect to any tax paid by the unincorporated business under chapter five of this title for any taxable year beginning before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, the credit allowable under this section shall be taken prior to the taking of any other credit allowed by this part. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, the application of this section shall not change the basis on which the taxpayer's tax is computed under subdivision (a) or (b) of section 11-643.5 of this part.

§11-643.9 Lower Manhattan relocation and employment assistance credit.

(a) In addition to any other credit allowed by this part, a taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-C of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this part. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying three thousand dollars by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the taxable year with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; provided, further, that no credit shall be allowed under this section to any taxpayer that has elected pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 22-624 of the code to take such credit against a gross receipts tax imposed under chapter eleven of this title. For purposes of this section, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares", "eligible premises", "relocate", "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-623 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this section with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the taxable year of the relocation and for any of the twelve succeeding taxable years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to eligible premises; provided that the credit allowed for the twelfth succeeding taxable year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises in the twelfth succeeding taxable year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is such number of days in the taxable year of relocation less the number of days the taxpayer maintained employment shares in eligible premises in the taxable year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding taxable year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises.

(c) Except as provided in subdivision (d) of this section, if the amount of the credit allowable under this section for any taxable year exceeds the tax imposed for such year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the five immediately succeeding taxable years and, to the extent not previously deductible, may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such years.

(d) The credits allowed under this section, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year of the relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the taxable year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-677 of this chapter. For such taxable years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year.

(e) The credit allowable under this section shall be deducted after the credit allowed by section 11-643.7 of this part, but prior to the deduction of any other credit allowed by this part.

§ 11-644 Declarations of estimated tax.

(a) Requirements of declaration. Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by subdivision (a) of section 11-639 of this part shall make a declaration of its estimated tax for the current taxable year, containing such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulations or instructions, if such estimated tax can reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand dollars.

(b) Definition of estimated tax. The term "estimated tax" means the amount which a taxpayer estimates to be the tax imposed by subdivision (a) of section 11-639 of this part for the current taxable year, less the amount which it estimates to be the sum of any credits allowable against the tax.

(c) Time for filing declaration. A declaration of estimated tax shall be filed on or before June fifteenth of the current taxable year in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, except that if the requirements of subdivision (a) of this section are first met:

(1) after May thirty-first and before September first of such current taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before September fifteenth, or

(2) after August thirty-first and before December first of such current taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before December fifteenth.

(d) Amendments of declaration. A taxpayer may amend a declaration under regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(e) Return as declaration. If, on or before February fifteenth of the succeeding year in the case of a taxpayer whose taxable year is a calendar year, a taxpayer files its return for the year for which the declaration is required, and pays therewith the balance, if any, of the full amount of the tax shown to be due on the return:

(1) such return shall be considered as its declaration if no declaration was required to be filed during the taxable year for which the tax was imposed, but is otherwise required to be filed on or before December fifteenth pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (c) of this section, and

(2) such return shall be considered as the amendment permitted by subdivision (d) of this section to be filed on or before December fifteenth if the tax shown on the return is greater than the estimated tax shown on a declaration previously made.

(f) Fiscal year. This section shall apply to taxable years of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitutions of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in this section.

(g) Short taxable period. If the taxable period for which a tax is imposed by subdivision (a) of section 11-639 of this part is less than twelve months, every taxpayer required to make a declaration of estimated tax for such taxable period shall make such a declaration in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(h) Extension of time. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed three months, for the filing of any declaration required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require.

§ 11-645 Payments of estimated tax.

(a) Every taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by section 11-639 of this part shall pay an amount equal to twenty-five percent of the preceding year's tax, if such preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars. Such amount shall be paid with the return required to be filed for the preceding taxable year or with an application for the extension of the time for filing such return. Provided, however, that for the first taxable year or period commencing on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three, the installment required by this subdivision shall be paid with the return required to be filed for the tax imposed pursuant to part one or two of this subchapter three computed on the basis of net income for the calendar year nineteen hundred seventy-two, or under the minimum tax provisions of section 11-612 of this subchapter.

(a-2) Repealed.

(b) Other installments. The estimated tax for each taxable year with respect to which a declaration of estimated tax is required to be filed under this part shall be paid, in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, as follows:

(1) If the declaration is filed on or before June fifteenth, the estimated tax shown thereon, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same taxable year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid in three equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, one shall be paid on the following September fifteenth, and one on the following December fifteenth.

(1-a) Repealed.

(2) If the declaration is filed after June fifteenth and not after September fifteenth of such taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of such year, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same taxable year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid in two equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration and one shall be paid on the following December fifteenth.

(3) If the declaration is filed after September fifteenth of such taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before September fifteenth of such year, the estimated tax shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid in respect of such year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid in full at the time of the filing of the declaration.

(4) If the declaration is filed after the time prescribed therefor, or after the expiration of any extension of time therefor, paragraphs two and three of this subdivision shall not apply and there shall be paid at the time of such filing all installments of estimated tax payable at or before such time, and the remaining installments shall be paid at the times at which, and in the amounts in which, they would have been payable if the declaration had been filed when due.

(c) Amendments of declarations. If any amendment of a declaration is filed, the remaining installments, if any, shall be ratably increased or decreased (as the case may be) to reflect any increase or decrease in the estimated tax by reason of such amendment, and if any amendment is made after September fifteenth of the taxable year, any increase in the estimated tax by reason thereof shall be paid at the time of making such amendment.

(d) Application of installments based on the preceding year's tax. Any amount paid pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be applied as a first installment against the estimated tax of the taxpayer for the taxable year shown on the declaration required to be filed pursuant to section 11-644, or if no declaration of estimated tax is required to be filed by the taxpayer pursuant to such section, any such amount shall be considered a payment on account of the tax shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer for such taxable year.

(e) Interest on certain installments based on the preceding year's tax. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-679 of this chapter or of section three-a of the general municipal law, if an amount paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section exceeds the tax shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer for the taxable year during which the amount was paid, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount by which the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision exceeds such tax, at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum from the date of payment of the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision to the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, provided, however, that no interest shall be allowed or paid under this subdivision if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(f) The preceding year's tax defined. As used in this section, "the preceding year's tax" means the tax imposed upon the taxpayer by subdivision (a) of section 11-639 of this part for the preceding taxable year, or, for purposes of computing the first installment of estimated tax when an application has been filed for extension of the time for filing the return required to be filed for such preceding taxable year, the amount properly estimated pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision b of section 11-647 of this part as the tax imposed upon the taxpayer for such taxable year. Provided, however, that for the first taxable year or period commencing on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-three, the term "preceding year's tax" as used in this section shall mean the tax imposed upon the taxpayer pursuant to part one or two of this subchapter three which was computed on the basis of net income for the calendar year nineteen hundred seventy-two, or under the minimum tax provisions of subdivision two of section 11-612 of this subchapter, or for purposes of computing the first installment of estimated tax for such first taxable year or period when an application has been filed for an extension of the time for filing the return required to be filed for the tax imposed pursuant to part one or two of this subchapter three which was computed on the basis of net income for the calendar year nineteen hundred seventy-two, or under the minimum tax provisions of section 11-612 of this subchapter, the amount of tax properly estimated for purposes of such part one or two pursuant to section 11-635 of this subchapter.

(g) Application to short taxable period. This section shall apply to a taxable period of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations of the commissioner of finance.

(h) Fiscal year. The provisions of this section shall apply to taxable years of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in such provisions.

(i) Extension of time. The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed six months, for payment of any installment of estimated tax required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as the commissioner may require, including the furnishing of a bond or other security by the taxpayer in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted, provided, however that interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum for the period of the extension shall be charged and collected on the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted under this subdivision.

(j) Payment of installments in advance. A taxpayer may elect to pay any installment of estimated tax prior to the date prescribed in this section for payment thereof.

SUBCHAPTER 3 FINANCIAL CORPORATION TAX

PART 4 BANKING CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-646 Returns.

(a) Every taxpayer shall annually on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of each of its taxable years transmit to the commissioner of finance a return in a form prescribed by the commissioner setting forth such information as the commissioner of finance may prescribe and every taxpayer which ceases to exercise its franchise in the city or to be subject to the tax imposed by this part shall transmit to the commissioner of finance a return on the date of such cessation or at such other time as the commissioner of finance may require covering each year or period for which no return was therefore filed.

(b) Every taxpayer shall also transmit such other returns and such facts and information as the commissioner of finance may require in the administration of this part.

(c) The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing returns whenever good cause exists. An automatic extension of six months for the filing of its annual return shall be allowed any taxpayer, if within the time prescribed by subdivision (a), such taxpayer files with the commissioner of finance an application for extension in such form as said commissioner of finance may prescribe by regulation and pays on or before the date of such filing the amount properly estimated as its tax.

(d) Every return shall have annexed thereto a certification by the president, vice president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, chief accounting officer or any other officer of the taxpayer duly authorized so to act to the effect that the statements contained therein are true. The fact that an individual's name is signed on a certification of the return shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to sign and certify the return on behalf of the cor- poration.

(e) If the amount of taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax for any year of any taxpayer, or of any shareholder of any taxpayer that has elected to be taxed under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code or of any shareholder of any taxpayer with respect to which an election has been made to be treated as a qualified subchapter s subsidiary under paragraph three of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred sixty-one of the internal revenue code as returned to the United States treasury department or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance is changed or corrected by the commissioner of internal revenue or other officer of the United States or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance or other competent authority, or if a taxpayer or such shareholder of a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section sixty-two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of said section, or if a taxpayer or such shareholder of a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (f) of section one thousand eighty-one of the tax law, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (c) of said section, such taxpayer shall report such changed or corrected taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or such execution of such notice of waiver and the changes or corrections of the taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax on which it is based, within ninety days (or one hundred twenty days, in the case of a taxpayer making a combined return under this subchapter for such year) after such execution or the final determination of such change or correction, or as required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. The allowance of a tentative carryback adjustment based upon a net capital loss carryback pursuant to section sixty-four hundred eleven of the internal revenue code, shall be treated as a final determination for purposes of this subdivision. Any taxpayer filing an amended return with such department shall also file within ninety days (or one hundred twenty days, in the case of a taxpayer making a combined return under this subchapter for such year) thereafter an amended return with the commissioner of finance which shall contain such information as the commissioner shall require.

(f) (1) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "bank holding company" means any corporation subject to article three-A of the banking law, or registered under the federal bank holding company act of nineteen hundred fifty-six, as amended, or registered as a savings and loan holding company (but excluding a diversified savings and loan holding company) under the federal national housing act, as amended.

(2) (i) Any banking corporation or bank holding company which is doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity, and

(A) which owns or controls, directly or indirectly, eighty percent or more of the voting stock of one or more banking corporations or bank holding companies, or

(B) whose voting stock is eighty percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a banking corporation or a bank holding company, shall make a return on a combined basis under this part covering itself and such corporations described in clause (A) or (B) and shall set forth such information as the commissioner of finance may require unless the taxpayer or the commissioner of finance shows that the inclusion of such a corporation in the combined return fails to properly reflect the tax liability of such corporation under this part. Provided, however, that no banking corporation or bank holding company not a taxpayer shall be subject to the requirements of this subparagraph unless the commissioner of finance deems that the application of such requirements is necessary in order to properly reflect the tax liability under this part, because of intercompany transactions or some agreement, understanding, arrangement or transaction of the type referred to in subdivision (g) of this section.

(ii) In the discretion of the commissioner of finance, any banking corporation or bank holding company which is doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity, and

(A) which owns or controls, directly or indirectly, sixty-five percent or more of the voting stock of one or more banking corporations or bank holding companies, or

(B) whose voting stock is sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a banking corporation or a bank holding company, may be required or permitted to make a return on a combined basis under this part covering itself and such corporations described in clause (A) or (B) and shall set forth such information as the commissioner of finance may require; provided, however, that no combined return shall be required or permitted unless the commissioner of finance deems such report necessary in order to properly reflect the tax liability under this part of any one or more of such banking corporations or bank holding companies.

(iii) In the discretion of the commissioner of finance, banking corporations or bank holding companies which are each sixty-five percent or more owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by the same interest may be permitted or required to make a return on a combined basis under this part and shall set forth such information as the commissioner of finance may require, if at least one such banking corporation or bank holding company is doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity. No combined return shall be required or permitted unless the commissioner of finance deems such report necessary in order to properly reflect the tax liability under this part of any one or more of such banking corporations or bank holding companies.

(iv) (A) Notwithstanding any provision of this paragraph, any bank holding company exercising its corporate franchise or doing business in the city may make a return on a combined basis without seeking the permission of the commissioner with any banking corporation exercising its corporate franchise or doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by such bank holding company, for the first taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten during which such bank holding company registers for the first time under the federal bank holding company act, as amended, and also elects to be a financial holding company. In addition, for each subsequent taxable year beginning after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten, any such bank holding company may file on a combined basis without seeking the permission of the commissioner with any banking corporation that is exercising its corporate franchise or doing business in the city and sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by such bank holding company if either such banking corporation is exercising its corporate franchise or doing business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity for the first time during such subsequent taxable year, or sixty-five percent or more of the voting stock of such banking corporation is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by such bank holding company for the first time during such subsequent taxable year. Provided however, for each subsequent taxable year beginning after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten, a banking corporation described in either of the two preceding sentences which filed on a combined basis with any such bank holding company in a previous taxable year, must continue to file on a combined basis with such bank holding company if such banking corporation, during such subsequent taxable year, continues to exercise its corporate franchise or do business in the city in a corporate or organized capacity and sixty-five percent or more of such banking corporation's voting stock continues to be owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by such bank holding company, unless the permission of the commissioner has been obtained to file on a separate basis for such subsequent taxable year. Provided further, however, for each subsequent taxable year beginning after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten, a banking corporation described in either of the first two sentences of this clause which did not file on a combined basis with any such bank holding company in a previous taxable year, may not file on a combined basis with such bank holding company during any such subsequent taxable year unless the permission of the commissioner has been obtained to file on a combined basis for such subsequent taxable year.

(B) Notwithstanding any provision of this paragraph other than clause (A) of this subparagraph, the commissioner may not require a bank holding company which, during a taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten, registers for the first time during such taxable year under the federal bank holding company act, as amended, and also elects to be a financial holding company, to make a return on a combined basis for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand ten with a banking corporation sixty-five percent or more of whose voting stock is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by such bank holding company.

(3) In the case of a combined return, the tax shall be measured by the combined entire net income, combined alternative entire net income or combined assets of all the corporations included in the return. The allocation percentage shall be computed based on the combined factors with respect to all the corporations included in the combined return. In computing combined entire net income and alternative entire net income intercorporate dividends and all other intercorporate transactions shall be eliminated and in computing combined assets intercorporate stockholdings and intercorporate bills, notes and accounts receivable and payable and other intercorporate indebtedness shall be eliminated.

(4) (i) In no event shall an item of income or expense of a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States be included in a combined return unless it is includible in entire net income or alternative entire net income, as the case may be, nor shall an asset of such a corporation be included in a combined return unless it is included in taxable assets.

(ii) In no event shall a corporation organized under the laws of the United States, this state or any other state, be included in a combined return with a corporation organized under the laws of a country other than the United States.

(iii) In no event shall a corporation which has made an election pursuant to subdivision (d) of section 11-640 of this part to be subject to the tax imposed by subchapter two of this chapter be included in a combined return for those taxable years for which it is subject to the tax imposed by subchapter two of this chapter.

(5) Tax liability under this part may be deemed to be improperly reflected because of intercompany transactions or some agreement, understanding, arrangement or transaction referred to in subdivision (g) of this section.

(g) In case it shall appear to the commissioner of finance that any agreement, understanding or arrangement exists between the taxpayer and any other corporation or any person or firm, whereby the activity, business, income or assets of the taxpayer within the city is improperly or inaccurately reflected, the commissioner of finance is authorized and empowered, in his discretion and in such manner as he may determine, to adjust items of income or deductions in computing entire net income or alternative entire net income and to adjust assets, and to adjust wages, salaries and other personal service compensation, receipts or deposits in computing any allocation percentage, provided only that entire net income or alternative entire net income be adjusted accordingly and that any asset directly traceable to the elimination of any receipt be eliminated from assets so as to accurately determine the tax. If however, in the determination of the commissioner of finance, such adjustments do not, or cannot effectively provide for the accurate determination of the tax, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to require the filing of a combined report by the taxpayer and any such other corporations. Where (1) any taxpayer conducts its activity or business under any agreement, arrangement or understanding in such manner as either directly or indirectly to benefit its members or stockholders, or any of them, or any person or persons directly or indirectly interested in such activity or business, by entering into any transaction at more or less than a fair price which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, might have been paid or received therefor, or (2) any taxpayer enters into any transaction with another corporation on such terms as to create an improper loss or net income, the commissioner of finance may include in the entire net income or alternative entire net income of the taxpayer the fair profits which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, the taxpayer might have derived from such transaction.

§ 11-647 Payment of tax.

(a) To the extent the tax imposed for section 11-639 of this part shall not have been previously paid pursuant to section 11-645:

(1) such tax, or the balance thereof, shall be payable to the commissioner of finance in full at the time its return is required to be filed, and

(2) such tax, or the balance thereof, imposed on any taxpayer which ceased to exercise its franchise or to be subject to the tax imposed by this part shall be payable to the commissioner of finance at the time the return is required to be filed, provided such tax of a domestic corporation which continues to possess its franchise shall be subject to adjustment as the circumstances may require; all other taxes of any such taxpayer, which pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this subdivision would otherwise be pay- able subsequent to the time such return is required to be filed, shall nevertheless be payable at such time.

(b) If the taxpayer, within the time prescribed by subdivision (c) of section 11-646 of this part, shall have applied for an automatic extension of time to file its annual return and shall have paid to the commissioner of finance on or before the date of such application is filed an amount properly estimated as provided by said subdivision the only amount payable in addition to the tax shall be interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this chapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount by which the tax, or portion thereof payable on or before the date the return was required to be filed, exceeds the amount so paid. For the purposes of the preceding sentence:

(1) an amount so paid shall be deemed properly estimated if it is either: (i) not less than ninety per cent of the tax as finally determined, or (ii) not less than the tax shown on the taxpayer's return for the preceding taxable year, if such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months; and

(2) the time when a return is required to be filed shall be determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such return.

(c) The commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of any tax imposed by this part under such conditions as the commissioner deems just and proper.

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 4 TRANSPORTATION CORPORATION TAX

§ 11-662 Tax on transportation corporations and associations.

1. The term "corporation" as used in this subchapter shall include any business conducted by a trustee or trustees wherein interest or ownership is evidenced by certificates or other written instruments.

2. For the privilege of doing business or holding property in the city every corporation, joint-stock company or association formed for or principally engaged in the conduct of aviation, steamboat, ferry (except a ferry company operating between any of the boroughs of the city under a lease granted by the city), or navigation business, or formed for or principally engaged in the conduct of two or more of such businesses, except a corporation, joint-stock company or association subject to taxation under subchapter two of chapter eleven of this title, shall pay, in advance, an annual tax to be computed upon the basis of the amount of its capital stock within the city during the preceding year, and upon each dollar of such amount.

3. The measure of the amount of capital stock in the city, except as hereinafter provided, shall be such a portion of the issued capital stock as the gross assets, exclusive of obligations issued by the United States and cash on hand and on deposit, employed in any business within the city, bear to the gross assets, exclusive of obligations issued by the United States and cash on hand and on deposit, wherever employed in business. Provided, however, that in the case of a corporation taxable hereunder only for the privilege of holding property, the measure shall be such a portion of the issued capital stock as the gross assets, exclusive of obligations issued by the United States and cash on hand and on deposit, located within the city, bear to the gross assets, exclusive of obligations issued by the United States and cash on hand and on deposit, wherever located. The capital of a corporation invested in the stock of another corporation shall be deemed to be assets located where the assets of the issuing corporation, other than patents, copyrights, trademarks, contracts and good will, are located.

4. Every corporation, joint-stock company or association subject to taxation under this section shall, in any event, pay annually, for taxable years ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, a minimum tax of not less than ten dollars nor less than one mill, and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, a minimum tax of not less than fifteen dollars nor less than one and one-half mills, on each dollar of such a portion of the net value of its issued capital stock, which net value for the purposes of this section shall be deemed to be not less than five dollars per share, as may be determined upon such of the bases herein provided for the measurement thereof as is applicable. The term "net value" as used in this section shall be construed to mean not less than the difference between a corporation's assets and liabilities, and not less than the average price at which such stock sold during the year covered by the report which forms the basis for the tax. But if the dividends paid on the par value of any kind of capital stock during any year ending with the thirty-first day of December amounts to six or more than six per centum, the tax upon such kind of capital stock shall be at the rate of one-quarter of a mill for taxable years ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, and at the rate of four-tenths of a mill for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five for each one per centum of dividends paid and shall be computed upon the par value of such capital stock, unless such a tax be less than the minimum tax hereinbefore provided in this section and the commissioner of finance shall, for such purpose, make a fair and equitable apportionment of the assets of the the corporation, joint-stock company or association, between or among the different kinds of stock.

5. If such corporation, joint-stock company or association shall have more than one kind of capital stock, and upon one of such kinds of stock a dividend or dividends amounting to six or more than six per centum upon the par value thereof, has been paid, and upon the other no dividend has been paid, or the dividend or dividends paid thereon amount to less than six per centum upon the par value thereof, then the tax shall be fixed upon each kind as hereinbefore provided.

6. The dividend rate for a corporation having stock without nominal or par value shall be determined by dividing the amount paid as a dividend or dividends during the year by the amount paid in on such stock and, if the rate is six per centum or more, then for taxable years ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, the rate of one-quarter of a mill for each one per centum of dividends shall be applied to the amount paid in on such stock, and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, the rate of four-tenths of a mill for each one per centum of dividends shall be applied to the amount paid in on such stock, unless such tax be less than the minimum tax hereinbefore in this section provided for. Any consideration given by a corporation for the purchase of its own stock in excess of the consideration received by it for the issuance of such stock shall for the purposes of this section, be considered as a dividend.

7. The owning or holding in the city by any corporation of property, other than property exclusively in interstate or foreign commerce, shall constitute carrying on business within the city within the intent of this section, except that a corporation having no property in the city other than a bank balance or stocks or bonds, or one or more of such kinds of property, either held for safe keeping or pledged as collateral security shall not be taxable under this section, and further provided that any corporation having only office furniture or fixtures, a bank balance, and stocks or bonds pledged as collateral security or merely deposited for safe keeping, shall not be taxable under this section.

8. The measure of the amount of capital stock in the city of an aviation corporation shall be a portion of the issued capital stock determined by applying thereto the arithmetical average of the following three ratios: (a) the ratio which the aircraft arrivals and departures within the city scheduled by any such corporation during the preceding calendar year bear to the total aircraft arrivals and departures within and without the city scheduled by it during the same period, provided that in the case of non-scheduled operations all arrivals and departures shall be substituted for scheduled arrivals and departures; (b) the ratio which the revenue tons handled by such corporation at airports within the city during the preceding calendar year bear to the total revenue tons handled by it at airports within and without the city during the same period; and (c) the ratio which such corporation's originating revenue within the city for the preceding calendar years bears to its total originating revenue within and without the city for the same period. As used in this section, the term "aircraft arrivals and departures" means the number of scheduled landings and takeoffs of the aircraft of an aviation corporation, and the number of scheduled air pickups and deliveries by the aircraft of such corporation, and in the case of non-scheduled operations shall include all landings and takeoffs, pickups and deliveries; the term "originating revenue" means revenue to any such corporation from the transportation of revenue passengers and revenue property first received by such corporation either as originating or connecting traffic at airports; and the term "revenue tons handled" by any such corporation at an airport means the weight in tons of revenue passengers (at two hundred pounds per passenger) and revenue cargo first received either as originating or connecting traffic or finally discharged by such corporation at such airport.

9. The measure of the capital stock in the city of a corporation engaged in the operation of vessels in foreign commerce shall be such portion of the issued capital stock as the aggregate number of working days in territorial waters of the city of all such vessels bears to the aggregate number of working days of all such vessels. The dividend rate for such a corporation shall be determined by dividing the amount paid as a dividend or dividends on all classes of stock during the year by the amount of paid-in capital and, if the rate is six per centum or more, then for taxable years ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, the rate of one-quarter of a mill for each one per centum of dividends shall be applied to the amount of such paid-in capital, and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, the rate of four-tenths of a mill for each one per centum of dividends shall be applied to the amount of such paid-in capital.

§ 11-665 Service of process; limitation of time.

1. Every foreign corporation (other than a moneyed corporation) subject to the provisions of this subchapter, except a corporation having authority to do business by virtue of section thirteen hundred five of the business corporation law, shall file in the department of state a certificate of designation in its corporate name, signed and acknowledged by its president or vice-president or its secretary or treasurer, under its corporate seal, designating the secretary of state as its agent upon whom process in any action provided for by this subchapter or subchapter five of this chapter may be served within this state, and setting forth an address to which the secretary of state shall mail a copy of any such process against the corporation which may be served upon the secretary of state. In case any such corporation shall have failed to file such certificate of designation, it shall be deemed to have designated the secretary of state as its agent upon whom such process against it may be served; and until a certificate of designation shall have been filed the corporation shall be deemed to have directed the secretary of state to mail copies of process served upon the secretary of state to the corporation at its last known office address within or without the state. When a certificate of designation has been filed by such corporation the secretary of state shall mail copies of process thereafter served upon the secretary of state to the address set forth in such certificate. Any such corporation, from time to time, may change the address to which the secretary of state is directed to mail copies of process, by filing a certificate to that effect executed, signed and acknowledged in like manner as a certificate of designation as herein provided. Service of process upon any such corporation or upon any corporation having authority to do business by virtue of section thirteen hundred five of the business corporation law, in any action commenced at any time pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter five or subchapter six of this chapter may be made by either: (1) personally delivering to and leaving with the secretary of state, a deputy secretary of state or with any person authorized by the secretary of state to receive such service duplicate copies thereof at the office of the department of state in the city of Albany, in which event the secretary of state shall forthwith send by registered mail, return receipt requested, one of such copies to the corporation at the address designated by it or at its last known office address within or without the state, or (2) personally delivering to and leaving with the secretary of state, a deputy secretary of state or with any person authorized by the secretary of state to receive such service, a copy thereof at the office of the department of state in the city of Albany and by delivering a copy hereof to, and leaving such copy with, the president, vice-president, secretary, assistant secretary, treasurer, assistant treasurer, or cashier of such corporation, or the officer performing corresponding functions under another name, or a director or managing agent of such corporation, personally without the state. Proof of such personal service without the state shall be filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending within thirty days after such service, and such service shall be complete ten days after proof thereof is filed.

2. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules relative to the limitation of time of enforcing a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty prescribed by this subchapter or subchapter five of this chapter, provided, however, that as to real estate in the hands of persons who are owners thereof who would be purchasers in good faith but for such tax or penalty and as to the lien on real estate of mortgages held by persons who would be holders thereof in good faith but for such tax or penalty, all such taxes and penalties shall cease to be a lien on such real estate as against such purchasers or holders after the expiration of ten years from the date such taxes become due and payable. The limitations herein provided for shall not apply to any transfer from a corporation to a person or corporation with intent to avoid payment of any taxes, or where with like intent the transfer is made to a grantee corporation, or any subsequent grantee corporation controlled by such grantor or which has any community of interest with it, either through stock ownership or otherwise.

§ 11-667 Reports of corporations.

Corporations liable to pay a tax under this subchapter shall report as follows:

1. Every corporation, association or joint-stock company liable to pay a tax under section 11-662 of this subchapter shall, on or before March first in each year, make a written report to the commissioner of finance of its condition at the close of its business on the preceding December thirty-first, stating the amount of its authorized capital stock, the amount of stock paid-in, the date and rate per centum of each dividend paid by it during the year ending with such day, the entire amount of the capital of such corporation, and the capital employed by it in the city during such year.

2. Every corporation, joint-stock company or association liable to pay an additional tax under section 11-663 of this subchapter shall also, on or before February fifteenth, May fifteenth, August fifteenth and November fifteenth in each year, make a written report to the commissioner of finance of the amount of its gross earnings subject to the tax imposed by said section for the quarter year ended on the last day of the second month preceding that in which the report is required to be filed. Any such corporation, joint-stock company or association which ceases to be subject to the tax imposed by section 11-663 of this subchapter by reason of a liquidation, dissolution, merger or consolidation with any other corporation, or any other cause, shall, on the date of such cessation or at such other time as the commissioner of finance may require, make a written report to the commissioner of finance of the amount of its gross earnings subject to the tax imposed by section 11-663 of this subchapter for any period for which no report was therefor filed.

3. The commissioner of finance may for good cause shown extend the time within which any corporation is required to report by this subchapter.

4. Every report required by this subchapter shall have annexed thereto a certification by the president, vice-president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, or chief accounting officer or any other officer of the corporation, association or joint-stock company duly authorized so to act, or of the person or one of the persons, or the members of the partnership making the same, to the effect that the statements contained therein are true. The fact that an individual's name is signed on a certification attached to a corporate report shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to certify the report on behalf of the corporation. Such reports shall contain any other data information or matter which the commissioner of finance may require to be included therein, and it may prescribe the form in which such reports shall be made. When so prescribed such forms shall be used in making the report. The commissioner of finance may require at any time a further or supplemental report under this subchapter which shall contain information and data upon such matters as the commissioner of finance may specify. Reports shall be preserved for five years, and thereafter until the commissioner of finance orders them to be destroyed.

2. Where an application for consent to dissolution, as provided by section one thousand four of the business corporation law, is filed with the commissioner of finance prior to the commencement of any tax year or period by a corporation subject to tax under this subchapter, such corporation shall not be liable for any tax imposed by this subchapter for such following year or period (except as may be otherwise provided in section 11-664 of this subchapter), provided that the certificate of dissolution for such corporation is duly filed in the office of the secretary of state within twenty days after the filing of such application.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subchapter, the commissioner of finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of any tax imposed by this subchapter under such conditions as the commissioner deems just and proper.

§ 11-671 Application of subchapter.

1. General. The provisions of this subchapter shall apply to the administration of and the procedures with respect to the taxes imposed by subchapters two, three and four of this chapter.

2. Definitions. As used in this subchapter: (a) the term "named subchapters" means subchapters two, three and four of this chapter; (b) The term "return" means a report or return of tax, but does not include a declaration of estimated tax;

(c) The term "corporation" includes a corporation, association, joint-stock company or other entity subject to tax under any of the named subchapters; and

(d) The term "person" includes a corporation, association, company, partnership, estate, trust, liquidator, fiduciary or other entity or individual liable for the tax imposed by any of the named subchapters or under a duty to perform an act under any of the named subchapters. Upon notice to the commissioner of finance that any person is acting for any corporation in a fiduciary capacity, such fiduciary shall assume the powers, rights, duties and privileges of such corporation in respect of a tax imposed by any of the named subchapters (except as otherwise specifically provided and except that the tax shall be collected from the estate or other assets of such corporation in the hands of such fiduciary), until notice is given that the fiduciary capacity has terminated.

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-672 Notice of deficiency.

1. General. If upon examination of a taxpayer's return, the commissioner of finance determines that there is a deficiency of tax, the commissioner may mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. If a taxpayer fails to file a tax return, the commissioner of finance is authorized to estimate the taxpayer's city tax liability from any information in the commissioner's possession, and to mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer. A notice of deficiency shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the taxpayer, at its last known address in or out of the city. If the taxpayer has terminated its existence, a notice of deficiency may be mailed to its last known address in or out of the city, and such notice shall be sufficient for purposes of this subchapter. If the commissioner of finance has received notice that a person is acting for the taxpayer in a fiduciary capacity, a copy of such notice shall also be mailed to the fiduciary named in such notice.

2. Notice of deficiency as assessment. After ninety days from the mailing of a notice of deficiency or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, after ninety days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, such notice shall be an assessment of the amount of tax specified therein, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, except only for any such tax or other amounts as to which the taxpayer has within such ninety day period filed with the tax appeals tribunal a petition under section 11-680 of this subchapter. If the notice of deficiency or conciliation decision is addressed to a taxpayer whose last known address is outside of the United States, such period shall be one hundred fifty days instead of ninety days.

3. Restrictions on assessment and levy. No assessment of a deficiency in tax and no levy or proceeding in court for its collection shall be made, begun or prosecuted, except as otherwise provided in section 11-685 of this subchapter, until a notice of deficiency has been mailed to the taxpayer, nor until the expiration of the time for filing a petition with the tax appeals tribunal contesting such notice, nor, if a petition with respect to the taxable year has been both served on the commissioner of finance and filed with the tax appeals tribunal, until the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final. For exception in the case of judicial review of the decision of the tax appeals tribunal, see subdivision three of section 11-681 of this subchapter.

4. Exceptions for mathematical errors. If a mathematical error appears on a return (including an overstatement of the amount paid as estimated tax), the commissioner of finance shall notify the taxpayer that an amount of tax in excess of that shown upon the return is due, and that such excess has been assessed. Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision six of section 11-678 (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision two of section 11-680 of this subchapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or collection be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision three of this section.

5. Exception where federal or New York state change or correction is not reported.

(a) If the taxpayer fails to comply with subchapter two or three of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, increasing or decreasing its federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax as reported on its federal or New York state income tax return or in not reporting a change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes or in not filing an amended return or in not reporting the execution of a notice of waiver executed pursuant to subsection (d) of section six thousand two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code or pursuant to subdivision (f) of section one thousand eighty-one of the tax law, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in subdivision two of this section, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency based upon such increased or decreased federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, or an amended return, where such return was required by subchapter two or three, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(b) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision six of section 11-678 (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision two of section 11-680 of this subchapter (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or the collection thereof be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision three of this section.

(c) If the taxpayer has terminated its existence, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to the taxpayer's last known address in or out of the city, and such notice shall be sufficient for purposes of this subchapter. If the commissioner of finance has received notice that a person is acting for the taxpayer in a fiduciary capacity, a copy of such notice shall also be mailed to the fiduciary named in such notice.

6. Waiver of restrictions. The taxpayer shall at any time (whether or not a notice of deficiency has been issued) have the right to waive the restrictions on assessment and collection of the whole or any part of the deficiency by a signed notice in writing filed with the commissioner of finance.

7. Two or more corporations. In case of a combined return under subchapter two or a consolidated return under subchapter three of two or more corporations, the commissioner of finance may determine a deficiency of tax under subchapter two or subchapter three of this chapter with respect to the entire tax due upon such return against any taxpayer included therein. In the case of a taxpayer which might have been included in such a return under subchapter two or subchapter three of this chapter when the tax was originally reported, the commissioner of finance may determine a deficiency of tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter against such taxpayer and against any other taxpayers which might have been included in such a return.

8. Deficiency defined. For the purposes of this subchapter, a deficiency means the amount of the tax imposed by the named subchapters, or any of them, less: (a) the amount shown as the tax upon the taxpayer's return (whether the return was made or the tax computed by it or by the commissioner of finance), and less (b) the amounts previously assessed (or collected without assessment) as a deficiency and plus (c) the amount of any rebates. For the purpose of this definition, the tax imposed by subchapter two or three of this chapter and the tax shown on the return shall both be determined without regard to any payment of estimated tax; and a rebate means so much of an abatement, credit, refund or other repayment (whether or not erroneous) as was made on the ground that the amounts entering into the definition of a deficiency showed a balance in favor of the taxpayer.

9. Exception where change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability is not reported.

(a) If a taxpayer fails to comply with subchapter two of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction of its sales and compensating use tax liability or in not filing a copy of an amended return or report relating to its sales and compensating use tax liability, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in subdivision two of this section, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency based upon such changed or corrected sales and compensating use tax liability, as same relates to credits claimed under subchapter two of this chapter, by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest, additions to tax and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the state change or correction or a copy of an amended return or report, where such copy was required by subchapter two, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

(b) Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of deficiency for the purposes of this section, subdivision six of section 11-678 (limiting credits or refunds after petition to the tax appeals tribunal), or subdivision two of section 11-680 (authorizing the filing of a petition with the tax appeals tribunal based on a notice of deficiency), nor shall such assessment or the collection thereof be prohibited by the provisions of subdivision three of this section.

(c) If the taxpayer has terminated its existence, a notice of additional tax due may be mailed to its last known address in or out of the city, and such notice shall be sufficient for purposes of this subchapter. If the commissioner of finance has received notice that a person is acting for the taxpayer in a fiduciary capacity, a copy of such notice shall also be mailed to the fiduciary named in such notice.

§ 11-673 Assessment.

1. Assessment date. The amount of tax which a return shows to be due, or the amount of tax which a return would have shown to be due but for a mathematical error, shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing of the return (including any amended return showing an increase of tax). If a notice of deficiency has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in subdivision two of section 11-672 of this subchapter if no petition is both served on the commissioner of finance and filed with the tax appeals tribunal, or if a petition is so served and filed, then upon the date when a decision of the tax appeals tribunal establishing the amount of the deficiency becomes final. If a report or an amended return filed pursuant to subchapter two or three of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a federal or New York state adjustment or change or correction or renegotiation or computation or recomputation of tax, any deficiency in tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed to be assessed on the date of filing such report or amended return, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-674 of this chapter.

If a report filed pursuant to subchapter two of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a state change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, any deficiency in tax under subchapter two of this chapter resulting therefrom shall be deemed assessed on the date of filing such report, and such assessment shall be timely notwithstanding section 11-674 of this chapter.

If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision five of section 11-672 of this chapter, has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the federal or New York state adjustment or change or correction or renegotiation or computation or recomputation of tax, or an amended return, where such return was required by subchapter two or three of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such federal or New York state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

If a notice of additional tax due, as prescribed in subdivision nine of section 11-672 of this subchapter, has been mailed, the amount of the deficiency shall be deemed to be assessed on the date specified in such subdivision unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the state change or correction, or a copy of an amended return or report, where such copy was required by subchapter two of this chapter, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous.

Any amount paid as a tax or in respect of a tax, other than amounts paid as estimated tax, shall be deemed to be assessed upon the date of receipt of payment notwithstanding any other provisions.

2. Other assessment powers. If the mode or time for the assessment of any tax under the named subchapters (including interest, additions to tax and assessable penalties) is not otherwise provided for, the commissioner of finance may establish the same by regulations.

3. Estimated tax. No unpaid amount of estimated tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter shall be assessed.

4. Supplemental assessment. The commissioner of finance may, at any time within the period described for assessment, make a supplemental assessment, subject to the provisions of section 11-672 of this subchapter where applicable, whenever it is ascertained that any assessment is imperfect or incomplete in any material respect.

5. Cross reference. For assessment in case of jeopardy, see section 11-685 of this subchapter.

§ 11-674 Limitations on assessment.

1. General. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any tax under the named subchapters shall be assessed within three years after the return was filed (whether or not such return was filed on or after the date prescribed).

2. Time return deemed filed. For the purposes of this section, a return of tax filed before the last day prescribed by law or by regulations promulgated pursuant to law for the filing thereof shall be deemed to be filed on such last day.

3. Exceptions.

(a) Assessment at any time. The tax may be assessed at any time if:

(1) no return is filed,

(2) a false or fraudulent return is filed with intent to evade tax,

(3) in the case of the tax imposed under subchapter two or three of this chapter, the taxpayer fails to file a report or amended return required thereunder, in respect of an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, or in respect of a change or correction or renegotiation or in respect of the execution of a notice of waiver report of which is required thereunder, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, or

(4) in the case of the tax imposed under subchapter two of this chapter, the taxpayer fails to file a report or amended return or report required thereunder, in respect of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, relating to the purchase or use of items for which a sales or compensating use tax credit against the tax imposed by subchapter two was claimed.

(b) Extension by agreement. Where, before the expiration of the time prescribed in this section for the assessment of tax, both the commissioner of finance and the taxpayer have consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the tax may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon.

(c) Report of federal or New York state change or correction. In the case of the tax imposed under subchapter two or three of this chapter, if the taxpayer files a report or amended return required thereunder, in respect of an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, or in respect of a change or correction or renegotiation, or in respect of the execution of a notice of waiver report of which is required thereunder, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report or amended return) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax attributable to such federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

(d) Deficiency attributable to carry back. If a deficiency of tax under subchapter two of this chapter is attributable to the application to taxpayer of a net operating loss carry back or a capital loss carry back, it may be assessed at any time that a deficiency for the taxable year of the loss may be assessed.

(e) Recovery of erroneous refund. An erroneous refund shall be considered an underpayment of tax on the date made, and an assessment of a deficiency arising out of an erroneous refund may be made at any time within two years from the making of the refund, except that the assessment may be made within five years from the making of the refund if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(f) Request for prompt assessment. The tax shall be assessed within eighteen months after written request therefor (made after the return is filed) by the taxpayer or by a fiduciary representing the taxpayer, but not more than three years after the return was filed, except as otherwise provided in this subdivision and subdivision four. This subdivision shall not apply unless:

(1) (A) such written request notifies the commissioner of finance that the taxpayer contemplates dissolution at or before the expiration of such eighteen-month period, (B) the dissolution is in good faith begun before the expiration of such eighteen-month period, (C) the dissolution is completed;

(2) (A) such written request notifies the commissioner of finance that a dissolution has in good faith been begun, and (B) the dissolution is completed; or

(3) a dissolution has been completed at the time such written request is made.

(g) Change of the allocation of taxpayer's income or capital. No change of the allocation of income or capital upon which the taxpayer's return (or any additional assessment) was based shall be made where an assessment of tax is made during the additional period of limitation under subparagraph three or four of paragraph (a), or under paragraph (c), (d) or (i); and where any such assessment has been made, or where a notice of deficiency has been mailed to the taxpayer on the basis of any such proposed assessment, no change of the allocation of income or capital shall be made in a proceeding on the taxpayer's claim for refund of such assessment or on the taxpayer's petition for redetermination of such deficiency.

(h) Report concerning waste treatment facility. Under the circumstances described in subparagraph three of paragraph (g) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 of this chapter, the tax may be assessed within three years after the filing of the report containing the information required by such paragraph.

(i) Report of changed or corrected sales and compensating use tax liability. In the case of a tax imposed under subchapter two of this chapter, if the taxpayer files a report or amended return or report required thereunder, in respect of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, the assessment (if not deemed to have been made upon the filing of the report) may be made at any time within two years after such report or amended return or report was filed. The amount of such assessment of tax shall not exceed the amount of the increase in city tax attributable to such state change or correction. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which an assessment may otherwise be made.

4. Omission of income on return. The tax may be assessed at any time within six years after the return was filed if a taxpayer omits from gross income required to be reported on a return under any of the named subchapters an amount properly includable therein which is in excess of twenty-five per centum of the amount of gross income stated in the return.

For the purposes of this subdivision:

(a) the term "gross income" means gross income for federal income tax purposes as reportable on a return under subchapter two of this chapter and "gross earnings, "gross income," "gross operating income" and "gross direct premiums less return premiums," as those terms are used in whichever of the named subchapters is applicable;

(b) there shall not be taken into account any amount which is omitted in the return if such amount is disclosed in the return, or in a statement attached to the return, in a manner adequate to apprise the commissioner of finance of the nature and amount of such item.

5. Suspension of running of period of limitations. The running of the period of limitations on assessment or collection of tax or other amount (or of a tranferee's liability) shall, after the mailing of a notice of deficiency, be suspended for the period during which the commissioner of finance is prohibited under subdivision three of section 11-672 of this subchapter from making the assessment or from collecting by levy.

¶ 1. Section 11-674(4) provides a three year statute of limitations on the City's assessment of General Corporation Tax. There are exceptions where "no return" is filed or where the return is fraudulent. A business which files Activities Reports (Form NYC-425), which disclaims tax liability, is deemed to have filed a "return" for purposes of the statute of limitations. Apex Air Freight, Inc. v. SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-675 Interest on underpayment.

1. General. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed in whichever of the named subchapters is applicable for payment, interest on such amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this subchapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date paid, whether or not any extension of time for payment was granted. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

2. Exception as to estimated tax. This section shall not apply to any failure to pay estimated tax under subchapter two or subchapter three of this chapter.

3. Exception for mathematical error. No interest shall be imposed on any underpayment of tax due solely to mathematical error if the taxpayer files a return within the time prescribed in whichever of the named subchapters is applicable (including any extension of time) and pays the amount of underpayment within three months after the due date of such return, as it may be extended.

4. Suspension of interest on deficiencies. If a waiver of restrictions on assessment of a deficiency has been filed by the taxpayer, and if notice and demand by the commissioner of finance for payment of such deficiency is not made within thirty days after the filing of such waiver, interest shall not be imposed on such deficiency for the period beginning immediately after such thirtieth day and ending with the date of notice and demand.

5. Tax reduced by carry back. If the amount of tax under subchapter two for any taxable year is reduced by reason of a carry back of a net operating loss or a capital loss, such reduction in tax shall not affect the computation of interest under this section for the period ending with the filing date for the taxable year in which the net operating loss or capital loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file.

6. Interest treated as tax. Interest under this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as the taxes under the named subchapters. Any reference in this subchapter to the tax imposed by the named subchapters, or any of them, shall be deemed also to refer to interest imposed by this section on such tax.

7. Interest on penalties or addition to tax. Interest shall be imposed under subdivision one in respect to any assessable penalty or addition to tax only if such assessable penalty or addition to tax is not paid within ten days from the date of the notice and demand therefor under subdivision two of section 11-683 of this subchapter in such case interest shall be imposed only for the period from such date of the notice and demand to the date of payment.

8. Payment within ten days after notice and demand. If notice and demand is made for payment of any amount under subdivision two of section 11-683 of this subchapter, and if such amount is paid within ten days after the date of such notice and demand, interest under this section on the amount so paid shall not be imposed for the period after the date of such notice and demand.

9. Limitation on assessment and collection. Interest prescribed under this section may be assessed and collected at any time during the period within which the tax or other amount to which such interest relates may be assessed and collected respectively.

10. Interest on erroneous refund. Any portion of tax or other amount which has been erroneously refunded, and which is recoverable by the commissioner of finance, shall bear interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this subchapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum from the date of the payment of the refund, but only if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or a misrepresentation of a material fact.

11. Satisfaction by credits. If any portion of a tax is satisfied by credit of an overpayment, then no interest shall be imposed under this section on the portion of the tax so satisfied for any period during which, if the credit had not been made, interest would have been allowable with respect to such overpayment.

§ 11-676 Additions to tax and civil penalties.

1. (a) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under the named subchapters on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(b) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amounts shown as tax on any return required to be filed under the named subchapters on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(c) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under the named subchapters which is not so shown (including an assessment made pursuant to subdivision one of section 11-673 of this subchapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(d) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph (a) of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (b) of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs (a) and (b). In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (a) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph (c) of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (a) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (a)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

2. Deficiency due to negligence. (a) If any part of a deficiency is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this subchapter or any of the named subchapters or rules or regulations thereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to five percent of the deficiency.

(b) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (a) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision one of section 11-675 with respect to the portion of the deficiency described in such paragraph (a) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (a), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such deficiency (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(c) If any payment is shown on a return made by a payor with respect to dividends, patronage dividends and interest under subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-two, subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-four or subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-nine of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, respectively, and the payee fails to include any portion of such payment in gross income, as that term is defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision four of section 11-674, any portion of an underpayment attributable to such failure shall be treated, for purposes of this subdivision, as due to negligence in the absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary. If any addition to tax is imposed under this subdivision by reason of the preceding sentence, the amount of the addition to tax imposed by paragraph (a) of this subdivision shall be five percent of the portion of the underpayment which is attributable to the failure described in the preceding sentence.

3. Failure to file declaration or underpayment of estimated tax. If any taxpayer fails to file a declaration of estimated tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter, or fails to pay all or any part of an amount which is applied as an installment against such estimated tax, it shall be deemed to have made an underpayment of estimated tax. There shall be added to the tax for the taxable year an amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this subchapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount of the underpayment for the period of the underpayment but not beyond the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the taxable year. The amount of the underpayment shall be, with respect to any installment of estimated tax computed on the basis of the preceding year's tax, the excess of the amount required to be paid over the amount, if any, paid on or before the last day prescribed for such payment or, with respect to any other installment of estimated tax, the excess of the amount of the installment which would be required to be paid if the estimated tax were equal to ninety percent of the tax shown on the return for the taxable year (or if no return was filed, ninety percent of the tax for such year) over the amount, if any, of the installment paid on or before the last day prescribed for such payment. In any case in which there would be no underpayment if "eighty percent" were substituted for "ninety percent" each place it appears in this subdivision, the addition to the tax shall be equal to seventy-five percent of the amount otherwise determined. No underpayment shall be deemed to exist with respect to a declaration or installment otherwise due on or after the termination of existence of the taxpayer.

4. Exception to addition for underpayment of estimated tax. The addition to tax under subdivision three with respect to any underpayment of any amount which is applied as an installment against estimated tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter shall not be imposed if the total amount of all payments of estimated tax made on or before the last date prescribed for the payment of any such amount equals or exceeds the amount which would have been required to be paid on or before such date if the estimated tax were whichever of the following is the least:

(a) The tax shown on the return of the taxpayer for the preceding taxable year, if a return showing a liability for tax was filed by the taxpayer for the preceding taxable year and such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months, or

(b) An amount equal to the tax computed at the rates applicable to the taxable year, but otherwise on the basis of the facts shown on the return of the taxpayer for, and the law applicable to, the preceding taxable year, or

(c) (i) An amount equal to ninety per centum of the tax for the taxable year computed by placing on an annualized basis the taxable income:

(1) for the first three months or the first five months of the taxable year, in the case of the installment required to be paid in the sixth month.

(2) for the first six months or the first eight months of the taxable year, in the case of the installment required to be paid in the ninth month, and

(3) for the first nine months or the first eleven months of the taxable year, in the case of the installment required to be paid in the twelfth month.

(ii) For purposes of subparagraph (i) the taxable income shall be placed on an annualized basis by:

(1) multiplying it by twelve (or, in the case of a taxable year of less than twelve months, the number of months in the taxable year) and

(2) dividing the resulting amount by the number of months in the taxable year (three, five, six, eight, nine or eleven, as the case may be) referred to in subparagraph (i), or

(d) (i) If the base period percentage for any six consecutive months of the taxable year equals or exceeds seventy percent, an amount equal to ninety percent of the tax determined in the following manner:

(A) take the taxable income for all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month,

(B) divide such amount by the base period percentage for all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month,

(C) determine the tax on the amount determined under clause (B), and

(D) multiply the tax determined under clause (C) by the base period percentage for the filing month and all months during the taxable year preceding the filing month.

(ii) For purposes of subparagraph (i):

(A) the base period percentage for any period of months shall be the average percent which the taxable income for the corresponding months in each of the three preceding taxable years bears to the taxable income for the three preceding taxable years. The commissioner of finance may by regulations provide for the determination of the base period percentage in the case of reorganizations, new corporations, and other similar circumstances, and

(B) the term "filing month" means the month in which the installment is required to be paid.

5. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, paragraphs (a) and (b) of subdivision four of this section shall not apply in the case of any corporation (or any predecessor corporation) which had entire net income, or the portion thereof allocated within the city, of one million dollars or more for any taxable year during the three taxable years immediately preceding the taxable year involved.

(b) The amount treated as the estimated tax under paragraphs (a) and (b) of subdivision four of this section shall in no event be less than seventy-five percent of the tax shown on the return for the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-three or, if no return was filed, seventy-five percent of the tax for such year.

6. Deficiency due to fraud. (a) If any part of a deficiency is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to fifty percent of the deficiency.

(b) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (a) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision one of section 11-675 with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (a) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(c) The addition to tax under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision one or two.

7. Additional penalty. Any person who with fraudulent intent shall fail to pay under the named subchapters any tax, or to make, render, sign or certify any return or declaration of estimated tax, or to supply any information within the time required by or under any of the named subchapters, shall be liable to penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this subchapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

8. Additions treated as tax. The additions to tax and penalties provided by this section shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as taxes, and any reference in this subchapter to tax imposed by any of the named subchapters shall be deemed also to refer to the additions to tax and penalties provided by this section. For purposes of section 11-672 of this subchapter, this subdivision shall not apply to:

(a) any addition to tax under subdivision one except as to that portion attributable to a deficiency;

(b) any addition to tax under subdivision three or fourteen; and

(c) any additional penalties under subdivisions seven and twelve.

9. Determination of deficiency. For purposes of subdivisions two and six the amount shown as the tax by the taxpayer upon its return shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the deficiency only if such return was filed on or before the last day prescribed for the filing of such return, determined with regard to any extension of time for such filing.

10. Person defined. For purposes of subdivisions seven and twelve, the term "person" includes an individual, corporation or partnership or an officer or employee of any corporation (including a dissolved corporation), or a member or employee of any partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

11. Substantial understatement of liability. If there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable year, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to ten percent of the amount of any underpayment attributable to such understatement. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable year if the amount of the understatement for the taxable year exceeds the greater of ten percent of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year or five thousand dollars. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "understatement" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return, reduced by any rebate (within the meaning of subdivision eight of section 11-672). The amount of such understatement shall be reduced by that portion of the understatement which is attributable to the tax treatment of any item by the taxpayer if there is or was substantial authority for such treatment, or any item with respect to which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. The commissioner of finance may waive all or any part of the addition to tax provided by this subdivision on a showing by the taxpayer that there was reasonable cause for the understatement (or part thereof) and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

12. Aiding or assisting in the giving of fraudulent returns, reports, statements or other documents. (a) Any person who, with the intent that tax be evaded, shall, for a fee or other compensation or as an incident to the performance of other services for which such person receives compensation, aid or assist in, or procure, counsel, or advise the preparation or presentation under, or in connection with any matter arising under this chapter of any return, report, declaration, statement or other document which is fraudulent or false as to any material matter, or supply any false or fraudulent information, whether or not such falsity or fraud is with the knowledge or consent of the person authorized or required to present such return, report, declaration, statement or other document shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

(b) For purposes of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, the term "procures" includes ordering (or otherwise causing) a subordinate to do an act, and knowing of, and not attempting to prevent, participation by a subordinate in an act. The term "subordinate" means any other person (whether or not a director, officer, employee, or agent of the taxpayer involved) over whose activities the person has direction, supervision, or control.

(c) For purposes of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a person furnishing typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assistance with respect to a document shall not be treated as having aided or assisted in the preparation of such document by reason of such assistance.

(d) The penalty imposed by this subdivision shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

13. Failure to file report of information relating to certain interest payments. In case of failure to file the report of information required under subdivision two-a of section 11-605 of this chapter, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five hundred dollars.

14. Failure to include on return information relating to issuer's allocation percentage. Where a return is filed but does not contain (1) the information necessary to compute the taxpayer's issuer's allocation percentage, as defined in subparagraph one of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this chapter, where the same is called for on the return, or, (2) the taxpayer's issuer's allocation percentage, where the same is called for on the return but where all of the information necessary for the computation of such percentage is not called for on the return, then unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five hundred dollars.

1. General. The commissioner of finance, within the applicable period of limitations, may credit an overpayment of tax and interest on such overpayment against any liability in respect of any tax imposed by any of the named subchapters of this chapter or on the taxpayer who made the overpayment, and the balance shall be refunded out of the proceeds of the tax.

2. Credits against estimated tax. The commissioner of finance may prescribe regulations providing for the crediting against the estimated tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter for any taxable year of the amount determined to be an overpayment of tax under any such subchapter for a preceding taxable year. If any overpayment of tax is so claimed as a credit against estimated tax for the succeeding taxable year, such amount shall be considered as a payment of the tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter for the succeeding taxable year (whether or not claimed as a credit in the declaration of estimated tax for such succeeding taxable year), and no claim for credit or refund of such overpayment shall be allowed for the taxable year for which the overpayment arises.

3. Rule where no tax liability. If there is no tax liability for a period in respect of which an amount is paid as tax, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

4. Assessment and collection after limitation period. If any amount of tax is assessed or collected after the expiration of the period of limitations properly applicable thereto, such amount shall be considered an overpayment.

5. Assignment of overpayment. A credit for an overpayment of tax under any of the named subchapters may be assigned by the taxpayer to a corporation liable to pay taxes under any of the named subchapters, and the assignee of the whole or any part of such credit, on filing such assignment with the commissioner of finance, shall thereupon be entitled to credit upon the books of the commissioner of finance for the amount thereof on its current account for taxes, in the same manner and to the same effect as though the credit had originally been allowed in its favor.

6. Notwithstanding article fifty-two of the civil practice law and rules or any other provision of law to the contrary, the procedures for the enforcement of money judgments shall not apply to the department of finance, or to any officer or employee of such department, as a garnishee, with respect to any amount of money to be refunded or credited to a taxpayer under this chapter.

§ 11-678 Limitations on credit or refund.

1. General. Claim for credit or refund of an overpayment of tax under any of the named subchapters shall be filed by the taxpayer within three years from the time the return was filed or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever of such periods expires the later, or if no return was filed within two years from the time the tax was paid. If the claim is filed within the three year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid within the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim plus the period of any extension of time for filing the return. If the claim is not filed within the three year period, but is filed within the two year period, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if no claim is filed, the amount of a credit or refund shall not exceed the amount which would be allowable if a claim had been filed on the date the credit or refund is allowed. For special restriction in a proceeding on a claim for refund of tax paid pursuant to an assessment made as a result of: (a) a net operating loss carryback, or (b) an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, or (c) a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, see paragraph (g) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this subchapter.

2. Extension of time by agreement. If any agreement under the provisions of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this subchapter (extending the period of assessment of tax) is made within the period prescribed in subdivision one for the filing of a claim for credit or refund, the period for filing a claim for credit or refund, or for making credit or refund if no claim is filed, shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment may be made pursuant to the agreement or any extension thereof. The amount of such credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid after the execution of the agreement and before the filing of the claim or the making of the credit or refund, as the case may be, plus the portion of the tax paid within the period which would be applicable under subdivision one if a claim had been filed on the date the agreement was executed.

3. Notice of change or correction of federal or New York state income or other basis of tax. If a taxpayer is required by subchapter two or three of this chapter to file a report or amended return in respect of (a) a decrease or increase in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, (b) a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were an overpayment for federal or New York state income tax purposes, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time such report or amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner of finance. If the report or amended return required by subchapter two or three of this chapter is not filed within the ninety day period therein specified, no interest shall be payable on any claim for credit or refund of the overpayment attributable to the federal or New York state change or correction. The amount of such credit or refund:

(c) shall be computed without change of the allocation of income or capital upon which the taxpayer's return (or any additional assessment) was based, and

(d) shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such decrease or increase in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax or to such federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax.

This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

4. Overpayment attributable to net operating loss carry back or capital loss carry back. A claim for credit or refund of so much of an overpayment under subchapter two of this chapter as is attributable to the application to the taxpayer of a net operating loss carry back or a capital loss carry back shall be filed within three years from the time the return was due (including extensions thereof) for the taxable year of the loss, or within the period prescribed in subdivision two in respect of such taxable year, or within the period prescribed in subdivision three, where applicable, in respect to the taxable year to which the net operating loss or capital loss is carried back, whichever expires the latest. Where such claim for credit or refund is filed after the expiration of the period prescribed in subdivision one or in subdivision two where applicable, in respect to the taxable year to which the net operating loss or capital loss is carried back, the amount of such credit or refund shall be computed without change of the allocation of income or capital upon which the taxpayer's return (or any additional assessment) was based.

5. Failure to file claim within prescribed period. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made, except as provided in subdivision six of this section or subdivision four of section 11-681 of this subchapter, after the expiration of the applicable period of limitation specified in this subchapter, unless a claim for credit or refund is filed by the taxpayer within such period. Any later credit shall be void and any later refund erroneous. No period of limitations specified in any other law shall apply to the recovery by a taxpayer of moneys paid in respect of taxes under the named subchapters.

6. Effect of a petition to tax appeals tribunal. If a notice of deficiency for a taxable year has been mailed to the taxpayer under section 11-672 of this subchapter and if the taxpayer files a timely petition with the tax appeals tribunal under section 11-680 of this subchapter, the tax appeals tribunal may determine that the taxpayer has made an overpayment for such year (whether or not it also determines a deficiency for such year). No separate claim for credit or refund for such year shall be filed, and no credit or refund for such year shall be allowed or made, except:

(a) as to overpayment determined by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final; and

(b) as to any amount collected in excess of an amount computed in accordance with the decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final; and

(c) as to any amount collected after the period of limitation upon the making of levy for collection has expired; and

(d) as to any amount claimed as a result of a change or correction described in subdivision three.

7. Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of overpayment determined under subdivision six shall, when the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final, be credited or refunded in accordance with subdivision one of section 11-677 of this subchapter and shall not exceed the amount of tax which the tax appeals tribunal determines as part of its decision was paid:

(a) after the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or

(b) within the period which would be applicable under subdivision one, two or three, if on the date of the mailing of the notice of deficiency a claim had been filed (whether or not filed) stating the ground upon which the tax appeals tribunal finds that there is an overpayment.

For special restriction on credit or refund in a proceeding on a petition for redetermination of a deficiency where the notice of deficiency is issued as a result of (i) a net operating loss carryback, or (ii) an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, or (iii) a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, see paragraph (g) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this subchapter.

8. Early return. For purposes of this section, any return filed before the last day prescribed for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day, determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

9. Prepaid tax. For purposes of this section, any tax paid by the taxpayer before the last day prescribed for its payment (including any amount paid by the taxpayer as estimated tax for a taxable year) shall be deemed to have been paid by it on the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the taxable year the income of which is the basis for tax under subchapter two or three of this chapter, or on the last day prescribed in part one of subchapter three or subchapter four for the filing of a final return for such taxable year, or portion thereof, determined in all cases without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

10. Cross reference. For provision barring refund of overpayment credited against tax of a succeeding year, see subdivision two of section 11-677 of this subchapter.

11. Notice of change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability. (a) If a taxpayer is required by subchapter two of this chapter to file a report or amended return in respect of a change or correction of its sales and compensating use tax liability, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within two years from the time such report or amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner of finance. The amount of such credit or refund shall be computed without change of the allocation of income or capital upon which the taxpayer's return (or any additional assessment) was based, and shall not exceed the amount of the reduction in tax attributable to such change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability.

(b) This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Extensions in a deficiency assessment proceeding could not operate to revive a claim for credit or refund, under subdivision 1 of this section, of an overpayment of tax as to which the Statute of Limitations had already run.-Mobil v. Comm'r of Finance of the City of N.Y., 101 A.D. 2d 723 [1984].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. A taxpayer brought a declaratory judgment action challenging the City's denial of its refund claim. The court rejected the City's claim that the plaintiff had failed to exhaust administrative remedies. Where a taxpayer challenges the City's tax adjustments as unauthorized under Admin. Code §11-678, and there is no claim that an exercise of duly granted authority was tainted by factual or mathematical errors or were otherwise arbitrary or irrational, the taxpayer does not have to exhaust administrative remedies before commencing litigation. However, the court agreed with the City's contention that in determining whether or not plaintiff was entitled to a refund, the City can examine the entire return (not just the portion of the return relating to the refund claim) to ascertain whether there were any adjustments that could be made in the City's favor that would offset the claimed refund. The court held that the City had the right to look for offsetting adjustments to the taxpayer's refund claim, even though the three-year Statute of Limitations would have barred the City from affirmative recovery of a tax deficiency based on such adjustments. SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-679 Interest on overpayment.

1. General. Notwithstanding the provisions of section three-a of the general municipal law, interest shall be allowed and paid as follows at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to section 11-687 of this subchapter, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon any overpayment in respect to the tax imposed by any of the named subchapters:

(a) from the date of the overpayment to the due date of an amount against which a credit is taken;

(b) from the date of the overpayment to a date (to be determined by the commissioner of finance) preceding the date of a refund check by not more than thirty days, whether or not such refund check is accepted by the taxpayer after tender of such check to the taxpayer. The acceptance of such check shall be without prejudice to any right of the taxpayer to claim any additional overpayment and interest thereon.

(c) Late and amended returns and claims for credit or refund. Notwithstanding paragraph (a) or (b) of this subdivision, in the case of an overpayment claimed on a return of tax which is filed after the last date prescribed for filing such return (determined with regard to extensions), or claimed on an amended return of tax or claimed on a claim for credit or refund, no interest shall be allowed or paid for any day before the date on which such return or claim is filed.

(d) Interest on certain refunds. To the extent provided for in regulations promulgated by the commissioner of finance, if an item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit is changed from the taxable year or period in which it is reported to the taxable year or period in which it belongs and the change results in an underpayment in a taxable year or period and an overpayment in some other taxable year or period, the provisions of paragraph (c) of this subdivision with respect to an overpayment shall not be applicable to the extent that the limitation in such paragraph on the right to interest would result in a taxpayer not being allowed interest for a length of time with respect to an overpayment while being required to pay interest on an equivalent amount of the related underpayment. However, this paragraph shall be not construed as limiting or mitigating the effect of any statute of limitations or any other provision of law relating to the authority of such commissioner to issue a notice of deficiency or to allow a credit or refund of an overpayment.

(e) Amounts of less than one dollar. No interest shall be allowed or paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

2. Advance payment of tax and estimated tax. The provisions of subdivisions eight and nine of section 11-678 of this subchapter applicable in determining the date of payment of tax for purposes of determining the period of limitations on credit or refund, shall be applicable in determining the date of payment for purposes of this section.

3. Tax refund within three months of claim for overpayment. If any overpayment of tax imposed by any of the named subchapters is credited or refunded within three months after the last date prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for filing the return of such tax on which such overpayment was claimed or within three months after such return was filed, whichever is later, or within three months after an amended return was filed claiming such overpayment or within three months after a claim for credit or refund was filed on which such overpayment was claimed, no interest shall be allowed under this section on any such overpayment. For purposes of this subdivision, any amended return or claim for credit or refund filed before the last day prescribed (or permitted by extension of time) for the filing of the return of tax for such year or period shall be considered as filed on such last day.

4. Refund of tax caused by carryback. For purposes of this section, if any overpayment of tax imposed by subchapter two of this chapter results from a carry back of a net operating loss or a net capital loss, such overpayment shall be deemed not to have been made prior to the filing date for the taxable year in which such net operating loss or net capital loss arises. Such filing date shall be determined without regard to extensions of time to file. For purposes of subdivision three of this section any overpayment described herein shall be treated as an overpayment for the loss year and such subdivision shall be applied with respect to such overpayment by treating the return for the loss year as not filed before claim for such overpayment is filed. The term "loss year" means the taxable year in which such loss arises.

5. No interest until return in processible form.

(a) For purposes of subdivisions one and three of this section, a return shall not be treated as filed until it is filed in processible form.

(b) For purposes of paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a return is in a processible form if:

(A) such return is filed on a permitted form, and

(B) such return contains:

(i) the taxpayer's name; address, and identifying number and the required signatures, and

(ii) sufficient required information (whether on the return or on required attachments) to permit the mathematical verification of tax liability shown on the return.

6. Cross reference. For provision with respect to interest after failure to file a report of federal or New York state change or correction or amended return under subchapter two or three, see subdivison three of section 11-678 of this subchapter.

§ 11-680 Petition to tax appeals tribunal.

1. General. The form of a petition to the tax appeals tribunal, and further proceedings before the tax appeals tribunal in any case initiated by the filing of a petition, shall be governed by such rules as the tax appeals tribunal shall prescribe. No petition shall be denied in whole or in part without opportunity for a hearing on reasonable prior notice. Such hearing and any appeal to the tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall be rendered, and notice thereof shall be given, in the manner provided by section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

2. Petition for redetermination of a deficiency. Within ninety days, or one hundred fifty days if the notice is addressed to a taxpayer whose last known address is outside of the United States, after the mailing of the notice of deficiency authorized by section 11-672 of this subchapter, or if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, after ninety days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, the taxpayer may file a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for redetermination of the deficiency. Such petition may also assert a claim for refund for the same taxable year or years, subject to the limitations of subdivision seven of section 11-678 of this subchapter. For special restriction where the notice of deficiency relates to a proposed assessment made as a result of: (a) a net operating loss carry back or a capital loss carry back, (b) an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax, or (c) a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, see paragraph (g) of subdivision three of section 11-674 of this subchapter.

3. Petition for refund. A taxpayer may file a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for the amounts asserted in a claim for refund if:

(a) the taxpayer has filed a timely claim for refund with the commissioner of finance,

(b) the taxpayer has not previously filed with the tax appeals tribunal a timely petition under subdivision two for the same taxable year unless the petition under this subdivision relates to a separate claim for credit or refund properly filed under subdivision six of section 11-678 of this subchapter, and

(c) either: (1) six months have expired since the claim was filed, or (2) the commissioner of finance has mailed to the taxpayer, by registered or certified mail, a notice of disallowance of such claim in whole or in part.

No petition under this subdivision shall be filed more than two years after the date of mailing of a notice of disallowance, unless prior to the expiration of such two year period it has been extended by written agreement between the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance. If a taxpayer files a written waiver of the requirement that the taxpayer be mailed a notice of disallowance, the two year period prescribed by this subdivision for filing a petition for refund shall begin on the date such waiver is filed.

(d) If the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code, a taxpayer which is eligible to file a petition for refund with the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to this subdivision may request a conciliation conference prior to filing such petition, provided the request is made within the time prescribed for filing the petition. Notwithstanding anything in this subdivision to the contrary, if the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance with the procedure established pursuant to section 11-124 of the code, a petition for refund may be filed no later than ninety days from the mailing of the conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding.

4. Assertion of deficiency after filing petition.

(a) Petition for redetermination of deficiency. If a taxpayer files with the tax appeals tribunal a petition for redetermination of a deficiency, the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to determine a greater deficiency than asserted in the notice of deficiency and to determine if there should be assessed any addition to tax or penalty provided in section 11-676 of this subchapter, if claim therefor is asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax appeals tribunal.

(b) Petition for refund. If the taxpayer files with the tax appeals tribunal a petition for credit or refund for a taxable year, the tax appeals tribunal may:

(1) determine a deficiency for such year as to any amount of deficiency asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax appeals tribunal and within the period in which an assessment would be timely under section 11-674 of this subchapter, or

(2) deny so much of the amount for which credit or refund is sought in the petition, as is offset by other issues pertaining to the same taxable year which are asserted at or before the hearing under rules of the tax appeals tribunal.

(c) Opportunity to respond. A taxpayer shall be given a reasonable opportunity to respond to any matters asserted by the commissioner of finance under this subdivision.

(d) Restriction on further notices of deficiency. If the taxpayer files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal under this section, no notice of deficiency under section 11-672 of this subchapter may thereafter be issued by the commissioner of finance for the same taxable year, except in case of fraud or with respect to an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax or a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, required to be reported under subchapter two or three of this chapter or with respect to a state change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability required to be reported under subchapter two of this chapter.

5. Burden of proof. In any case before the tax appeals tribunal under this subchapter, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner except for the following issues, as to which the burden of proof shall be upon the commissioner of finance:

(a) whether the petitioner has been guilty of fraud with intent to evade tax;

(b) whether the petitioner is liable as the transferee of property of a taxpayer, but not to show that the taxpayer was liable for the tax;

(c) whether the petitioner is liable for any increase in a deficiency where such increase is asserted initially after a notice of deficiency was mailed and a petition under this section filed, unless such increase in deficiency is the result of an increase or decrease in federal or New York state taxable income, alternative minimum taxable income or other basis of tax or federal or New York state tax or a federal or New York state change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation of tax, which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal or New York state income tax purposes, required to be reported under subchapter two or three of this chapter, and of which increase, decrease, change or correction or renegotiation, or computation or recomputation, the commissioner of finance had no notice at the time he or she mailed the notice of deficiency or unless such increase indeficiency is the result of a change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability required to be reported under subchapter two of this chapter, and of which change or correction the commissioner of finance had no notice at the time he or she mailed the notice of deficiency; and

(d) whether any person is liable for a penalty under subdivision twelve of section 11-676.

6. Evidence of related federal or state determination. Evidence of a federal or state determination relating to issues raised in a case before the tax appeals tribunal under this section shall be admissible, under rules established by the tax appeals tribunal.

7. Jurisdiction over other years. The tax appeals tribunal shall consider such facts with relation to the taxes for other years as may be necessary correctly to determine the tax for the taxable year, but in so doing shall have no jurisdiction to determine whether or not the tax for any other year has been overpaid or underpaid.

SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-681 Review of tax appeals tribunal's decision.

1. General. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be subject to judicial review at the instance of any taxpayer affected thereby in the manner provided by law for the review of a final decision or action of administrative agencies of the city. An application by a taxpayer for such review must be made within four months after notice of the decision is sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance.

2. Judicial review exclusive remedy. The review of a decision of the tax appeals tribunal provided by this section shall be the exclusive remedy available to any taxpayer for the judicial determination of the liability of the taxpayer for the taxes imposed by the named subchapters.

3. Assessment pending review; review bond. Irrespective of any restrictions on the assessment and collection of deficiencies, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal in a decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter after the expiration of the period specified in subdivision one, notwithstanding that an application for judicial review in respect of such deficiency has been duly made by the taxpayer unless the taxpayer, at or before the time the taxpayer's application for review is made, has paid the deficiency, has deposited with the commissioner of finance the amount of the deficiency, or has filed with the commissioner of finance a bond (which may be a jeopardy bond under subdivision eight of section 11-685 of this subchapter) in the amount of the portion of the deficiency (including interest and other amounts) in respect of which the application for review is made and all costs and charges which may accrue against the taxpayer in the prosecution of the proceeding, including costs of all appeals, and with surety approved by a justice of the supreme court of the state, conditioned upon the payment of the deficiency (including interest and other amounts) as finally determined and such costs and charges. If, as a result of a waiver of the restrictions on the assessment and collection of a deficiency, any part of the amount determined by the tax appeals tribunal is paid after the filing of the review bond, such bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

4. Credit, refund or abatement after review. If the amount of a deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal is disallowed in whole or in part by the court of review, the amount so disallowed shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer, without the making of claim therefor, or, if payment has not been made, shall be abated.

5. Date of finality of tax appeals tribunal decision. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall become final upon the expiration of the period specified in subdivision one for making an application for review, if no such application has been duly made within such time, or if such application has been duly made, upon expiration of the time for all further judicial review, or upon the rendering by the tax appeals tribunal of a decision in accordance with the mandate of the court on review. Notwithstanding the foregoing, for the purpose of making an application for review, the decision of the tax appeals tribunal shall be deemed final on the date the notice of decision is sent by certified mail to the taxpayer and the commissioner of finance.

§ 11-682 Mailing rules; holidays; miscellaneous.

1. Timely mailing. (a) If any return, declaration of estimated tax, claim, statement, notice, petition, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this subchapter or of the named subchapters is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed. To the extent that the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal shall prescribe by regulation, certified mail may be used in lieu of registered mail under this subdivision. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this subdivision, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulations of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

(b) (i) Any reference in paragraph (a) of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in paragraph (a) of this subdivision to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in paragraph (a) of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in paragraph (a) of this subdivision to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(ii) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in paragraph (a) of this subdivision. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

2. Last known address. For purposes of this subchapter, a taxpayer's last known address shall be the address given in the last return filed by it, unless subsequently to the filing of such return the taxpayer shall have notified the commissioner of finance of a change of address.

3. Last day a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. When the last day prescribed under authority of this subchapter or the named subchapters (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

4. Certificate; unfiled return. For purposes of this subchapter and sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter, the certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return or declaration of estimated tax has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied, as required by or under the provisions of this chapter, shall be prima facie evidence that such tax has not been paid, that such return or declaration has not been filed, or that such information has not been supplied.

§ 11-683 Collection, levy and liens.

1. Collection procedures. The taxes imposed by the named subchapters shall be collected by the commissioner of finance, and he or she may establish the mode or time for the collection of any amount due him or her thereunder if not otherwise specified. The commissioner of finance shall, upon request, give a receipt for any sum collected thereunder. The commissioner of finance may authorize banks or trust companies which are depositaries or financial agents of the city to receive and give a receipt for any tax imposed under the named subchapters in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as the commissioner of finance may prescribe; and the commissioner of finance shall prescribe the manner, times and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the commissioner of finance.

2. Notice and demand for tax. The commissioner of finance shall as soon as practicable give notice to each taxpayer liable for any amount of tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest, which has been assessed but remains unpaid, stating the amount and demanding payment thereof. Such notice shall be left at the principal office of the taxpayer in the city or shall be sent by mail to such taxpayer's last known address. Except where the commissioner of finance determines that collection would be jeopardized by delay, if any tax is assessed prior to the last date (including any date fixed by extension) prescribed for payment of such tax, payment of such tax shall not be demanded until after such date.

3. Issuance of warrant after notice and demand. If any corporation or other person liable under the named subchapters for the payment of any tax, addition to tax, penalty or interest neglects or refuses to pay the same within ten days after notice and demand therefor is given to such corporation or other person under subdivision two, the commissioner of finance may within six years after the date of such assessment issue a warrant directed to the sheriff of any county of the state, or to any officer or employee of the department of finance, commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such corporation or other person for the payment of the amount assessed, with the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance, and pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of the warrant. If the commissioner of finance finds that the collection of the tax or other amount is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the commissioner of finance and upon failure or refusal to pay such tax or other amount the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant without regard to the ten-day period provided in this subdivision.

4. Copy of warrant to be filed and lien to be created. Any sheriff or officer or employee who receives a warrant under subdivision three shall within five days thereafter file a copy with the clerk of the appropriate county. The clerk shall thereupon enter in the judgment docket, in the column for judgment debtors, the name of the taxpayer mentioned in the warrant, and in appropriate columns the tax or other amounts for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed; and such amount shall thereupon be a binding lien upon the real, personal and other property of the taxpayer.

5. Judgment. When a warrant has been filed with the county clerk the commissioner of finance shall, on behalf of the city, be deemed to have obtained judgment against the taxpayer for the tax or other amounts.

6. Execution. The sheriff or officer or employee shall thereupon proceed upon the judgment in all respects, with like effect, and in the same manner prescribed by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and a sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees for his or her services in executing the warrant, to be collected in the same manner. An officer or employee of the department of finance may proceed in any county or counties of this state and shall have all the powers of execution conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of actual expenses paid in connection with the execution of the warrant.

7. Foreign corporations. Where a notice and demand under subdivision two shall have been given to a foreign corporation or other person who is not then a resident, and it appears to the commissioner of finance that it is not practicable to find in the state property of such foreign corporation or nonresident person sufficient to pay the entire balance of tax or other amount owing by such foreign corporation or nonresidential person, the commissioner of finance may, in accordance with subdivision three, issue a warrant directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance, a copy of which warrant shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to such foreign corporation or nonresident person at its last known address, subject to the rules of mailing provided in subdivision one of section 11-672. Such warrant shall command the officer or employee to proceed in New York county, and he or she shall, within five days after receipt of the warrant, file the warrant and obtain a judgment in accordance with this section. Thereupon the commissioner of finance may authorize the institution of any action or proceeding to collect or enforce the judgment in any place and by any procedure that a civil judgment of the supreme court of the state of New York could be collected or enforced. The commissioner of finance may also, in his or her discretion, designate agents or retain counsel for the purpose of collecting, outside the state, any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this subchapter or under any of the named subchapters, against foreign corporations or other non-resident persons, may fix the compensation of such agents and counsel to be paid out of money appropriated or otherwise lawfully available for payment thereof, and may require of them bonds or other security for the faithful performance of their duties, in such form and in such amount as the commissioner of finance shall deem proper and sufficient.

8. Action by city for recovery of taxes. Action may be brought by the corporation counsel of the city at the instance of the commissioner of finance to recover the amount of any unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest which have been assessed under this subchapter or under the named subchapters within six years prior to the date the action is commenced.

9. Release of lien or vacating warrant. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision four or seven of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

10. Lien from due date of return. (a) In addition to any other lien provided for in this section, each tax imposed by the named subchapters shall become a lien on the date on which the return is required to be filed (without regard to any extension of time for filing such return), except that such tax shall become a lien not later than the date the taxpayer ceases to be subject to the tax imposed by any of the named subchapters, or to do business in this state in a corporate or organized capacity. Each such tax shall be a lien and binding upon the real and personal property of the taxpayer, or of a transferee liable to pay the same, until the same is paid in full, except that no lien for any additional tax assessed pursuant to this subchapter shall be enforceable against property which prior to the issuance to the taxpayer of a notice of deficiency under section 11-672 of this subchapter had been transferred in good faith to a bona fide transferee for value. But the lien of each such tax shall be subject to the lien of any mortgage indebtedness existing against real property previous to the time when the tax became a lien and where such mortgage indebtedness has been incurred in good faith and was not given, directly or indirectly, to any officer or stockholder of the corporation owning such real property, whether as a purchase money mortgage or otherwise, and shall also be subject to the lien of local taxes and assessments, without regard to when the lien for such taxes and assessments may have accrued. If the return is filed and the tax shown on the report to be due is paid on or before the date on which the report is required to be filed, without regard to any extensions of time for filing such report, the lien shall not be enforceable against the interest of any purchaser or mortgagee in property which is thereafter, but prior to the issuance to the taxpayer of a notice of deficiency under section 11-672 of this subchapter transferred to a bona fide purchaser for value, or mortgaged where the mortgage indebtedness is incurred in good faith and the mortgage is not given, directly or indirectly, to any officer or stockholder of the corporation. In any action to foreclose any such mortgage, or to foreclose the lien of local taxes or assessments, to which the people of the state, or the city shall have been made a party defendant by reason of the existence of a lien for any such tax, or if no such tax was due or was a lien at the time of the commencement of such action and the filing of the notice of pendency thereof but such a tax becomes due or becomes a lien subsequent to the time of the commencement of such action and the filing of the notice of pendency thereof, such real property shall be sold and conveyed in such action free from any such tax lien, and any such tax lien may become a lien on any surplus moneys which may result from such sale, to be determined in the proceedings for the distribution of such surplus moneys. Where title to real property passes from an individual, or from a corporation owing no tax, to another corporation which is in default for such tax, the lien herein provided shall not be enforceable except as to any equity after the prior mortgage or purchase money mortgage encumbrance.

(b) The commissioner of finance may, upon application made to the commissioner and the payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars, release any real property from the lien under this subdivision, provided payment be made to the commissioner of finance of such a sum as the commissioner of finance shall deem adequate consideration for such release, or deposit be made of such security or such bond be filed as the commissioner of finance shall deem proper to secure payment of any such tax. The application for such release shall contain an accurate description of the property to be released together with such information as the commissioner of finance may require. Such release may be recorded in any office in which conveyances of real estate are entitled to be recorded.

(c) All taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest which have become a lien under this subdivision shall cease to be a lien after the expiration of twenty years from the date they become due and payable, except that taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest which have become a lien under this subdivision (1) as to real estate in the hands of persons who are owners thereof who would be purchasers in good faith but for such taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest and (2) as to the lien on real estate of mortgages held by persons who would be holders thereof in good faith but for such taxes, additions to tax, penalties or interest, as against such purchasers or holders, shall cease to be a lien after the expiration of ten years from the date they become due and payable. The limitations herein provided for shall not apply to any transfer from a corporation to a person or corporation with intent to avoid payment of any taxes, or where with like intent the transfer is made to a grantee corporation, or any subsequent grantee corporation, controlled by such grantor or which has any community of interest with it, either through stock ownership or otherwise.

§ 11-684 Transferees.

1. General. The liability, at law or in equity, of a transferee of property of a taxpayer for any tax, additions to tax, penalty or interest due the commissioner of finance under this subchapter or under the named subchapters, shall be assessed, paid, and collected in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations as in the case of the tax to which the liability relates, except that the period of limitations for assessment against the transferee shall be extended by one year for each successive transfer, in order, from the original taxpayer to the transferee involved, but not by more than three years in the aggregate. The term transferee includes, in case of successive transfers, donee, heir, legatee, devisee, distributee, and successor by merger, consolidation or other reorganization.

2. Exceptions.

(a) If before the expiration of the period of limitations for assessment of liability of the transferee, a claim has been filed by the commissioner of finance in any court against the original taxpayer or the last preceding transferee based upon the liability of the original taxpayer, then the period of limitation for assessment of liability of the transferee shall in no event expire prior to one year after such claim has been finally allowed, disallowed or otherwise disposed of.

(b) If, before the expiration of the time prescribed in subdivision one or the immediately preceding paragraph of this subdivision for the assessment of the liability, the commissioner of finance and the transferee have both consented in writing to its assessment after such time, the liability may be assessed at any time prior to the expiration of the period agreed upon. The period so agreed upon may be extended by subsequent agreements in writing made before the expiration of the period previously agreed upon. For the purpose of determining the period of limitation on credit or refund to the transferee or overpayments of tax made by such transferee or overpayments of tax made by the transferor as to which the transferee is legally entitled to credit or refund, such agreement and any extension thereof shall be deemed an agreement and extension thereof referred to in subdivision two of section 11-678 of this subchapter. If the agreement is executed after the expiration of the period of limitation for assessment against the original taxpayer, then in applying the limitations under subdivision two of section 11-678 of this subchapter on the amount of the credit or refund, the period specified in subdivision one of section 11-678 of this subchapter shall be increased by the period from the date of such expiration to the date of the agreement.

3. Period for assessment against certain transferors. For purposes of this section, if any person is deceased or is a corporation which has terminated its existence, the period of limitation for assessment against such person or corporation shall be the period that would be effect had death or termination of existence not occurred.

4. Evidence. The commissioner of finance shall use his or her powers to make available to the transferee evidence necessary to enable the transferee to determine the liability of the original taxpayer and of any preceding transferees, but without undue hardship to the original taxpayer or preceding transferee. See subdivision five of section 11-680 of this subchapter for rule as to burden of proof.

§ 11-685 Jeopardy assessments.

1. Authority for making. If the commissioner of finance believes that the assessment or collection of a deficiency will be jeopardized by delay, the commissioner shall, notwithstanding the provisions of section 11-672 of this subchapter immediately assess such deficiency (together with all interest, penalties and additions to tax provided for by law), and notice and demand shall be made by the commissioner of finance for the payment thereof.

2. Notice of deficiency. If the jeopardy assessment is made before any notice in respect of the tax to which the jeopardy assessment relates has been mailed under section 11-672 of this subchapter, then the commissioner of finance shall mail a notice under such section within sixty days after the making of the assessment.

3. Amount assessable before decision of the tax appeals tribunal. The jeopardy assessment may be made in respect of a deficiency greater or less than that of which notice is mailed to the taxpayer and whether or not the taxpayer has theretofore filed a petition with the tax appeals tribunal. The commissioner of finance may, at any time before tax appeals tribunal renders its decision, abate such assessment, or any unpaid portion thereof, to the extent that the commissioner believes the assessment to be excessive in amount. The tax appeals tribunal may in its decision redetermine the entire amount of the deficiency and of all amounts assessed at the same time in connection therewith.

4. Amounts assessable after decision of the tax appeals tribunal. If the jeopardy assessment is made after the decision of the tax appeals tribunal is rendered, such assessment may be made only in respect of the deficiency determined by the tax appeals tribunal in its decision.

5. Expiration of right to assess. A jeopardy assessment may not be made after the decision of the tax appeals tribunal has become final or after the taxpayer has made an application for review of the decision of the tax appeals tribunal.

6. Collection of unpaid amounts. When a petition has been filed with the tax appeals tribunal and when the amount which should have been assessed has been determined by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final, then any unpaid portion, the collection of which has been stayed by bond, shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the commissioner of finance, and any remaining portion of the assessment shall be abated. If the amount already collected exceeds the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed, such excess shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer as provided in section 11-677 of this subchapter without the filing of claim therefor. If the amount determined as the amount which should have been assessed is greater than the amount actually assessed, then the difference shall be assessed and shall be collected as part of the tax upon notice and demand from the tax appeals tribunal.

7. Abatement if jeopardy does not exist. The commissioner of finance may abate the jeopardy assessment if the commissioner finds that jeopardy does not exist. Such abatement may not be made after a decision of the tax appeals tribunal in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with the tax appeals tribunal, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and levy or a proceeding for collection, in respect of any deficiency, shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the day on which such jeopardy assessment is abated.

8. Bond to stay collection. The collection of the whole or any amount of any jeopardy assessment may be stayed by filing with the commissioner of finance, within such time as may be fixed by regulation, a bond in an amount equal to the amount as to which the stay is desired, conditioned upon the payment of the amount (together with interest thereon) the collection of which is stayed at the time of which, but for the making of the jeopardy assessment, such amount would be due. Upon the filing of the bond the collection of so much of the amount assessed as is covered by the bond shall be stayed. The taxpayer shall have the right to waive such stay at any time in respect of the whole or any part of the amount covered by the bond, and if as a result of such waiver any part of the amount covered by the bond is paid, then the bond shall at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced. If any portion of the jeopardy assessment is abated, or if a notice of deficiency under section 11-672 of this subchapter is mailed to the taxpayer in a lesser amount, the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced.

9. Petition to tax appeals tribunal. If the bond is given before the taxpayer has filed its petition under section 11-680 of this subchapter, the bond shall contain a further condition that if a petition is not filed within the period provided in such section, then the amount, the collection of which is stayed by the bond, will be paid on notice and demand at any time after the expiration of such period, together with interest thereon from the date of the jeopardy notice and demand to the date of notice and demand under this subdivision. The bond shall be conditioned upon the payment of so much of such assessment (collection of which is stayed by the bond) as is not abated by a decision of the tax appeals tribunal which has become final. If the tax appeals tribunal determines that the amount assessed is greater than the amount which should have been assessed, then the bond shall, at the request of the taxpayer, be proportionately reduced when the decision of the tax appeals tribunal is rendered.

10. Stay of sale of seized property pending tax appeals tribunal's decision. Where a jeopardy assessment is made, the property seized for the collection of the tax shall not be sold:

(a) if subdivision two is applicable, prior to the issuance of the notice of deficiency and the expiration of the time provided in section 11-680 of this subchapter for filing a petition with the tax appeals tribunal, and

(b) if a petition is filed with the tax appeals tribunal (whether before or after the making of such jeopardy assessment), prior to the expiration of the period during which the assessment of the deficiency would be prohibited if subdivision one were not applicable.

Such property may be sold if the taxpayer consents to the sale, or if the commissioner of finance determines that the expenses of conservation and maintenance will greatly reduce the net proceeds, or if the property is perishable.

11. Interest. For the purpose of subdivision one of section 11-675 of this subchapter, the last date prescribed for payment shall be determined without regard to any notice and demand for payment issued under this section prior to the last date otherwise prescribed for such payment.

12. Early termination of taxable year. If the commissioner of finance finds that a taxpayer designs quickly to remove its property from this state, or to conceal its property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect the tax for the current or the preceding taxable year unless such proceedings be brought without delay, the commissioner of finance shall declare the taxable period for such taxpayer immediately terminated, and shall cause notice of such finding and declaration to be given the taxpayer, together with a demand for immediate payment of the tax for the taxable period so declared terminated and of the tax for the preceding taxable year so much of such tax as is unpaid, whether or not the time otherwise allowed by law for filing return and paying the tax has expired; and such taxes shall thereupon become immediately due and payable. In any proceeding brought to enforce payment of taxes made due and payable by virtue of the provisions of this subdivision, the finding of the commissioner of finance made as herein provided, whether made after notice to the taxpayer or not, shall be for all purposes presumptive evidence of jeopardy.

13. Reopening of taxable period. Notwithstanding the termination of the taxable period of the taxpayer by the commissioner of finance, as provided in subdivision twelve, the commissioner of finance may reopen such taxable period each time the taxpayer is found by the commissioner of finance to have received income, within the current taxable year, since the termination of such period. A taxable period so terminated by the commissioner of finance may be reopened by the taxpayer if it files with the commissioner of finance a true and accurate return under any of the named subchapters for such taxable period, together with such other information as the commissioner of finance may by regulations pre- scribe.

14. Furnishing of bond where taxable year is closed by the commissioner of finance. Payment of taxes shall not be enforced by any proceedings under the provisions of subdivision twelve prior to the expiration of the time otherwise allowed for paying such taxes if the taxpayer furnishes, under regulations prescribed by the commissioner of finance, a bond to insure the timely making of returns with respect to, and payment of, such taxes or any taxes for prior years.

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-687 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

1. General. The commissioner of finance shall administer and enforce the tax imposed by the named subchapters and the commissioner is authorized to make such rules and regulations, and to require such facts and information to be reported, as the commissioner may deem necessary to enforce the provisions of this subchapter and of the named subchapters; and the commissioner may delegate the commissioner's powers and functions under all subchapters of this chapter to one of the commissioner's deputies or to any employee or employees of his or her department.

2. Examination of books and witnesses. The commissioner of finance, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of tax liability of any corporation, shall have power to examine or to cause to have examined, by any agent or representative designated by the commissioner for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in the return, and may require the attendance of the corporation rendering the return through any officer or employee of such corporation, or the attendance of any other person having knowledge in the premises, and may take testimony and require proof material for the commissioner's information, with power to administer oaths to such person or persons.

3. Abatement authority. The commissioner of finance, of the commissioner's own motion, may abate any small unpaid balance of an assessment of tax, or any liability in respect thereof, if the commissioner of finance determines under uniform rules prescribed by the commissioner that the administration and collection costs involved would not warrant collection of the amount due. The commissioner may also abate, of his or her own motion, the unpaid portion of the assessment of any tax or any liability in respect thereof, which is excessive in amount, or is assessed after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, or is erroneously or illegally assessed. No claim for abatement under this subdivision shall be filed by a taxpayer.

4. Special refund authority. Where no questions of fact or law are involved and it appears from the records of the commissioner of finance that any moneys have been erroneously or illegally collected from any taxpayer or other person, or paid by such taxpayer or other person under a mistake of facts, pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter or any of the named subchapters, the commissioner of finance at anytime, without regard to any period of limitations, shall have the power, upon making a record of his or her reasons therefor in writing, to cause such moneys so paid and being erroneously and illegally held to be refunded.

5. (a) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the overpayment and underpayment rates of interest to be paid pursuant to sections 11-606, 11-608, 11-645, 11-647, 11-675, 11-676, and 11-679 of this chapter, but if no such rate or rates of interest are set, such rate or rates shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such overpayment and underpayment rates shall be the rates prescribed in paragraph (b) of this subdivision but the underpayment rate shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rates set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due or overpaid on or after the date on which such rates become effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period during which such rates are in effect.

(b) General rule. (A) Overpayment rate. The overpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph (c) of this subdivision, plus (ii) two percentage points.

(B) Underpayment rate. The underpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph (c) of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(c) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the overpayment and underpayment rates for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(d) Publication of interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rates to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rates apply. The setting and publication of such interest rates shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(e) Cross-reference. For provisions relating to the power of the commissioner of finance to abate small amounts of interest, see subdivision three of this section.

6. In computing the amount of any interest required to be paid under this subchapter or any of the named subchapters by the commissioner of finance or by the taxpayer, or any other amount determined by reference to such amount of interest, such interest and such amount shall be compounded daily. The preceding sentence shall not apply for purposes of computing the amount of any addition to tax for failure to pay estimated tax under subdivision three of section 11-676 of this subchapter.

This local law shall take effect on July 1, 2003, and shall apply to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on any other amounts, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after such date. The interest rates set prior to amendment by this local law shall apply up to and including June 30, 2003, to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on other amounts for which interest rates are set under this local law. 2. Provisions of L.L. 39/2003: §2. This local law shall take effect on July 1, 2003, provided that if New York Assembly Bill No. 2106-B,*24 which passed the New York Assembly on May 2, 2003 and the New York Senate on May 2, 2003, and was delivered to the Governor on May 2, 2003, has not become a law prior to the time that this local law becomes a law, then this local law, shall take effect immediately upon the enactment into law of such bill. This local law shall apply to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on any other amounts, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after such date. The interest rates set prior to amendment by this local law shall apply up to and including the day before the effective date of this local law, to the interest chargeable or due on taxes or on other amounts for which interest rates are set under this local law.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. The fact that the Commissioner was free to pursue a tax deficiency reassessment, while petitioner was precluded from asserting a claim for a refund for the same tax year, resulted in an inequity requiring remedial action by the Commissioner under his discretionary authority pursuant to this section.-Mobil v. Comm'r of Finance of the City of N.Y., 101 A.D. 2d 723 [1984].

CHAPTER 6 (CONTINUED) CITY BUSINESS TAXES

SUBCHAPTER 5 CORPORATE TAX PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

§ 11-688 Secrecy required of official; penalty for violation.

1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the department of finance of the city, any officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, the tax appeals tribunal, any commissioner or employee of such tribunal, any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any report or return, or to whom any information contained in any report or return is furnished, any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a report filed pursuant to this chapter, to divulge or make known in any manner the amount of income or any particulars set forth or disclosed in any report or return, under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such reports and returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the city in an action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the city is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the reports, returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said reports or returns or of facts shown thereby as are pertinent to the action or proceeding, and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or its duly authorized representative of a copy of any report filed by it, nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular reports or returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city of the report or return of any taxpayer which shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against which an action or proceeding under this chapter or under any local law of the city imposed as authorized by the act authorizing the adoption of this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of finance or the corporation counsel or has been instituted, or the inspection of the reports or returns of any taxpayer by the duly designated officers or employees of the city for purposes of an audit under this chapter or an audit authorized by the act authorizing the adoption of this chapter; and nothing in this subchapter or chapter eleven of this title shall be construed to prohibit the publication of the issuer's allocation percentage, as defined in subparagraph one of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this chapter, of any corporation which may be required to be allocated within the city for purposes of the tax imposed by any of the named subchapters or chapter eleven of this title.

2. (a) Any officer or employee of the state or city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision one of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in the city or this state for a period of five years thereafter.

(b) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

3. Notwithstanding any provisions of this section, the commissioner of finance may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegates, or the proper officer of this or any other state charged with tax administration, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect the returns or reports filed under any of the named subchapters, or may furnish to such officer or his or her authorized representative an abstract of any such return or report or supply information concerning an item contained in any such return or report, or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return or report, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under any of the named subchapters, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his or her representative only if the laws of the United States or of such state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner of finance and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of finance may furnish to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegates or to the tax commission of the state of New York or its delegates such returns or reports filed under any of the named subchapters and other tax information, as he or she may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code or the tax law of the state of New York, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of finance by the secretary of the treasury or by such tax commission or by their delegates, provided the laws of the United States or the laws of the state of New York grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury or his or her delegates or to such tax commission or its delegates. Where the commissioner of finance has so authorized use of returns, reports or other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns, reports of other infor- mation.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, the commissioner of finance, in his or her discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this chapter to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner of finance and to file declarations of estimated tax, applications for automatic extensions of time to file reports, and reports with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner of finance, in lieu of making any such payment directly to the commissioner of finance. However, the commissioner of finance shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are depositories or financial agents of the city.

5. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

6. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision one of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

7. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision one of this section, the commissioner of finance may disclose to a taxpayer or a taxpayer's related member, as defined in paragraph (n) of subdivision eight of section 11-602 or paragraph one of subdivision (q) of section 11-641 of this chapter, information relating to any royalty paid, incurred or received by such taxpayer or related member to or from the other, including the treatment of such payments by the taxpayer or the related member in any report or return transmitted to the commissioner of finance under this title.

CHAPTER 7 COMMERCIAL RENT OR OCCUPANCY TAX

§ 11-701 Definitions.

When used in this chapter the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, assignee, trustee or any other person acting in a fiduciary capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of in- dividuals.

2. "Landlord." A person who grants the right to use or occupy premises to any lessee, sublessee, licensee or concessionaire, whether or not such person is the owner of the premises.

3. "Tenant." A person paying or required to pay rent for premises as a lessee, sublessee, licensee or concessionaire.

4. "Premises." Any real property or part thereof, and any structure thereon or space therein.

5. "Taxable premises." Any premises in the city occupied, used or intended to be occupied or used for the purpose of carrying on or exercising any trade, business, profession, vocation or commercial activity, including any premises so used even though it is used solely for the purpose of renting, or granting the right to occupy or use, the same premises in whole or in part to tenants; except premises within the area leased by the city of New York to the New York world's fair 1964-1965 corporation pursuant to chapter four hundred twenty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty, as amended during the period of such lease.

6. "Rent." The consideration paid or required to be paid by a tenant for the use or occupancy of premises, valued in money, whether received in money or otherwise, including all credits and property or services of any kind and including any payment required to be made by a tenant on behalf of his or her landlord for real estate taxes, water rents or charges, sewer rents or any other expenses (including insurance) normally payable by a landlord who owns the realty other than expenses for the improvement, repair or maintenance of the tenant's premises.

7. "Base rent." The rent paid for each taxable premises by a tenant to his or her landlord for a period, less the amounts received by or due such tenant for the same period from any tenant of any part of such premises:

(i) as rent for premises which constitute taxable premises of such tenant except where such tenant is exempt from tax thereon pursuant to subdivision b or paragraph six of subdivision c of section 11-704 of this chapter; provided, however, that for tax periods beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, rent received or due from a tenant exempt from tax thereon pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter, as such paragraph two was in effect immediately prior to its amendment by local law number fifty-seven for the year nineteen hundred ninety-three, may be deducted if such tenant occupies or uses the premises pursuant to a written agreement made prior to June first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, the terms and conditions of which have not been changed or amended; and provided, further, that for tax periods beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, with respect to a tenant exempt from tax pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter, as such paragraph two was in effect immediately prior to its amendment by local law number fifty-seven for the year nineteen hundred ninety-three, because of the reduction in base rent provided for in subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter, rent received or due from such tenant may be deducted if such tenant occupies or uses the premises pursuant to a written agreement made prior to June first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, the terms and conditions of which have not been changed or amended; and provided, further, that for tax periods beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, with respect to a tenant exempt from tax pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter as a result of the amendment of such paragraph two by local law number fifty-seven for the year nineteen hundred ninety-three, whether or not such exemption is due to the reduction in base rent provided for in subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter, rent received or due from such tenant may be deducted if such tenant occupies or uses the premises pursuant to a written agreement made prior to June first, nineteen hundred ninety-three, the terms and conditions of which have not been changed or amended; and provided, further, that for tax periods beginning on and after July twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, with respect to a tenant exempt from tax pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter because of the reduction in base rent provided for in subdivision f of section 11-704 of this chapter, rent received or due from such tenant may be deducted; and provided, further, that, notwithstanding anything in this paragraph to the contrary, for tax periods beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, with respect to a tenant exempt from tax pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter, rents received or due from such tenant may be deducted;

(ii) as rent for premises which do not constitute taxable premises and which are used by such tenant as lodging or residential premises (including such residential premises in hotels, apartment hotels or lodging houses as defined in former title V of chapter forty-six of the code);

(iii) who is exempt from tax under subdivision a of section 11-704 of this chapter;

(iv) as rent for premises which do not constitute taxable premises where such rent is, or to the extent that such rent is, deductible from the base rent of such tenant by reason of paragraph five of subdivision c of section 11-704 of this chapter; and

(v) as rent for premises which do not constitute taxable premises, pursuant to a common law relationship of landlord and tenant (notwithstanding the definition given to those terms by paragraphs two and three of this section) except where it is received as rent, whether or not such landlord-tenant relationship exists, for premises which are occupied as or constitute:

(a) a locker, safe deposit box or beach cabana;

(b) storage space in part of a warehouse or in part of any other structure or area in which goods are stored;

(c) garage space or parking space in any part of a garage, of a parking lot or of a parking area where the entire garage, entire parking lot or entire parking area accommodates more than two motor vehicles;

(d) an occupancy of a type which customarily has not been the subject of such a common law relationship of landlord and tenant.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to permit a tenant to deduct the same rent from his or her base rent more than once.

8. "Premises used for railroad transportation purposes." The portion of any premises of any person actually operating a railroad, used by such person for normal or necessary railroad transportation purposes. The words normal or necessary railroad transportation purposes, as used in this definition, shall not include any activities which are normally carried on by persons not engaged in furnishing railroad transportation service such as the operation of retail stores, barber shops, restaurants, theatres, hotels, and newsstands; nor shall such words include any activities which are not deemed transportation purposes under sections four hundred eighty-nine-b and four hundred eighty-nine-m of the real property tax law.

9. "Premises used for air transportation purposes." The portion of any premises, located within an airport or within an air transportation terminal shared by more than one air line, of any person actually operating an air line as a common carrier, used by such person for normal or necessary air transportation purposes. The words normal or necessary air transportation purposes, as used in this definition, shall not include any activities which are normally carried on by persons not engaged in furnishing air transportation service such as the operation of retail stores, barber shops, restaurants, theatres, hotels and newsstands.

10. "Return." Any return filed or required to be filed as herein provided other than an information return.

11. "Tax period." The period for which any return is required to be filed under this chapter.

12. "Tax year." June first of any calendar year through May thirty-first of the following calendar year.

13. "Day." A calendar day or any part thereof.

14. "City." The city of New York.

15. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

16. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

17. "Dramatic or musical arts performance." A performance or repetition thereof in a theatre, opera house or concert hall of a live dramatic performance, whether or not musical in part. The performance encompassed by this definition shall include so-called legitimate theatre plays, musical comedies and operettas. They shall not include circuses, ice skating shows or aquashows; they shall not include performances of any kind in a roof garden, cabaret or other similar place; and they shall not include radio or television performances, whether or not such performances are prerecorded for later broadcast.

18. "Premises used for omnibus transportation purposes." The portion of any premises located within a passenger terminal of any person actually operating an omnibus line or route as a common carrier, used by such person for normal or necessary omnibus line or route transportation purposes. The words normal or necessary omnibus line or route transportation purposes, as used in this definition, shall not include any activities, which are normally carried on by persons not engaged in furnishing omnibus line or route transportation services such as the operation of retail stores, barber shops, restaurants, theatres, hotels and newsstands.

19. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

20. "Premises used for retail sales purposes." Premises primarily used for the selling or otherwise disposing or furnishing of tangible goods directly to the ultimate user or consumer.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. This chapter is constitutional.-Ampco Printing-Advertisers' Offset Corp. v. City of New York, 14 N.Y. 2d 11, 247 N.Y.S. 2d 865, 197 N.E. 2d 285 [1964].

¶ 2. Apartments leased by respondent business as living quarters for its employees while they were in the City for purposes of the company business were not subject to commercial rent or occupancy taxes as these premises were not used for commercial activities.-J.C. Penney Co. Inc. v. Lewisohn, 33 N.Y. 2d 528 [1973].

¶ 3. A landlord-tenant relationship within the meaning of this section was established where petitioner paid a percentage of its net sales as rent under an agreement called a lease even though petitioner was not entitled to occupy a specified area of landlord's store, the landlord was not excluded from the area set aside for the petitioner and petitioner had no key to gain entry to store.-Dehenhams v. Com'r. of Finance of N.Y.C., 92 App. Div. 829 [1983].

¶ 4. Tax assessed against petitioner under New York City commercial rent and occupancy tax law was not invalid because assessed in part against amounts paid to landlord for cleaning and janitorial services since such services were rent where petitioner's rent was billed and paid for in one lump sum monthly without any breakdown for amounts claimed to be attributable to cleaning services.-Mobile Oil Corp. v. Finance Administrator of City of N.Y., 58 N.Y., 2d 95 [1983].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The clear meaning of subsection [6] of this section is that improvements made by a tenant that are required by the lease, are not "rent" for purposes of the commercial rent or occupancy tax. Therefore, the determination of the respondent Department of Finance assessing a tax deficiency against petitioner based on expenditures for improvements is annulled.-Sin, Inc. v. Dept. of Finance, 126 AD2d 339, [1987] affirmed 71 NY2d 616 [1988].

¶ 2. Madison Square Garden luxury "sky" boxes are used as social entertainment and do not represent rent for which commercial or occupancy tax is applicable. It is the use to which the premises are put which determines the applicability of the tax. Peat Marwick Main v. NYC Dept. of Finance, 139 Misc 2d 1093 [1988]. "Sky box" assessment sustained.-Peat Marwick Main v. NYC Dept. of Finance, 155 AD2d 239 [1989].

¶ 3. A partnership operated a nursing home, and the individual partners then acquired, as individual tenants in common, the real estate on which the nursing home was located. The nursing home partnership then paid "rent" by means of paying mortgage, real estate tax, insurance and sewer rents on behalf of the individual partners. The court held that the rent payments were subject to commercial rent tax. A partnership may be treated as an entity separate and distinct from the partners for tax purposes. Temkin v. Grayson, 162 A.D.2d 366, 557 N.Y.S.2d 34 (1st Dept. 1990).

¶ 4. A foreign insurer doing business in the State of New York may not claim amounts paid as commercial rent tax, Ad Cd § 11-701 et seq, as a credit toward the retaliatory tax imposed in Insurance Law § 112. The commercial rent tax is applied to all businesses for the privilege of doing business in New York City, and is not paid for the privilege of doing insurance business.-Industrial Indem. Co. v. Cooper, 81 NY2d 50 [1993].

¶ 5. A document entitle "Management Agreement", granting an exclusive license to operate a parking facility, was determined to be a lease rather than an independent management agreement. Ad Cd §11-701(3) includes a licensee in the definition of tenant and Ad Cd §11-701(6) defines rent as payment for the use or occupancy of premises. City correctly determined petitioner was a tenant and its exclusive license was rent subject to taxation. Matter of Square Plus Operating Corp. v. City of New York, 212 AD2d 448, 622 N.Y.S.2d 938, leave to appeal denied, 87 N.Y.2d 804, 639 N.Y.S.2d 782 [1995].

¶ 6. Where a tenant pays a commercial rent tax based on the tenant's payment to the landlord in connection with heating, ventilation and air conditioning, such services are not a "sale" and therefore are not subject to the sales tax. Debevoise & Plimpton v. New York State Department of Taxation and Finance, 149 Misc.2d 571, 565 N.Y.S.2d 973 (Sup.Ct. New York Co. 1991).

¶ 7. Payments made by an accounting firm for use of a luxury skybox at a sports and entertainment facility are not subject to the commercial rent tax. The use of the skybox was held not to be a commercial activity within the meaning of the law, even though the skybox was sometimes used to enterain clients. Peat Marwick Main & Co. v. New York City Dept. of Finance, 76 N.Y.2d 527, 561 N.Y.S.2d 695 (1990).

¶ 8. Where a tenant retained the landlord as its contractor to perform work on the premses, and the work itself was being done at the tenant's option, and the monthly installments for that work were separately billed and not included in the normal lump sum rent payments, the amount paid by the tenant on account of the work was not deemed "rent" for purposes of the commercial rent tax statute. Application of Ally & Gargano, 126 A.D.2d 354, 513 N.Y.S.2d 435 (1st Dept. 1987). In Ally, the court distinguished Matter of Mobil Oil Corp. v. Finance Administrator of the City of New York, 58 N.Y.2d 95, 459 N.Y.S.2d 566. In Mobil, the court upheld the imposition of the commercial rent tax upon sums paid by the tenant to the landlord for cleaning and janitorial services. The lease provided that the landlord would supply such services but granted the tenant the option to provide its own cleaning services at its own expense, with a pro rata abatement of the rent. Although not dispositive, the Mobil court noted that the monthly rent had been billed and paid in one lump sum and did not separately apportion the amount attributable to such cleaning services. InAlly, however, the cost of the tenant work was not included in the regular monthly rent payments but was separately identified, billed and paid for as the work progressed. Unlike Mobil, the payments in Ally were not for an ongoing service but related to one-time work basically completed before the tenant took possession and the lease commenced.

a. (1) For each tax year commencing on or after June first, nineteen hundred sixty-three and ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy, every tenant shall pay a tax of two and one-half per centum of his or her base rent for such tax year where his or her base rent is not in excess of twenty-five hundred dollars per year or where his or her base rent is for a period of less than one year and would not exceed twenty-five hundred dollars for a year if it were paid on an equivalent basis for an entire year or a tax of five per centum of his or her base rent for such tax year where his or her base rent is in excess of twenty-five hundred dollars per year or where his or her base rent is for a period of less than one year and would exceed twenty-five hundred dollars a year if it were paid on an equivalent basis for an entire year.

(2) For each tax year commencing on or after, June first, nineteen hundred seventy, every tenant shall pay a tax at the rates shown in the following tables:

[See tabular material in printed version]

For tax years embraced within the period beginning after May thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, the tax shall be imposed at rates equal to ninety percent of the rates shown in the foregoing table.

For tax years beginning after May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, the tax shall be imposed at rates equal to eighty-five percent of the rates shown in the foregoing table.

For tax years beginning after May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, the tax shall be imposed at rates equal to eighty percent of the rates shown in the foregoing table.

Where the rent is for a period of less than one year, the rate shall be determined by assuming that the rent is on an equivalent basis for the entire year.

b. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be deemed to require payment of a double or multiple tax pursuant to this chapter on any part of any taxable premises.

c. Where a tenant pays an undivided rent for premises used both for residential purposes and as taxable premises, the tax shall be applicable to so much of the rent as is ascribable to the portion of such premises used as taxable premises. Where, however, the rent ascribable to so much of such premises as is used as taxable premises does not exceed fifty dollars a month, such rent shall be excluded from such tenant's base rent. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall be construed as indicating an intent to exclude any base rent from the tax imposed by this chapter merely because it is paid as part of an undivided rent for premises which are only partially used as taxable premises.

d. The tax imposed by this chapter shall be in addition to any and all other taxes including the public housing tax imposed by chapter ten of this title.

e. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as permitting base rent of a tenant for one taxable premises to be reduced by deducting rents received by him or her for another taxable premises of which he or she is also a tenant.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. Local Law No. 38 of 1963 which levies a tax on every tenant who uses or occupies property for any business or commercial activity is constitutional. A tax on a leasehold is not a real property tax within the meaning of the State Constitution. Neither is it an ad valorem tax levied solely because of the ownership or possession of "moneys, credits, securities and other intangible personal property". The "due process" and "equal protection" clauses were not violated because the tax was limited to New York City or because the tax was based in part on the amount of rent paid.-Robert B. Blaikie & Co., Inc. v. City of New York, 41 Misc. 2d 371, 245 N.Y.S. 2d 121 [1963], aff'd 14 N.Y. 2d 11, 247 N.Y.S. 2d 865, 197 N.E. 2d 285 [1964].

CHAPTER 7 COMMERCIAL RENT OR OCCUPANCY TAX

§ 11-703 Presumptions and burden of proof.

a. For the purpose of the proper administration of this chapter and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed it shall be presumed that all premises are taxable premises and that all rent paid or required to be paid by a tenant is base rent until the contrary is established, and the burden of proving that such presumptive base rent or any portion thereof is not included in the measure of the tax imposed by this chapter shall be on the tenant.

b. Where a tenant uses premises both for residential purposes and as taxable premises and the tenant pays an undivided rent for the premises so used, it shall be conclusively presumed against such tenant that the rent ascribable to so much of such premises as is used as taxable premises shall be the amount which such tenant deducts as rent for such premises in determining the tenant's federal income tax (as reduced by any disallowance of such deduction which is not being contested) which is fairly attributable to the tax period or tax year.

§ 11-704 Exemptions and deductions from base rent.

a. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter:

1. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

2. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

3. The United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

4. Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph;

5. Any tenant who would be subject to taxes under this chapter aggregating not more than one dollar for a tax year with respect to all taxable premises used by the tenant; and

6. Any tenant located in the "World Trade Center Area," as defined as follows: the area in the borough of Manhattan bounded by Church Street on the east starting at the intersection of Liberty Street and Church Street; running northerly along the center line of Church Street to the intersection of Church Street and Vesey Street; running westerly along the center line of Vesey Street to the intersection of Vesey Street and West Broadway; running northerly along the center line of West Broadway to the intersection of West Broadway and Barclay Street; running westerly along the center line of Barclay Street to the intersection of Barclay Street and Washington Street; running southerly along the center line of Washington Street to the intersection of Washington Street and Vesey Street; running westerly along the center line of Vesey Street to the intersection of Vesey Street and West Street; running southerly along the center line of West Street to the intersection of West Street and Liberty Street; running easterly along the center line of Liberty Street to the intersection of Liberty Street and Washington Street; running southerly along the center line of Washington Street to the intersection of Washington Street and Albany Street; running easterly along the center line of Albany Street to the intersection of Albany Street and Greenwich Street; running northerly along the center line of Greenwich Street to Liberty Street; and running easterly along the center line of Liberty Street to the intersection of Liberty Street and Church Street.

b. (1) A tenant who uses premises for no more than fourteen days in a tax year whether or not consecutive, where his or her agreement with his or her landlord does not require him or her to pay rent for a longer period shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter in respect to the rent paid by him or her for such premises.

(2) A tenant whose base rent, (i) for tax years beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred eighty-one and ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, is not in excess of four thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, (ii) for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, is not in excess of seven thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, (iii) for the tax years beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred eighty-five and ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, is not in excess of ten thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, (iv) for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-four and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, is not in excess of twenty thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, (v) for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, is not in excess of thirty thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, (vi) for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, is not in excess of thirty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, and (vii) for tax years beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and ending on or before May thirty-first, two thousand, is not in excess of ninety-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of this section, (viii) for the period beginning June first, two thousand and ending November thirtieth, two thousand, is not in excess of ninety-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of this section, (ix) for the period beginning December first, two thousand and ending May thirty-first, two thousand one, is not in excess of one hundred forty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of this section, and (x) for tax years beginning on or after June first, two thousand one, is not in excess of two hundred forty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of this section, shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to such rent, provided, however, that where the base rent of such tenant is for a period of less than one year, such base rent shall, for purposes of this paragraph, be determined as if it had been on an equivalent basis for the entire year; and provided further, that for purposes of subparagraphs (viii) and (ix) of this paragraph, base rent for the period specified in each of such subparagraphs shall be separately annualized as if it had been on an equivalent basis for an entire year, irrespective of the actual base rent for the tax year including the period specified in such subparagraph. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, (xi) a tenant whose base rent for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, is at least eight thousand dollars per year, but not in excess of ten thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to such rent for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, and (xii) a tenant whose base rent for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, is at least thirty-one thousand dollars per year, but not in excess of thirty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year, shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to such rent for the period beginning September first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six.

c. Base rent shall be reduced by the amount of the taxpayer's rent for, or reasonably ascribable to, the taxpayer's own use of the premises:

1. As premises used for railroad transportation purposes.

2. As premises used for air transportation purposes.

3. As piers insofar as such premises are used in interstate or foreign commerce.

4. Which are located in, upon, above or under any public street, highway or other public place, and which are defined as special franchise property in the real property tax law.

5. Which are taxed pursuant to subchapter one of chapter twenty-two-A or chapter twenty of this title to the extent that such premises are subject to, and during the period that they are subject to, such tax.

6. Which are taxed pursuant to subdivision b or c of section 11-1005 of chapter ten of this title.

7. Which are advertising signs, advertising space, vending machines or newsstands within or attached to stations, platforms, stairways, entranceways, passageways, mezzanines or tracks of a rapid transit subway or elevated railroad operated by the New York city transit authority when the rent of the tenant or of the tenant's landlord is payable to such authority.

8. As premises used for omnibus transportation purposes.

9. As premises used for retail sales purposes where such premises are located in the area in the borough of Manhattan bounded by Murray Street on the north starting at the intersection of West Street and Murray Street; running easterly along the center line of Murray Street, connecting through City Hall Park with the center line of Frankfort Street and running easterly along the center lines of Frankfort and Dover Streets to the intersection of Dover Street and South Street; running southerly along the center line of South Street to Peter Minuit Plaza; connecting through Peter Minuit Plaza to the center line of State Street and running northwesterly along the center line of State Street to the intersection of State Street and Battery Place; running westerly along the center line of Battery Place to the intersection of Battery Place and West Street; and running northerly along the center line of West Street to the intersection of West Street and Murray Street. Any tax lot which is partly located inside such area shall be deemed to be entirely located inside such area.

d. A tenant who uses taxable premises for renting to others for residential purposes to the extent of seventy-five per centum or more of the rentable floor space shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter in respect to the rent paid for such premises from the time that construction thereof commences, provided, however, that this paragraph shall not be applicable to hotels, apartment hotels or lodging houses as defined in former title V of chapter forty-six of the code.

e. (1) A tenant who uses taxable premises for a dramatic or musical arts performance for less than four weeks where there is no indication prior to or at the time that such performance commences that the performance is intended to continue for less than four weeks shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to the rent paid for such taxable premises.

(2) (i) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a tenant who uses taxable premises for the production and performance of a theatrical work shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to the rent paid for such taxable premises for a period not exceeding fifty-two weeks beginning on the date that the production of such theatrical work commences, provided, however, that this subparagraph shall not apply to any theatrical work the production of which commenced prior to June first, nineteen hundred ninety-five.

(ii) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "theatrical work" shall mean a performance or repetition thereof in a theater of a live dramatic performance (whether or not musical in part) that contains sustained plots or recognizable thematic material, including so-called legitimate theater plays or musicals, dramas, melodramas, comedies, compilations, farces or reviews, provided that such performance is intended to be open to the public for at least two weeks. The term "theatrical work" shall not include performances of any kind in a roof garden, cabaret or similar place, circuses, ice skating shows, aqua shows, variety shows, magic shows, animal acts, concerts, industrial shows or similar performances, or radio or television performances, whether or not such performances are pre-recorded for later broadcast.

f. (1) A tenant who is an eligible business and has obtained the certifications required by paragraph four of this subdivision shall be permitted to reduce his or her base rent for particular premises to which he or she has relocated by an amount determined by multiplying such base rent by a fraction the numerator of which is the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by such tenant with respect to such premises in the tax year for which such tenant claims the reduction and the denominator of which is a number equal to the number of aggregate employment shares maintained by such tenant in such premises in the tax year for which such tenant claims the reduction allowed by this subdivision, provided, however, that such denominator shall not exceed the highest number of aggregate employment shares maintained by such tenant in such premises in any of the tax years described below which commence prior to or concurrently with the tax year for which such tenant claims the reduction allowed by this subdivision: (i) the tax year during which such tenant relocates to such particular premises; and (ii) each of the three tax years immediately succeeding the tax year during which such tenant relocates to such premises. Base rent for a particular premises may be reduced as provided in this subdivision for the tax year during which the tenant relocates to such premises and for any of the eleven immediately succeeding tax years during which the tenant maintains eligible aggregate employment shares with respect to such premises, provided, however, that there shall be no such reduction with respect to base rent for any part of the tax year preceding the date of relocation to such premises, and provided, further, that there shall be no such reduction with respect to premises used for retail activity or hotel services.

(2) (i) For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible area," "eligible aggregate employment shares," "relocate," "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-621 of the code, provided that whenever the term "taxable year" appears in such section 22-621, such term shall be read as "tax year," as the term "tax year" is defined in subdivision twelve of section 11-701 of this chapter except when the taxable year referred to is the taxable year immediately preceding the taxable year during which such tenant relocates.

(ii) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "eligible business" shall have the meaning ascribed by section 22-621 of the code, provided that such term shall in addition include any person subject to a tax imposed under subchapter four of chapter six of this title and any person who is an insurance corporation as defined in section one thousand five hundred of the tax law, which: (A) has been conducting substantial business operations at one or more business locations outside the eligible area for the twenty-four consecutive months immediately preceding the taxable year during which such eligible business relocates; and (B) on or after May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred eighty-seven relocates all or part of such business operations; and (C) on or after May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred eighty-seven first enters into a lease for the premises to which it relocates or a parcel on which will be constructed such premises.

(3) The reduction allowed by this subdivision may be claimed on an estimated basis on the returns filed for the tax periods ending on the last days of August, November and February of each year if, and to the extent, permitted by regulations promulgated by the commissioner of finance.

(4) No tenant shall be authorized to receive a reduction in base rent subject to tax under the provisions of this subdivision, until the premises with respect to which it is claiming a reduction in base rent meet the requirements in the definition of eligible premises and until it has obtained a certification of eligibility from the mayor or an agency designated by the mayor, and an annual certification from the mayor or an agency designated by the mayor as to the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by such tenant which may qualify for obtaining a base rent reduction for the tenant's tax year. Any written documentation submitted to the mayor or such agency or agencies in order to obtain any such certification shall be deemed a written instrument for purposes of section 175.00 of the penal law. Application fees for such certifications shall be determined by the mayor or such agency or agencies. No certification of eligibility shall be issued to an eligible business on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two unless such business meets the requirements of either subparagraph (a) or (b) below:

(a) (1) prior to such date such business has purchased, leased or entered into a contract to purchase or lease particular premises or a parcel on which will be constructed such premises or already owned such premises or parcel;

(2) prior to such date improvements have been commenced on such premises or parcel which improvements will meet the re- quirements of subdivision (e) of section 22-621 of this code relating to expenditures for improvements;

(3) prior to such date such business submits a preliminary application for a certification of eligibility to such mayor or such agency or agencies with respect to a proposed relocation to such particular premises; and

(4) such business relocates to such particular premises not later than thirty-six months from the date of submission of such preliminary application; or

(b) (1) not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five, such business has purchased, leased or entered into a contract to purchase or lease particular premises wholly contained in a building in which at least an aggregate of forty per centum or two hundred thousand square feet, whichever is less, of the nonresidential floor area of such building has been purchased or leased by a business or businesses which meet or will meet the requirements of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph with respect to such floor area and which are or will become certified as eligible to receive a credit under section 22-622 of this code with respect to such floor area;

(2) not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five, such business submits a preliminary application for a certification of eligibility to such mayor or such agency or agencies with respect to a proposed relocation to such particular premises; and

(3) not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five, such business relocates to such particular premises.

Any tenant subject to a tax imposed under chapter five, or subchapter two or three of chapter six, of this title obtaining a certification of eligibility pursuant to subdivision (b) of section 22-622 of the code shall be deemed to have obtained the certification of eligibility required by this paragraph.

g. Whenever the rent paid by a tenant for his or her occupancy of taxable premises is measured in whole or in part by the gross receipts from the tenant's sales within such place, the tenant's rent, to the extent paid on the basis of such gross receipts, shall be deemed not to exceed fifteen percent of such gross receipts.

h. (1) In the case of any taxable premises located in the borough of Manhattan north of the center line of ninety-sixth street or in the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island, the base rent for such premises shall be reduced by ten percent for the period beginning on January first, nineteen hundred eighty-six and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, by twenty percent for the period beginning June first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, and by thirty percent for the period beginning June first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, such reduction to be made after all other exemptions and deductions authorized by this chapter have been taken. For periods beginning September first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and thereafter, a tenant of taxable premises located in that part of the city specified in the preceding sentence shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to the rent for such taxable premises.

(2) In the case of any taxable premises located in the borough of Manhattan south of the center line of ninety-sixth street, the base rent for such premises shall be reduced by (i) fifteen percent for the period beginning March first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, (ii) twenty-five percent for the period beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, and (iii) thirty-five percent for periods beginning September first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and thereafter, such reduction to be made after all other exemptions and deductions authorized by this chapter have been taken.

i. (1) (a) (i) For purposes of, and to the extent relevant to, this subdivision, the following terms shall, except to the extent hereinafter modified, have the definitions assigned to such terms in section four hundred ninety-nine-a of the real property tax law, and such definitions shall apply with the same force and effect as if they had been set forth in full in this subdivision: "abatement zone," "aggregate floor area," "applicant," "department of finance," "eligible building," "eligibility period," "eligible premises," "expansion premises," "expansion tenant," "governmental agency," "landlord," "lease commencement date," "mixed-use building," "new tenant," "person," "relocation area," "renewal tenant," "rent commencement date," "subtenant" and "tenant."

(ii) For purposes of this subdivision, the definitions assigned by clause (i) of this subparagraph to the terms "eligible premises," "expansion tenant," "landlord," "new tenant" and "renewal tenant" shall be modified as follows:

(A) whenever the term "eligible building" appears in any of such definitions, such term, notwithstanding anything to the contrary, shall be deemed to include an eligible government-owned building and, for purposes of subparagraph (b-2) of paragraph two of subdivision i of this section, a non-residential or mixed-use building located south of the center line of Canal Street in the borough of Manhattan, regardless of when it received its initial certificate of occupancy or initial temporary certificate of occupancy and regardless of when it was constructed and shall be deemed to include an eligible government-owned building; and

(B) a reference in any of such definitions to a lease which meets the eligibility requirements of section four hundred ninety-nine-c of the real property tax law shall be deemed to include, in the case of a lease of premises in an eligible government-owned building, a lease which meets the eligibility requirements of paragraph four of this subdivision.

(b) When used in this subdivision, the following terms shall mean or include:

(i) "Eligible government-owned building." A building that would be an eligible building, as such term is defined in section four hundred ninety-nine-a of the real property tax law, but for the fact that it is owned by a governmental agency.

(ii) "Eligible taxable premises." Taxable premises that are eligible premises or expansion premises.

(iii) "Eligible tenant." A tenant with respect to whose lease of eligible taxable premises there has been issued a certificate of abatement or a certificate of eligibility.

(iv) "Base year." The twelve-month period that commences on the rent commencement date.

(v) "Base rent for the base year." The total base rent for eligible taxable premises for the base year, determined without regard to the special reduction allowed by this subdivision.

(vi) "Certificate of abatement." The certificate of abatement issued pursuant to section four hundred ninety-nine-d of the real property tax law.

(vii) "Certificate of eligibility." The certificate of eligibility issued pursuant to paragraph five of this subdivision.

(2) (a) An eligible tenant of eligible taxable premises shall be allowed a special reduction in determining the taxable base rent for such eligible taxable premises. Such special reduction shall be allowed with respect to the rent for such eligible taxable premises for a period not exceeding sixty months or, with respect to a lease commencing on or after April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven with an initial lease term of less than five years, but not less than three years, for a period not exceeding thirty-six months, commencing on the rent commencement date applicable to such eligible taxable premises, provided, however, that in no event shall any special reduction be allowed for any period beginning after March thirty-first, two thousand sixteen. For purposes of applying such special reduction, the base rent for the base year shall, where necessary to determine the amount of the special reduction allowable with respect to any number of months falling within a tax period, be prorated by dividing the base rent for the base year by twelve and multiplying the result by such number of months.

(a-1) Notwithstanding paragraph one of this subdivision, for purposes of, and to the extent relevant to, the special reduction allowed by this subparagraph, the definitions set forth in section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law shall apply with the same force and effect as if they had been set forth in full in this subdivision, except as such definitions are hereinafter modified. An eligible tenant of eligible taxable premises shall be allowed a special reduction in determining the taxable base rent for such eligible taxable premises, provided, however, that (i) such eligible taxable premises are eligible premises as defined in paragraph (c) of subdivision ten of section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law, (ii) such eligible taxable premises are located in the special garment center district identified in the abatement zone defined in paragraph (c) of subdivision two of section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law, (iii) the lease for such eligible taxable premises commences within the eligibility period applicable to the abatement zone defined in paragraph (c) of subdivision two of section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law, (iv) the lease for such eligible taxable premises has an initial lease term of at least three years and (v) such special reduction is limited to the benefit period, as defined in subdivision five of section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law, applicable to a lease commencing on or after July first, two thousand five for eligible premises located within the abatement zone defined in paragraph (c) of subdivision two of section four hundred ninety-nine-aa of the real property tax law.

(a-2) The amount of the special reduction allowed by subparagraph (a-1) of this paragraph shall be determined as follows:

(i) For the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the base rent for the base year.

(ii) For the first through ninth twelve-month periods following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the lesser of (A) the base rent for each such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(a-3) When used in this subdivision, for purposes of the special reduction allowed by subparagraph (a-1) of this paragraph, the following terms shall mean or include:

(i) "Eligible taxable premises." Taxable premises that are eligible premises or expansion premises.

(ii) "Eligible tenant." A tenant with respect to whose lease of eligible taxable premises there has been issued a certificate of abatement.

(iii) "Base year." The twelve-month period that commences on the rent commencement date.

(iv) "Base rent for the base year." The total base rent for eligible taxable premises for the base year, determined without the special reduction allowed by subparagraph (a-1) of this paragraph.

(v) "Certificate of abatement." The certificate of abatement issued pursuant to section four hundred ninety-nine-dd of the real property tax law.

(b) Except as provided in subparagraphs (b-1) and (b-2) of this paragraph, the amount of the special reduction allowed by this subdivision shall be determined as follows:

(i) For the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the base rent for the base year.

(ii) For the first and second twelve-month periods following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the lesser of (A) the base rent for each such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(iii) For the third twelve-month period following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to two-thirds of the lesser of (A) the base rent for such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(iv) For the fourth twelve-month period following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to one-third of the lesser of (A) the base rent for such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(v) Repealed.

(b-1) The amount of the special reduction allowed by this subdivision with respect to a lease commencing on or after April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven with an initial lease term of less than five years, but not less than three years, shall be determined as follows:

(i) For the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the base rent for the base year.

(ii) For the first twelve-month period following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to two-thirds of the lesser of (A) the base rent for such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(iii) For the second twelve-month period following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to one-third of the lesser of (A) the base rent for such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(b-2) The amount of the special reduction allowed by this subdivision with respect to a lease other than a sublease commencing between July first, two thousand five and June thirtieth, two thousand nine with an initial or renewal lease term of at least five years shall be determined as follows: (i) For the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the base rent for the base year.

(ii) For the first, second, third and fourth twelve-month periods following the base year the amount of such special reduction shall be equal to the lesser of (A) the base rent for each such twelve-month period or (B) the base rent for the base year.

(c) For purposes of determining (i) whether a tenant is, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision b of this section, exempt from payment of the tax imposed by this chapter with respect to the base rent for eligible taxable premises or (ii) whether, and the extent to which, a tenant is eligible for the credit allowed pursuant to the provisions of section 11-704.3 of this chapter with respect to eligible taxable premises, the term "base rent" as used in such provisions shall be the base rent as determined prior to the allowance of any special reduction allowed by this subdivision.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, for purposes of this subdivision, expansion premises shall be treated as separate and distinct from any other premises of the expansion tenant in the same eligible building.

(3) The special reduction allowed by this subdivision shall be allowed commencing on the rent commencement date; however, if the date of the certificate of abatement or certificate of eligibility is later than the rent commencement date, the tenant shall not, in the first instance, claim the special reduction on any return required to be filed for a tax period ending prior to the date of such certificate of abatement or certificate of eligibility. If the date of such certificate of abatement or certificate of eligibility falls in a tax period subsequent to the tax period in which the rent commencement date falls, but both such dates fall within the same tax year, the special reduction that was not claimed in the first instance for any period preceding the date of such certificate of abatement or certificate of eligibility shall be reflected in the final return for the tax year. If the date of the certificate of abatement or certificate of eligibility falls in the tax year following the tax year in which the rent commencement date falls, an amended final return shall be filed for such earlier tax year in which shall be reflected any special reduction allowable for such tax year; in addition, the final return for such later tax year shall reflect any special reduction that was not claimed in the first instance for any period in such tax year preceding the date of the certificate of abatement or certificate of eligi-bility.

(4) (a) With respect to premises located in an eligible government-owned building, no special reduction shall be allowed under this subdivision unless:

(i) the landlord enters into a lease for eligible premises with a new tenant or a renewal tenant and:

(A) the lease commencement date is within the eligibility period; and

(B) (I) if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such new or renewal tenant employs fifty or fewer employees in the eligible premises, the initial lease term is for a period of at least five years, provided, however, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such new or renewal tenant employs one hundred twenty-five or fewer employees in the eligible premises, the initial lease term is for a period of at least five years, and provided, further, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such new or renewal tenant employs one hundred twenty-five or fewer employees in the eligible premises, the initial lease term is for a period of at least three years, or (II) if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such new or renewal tenant employs more than fifty employees in the eligible premises, the initial lease term is for a period of at least ten years, provided, however, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such new or renewal tenant employs more than one hundred twenty-five employees in the eligible premises, the initial lease term is for a period of at least ten years; or

(ii) the landlord enters into a lease with an expansion tenant for expansion premises and:

(A) the lease commencement date is within the eligibility period;

(B) if the expansion premises are located in the eligible building previously occupied by such expansion tenant, the lease term for the premises in the eligible building previously occupied by such expansion tenant will expire no earlier than the expiration date of the initial lease term for the expansion premises, provided that where such expansion tenant occupies premises in the eligible building under more than one lease, the foregoing provision of this subclause shall be applied with reference to the lease for the premises containing the largest amount of square feet, provided, however, that this subclause shall not apply to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six; and

(C) (I) if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such expansion tenant employs fifty or fewer employees in the eligible building in which the expansion premises are located, the initial lease term for the expansion premises is for a period of at least five years, provided, however, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such expansion tenant employs one hundred twenty-five or fewer employees in the expansion premises, the initial lease term for the expansion premises is for a period of at least five years, and provided, further, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such expansion tenant employs one hundred twenty-five or fewer employees in the expansion premises, the initial lease term for the expansion premises is for a period of at least three years, or (II) if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such expansion tenant employs more than fifty employees in such eligible building, the initial lease term for the expansion premises is for a period of at least ten years, provided, however, that with respect to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six if, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, such expansion tenant employs more than one hundred twenty-five employees in the expansion premises, the initial lease term for the expansion premises is for a period of at least ten years.

(b) Notwithstanding anything in this subdivision to the contrary, with respect to premises located in an eligible government-owned building, no certificate of eligibility shall be issued and no special reduction shall be allowed under this subdivision if:

(i) the tenant has relocated to such premises from any area in the borough of Manhattan north of the center line of 96th street or from any portion of the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, or Staten Island; or

(ii) the lease for such premises provides that during the initial lease term required under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph either the landlord or the tenant may terminate such lease prior to the expiration of such required initial lease term, provided that such lease may provide that either the landlord or the tenant may terminate such lease if (A) the other party is in default of any of such party's obligations under the lease, (B) the eligible premises are damaged or destroyed by fire or other casualty, (C) the eligible premises are rendered unusable for any reason not attributable to any act or failure to act of either tenant or landlord or (D) the eligible premises are acquired by eminent domain.

(c) For purposes of this paragraph, the expiration date of a lease shall be determined by the expiration date set forth in such lease, without giving effect to any rights of the landlord or the tenant to terminate such lease prior to the expiration date set forth therein.

(5) (a) (i) With respect to premises located in an eligible government-owned building, an application for a certificate of eligibility entitling a tenant to claim the special reduction allowed by this subdivision shall be filed by such tenant with the department of finance on or after the date on which the lease for the eligible premises is executed by the landlord and tenant but in no event more than one hundred eighty days following the later of the rent commencement date or the date that chapter four of the laws of nineteen hundred ninety-five became a law, and no such certificate of eligibility shall be issued unless such application is filed within such time.

(ii) Notwithstanding clause (i) of this subparagraph and any other provision of law to the contrary, with respect to a lease commencing on or after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six in premises located in an eligible government-owned building, an application for a certificate of eligibility entitling a tenant to claim the special reduction allowed by this subdivision shall be filed by such tenant with the department of finance on or after the date on which the lease for the eligible premises is executed by the landlord and tenant but in no event more than one hundred eighty days following the rent commencement date or sixty days following the date that the chapter of the laws of nineteen hundred ninety-seven that added this clause became a law, whichever is later, and no such certificate of eligibility shall be issued unless such application is filed within such time.

(b) In addition to any other information required by the department of finance, such application for a certificate of eligibility shall include (i) an abstract of the lease for the eligible taxable premises, which shall include the lease commencement date, the rent commencement date and the expiration date of such lease, (ii) a statement as to the number of persons employed by the tenant in the eligible taxable premises and, where applicable, in the eligible building containing such premises, by the sixtieth day following the rent commencement date, (iii) a statement as to the location of all office or retail space in the city occupied by the tenant prior to the execution of the lease for the eligible taxable premises and the commencement and expiration dates of all leases for such office or retail space located in the abatement zone. Such application shall also state that the tenant agrees to comply with and be subject to such rules as may be issued from time to time by the department of finance.

(c) The department of finance shall issue a certificate of eligibility upon determining that an application filed pursuant to this paragraph meets the requirements set forth in this subdivision, provided, however, that no such certificate of eligibility shall be issued if any payments in lieu of taxes, water or sewer charges or other lienable charges are due and owing with respect to such eligible government-owned building at the time such application is pending, unless such payments in lieu of taxes or charges are at such time being paid in timely installments pursuant to a written agreement with the department of finance or other appropriate agency.

(d) The burden of proof shall be on the tenant to show by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements for granting a certificate of eligibility have been satisfied. The department of finance shall have the authority to require that statements in connection with applications pursuant to this paragraph be made under oath.

(e) The department of finance may provide by rule for the payment by tenants of premises in eligible government-owned buildings of reasonable administrative charges or fees necessary to defray expenses in connection with the determination of initial and continuing eligibility for the special reduction allowed by this subdivision.

(6) (a) If an eligible tenant (i) sublets any portion of the eligible taxable premises to any other person, or (ii) otherwise ceases to occupy or use any portion of the premises as eligible taxable premises, such tenant shall, immediately upon the occurrence of any such event, cease to be eligible for the special reduction allowed by this subdivision with respect to the portion of the premises which is sublet or which ceases to be occupied or used by such tenant as eligible taxable premises, and for any period following the occurrence of any such event, the special reduction otherwise allowed by this subdivision shall be reduced by an amount determined by multiplying the amount of such special reduction by the percentage of the premises which is sublet or which has ceased to be occupied or used as eligible taxable premises. Such tenant shall give written notice of the occurrence of any such event to the department of finance within thirty days thereof. If the tenant fails to give such notice, an assessment of any additional tax that may become due as a result of the occurrence of any such event may be made at any time, notwithstanding anything in section 11-717 of this chapter to the contrary.

(b) Notwithstanding anything in this chapter to the contrary, a tenant claiming the special reduction allowed by this subdivision shall file a return for each tax period with respect to which such special reduction is claimed. Each such return shall contain a certification by the tenant, in such form as the department of finance may prescribe, to the effect that such tenant meets all the requirements of this subdivision, and no special reduction shall be allowed if such return does not contain such certification by such tenant.

(c) If any special reduction allowed under this subdivision was obtained by a tenant as a result of having made a false or misleading statement as to a material fact or having omitted to state any material fact necessary in order to make such statement not false or misleading, no such special reduction shall be allowed and any additional tax that becomes due as a result of such disallowance may be assessed at any time, notwithstanding anything in section 11-717 of this chapter to the contrary. In addition, the department of finance may declare any such tenant to be ineligible to claim any special reduction under this subdivision in the future with respect to the same or any other premises.

7. A determination by the department of finance pursuant to subdivision six of section four hundred ninety-nine-f of the real property tax law to deny, terminate or revoke any abatement applied for or granted pursuant to title four of article four of the real property tax law based on the relationship between the landlord and the tenant shall not be dispositive of whether such tenant is eligible for a special reduction under this subdivision. The department of finance may determine that such tenant is eligible for a special reduction under this subdivision and may issue a certificate of eligibility to such tenant in accordance with the procedures and pursuant to the standards applicable to a tenant of premises located in an eligible government-owned building, provided, however, that any application filed pursuant to paragraph five of this subdivision by a tenant whose application for a certificate of abatement pursuant to title four of article four of the real property tax law was denied by the department of finance pursuant to subdivision six of section four hundred ninety-nine-f of the real property tax law based on the relationship between the landlord and the tenant, or by a tenant whose application for a certificate of abatement pursuant to title four of article four of the real property tax law was granted by the department of finance, but whose abatement was terminated or revoked by the department of finance pursuant to subdivision six of section four hundred ninety-nine-f of the real property tax law based on the relationship between the landlord and the tenant, may be deemed by the department of finance to have been filed on the date the application for such certificate of abatement was filed. This paragraph shall only apply to leases commencing on or after April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven.

§ 11-704.2 Special credit.

A tenant whose base rent for the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-three and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-four is at least eleven thousand dollars per year but not in excess of thirteen thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars per year shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter for such tax year, such credit shall be equal to twenty-five percent of the tax imposed on such base rent for such tax year. Where the base rent of a tenant is for a period of less than one year, such base rent shall, for the purposes of this section, be determined as if it had been on an equivalent basis for the entire year. The credit allowed under this section shall be deducted prior to the deduction of any credit allowable under section 11-704.1 of this chapter.

§ 11-704.3 Tax credit.

(a) (1) For the period beginning September first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter, such credit to be determined in accordance with the following table:

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is:		The credit shall be an amount equal to the following percentage of the tax imposed on such annualized base rent for such period:
At least:	But not over:
$40,000	$44,999	80%
$45,000	$49,999	60%
$50,000	$54,999	40%
$55,000	$59,999	20%

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is over fifty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph.

(2) For the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter, such credit to be determined in accordance with the following table:

If the tenant's base rent is:		The credit shall be an amount equal to the following percentage of the tax imposed on such base rent for the tax year:
At least:	But not over:
$40,000	$44,999	80%

$45,000	$49,999	60%
$50,000	$54,999	40%
$55,000	$59,999	20%

If the tenant's base rent is over fifty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph.

(3) For each tax year beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and ending on or before May thirty-first, two thousand, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter, such credit to be determined in accordance with the following table:

If the tenant's base rent is:		The credit shall be an amount equal to the following percentage of the tax imposed by this chapter for the tax year:
At least:	But not over:
$100,000	$109,999	80%
$110,000	$119,999	60%
$120,000	$129,999	40%
$130,000	$139,999	20%

If the tenant's base rent is over one hundred thirty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph, `base rent' shall be calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter.

(4) For the period beginning June first, two thousand and ending November thirtieth, two thousand, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter, such credit to be determined in accordance with the following table:

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is:		The credit shall be an amount equal to the following percentage of the tax imposed on such annualized base rent for such period:
At least:	But not over:
$100,000	$109,999	80%
$110,000	$119,999	60%
$120,000	$129,999	40%
$130,000	$139,999	20%

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is over one hundred thirty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph `base rent' shall be calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter.

(5) For the period beginning December first, two thousand and ending May thirty-first, two thousand one, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter, such credit to be determined in accordance with the following table:

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is:		The credit shall be an amount equal to the following percentage of the tax imposed on such annualized base rent for such period:
At least:	But not over:
$150,000	$159,999	80%
$160,000	$169,999	60%
$170,000	$179,999	40%
$180,000	$189,999	20%

If the tenant's annualized base rent for such period is over one hundred eighty-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph, `base rent' shall be calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter.

(6) For each tax year beginning on or after June first, two thousand one, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed by this chapter as follows: a tenant whose base rent is at least two hundred and fifty thousand dollars but not more than three hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed a credit in an amount determined by multiplying three and nine-tenths percent of base rent by a fraction the numerator of which is three hundred thousand dollars minus the amount of base rent and the denominator of which is fifty thousand dollars. If the tenant's base rent is over three hundred thousand dollars, no credit shall be allowed under this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph, `base rent' shall be calculated without regard to any reduction in base rent allowed by paragraph two of subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter.

(b) (1) Where the base rent of a tenant is for a period of less than one year, such base rent shall, for purposes of this section, be determined as if it had been on an equivalent basis for the entire year. The credits allowed under this section shall be deducted prior to the deduction of any credit allowable under section 11-704.1 of this chapter.

(2) For purposes of paragraphs four and five of subdivision (a) of this section, base rent for the period specified in each of such paragraphs shall be separately annualized as if it had been on an equivalent basis for an entire year, irrespective of the actual base rent for the tax year including the period specified in such paragraph.

a. Every tenant subject to tax under this chapter shall file with the commissioner of finance a return with respect to the taxes payable for the three month periods ending on the last days of August, November and February of each year and a final return with respect to the taxes payable for the tax year ending on the last day of May of each year. Such returns shall be filed within twenty days from the expiration of the period covered thereby. A tenant who is exempt from the tax by reason of paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter shall nevertheless be required to file a final return, provided, however, that for tax years beginning on or after June first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, no such final return shall be required from such exempt tenant with respect to taxable premises if (1) the tenant's rent for such premises, determined without regard to any deduction from or reduction in rent or base rent allowed by this chapter, does not exceed fifteen thousand dollars for the tax year and (2) in the case of a tenant who has more than one taxable premises, the aggregate rents for all such premises, determined without regard to any deduction from or reduction in rent or base rent allowed by this chapter, do not exceed fifteen thousand dollars for the tax year. For tax years beginning on June first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and ending on or before May thirty-first, two thousand one, no such final return shall be required from such exempt tenant with respect to any taxable premises if (1) the tenant's rent for such premises, determined without regard to any deduction from or reduction in rent or base rent allowed by this chapter, does not exceed seventy-five thousand dollars for the tax year and (2) the amount of rent received or due from any subtenant of such exempt tenant with respect to such premises does not exceed seventy-five thousand dollars for the tax year. For tax years beginning on or after June first, two thousand one, no such final return shall be required from such exempt tenant with respect to any taxable premises if (1) the tenant's rent for such premises, determined without regard to any deduction from or reduction in rent or base rent allowed by this chapter, does not exceed two hundred thousand dollars for the tax year and (2) the amount of rent received or due from any subtenant of such exempt tenant with respect to such premises does not exceed two hundred thousand dollars for the tax year. Notwithstanding anything in this subdivision to the contrary, for tax periods beginning on or after September first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, no return shall be required pursuant to this subdivision with respect to any taxable premises located in that part of the city specified in paragraph one of subdivision h of section 11-704 of this chapter, and no such taxable premises shall be taken into account for purposes of clause two of the preceding sentence. The commissioner of finance may permit or require returns (including final returns) to be made for other periods and upon such dates as the commissioner may specify and if he or she deems it necessary in order to insure the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter, the commissioner may require such returns to be made for shorter periods than those prescribed by the foregoing provisions of this section, and upon such dates as he or she may specify.

b. The commissioner of finance may by regulation require the filing of information returns and supplemental information returns by landlords and by tenants of taxable premises, whether or not they are required to pay the tax imposed by this chapter, upon such dates or at such times as the commissioner may specify if he or she deems the filing of such information returns necessary for proper administration of this chapter.

c. The form of returns and information returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns or amended information returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

d. If a return or information return is not filed, or if a return of any kind when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

a. The tax imposed by this chapter shall be due and payable on or before the twentieth day of the calendar month following the end of each tax period and shall be paid to the commissioner of finance, as follows: The tax to be paid at such time shall be based on the base rent for such tax period and the rate of tax shall be the one which would be applicable if the base rent for such period were the same for each tax period during the tax year, except that the payment required to be made together with the final return or at the time that the final return should be filed shall be the amount by which the actual tax for the tax year exceeds the amounts previously paid for the tax year.

b. Where the final return shows that the amount of tax paid for the tax year exceeds the actual tax for such year, the commissioner of finance shall make the appropriate refund as promptly as possible, provided, however, that where the commissioner of finance has reason to believe that the final return is inaccurate, the commissioner may withhold the refund in whole or in part. The making of a refund pursuant to this subdivision shall not prevent the commissioner of finance from making a determination that additional tax is due or from pursuing any other method to recover the full amount of the actual tax due for the tax year.

c. Where a tenant ceases to do business the tax, as measured by the tenant's base rent for the prior part of the tax year, shall be due immediately, and the tenant shall file a final return, but, should the tenant continue to pay rent for the taxable premises, the tenant shall file the normally required returns and a final return for the tax year, provided, however, that any such tax payment shall be applied in reduction of the tax payments required to be made with such returns or with the final return for such tax year.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the commissioner of finance shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the conciliation*21 of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of22 the commissioner's own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with interest and penalties thereon, if any, shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking with the commissioner of finance, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid, if written application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within eighteen months from the date fixed by this chapter for filing the return on which such payment was based or within six months of the payment thereof, whichever of such periods expire the later. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied, the commissioner of finance shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing of any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to section one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner of finance, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-708 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-708 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional, or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

§ 11-712 Proceedings to recover tax.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax or penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce payment of the same against the person liable for the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which tax or penalties might be satisfied and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall, within five days after the receipt of the warrant, file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant the sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees which the sheriff may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but he or she shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of section forty-four of the personal property law, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, the commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding ninety days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information from the tax commission of the state on New York or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford information to such tax commission or such treasury department relative to any person;

4. To delegate the commissioner's functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or other employee or employees of the commissioner's department;

5. To assess, determine, revise and adjust the taxes imposed under this chapter;

6. To require any tenant who uses premises for both residential purposes and as taxable premises and who pays an undivided rent for the entire premises so used to provide the commissioner with a signed and notarized request to the United States director of internal revenue for photostatic copies of the tenant's income tax return for any year when the commissioner deems such income tax return necessary to determine the rent ascribable to so much of such premises as is used as taxable premises; and, if the tenant refuses to provide the commissioner with such a signed written request, to treat the rent for the entire premises as the rent for so much as is used as taxable premises;

7. To prescribe methods for determining how much of any tenant's base rent is ascribable to a use which results in a reduction of the base rent or for determining any other division of rent or of use of premises necessary for the determination of the base rent or the amount of base rent subject to tax under this chapter;

8. To authorize banks or trust companies which are depositories or financial agents of the city to receive and give a receipt for any tax imposed under this chapter in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as the commissioner of finance may prescribe; and the commissioner of finance shall prescribe the manner, times and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the commissioner of finance.

§ 11-715 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayment; quarterly return. If any amount of tax required to be paid together with a return, other than the final return for a tax year, is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date until twenty days after the end of the tax year during which such payments were due or until such prior time as the tax paid for the tax year equals seventy-five percent of the full tax required to be paid for the tax year. Such interest shall be paid with the final return for the tax year to which it relates. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) Interest on underpayment; final return. If any amount of tax required to be paid together with the final return for a tax year is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (h) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(c) (1) Failure to file final return. (A) in case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate, and, in addition thereto, where a tenant, with respect to any taxable premises, is exempt from tax by reason of paragraph two of subdivision b of section 11-704 of this chapter, there shall be imposed a penalty of one hundred dollars.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on final return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a final return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on final return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a final return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-708 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any final return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any final return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(d) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (b) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(e) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (b) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (c) or (d) of this section.

(f) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(g) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(h) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the same for each subdivision and shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(i) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

(j) Substantial understatement of liability. If there is a substantial understatement of tax for any tax year, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to ten percent of the amount of any underpayment attributable to such understatement. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a substantial understatement of tax for any tax year if the amount of the understatement for the tax year exceeds the greater of ten percent of the tax required to be shown on the final return for the tax year or five thousand dollars. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "understatement" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be shown on the final return for the tax year, over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return, reduced by any rebate. The amount of such understatement shall be reduced by that portion of the understatement which is attributable to the tax treatment of any item by the taxpayer if there is or was substantial authority for such treatment, or any item with respect to which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. The commissioner of finance may waive all or any part of the addition to tax provided by this subdivision on a showing by the taxpayer that there was reasonable cause for the understatement (or part thereof) and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

(k) Aiding or assisting in the giving of fraudulent returns, reports, statements or other documents. (1) Any person who, with the intent that tax be evaded, shall, for a fee or other compensation or as an incident to the performance of other services for which such person receives compensation, aid or assist in, or procure, counsel, or advise the preparation or presentation under, or in connection with any matter arising under this chapter of any return, report, statement or other document which is fraudulent or false as to any material matter, or supply any false or fraudulent information, whether or not such falsity or fraud is with the knowledge or consent of the person authorized or required to present such return, report, statement or other document shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the term "procures" includes ordering (or otherwise causing) a subordinate to do an act, and knowing of, and not attempting to prevent, participation by a subordinate in an act. The term "subordinate" means any other person (whether or not a director, officer, employee, or agent of the taxpayer involved) over whose activities the person has direction, supervision, or control.

(3) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, a person furnishing typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assistance with respect to a document shall not be treated as having aided or assisted in the preparation of such document by reason of such assistance.

(4) The penalty imposed by this subdivision shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

§ 11-716 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the department of finance of the city, any officer or employee of the department of finance of the city, any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, the tax appeals tribunal, any commissioner or employee of such tribunal, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner any information relating to the business of a taxpayer contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the courts may require the production of, and may admit in evidence so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or the taxpayer's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with his or her tax; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto, to the United States of America or any department thereof, the state of New York or any department thereof, any agency or any department of the city of New York provided the same is requested for official business; nor to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or items thereof.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

§ 11-717 Notices and limitation of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given to the person for whom it is intended by mailing it in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by such person or if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of a notice as in this paragraph provided for shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice as in this subdivision provided.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the final return for the tax year to which the assessment relates; provided, however, that where no return has been made as provided by law, the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a person has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

§ 11-801 Definitions.

When used in this chapter, the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, corporation, joint-stock company, society, association, receiver, lessee, trustee, estate, referee, assignee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

2. "Motor vehicle." Any vehicle operated upon a public highway or public street propelled by any power other than muscular power.

3. "Commercial motor vehicle." (a) Each truck, tractor, trailer or semi-trailer, and any other motor vehicle constructed or specially equipped for the transportation of goods, wares and merchandise which is commonly known as an auto truck or light delivery car;

(b) Any traction engine, road roller, tractor crane, truck crane, power shovel, road building machine, snow plow, road sweeper, sand spreader, well driller, or well servicing rig; and

(c) Any earth moving equipment as defined in the vehicle and traffic law; provided that such motor vehicles are used principally in the city or used principally in connection with a business carried on within the city.

4. "Motor vehicle for transportation of passengers." (a) Any motor vehicle licensed as a taxicab or as a coach, or any motor vehicle, not so licensed, which carries passengers for compensation, including limousine service, whether the compensation paid by or on behalf of the passenger is based on mileage, trip, time consumed or any other basis; and

(b) Any omnibus, except one operated pursuant to a franchise when, under such franchise or under a contract (relating to transportation to or from airports in the city) with the port of New York authority, the holder of the franchise pays to the city or to the port of New York authority a percentage of its gross earnings or gross receipts or one used exclusively in interstate commerce; provided such motor vehicles, as defined in paragraph (a) or (b) of this subdivision, are used regularly, even though not principally, in the city; and further provided that this definition shall not be deemed to include any motor vehicle used principally for the transportation of children to and from schools and day camps operated by non-profit agencies as defined in subdivision four of section 11-803, any motor vehicle used exclusively for transportation of persons in connection with funerals or any motor vehicle for transportation of passengers where neither the owner of such motor vehicle nor any person or business engaged in transporting passengers by motor vehicle for-hire that is affiliated with such owner has a place of business in such city, a telephone number in such city, or solicits business or specifically advertises in such city.

5. "Owner." Any person owning a commercial motor vehicle or a motor vehicle for the transporation of passengers and shall include a purchaser under a reserve title contract, conditional sales agreement or vendor's lien agreement. In addition, an owner shall be deemed to include any lessee, licensee or bailee having the exclusive use of a commercial motor vehicle or a vehicle for the transportation of passengers, under a lease or otherwise, for a period of thirty days or more.

6. "Omnibus." Any motor vehicle for transportation of passengers for hire having a seating capacity of more than seven persons.

7. "Use." Any use of a motor vehicle upon the public highways or streets of the city.

8. "Maximum gross weight." The weight of the motor vehicle plus the weight of the maximum load to be carried, if any, by such vehicle.

9. "Registered owner." The person who registers a motor vehicle as owner thereof pursuant to the registration requirements of the vehicle and traffic law of the state of New York.

10. "Registration fee." The full annual fee or charge prescribed in the vehicle and traffic law of the state of New York for the registration of a motor vehicle.

11. "City." The city of New York.

12. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

13. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

14. "Tax year." June first of any calendar year through May thirty-first of the following calendar year.

15. "Medallion taxicab." A motor vehicle for transportation of passengers which is duly licensed as a taxicab by the taxi and limousine commission of the city and permitted to accept hails from passengers in the street.

16. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

17. "Commissioner of motor vehicles." The commissioner of motor vehicles of the state of New York.

CHAPTER 8 TAX ON COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES AND MOTOR VEHICLES FOR TRANSPORTATION OF PASSENGERS

§ 11-802 Imposition of tax.

a. In addition to any and all other taxes, including the compensating use tax, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid annually for each tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred sixty, a tax on the use in the city of motor vehicles to be paid by the owners of such vehicles as follows:

1. (A) For tax years ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-two, on commercial vehicles, twenty dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of five tons or less, and thirty dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of more than five tons, provided, however, that for each such vehicle having a registration fee prescribed in the vehicle and traffic law of the state of New York which is less than twenty dollars, the tax shall be an amount equal to such registration fee;

(B) For tax years beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred seventy-two but before June first, nineteen hundred ninety, on commercial vehicles, forty dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of five tons or less, and sixty dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of more than five tons, provided, however, that for each such vehicle having a registration fee prescribed in the vehicle and traffic law of the state of New York which is less than forty dollars, the tax shall be an amount equal to such registration fee.

(C) For tax years beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred ninety, on commercial vehicles, forty dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of ten thousand pounds or less, two hundred dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of more than ten thousand pounds but not more than twelve thousand five hundred pounds, two hundred seventy-five dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of more than twelve thousand five hundred pounds but not more than fifteen thousand pounds and three hundred dollars for each such vehicle having a maximum gross weight of more than fifteen thousand pounds, provided, however, that for each such vehicle having a registration fee prescribed in the vehicle and traffic law of the state of New York which is less than forty dollars, the tax shall be an amount equal to such registration fee.

2. (A) For tax years ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety, on motor vehicles for the transportation of passengers other than medallion taxicabs, and for tax years ending on or before May thirty-first, nineteen hundred eight*24 -nine, on medallion taxicabs, one hundred dollars for each such vehicle.

(B) For the tax year beginning June first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and ending May thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety, on medallion taxicabs, five hundred dollars for each such vehicle.

(C) For tax years beginning on and after June first, nineteen hundred ninety, on medallion taxicabs, one thousand dollars for each such vehicle, and on all other motor vehicles for transportation of passengers, four hundred dollars for each such vehicle.

b. To the extent that the tax as imposed by subdivision a of this section may be invalid solely because it is based on the use in the city of the motor vehicles, the tax shall also be deemed to be based on the privilege of using the public highways or streets of the city by such motor vehicle. Under such circumstances the rate of tax shall be the same and all other provisions of this chapter shall be equally applicable.

c. If the first use of any motor vehicle subject to the tax imposed hereunder occurs on or after December first and before March first in any tax year, the tax for that year shall be one-half of the tax hereinabove provided; and, if the first such use occurs on or after March first in any tax year, the tax for that tax year shall be one-fourth of the tax hereinabove provided.

d. In applying the tax on commercial motor vehicles with respect to tractors, trailers and semi-trailers, the tax shall be measured by the weight of the tractor plus the maximum gross weight of the trailer or semi-trailer with the greatest such maximum gross weight to be drawn by such tractor. No trailer or semi-trailer shall be subject to any separate or additional tax under this chapter.

§ 11-803 Exemptions.

The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to motor vehicles owned and operated, or leased for their exclusive use by:

1. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

2. The United States of America;

3. The United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

4. Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision;

5. Any foreign nation or representative of a foreign nation with respect to motor vehicles for which they need not pay a registration fee under the provisions of the vehicle and traffic law;

6. Dealers in new and used motor vehicles where the use of the motor vehicle is confined solely to demonstrations to prospective customers or to delivery by or to the dealer and the vehicle bears dealer's license plates.

§ 11-806 Registration.

a. By July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty or, upon acquiring any motor vehicle subject to tax hereunder after such date, within two days of such acquisition, every owner shall file with the commissioner of finance a certificate of registration in such form as prescribed by the commissioner of finance.

b. In order to determine whether motor vehicles are subject to the tax under this chapter and to facilitate administration thereof an information registration certificate in such form as is prescribed by the commissioner of finance shall be filed with the commissioner of finance by any person who owns or acquires:

1. A motor vehicle of a type described in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of subdivision three of section 11-801 of this chapter which is registered in the city under the vehicle and traffic law or is used in the city in connection with a business carried on within the city; or

2. A motor vehicle of the type described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of subdivision four of section 11-801 of this chapter which is registered in the city under the vehicle and traffic law or is used in the city.

Such an information registration certificate shall be filed by July thirteenth, nineteen hundred sixty or, if a motor vehicle is acquired after such date, within two days after such acquisition. An information registration certificate, however, need not be filed with respect to any motor vehicle for which a registration certificate has been filed pursuant to subdivision a of this section. The commissioner of finance may, by regulation, provide that information registration certificates need not be filed with respect to a type of motor vehicle or with respect to any general group within a type of motor vehicle.

a. On or before the twentieth day of June in each year commencing with the year nineteen hundred sixty, every owner of a motor vehicle subject to tax under this chapter shall file a return with the commissioner of finance. A supplemental return shall also be filed by every owner with regard to each motor vehicle subject to tax acquired during any tax year at a time subsequent to the filing of the owner's regular return. Such supplemental return shall be filed with the commissioner of finance within a stated time, as fixed by regulation of the commissioner of finance, after the acquisition of the motor vehicle. An owner who acquires a motor vehicle subject to the tax after the commencement of a tax year and who has not filed a return or supplemental return with respect to such motor vehicle shall file a return with respect to it within two days after its acquisition by the owner.

b. The commissioner of finance, by regulation, may require that each person required under this chapter to file an information registration certificate file an information return with the commissioner of finance annually or at such other times as the commissioner deems appropriate for proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance may, by regulation, provide that information returns need not be filed or that they be filed at different times with respect to a type of motor vehicle or with respect to any general group within a type of motor vehicle or with respect to any particular circumstances.

c. The commissioner of finance may permit or require returns, supplemental returns or information returns to be filed at times other than those specified in the commissioner's regulations. If the commissioner deems it necessary in order to insure payment of the tax imposed by this chapter, the commissioner of finance may require any return, supplemental return or information return to be filed with him or her at a time other than that fixed by such

d. The form of returns, supplemental returns and information returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns, amended supplemental returns or amended information returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

e. If a return, supplemental return or information return is not filed, or if a return of any kind when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

a. At the time of filing a return or supplemental return the owner shall pay to the commissioner of finance the tax imposed hereunder. Such tax shall be due and payable on the last day on which such return or supplemental return is required to be filed, regardless of whether such a return is filed or whether the return which is filed correctly indicates the amount of tax due.

b. Where an owner of a motor vehicle subject to tax under this chapter replaces it with another motor vehicle during a tax year, the owner shall be entitled, upon approval by the commissioner of finance, to have any tax paid with respect to the replaced vehicle credited toward the tax payable with respect to the replacement vehicle for the balance of such tax year, and the owner shall pay no additional tax for such tax year with respect to it unless its nature or its maximum gross weight requires the payment of a higher amount of tax than that paid with respect to the replaced vehicle. A supplemental return, where required, shall be filed with respect to a replacement vehicle irrespective of whether additional tax is payable. Upon the grant of a waiver of tax by the commissioner of finance a purchaser of a motor vehicle subject to tax under this chapter who purchases it during a tax year from an owner who has paid the tax shall not be required to pay the tax with respect to such motor vehicle for the balance of such tax year if, and only if, the owner obtains, and submits to the commissioner of finance together with his or her return or supplemental return, a certificate or its equivalent (as prescribed by the commissioner of finance) signed by the prior owner to the effect that the prior owner has not had the tax paid credited toward any replacement vehicle and will not seek to obtain such a credit for any replacement vehicle purchased in the future. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall be deemed to authorize a refund merely because a motor vehicle with respect to which the tax has been paid is sold or otherwise

c. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the tax imposed on medallion taxicabs pursuant to subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter shall be due and payable in two equal installments, the first of which shall be due and payable on or before the last day on which the return or supplemental return for the tax year is required to be filed, and the second of which shall be due and payable on or before the first day of December in such tax year; provided, however, that if a medallion taxicab is acquired subsequent to the first day of November in such tax year, the full amount of the tax imposed for the tax year shall be due and payable on or before the last day on which the supplemental return with respect to such medallion taxicab is required to be filed.

d. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the tax imposed on medallion taxicabs pursuant to subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter shall, to the extent not previously paid, be due and payable on or before December first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine; provided, however, that if the tax imposed on a medallion taxicab would, but for the provisions of this subdivision, be due and payable subsequent to December first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, the due date of such tax shall be determined without regard to this subdivision; and provided, further, that nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to extend the date for payment of any tax imposed by paragraph two of subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter as such paragraph two was in effect immediately prior to its amendment by the local law which added this subdivision.

§ 11-809 Stamps and other indicia of payment.

a. The commissioner of finance may, by regulation, provide that the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter shall be evidenced by suitable stamps or other indicia of payment in a form prescribed by the commissioner of finance and that every owner shall affix such stamps or other indicia of payment in the manner prescribed by regulation to each motor vehicle for which a tax had been paid, or shall otherwise keep the indicia of payment with the vehicle, readily available for inspection, in the manner prescribed by regulation. The owner or driver of the vehicle, upon demand, shall exhibit the indicia of payment to the commissioner of finance or the commissioner's duly authorized agent or employee or to any police officer of this city or state. The commissioner of finance may, by regulation, make similar provision for the use of stamps or other indicia that no tax is payable with respect to particular motor vehicles.

b. An owner who sells a motor vehicle shall not transfer any stamp or other indicia of payment to the purchaser except on a sale to a purchaser to whom the owner has properly given the certificate provided for in section 11-808 of this chapter with regard to not obtaining a credit toward any tax payable with respect to a replacement vehicle. The commissioner of finance shall, by regulation, provide for the destruction of the stamp or other indicia of payment or its return to the commissioner of finance upon all sales except where transfer to the purchaser is permitted and, where the motor vehicle sold has been replaced, for the issuance of replacement stamps or indicia of payment.

§ 11-809.1 Collection of tax by commissioner of motor vehicles.

a. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary, the tax imposed by this chapter on any commercial motor vehicle with a maximum gross weight of ten thousand pounds or less and on any motor vehicle for transportation of passengers, other than a medallion taxicab, shall be collected by the commissioner of motor vehicles, provided that any such motor vehicle is registered or required to be registered pursuant to any provision of section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law. The owner of each such motor vehicle shall pay the tax due thereon to the commissioner of motor vehicles on or before the date upon which such owner registers or renews the registration of such motor vehicle or is required to register or renew the registration thereof pursuant to section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law.

b. Notwithstanding any provision of section four hundred of the vehicle and traffic law to the contrary, payment of the tax with respect to a motor vehicle described in subdivision a of this section shall be a condition precedent to the registration or renewal thereof of such motor vehicle and to the issuance of any certificate of registration and plates or removable date tag in accordance with the vehicle and traffic law and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, and no such certificate of registration, plates or tag shall be issued unless such tax has been paid. If the registration period applicable to any such vehicle is a period of not less than two years, as a result of the application of the provisions of paragraph c of subdivision five of section four hundred one of the vehicle and traffic law, the tax required to be paid pursuant to this section shall be the annual tax specified in section 11-802 of this chapter multiplied by the number of years in the registration period. The commissioner of motor vehicles, upon payment of the tax pursuant to this section or upon the application of any person exempt therefrom, shall furnish to each taxpayer paying the tax a receipt for such tax and to each other taxpayer or exempt person a statement, document or other form prescribed by the commissioner of motor vehicles, showing that such tax has been paid or is not due with respect to such motor vehicle.

c. Notwithstanding the definition of the term "tax year" contained in subdivision fourteen of section 11-801 of this chapter, for purposes of the taxes payable to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section, "tax year" shall mean the twelve-month registration period applicable to the subject motor vehicle under the vehicle and traffic law and, in the case of a registration period of at least two years, shall mean each succeeding twelve-month period falling within such registration period.

d. Where the tax imposed by this chapter has been paid to the commissioner of finance with respect to a motor vehicle for a tax year described in subdivision fourteen of section 11-801 of this chapter, and subsequent thereto but within such tax year the same taxpayer pays a tax to the commissioner of motor vehicles with respect to such motor vehicle pursuant to this section, such taxpayer shall be entitled to a refund or credit from the commissioner of finance for the portion of the tax paid to the commissioner of finance which is attributable to the period beginning on the first day of the first tax year (as the term "tax year" is defined in subdivision c of this section) for which the tax is paid to the commissioner of motor vehicles and ending on the following May thirty-first, provided, however, that no such refund or credit shall be allowed if the amount thereof is less than five dollars. Any refund or credit to which a taxpayer is entitled pursuant to this subdivision shall be promptly refunded or credited, without interest, by the commissioner of finance, and the commissioner of finance may promulgate such rules as he or she deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this subdivision. Any amount for which the taxpayer is entitled to a refund or credit pursuant to this subdivision may be allowed as a credit against the tax payable to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section to the extent and in the manner provided for in the agreement authorized by subdivision k of this section.

e. Whenever any fee or portion of a fee paid for the registration of a motor vehicle under the provisions of the vehicle and traffic law is refunded pursuant to the provisions of subdivision one or one-a of section four hundred twenty-eight thereof, the amount of any tax paid to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section upon such registration shall also be refunded by the commissioner of motor vehicles, provided that where a fee is refunded pursuant to subdivision one-a of such section four hundred twenty-eight, the amount of tax to be refunded shall be limited to the tax paid for a tax year commencing subsequent to the end of the first twelve-month period of such registration.

f. Where the annual registration period applicable to a particular class of motor vehicle begins and ends on the same dates for all motor vehicles within such class, the tax payable to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section with respect to a motor vehicle within such class which is registered or required to be registered after the commencement of such annual registration period shall be determined for such period as follows:

1. If such motor vehicle is registered or required to be registered before the first day of the seventh month of such period, the tax shall be the amount specified in subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter.

2. If such motor vehicle is registered or required to be registered on or after the first day of the seventh month of such period but before the first day of the tenth month of such period, the tax shall be one-half of the amount specified in subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter.

3. If such motor vehicle is registered or required to be registered on or after the first day of the tenth month of such period, the tax shall be one-fourth of the amount specified in subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter.

g. The provisions of subdivision b of section 11-808 of this chapter shall apply to this section with such modifications or adaptations as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this section and to ensure collection of the appropriate annual tax specified in subdivision a of section 11-802 of this chapter, and with due regard to the respective responsibilities of the commissioner of finance and the commissioner of motor vehicles under this section and to the definitions of "tax year" contained in subdivision c of this section and subdivision fourteen of section 11-801 of this chapter. The agreement between the commissioner of finance and the commissioner of motor vehicles authorized by subdivision k of this section may contain such provisions concerning the division of responsibility for collection of the taxes imposed by this chapter and the granting of refunds or credits as are consistent with this section and subdivision b of section 11-808 of this chapter, and the commissioner of finance and the commissioner of motor vehicles may also adopt such rules as they deem necessary for such purposes.

h. Notwithstanding any provision of section 11-807 of this chapter to the contrary, at the time a tax is required to be paid to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section, the person required to pay such tax shall file a return with the commissioner of motor vehicles in such form and containing such information as he or she may prescribe. The taxpayer's application for registration or the renewal thereof shall constitute the return required under this subdivision unless the commissioner of motor vehicles shall otherwise provide by rule. A return filed pursuant to this subdivision with respect to a motor vehicle for a tax year or years shall be in lieu of any return otherwise required to be filed with respect thereto pursuant to section 11-807 of this chapter.

i. In any case in which the tax imposed by this chapter is required to be paid to the commissioner of motor vehicles but is not so paid, the commissioner of finance shall collect such tax and all of the provisions of this chapter relating to collection of taxes by the commissioner of finance shall apply with respect thereto.

j. Notwithstanding any provision of section four hundred of the vehicle and traffic law to the contrary, in those cases in which the commissioner of finance is responsible for collecting the tax imposed by this chapter, the commissioner of motor vehicles shall not issue a certificate of registration, plates or removable date tag for any motor vehicle subject to such tax with respect to which the commissioner of finance has notified the commissioner of motor vehicles that such tax has not been paid, unless the registrant submits proof, in a form approved by the commissioner of motor vehicles, that such tax has been paid, or is not due, with respect to such motor vehicle.

k. The commissioner of finance is hereby authorized and empowered to enter into an agreement with the commissioner of motor vehicles to govern the collection of the taxes imposed by this chapter which are required to be paid to the commissioner of motor vehicles pursuant to this section. Such agreement shall provide for the exclusive method of collection, custody and remittal to the commissioner of finance of the proceeds of any such tax; for the payment by the city of the reasonable expenses incurred by the department of motor vehicles in connection with the collection of any such tax; for the commissioner of finance, or a duly designated representative, upon his or her request, not more frequently than once in each calendar year at a time agreed upon by the state comptroller, to audit the accuracy of the payments, distributions and remittances to the city; and for such other matters as may be necessary and proper to effectuate the purposes of such agreement. Such agreement shall have the force and effect of a rule or regulation of the commissioner of motor vehicles and shall be filed and published in accordance with any statutory requirements relating thereto.

l. The commissioner of motor vehicles shall promptly notify the corporation counsel of the city of any litigation instituted against such commissioner which challenges the constitutionality or validity of any provision of this chapter, or of the enabling act pursuant to which it was adopted, or which attempts to limit or question the application of either such law, and such notification shall include copies of the papers served upon such commissioner.

m. The commissioner of motor vehicles shall begin to collect taxes in accordance with the provisions of this section at such time as is specified in the agreement between the commissioner of motor vehicles and the commissioner of finance provided for in subdivision k of this section.

n. In addition to any other powers granted to the commissioner of motor vehicles in this chapter or any other law, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. to adopt and amend rules appropriate to the carrying out of his or her responsibilities under this chapter;

2. to request information concerning motor vehicles and persons subject to the provisions of this chapter from the department of motor vehicles of any other state, the treasury department of the United States or the appropriate officials of any city or county of the state of New York; and to afford such information to such department of motor vehicles, treasury department or officials of such city or county, any provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

3. to delegate his or her functions under this section to a deputy commissioner in the department of motor vehicles or any employee of such department or to any county clerk or other officer who acts as the agent of such commissioner in the registration of motor vehicles;

4. to require all persons owning motor vehicles with respect to which the tax imposed by this chapter is payable to the commissioner of motor vehicles to keep such records as he or she may prescribe and to furnish such information upon his or her request; and

5. to extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return required to be filed with the commissioner of motor vehicles for a period not exceeding sixty days.

o. To the extent that any provision of this section is in conflict with any other provision of this chapter, the provisions of this section shall be controlling, but in all other respects such other provisions of this chapter shall remain fully applicable with respect to the imposition, administration and collection of the taxes imposed by this chapter.

§ 11-810 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the commissioner of finance shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices such as motor vehicle registration with the department of motor vehicles and/or any other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (i)*25 serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding, or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid, if written application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied, the commissioner of finance shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing or*26 notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer, unless an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-810 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-810 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or on the commissioner's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

The remedies provided by this chapter shall be the exclusive remedies available to any person for the review of tax liability imposed by this chapter; and no determination or proposed determination of tax or determination on any application for refund by the commissioner of finance, nor any decision by the tax appeals tribunal or any of its administrative law judges, shall be enjoined or reviewed by an action for declaratory judgment, an action for money had and received or by any action or proceeding other than, in the case of a decision by the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc, a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that a taxpayer may proceed by declaratory judgment if the taxpayer institutes suit within thirty days after a deficiency assessment is made and pays the amount of the deficiency assessment to the commissioner of finance prior to the institution of such suit and posts a bond for costs as provided in section 11-810 of this chapter.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax or penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce payment of the same against the person liable for the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which tax or penalties might be satisfied and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, the commissioner may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall, within five days after the receipt of the warrant, file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgement docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant the sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but such officer or employee shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of section forty-four of the personal property law, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-815 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to all other powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, the commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered: 1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any kind of return for a period not exceeding sixty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information concerning motor vehicles and persons subject to the provisions of this chapter from the department of motor vehicles and from the department of taxation and finance of the state of New York or any successor to their duties, or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford information to such department of motor vehicles, department of taxation and finance or any successor to their duties, or to such treasury department relative to any person, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate the commissioner's functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or any employee or employees of the department of finance;

5. To assess, reassess, determine, revise and readjust the taxes imposed under this chapter;

6. To provide methods for identifying motor vehicles not subject to or exempt from the tax imposed under this chapter;

7. To provide that a certificate of registration need not be filed with respect to any or all types of motor vehicles, or to provide that such certificate of registration with respect to any or all types of motor vehicles shall be contained on or combined with any return or supplemental return required to be filed under this chapter.

§ 11-816 Administration of oaths and compelling testimony.

a. The commissioner of finance, the commissioner's employees duly designated and authorized by the commissioner, the tax appeals tribunal and any of its duly designated and authorized employees shall have power to administer oaths and take affidavits in relation to any matter or proceeding in the exercise of their powers and duties under this chapter. The commissioner of finance and the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the performance of the duties of the commissioner or of the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and of the enforcement of this chapter and to examine them in relation thereto, and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend before the commissioner or the tax appeals tribunal or excused from attendance.

b. A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal under this chapter.

c. Cross-reference; criminal penalties. For failure to obey subpoenas or for testifying falsely, see section 11-4007 of this title; for supplying false or fraudulent information, see section 11-4009 of this title.

d. The officers who serve the summons or subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and witnesses attending in response thereto shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to officers and witnesses in civil cases in courts of record, except as herein otherwise provided. Such officers shall be the city sheriff, and the sheriff's duly appointed deputies or any officers or employees of the department of finance or the tax appeals tribunal, designated to serve such process.

CHAPTER 8 TAX ON COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES AND MOTOR VEHICLES FOR TRANSPORTATION OF PASSENGERS

§ 11-817 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-810 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this subchapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a motor vehicle has not be registered, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-818 Information and records to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, any other agency, officer or employee of the city, the commissioner of motor vehicles, any officer or employee of the department of motor vehicles, any agent of the commissioner of motor vehicles, or any other person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any registration or return filed hereunder, or to whom a copy, an abstract or portion of any registration or return filed hereunder is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any registration or return filed hereunder is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner any information relating to or contained in any registration or any kind of return filed hereunder. The officers charged with the custody of such registration and returns pertaining to the tax hereunder shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the city, the commissioner of finance, the state or the commissioner of motor vehicles, in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the registration, return or facts shown therein are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events, the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said registration, return, or of the facts shown therein, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The commissioner of finance may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after a formal hearing held pursuant to section 11-810 or 11-811 of this chapter. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a person or such person's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any registration or return filed by such person; nor to prohibit the delivery of any original return, with any notation that the commissioner of finance or the commissioner of motor vehicles may cause to be made thereon, to the person filing the return, whether such person files the return on his or her own behalf or on behalf of another, or to the person on whose behalf the return is filed; nor to prohibit the commissioner of finance from providing by rule for the display or production of any original return, as an indicium of payment of the tax imposed by this chapter; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular registrations and returns and the items thereof; nor to prohibit the delivery of a certified copy of any registration or return to the United States of America or any department thereof, the state of New York or any department thereof, the city of New York or any department thereof provided it is requested for official business, nor to prohibit the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city, the attorney general of the state of New York or other legal representatives of the department of motor vehicles, or by the district attorney of any county within the city of the registration or return of any person who shall bring action to set aside or review any tax hereunder, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter is instituted. Returns, or reproductions thereof, pertaining to any motor vehicle registered hereunder shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance or the commissioner of motor vehicles permits them to be destroyed.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city or the state of New York who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city or the state of New York for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

§ 11-819 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given to the person for whom it is intended by mailing it in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last registration of a motor vehicle filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, or in any application made by such person, or if no such registration has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of a notice as in this subdivision provided for shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice as in this subdivision provided.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent registration or return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of such return; provided, however, that where no registration or no return has been made as provided by law, the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a person has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, commissioner of motor vehicles, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, commissioner of motor vehicles, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, commissioner of motor vehicles, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by rule of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

CHAPTER 9 TAX UPON FOREIGN AND ALIEN INSURERS

§ 11-901 Definitions.

Wherever used in this chapter, the following words and phrases shall mean and include:

"Alien insurer." Any insurer incorporated or organized under the laws of any foreign nation, or of any province or territory not included under the definition of a foreign insurer.

"Foreign insurer." Any insurer, except a mutual insurance company taxed under the provisions of section nine thousand one hundred five of the insurance law, incorporated or organized under the laws of any state, as herein defined, other than this state.

"Fire insurance corporation, association or individuals." Any insurer, regardless of the name, designation or authority under which it purports to act, which insures property of any kind or nature against loss or damage by fire.

"Loss or damage by fire." Loss or damage by fire, lightning, smoke or anything used to combat fire, regardless of whether such risks or the premiums therefor are stated or charged separately and apart from any other risk or premium.

"State." Any state of the United States and the District of Columbia.

"Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city or any other officer of the city designated to perform the same functions.

"Department of finance." The department of finance of the city or any other agency or department designated to perform the same functions.

"Fire commissioner." The fire commissioner of the city.

"Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

"Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

§ 11-902 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to all other powers granted to the commissioner of finance under this chapter, the commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof.

2. To compromise disputed claims in connection with taxes hereby imposed.

3. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to any officer or employee of the department of finance.

4. To prescribe reasonable methods, approved by the New York superintendent of insurance, for determining the amounts of premiums subject to the tax.

5. To require any foreign or alien insurer subject to the tax to keep detailed records of the premiums in a manner reasonably designed to show the amounts thereof subject to the tax and to furnish such information on request.

6. To assess, determine, revise and adjust the tax imposed under this chapter.

7. To audit the reports of any insurer.

8. To allow an extension of time not in excess of thirty days for filing the report and paying the tax required by this chapter, provided the taxpayer requests such extension in writing prior to the date prescribed for such filing and such payment by sections 11-904 and 11-903 of this chapter.

§ 11-904 Report of premiums by insurers.

Each insurer required to pay a tax under this chapter shall, at the time such tax is paid or payable, whichever is sooner, render to the commissioner of finance a verified report setting forth such information as may be required by the commissioner for the determination of the tax and the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance shall prescribe the form and furnish the necessary forms to enable such insurers to make such reports. The commissioner or the commissioner's designated representative or the tax appeals tribunal or its designated representative shall have power to examine any such insurer under oath and to require the production by such insurer of all books and papers as the commissioner or the tax appeals tribunal may deem necessary. All expenses of collecting such tax shall be paid by the commissioner of finance from the funds received under this chapter prior to the distribution thereof as hereinafter authorized.

CHAPTER 9 TAX UPON FOREIGN AND ALIEN INSURERS

§ 11-905 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-906 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two of this subdivision. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules and regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any insurer who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the overpayment and underpayment rates of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section and subdivision (a) of section 11-906 of this chapter, but if no such rate or rates of interest are set, such rate or rates shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rates shall be the overpayment and underpayment rates prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but the underpayment rate shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rates set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due or overpaid on or after the date on which such rates become effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rates are in effect.

(2) General rule. (A) Overpayment rate. The overpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) two percentage points.

(B) Underpayment rate. The underpayment rate set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

CHAPTER 9 TAX UPON FOREIGN AND ALIEN INSURERS

§ 11-906 Assessment, refund, collection, review and reserves.

(a) The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action by the commissioner of finance to levy, assess, determine or enforce the collection of tax, interest or penalty imposed by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent report, no assessment of additional tax, interest or penalty shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a report, provided, however, that where no report has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time. The commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, with interest at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of section 11-905 of this chapter or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum computed from the date of overpayment to a date (to be determined by the commissioner of finance) preceding the date of a refund check by not more than thirty days, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within six months from the payment thereof. Notice of any determination of the commissioner of finance with respect to an assessment of tax, interest or penalty or with respect to a claim for refund or any other notice, demand or request shall be given by mailing the same to the insurer to the address of its New York city office last filed with the commissioner of finance or, if there is no such office, to the address of its main office last filed with the commissioner of finance or, in the absence of any filed address, to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of any notice, demand or request by the commissioner of finance shall be presumptive evidence of its receipt by the insurer and any period of time to be determined with reference to the giving of such notice, demand or request shall commence to run from the date of such mailing. The determination of the commissioner of finance shall finally and irrevocably fix the amount of any tax, interest or penalty due or to be refunded unless the taxpayer, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, or if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the taxpayer and to the commissioner of finance with reference to the amount of the tax, interest or penalty assessed or to be refunded. The decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason, by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if such proceeding is commenced by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. Such proceeding shall not be commenced by the taxpayer unless: (1) the amount of any tax assessed and sought to be reviewed with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the decision confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue against the taxpayer in the prosecution of the proceeding, or (2) in the case of a review of a decision assessing any taxes, penalties and interest, at the option of the taxpayer, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover all of the taxes, penalties and interest assessed by such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against the taxpayer in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the commencement of the proceeding. No determination or proposed determination of tax, interest or penalty due or to be refunded shall be reviewed or enjoined in any manner except as set forth herein.

(b) In cases where the taxpayer has applied for a refund and has commenced a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal adverse to such taxpayer on its application for a refund, the commissioner of finance shall set up appropriate reserves to meet any decision adverse to the city.

(c) In computing the amount of interest to be paid under this section, such interest shall be compounded daily.

Every insurer, on or before the first day of March in each year, and as often in each year as such insurer shall change its principal place of business or change or terminate any office or place of business in the city, shall report in writing, to the commissioner of finance, the location of its principal place of business and any new principal place of business or of any new office or place of business in the city or of the termination of any such office or place of business. In the event of such change or termination, such report shall be made no later than fifteen days after such change or termination. Any insurer who fails or neglects to make such report within the time limited therefor shall be subject to a penalty of one hundred dollars and, in addition thereto, fifty dollars for each month or part thereof during which such report is not made. The total of such penalties shall not exceed one thousand dollars.

CHAPTER 9 TAX UPON FOREIGN AND ALIEN INSURERS

§ 11-909 Distribution of tax on policies covering property in the city of New York.

(a) The moneys received by the commissioner of finance as a tax on policies covering property in each borough of the city shall be disbursed by the commissioner of finance as follows:

1. Ten percent to the firemen's association of the state of New York, for the endowment, benefit and maintenance of the volunteer firemen's home at Hudson, but in no event to exceed the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) annually.

2. The balance to the general fund of the city established pursuant to section one hundred nine of the charter, except as provided in paragraph three of this subdivision.

3. a. Volunteer firemen's benevolent fund; trustee. From the balance specified in paragraph two of this subdivision, a sum, not to exceed one hundred fifty thousand dollars in any one year, shall be paid into a fund to be known as the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund, which shall be administered as hereinafter provided by the fire commissioner, as trustee of such fund, for the benefit of indigent volunteer firefighters, their surviving spouses and orphans.

b. Persons entitled to benefits from fund. All funds received by the fire commissioner as trustee under this paragraph shall be expended by the fire commissioner for the relief of:

(i) all indigent volunteer firefighters who served as such for a period of five years in a duly organized volunteer fire company in the former towns of New Lots, Flatlands, Gravesend, New Utrecht and Flatbush in the county of Kings, or in the territory now included in the borough of Richmond, or in the territory now included in the borough of Queens, or in the territory now included in the borough of the Bronx, and who were honorably discharged after such five years of service, or who having been members of a duly organized volunteer fire company within any such town or territory, which company was disbanded by reason of the installation of a paid fire department, and were members of such company for at least one year prior to its disbandment;

(ii) the surviving spouses and orphans of any such volunteer firefighters.

c. Fund benefits of beneficiaries on rolls as of December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one. During the lifetime of those relief beneficiaries who appear as such as of December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one upon the records of the trustees of the exempt firemen's benevolent fund of the county of Kings, or of the trustees of the exempt firemen's benevolent fund of the borough of Queens, or of the trustees of the exempt firemen's benevolent fund of the borough of Staten Island, or of the trustees of the exempt firemen's benevolent fund of the borough of the Bronx, it shall be the duty of the fire commissioner, as such trustee, to pay to such beneficiaries from the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund referred to in subparagraph a hereof, the same amounts as were being periodically paid to such beneficiaries as of June thirtieth, nineteen hundred fifty-two.

d. Fund benefits of residents of firemen's home. It shall be the duty of the fire commissioner, as such trustee, to pay from such fund referred to in subparagraph a, the sum of ten dollars monthly to each volunteer firefighter in residence at the volunteer firemen's home at Hudson, who qualified for entrance into such home by reason of service as a volunteer firefighter within the area now included within the boundaries of the city of New York. No other payments shall be made from such fund to any such volunteer firefighter while in residence at such home.

e. Eligibility of persons who applied for fund benefits after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one, and prior to the establishment of fund. Upon the establishment of the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund referred to in subparagraph a hereof, the fire commissioner or the fire commissioner's authorized subordinates shall investigate and determine the need for benefits of all persons who, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred fifty-one and prior to the establishment of such volunteer firemen's benevolent fund, applied for benefits payable from any of the benevolent funds mentioned in subparagraph c hereof, and who are receiving benefits therefrom at the time of the establishment of such fund referred to in subparagraph a. No such person shall be found to be in need of benefits, nor shall any such person be paid any benefits from such last-mentioned fund unless the fire commissioner or the fire commissioner's authorized subordinates shall determine that such person is indigent. In the event that any such person is thus found to be in need of benefits, the fire commissioner shall pay to such person from such last-mentioned fund, the same periodic amounts as the trustees mentioned in subparagraph c hereof were paying as of June thirtieth, nineteen hundred fifty-two, to a person who had the same status and who was receiving benefits from the borough or county fund which would be currently liable for the payment of benefits to such person, but for the provision of section 13-532 of the code. It shall be the duty of the fire commissioner and the fire commissioner's authorized subordinates to maintain and carry out continuously, such investigation procedures as may be necessary to assure that benefits will not be paid from such fund to any persons who are not in need as herein specified.

f. Eligibility for benefits of persons applying therefor after establishment of fund. All persons applying after the establishment of the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund for benefits payable therefrom shall be investigated as to need by the fire commissioner or the fire commissioner's authorized subordinates, and the eligibility of such persons for benefits and the amount thereof to be awarded and paid to them shall be determined by the fire commissioner or the fire commissioner's authorized subordinates in accordance with the standards specified in subparagraph e hereof. Benefits shall be paid from such fund to eligible persons in accordance with such determination and it shall be the duty of the fire commissioner and the fire commissioner's subordinates continuously to maintain and carry out as to such persons investigation procedures such as are described in subparagraph e hereof. The fire commissioner, as part of his or her investigation to determine eligibility of persons for fund benefits, shall request from the duly appointed representative of the volunteer firefighters in each borough a report on such person's service and indigency. Such report shall be solely for the information of the fire commissioner and shall not be binding upon the fire commissioner in arriving at a determination as to eligibility. In the event that such report is not submitted within ten days from the date of request, the fire commissioner shall determine eligibility on the basis of the facts developed in the fire commissioner's own investigation.

g. Excess moneys. In the event that the benefits paid by the fire commissioner, as trustee, during any period of one year beginning on the first day of February shall not equal the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars, the unexpended balance shall be paid into the general fund of the city established pursuant to section one hundred nine of the charter, except that the fire commissioner may retain in the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund such amount as may be necessary to meet the commitments of such fund until the revenue from the tax collected under this chapter in the ensuing taxable year shall become available.

h. Depositories. The fire commissioner, as trustee, is hereby empowered and directed to receive all moneys and assets belonging or payable to such volunteer firemen's benevolent fund and shall deposit all such moneys to the credit of such fund in banks and trust companies to be selected by the fire commissioner.

i. Bond. The fire commissioner, as trustee of such fund, shall give a bond with one or more sureties, in a sum sufficient for the faithful performance of his or her duties, such bond to be approved as to amount and adequacy, by the comptroller and filed in the comptroller's office.

j. Records. The officers and employees of the fire department who are responsible for the maintenance of the books and records of the New York fire department pension fund shall have charge of, and keep the accounts of the fire commissioner as trustee of the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund.

k. Reports. The fire commissioner, as trustee of such volunteer firemen's benevolent fund, shall submit to the mayor on or before the first day of April of each year, a verified report in which shall be set forth the account of the fire commissioner's proceedings as such trustee during the twelve-month period ending on the thirty-first day of January immediately preceding. Such report shall include a statement of all receipts and disbursements on account of such benevolent fund, a list of the names, residences and as nearly as possible, the ages of the beneficiaries of such fund and the respective amounts paid to them during such period.

1. Audit. The comptroller shall have the power to audit the books and records of the fire commissioner as trustee of the volunteer firemen's benevolent fund.

(b) The moneys received by the fire commissioner as trustee pursuant to the provisions of paragraph three of subdivision (a) of this section shall be expended by the fire commissioner only as provided in such paragraph.

CHAPTER 10 OCCUPANCY TAX FOR LOW RENT HOUSING AND SLUM CLEARANCE

§ 11-1001 Legislative findings.

It is hereby declared that: In certain areas of the city of New York there exist unsanitary or substandard housing conditions owing to overcrowding and concentration of population, improper planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air and space, unsanitary design and arrangement, or lack of proper sanitary facilities; there is not an adequate supply of decent, safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for persons of low income; these conditions cause an increase and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals, welfare and comfort of the citizens of the state, and impair economic values; these conditions cannot be remedied by the ordinary operation of private enterprise; the clearance, replanning and reconstruction of the areas in which unsanitary or substandard housing conditions exist and the providing of decent, safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations in such areas and elsewhere for persons of low income are public uses and purposes for which public money may be spent and private property acquired; therefore the necessity in the public interest for the provisions hereinafter enacted is hereby declared, as a matter of legislative determination.

CHAPTER 10 OCCUPANCY TAX FOR LOW RENT HOUSING AND SLUM CLEARANCE

§ 11-1004 Definitions.

When used in this chapter:

a. The word "occupation" means the use or possession for a consideration of any premises under any lease, concession, permit, right of access, license to use, or other agreement, for any gainful purpose.

b. The word "occupant" means any person who uses or possesses for a consideration any premises under any lease, concession, permit, right of access, license to use or other agreement for any gainful purpose.

c. The word "person" means an individual, co-partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, assignee, trustee or any other person acting in a fiduciary capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

d. The word "premises" means any real property, or any part thereof, any kind of space, or structure, except premises, as herein defined, which are located in, upon, above or under any public street, highway or public place, separately occupied in the city of New York by any person for his or her own use for gainful purpose or by any concessionaire for such use for gainful purpose, whether by ownership, lease, sublease, profit-sharing arrangement or otherwise.

e. The words "rental value" mean the amount of the consideration annually fixed or charged against any person for the occupation of any premises during the period of one year commencing on July sixteenth of the year prior to the year in which the tax is due and terminating on July fifteenth of the year in which the tax is due, or if computed on a basis other than an annual basis, then the amount which would be equivalent to an annual charge for the occupation of the premises.

f. The words "non-federal project" shall mean a project not aided or financed in whole or in part by the federal government and where such government does not reserve the right to approve or supervise the construction or operation of the project.

g. The words "vending machine" mean a machine which vends or sells tangible personal property; and shall also include but not be limited to amusement devices, automatic sanitary facilities and all other machines vending services.

No tax as imposed by section 11-1005 of this chapter shall be due or payable in any event for the occupation of any of the premises described herein to the extent so occupied and no return need be made therefor pursuant to the provisions of this chapter if any of the following conditions be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the commissioner of finance:

1. That the premises are occupied by:

(a) Peddlers.

(b) Bootblacks, excluding shoe shine machines or enterprises where services other than the shining of shoes are rendered.

(c) Operators of pushcarts.

(d) Operators of kiosk or subway stands engaged solely and exclusively in the sale of newspapers, magazines and periodicals, or any combination thereof.

(e) Operators of stoop line stands licensed pursuant to chapter two of title twenty of the code.

(f) Operators of newspaper stands licensed pursuant to chapter two of title twenty of the code.

2. That the premises are occupied for a period of less than one month and fifteen days during the period of one year preceding July fifteenth of the year in which the tax is due.

3. That the premises are occupied by a co-operative corporation organized under the provisions of the cooperative corporations law of the state of New York, or an agricultural co-operative organized under the authority of the federal government.

4. That the premises are occupied by the state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state where it is the purchaser, user or consumer.

5. That the premises are occupied by the United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member.

6. That the premises are occupied by a corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision.

7. That the premises are occupied by the United States of America under circumstances which make the premises immune from taxation.

CHAPTER 10 OCCUPANCY TAX FOR LOW RENT HOUSING AND SLUM CLEARANCE

§ 11-1009 Determination of tax by the commissioner of finance.

a. If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient and the maker fails to file a corrected or sufficient return within twenty days after it is required by a notice from the commissioner of finance, the commissioner of finance shall tentatively determine the amount of tax due from such information as he or she may be able to obtain and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices. The commissioner of finance shall give notice of the amount so fixed to the person liable for the tax. Unless the person against whom the tax is assessed shall within fifteen days after the giving of such notice apply in writing to the commissioner of finance for a hearing to correct such assessment, such notice shall constitute a final and irrevocable determination of the tax. After such hearing the commissioner of finance shall give notice of his or her decision to the person liable for the tax.

b. Such determination and the decision of the commissioner of finance upon any application to correct may be reviewed for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or for any reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules in the nature of a certiorari proceeding if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice thereof. Whenever under this chapter a proceeding to review is instituted, it shall not be allowed unless the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance, and an undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

The commissioner of finance shall refund any tax erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected by or paid to him or her, under protest in writing, stating in detail the ground or grounds of the protest, if application therefor shall be made to the commissioner of finance within one year from the payment thereof. For like cause and within the same period a refund may be made on the initiative of the commissioner of finance. Whenever a refund is made the commissioner of finance shall state his or her reasons therefor in writing. A person shall not be entitled to a hearing in connection with any application for a refund if he or she has already been given the opportunity of a hearing as provided in section 11-1009 of this chapter. No refund shall be made of a tax or penalty paid pursuant to a determination of the commissioner of finance as provided in section 11-1009 of this chapter, unless the commissioner of finance, after a hearing as in said section provided, or of his or her own motion, shall have reduced the tax or penalty, or it shall have been established in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules that such determination was erroneous, illegal, unconstitutional, or otherwise improper, in which event a refund with interest shall be made as provided upon the determination of such proceeding. An application for a refund made as herein provided shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax or penalty complained of and the commissioner of finance may receive evidence with respect thereto. After making his or her determination the commissioner of finance shall give notice thereof to the person interested who shall be entitled to review such determination by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application to the supreme court be made therefor within thirty days after such determination and an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such order be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the applicant for the order will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the certiorari proceeding.

CHAPTER 10 OCCUPANCY TAX FOR LOW RENT HOUSING AND SLUM CLEARANCE

§ 11-1013 Proceeding to recover tax.

a. The commissioner of finance may issue a warrant directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the person from whom the tax is due for the payment of the amount thereof, with penalties, and the cost of executing the warrants, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but he or she shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due hereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and the execution thereon had been returned not satisfied. A copy of any warrant issued may be filed with the county clerk in any of the counties of the city of New York and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax and penalty for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in the real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy the commissioner of finance may request the corporation counsel to bring an action in the name of the city to enforce payment of a tax or penalty which any person has failed to pay.

c. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision a of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a post paid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or if no return has been filed then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action by the city taken to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter.

a. Any person failing to file a return or corrected return or to pay any tax or any portion thereof that may be required by this chapter shall be subject to a penalty of five times the amount of the tax due, plus five per centum of such tax for each month of delay or fraction thereof, but the commissioner of finance, if satisfied that the delay was excusable, may remit all or any part of such penalty, but not interest. Penalties shall be paid to the commissioner of finance and disposed of in the manner as other receipts under this chapter. Unpaid penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

b. Any person filing or causing to be filed any return, certificate, affidavit or statement required or authorized by this chapter, which is wilfully false and any person who shall fail to file a return or to furnish a statement or other information as required under this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishment for which shall be a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

A certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

§ 11-1016 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In the administration of this chapter, the commissioner of finance is authorized to:

1. Make and publish reasonable rules and regulations as may be necessary for the exercise of the commissioner's powers and the performance of the commissioner's duties under this chapter.

2. Assess the tax authorized to be imposed under this chapter.

3. Subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and other documents, and to take testimony and proofs, under oath, with reference to any matter within the line of the commissioner's official duty under this chapter.

4. Delegate the commissioner's functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or other employee or employees of the department of finance.

5. Prescribe methods for determining the rental values of premises, the occupant of which is taxable pursuant to the provisions of this chapter.

6. Require any person who receives or is entitled to receive a consideration for the occupation of premises to furnish a statement to the commissioner of finance, upon his or her request, containing information as to the name of each occupant and rental value of each for the occupation of such premises.

7. Nothing contained in section 11-1017 of this chapter or in any other provision of this chapter shall be construed to limit the authority of the commissioner of finance, hereby authorized, to furnish any information, whether or not contained in a return, to the tax commission or any other agency or department of the state of New York, or to the treasury department of the United States, or to any agency of the city of New York, or to the district attorney of any county within the city of New York.

8. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding twenty days.

§ 11-1018 Disposition of revenue.

All revenues and moneys heretofore or hereafter collected resulting from the imposition of taxes and penalties imposed by this chapter shall be deposited in the city treasury, and credited to a separate account. During each fiscal year, an amount not in excess of the amount of the subsidies to be made, and the amount of indebtedness incurred for low rent or slum clearance projects to be paid, during such fiscal year shall be charged to such account and credited to the general fund. No other payments shall be charged to such an account. The mayor may contract to make capital or periodic subsidies to the New York city housing authority in aid of a low rent project, or may incur indebtedness for a low rent slum clearance project, but such periodic subsidies shall not be contracted for a period longer than the life of such project and in no event for more than fifty years. If the amount of any such periodic subsidy shall be equal to or greater than the interest on and the amounts required annually for the payment of the indebtedness contracted by the authority on account of such project in each year, such contract shall constitute a guarantee of the principal of and the interest on such indebtedness, and such contract and the payments thereunder may be pledged by the authority as security in addition to all other security which the authority may give for such bonds. No such contract or periodic subsidies shall be made until the plan for such project shall have been approved in the manner provided by the public housing law.

CHAPTER 11 UTILITY TAX

§ 11-1101 Definitions.

When used in this chapter the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." Includes any individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, lessee, trustee, assignee, assignee of rents, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

2. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

3. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

4. "Gross income." All receipts received in or by reason of any sale made including receipts from the sale of residuals and by-products (except sale of real property) or service rendered in the city, including cash, credits and property of any kind or nature (whether or not such sale is made or such service is rendered for profit) without any deduction therefrom on account of the cost of the property sold, the cost of material used, labor or services, delivery costs, any other costs whatsoever, interest or discount paid, or any other expense whatsoever; also profits from the sale of securities; also profits from the sale of real property growing out of the ownership or use of or interest in such property; also profit from the sale of personal property (other than property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable period for which a return is made); also receipts from interest, dividends and royalties without any deductions therefrom for any expense whatsoever incurred in connection with the receipt thereof, and also gains or profits from any source whatsoever; but shall not include gross income of railroads from the transportation of freight, gross income from the operation of hotels, multiple dwellings or office buildings by persons in the business of operating or leasing sleeping or parlor railroad cars or of operating railroads other than street surface, rapid transit, subway and elevated railroads, or interest or dividends received from a corporation by such persons or by persons subject to taxation under the provisions of section one hundred eighty-six-a of the tax law. Rents or rentals shall not be deemed to be gross receipts subject to tax, except rents or rentals derived from facilities used in the public service; provided, however, that in the case of persons in the business of operating or leasing sleeping or parlor railroad cars or of operating railroads other than street surface, rapid transit, subways and elevated railroads, such last-mentioned rents or rentals derived from other such utilities with respect to the operation of terminal facilities shall not be deemed to be gross income subject to tax except for the amount in excess of a user proportion of New York city real property and special franchise taxes and expenses of maintenance and operation. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this subdivision or any other provision of law, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, gross income shall include eighty-four percent of charges for the provision of mobile telecommunications services where the place of primary use of the mobile telecommunications services is within the territorial limits of the city except to the extent that such inclusion would result in the taxation of charges for the provision of mobile telecommunications services that is prohibited by federal law.

5. "Gross operating income." Includes receipts received in or by reason of any sale made or service rendered, of the property and services specified in subdivision seven of this section in the city, including cash, credits and property of any kind or nature (whether or not such sale is made or such service is rendered for profit), without any deduction therefrom on account of the cost of the property sold, the cost of materials used, labor or other services, delivery costs or any other costs whatsoever, interest or discount paid or any other expenses whatsoever, provided however, that if a vendor of utility service purchases gas, electricity, steam, water or refrigeration or gas, electric, steam, water or refrigeration service in a transaction the receipts from which are not subject to the tax imposed under this chapter, the gross operating income derived by such vendor of utility service from the resale of such gas, electricity, steam, water or refrigeration or such gas, electric, steam, water or refrigeration service to its tenants as an incident to such vendor's activity of renting premises to tenants, shall, if subject to the tax imposed under this chapter on such vendor, be conclusively presumed to be equal to the amount of such vendor's cost (including any associated transportation cost) for the purchase of such gas, electricity, steam, water or refrigeration or gas, electric, steam, water or refrigeration service for resale by such vendor. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this subdivision or any other provision of law, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, gross operating income shall include eighty-four percent of charges for the provision of mobile telecommunications services where the place of primary use of the mobile telecommunications services is within the territorial limits of the city except to the extent that such inclusion would result in the taxation of charges for the provision of mobile telecommunications services that is prohibited by federal law.

6. "Utility." Every person subject to the supervision of the department of public service and, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, every person, whether or not supervised by the department of public service, eighty percent or more of the gross receipts of which consists of charges for the provision of mobile telecommunications services to customers. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any other provision of law, for purposes of this subdivision, the gross receipts of a person shall not include the gross receipts of any other related or unrelated person.

7. "Vendor of utility services." Every person not subject to the supervision of the department of public service, and not otherwise a utility as defined in subdivision six of this section, who furnishes or sells gas, electricity, steam, water or refrigeration, or furnishes or sells gas, electric, steam, water, refrigeration or telecommunications services, or who operates omnibuses (whether or not such operation is on the public streets); regardless of whether such furnishing, selling or operation constitutes the main activity of such person or is merely incidental thereto.

8. "Return." Includes any return filed or required to be filed as herein provided.

9. "Telecommunications services." Telephony or telegraphy, or telephone or telegraph service, including, but not limited to, any transmission of voice image, data, information and paging, through the use of wire, cable, fiber-optic, laser, microwave, radio wave, satellite or similar media or any combination thereof and shall include services that are ancillary to the provision of telephone service (such as, but not limited to, dial tone, basic service, directory information, call forwarding, caller-identification, call waiting and the like) and also include any equipment and services provided therewith; provided, however, that the definition of telecommunication services shall not apply to separately stated charges for any service that alters the substantive content of the message received by the recipient from that sent; and that such services shall not include (i) cable television services that consist of the transmitting to subscribers of programs broadcast by one or more television or radio stations or any other programs originated by any person by means of wire, cable, microwave or any other means or (ii) air safety and navigation services where such telecommunication service is provided by an organization, at least ninety percent of which (if a corporation, ninety percent of the voting stock of which) is owned, directly or indirectly, by air carriers, and which organization's principal function is to fulfill the requirements of (a) the federal aviation administration (or the successor thereto) or (b) the international civil aviation organization (or the successor thereto), relating to the existence of a communication system between aircraft and dispatcher, aircraft and air traffic control or ground station and ground station (or any combination of the foregoing) for the purposes of air safety and navigation.

10. "Limited fare omnibus company." An omnibus company whose principal source of revenue is derived from the daily transportation of passengers wholly within the city on a route or zoned portion thereof pursuant to a franchise agreement with, or consent of, the city, at the following fares: for the period from August first, nineteen hundred sixty-five until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, at a fare not in excess of thirty-five cents per passenger; for the period from January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six until and including June twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred eighty, at a fare not in excess of fifty cents per passenger; for the period from June twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred eighty until and including August thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, at a fare not in excess of sixty cents per passenger; for the period from September first, nineteen hundred eighty and thereafter, at a fare not in excess of the regular rate of fare charged per passenger for comparable service both local and express on regular rapid transit and surface lines operated by the New York city transit authority. For purposes of this subdivision, the term "regular rate of fare" shall be exclusive of fares for special train or bus service, or additional charges for bridge or tunnel tolls or transfer privileges.

11. "Commuter service." Mass transportation service (exclusive of limited stop service to airports, racetracks or any place where entertainment, amusement or sport activities are held or where recreational facilities are supplied) provided pursuant to a franchise with, or consent of, the city of New York.

12. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

13. "Base Year." Means the calendar year ending immediately prior to the calendar year containing the taxable period or periods for which a return is required to be filed pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1104 of this chapter.

14. "Taxable Period." Means the period for which a return is required to be filed pursuant to the provisions of this chapter and shall be either (i) the semiannual period beginning the first day of January or the first day of July of the calendar year, or (ii) the calendar month.

15. "Premises." Means for purposes of section 11-1102 of this chapter, any real property or part thereof, and any structure thereon or space therein.

16. "Tenant." Means a person paying, or required to pay, rent for premises as a lessee, sublessee, licensee or concessionaire.

17. "Mobile telecommunications services." Telecommunications services that are commercial mobile radio services.

18. "Commercial mobile radio services." Commercial mobile radio services as defined in section 20.3 of title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations as in effect on June first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine.

19. "Charges for mobile telecommunications services." Any charge for, or associated with, the provision of mobile telecommunications services and any charge for, or associated with, a service provided as an adjunct to mobile telecommunications services that is billed to the customer by or for the customer's home service provider regardless of whether individual transmissions originate or terminate within the licensed service area of the home service provider.

20. "Place of primary use." The street address representative of where the customer's use of the mobile telecommunications services primarily occurs, which must be (i) the residential street address or the primary business street address of the customer; and (ii) within the licensed service area of the home service provider.

21. "Licensed service area." The geographic area in which the home service provider is authorized by law or contract to provide commercial mobile radio services to the customer.

22. "Home service provider." The facilities-based carrier or reseller with which the customer contracts for the provision of mobile telecommunications services.

23. "Customer." The person or entity that contracts with the home service provider for mobile telecommunications services. If the end user of mobile telecommunications services is not the contracting party, then, solely for purposes of subdivision twenty of this section, the term "customer" shall mean the end user of the mobile telecommunications services. The term customer does not include a reseller of mobile telecommunications services, or a serving carrier under an arrangement to serve the customer outside the home service provider's licensed service area.

24. "Reseller." A provider who purchases telecommunications services from another telecommunications service provider and then resells, uses as a component part of, or integrates the purchased services into a mobile telecommunications service. The term reseller does not include a serving carrier with which a home service provider arranges for the services to its customers outside the home service provider's licensed service area.

25.*"Serving36 carrier." A facilities-based carrier providing mobile telecommunications service to a customer outside a home service provider's or reseller's licensed service area.

(25)* "Cogeneration facility" means (i) a facility that was in operation before January first, two thousand four and that produces electric energy and steam or other forms of useful energy (such thermal energy) that are supplied to and used by tenants and/or occupants of a cooperative corporation for industrial, commercial, or residential heating or cooling purposes; or (ii) a cogeneration facility, as defined in clause (i) of this subparagraph, that has been replaced by any other facility used to generate electricity and steam or other forms of useful energy (such as thermal energy), when such electricity and steam or other forms of useful energy (such as thermal energy) are supplied to and used by tenants and/or occupants of a cooperative corporation.

26. "Enhanced zip code." A United States postal zip code of nine or more digits.

(26) "Cooperative37 corporation" means a corporation organized under the laws of New York, at least some of the stockholders of which are entitled, by reason of the stockholders' ownership interest of stock in the corporation, to occupy for dwelling purposes an apartment in a building owned by the corporation pursuant to a lease or occupancy agreement with the corporation.

27. Repealed.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. The term telegraphic services as used in this section does not apply to the sale of market analysis services by use of remote access electronic data processing and digital computer services.-Bunker Ramo Corp. v. Irizarry, 49 A.D. 2d 836 [1975], aff'd, 40 N.Y. 2d 1045 [1976].

¶ 2. Selective enforcement of the utility tax only against the plaintiffs which provided express bus service and not against nonexpress bus operators improperly discriminated against plaintiffs.-New York Bus Tours v. City of N.Y., 111 Misc. 2d 10 [1981].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The NYC Tax Tribunal's determination that reimbursements to Varsity Transit, Inc. by an affiliated company for the use of buses and personnel do not constitute taxable income is rational. Varsity is subject to gross operating income tax, Ad Cd §11-1101(5), which includes services rendered in operating omnibuses but the affilates payments were not part of gross operating income because by supplying the affiliate with equipment and staff, the transit company was merely enabling another taxpayer, the affiliate, to be in a position to vend utility services. Varsity was not providing the services itself. The court determined that the reimbursements were taxable as rending of service "of making the buses and personnel available" to affiliate is distinguishable because it involved a customer's payments to cover costs to bus company in providing customer's transportation. Matter of O'Cleireacain v. NYC Tax Appeals Tribunal, 205 AD2d 318, 612 NYS2d 570.

¶ 2. A regulated utility, while exempt from the general corporation tax, is subject to a tax on gross income imposed under the Utility Tax. Cable & Wireless, Inc. v. City of N.Y. Department of Finance, 190 Misc.2d 410, 735 N.Y.S.2d 717 (Sup.Ct. New York Co. 2001).

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

§ 11-1102 Imposition of excise tax.

a. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, for the privilege of exercising its franchise or franchises, or of holding property, or of doing business in the city, on or after August first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, every utility shall pay to the commissioner of finance an excise tax which shall be equal to two per centum of its gross income until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and shall be equal to two and thirty-five hundredths per centum thereafter, except that the rate as to persons engaged in the business of operating omnibuses with a carrying capacity of more than seven persons shall be one per centum until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and one and seventeen hundredths per centum thereafter, and except that as to persons engaged in the business of operating or leasing sleeping and parlor railroad cars or of operating railroads other than street surface, rapid transit, subway and elevated railroads, the rate shall be three per centum until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and three and fifty-two one hundredths per centum thereafter, and every vendor of utility services in the city shall pay to the commissioner of finance an excise tax which shall be equal to two per centum of its gross operating income until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and shall be equal to two and thirty-five one hundredths per centum thereafter, except that as to persons engaged in the business of operating omnibuses with a carrying capacity of more than seven persons other than omnibuses used exclusively for the transportation of children to and from schools operated under contracts made pursuant to the provisions of the education law, and not subject to the jurisdiction of the department of public service, the rate shall be one per centum of its gross operating income until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and one and seventeen hundredths per centum thereafter. Such tax shall be in addition to any and all other taxes, charges and fees imposed by any other provision of law and shall be paid at the time and in the manner hereinafter provided, but any person to the extent that it is subject to tax hereunder shall not be liable to any tax under any other of the local laws of the city enacted pursuant to chapter ninety-three of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-five as amended, or article two-b of the general city law, with respect to its gross income or gross operating income hereunder taxed, as the case may be.

b. So much of the gross income of a utility shall be excluded from the measure of the tax imposed by this chapter, as is derived from sales for resale to vendors of utility services validly subject to the tax imposed by this chapter, except to the extent that such gross income is derived from sales of gas, electricity, steam, water or refrigeration or sales or rendering of gas, electric, steam, water or refrigeration service to a vendor of utility services for resale to its tenants as an incident to such vendor's activity of renting premises to tenants.

c. For the purpose of proper administration of this chapter and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that the gross income or gross operating income of any person taxable hereunder is taxable and is derived from business conducted wholly within the territorial limits of the city until the contrary is established, and the burden of proving that any part of its gross income or gross operating income is not so derived shall be upon such person. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding sentence or in any provision of section twenty-b of the general city law or any other provision of law, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, gross income and gross operating income derived from the provision of mobile telecommunications services shall be deemed to be derived from business conducted wholly within the territorial limits of the city where the place of primary use of the mobile telecommunications services is within the territorial limits of the city.

d. The tax imposed by this chapter shall be inapplicable to the gross income received by a limited fare omnibus company until and including August thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty. Thereafter, such tax shall be applicable to such gross income received as follows: (1) for gross income received from commuter service from September first, nineteen hundred eighty until and including December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, the rate of tax shall be one hundredth of one per centum; (2) for gross income received from commuter service from January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and thereafter, the rate of tax shall be one tenth of one per centum; and (3) for gross income received from all other sources, the rate of tax shall be as provided in subdivision a of this section.

e. The gross operating income of a vendor of utility services derived from sales to its tenants of gas, electricity, steam, water, or refrigeration or sales or rendering to its tenants of gas, electric, steam, water or refrigeration service, as an incident to such vendor's activity of renting premises to tenants, shall be excluded from the measure of the tax imposed by this chapter, but, with regard to sales to its tenants of gas, electricity, or steam or sales or rendering to its tenants of gas, electric or steam service, only to the extent that the tax imposed by this chapter has been validly paid or accrued with respect to a prior sale of such gas, electricity or steam or sale or rendering of gas, electric or steam service.

f. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this chapter to the contrary, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, if a partnership is subject to the tax imposed by this chapter as a utility or as a vendor of utility services, no person who is a partner in such a partnership shall be subject to the tax imposed by this chapter on such partner's distributive share of the gross income or gross operating income of such partnership.

(2) If a person is a partner in a partnership subject to the tax imposed by this chapter and that person is separately subject to the supervision of the state department of public service or is a utility or a vendor of utility services based on its activities exclusive of any activities of such partnership, for taxable periods beginning on or after August first, two thousand two, such person shall be subject to the tax imposed by this chapter only on its separate gross income or separate gross operating income, which shall not include such person's distributive share of the gross income or gross operating income of such partnership.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "partner" shall include a person who receives a distributive share of the gross income or gross operating income, directly or indirectly through one or more tiers of partnerships, of a partnership subject to the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) Notwithstanding anything else contained in this chapter to the contrary, for the taxable periods beginning on or after January 1, 2006, if a cooperative corporation containing at least fifteen hundred apartments furnishes or sells electricity, steam, refrigeration or water, or furnishes or sells electric, steam, refrigeration or water services that are (i) metered, (ii) generated or produced by a cogeneration facility owned or operated by such cooperative corporation, and (iii) such electricity, steam, refrigeration or water and/or electric, steam, refrigeration or water services are distributed to tenants and/or occupants of a cooperative corporation, then such cooperative corporation shall pay to the commissioner of finance an excise tax which shall be equal to zero per centum of its gross income or its gross operating income, as the case may be.

§ 11-1104 Returns; requirements as to.

a. Except as otherwise provided in subdivision e of this section with respect to taxable periods beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-eight, on or before the twenty-fifth day of September, nineteen hundred sixty-five, and on or before the twenty-fifth day of every month thereafter, every person subject to tax hereunder shall file a return with the commissioner of finance on a form to be prescribed by such commissioner. Such return shall state the gross income or gross operating income as the case may be for the preceding calendar month, and shall contain any other data, information or other matter which the commissioner of finance may require to be included therein. The commissioner of finance may require at any further time a supplemental return hereunder, which shall contain any data upon such matters as such commissioner may specify. Notwithstanding the foregoing and notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision e of this section, a vendor of utility services, all of whose gross operating income is excluded from the measure of the tax imposed by this chapter pursuant to subdivision e of section 11-1102 of this chapter during any taxable period, shall not be required to file a return for such taxable period, provided, however, that on or before the first day of September of each year, any such vendor of utility services who was not required to file a return for any taxable period during the period covered by the statement required to be filed by such date pursuant to subdivision a of section 11-208.1 of this title shall file an information return covering such period in such form and containing such information as the commissioner of finance may specify.

b. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

c. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such return or of a corrected return.

d. Where the state tax commission changes or corrects a taxpayer's sales and compensating use tax liability with respect to the purchase or use of items for which a sales or compensating use tax credit against the tax imposed by this chapter was claimed, the taxpayer shall report such change or correction to the commissioner of finance within ninety days of the final determination of such change or correction, or as required by the commissioner of finance, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended return or report with the state tax commission relating to the purchase or use of such items shall also file within ninety days thereafter a copy of such amended return or report with the commissioner of finance.

e. With respect to taxable periods beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-eight, notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision a of this section, if the amount of tax imposed hereunder on any person in the base year does not exceed one hundred thousand dollars, the taxable period for which such person is required to file a return is the semiannual period described in paragraph i of subdivision fourteen of section 11-1101 of this chapter, and such person shall file a return for each semiannual period of the first calendar year beginning after the base year on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following the end of each such taxable period. Such return shall be filed with the commissioner of finance on a form to be prescribed by such commissioner. Such return shall state the gross income or gross operating income as the case may be for the preceding taxable period and shall contain any other data, information or other matter which the commissioner of finance may require to be included therein. The commissioner of finance may require at any further time a supplemental return hereunder, which shall contain any data upon such matters as such commissioner may specify. For the purposes of this subdivision, if the amount of tax imposed hereunder on such person in the base year is for a period of less than one year, the amount of tax imposed on such person shall be annualized by multiplying the amount of tax imposed by a fraction, the denominator of which is the number of months or parts thereof during which the person was subject to the tax imposed hereunder and the numerator of which is twelve. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subdivision, a person that first becomes subject to the tax hereunder shall file a return for each month in the calendar year in which such person first becomes subject to such tax in accordance with subdivision a of this section.

§ 11-1105 Payment of tax; credit for certain sales and compensating use taxes.

a. At the time of filing each return, as provided under section 11-1104 of this chapter, each person taxable hereunder shall pay to the commissioner of finance the taxes imposed by this chapter upon its gross income or gross operating income, as the case may be, for the taxable period covered by such return, less any credit to which such person may be entitled under subdivision b of this section. Such taxes shall be due and payable on the last day on which the return for such period is required to be filed, regardless of whether a return is filed or whether the return which is filed correctly indicates the amount of tax due.

b. (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the taxes imposed by this chapter for the amount of sales and compensating use taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of the tax law which became legally due on or after, and which were paid on or after, July first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven but within the taxable period for which a credit is claimed, with respect to the purchase or use by the taxpayer of machinery or equipment for use or consumption directly and predominantly in the production of steam for sale, by manufacturing, processing, generating, assembling, refining, mining or extracting, or telephone central office equipment or station apparatus or comparable telegraph equipment for use directly and predominantly in receiving at destination or initiating and switching telephone or telegraph communication, but not including parts with a useful life of one year or less or tools or supplies used in connection with such machinery, equipment or apparatus.

(2) The amount of the credit provided in paragraph one of this subdivision shall be limited to the amount of such sales and compensating use taxes paid during the taxable period covered by the return under this chapter on which the credit is taken less the amount of any credit or refund of such sales and compensating use taxes during such taxable period. If such credit exceeds the amount of tax under this chapter payable for the taxable period in question, such excess amount shall be refunded or credited except in the case of a vendor of utility services who is entitled to a credit and/or refund for such sales and compensating use taxes under chapter five or six of this title. The credit allowed under this subdivision shall be deemed an erroneous payment of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section 11-1108 of this chapter, except as otherwise provided in the previous sentence.

(3) Where the taxpayer receives a refund or credit of any tax imposed under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law for which the taxpayer has claimed a credit under the provisions of this subdivision in a prior taxable period, the amount of such refund or credit shall be added to the tax imposed by section 11-1102 of this chapter of the taxable period in which such refund or credit of tax under section eleven hundred seven of the tax law is received.

§ 11-1105.2 Relocation and employment assistance program credit.

(a) A taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter, provided, however, that a taxpayer that is a vendor of utility services shall not be allowed the credit against the tax imposed by this chapter unless it elects as provided in subdivision (d) of section 22-622 of the code to take the credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying one thousand dollars or, in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two a certification of eligibility dated on or after July first, two thousand, for a relocation to eligible premises located within a revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, three thousand dollars, by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the calendar year with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, with respect to a relocation for which no application for a certificate of eligibility is submitted prior to July first, two thousand three, to eligible premises that are within a revitalization area, if the date of such relocation as determined pursuant to subdivision (j) of section 22-621 of the code is on or after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, and before July first, two thousand, the amount to be multiplied by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares shall be one thousand dollars; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services; and provided that in the case of an eligible business that has obtained pursuant to chapter six-B of such title twenty-two certifications of eligibility for more than one relocation, the portion of the total amount of eligible aggregate employment shares to be multiplied by the dollar amount specified in this subdivision for each such certification of a relocation shall be the number of total attributed eligible aggregate employment shares determined with respect to such relocation pursuant to subdivision (o) of section 22-621 of the code. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares", "relocate", "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-621 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this subdivision with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to particular premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the taxable periods in the first calendar year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises and for taxable periods in any of the twelve succeeding calendar years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises, provided that the credit allowed for the taxable periods in the twelfth succeeding calendar year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to such premises in the twelfth succeeding calendar year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is the number of days in the calendar year of relocation less the number of days the eligible business maintained employment shares in the eligible premises in the calendar year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises. The credit allowable under this section shall be applied against the amount of tax otherwise required to be paid for the last taxable period of the calendar year as provided in subdivision a of section 11-1105 of this chapter, shall be deducted from the taxpayer's tax prior to the deduction of the credit provided in subdivision b of such section, and shall be claimed on the tax return for the last taxable period of the calendar year. Except as provided in subdivision (c) of this section, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any calendar year exceeds the tax imposed for such last taxable period in such calendar year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the immediately succeeding taxable periods in the five immediately succeeding calendar years and, to the extent not previously allowable, shall be applied against the tax otherwise required to be paid for such periods. Such carryover credit shall be deducted from the taxpayer's tax prior to the deduction of the credit provided in subdivision b of section 11-1105 of this chapter. With respect to the last taxable period in a calendar year, the credit for such calendar year shall be taken prior to any carryover credit. If in any period there are carryover credits available from more than one year, such credits shall be applied against the tax in the order in which they were earned with the oldest available credit being taken first.

(c) In the case of a taxpayer that has obtained a certification of eligibility pursuant to chapter six-B of title twenty-two of the code dated on or after July first, two thousand for a relocation to eligible premises located within the revitalization area defined in subdivision (n) of section 22-621 of the code, the credits allowed under this section, or in the case of a taxpayer that has relocated more than once, the portion of such credits attributed to such certification of eligibility pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the calendar year of such relocation and for the four calendar years immediately succeeding the calendar year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be erroneous payments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-1108 of this chapter. For such calendar years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding taxable year; provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply to any relocation for which an application for a certification of eligibility was not submitted prior to July first, two thousand three unless the date of such relocation is on or after July first, two thousand.

(a) A taxpayer that has obtained the certifications required by chapter six-C of title twenty-two of the code shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter, provided, however, that a taxpayer that is a vendor of utility services shall not be allowed the credit against the tax imposed by this chapter unless it elects as provided in subdivision (d) of section 22-624 of the code to take the credit against the tax imposed by this chapter. The amount of the credit shall be the amount determined by multiplying three thousand dollars by the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained by the taxpayer during the calendar year with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated; provided, however, that no credit shall be allowed for the relocation of any retail activity or hotel services. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "eligible aggregate employment shares", "eligible premises", "relocate", "retail activity" and "hotel services" shall have the meanings ascribed by section 22-623 of the code.

(b) The credit allowed under this section with respect to eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises to which the taxpayer has relocated shall be allowed for the taxable period in which the relocation to eligible premises takes place and for succeeding taxable periods in the calendar year of the relocation and in any of the twelve succeeding calendar years during which eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to eligible premises, provided that the credit allowed for the taxable periods in the twelfth succeeding calendar year shall be calculated by multiplying the number of eligible aggregate employment shares maintained with respect to eligible premises in the twelfth succeeding calendar year by the lesser of one and a fraction the numerator of which is the number of days in the calendar year of relocation less the number of days the taxpayer maintained employment shares in eligible premises in the calendar year of relocation and the denominator of which is the number of days in such twelfth succeeding calendar year during which such eligible aggregate employment shares are maintained with respect to such premises. The credit allowable under this section shall be applied against the amount of tax otherwise required to be paid for the last taxable period of the calendar year as provided in subdivision a of section 11-1105 of this chapter, shall be deducted from the taxpayer's tax prior to the deduction of the credit provided in subdivision b of such section but after the credit provided for in section 11-1105.2 of this chapter, and shall be claimed on the tax return for the last taxable period of the calendar year. Except as provided in subdivision (c) of this section, if the amount of the credit allowable under this subdivision for any calendar year exceeds the tax imposed for such last taxable period in such calendar year, the excess may be carried over, in order, to the immediately succeeding taxable periods in the five immediately succeeding calendar years and, to the extent not previously allowable, shall be applied against the tax otherwise required to be paid for such periods. Such carryover credit shall be deducted from the taxpayer's tax prior to the deduction of the credit provided in subdivision b of section 11-1105 of this chapter but after the credit provided for in section 11-1105.2 of this chapter. With respect to the last taxable period in a calendar year, the credit for such calendar year shall be taken prior to any carryover credit. If in any period there are carryover credits available from more than one year, such credits shall be applied against the tax in the order in which they were earned with the oldest available credit being taken first.

(c) The credits allowed under this section, against the tax imposed by this chapter for the calendar year of the relocation and for the four taxable years immediately succeeding the calendar year of such relocation, shall be deemed to be overpayments of tax by the taxpayer to be credited or refunded, without interest, in accordance with the provisions of section 11-1108 of this chapter. For such calendar years, such credits or portions thereof may not be carried over to any succeeding calendar year.

§ 11-1106 Determination of tax.

In case the return required by this chapter shall be insufficient or unsatisfactory or if such return is not filed, the commissioner of finance shall determine the amount of the tax due from such information as is obtainable, and if necessary the tax may be estimated upon the basis of external indices. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix such tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless such commissioner of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality, unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if instituted by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under such article of such law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall first be deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with such commissioner an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accruee in the prosecution of the proceeding, or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

§ 11-1107 Assessment of tax where change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability involved.

a. If a taxpayer fails to comply with subdivision d of section 11-1104 of this chapter in not reporting a change or correction of its sales and compensating use tax liability or in not filing a copy of an amended return or report relating to its sales and compensating use tax liability, instead of the mode and time of assessment provided for in section 11-1106 of this chapter, the commissioner of finance may assess a deficiency based upon such changed or corrected sales and compensating use tax liability, as same relates to credits claimed under this chapter, by mailing to the taxpayer a notice of additional tax due specifying the amount of the deficiency, and such deficiency, together with the interest and penalties stated in such notice, shall be deemed assessed on the date such notice is mailed unless within thirty days after the mailing of such notice a report of the state change or correction or a copy of an amended return or report, where such copy was required, is filed accompanied by a statement showing wherein such state determination and such notice of additional tax due are erroneous. Such notice shall not be considered as a notice of determination for the purposes of section 11-1106 of this chapter.

b. If a report filed pursuant to subdivision d of section 11-1104 of this chapter concedes the accuracy of a state change or correction of sales and compensating use tax liability, any deficiency in tax resulting therefor shall be deemed assessed on the date of filing such report.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid, if application for such refund shall be made to the commissioner of finance within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, he or she shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, a final determination of tax due was not previously made.

c. If a taxpayer is required by subdivision d of section 11-1104 of this chapter to file a report or amended return in respect of a change or correction of its sales and compensating use tax liability, claim for credit or refund of any resulting overpayment of tax shall be filed by the taxpayer within one year from the time such report or amended return was required to be filed with the commissioner of finance. This subdivision shall not affect the time within which or the amount for which a claim for credit or refund may be filed apart from this subdivision.

d. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1106 or 11-1107 of this chapter where he or she has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said sections, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-1106 or 11-1107 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or of the commissioner of finance's own motion or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax or penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce payment of the same against the person liable for the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, such commissioner in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which tax or penalties might be satisfied and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As a further additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff, commanding him or her to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and the cost of executing the warrant and to return such warrant to such commissioner and to pay to him or her the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall, within five days after the receipt of the warrant, file with the county clerk a copy thereof and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax and penalties for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall have the full force and effect of a judgment and shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant he or she shall be entitled to the same fees which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the power conferred by law upon sheriffs, but he or she shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandising or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof, whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter, whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether or not any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give the notice to the commissioner of finance required by this subdivision, or whenever such commissioner shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax is imposed under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-1112 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof; and to prescribe the form of blanks, reports and other records relating to the enforcement and administration of this chapter;

2. To prescribe methods for determining the amount of "gross income" and "gross operating income" received by a person subject to tax hereunder;

3. To request information from the tax commission of the state of New York or treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford returns, reports and other information to such tax commission or such treasury department relative to any person, any other provision in this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding thirty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

5. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or other employee or employees of the department of finance of the city;

6. To assess, determine, revise and readjust the taxes imposed under this chapter.

§ 11-1114 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-1106 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1) *3 which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) If any payment is shown on a return made by a payor with respect to dividends, patronage dividends and interest under subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-two, subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-four or subsection (a) of section six thousand forty-nine of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, respectively, and the payee fails to include any portion of such payment in gross income or gross operating income, when required under this chapter to be so included, any portion of an underpayment attributable to such failure shall be treated, for purposes of this subdivision, as due to negligence in the absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary. If any penalty is imposed under this subdivision by reason of the preceding sentence, the amount of the penalty imposed by paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall be five percent of the portion of the underpayment which is attributable to the failure described in the preceding sentence.

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in acccordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

(i) Substantial understatement of liability. If there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable period, there shall be added to the tax an amount equal to ten percent of the amount of any underpayment attributable to such understatement. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a substantial understatement of tax for any taxable period if the amount of the understatement for the taxable period exceeds the greater of ten percent of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable period or five thousand dollars. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the term "understatement" means the excess of the amount of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable period, over the amount of the tax imposed which is shown on the return, reduced by any rebate. The amount of such understatement shall be reduced by that portion of the understatement which is attributable to the tax treatment of any item by the taxpayer if there is or was substantial authority for such treatment, or any item with respect to which the relevant facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. The commissioner of finance may waive all or any part of the addition to tax provided by this subdivision on a showing by the taxpayer that there was reasonable cause for the understatement (or part thereof) and that the taxpayer acted in good faith.

(j) Aiding or assisting in the giving of fraudulent returns, reports, statements or other documents. (1) Any person who, with the intent that tax be evaded, shall, for a fee or other compensation or as an incident to the performance of other services for which such person receives compensation, aid or assist in, or procure, counsel, or advise the preparation or presentation under, or in connection with any matter arising under this title of any return, report, statement or other document which is fraudulent or false as to any material matter, or supply any false or fraudulent information, whether or not such falsity or fraud is with the knowledge or consent of the person authorized or required to present such return, report, statement or other document shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the term "procures" includes ordering (or otherwise causing) a subordinate to do an act, and knowing of, and not attempting to prevent, participation by a subordinate in an act. The term "subordinate" means any other person (whether or not a director, officer, employee, or agent of the taxpayer involved) over whose activities the person has direction, supervision, or control.

(3) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, a person furnishing typing, reproducing, or other mechanical assistance with respect to a document shall not be treated as having aided or assisted in the preparation of such document by reason of such assistance.

(4) The penalty imposed by this subdivision shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

(k) Failure to include on return information relating to issuer's allocation percentage. Where a return is filed but does not contain (1) the information necessary to compute the taxpayer's issuer's allocation percentage, as defined in subparagraph one of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section 11-604 of this title, where the same is called for on the return, or, (2) the taxpayer's issuer's allocation percentage, where the same is called for on the return but where all of the information necessary for the computation of such percentage is not called for on the return, then unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five hundred dollars.

§ 11-1115 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by him or her, or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action by the city taken to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax imposed under a local law enacted subsequent to July first, nineteen hundred thirty-eight, shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed, or where the taxpayer fails to file a report or return in respect of a change or correction in the amount of sales and compensating use tax liability as provided by law, the tax may be assessed at any time. Where the taxpayer files a report or return in respect of a change or correction in sales and compensating use tax liability, as required by subdivision d of section 11-1104, an assessment may be made at any time within two years after such report or return was filed, provided, however, that this sentence shall not affect the time within which an assessment may otherwise be made.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state , the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

§ 11-1116 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, or any officer or employee of the department of finance or the tax appeals tribunal to divulge or make known in any manner, the receipts or any other information relating to the business of a taxpayer contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the city or the commissioner of finance, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events, the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or his or her duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with his or her tax, nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel of the city or other legal representatives of such city of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action or proceeding to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding has been instituted or is contemplated for the collection of a tax, penalty or interest. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

§ 11-1119 Determinations of place of primary use of wireless telecommunications services.

a. A home service provider shall be responsible for obtaining and maintaining the customer's place of primary use as defined in subdivision twenty of section 11-1101 of this chapter. Except as provided in subdivision b of this section, if the home service provider's reliance on the information provided by its customer is in good faith: (1) the home service provider can rely on the applicable residential or business street address supplied by the home service provider's customer; and (2) the home service provider shall not be held liable for any additional taxes under this chapter based on a different determination of the place of primary use.

b. The commissioner of finance, or the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York on behalf of the commissioner of finance, may determine that the address used by a home service provider for purposes of this chapter does not meet the definition of place of primary use as defined in subdivision twenty of section 11-1101 of this chapter and may give binding notice to the home service provider to change the place of primary use on a prospective basis from the date of notice of determination if:

(1) where the determination is made by the commissioner of finance, such commissioner obtains the consent of all affected taxing jurisdictions within this state before giving such notice of determination; and

(2) before the commissioner of finance or the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York gives such notice of determination, the customer is given an opportunity to demonstrate, in accordance with applicable procedures established by the commissioner of finance making the determination, that that address is the customer's place of primary use.

c. Except as provided in subdivision b of this section, a home service provider may treat the address used by the home service provider for purposes of this chapter for the last taxable period beginning before August first, two thousand two, for any customer under a service contract or agreement in effect on July twenty-eighth, two thousand two as that customer's place of primary use for the remaining term of such service contract or agreement, excluding any extension or renewal of such service contract or agreement.

§ 11-1120 Assignment of place of primary use of telecommunications services to the city.

a. If an electronic database meeting the requirements of subsection a of section 119 of title four of the United States Code is provided by the state of New York, or by a designated database provider as defined in subsection three of section 124 of such title, and the requirements of subsection b of such section 119 are met, a home service provider shall use that database to determine whether the customer's place of primary use is within the territorial limits of the city and shall reflect changes to such database in accordance with subsection c of such section 119.

b. A home service provider using the data contained in an electronic database described in subdivision a of this section shall be held harmless from any tax liability that otherwise would be due under this chapter solely as a result of any error or omission in such database provided the home service provider has properly reflected changes to such database in accordance with subsection c of section 119 of title four of the United States Code.

c. (1) If no electronic database is provided as described in subdivision a of this section, a home service provider shall be held harmless from any tax liability under this chapter that otherwise would be due solely as a result of an assignment of a street address to an incorrect taxing jurisdiction if, subject to subdivision d of this section, the home service provider employs an enhanced zip code to assign each street address to a specific taxing jurisdiction for each level of taxing jurisdiction and exercises due diligence at each level of taxing jurisdiction to ensure that each such street address is assigned to the correct taxing jurisdiction. If an enhanced zip code overlaps boundaries of taxing jurisdictions of the same level, the home service provider must designate one specific jurisdiction within such enhanced zip code for use in taxing the activity for such enhanced zip code for each level of taxing jurisdiction. Any enhanced zip code assignment changed in accordance with subdivision d of this section is deemed to be in compliance with this subdivision. For purposes of this subdivision, there is a rebuttable presumption that a home service provider has exercised due diligence if such home service provider demonstrates that it has: (i) expended reasonable resources to implement and maintain an appropriately detailed electronic database of street address assignments to taxing jurisdictions;

(ii) implemented and maintained reasonable internal controls to promptly correct misassignments of street addresses to taxing jurisdictions; and

(iii) used all reasonably obtainable and usable data pertaining to municipal annexations, incorporations, reorganizations and any other changes in jurisdictional boundaries that materially affect the accuracy of such database.

(2) Paragraph one of this subdivision applies to a home service provider that is in compliance with the requirements of such paragraph until the later of:

(i) eighteen months after the nationwide standard numeric code described in subsection (a) of section 119 of title four of the United States Code has been approved by the federation of tax administrators and the multistate tax commission; or

(ii) six months after the state of New York or a designated database provider provides a database as prescribed in subdivision a of this section.

d. The commissioner of finance, or the commissioner of taxation and finance of the state of New York on behalf of the commissioner of finance, may determine that the assignment of a street address to a taxing jurisdiction by a home service provider under subdivision c of this section does not reflect the correct taxing jurisdiction and give binding notice to the home service provider to change the assignment on a prospective basis from the date of notice of determination if:

(1) where the determination is made by the commissioner of finance, such commissioner obtains the consent of all affected taxing jurisdictions within this state before giving such notice of determination; and

(2) the home service provider is given an opportunity to demonstrate in accordance with applicable procedures established by the commissioner of finance making the determination that the assignment reflects the correct taxing jurisdiction.

CHAPTER 12 HORSE RACE ADMISSIONS TAX

§ 11-1206 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, the tax may be estimated on the basis of external indices, such as number of race meetings held, admissions, paid attendance, and/or other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the collection and/or payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after giving the notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person liable for the tax and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a person liable for the tax unless the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed with interest and penalties thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding, or at the option of such person such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event such person shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally, or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, he or she shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the applicant in writing. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure, pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days of the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to section one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a person liable for the tax, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a person liable for the tax unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which has been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1206 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-1206 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing or of the commissioner's own motion, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

a. Whenever any racing corporation or association or any of its officers or any other person shall fail to collect and pay over any tax or to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as therein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that a person subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax or penalties might be satisfied, and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, the commissioner of finance may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the racing corporation or association or its officers or any other person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner of finance the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrants the city sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees, which the city sheriff may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever a corporation or association shall make a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk or any part or the whole of its race meeting grounds or enclosures and the building and structures thereon, or its lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such race meeting grounds or enclosures or of the equipment, machinery, fixtures or supplies, or of the said race meeting grounds or enclosures and the building and structures thereon, or lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such race meeting grounds or enclosures, and the equipment, machinery, fixtures or supplies pertaining to the conduct or the operation of the said race meeting grounds or enclosures, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such race meeting grounds or enclosures and the building and structures thereon, or lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such race meeting grounds or enclosures or the equipment, machinery, fixtures or supplies, or of the said race meeting grounds or enclosures and the building and structures thereon, or lease, license or other agreement or right to possess or operate such race meeting grounds or enclosures, and the equipment, machinery, fixtures or supplies or paying thereof, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-1211 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, such commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding thirty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information from the racing commission and the tax commission of the state of New York, or any other state or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford information to such commission or such treasury department relative to any person, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or any employee or employees of the department of finance;

5. To prescribe methods for determining the amount of the admissions and for determining the tax;

6. To require racing corporations or associations to keep detailed records of all race meetings and all attendance thereat, and to furnish such information upon request to the commissioner of finance; 7. To require that the amount of the tax be printed, separate from the price of admission, on tickets of admission.

CHAPTER 12 HORSE RACE ADMISSIONS TAX

§ 11-1213 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid over or paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-1206 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subpara- graph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) Officers of a racing corporation or association shall be personally liable for the tax collected or required to be collected under this chapter, and subject to the penalties hereinabove imposed.

(2) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return or bond has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(3) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-1214 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal or any officer or employee of the department of finance to divulge or make known in any manner any of the information relating to the business of any person contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the courts may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The commissioner of finance may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after a formal hearing held pursuant to section 11-1206 or 11-1207 of this chapter. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a person or such person's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed by such person nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city, or by the district attorney of any county within the city, of the return of any person who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding has been instituted for the collection of a tax or penalty. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the inspection by the fiscal representatives of any county entitled to any portion of the revenues pursuant to subdivision b of section 11-1216 of this chapter of returns of tax collected at any racing ground or enclosure situated partly in such county. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

CHAPTER 12 HORSE RACE ADMISSIONS TAX

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by such person or if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a person has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

§ 11-1216 Disposition of revenues.

a. All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under this chapter at race meeting grounds or enclosures located wholly within the city of New York shall be credited and deposited in the general fund of the city.

b. All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under this chapter at race meeting grounds or enclosures situated in two counties, only one of which is wholly located within the city of New York, shall be deposited in a special fund, and seventy-five percent of the moneys in such special fund shall, within sixty days after collection thereof by the city, be paid to the county not located within the city of New York, less the expenses for collection of such tax and except that the sum of five thousand dollars shall be retained at all times in such special fund for the purpose of making refunds or any necessary adjustments. The balance then remaining in such special fund shall be paid into the general fund of the city of New York.

CHAPTER 13 CIGARETTE TAX

§ 11-1301 Definitions.

When used in this chapter the following words shall have the meanings herein indicated:

1. "Cigarette." (a) Any roll for smoking made wholly or in part of tobacco or any other substance wrapped in paper or in any other substance not containing tobacco, and (b) any roll for smoking made wholly or in part of tobacco wrapped in any substance containing tobacco which, because of its appearance, the type of tobacco used in the filler, or its packaging and labeling, is likely to be offered to, or purchased by, consumers as a cigarette described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision. However, a roll will not be considered to be a cigarette for purposes of paragraph (b) of this subdivision if it is not treated as a cigarette for federal excise tax purposes under the applicable federal statute in effect on April first, two thousand eight.

2. "Person." Any individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

3. "Sale or purchase." Any transfer of title or possession or both, exchange or barter, conditional or otherwise, in any manner or by any means whatsoever or any agreement therefor.

4. "Use." Any exercise of a right or power, actual or constructive, and shall include but is not limited to the receipt, storage, or any keeping or retention for any length of time, but shall not include possession for sale by a dealer.

5. "Dealer." Any wholesale dealer or retail dealer as hereinafter defined.

6. "Wholesale dealer." Any person who sells cigarettes to retail dealers or other persons for purposes of resale only, and any person who owns, operates or maintains one or more cigarette vending machines in, at or upon premises owned or occupied by any other person.

7. "Retail dealer." Any person other than a wholesale dealer engaged in selling cigarettes. For the purposes of this chapter, the possession or transportation at any one time of five thousand or more cigarettes by any person other than a manufacturer, an agent, a licensed wholesale dealer or a person delivering cigarettes in the regular course of business for a manufacturer, an agent or a licensed wholesale or retail dealer, shall be presumptive evidence that such person is a retail dealer.

8. "Package." The individual package, box or other container in or from which retail sales of cigarettes are normally made or intended to be made.

9. "Agent." Any person authorized to purchase and affix adhesive or meter stamps under this chapter who is designated as an agent by the commissioner of finance.

10. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

11. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

12. "City." The city of New York.

13. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

CHAPTER 13 CIGARETTE TAX

*a. There34 is hereby imposed and shall be paid a tax on:

1. All cigarettes possessed in the city for sale except as hereinafter provided;

2. The use of all cigarettes in the city except as hereinafter provided;

3. It is intended that the ultimate incidence of and liability for the tax shall be upon the consumer, and that any agent, distributor or dealer who shall pay the tax to the commissioner of finance shall collect the tax from the purchaser or consumer. Such tax shall be at the rate of four cents for each ten cigarettes or fraction thereof, provided, however, that if a package of cigarettes contains more than twenty cigarettes, the rate of tax on the cigarettes in such package in excess of twenty shall be two cents for each five cigarettes or fraction thereof. Provided further, however, that on and after July second, two thousand two, such tax shall be at the rate of seventy-five cents for each ten cigarettes or fraction thereof, provided, however, that if a package of cigarettes contains more than twenty cigarettes, the rate of tax on the cigarettes in such package in excess of twenty shall be thirty-eight cents for each five cigarettes or fraction thereof. Such tax shall be imposed only once on the same package of cigarettes.

a. There35 is hereby imposed and shall be paid a tax on:

1. All cigarettes possessed in the city for sale except as hereinafter provided;

2. The use of all cigarettes in the city except as hereinafter provided;

3. It is intended that the ultimate incidence of and liability for the tax shall be upon the consumer, and that any agent, distributor or dealer who shall pay the tax to the director of finance shall collect the tax from the purchaser or consumer.

Such tax shall be at the basic rate of two cents for each ten cigarettes or fraction thereof and shall be imposed only once on the same package of cigarettes. In addition to such tax there is hereby imposed an additional tax at the following rates:

1. One and one-half cents for each ten cigarettes where either their tar content exceeds seventeen milligrams per cigarette or their nicotine content exceeds one and one-tenth milligrams per cigarette; 2. Two cents for each ten cigarettes where their tar content exceeds seventeen milligrams per cigarette and their nicotine content exceeds one and one-tenth milligrams per cigarette.

b. The tax imposed hereunder shall not apply to:

1. The use, otherwise than for sale, of four hundred cigarettes or less brought into the city, on or in possession of, any person;

2. Cigarettes sold to the United States;

3. Cigarettes sold to or by a voluntary unincorporated organization of the armed forces of the United States operating a place for the sale of goods pursuant to regulations promulgated by the appropriate executive agency of the United States;

4. Cigarettes possessed in the city by any agent or wholesale dealer for sale to a dealer outside the city or for sale and shipment to any person in another state for use there, provided such agent or wholesale dealer complies with the regulations relating thereto.

c. The tax imposed hereunder shall be in addition to any and all other taxes.

d. It shall be presumed that all sales or uses mentioned in this section are subject to tax until the contrary is established, and the burden of proof that a sale or use is not taxable hereunder shall be upon the vendor or the purchaser.

e. Except as hereinafter provided, the tax shall be advanced and paid by the agent or distributor. The agent shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax to the commissioner of finance by purchasing from the commissioner of finance adhesive stamps of such design and denomination as may be prescribed by such commissioner, subject to the approval of the state tax commission. The tax may also be paid by the use of such metering machines as are prescribed by the commissioner of finance subject to the approval of the state tax commission.

f. Within twenty-four hours after liability for the tax on the use of cigarettes accrues each person liable for the tax shall file with the commissioner of finance a return in such form as the commissioner of finance may prescribe, together with a remittance of the tax shown to be due thereon.

g. Agents located within or without the city shall purchase stamps and affix them in the manner prescribed to packages of cigarettes to be sold within the city.

h. The amount of taxes advanced and paid by the agent or distributor as hereinabove provided shall be added to and collected as part of the sales price of the cigarettes.

i. The commissioner of finance, notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, may, subject to the approval of the state tax commission, provide by regulation that the tax imposed by this section shall be collected without the use of stamps.

CASE NOTES FROM FORMER SECTION

¶ 1. This section creating a use tax on out of state mail sales of cigarettes to a New York City or State resident is not unconstitutional as being an unreasonable restraint on interstate commerce or any other constitutional ground.-Angelica v. Goodman, 52 Misc. 2d 844, 276 N.Y.S. 2d 766 [1966].

¶ 2. Provision of this section requiring a price differential to reflect certain taxes based on levels of tar and nicotine in cigarettes sold so that the seller cannot absorb the tax is permissible under the state enabling act and is a proper exercise of the police power since its purpose is to direct attention to "cigarettes containing excessive tar and nicotine and thereby to promote the health and welfare of the people of the City".-Long Island Tobacco Co. Inc. v. Lindsay, 74 Misc. 2d 455 [1973].

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. The court upheld the constitutionality of the $1.50 per pack tax on cigarettes. The tobacco industry representatives unsuccessful argued that the tax was so high as to constitute a violation of the substantive due process clause. New York State Assn. of Tobacco and Candy Distributors v. City of New York, N.Y.L.J., Nov. 24, 2003, at 19, col. 1 (Sup.Ct. New York Co.).

Administrative Code of the City of New York

Title 11 Taxation and Finance

CHAPTER 13 CIGARETTE TAX

§ 11-1303 License.

a. License required of wholesale and retail dealers. 1. It shall be unlawful for a person to engage in business as a wholesale or retail dealer without a license as prescribed in this section or subchapter one of chapter two of title twenty of the code, whichever is applicable.

2. It shall be unlawful for a person to permit any premises under such person's control to be used by any other person in violation of paragraph one of subdivision a of this section.

b. Application for license. 1. Wholesale cigarette license. In order to obtain a license to engage in business as a wholesale dealer, a person shall file application with the commissioner of finance for one license for each place of business that he or she desires to have for the sale of cigarettes in the city. Every application for a wholesale cigarette license shall be made upon a form prescribed and prepared by the commissioner of finance and shall set forth such information as the commissioner shall require. The commissioner of finance may, for cause, refuse to issue a wholesale cigarette license. Upon approval of the application, the commissioner of finance shall grant and issue to the applicant a wholesale cigarette license for each place of business within the city set forth in the application. Cigarette licenses shall not be assignable and shall be valid only for the persons in whose names such licenses have been issued and for the transaction of business in the places designated therein and shall at all times be conspicuously displayed at the places for which issued.

2. Retail cigarette license. In order to obtain a license to engage in business as a retail dealer, a person shall file application with the commissioner of consumer affairs in accordance with the provisions of section 20-202 of the code.

c. Duplicate licenses. Whenever any license issued by the commissioner of finance under the provisions of this section is defaced, destroyed or lost, the commissioner of finance shall issue a duplicate license to the holder of the defaced, destroyed or lost license upon the payment of a fee of fifteen dollars. A duplicate retail dealer license may be obtained from the commissioner of consumer affairs as provided in section 20-204 of this code.

d. Suspension or revocation of licenses. (1) After a hearing, the commissioner of finance may suspend or revoke a wholesale cigarette license and the commissioner of consumer affairs, upon notice from the commissioner of finance, may suspend or revoke a retail cigarette license whenever the commissioner of finance finds that the holder thereof has failed to comply with any of the provisions of this chapter or any rules of the commissioner of finance prescribed, adopted and promulgated under this chapter.

(2) The commissioner of finance may also suspend or revoke a wholesale cigarette license or any rules promulgated thereunder*33 which authorizes the suspension or revocation of a wholesale cigarette license.

(3) The commissioner of consumer affairs may also suspend or revoke a retail cigarette license in accordance with the requirements of any other section of this code or any rules promulgated thereunder which authorize suspension or revocation of a retail cigarette license.

(4) Upon suspending or revoking any wholesale cigarette license, the commissioner of finance shall direct the holder thereof to surrender to the commissioner of finance immediately all wholesale cigarette licenses or duplicates thereof issued to such holder and the holder shall surrender promptly all such licenses to the commissioner of finance as directed. Before the commissioner of finance suspends or revokes a wholesale cigarette license or notifies the commissioner of consumer affairs of a finding of a violation of this chapter with respect to a retail cigarette license pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subdivision, he or she shall notify the holder and the holder shall be entitled to a hearing, if desired, if the holder, within ninety days from the date of such notification, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (A) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (B) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. After such hearing, the commissioner of finance, good cause appearing therefor, may suspend or revoke the wholesale cigarette license, and, in the case of a retail cigarette license, notify the commissioner of consumer affairs of a violation of this chapter or any rules promulgated thereunder. Upon such notification, the commissioner of consumer affairs may suspend or revoke a retail cigarette license as provided in subdivision b of section 20-206 of the code. The commissioner of finance may, by rule, provide for granting a similar hearing to an applicant who has been refused a wholesale cigarette license by the commissioner of finance.

e. Prohibited sales and purchases. No agent or dealer shall sell cigarettes to an unlicensed wholesale or retail dealer, or to a wholesale or retail dealer whose license has been suspended or revoked. No dealer shall purchase cigarettes from any person other than a manufacturer or a licensed wholesale dealer.

f. Retail dealers. The commissioner of finance may, after hearing, issue an order prohibiting a retail dealer from selling cigarettes, for such period as the order shall specify, for failure to comply with any of the provisions of this chapter or any rules or regulations of the commissioner of finance prescribed, adopted and promulgated under this chapter.

g. License fees; numbering and registering of licenses; term. 1. The annual fee for a wholesale cigarette dealer's license shall be six hundred dollars, and the annual fee for a retail cigarette dealer's license shall be as provided in subdivision c of section 20-202 of this code.

2. Wholesale cigarette licenses shall be regularly numbered and duly registered.

3. Wholesale cigarette licenses shall expire on January thirty-first next succeeding the date of issuance unless sooner suspended or revoked.

CHAPTER 13 CIGARETTE TAX

§ 11-1304 Preparation and sale of stamps; commissions.

a. The commissioner of finance shall, subject to the approval of the state tax commission, prescribe, prepare and furnish stamps of such denominations and quantities as may be necessary for the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter, and may, from time to time, provide for the issuance and exclusive use of stamps of a new design and forbid the use of stamps of any other design. Such stamps shall be in the form of a single stamp for the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter or, in lieu thereof, a joint single stamp to be prepared and issued by the state of New York and the city for the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter and the taxes imposed by article twenty of the tax law. The commissioner of finance may make such arrangements with the state tax commission for the method of acquiring and the manner of sharing the costs of such joint single stamps as he or she deems appropriate. The commissioner of finance, subject to the approval of the state tax commission, shall make provisions for the sale of such stamps at such places as he or she may deem necessary, and may appoint fiscal agents for such purpose.

b. The commissioner of finance may appoint wholesale dealers of cigarettes and any other person within or without the city as agents to affix stamps to be used in paying the tax hereby imposed, but an agent shall at all times have the right to appoint the person in his or her employ who is to affix the stamps to any cigarettes under the agent's control. Whenever the commissioner of finance shall sell, consign or deliver to any such agent any such stamps, such agent shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his or her services and expenses in affixing such stamps, and to retain out of the moneys to be paid by the agent for such stamps, a commission on the par value thereof. The commissioner of finance is hereby authorized to prescribe a schedule of commissions not exceeding five per centum, allowable to such agent for affixing such stamps; provided, however, that the commissioner of finance may authorize commissions to agents and temporary agents not exceeding ten per centum for a special period not exceeding fifteen days immediately following the enactment of this chapter to cover the initial stamping of packages of cigarettes. Such schedule shall be uniform for each type and denomination of stamp used, and may be on a graduated scale with respect to the number of stamps purchased. In the event that a joint stamp is issued, the commissions allowed shall be determined jointly by the state tax commission and the commissioner of finance and shall be based on the full par value of such stamp. The extent to which the city and the state of New York shall bear the expense of such commissions shall be determined by agreement between the state tax commission and the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance may in his or her discretion permit an agent to pay for such stamps within thirty days after the date of sale, consignment or delivery of such stamps to such agents, and may require any such agent to file with the commissioner of finance a bond, issued by a surety company approved by the superintendent of insurance as to solvency and responsibility and authorized to transact business in the state, in such amounts as the commissioner of finance may fix, to secure the payment of any sums from such agent pursuant to this chapter.

c. The commissioner of finance may redeem unused stamps lawfully in the possession of any person. No person shall sell or offer for sale any stamp issued under this chapter, except by written permission of the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance may prescribe rules and regulations concerning refunds, sales of stamps and redemptions under the provisions of this chapter.

§ 11-1305 Affixation and cancellation of stamps; presumptions.

a. Each agent shall affix to each package of cigarettes stamps evidencing the payment of tax imposed by this chapter and shall cancel such stamps prior to delivery of such cigarettes to any dealer in the city, unless stamps have been affixed to such packages of cigarettes and cancelled before such agent received them.

b. Each dealer, other than an agent, in the city shall immediately upon the receipt of any cigarettes at his or her place of business mark in ink on each unopened box, carton or other container of such cigarettes the word "received" and the year, month, day and hour of such receipt and shall affix his or her signature thereto or shall mark them in any other manner prescribed by the commissioner of finance. In addition, each retail dealer shall, within twenty-four hours after receipt of any cigarettes at his or her place of business and prior to exposing for sale or sale by such retail dealer of such cigarettes, open such box, carton or other container and, unless such stamps have been previously affixed, immediately notify the dealer from whom he or she purchased such cigarettes and arrange for the replacement by the dealer of such cigarettes by cigarettes with such stamps affixed within twenty-four hours.

c. Stamps shall be cancelled in the manner prescribed by regulation.

d. Whenever any cigarettes are found in the place of business of a dealer without the stamps affixed and cancelled, or not marked as having been received within the preceding twenty-four hours, the prima facie presumption shall arise that such cigarettes are kept therein in violation of the provisions of this chapter.

e. Stamps shall be affixed to each package of cigarettes of an aggregate denomination not less than the amount of the tax upon the contents therein, and shall be affixed in such manner as to be visible to the purchaser.

a. At the time of delivering cigarettes to any person each agent or wholesale dealer in the city shall make a true duplicate invoice showing the date of delivery, the number of packages and the number of cigarettes contained therein in each shipment of cigarettes delivered, and the name of the purchaser to whom delivery is made, and shall retain the same for a period of three years subject to the use and inspection of the commissioner of finance. Each dealer in the city shall procure and retain invoices showing the number of packages and the number of cigarettes contained therein in each shipment of cigarettes received by such dealer, the date thereof, and the name of the shipper, and shall retain the same for a period of three years subject to the use and inspection of the commissioner of finance.

b. The commissioner of finance by regulation may provide that whenever cigarettes are shipped into the city, the railroad company, express company, trucking company, or carrier transporting any shipment thereof shall file with the commissioner of finance a copy of the freight bill within ten days after the delivery in the city of each shipment.

c. All dealers within the city shall maintain and keep for a period of three years such other records of cigarettes received, sold or delivered within the city as may be required by the commissioner of finance.

d. Without limiting the powers granted the commissioner of consumer affairs pursuant to title twenty of the code and any rules promulgated thereunder, the commissioner of finance or the commissioner's duly authorized representatives are hereby authorized to examine the books, papers, invoices and other records, stock of cigarettes in and upon any premises where the same are placed, stored and sold, and equipment of any such agent or dealer pertaining to the sale and delivery of cigarettes taxable under this chapter. To verify the accuracy of the tax imposed and assessed by this chapter, each such person is hereby directed and required to give to the commissioner of finance or the commissioner's duly authorized representatives, the means, facilities and opportunity for such examinations as are herein provided for and required.

e. The commissioner of finance shall investigate any failure to pay the tax required by this chapter or any other failure to comply with this chapter or the rules or regulations promulgated thereunder, and shall take the necessary steps to enforce compliance therewith.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof; and to require the filing of reports by agents and/or dealers;

2. To prescribe the method and the means to be used in the cancellation of stamps;

3. To fix the denominations and the method of sale of stamps;

4. To delegate his or her powers to a deputy or other employee or employees of the department of finance;

5. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return or reports for a period not exceeding thirty days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

6. To assess, determine, revise and adjust the taxes imposed under this chapter;

7. To request information from the state tax commission or of the treasury department of the United States or of the taxing officials of any other state or city which imposes a similar cigarette tax, and to afford information to such commission, department or other state or city, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

8. To enter into an arrangement with the state tax commission with respect to cooperative collection, auditing or administration of the taxes imposed by this chapter and the taxes imposed by article twenty of the tax law of the state of New York.

9. To prescribe forms to be filled out by the vendor or purchaser, or both, in each instance in which a sale is made by an agent or wholesale dealer to a person outside the state or the city or to a dealer in the city for purposes of resale outside the state or the city.

10. To appoint any dealer as a temporary agent to buy and affix stamps for a period not in excess of fifteen days.

11. In furtherance of the purposes of paragraph three of subdivision a of section 11-1302 of this chapter, to provide by appropriate regulation for the maintenance of such differentials in wholesale and retail prices of cigarettes sold by any vendor, other than the manufacturer, so as to reflect the amounts of tax attributable to the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes sold. In so doing he or she may use and consider the factory price of various brands of cigarettes. In addition, the commissioner may consider the mode or method by which retail sales are effected and limit his or her regulations so as to affect any one or more or all of such modes or methods.

§ 8. The city of New York is hereby authorized and directed to compensate the state of New York for certain processing and administrative costs incurred, pursuant to the authority of section 475 of the tax law or subdivision 8 of section 11-1308 of the administrative code of the city of New York, by the state department of taxation and finance with respect to the tax due on cigarettes possessed in such city, as of the close of business on the day before the effective date of a local law imposing such tax authorized by this act, by such person for sale, solely attributable to the increase imposed by such local law.

§ 11-1310 Determination of tax.

If any person fails to pay the tax, or to file a return required by this chapter or if a return, when filed, is insufficient and the maker fails to file a corrected or sufficient return within ten days after the same may be required by notice from the commissioner of finance, he or she shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as may be obtainable or on the basis of external indices, such as number of cigarettes purchases or sold, stock on hand, volume of sales by similar dealers and/or other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed shall, within ninety days of the giving of such notice, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the person liable for the tax has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance shall of his or her own motion redetermine such tax. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of this charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall given notice of its decision to the person liable for the tax and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality, unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if instituted by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. Such proceeding shall not be instituted by a person liable for the tax unless the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed with interest and penalties thereon, if any, shall have first been deposited with the commissioner of finance and an undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

a. In the manner provided in this subdivision the commissioner of finance shall refund, without interest, any tax, interest or penalty erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid. In addition, whenever any cigarettes upon which stamps have been affixed have been sold and shipped to a dealer outside the city for sale there or to any person in another state for use there, or have become unfit for use and consumption or unsalable, or have been destroyed, the dealer shall be entitled to a refund of the amount of tax paid, less the applicable commission, with respect to such cigarettes. In any event no refund shall be granted unless application to the commissioner of finance therefor is made within two years after the stamps were affixed to such cigarettes or the tax was paid, except if a person has consented in writing to an extension of the period for assessment of additional tax pursuant to subdivision c of section 11-1315 of this chapter, and such consent is given within the two-year period for making a refund application provided in this subdivision, the period for making a refund application shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment could be made pursuant to such consent or any extension thereof. Whenever a refund is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, the commissioner shall state his or her reasons therefor and give notice thereof to the applicant in writing. A person shall not be entitled to a hearing in connection with such application for a refund if such person has already had a hearing or had been given the opportunity of a hearing as provided in section 11-1310 of this chapter or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid pursuant to a determination of the commissioner of finance as provided in section 11-1310 of this chapter, unless the tax appeals tribunal, after a hearing as in said section provided or the commissioner of finance, of his or her own motion, shall have reduced the tax or penalty, or it shall have been established in a proceeding, pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules that such determination was erroneous, illegal, unconstitutional or otherwise improper, in which event a refund without interest shall be made as provided upon the determination of such proceeding. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund pursuant to this subdivision shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of this title and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund made as provided in this subdivision shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to maintain a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within four months after such decision, and provided, further, in the case of an application by a person liable for the tax, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking shall first be filed by such person with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed such person will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

b. If the commissioner of finance is satisfied that any dealer is entitled to a refund the commissioner shall issue to such dealer stamps of sufficient value to cover the refund or to make such refund.

§ 11-1314 Proceedings to recover tax.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax, interest or penalties might be satisfied and that any such tax, interest or penalty will not be paid when due, he or she may declare such tax, interest or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. In addition to all other remedies for the collection of any taxes, penalties or interest due under the provisions of this chapter, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the person liable for the tax which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the taxes, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant the city sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-1315 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by such person or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax, interest or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a person has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal is authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

a. Any person failing to pay a tax payable under this chapter when due shall be subject to a penalty of fifty per centum of the amount of tax due, but the commissioner of finance, if satisfied that the delay was excusable, may remit all or any part of such penalty. Such penalty shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues under this chapter. Unpaid penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

b. (1) In addition to any other penalty imposed by this section, the commissioner of finance may (a) impose a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars for each two hundred cigarettes or fraction thereof in excess of one thousand cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages in the possession or under the control of any person and (b) impose a penalty of not more than two hundred dollars for each ten affixed or unaffixed false, altered or counterfeit cigarette tax stamps, imprints or impressions, or fraction thereof, in excess of one hundred affixed or unaffixed false, altered or counterfeit cigarette tax stamps, imprints or impressions in the possession or under the control of any person. Such penalty shall be determined as provided in section 11-1310 of this chapter, and may be reviewed only pursuant to such section. Such penalty may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter. The commissioner of finance, in his or her discretion, may remit all or part of such penalty. Such penalty shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues under this chapter.

(2) The penalties imposed by this paragraph may be imposed by the commissioner of finance in addition to any other penalty imposed by this section, but in lieu of the penalties imposed by subparagraph (a) of paragraph one of this subdivision: (a) not less than thirty dollars but not more than two hundred dollars for each two hundred cigarettes, or fraction thereof, in excess of one thousand cigarettes but less than or equal to five thousand cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages knowingly in the possession or knowingly under the control of any person; (b) not less than seventy-five dollars but not more than two hundred dollars for each two hundred cigarettes, or fraction thereof, in excess of five thousand cigarettes but less than or equal to twenty thousand cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages knowingly in the possession or knowingly under the control of any person; and (c) not less than one hundred dollars but not more than two hundred dollars for each two hundred cigarettes, or fraction thereof, in excess of twenty thousand cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages, knowingly in the possession or knowingly under the control of any person. Such penalty shall be determined as provided in section 11-1310 of this chapter, and may be reviewed only pursuant to such section. Such penalty may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter. The commissioner of finance, in his or her discretion, may remit all or part of such penalty. Such penalty shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues under this chapter.

c. (1) The possession within the city of more than four hundred cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages shall be presumptive evidence that such cigarettes are subject to tax as provided by this chapter.

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to common or contract carriers or warehousemen while engaged in lawfully transporting or storing unstamped packages of cigarettes as merchandise, nor to any employee of such carrier or warehouseman acting within the scope of his or her employment, nor to public officers or employees in the performance of their official duties requiring possession or control of unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes, nor to temporary incidental possession by employees or agents of persons lawfully entitled to possession, nor to persons whose possession is for the purpose of aiding police officers in performing their duties.

d. (1) If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar. The interest imposed by this subdivision shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(2) (A) The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(B) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

NOTE

Provisions of L.L. 10/2002:

§ 3. Every dealer of cigarettes, including agents licensed to purchase and affix stamps, shall take a physical inventory of all cigarettes possessed in the city as of the close of business on July 1, 2002. In addition, every dealer who is a licensed agent shall take a physical inventory of all unaffixed cigarette tax stamps possessed as of the close of business on such date. In the event that it is not possible to take a physical inventory of cigarettes in all vending machines that are located within the city, a dealer may take as many physical inventories of the contents of such machines as is possible with available personnel. For those machines that cannot be physically inventoried on July 1, 2002, cigarettes may be accounted for at one-half the normal fill capacities of such machines, as reflected in the individual inventory records maintained for such machines.

§ 4. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the tax due on cigarettes possessed in the city of New York, as of the close of business on July 1, 2002, by any person for sale solely attributable to the increase imposed by this local law, may be paid in two installments, due on the twentieth days of September 2002 and January 2003, subject to such terms and conditions as the department of finance may prescribe; provided, however, no less than 25 percent of each such tax due shall be paid by September 20, 2002.

CHAPTER 14 TAX ON TRANSFER OF TAXICAB LICENSES

a. On and after July first, nineteen hundred eighty, there is hereby imposed and there shall be paid a tax on each transfer of a taxicab license or interest therein, at the rate of five percent of the consideration given for such transfer.

b. Where there is a transfer of the economic interest in a taxicab license or interest therein, effected by the transfer of shares of stock of a corporation which hold such taxicab license or interest therein or by the transfer of an interest or interests in a partnership or association which holds such taxicab license or interest therein, such transfer of shares of stock or of an interest or interests in a partnership or association shall be treated as a transfer of the taxicab license or interest therein, and shall be subject to the tax imposed by subdivision a of this section.

c. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the tax imposed hereby shall not apply to a transfer made pursuant to a bona fide written contract or agreement made and executed prior to July first, nineteen hundred eighty, provided such contract or agreement is registered with the taxi and limousine commission prior to July first, nineteen hundred eighty, and provided further that one or more payments were made pursuant to such contract or agreement on or before June twentieth, nineteen hundred eighty.

d. Where a taxicab or any other property is transferred to a transferee in conjunction with the transfer of a taxicab license or interest therein, the tax imposed by this section shall be computed on the total consideration for the transfer of such license or interest therein and the taxicab or other property so transferred, less the fair market value of such taxicab or other property.

e. The tax imposed by this chapter shall be in addition to any and all other taxes.

§ 11-1406 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from external indices and such other information as may be obtainable. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight thorough*28 one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund is made or denied by the commissioner of finance, the commissioner shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. Such application may be made by the transferee or transferor who has actually paid the tax. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1406 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-1406 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing, or on the commissioner's own motion, or, is*29 such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to be overpaid.

a. Whenever any transferee or transferor shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that any such transferee or transferor subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax or penalty might be satisfied, and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, the commissioner may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the transferee or transferor or other person liable for the tax which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalty and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and the interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrant the sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees, which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to an officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk or any part of the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

d. Whenever, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding subdivision, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

e. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

CHAPTER 14 TAX ON TRANSFER OF TAXICAB LICENSES

§ 11-1411 General powers of the commissioner of finance.

In addition to the powers granted to the commissioner of finance in this chapter, he or she is hereby authorized and empowered:

1. To make, adopt and amend rules and regulations appropriate to the carrying out of this chapter and the purposes thereof;

2. To extend, for cause shown, the time for filing any return for a period not exceeding ninety days; and to compromise disputed claims in connection with the taxes hereby imposed;

3. To request information from the taxi and limousine commission, the tax commission of the state of New York or the treasury department of the United States relative to any person; and to afford returns, reports and other information to such taxi and limousine commission, tax commission or treasury department relative to any person, any other provision of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding;

4. To delegate his or her functions hereunder to a deputy commissioner of finance or any employee or employees of the department of finance;

5. To prescribe the methods for determining the consideration subject to the tax, and if there is a transfer of a taxicab or other property in conjunction with the transfer of a taxicab license or interest therein, to prescribe rules and methods for determining the fair market value of such taxicab or other property;

6. To require any transferee or transferor to keep such records, and for such lengths of time as may be required for the proper administration of this chapter and to furnish such records to the commissioner of finance or the taxi and limousine commission upon request;

7. To assess, determine, revise and adjust the taxes imposed under this chapter.

§ 11-1412 Administration of oaths and compelling testimony.

a. The commissioner of finance, the employees or agents duly designated by him or her, the tax appeals tribunal and any of its duly designated and authorized employees or agents shall have power to administer oaths and take affidavits in relation to any matter or proceeding in the exercise of their powers and duties under this chapter. The commissioner of finance and the tax appeals tribunal shall have power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the performance of the duties of the commissioner or of the tax appeals tribunal hereunder and of the enforcement of this chapter and to examine them in relation thereto, and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend before the commissioner or the tax appeals tribunal or excused from attendance.

b. A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal under this chapter.

c. Cross-reference; criminal penalties. For failure to obey subpoenas or for testifying falsely, see section 11-4007 of this title; for supplying false or fraudulent information, see section 11-4009 of this title.

d. The officers who serve the summons or subpoena of the commissioner of finance or the tax appeals tribunal and witnesses attending in response thereto shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to officers and witnesses in civil cases in courts of record, except as herein otherwise provided. Such officers shall be the city sheriff and his or her duly appointed deputies or any officers or employees of the department of finance or the tax appeals tribunal, designated to serve such process.

CHAPTER 14 TAX ON TRANSFER OF TAXICAB LICENSES

§ 11-1413 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax requird to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-1406 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

CHAPTER 14 TAX ON TRANSFER OF TAXICAB LICENSES

§ 11-1414 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the chairperson of the taxi and limousine commission, the tax appeals tribunal or any officer or employee of the department of finance or taxi and limousine commission or the tax appeals tribunal, to divulge or make known in any manner any information contained in or relating to any return provided for by this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a transferee or transferor or to the duly authorized representative of either of them of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with the tax imposed by this chapter; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto to the United States of America or any department thereof, the state of New York or any department thereof, the city of New York or any department thereof provided the same is required for official business; nor to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the chairperson of the taxi and limousine commission, the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or items thereof.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxapyer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

CHAPTER 14 TAX ON TRANSFER OF TAXICAB LICENSES

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, in any application made by such person, or in the records maintained by the taxi and limousine commission, or, if no return has been filed or application made or address found in the records of the taxi and limousine commission, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. Except as provided in subdivision f of this section, this subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

f. (1) Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner of finance finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. The commissioner of finance may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this title, or may withdraw any such designation if the commissioner of finance finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the city. Any reference in subdivision d of this section to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance and any reference in subdivision d of this section to a United States postmark shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner of finance. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

(2) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner of finance pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designations pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in subdivision d of this section. If the commissioner of finance finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner of finance is inadequate for the needs of the city, the commissioner of finance may withdraw such designation for purposes of this title. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any withdrawal of designation or additional designation by the commissioner of finance shall not be effective for purposes of service upon the tax appeals tribunal, unless and until such withdrawal of designation or additional designation is ratified by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

CHAPTER 15 TAX ON COIN OPERATED AMUSEMENT DEVICES

When used in this chapter the following terms shall mean or include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, lessee, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals.

2. "Coin operated amusement device." Any machine, contrivance, apparatus, booth or other device which is operated, played, or permitted to function by the insertion or deposit of any coin, currency, slug, token or thing of value, and which provides amusement, diversion or entertainment.

3. "Juke box or similar musical device." Any coin operated amusement device designed primarily to provide recorded music by electrical or mechanical means, or which, by such means, provides music, whether or not a portion of the device is on or off the premises where the music is heard and whether or not somebody starts the operation of the device after the coin, slug, token or thing of value is inserted in the device.

4. "Game." Any coin-operated amusement device whereby the player tests his skill or strength, or competes against himself or other persons, or chance, including but not limited to pinball machines; video ball machines or other electronic video games; machines whereby one tests one's driving, racing, flying, shooting or other skills; rifles and other devices for shooting at targets; skeeball; bowling games; poker roll, pokerino and similar games; pool or billiard games; and shuffleboard. The foregoing enumeration is illustrative and is not intended to in any way limit the kind of game within this definition.

5. "Digger device." Any coin-operated amusement device where, by the use of a crane, scoop, lever or other method, the player attempts to obtain a prize or other thing of value.

6. "Owner." Any person who maintains a coin operated amusement device, whether as title owner, conditional sales vendee, lessee, bailee or licensee.

7. "Maintain." To permit or authorize the placing or keeping of a coin operated amusement device on the premises of another person or on one's own premises where it will be available for use or operation.

8. "Return." Any return required to be filed as herein provided.

9. "City." The city of New York.

10. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city of New York.

11. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city of New York.

12. "Tax year." August first of any calendar year through July thirty-first of the following calendar year.

13. "Tax." The tax and the additional tax imposed by section 11-1502 of this chapter.

14. "Tax appeals tribunal." The tax appeals tribunal established by section one hundred sixty-eight of the charter.

1. Provisions of L.L. 70/1986 relating to these amendments:

Section one. Declaration of legislative findings. On October second, nineteen hundred eighty-six, a judgment was entered by a justice of the New York state supreme court which invalidated local law number twenty-four for the year nineteen hundred eighty-six on the ground that the requirements for notice of public hearing prior to mayoral approval of the measure set forth in former section 38b-1.0 of the administrative code of the city of New York were not met. Since the hearing held in connection with mayoral approval of local law number thirty for the year nineteen hundred eighty-six, relating to expanding coverage of the tax on coin-operated amusement devices, was similarly noticed, questions may be raised as to the validity of local law number thirty for such year. While the corporation counsel advises that the judgment invalidating local law number twenty-four for such year is before the appellate courts and that, in his view, the mayor properly approved local law number twenty-four for such year and all other local laws which were before the mayor at that time, the council has determined that to exercise utmost caution in order to protect the fiscal health of the city it is prudent at this time to re-enact the provisions of local law number thirty for such year so as to remove any uncertainty that may exist as to its status.

Section 6. To the extent that this local law has application prior to September first, nineteen hundred eighty-six, the amendments to sections 11-1501, 11-1502, 11-1503 and 11-1505 of the administrative code of the city of New York shall be deemed amendments to former sections JJ46-1.0, JJ46-2.0, JJ46-3.0 and JJ46-5.0, respectively, of such code repealed by chapter nine hundred seven of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-five. Section 7. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part of this local law shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, section, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered. Section 8. This local law shall take effect immediately and be retroactive to and deemed in full force and effect as of August first, nineteen hundred eighty-six and shall apply to taxable years commencing on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-six.

a. For the privilege of maintaining juke boxes or similar musical devices, or any other coin-operated amusement device, including but not limited to games of every kind, digger devices, booths providing live entertainment and moving picture and video devices, whether manually, mechanically, electrically or otherwise operated, within the city during each tax year commencing on or after August first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, or any part thereof, every owner shall pay a tax for each such juke box or similiar musical device or any other coin-operated amusement device in the amount of twenty-five dollars and an additional tax for each such juke box or similar musical device or any other coin-operated amusement device in the amount of one hundred fifty dollars, or such lesser amounts as are provided in subdivision c of this section.

b. A person who allows an owner to maintain a coin operated amusement device which is subject to this tax on premises owned or occupied by such person shall, where such device does not bear the required stamp or other indicia prescribed by the commissioner of finance to show payment of the tax, be treated as and deemed an owner and maintainer of the device, and shall be subject to the tax.

c. If the first maintenance within the city of any coin operated amusement device subject to tax under this chapter occurs on or after February first and before May first in any tax year, the tax for that tax year shall be one-half of the tax hereinabove provided; and, if the first such maintenance occurs on or after May first in any tax year, the tax for that tax year shall be one-fourth of the tax hereinabove provided. For the purpose of this subdivision the first maintenance within the city of a replaced device, on which the tax was paid prior to its replacement, shall be deemed to be the first such maintenance of the device after its replacement.

d. Where a coin operated amusement device, with respect to which the tax has been paid, is replaced by another similar device, no additional tax shall be payable with respect to the replacement device during the period for which the tax has been paid. However, the tax shall be payable with respect to the replaced device if it is subsequently maintained within the city. Where the tax has been paid with respect to a device which has not been so replaced, a change of location, or of ownership, of such device shall not subject it to additional tax, provided returns are filed as required by subdivision a of section 11-1505, of this chapter.

e. The tax shall not apply to a coin operated amusement device when it is kept or displayed solely for purposes of sale, kept in a storage warehouse or kept in premises which are not open for business.

f. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, no tax shall be imposed pursuant to this chapter for any tax year beginning on or after August first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven.

CHAPTER 15 TAX ON COIN OPERATED AMUSEMENT DEVICES

§ 11-1503 Exemptions.

The tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply to the following:

a. The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or Canada) or political subdivisions;

b. The United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities, insofar as they are immune from taxation;

c. The United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member;

d. Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inurs to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this subdivision shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision; and

e. Nothing in this section shall exempt from tax under this chapter any owner of a juke box or similiar musical device or any other coin-operated amusement device subject to tax under this chapter despite the fact that it is maintained on premises occupied by a person exempted from tax by this section or that any such exempt person is entitled to any part of the proceeds from the device.

a. On or before the twentieth day of August in each year, every owner of a coin-operated amusement device taxable under this chapter shall file a return with the commissioner of finance, on a form prescribed by the commissioner of finance, showing the number and type of juke boxes or similar musical devices or any other coin-operated amusement devices subject to tax under this chapter owned and/or being maintained by such person, and such other information as the commissioner of finance may require. The commissioner of finance may provide by regulation that returns be filed at other times, and upon such dates as the commissioner may specify, and may provide that a return be filed within a stated time after any such device is replaced, or moved from the premises where it has been located, or after any change in the ownership of such device.

b. If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face, the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or of a corrected return.

c. In the event that any person files a return for any period subsequent to July first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, pursuant to the former title J of chapter forty-six of the code, the return shall be treated as a return filed pursuant to this section and any payment made with or pursuant to such return shall be deemed a payment under this chapter.

§ 11-1508 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the commissioner of finance shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the taxpayer has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy two of the charter. After such hearing the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the person against whom the tax is assessed and to the commissioner of finance. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court by the person against whom the tax was assessed within four months after the giving of the notice of such tax appeals tribunal decision. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall first have been deposited with the commissioner of finance and an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding, or (b) at the option of the taxpayer such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected or paid, if written application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund or credit is made or denied, the commissioner of finance shall state his or her reason therefor and give notice thereof to the taxpayer in writing. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. Any determination of the commissioner of finance denying a refund or credit pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant for such refund or credit, within ninety days from the mailing of notice of such determination, or, if the commissioner of finance has established a conciliation procedure pursuant to section 11-124 of the code and the applicant has requested a conciliation conference in accordance therewith, within ninety days from the mailing of a conciliation decision or the date of the commissioner's confirmation of the discontinuance of the conciliation proceeding, both (1) serves a petition upon the commissioner of finance and (2) files a petition with the tax appeals tribunal for a hearing. Such petition for a refund or credit, made as herein provided, shall be deemed an application for a revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. Such hearing and any appeal to the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc from the decision rendered in such hearing shall be conducted in the manner and subject to the requirements prescribed by the tax appeals tribunal pursuant to sections one hundred sixty-eight through one hundred seventy-two of the charter. After such hearing, the tax appeals tribunal shall give notice of its decision to the applicant and to the commissioner of finance. The applicant shall be entitled to institute a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to review a decision of the tax appeals tribunal sitting en banc if application to the supreme court be made therefor within four months after the giving of notice of such decision, and provided, in the case of an application by a taxpayer, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless an undertaking shall first be filed with the commissioner of finance, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1508 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-1508 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the tax appeals tribunal after a hearing, or, if such tax appeals tribunal affirms in whole or in part the determination of the commissioner of finance, in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

§ 11-1512 Proceedings to recover tax.

a. Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax or penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as herein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce payment of the same against the person liable for the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that a taxpayer subject to the provisions of this chapter is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which tax or penalties might be satisfied and that any such tax or penalty will not be paid when due, the commissioner may declare such tax or penalty to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff, commanding the city sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of such person which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall, within five days after the receipt of the warrant, file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant in the same manner and with like effect as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant the city sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees which the city sheriff may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but he or she shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever there is made a sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or of fixtures, or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conducting of the business of the seller, transferor or assignor, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of said business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of such merchandise, fixtures, or merchandise and fixtures, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the preceding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferror*30 or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofor or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

§ 11-1515 Interest and penalties.

(a) Interest on underpayments. If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment (without regard to any extension of time granted for payment), interest on such amount at the rate set by the commissioner of finance pursuant to subdivision (g) of this section, or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date of payment. In computing the amount of interest to be paid, such interest shall be compounded daily. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(b) (1) Failure to file return. (A) In case of failure to file a return under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount required to be shown as tax on such return five percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate.

(B) In the case of a failure to file a return of tax within sixty days of the date prescribed for filing of such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the addition to tax under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall not be less than the lesser of one hundred dollars or one hundred percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on such return.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of tax required to be shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the date prescribed for payment of the tax and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return.

(2) Failure to pay tax shown on return. In case of failure to pay the amount shown as tax on a return required to be filed under this chapter on or before the prescribed date (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment), unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to a willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on such return one-half of one percent of the amount of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month the amount of tax shown on the return shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid on or before the beginning of such month and by the amount of any credit against the tax which may be claimed upon the return. If the amount of tax required to be shown on a return is less than the amount shown as tax on such return, this paragraph shall be applied by substituting such lower amount.

(3) Failure to pay tax required to be shown on return. In case of failure to pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return required to be filed under this chapter which is not so shown (including a determination made pursuant to section 11-1508 of this chapter) within ten days of the date of a notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in such notice and demand one-half of one percent of such tax if the failure is not for more than one month, with an additional one-half of one percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which such failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent in the aggregate. For the purpose of computing the addition for any month, the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand shall be reduced by the amount of any part of the tax which is paid before the beginning of such month.

(4) Limitations on additions.

(A) With respect to any return, the amount of the addition under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph two of this subdivision for any month to which an addition applies under both paragraphs one and two. In any case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the amount of the addition under such paragraph (1) shall not be reduced below the amount provided in such subparagraph.

(B) With respect to any return, the maximum amount of the addition permitted under paragraph three of this subdivision shall be reduced by the amount of the addition under paragraph (1) of this subdivision (determined without regard to subparagraph (B) of such paragraph (1)) which is attributable to the tax for which the notice and demand is made and which is not paid within ten days of such notice and demand.

(c) Underpayment due to negligence. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this chapter or any rules or regulations hereunder (but without intent to defraud), there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to five percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the amount determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to the negligence or intentional disregard referred to in such paragraph (1), for the period beginning on the last date prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(d) Underpayment due to fraud. (1) If any part of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, there shall be added to the tax a penalty equal to fifty percent of the underpayment.

(2) There shall be added to the tax (in addition to the penalty determined under paragraph (1) of this subdivision) an amount equal to fifty percent of the interest payable under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the portion of the underpayment described in such paragraph (1) which is attributable to fraud, for the period beginning on the last day prescribed by law for payment of such underpayment (determined without regard to any extension) and ending on the date of the assessment of the tax (or, if earlier, the date of the payment of the tax).

(3) The penalty under this subdivision shall be in lieu of any other addition to tax imposed by subdivision (b) or (c) of this section.

(e) Additional penalty. Any person who, with fraudulent intent, shall fail to pay any tax imposed by this chapter, or to make, render, sign or certify any return, or to supply any information within the time required by or under this chapter, shall be liable for a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, in addition to any other amounts required under this chapter to be imposed, assessed and collected by the commissioner of finance. The commissioner of finance shall have the power, in his or her discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty under this subdivision.

(f) The interest and penalties imposed by this section shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid interest and penalties may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

(g) (1) Authority to set interest rates. The commissioner of finance shall set the rate of interest to be paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, but if no such rate of interest is set, such rate shall be deemed to be set at six percent per annum. Such rate shall be the rate prescribed in paragraph two of this subdivision but shall not be less than six percent per annum. Any such rate set by the commissioner of finance shall apply to taxes, or any portion thereof, which remain or become due on or after the date on which such rate becomes effective and shall apply only with respect to interest computed or computable for periods or portions of periods occurring in the period in which such rate is in effect.

(2) General rule. The rate of interest set under this subdivision shall be the sum of (i) the federal short-term rate as provided under paragraph three of this subdivision, plus (ii) five percentage points.

(3) Federal short-term rate. For purposes of this subdivision:

(A) The federal short-term rate for any month shall be the federal short-term rate determined by the United States secretary of the treasury during such month in accordance with subsection (d) of section twelve hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code for use in connection with section six thousand six hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code. Any such rate shall be rounded to the nearest full percent (or, if a multiple of one-half of one percent, such rate shall be increased to the next highest full percent).

(B) Period during which rate applies.

(i) In general. Except as provided in clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the federal short-term rate for the first month in each calendar quarter shall apply during the first calendar quarter beginning after such month.

(ii) Special rule for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. The federal short-term rate for the month of April, nineteen hundred eighty-nine shall apply with respect to setting the rate of interest for the month of September, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(4) Publication of interest rate. The commissioner of finance shall cause to be published in the city record, and give other appropriate general notice of, the interest rate to be set under this subdivision no later than twenty days preceding the first day of the calendar quarter during which such interest rate applies. The setting and publication of such interest rate shall not be included within paragraph (a) of subdivision five of section one thousand forty-one of the city charter relating to the definition of a rule.

(h) Miscellaneous. (1) The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

§ 11-1516 Returns to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal or any officer or employee of the city to divulge or make known in any manner any information relating to the business of a taxpayer contained in any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence so much of said returns or of facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or the taxpayer's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with his or her tax nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city, or by the district attorney of any county within the city, of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter may be instituted. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

b. (1) Any officer or employee of the city who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision a of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office or employment in the city for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see chapter forty of this title.

c. This section shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of paragraph (a) of subdivision two of section eighty-seven of the public officers law.

d. Notwithstanding anything in subdivision a of this section to the contrary, if a taxpayer has petitioned the tax appeals tribunal for administrative review as provided in section one hundred seventy of the charter, the commissioner of finance shall be authorized to present to the tribunal any report or return of such taxpayer, or any information contained therein or relating thereto, which may be material or relevant to the proceeding before the tribunal. The tax appeals tribunal shall be authorized to publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one of the charter.

§ 11-1517 Notices and limitations of time.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by such person, or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing or such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a wilfully false or fradulent*31 return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

d. If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this chapter is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of finance, the tax appeals tribunal, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed, and the date of registration shall be deemed the postmark date. The commissioner of finance and, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal are authorized to provide by regulation the extent to which the provisions of the preceding sentence with respect to prima facie evidence of delivery and the postmark date shall apply to certified mail. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States postal service only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of finance or, where relevant, the tax appeals tribunal.

e. When the last day prescribed under authority of this chapter (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in the state, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

When used in this chapter, the following terms shall mean and include:

1. "Person." An individual, partnership, society, association, joint-stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise and any combination of individuals or of the foregoing.

2. "Container." Any article, thing or contrivance made in whole or in part of rigid or semi-rigid plastic, including, but not limited to, barrels, baskets, bottles, boxes, cartons, carrying cases, crates, cups, cylinders, drums, jars, jugs, pails, pots, trays, tubs, tubes, tumblers, and vessels, intended for use in packing or packaging any product intended for sale:

(a) Metal containers and paperboard or fiber containers which have been impregnated, lined or coated with plastic or other materials shall be considered to be classified as metal containers and paperboard containers, respectively;

(b) Paperboard or fiber containers with fastenings, tops and/or bottoms made of plastic shall be classified as paperboard or fiber containers;

(c) Plastic caps that are easily, readily, usually, and customarily separated from the container before disposal shall not be considered part of the container.

3. "Recycled material." Component materials which have been derived from previously used material or from new or old scrap material.

4. "Taxable period." Such calendar period prescribed for filing returns by this chapter or by the commissioner of finance.

5. "Retail sale" or "sale at retail." A sale to any person for any purpose other than for resale as such or as a physical component part of tangible personal property.

6. "Sale." The sale or furnishing of a container by a seller or supplier to a retailer.

7. "Seller or supplier." Any person who sells containers to a retailer.

8. "Retailer." Any person who purchases containers (whether filled or unfilled) for the purpose of using them in connection with and as part of sales at retail or who receives them as containers of products intended for sale at retail.

9. "City." The city of New York.

10. "Commissioner of finance." The commissioner of finance of the city.

11. "Comptroller." The comptroller of the city.

A justice of the supreme court either in court or at chambers shall have power summarily to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers and documents called for by the subpoena of the commissioner of finance under this chapter.

c. Any person who shall refuse to testify or to produce books or records or who shall testify falsely in any material matter pending before the commissioner of finance under this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishment for which shall be a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

d. The officers who serve the summons or subpoena of the commissioner of finance and witnesses attending in response thereto shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed to officers and witnesses in civil cases in courts of record, except as herein otherwise provided. Such officers shall be the city sheriff and the city sheriff's duly appointed deputies or any officers or employees of the commissioner of finance, designated to serve such process.

§ 11-1608 Exemptions.

1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or Canada) or political subdivisions where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(b) The United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities insofar as it is immune from taxation where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(c) The United Nations or other international organizations of which the United States of America is a member; and

(d) Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

2. The following containers shall be exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter: a. Containers sold or furnished containing products intended for use in manufacturing processes and not for final retail sale.

b. Containers used as receptacles for food, food products, beverages, dietary foods and health supplements, sold for human consumption but not including: (i) candy and confectionery, (ii) fruit drinks which contain less than seventy percent of natural fruit juice, (iii) soft drinks, sodas and beverages such as are ordinarily dispensed at soda fountains or in connection therewith (other than coffee, tea and cocoa) and (iv) beer, wine or other alcoholic beverages.

CHAPTER 16 TAX ON CONTAINERS

§ 11-1609 Returns.

1. Every seller or supplier shall file with the commissioner of finance a return of containers sold and of the taxes due and payable thereon for the period from July first, nineteen hundred seventy-one until the last day of September, nineteen hundred seventy-one and thereafter for each of the four-monthly periods ending on the last day of January, May and September of each year.

2. Every retailer shall file with the commissioner of finance a return of containers purchased by such retailer from sellers or suppliers having no situs within the city and of the taxes due thereon for the same periods provided in subdivision one of this section.

3. The returns shall be filed within twenty days after the end of the periods covered thereby. The commissioner of finance may permit or require returns to be made for other periods and upon such dates as the commissioner may specify. If the commissioner of finance deems it necessary in order to insure the payment of the tax imposed by this chapter, the commissioner may require returns to be made for shorter periods than those prescribed pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this subdivision and upon such dates as he or she may specify.

4. The forms of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner of finance and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this chapter. The commissioner of finance may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

5. If a return required by this chapter is not filed or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient on its face the commissioner of finance shall take the necessary steps to enforce the filing of such a return or a corrected return.

CHAPTER 16 TAX ON CONTAINERS

§ 11-1610 Determination of tax.

If a return required by this chapter is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of finance from such information as may be obtainable and, if necessary, the tax may be estimated on the basis of external indices, such as volume of sales, inventories, purchases of containers, or of raw materials, production figures, and/or other factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the collection and/or payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within thirty days after giving notice of such determination, shall apply to the commissioner of finance for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. After such hearing the commissioner of finance shall give notice of his or her determination to the person against whom the tax is assessed. The determination of the commissioner of finance shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such determination. A proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless: (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (b) at the option of the applicant such undertaking filed with the commissioner of finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the applicant shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the application.

CHAPTER 16 TAX ON CONTAINERS

a. In the manner provided in this section the commissioner of finance shall refund or credit, without interest, any tax, penalty or interest erroneously, illegally or unconstitionally*32 collected or paid if application to the commissioner of finance for such refund shall be made within one year from the payment thereof. Whenever a refund is made by the commissioner of finance, the commissioner shall state his or her reasons therefor in writing. Such application may be made by the seller or supplier or the retailer or other person who has actually paid the tax. The commissioner of finance may, in lieu of any refund required to be made, allow credit therefor on payments due from the applicant.

b. An application for a refund or credit made as herein provided shall be deemed an application for revision of any tax, penalty or interest complained of. If the commissioner of finance, prior to any hearing held, initially denies the application for refund, the commissioner shall give notice of such determination of denial to the applicant. Such determination shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant, within thirty days after the giving of notice of such determination, shall apply to the commissioner of finance for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of finance of his or her own motion shall redetermine the same. After such hearing the commissioner of finance shall give notice of his or her determination to the applicant, who shall be entitled to review such determination by a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such determination, and provided that a final determination of tax was not previously made. Such a proceeding shall not be instituted unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner shall pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

c. A person shall not be entitled to a revision, refund or credit under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section 11-1610 of this chapter where such person has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself or herself of the remedies therein provided. No refund or credit shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of finance made pursuant to section 11-1609 of this chapter unless it be found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper, by the commissioner of finance after a hearing or of the commissioner's own motion, or in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of said section, in which event refund or credit without interest shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

Whenever any seller or supplier or retailer or other person shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this chapter as therein provided, the corporation counsel shall, upon the request of the commissioner of finance bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the city of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States. If, however, the commissioner of finance in his or her discretion believes that any such seller or supplier or retailer or other person is about to cease business, leave the state or remove or dissipate the assets out of which the tax, penalties or interest might be satisfied, and that any such tax, penalty or interest will not be paid when due, the commissioner of finance may declare such tax, penalty or interest to be immediately due and payable and may issue a warrant immediately.

b. As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of finance may issue a warrant, directed to the city sheriff commanding the city sheriff to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the seller or supplier or retailer or other person liable for the tax, which may be found within the city, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalties and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of finance and to pay to the commissioner of finance the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The city sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalties and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant to docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. The city sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant, in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record, and for services in executing the warrant the city sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees, which he or she may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the department of finance, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. If a warrant is returned not satisfied in full, the commissioner of finance may from time to time issue new warrants and shall also have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the city had recovered judgment therefor and execution thereon had been returned unsatisfied.

c. Whenever a seller or supplier or the retailer shall make a sale, transfer, or assignment in bulk of any part of the whole of his or her fixtures, or of his or her stock of merchandise, or of stock or merchandise and of fixtures pertaining to the conduct or operation of business of the seller or supplier or the retailer, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and regular prosecution of business, the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall at least ten days before taking possession of the subject of said sale, transfer or assignment, or paying therefor, notify the commissioner of finance by registered mail of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof whether or not the seller, transferor or assignor, has represented to, or informed the purchaser, transferee or assignee that it owes any tax pursuant to this chapter, and whether or not the purchaser, transferee or assignee has knowledge that such taxes are owing, and whether any such taxes are in fact owing.

Whenever the purchaser, transferee or assignee shall fail to give notice to the commissioner of finance as required by the proceeding paragraph, or whenever the commissioner of finance shall inform the purchaser, transferee or assignee that a possible claim for such tax or taxes exists, any sums of money, property or choses in action, or other consideration, which the purchaser, transferee or assignee is required to transfer over to the seller, transferor or assignor shall be subject to a first priority right and lien for any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due from the seller, transferor or assignor to the city, and the purchaser, transferee or assignee is forbidden to transfer to the seller, transferor or assignor any such sums of money, property or choses in action to the extent of the amount of the city's claim. For failure to comply with the provisions of this subdivision, the purchaser, transferee or assignee, in addition to being subject to the liabilities and remedies imposed under the provisions of article six of the uniform commercial code, shall be personally liable for the payment to the city of any such taxes theretofore or thereafter determined to be due to the city from the seller, transferor or assignor, and such liability may be assessed and enforced in the same manner as the liability for tax under this chapter.

d. The commissioner of finance, if he or she finds that the interests of the city will not thereby be jeopardized, and upon such conditions as the commissioner of finance may require, may release any property from the lien of any warrant or vacate such warrant for unpaid taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest filed pursuant to subdivision b of this section, and such release or vacating of the warrant may be recorded in the office of any recording officer in which such warrant has been filed. The clerk shall thereupon cancel and discharge as of the original date of docketing the vacated warrant.

a. Any person failing to file a return or to pay any tax to the commissioner of finance within the time required by this chapter shall be subject to a penalty of five percent of the amount of tax due; plus interest at the rate of one percent of such tax for each month of delay excepting the first month after such return was required to be filed or such tax became due; but the commissioner of finance if satisfied that the delay was excusable, may remit all or any part of such penalty, but not interest at the rate of six percent per year. Such penalties and interest shall be paid and disposed of in the same manner as other revenues from this chapter. Unpaid penalties and interest may be enforced in the same manner as the tax imposed by this chapter.

b. Any seller or supplier or any retailer or any officer of a corporate seller or supplier or retailer, failing to file a return as required by this chapter, or filing or causing to be filed or making or causing to be made or given or causing to be given any return, certificate, affidavit, representation, information, testimony or statement required or authorized by this chapter which is willfully false, and any seller or supplier or any retailer or any officer of a corporate seller or supplier or retailer failing to keep the records required by subdivision six of section 11-1602 of this chapter, shall, in addition to the penalties herein or elsewhere prescribed, be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishment for which shall be a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment. It shall not be any defense to a prosecution under this subdivision that the failure to file a return or that the actions or failures to act mentioned in this subdivision was unintentional or not willful.

c. The certificate of the commissioner of finance to the effect that a tax has not been paid, that a return has not been filed, or that information has not been supplied pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall be presumptive evidence thereof.

§ 11-1616 Return to be secret.

a. Except in accordance with proper judicial order, or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of finance, any officer or employee of the department of finance, any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis or any person who, pursuant to this section is permitted to inspect any return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner any information contained in or relating to any return required under this chapter. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of finance in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in either of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or such taxpayer's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such taxpayer's tax; nor to prohibit the delivery of such a certified copy of such return or of any information contained in or relating thereto, the United States of America or any department thereof, to the state of New York or any department thereof, or to any agency or department of the city of New York, provided the same is requested for official business; nor to prohibit the inspection for official business of such returns by the corporation counsel or other legal representatives of the city or by the district attorney of any county within the city; nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of finance permits them to be destroyed.

b. Any violation of subdivision a of this section shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court, and if the offender be an officer or employee of the city he or she shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office for a period of five years thereafter.

a. Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this chapter may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by such person pursuant to the provisions of this chapter or in any application made by such person or, if no return has been filed or application made, then to such address as may be obtainable. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this chapter by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

b. The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the city to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this chapter. However, except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

c. Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for assessment of an additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL*17

§ 11-1701 Imposition of tax.

General. A tax is hereby imposed on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust determined in accordance with the rates set forth in subdivision (a) of this section for taxable years beginning before two thousand twelve, and in accordance with the rates set forth in subdivision (b) of this section for taxable years beginning after two thousand eleven. Provided, however, that if, for any taxable year beginning after two thousand eleven, the rates set forth in such subdivision (b) are rendered inapplicable and the rates set forth in such subdivision (a) are rendered applicable, then the tax for such taxable year shall be at the rates provided under subparagraph (A) of paragraphs one, two and three of such subdivision (a).

Notwithstanding the foregoing sentences, for taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six, a tax is hereby imposed on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust determined in accordance with the rates set forth in subdivision (g) of this section and in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (h) of this section. During any taxable year beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six, in which the tax imposed pursuant to this section is determined in accordance with subdivisions (g) and (h) of this section, the rates set forth in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section shall be inapplicable, and the tax imposed pursuant to section 11-1704.1 of this chapter shall be suspended.

(a) Rate of tax. A tax imposed pursuant to this section shall be determined as follows:

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 and on the city taxable income of every city resident surviving spouse shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning in two thousand one and two thousand two and for taxable years beginning after two thousand five and before two thousand twelve:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning in two thousand:

For taxable years beginning after two thousand eleven:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(c) Partners and partnerships. A partnership as such shall not be subject to tax under this chapter. Persons carrying on business as partners shall be liable for tax under this chapter only in their separate or individual capacities. As used in this chapter, the term "partnership" shall include, unless a different meaning is clearly required, a subchapter K limited liability company. The term "subchapter K limited liability company" shall mean a limited liability company classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The term "limited liability company" means a domestic limited liability company or a foreign limited liability company, as defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law, a limited liability investment company formed pursuant to section five hundred seven of the banking law, or a limited liability company formed pursuant to section one hundred two-a of the banking law.

(d) Associations taxable as corporations. An association, trust or other unincorporated organization which is taxable as a corporation for federal income tax purposes shall not be subject to tax under this chapter.

(e) Exempt trusts and organizations. A trust or other unincorporated organization which by reason of its purposes or activities is exempt from federal income tax shall be exempt from tax under this chapter (regardless of whether subject to federal and state income tax on unrelated business taxable income).

(f) Cross references. For definitions of city taxable income of:

(1) City resident individual, see section 11-1711.

(2) City resident estate or trust, see section 11-1718.

(g) Rate of tax. For taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six, the tax imposed pursuant to this section shall be determined as follows:

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 of this title and on the city taxable income of every city resident surviving spouse shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning in two thousand five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning in two thousand four:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(C) For taxable years beginning in two thousand three:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(2) Resident heads of households. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident head of a household shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning in two thousand five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning in two thousand four:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(C) For taxable years beginning in two thousand three:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(3) Resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident individual who is not a married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 of this title or a city resident head of household or a city resident surviving spouse, and on the city taxable income of every city resident estate and trust shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning in two thousand five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning in two thousand four:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(C) For taxable years beginning in two thousand three:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(h) Tax table benefit recapture. For taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six, there is hereby imposed a supplemental tax, in addition to the tax imposed under the opening paragraph of this section, for the purpose of recapturing the benefit of the tax tables contained in subdivision (g) of this section. The supplemental tax shall be an amount equal to the sum of the tax table benefits in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision multiplied by their respective fractions in such paragraphs provided, however, that paragraph one of this subdivision shall not apply to taxpayers who are not subject to the second highest rate of tax.

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns, surviving spouses, resident heads of households, resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. (A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in subdivision (g) of this section not subject to the second highest rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the second highest dollar denominated tax for such amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in subdivision (g) of this section.

(B) The fraction is computed as follows: the numerator is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of New York adjusted gross income for the taxable year over one hundred fifty thousand dollars and the denominator is fifty thousand dollars.

(C) This paragraph shall only apply to taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six.

(2) Resident married individuals filing joint returns, surviving spouses, resident heads of households, resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. (A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in subdivision (g) of this section not subject to the highest rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the highest dollar denominated tax for such amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in subdivision (g) of this section less the sum of the tax table benefits in paragraph one of this subdivision.

(B) For such taxpayers with adjusted gross income over five hundred thousand dollars, the fraction is one. Provided, however, that the total tax prior to the application of any tax credits shall not exceed the highest rate of tax set forth in the tax table in subdivision (g) of this section multiplied by the taxpayer's taxable income.

(C) This paragraph shall only apply to taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six.

Ch. 333/1987 provisions:

§ 174. If any provision of any section of this act or the application thereof shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, such order or judgment shall be confined in its operation to the provision thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered and shall not affect or invalidate the remainder of any provision of any section of this act or the application of any part thereof to any other person, entity or circumstance and to this end the provisions of each section of this act are hereby declared to be severable.

§ 175. Notwithstanding the provisions of any local law imposing taxes pursuant to the authority of articles thirty, thirty-A or thirty-B of the tax law or article two-E of the general city law, no addition to tax imposed by such local law by reason of the applicability of subsection (c) of section six hundred eighty-five of the tax law or subdivision (e) of section 11-1785 of the administrative code of the city of New York shall be made for failure to pay estimated tax with respect to the portion of any underpayment created or increased by any provision of this act or of the Tax Reform and Reduction Act of 1987 for any period before April sixteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-eight.

§ 11-1704 Tax surcharge.

(a) In addition to the taxes imposed by sections 11-1701, 11-1702 and 11-1703, there is hereby imposed for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-ninety but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine, a tax surcharge on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust.

(b) The tax surcharge imposed pursuant to this section shall be determined as follows:

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses. The tax surcharge under this section on the city taxable income of every city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 and on the city taxable income of every city resident surviving spouse shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-nine and before nineteen hundred ninety-five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-four but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(2) Resident heads of households. The tax surcharge under this section on the city taxable income of every city resident head of household shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-nine and before nineteen hundred ninety-five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-four but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(3) Resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. The tax surcharge under this section on the city taxable income of every city resident individual who is not a city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 or a city resident head of household or a city resident surviving spouse, and on the city taxable income of every city resident estate and trust shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-nine and before nineteen hundred ninety-five:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-four but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(c) The tax surcharge imposed pursuant to this section shall be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner of taxation and finance in the same manner as the taxes imposed pursuant to sections 11-1701, 11-1702 and 11-1703, and all of the provisions of this chapter, including sections 11-1706, 11-1721 and 11-1773, shall apply to the tax surcharge imposed by this section.

(d) (1) Notwithstanding subdivision (b) of this section, with respect to taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-three, nineteen hundred ninety-four, nineteen hundred ninety-five and nineteen hundred ninety-six, the mayor shall, by August first of nineteen hundred ninety-two, nineteen hundred ninety-four and nineteen hundred ninety-five, and by September fifteenth of nineteen hundred ninety-three, transmit to the commissioner of taxation and finance a certification setting forth the percentage of non-achievement regarding the combined police uniformed staffing level with respect to the fiscal year of the city ending on the immediately preceding June thirtieth, provided, however, that for the city fiscal year ending in nineteen hundred ninety-three the percentage of non-achievement shall be determined by the combined police uniformed staffing level existing on August thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-three, and further provided for all such fiscal years that the percentage of non-achievement shall be calculated according to the procedure specified in a memorandum of understanding relating to the New York city safe streets-safe city program and to the enactment of this subdivision dated February eleventh, nineteen hundred ninety-one, as amended, and executed by the governor, the temporary president of the state senate, the speaker of the state assembly, the minority leader of the state senate, the minority leader of the state assembly, the mayor and the speaker of the city council, any any*1 modification of such memorandum of understanding subsequently agreed upon by all such signatories in a single subsequent memorandum of understanding. If such percentage of non-achievement is equal to or exceeds twenty-five percent with respect to the fiscal year of the city of New York ending in nineteen hundred ninety-two, twenty percent with respect to the city fiscal year ending in nineteen hundred ninety-three or five percent with respect to the city fiscal years ending in nineteen hundred ninety-four and nineteen hundred ninety-five, then the rates of the tax surcharge imposed by this section for taxable years beginning in the calendar year beginning on January first next succeeding such August first or September fifteenth shall be the products of the rates set forth in subdivision (b) of this section and a percentage equal to the difference between one hundred percent and such percentage of nonachievement, such products computed to the nearest hundredth of a percent, and the dollar denominated amounts of the tax surcharge set forth in subdivision(b) of this section shall be reduced conformably.

(2) Notwithstanding subdivision (b) of this section, with respect to the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-eight, the mayor shall, by August first of nineteen hundred ninety-seven, transmit to the state commissioner of taxation and finance a certification setting forth the percentage of non-achievement regarding the police uniformed staffing level with respect to the fiscal year ending on the immediately preceding June thirtieth, provided, however, that such percentage of non-achievement shall be calculated according to the procedure specified in a new memorandum of understanding relating to the enactment of this paragraph dated no later than thirty days after such enactment, as executed by the governor, the temporary president of the senate, the speaker of the assembly, the minority leader of the senate, the minority leader of the assembly, the mayor and the speaker of the city council and any modifications of such new memorandum of understanding subsequently agreed upon by all such signatories in a single subsequent memorandum of understanding. If such percentage of non-achievement exceeds two percent with respect to the fiscal year of the city ending in nineteen hundred ninety-seven, then the rates of the tax surcharge authorized by this section for the taxable years beginning in the calendar year beginning on January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight shall be the products of the rates set forth in subdivision (b) of this section and a percentage equal to the difference between one hundred percent and the portion of the percentage of non-achievement that is in excess of two percent, such products computed to the nearest hundredth of a percent, and the dollar denominated amounts of the tax surcharge set forth in subdivision (b) of this section shall be reduced conformably.

(3) If the rates of the surcharge imposed by this section are modified pursuant to paragraph one or paragraph two of this subdivision, the state commissioner of taxation and finance shall promulgate regulations stating the modified rates.

(e) Notwithstanding anything in this section or section 11-1798 of this chapter to the contrary, of the total revenue (including interest and penalties) from the tax surcharge imposed by this section which the state comptroller is required to pay, after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-two, to the chief fiscal officer of the city for payment into the treasury of the city, one hundred ten million dollars thereof paid to the chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two, two hundred million dollars thereof paid to the chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing July first nineteen hundred ninety-three, one hundred sixty-seven million dollars thereof paid to the chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, and one hundred eighty-five million dollars thereof paid to the chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, shall be credited to and deposited in the criminal justice account established within the general fund of the city for the implementation of the Safe Streets-Safe City program. The balance of such revenue shall be credited to the general fund of the city and shall be applied exclusively to or in aid or support of the city's provision of criminal justice and fire protection services.

(f) Notwithstanding anything in this article to the contrary, of the total revenue (including interest and penalties) from the tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this section which the state comptroller is required to pay to the chief fiscal officer of the city for payment into the treasury of the city, ninety million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing during calendar year nineteen hundred ninety-six, and one hundred eighty-five million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of the city commencing during calendar year nineteen hundred ninety-seven, shall be credited to and deposited in a criminal justice account established by the city within its general fund. The balance of such revenue from such tax surcharge which the state comptroller is required to pay to such chief fiscal officer for payment into the treasury of the city for the taxable years beginning in the calendar years beginning on January first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight shall be credited to the general fund of the city to be applied exclusively to or in aid or support of the city's provision of criminal justice and fire protection services; provided however, that, notwithstanding the foregoing, such balance shall be applied to implementation of the capital program for public schools within the city and a supplemental capital rehabilitation program for such schools, to the extent that such application is necessary for the timely implementation of such programs in accordance with the memorandum of understanding executed pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (d) of this section and any modifications thereto.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

§11-1704.1 Additional tax.

(a)(1) In addition to any other taxes imposed by this chapter, there is hereby imposed for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety but before two thousand twelve, an additional tax on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust, to be calculated for each taxable year as follows: (i) for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine, at the rate of fourteen percent of the sum of the taxes for each such taxable year determined pursuant to section 11-1701 and section 11-1704 of this chapter; and (ii) for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-eight, at the rate of fourteen percent of the tax for such taxable year determined pursuant to such section 11-1701.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph one of this subdivision, for each taxable year beginning after two thousand but before two thousand two, the additional tax shall be calculated as follows:

(i) Resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses. The additional tax under this section for each taxable year on the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 of every city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 and on the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 of every city resident surviving spouse shall be determined as follows: (A) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income equal to or less than $90,000, then the additional tax shall be 5.25% of such tax;

(B) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income over $90,000, then the additional tax shall be the sum of 5.25% of such tax on city taxable income up to and including $90,000 and 12.25% of such tax on city taxable income in excess of $90,000.

(ii) Resident heads of households. The additional tax under this section for each taxable year on the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 of every city resident head of a household shall be determined as follows: (A) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income equal to or less than $60,000, then the additional tax shall be 5.25% of such tax;

(B) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income over $60,000, then the additional tax shall be the sum of 5.25% of such tax on city taxable income up to and including $60,000 and 12.25% of such tax on city taxable income in excess of $60,000.

(iii) Resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. The additional tax under this section for each taxable year on the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 of every city resident individual who is not a married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 or a city resident head of a household or a city resident surviving spouse, and on the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 of every city resident estate and trust shall be determined as follows:

(A) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income equal to or less than $50,000, then the additional tax shall be 5.25% of such tax;

(B) If the tax determined pursuant to section 11-1701 is based on city taxable income over $50,000, then the additional tax shall be the sum of 5.25% of such tax on city taxable income up to and including $50,000 and 12.25% of such tax on city taxable income in excess of $50,000.

(b) The additional tax imposed pursuant to this section shall be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner of taxation and finance in the same manner as the other taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter, and all of the provisions of this chapter, including sections 11-1706, 11-1721 and 11-1773, shall apply to the additional tax imposed by this section.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 1 GENERAL*17

§ 11-1705 General provisions and definitions.

(a) Accounting periods and methods. (1) Accounting periods. A taxpayer's taxable year under this chapter shall be the same as his taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(2) Change of accounting periods. If a taxpayer's taxable year is changed for federal income tax purposes, his taxable year for purposes of this chapter shall be similarly changed. If a taxable year of less than twelve months results from a change of a taxable year, the city standard deduction and the city exemptions shall be prorated under regulations of the tax commission.

(3) Accounting methods. A taxpayer's method of accounting under this chapter shall be the same as his method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. In the absence of any method of accounting for federal income tax purposes, city taxable income shall be computed under such method as in the opinion of the tax commission clearly reflects income.

(4) Change of accounting methods. (A) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, his method of accounting for purposes of this chapter shall be similarly changed.

(B) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed, other than from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax which results from adjustments determined to be necessary solely by reason of the change shall not be greater than if such adjustments were ratably allocated and included for the taxable year of the change and the preceding taxable years, not in excess of two, during which the taxpayer used the method of accounting from which the change is made.

(C) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax for the year of such change of method and for any subsequent year which is attributable to the receipt of installment payments properly accrued in a prior year, shall be reduced by the portion of tax for any prior taxable year attributable to the accrual of such installment payments, in accordance with regulations of the tax commission.

(b) City resident and city nonresident defined. (1) City resident individual. A city resident individual means an individual:

(A) who is domiciled in this city, unless (i) the taxpayer maintains no permanent place of abode in this city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in this city, or (ii) (I) within any period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer is present in a foreign country or countries for at least four hundred fifty days, and (II) during the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer, the taxpayer's spouse (unless the spouse is legally separated) and the taxpayer's minor children are not present in this city for more than ninety days, and (III) during any period of less than twelve months, which would be treated as a separate taxable period pursuant to section 11-1754, and which period is contained within the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days, the taxpayer is present in this city for a number of days which does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to ninety as the number of days contained in that period of less than twelve months bears to five hundred forty-eight, or

(B) who is not domiciled in this city but maintains a permanent place of abode in this city and spends in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days of the taxable year in this city, unless such individual is in active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(2) City nonresident individual. A city nonresident individual means an individual who is not a city resident.

(3) City resident estate or trust. A city resident estate or trust means:

(A) the estate of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in this city,

(B) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of property transferred by will of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in this city, or

(C) a trust, or portion of a trust, consisting of the property of:

(i) a person domiciled in this city at the time such property was transferred to the trust, if such trust or portion of a trust was then irrevocable, or if it was then revocable and has not subsequently become irrevocable; or

(ii) a person domiciled in this city at the time such trust, or portion of a trust, became irrevocable, if it was revocable when such property was transferred to the trust but has subsequently become irrevocable.

For the purposes of the foregoing, a trust or portion of a trust is revocable if it is subject to a power, exercisable immediately or at any future time, to revest title in the person whose property constitutes such trust or portion of a trust, and a trust or portion of a trust becomes irrevocable when the possibility that such power may be exercised has been terminated.

(4) City nonresident estate or trust. A city nonresident estate or trust means an estate or trust which is not a city resident estate or trust.

(5) Cross reference. For effect of a change of resident status, see section 11-1754.

(D) (i) Provided, however, a resident trust is not subject to tax under this article if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(I) all the trustees are domiciled outside the city of New York;

(II) the entire corpus of the trusts, including real and tangible property, is located outside the city of New York; and

(III) all income and gains of the trust are derived from or connected with sources outside of the city of New York, determined as if the trust were a non-resident trust.

(ii) For purposes of item (II) of clause (i) of this subparagraph, intangible property shall be located in this city if one or more of the trustees are domiciled in the city of New York.

(iii) Provided further, that for the purposes of item (I) of clause (i) of this subparagraph, a trustee which is a banking corporation as defined in subdivision (a) of section 11-640 of this title and which is domiciled outside the city of New York at the time it becomes a trustee of the trust shall be deemed to continue to be a trustee domiciled outside the city of New York notwithstanding that it thereafter otherwise becomes a trustee domiciled in the city of New York by virtue of being acquired by, or becoming an office or branch of, a corporate trustee domiciled within the city of New York.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

§ 11-1706 Credits against tax.

(a) Credit relating to net capital gain. For taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-seven, a credit against the tax imposed under section 11-1701 shall be allowed. The amount of the credit shall be one-half of one percent of net capital gain includible in city adjusted gross income for the taxable year. The credit allowed by this subdivision shall not exceed the tax imposed by section 11-1701 reduced by the credits permitted under section 11-1721 and subdivision (b) of this section.

(b) Household credit. (1) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six, a credit against the city personal income tax imposed by section 11-1701 shall be allowed. The credit, computed as described in paragraph two of this subdivision, shall not exceed the tax imposed by section 11-1701, reduced by the credit permitted under section 11-1721.

(2) (A) For any individual who is not married nor the head of a household nor a surviving spouse, the amount of the credit shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(B) For any husband and wife, head of household or surviving spouse, the amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the number of exemptions for which the taxpayer (or in the case of a husband and wife, taxpayers) is entitled to a deduction for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes under subsections (b) and (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code by the credit factor for the taxable year as specified in the following table:

[See tabular material in printed version]

(3) For purposes of this subsection:

(A) "Household gross income" shall mean the aggregate federal adjusted gross income of a household, as the term household is defined in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, for the taxable year.

(B) "Household" means a husband and wife, a head of household, a surviving spouse, or an individual who is not married nor the head of a household nor a surviving spouse nor a taxpayer with respect to whom a deduction under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code is allowable to another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(C) "Household gross income of a husband and wife" shall be the aggregate of their federal adjusted gross incomes for the taxable year irrespective of whether joint or separate city income tax returns are filed. Provided, however, that a husband or wife who is required to file a separate city income tax return shall be permitted one-half the credit otherwise allowed his or her household, except as limited by paragraph one of this subdivision.

(D) "Household gross income" shall be computed in all cases as if each member of the household were a resident for the entire taxable year.

(E) If a taxpayer changes his status during his taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, the household credit shall be prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence. In the case of a husband and wife, if either or both changes his or her status from resident to nonresident or from nonresident to resident and separate returns are filed, the credit computed for the entire year shall be divided first as provided in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph and then prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence.

(c)* State48 school tax reduction credit. (1) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-seven, a state school tax reduction credit shall be allowed as provided in the following tables. The credit shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this article reduced by the credits permitted by this article. If the credit exceeds the tax as so reduced, the taxpayer may receive, and the comptroller, subject to a certificate of the commissioner, shall pay as an overpayment, without interest, the amount of such excess. For purposes of this subdivision, no credit shall be granted to an individual with respect to whom a deduction under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code is allowable to another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(2) The amount of the credit under this paragraph shall be determined based upon the taxpayer's income as defined in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law. For purposes of this paragraph, any taxpayer under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph with income of more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars shall not receive a credit.

Beginning in the two thousand ten tax year and each tax year thereafter, the "more than two hundred fifty thousand dollar" income limitation shall be adjusted by applying the inflation factor set forth herein, and rounding each result to the nearest multiple of one hundred dollars. The department shall establish the income limitation to be associated with each subsequent tax year by applying the inflation factor set forth herein to the figures that define the income limitation that were applicable to the preceding tax year, as determined pursuant to this subdivision, and rounding each result to the nearest multiple of one hundred dollars. Such determination shall be made no later than March first, two thousand ten and each year thereafter.

For purposes of this paragraph, the "inflation factor" shall be determined in accordance with the provisions set forth in subdivision fifteen of section one hundred seventy-eight of the tax law.

(A) Married individuals filing joint returns and surviving spouses. In the case of a husband and wife who make a single return jointly and of a surviving spouse:

For taxable years beginning:	The credit shall be:
in 2001-2005	$125
in 2006	$230
in 2007-2008	$290
in 2009 and after	$125

(B) All others. In the case of an unmarried individual, a head of a household or a married individual filing a separate return:

For taxable years beginning:	The credit shall be:
in 2001-2005	$ 62.50
in 2006	$115
in 2007-2008	$145
in 2009 and after	$ 62.50

(3) Reserved.

(4) Husband and wife who make a joint return. If a husband and wife make a single return jointly, the credit under this subdivision shall be determined under paragraph two of this subdivision, if either of them has attained the age of sixty-five on or before the close of the taxable year.

(5) Part-year residents. If a taxpayer changes status during the taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, the state school tax reduction credit shall be prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence.

(c)* Credit49 for unincorporated business taxes paid. (1) A city resident individual, estate or trust whose city adjusted gross income includes income, gain, loss or deductions from one or more unincorporated businesses conducted by such city resident individual, estate or trust that are subject to the tax imposed by chapter five of this title, or a distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, or guaranteed payments from, one or more partnerships that are subject to the tax imposed by such chapter, shall be allowed a credit as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision against the tax otherwise due under sections 11-1701, 11-1703, 11-1704 and 11-1704.1 of this chapter.

(2) (A) Subject to the limitation set forth in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, the credit allowed to a taxpayer for a taxable year under this subdivision shall be determined as follows:

(i) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven:

(I) If the city taxable income is forty-two thousand dollars or less, the credit shall be sixty-five percent of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subdivision.

(II) If the city taxable income is greater than forty-two thousand dollars but not greater than one hundred forty-two thousand dollars, the amount of the credit shall be a percentage of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subdivision, such percentage to be determined by subtracting from sixty-five percent, one-tenth of a percentage point (.001) for every increment of two hundred dollars, or fractional part thereof, of city taxable income in excess of forty-two thousand dollars.

(III) If the city taxable income is greater than one hundred forty-two thousand dollars, the credit shall be fifteen percent of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subdivision.

(B) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the credit allowed to a taxpayer for a taxable year under this subdivision shall not exceed the sum of the taxes that would otherwise be imposed by sections 11-1701, 11-1703, 11-1704 and 11-1704.1 of this chapter on such taxpayer for such taxable year after the allowance of any other credits allowed by this section or section 11-1721 of this chapter.

(3) Subject to the provisions of subparagraph (C) of this paragraph, the amount determined in this paragraph is the sum of:

(A) for each unincorporated business conducted by the taxpayer, the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending with the taxable year of the taxpayer and paid by the unincorporated business; and

(B) for each unincorporated business in which the taxpayer is a partner, the product of:

(i)*50 the sum of (I) the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner and paid by the unincorporated business and (II) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under subdivisions (j) and (m) of section 11-503 of this title for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner, but, in the case of any credit taken under subdivision (m) of such section, not including any amount of such credit that is or was treated as an overpayment of tax of such unincorporated business; and

(i)51 the sum of (I) the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner and paid by the unincorporated business and (II) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under subdivision (j) of section 11-503 of this title for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner; and

(ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the net total of the partner's distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business for such taxable year, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(C) For a taxpayer that changes its status from a city resident to a city nonresident or from a city nonresident to a city resident during the taxable year:

(i) the amount determined in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be, with respect to each unincorporated business conducted by the taxpayer, the tax imposed by chapter five of this title on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending with the taxable year of the taxpayer and paid by the unincorporated business, multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is that portion of the income, gain, loss and deductions of the unincorporated business included in the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for the portion of the taxable year during which the taxpayer was a city resident, and the denominator of which is the total, for such taxable year, of the income, gain, loss and deductions of the unincorporated business, and

(ii) the amount determined in clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be a fraction, the numerator of which is that portion of the taxpayer's net total distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and that portion of guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business included in the taxpayer's city adjusted gross income for the portion of the taxable year during which the taxpayer was a city resident, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business, for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(4) For purposes of subdivision (c) of section 11-1902 of this title, in determining the amount of tax that a nonresident would be required to pay if such nonresident were a resident of the city and subject to the tax on personal income of residents, the credit allowed by this subdivision shall be taken into account.

(d) Earned income tax credit. (1) For taxable years beginning after two thousand three, a credit against the city personal income tax shall be allowed, equal to five percent of the earned income credit allowed under section thirty-two of the internal revenue code for the same taxable year.

(2) In the case of a resident taxpayer, the credit provided by this subdivision shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this chapter for the taxable year reduced by the credits permitted by this chapter. If the credit exceeds the tax as so reduced, the taxpayer may receive, and the state comptroller, subject to a certificate of the commissioner of the state department of taxation and finance, shall pay as an overpayment, without interest, the amount of such excess.

(3) If a taxpayer changes his or her status during the taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the credit determined under this subdivision shall be limited to the amount determined by multiplying the amount of such credit by a fraction, the numerator of which is such taxpayer's city adjusted gross income, for the period of residence, and the denominator of which is such taxpayer's city adjusted gross income determined as if he or she were a city resident for the entire taxable year. City adjusted gross income shall be adjusted as provided in section 11-1754 of this chapter. The credit as so limited shall be applied as provided in paragraph two of this subdivision.

(4) Subject to the provisions of paragraph three of this subdivision, in the case of a husband and wife who file a joint return, but who are required to determine their city personal income taxes separately, the credit authorized pursuant to this subdivision may be applied against the tax of either or divided between them as they may elect. In the case of a husband and wife who are not required to file a federal return, the credit under this subsection shall be allowed only if such taxpayers file a joint city personal income tax return.

§ 11-1707 Meaning of terms.

(a) General. Any term used in this chapter shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, unless a different meaning is clearly required but such meaning shall be subject to the exceptions or modifications prescribed in this chapter or by statute. Any reference in this chapter to the laws of the United States shall mean the provisions of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six (unless a reference to the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four is clearly intended), and amendments thereto, and other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal income taxes, as the same may be or become effective at any time or from time to time for the taxable year, as included and quoted in the appendices (including any supplements and additions thereto) to this chapter. (Such quotation of the aforesaid laws of the United States is intended to make them a part of this chapter and to avoid constitutional uncertainties which might result if such laws were merely incorporated by reference. The quotation of a provision of the internal revenue code or of any other law of the United States in such appendices shall not necessarily mean that it is applicable or has relevance to this chapter).

(b) Marital or other status. An individual's marital or other status under section 11-1701 and section 11-1714 shall be the same as his marital or other status for purposes of establishing the applicable federal income tax rates.

(c) "City" and "this city" as used in this chapter means the city of New York; "tax commission" as used in this chapter means the tax commission of the state of New York; and "state" or "this state" as used in this chapter means the state of New York.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 2 RESIDENTS*4

§ 11-1712 City adjusted gross income of a city resident individual.

(a) General. The city adjusted gross income of a city resident individual means his or her federal adjusted gross income as defined in the laws of the United States for the taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section.

(b) Modifications increasing federal adjusted gross income. There shall be added to federal adjusted gross income: (1) Interest income on obligations of any state other than this state, or of a political subdivision of any other such state unless created by compact or agreement to which this state is a party, to the extent not properly includible in federal adjusted gross income;

(2) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States, which the laws of the United States exempt from federal income tax but not from state income taxes;

(3) Income taxes. (A) General. Income taxes imposed by this state or any other taxing jurisdiciton, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and not credited against federal income tax.

(B) Shareholders of S corporations. In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation, with respect to taxes imposed upon or payable by the corporation, the term "income taxes" in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall also include the taxes imposed under articles nine-A and thirty-two of the tax law, regardless of the measure of such tax, but shall not otherwise include taxes imposed by this or any other state of the United States, or any political subdivision of this or any other state, or the District of Columbia.

(4) Interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is exempt from tax under this chapter, to the extent deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income.

(5) Expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for: (i) the production or collection of income which is exempt from tax under this chapter, or (ii) the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income, and the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is exempt from tax under this chapter, to the extent that such expenses and premiums are deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income.

(6) In the case of a taxpayer who has exercised the election permitted by subdivision (g) or (h) of this section, the amount or amounts required by said subdivisions to be added to federal adjusted gross income.

(7) In the case of a taxpayer who is a shareholder of a corporation organized under article fifteen or authorized to do business in this state under article fifteen-A of the business corporation law, for the taxpayer's taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred eighty-eight, the amount which is deductible by such corporation under paragraph one, two or three of subsection (a) of section four hundred four of the internal revenue code for its taxable year ending in or with such taxpayer's taxable year for contributions paid on behalf of such taxpayer minus the lesser of fifteen thousand dollars or fifteen percent of the earned income derived by such taxpayers from such corporation during such taxpayer's taxable year. In the case of a taxpayer on whose behalf contributions are paid under more than one plan to which this paragraph applies or under a plan, contributions to which on his behalf are subject to the limitations provided in section four hundred four (e) of the internal revenue code, this paragraph shall apply with respect to the aggregate of the contributions paid on his behalf under all such plans.

(8) Repealed.

(9) Repealed.

(10) The amount required to be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (i) of this section.

(11) Repealed.

(12) Reserved.

(13) Repealed.

(14) Repealed.

(15) The amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for the special additional mortgage recording taxes imposed by subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of the tax law in determining federal adjusted gross income for such taxable year.

(16) Unless the credit allowed pursuant to subsection (f) of section six hundred six of the tax law is reflected in the computation of the gain or loss so as to result in an increase in such gain or decrease in such loss, for federal income tax purposes, from the sale or other disposition of the property with respect to which the special additional mortgage recording tax imposed pursuant to subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of such law was paid, the amount of the special additional mortgage recording tax imposed by subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of such law which was paid and which is reflected in the computation of the basis of the property so as to result in a decrease in such gain or increase in such loss for federal income tax purposes from the sale or other disposition of the property with respect to which such tax was paid.

(17) The amount required to be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (r) of this section.

(18) In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation: (A) where the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law is in effect with respect to such corporation, an amount equal to his pro rata share of the corporation's reductions for taxes described in paragraphs two and three of subsection (f) of section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code, and

(B) in the case of a New York S termination year, subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall apply to the amount of reductions for taxes determined under subdivision (s) of this section.

(19) In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation: (A) where the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law has not been made with respect to such corporation, any item of loss or deduction of the corporation included in federal gross income pursuant to section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code, and

(B) in the case of a New York S termination year, subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall apply to the amounts of loss or deduction determined under subdivision (s) of this section.

(20) S corporation distributions to the extent not included in federal gross income for the taxable year because of the application of section thirteen hundred sixty-eight, subsection (e) of section thirteen hundred seventy-one or subsection (c) of section thirteen hundred seventy-nine of the internal revenue code which represent income not previously subject to tax under this chapter because the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law had not been made. Any such distribution treated in the manner described in paragraph two of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code for federal income tax purposes shall be treated as ordinary income for purposes of this chapter.

(21) In relation to the disposition of stock or indebtedness of a corporation which elected under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code for any taxable year of such corporation beginning, in the case of a corporation taxable under article nine-A of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, and in the case of a corporation taxable under article thirty-two of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, the amount required to be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (n) of this section.

(22) The amounts required to be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (q) of this section.

(23) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer claimed as a deduction in computing its federal adjusted gross income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four; subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, the amount allowable as a deduction determined under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code.

(24) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer would have been required to include in the computation of its federal adjusted gross income had it not made the election permitted pursuant to such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(25) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty first*,5 nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property

(26)6 The amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen or subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1, 13-125.1, 13-125.2 or 13-521.1 of title thirteen of the code or subdivision nineteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law.

26-a. The amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer for members of the Manhattan and Bronx surface transportation authority pension plan and treated as employer contributions in determining income tax treatment under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(27) Upon the disposition of property to which paragraph twenty-six of subdivision (c) of this section applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the modifications described in such paragraph twenty-six attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the modifications described in paragraph twenty-five of this subdivision attributable to such property.

(28) Repealed.

(29) When gain from the sale or other disposition of property is included in federal gross income, the amount of reduction in the basis of such property attributable to credit for solar and wind energy systems pursuant to paragraph nine of subsection (g) of section six hundred six of the tax law; but for taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred eighty-seven, if such gain affects the determination of a net capital gain for federal income tax purposes, forty percent of such amount.

(30) Repealed.

(31)*7 The amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law.

(32) The amount by which an employee's salary is reduced pursuant to the provisions of subdivision b of section 12-126.1 and subdivision b of section 12-126.2 of the code.

(33) Real property taxes paid on qualified agricultural property and deducted in determining federal adjusted gross income, to the extent of the amount of the agricultural property tax credit allowed under subsection (n) or (i) of section six hundred six of the tax law.

(34) The amount of any deduction allowed pursuant to section one hundred ninety-nine of the internal revenue code.

(35) The amount of any federal deduction for taxes imposed under article twenty-three of the tax law.

(c) Modifications reducing federal adjusted gross income. There shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income:

(1) Interest income on obligations of the United States and its possessions to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes; such interest income shall include the amount received as dividends from a regulated investment company, as defined in section eight hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code, which has been designated as the amount of such interest income in a written notice to shareholders not later than sixty days following the close of its taxable year; provided that, at the close of each quarter of the taxable year of such regulated investment company, at least fifty percent of the value of its total assets, as defined in subsection (c) of section eight hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code, consists of obligations of the United States and its possessions. The aggregate amount so designated by the regulated investment company for its taxable year shall not exceed the amount determined by multiplying the total distributions paid by such regulated investment company to its shareholders with respect to that taxable year (attributable to income earned in that year), including any such distributions paid after the close of the taxable year, as described in section eight hundred fifty-five of the internal revenue code, by the ratio that the interest income received in that taxable year on obligations of the United States and its possessions, after reduction for the deductions and expenses directly or indirectly attributable thereto, bears to the investment company taxable income of such regulated investment company for such taxable year, determined without regard to subparagraph (D) of paragraph two of subsection (b) of section eight hundred fifty-two of the internal revenue code;

(2) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities of any authority, commission or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States;

(3) (i) Pensions to officers and employees of this state, its subdivisions and agencies, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes;

(ii)*8 Pensions to officers and employees of the United States of America, any territory or possession or political subdivision of such territory or possession, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one of the foregoing, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes;

(3-a) Pensions and annuities received by an individual who has attained the age of fifty-nine and one-half, not otherwise excluded pursuant to paragraph three of this subdivision, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes, but not in excess of twenty thousand dollars, which are periodic payments attributable to personal services performed by such individual prior to his or her retirement from employment, which arise: (i) from an employer-employee relationship or (ii) from contributions to a retirement plan which are deductible for federal income tax purposes. However, the term "pensions and annuities" shall also include distributions received by an individual who has attained the age of fifty-nine and one-half from an individual retirement account or an individual retirement annuity, as defined in section four hundred eight of the internal revenue code, and distributions received by an individual who has attained the age of fifty-nine and one-half from self-employed individual and owner-employee retirement plans which qualify under section four hundred one of the internal revenue code, whether or not the payments are periodic in nature. Nevertheless, the term "pensions and annuities" shall not include any lump sum distribution, as defined in subparagraph (A) of paragraph four of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code and taxed under section six hundred three of the tax law. Where a husband and wife file a joint city personal income tax return, the modification provided for in this paragraph shall be computed as if they were filing separate city personal income tax returns. Where a payment would otherwise come within the meaning of the term "pensions and annuities" as set forth in this paragraph except that such individual is deceased, such payment shall, nevertheless, be treated as a pension or annuity for purposes of this paragraph if such payment is received by such individual's beneficiary.

(3-b) (i) Disability income included in federal gross income, to the extent that such disability income would have been excluded from federal gross income pursuant to the provisions of subsection (d) of section one hundred five of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four had such provisions continued in effect for taxable years commencing after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three as they were in effect immediately prior to the repeal of such subsection. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the sum of disability income excluded pursuant to this paragraph, and pension and annuity income excluded pursuant to paragraph three-a of this subdivision, shall not exceed twenty thousand dollars.

(ii) Notwithstanding subdivision (f) of this section, if a husband and wife determine their federal income tax on a joint return but are required to determine their city income taxes separately, the amounts of exclusion allowed under subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall be determined in the same joint manner as such amounts would have been determined under the provisions of paragraph five of subsection (d) of section one hundred five of the internal revenue code as such provisions were in effect immediately prior to the repeal of such subsection, but shall be attributed for city income tax purposes to the spouse who would have been required to report any such amount as income if the spouses had determined their federal income taxes separately.

(iii) Where a husband and wife file a joint city income tax return, the twenty thousand dollar limitation provided in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall be applied as if they were filing separate city income tax returns.

(3-c) Social security benefits to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes pursuant to section eighty-six of the internal revenue code.

(4) The portion of any gain, from the sale or other disposition of property having a higher adjusted basis for New York state income tax purposes than for federal income tax purposes on the last day of the last taxable year for which article sixteen of the tax law imposes tax, that does not exceed such difference in basis.

(5) The amount necessary to prevent the taxation under this chapter of any annuity or other amount of income or gain which was properly included in income or gain and was taxable under article sixteen of the tax law to the taxpayer, or to a decedent by reason of whose death the taxpayer acquired the right to receive the income or gain, or to a trust or estate from which the taxpayer received the income or gain;

(6) Interest or dividend income on obligations or securities to the extent exempt from income tax under the laws of this state authorizing the issuance of such obligations on securities but includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes; and

(7) The amount of any refund or credit for overpayment of income taxes imposed by this city, any other taxing jurisdiction, or any taxes imposed by article twenty-three of the tax law to the extent properly included in gross income for federal income tax purposes.

(8) Compensation received for active service in the armed forces of the United States on or after October first, nineteen hundred sixty-one, and prior to September first, nineteen hundred sixty-two; provided, however, that the amount of such compensation to be deducted shall not exceed one hundred dollars for each month of the taxable year, subsequent to September, nineteen hundred sixty-one, during any part of which month the taxpayer was engaged in such service. For the purposes of this paragraph, the words "active service in the armed forces of the United States" shall mean active duty (other than for training) in the army, navy (including the marine corps), air force or coast guard of the United States as defined in title ten of the United States Code.

(8-a) Compensation and bonuses received for active service in the armed forces of the United States while a prisoner of war or missing in action during the hostilities in Vietnam, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes.

(9) Interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, to the extent that such interest on indebtedness is not deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and is attributable to a trade or business carried on by the taxpayer.

(10) Ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for: (i) the production or collection of income which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, or (ii) the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income, and the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, to the extent that such expenses and premiums are not deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and are attributable to a trade or business carried on by the taxpayer.

(11) In the case of a taxpayer who has exercised the election permitted by subdivision (g) or (h) of this section, the amount or amounts required by said subdivisions to be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income.

(12) The amount necessary to prevent the taxation of amounts properly included in New York adjusted gross income in prior taxable years in accordance with paragraph seven of subdivision (b) of this section.

(13) The amount required to be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (i) of this section.

(14) The amount that may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (j) of this section.

(15) That portion of wages or salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year for which a deduction is not allowed pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-C of the internal revenue code.

(16) Repealed.

(17) Repealed.

(18) Repealed.

(19) The amount which may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (r) of this section.

(20) The amounts which may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (o) of this section.

(21) In relation to the disposition of stock or indebtedness of a corporation which elected under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code for any taxable year of such corporation beginning, in the case of a corporation taxable under article nine-A of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, and in the case of a corporation taxable under article thirty-two of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, the amounts required to be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (n) of this section.

(22) In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation: (A) where the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law has not been made with respect to such corporation, any item of income of the corporation included in federal gross income pursuant to section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code, and

(B) in the case of a New York S termination year, subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall apply to the amounts of income determined under subdivision (s) of this section.

(23) The amounts which may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to subdivision (p) of this section.

(24) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which is included in the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(25) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection

(f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer could have excluded from federal adjusted gross income had it not made the election provided for in such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(26) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, an amount with respect to property which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code equal to the amount allowable as the depreciation deduction under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to property placed in service on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty.

(27) Reserved.

(28) Upon the disposition of property to which paragraph twenty-six of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the modifications described in paragraph twenty-five of subdivision (b) of this section attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the modifications described in paragraph twenty-six of this subdivision attributable to such property.

(29) Deduction for two-earner married couples. (A) For the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-seven, in the case of a husband and wife who each have qualified earned income and who have filed a joint return under subdivision (b) of section 11-1751 for the taxable year, an amount equal to ten percent of the lesser of:

(i) thirty thousand dollars or

(ii) the qualified earned income of the spouse with the lower qualified earned income for such taxable year.

(B) For purposes of this paragraph, eligibility for the deduction provided for herein and the term qualified earned income shall be determined in the manner such eligibility and such qualified earned income would have been determined pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four had such provisions continued in effect for taxable years commencing after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-six as they were in effect immediately prior to the repeal of such section. Provided, however, the determination of such qualified earned income shall be made with regard only to the items therein included in city adjusted gross income, with such adjusted gross income determined without regard to this paragraph, and only with regard to the deductions and exclusions which are of the type properly allowable to or chargeable against such qualified earned income in such taxable year.

(30) The amount received by any person as an accelerated payment or payments of part or all of the death benefit or special surrender value under a life insurance policy as a result of any of the diagnoses specified in subparagraph (A) or (B) of paragraph one of subsection (a) of section one thousand one hundred thirteen of the insurance law, and the amount received by any person as a viatical settlement pursuant to the provisions of article seventy-eight of the insurance law, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes.

(31) Repealed.

(32) The portion of the fees paid during the taxable year by a taxpayer who is a resident of a continuing care retirement community, issued a certificate of authority pursuant to article forty-six of the public health law, attributable to the cost of providing long term care benefits pursuant to a continuing care contract. The portion of the fees so attributable shall be determined in accordance with regulations promulgated by the superintendent of insurance. The deduction may not exceed the limitation that would be applicable to the taxpayer for the taxable year, with respect to eligible long term care premiums, determined under paragraph (10) of subsection (d) of section 213 of the internal revenue code.

(33) Distributions, to the extent includible in adjusted gross income for federal income tax purposes, made to the taxpayer because of his or her status as a victim of Nazi persecution, as defined in P.L. 103-286, or as a spouse or a descendant in need of such victim.

(34) Items of income, to the extent includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes, attributable to, derived from or in any way related to assets stolen from, hidden from or otherwise lost to a victim of Nazi persecution, as defined in P.L. 103-286, immediately prior to, during and immediately after World War II, including, but not limited to interest on the proceeds receivable as insurance under policies issued to a victim of Nazi persecution, as defined in P.L. 103-286, by European insurance companies immediately prior to and during World War II. Provided, however, this subtraction from federal adjusted income does not apply to assets acquired with such assets or with the proceeds from the sale of such assets. Provided, further, this paragraph is only applicable to a taxpayer who was the first recipient of such assets after their recovery and who is a victim of Nazi persecution, as defined in P.L. 103-286, or a spouse or a descendant of such victim.

(35) Repealed.

(d) Modification for city fiduciary adjustment. There shall be added to or subtracted from federal adjusted gross income (as the case may be) the taxpayer's share, as beneficiary of an estate or trust, of the city fiduciary adjustment determined under section 11-1719.

(e) Modifications of partners and shareholders of S corporations. (1) Partners and shareholders of S corporations which are not New York C corporations. The amounts of modifications required to be made under this section by a partner or by a shareholder of an S corporation (other than an S corporation which is a New York C corporation), which relate to partnership or S corporation items of income, gain, loss or deduction shall be determined under section 11-1717 and, in the case of a partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as members of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, under section 11-1717.1 of this chapter.

(2) Shareholders of S corporations which are New York C corporations. In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation which is a New York C corporation, the modifications under this section which relate to the corporation's items of income, loss and deduction shall not apply, except for the modifications provided under paragraph nineteen of subdivision (b) and paragraph twenty-two of subdivision (c) of this section.

(3) New York S termination year. In the case of a New York S termination year, the amounts of the modifications required under this section which relate to the S corporation's items of income, loss, deduction and reductions for taxes (as described in paragraphs two and three of subsection (f) of section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code) shall be adjusted in the same manner that the S corporation's items are adjusted under subdivision (s) of this section.

(f) Husband and wife. If husband and wife determine their federal income tax on a joint return but are required to determine their city income taxes separately, they shall determine their city adjusted gross incomes separately as if their federal adjusted gross incomes had been determined separately.

(g) Optional modifications. Subject to the conditions provided in paragraphs three and four of this subdivision, at the election of the taxpayer there shall also be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income either or both of the items set forth in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision, except that only one of such items shall be subtracted with respect to any one item of property, and except that a subtraction of the item set forth in such paragraph two may not be taken with respect to taxable years commencing on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine.

(1) Depreciation with respect to any property such as described in paragraph three or four of this subdivision, and subject to the conditions provided therein, not exceeding twice the depreciation allowed with respect to the same property for federal income tax purposes. Such modification shall be allowed only upon condition that any depreciation or amortization allowed with respect to the same property in determining federal adjusted gross income shall be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to paragraph six of subdivision (b) of this section. The total of all deductions allowed pursuant to this paragraph in any taxable year or years with respect to any property described in paragraph three of this subdivision shall not exceed its cost or other basis and, with respect to property described in paragraph four of this subdivision, which is used in a business carried on both within and without the state shall not exceed its cost or other basis multiplied by a percentage of the excess of the taxpayer's business income over its business deductions allocated to this state for the first year such depreciation is deducted. Such percentage shall be determined by apportionment and allocation under regulations of the tax commission.

(2) Expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or acquisition of any property such as described in paragraph three or four of this subdivision, and subject to the conditions provided therein, which is used or to be used for purposes of research and development in the experimental or laboratory sense. Such purposes shall not be deemed to include the ordinary testing or inspection of materials or products for quality control, efficiency surveys, management studies, consumer surveys, advertising, promotions or research in connection with literary, historical or similar projects. Such modification shall be allowed only on condition that, with respect to property described in paragraph four of this subdivision, which is used in a business carried on both within and without the state the deduction shall not exceed the expenditures multiplied by a percentage of the excess of the taxpayer's business income over its business deductions allocated to this state for the first year such expenditures are deducted. Such percentage shall be determined by apportionment and allocation under regulations of the tax commission, and for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, any deductions allowed for federal income tax purposes on account of such expenditures or on account of depreciation of the same property, except to the extent that its basis may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, shall be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to paragraph six of subdivision (b) of this section, or in case a modification is allowable pursuant to this paragraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that a proportionate part of any such deductions allowed for federal income tax purposes be added to federal adjusted gross income. With respect to property which is used or to be used for research and development only in part, or during only part of its useful life, the modification allowable pursuant to this paragraph shall be limited to a proportionate part of the expenditures relating thereto. If a modification shall have been allowed pursuant to this paragraph for all or part of such expenditures with respect to any property, and such property is used for purposes other than research and development to a greater extent than originally reported, the taxpayer shall report such use in his or her return for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the tax commission may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such deduction was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by subdivision (c) of section 11-1783.

(3) For purposes of this paragraph, such modifications shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this state and used in the taxpayer's trade or business: (A) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this state and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, or (C) acquired,

constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subdivision (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clause (A), (B) or (C) of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-nine, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer. However, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a modification under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property leased to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which a taxpayer uses for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, a modification under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be allowed in proportion to the part of the year such property is used by the taxpayer.

(4) For purposes of this paragraph, such modifications shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this state and used in the taxpayer's trade or business. The modifications provided for in paragraph one of this subdivision shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property which is: (A) constructed, reconstructed or erected after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or, property, the physical construction, reconstruction or erection of which began on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight or which began after such date pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, and at all times thereafter, binding on the taxpayer or pursuant to an order placed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this state and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, or (C) acquired, constructed, reconstructed, or erected subsequent to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, if such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection is pursuant to a plan of the taxpayer which was in existence December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, and not thereafter substantially modified, and such acquisition, construction, reconstruction or erection would qualify under the rules in paragraph four, five or six of subdivision (h) of section forty-eight of the internal revenue code provided all references in such paragraphs four, five and six to the dates October nine, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and October ten, nineteen hundred sixty-six, shall be read as December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight. A taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction under clause (A), (B) or (C) of the preceding sentence of this paragraph only if the tangible property shall be delivered or the construction, reconstruction or erection shall be completed on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy, except in the case of tangible property which is acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected pursuant to a contract which was, on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, and at all times thereafter binding on the taxpayer. The modification provided for in paragraph two of this subdivision shall be allowed only with respect to tangible property : (A) the construction, reconstruction or erection of which is completed after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and then only with respect to that portion of the basis thereof or the expenditures relating thereto which is properly attributable to such construction, reconstruction or erection after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three, or (B) acquired after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-seven, by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the internal revenue code, if the original use of such property commenced with the taxpayer, commenced in this state and commenced after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-three. Provided, however, a modification under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be allowed with respect to property described in this paragrpah only on condition that such property shall be principally used by the taxpayer in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assemblying; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture; viticulture; or commerical fishing. For purposes of the preceding sentence, manufacturing shall mean the process of working raw materials into wares suitable for use or which gives new shapes, new qualities or new combinations to matter which already has gone through some artificial process by the use of machinery, tools, appliances and other similar equipment. Property used in the production of goods shall include machinery, equipment or other tangible property which is principally used in the repair and service of other machinery, equipment or other tangible property used principally in the production of goods and shall include all facilities used in the manufacturing operation, including storage of material to be used in manufacturing and of the products that are manufactured. At the option of the taxpayer, air and water pollution control facilities which qualify for elective deductions under subdivision (h) of this section may be treated, for purposes of this paragraph, as tangible property principally used in the production of goods by manufacturing; processing; assembling; refining; mining; extracting; farming; agriculture; horticulture; floriculture; viticulture; or commercial fishing, in which event, a deduction shall not be allowed under such subdivision (h). However, for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight, a taxpayer shall not be allowed a modification under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property leased to any other person or corporation. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease. With respect to property which a taxpayer uses for purposes other than leasing for part of a taxable year and leases for a part of a taxable year, a modification under paragraph one of this subdivision shall be allowed in proportion to the part of the year such property is used by the taxpayer.

(5) If the modifications allowable for any taxable year pursuant to this subdivision exceed the taxpayer's city adjusted gross income, determined without the allowance of such modifications, the excess may be carried over to the following taxable year or years and may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income for such year or years.

(6) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a modification has been allowed pursuant to paragraph one or two of this subdivision, the basis of such property shall be adjusted to reflect the modifications so allowed, and if the basis as so adjusted is lower than the adjusted basis of the same property for federal income tax purposes, there shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of the difference between such adjusted bases.

(h) Optional modification for waste treatment facility expenditures. For taxable years commencing prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, at the election of the taxpayer, there shall also be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of industrial waste treatment facilities and air pollution control facilities.

(1) (A) The term "industrial waste treatment facilities" shall mean facilities for the treatment, neutralization, or stabilization of industrial waste (as the term "industrial waste" is defined in section 17-0105 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such treatment, neutralization or stabilization to the point of disposal, including the necessary pumping and transmitting facilities, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable.

(B) The term "air pollution control facilities" shall mean facilities which remove, reduce, or render less noxious air contaminants emitted from an air contamination source (as the terms "air contaminant" and "air contamination source" are defined in section 19-0107 of the environmental conservation law) from a point immediately preceding the point of such removal, reduction or rendering to the point of discharge of air, meeting emission standards as established by the air pollution control board, but excluding such facilities installed for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable and excluding those facilities which rely for their efficacy on dilution, dispersion or assimilation of air contaminants in the ambient air after emission.

(2) Such modifications shall be allowed only:

(A) with respect to tangible property which is depreciable, pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code, having a situs in this state and used in the taxpayer's trade or business, the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of which, in the case of industrial waste treatment facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, or which, in the case of air pollution control facilities, is initiated on or after January first, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and

(B) on condition that such facilities have been certified by the commissioner of environmental conservation or his or her designated representative, in the same manner as provided for in section 17-0707 or 19-0309 of the environmental conservation law, as applicable, as complying with the provisions of such environmental conservation law, the state sanitary code and regulations, permits or orders promulgated pursuant thereto, and

(C) on condition that for the taxable year and all succeeding taxable years, any deductions allowed for federal income tax purposes for such expenditures or for depreciation or amortization of the same property, except to the extent that its basis may be attributable to factors other than such expenditures, be added to federal adjusted gross income pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision (b) of this section, or in case a modification is allowable pursuant to this paragraph for only a part of such expenditures, on condition that a proportionate amount of any such deductions allowed for federal income tax purposes be added to federal adjusted gross income, and

(D) where the election provided for in subdivision (g) of this section has not been exercised in respect to the same property.

(3) (A) If expenditures in respect to an industrial waste treatment facility or an air pollution control facility have been allowed as a modification as provided herein and if within ten years from the end of the taxable year in which such modification was allowed such property or any part thereof is used for the primary purpose of salvaging materials which are usable in the manufacturing process or are marketable, the taxpayer shall report such change of use in its return for the first taxable year during which it occurs, and the tax commission may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such modification was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-1783.

(B) If a modification is allowed as herein provided for expenditures paid or incurred during any taxable year on the basis of a temporary certificate of compliance issued pursuant to the environmental conservation law, and if the taxpayer fails to obtain a permanent certificate of compliance upon completion of the facilities with respect to which such temporary certificate was issued, the taxpayer shall report such failure in its report for the taxable year during which such facilities are completed, and the tax commission may recompute the tax for the year or years for which such modification was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-1783.

(C) If a modification is allowed as herein provided for expenditures paid or incurred during any taxable year in respect to an air pollution control facility on the basis of a certificate of compliance issued pursuant to the environmental conservation law and the certificate is revoked pursuant to section 19-0309 of the environmental conservation law, the tax commission may recompute the tax for the year or years for which the facility is not or was not in compliance with the applicable provisions of the environmental conservation law, the state sanitary code or codes, rules, regulations, permits or orders issued pursuant thereto, and for which a modification was allowed, and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-1783.

(4) In any taxable year when property is sold or otherwise disposed of, with respect to which a modification has been allowed pursuant to this paragraph, such modification shall be disregarded in computing gain or loss, and the gain or loss on the sale or other disposition of such property shall be the gain or loss entering into the computation of federal adjusted gross income for such taxable year.

(i) In the case of mines, oil and gas wells and other natural deposits, any allowance for percentage depletion pursuant to section six hundred thirteen or section six hundred thirteen A of the internal revenue code shall be added to federal adjusted gross income. However, with respect to the property as to which such addition to federal adjusted gross income is required, an allowance for depletion shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income in the amount that would be deductible under section six hundred eleven of such code if the deduction for an allowance for depletion were computed without reference to such section six hundred thirteen or section six hundred thirteen A. With respect to the computation of depletion pursuant to this subdivision, the basis for such computation shall be the basis for state income tax purposes provided for in subsection (i) of section six hundred twelve of the tax law. The portion of any gain from the sale or other disposition of such property having a higher adjusted basis for city income tax purposes than for federal income tax purposes, that does not exceed such difference in basis, shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income.

(j) Modification for nonpublic school tuition. (1) General. An individual shall be entitled to subtract from his or her federal adjusted gross income an amount shown in the table set forth in this paragraph for his or her city adjusted gross income for the taxable year, computed without the benefit of this modification, multiplied by the number of his or her dependents, not exceeding three, attending a nonpublic school on a full-time basis for at least four months during the regular school year for the education of such dependent in grades one through twelve, provided such individual is allowed an exemption under section 11-1716 for such dependent. Provided, further, that the modification under this paragraph may be taken only if such individual has paid at least fifty dollars for each such dependent in tuition to such nonpublic school for such education of such dependent. No taxpayer shall be entitled to the modification provided for in this paragraph if he or she claims a tuition reimbursement payment pursuant to article twelve-A of the education law.

If city adjusted gross income is:	The amount allowable for each dependent is:
Less than $9,000	$1,000
9,000-10,999	850
11,000-12,999	700
13,000-14,999	550
15,000-16,999	400
17,000-18,999	250
19,000-20,999	150
21,000-22,999	125
23,000-24,999	100
25,000 and over	0

(2) Husband and wife. In determining the applicable city adjusted gross income of a husband and wife for purposes of the table set forth in paragraph one of this subdivision, the city adjusted gross income of a husband and wife shall be the aggregate of their city adjusted gross incomes for the taxable year, determined without the benefit of the modification provided for in this subdivision, and the number of dependents with respect to which this modification may be claimed shall be no more than three in the aggregate.

(3) Definitions. (A) "Tuition," as used in this subdivision, shall mean the amount actually paid during the taxable year by the taxpayer for the enrollment of a dependent during the regular school year at a nonpublic school.

(B) "Nonpublic school," as used in this subdivision, shall mean any non-profit elementary or secondary school in the state of New York, other than a public school, which: (i) is providing instruction in accordance with article seventeen and section thirty-two hundred four of the education law, (ii) has not been found to be in violation of title VI of the civil rights act of nineteen hundred sixty-four, 78 Stat. 252, 42 U.S.C. 2000(d) and (iii) which is entitled to a tax exemption under sections five hundred one (a) and five hundred one (c) (3) of the federal internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, as amended. The commissioner of education shall furnish to the tax commission by February first of each year, a certified list of nonpublic schools which comply with clause (i) of this subparagraph for the preceding calendar year and shall provide such other assistance with respect to whether nonpublic schools come within clause (i) as the tax commission may require.

(C) "Regular school year," as used in this subdivision, shall mean the months of the taxable year exclusive of July and August.

(4) Additional information. Any claim for a modification under this subdivision shall be accompained by such information as the tax commission may require.

(k) Repealed.

(l) Repealed.

(m) Reserved.

(n) Where gain or loss is recognized for federal income tax purposes upon the disposition of stock or indebtedness of a corporation electing under subchapter s of chapter one of the internal revenue code:

(1) There shall be added to federal adjusted gross income the amount of increase in basis with respect to such stock or indebtedness pursuant to subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred seventy-six of the internal revenue code as such section was in effect for taxable years beginning before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-three and subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph one of subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred sixty-seven of such code, for each taxable year of the corporation beginning, in the case of a corporation taxable under article nine-A of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, and in the case of a corporation taxable under article thirty-two of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, for which the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law was not in effect, and

(2) There shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income: (A) the amount of reduction in basis with respect to such stock or indebtedness pursuant to subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred seventy-six of the internal revenue code as such section was in effect for taxable years beginning before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-three and subparagraphs (B) and (C) of paragraph two of subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred sixty-seven of such code, for each taxable year of the corporation beginning, in the case of a corporation taxable under article nine-A of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty, and in the case of a corporation taxable under article thirty-two of the tax law, after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, for which the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law was not in effect and

(B) the amount of any modifications to federal gross income with respect to such stock pursuant to paragraph twenty-one of subdivision (b) of this section.

(o) Modifications for new business investment gains and certain new business investments.

1. For purposes of this subdivision, the following definitions shall apply:

(A) "New business investment gain" means gain from the sale of a new business investment issued to the taxpayer before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, if:

(i) such new business investment is, in the hands of the person selling the same (whether or not the taxpayer), a capital asset as defined in section twelve hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four, as amended, and

(ii) such new business investment was held by such person for the period specified in paragraph two of this subdivision.

(B) "New business" means a corporation or partnership organized or formed under the laws of any state which:

(i) adopts a plan on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-one and before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, to conduct a new business within the meaning and intent of this section and to issue new business investments, as defined in this subdivision, and

(ii) is, at the date of adoption of such plan, subject to taxation (whether or not any amount is owing) under section one hundred eighty-three, one hundred eighty-four or one hundred eighty-six of article nine of the tax law, or under article nine-a of the tax law or article twenty-three of the tax law, or would have been subject to tax under article twenty-three of such law (as such article was in effect on January first, nineteen hundred eighty) if such article were still in effect, and the first taxable period for which such new business became subject to such taxation commenced on or after July first, nineteen hundred eighty-one and before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, and such first taxable period includes the date of adoption of such plan; if not so subject to taxation, the new business must be subject to taxation under such sections or articles for the first time within one year from the date of adoption of such plan, and

(iii) is conducted (or will be conducted, as evidenced by such plan) whereby at least ninety percent of the assets (valued at original cost) are located and employed in this state and eighty percent of the employees (as ascertained within the meaning and intent of subparagraph three of paragraph (a) of subdivision three of section two hundred ten of the tax law and, in addition, in the case of a partnership, excluding partners) are principally employed in this state during each taxable period, or part thereof, as required by clause (iv) of this subparagraph, and

(iv) within ninety days after adoption of such plan, or, if a return is required, as part of such return, under such article nine, article nine-a or article twenty-three, whichever is sooner, shall file a new business certificate with the tax commission attesting to whether it meets, if subject to taxation under such articles, or intends to meet, if not so subject, all of the conditions stated in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph within the time set forth therein. Thereafter, during the first four taxable years of such new business, along with, and as part of, any return required under such articles, such new business shall make and file a new business certificate for the period covered by such return attesting to whether it has met the conditions specified in this subparagraph during the taxable period covered by such return. If no return is required under such articles, such certificate shall be filed annually on or before the fifteenth day of March which shall cover the twelve consecutive calendar month period ending on the last day of December immediately preceding such March fifteenth. If such new business fails to meet such conditions specified in this subparagraph, it shall, in addition, give notice of this fact, within the time prescribed by the tax commission, to the holders of its "new business investments." The tax commission shall prescribe the form and content of such new business certification and may require a new business to file such certificate for periods (even if no return is filed or required, but for this section) covering up to eight years from the date of adoption of such plan, as in its discretion, it deems the same necessary for the enforcement of this section, and

(v) Special rules:

(1) For any taxable period, in order to constitute a new business, a business enterprise must have derived more than sixty percent of its aggregate gross receipts from sources other than royalties, rents, dividends, interest, annuities and sales or exchanges of stock or securities.

(2) A new business does not include: (i) any new business of which twenty-five percent or more of the number of shares of stock that entitle the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is owned, directly or indirectly, by a taxpayer subject to tax under section one hundred eighty-three, one hundred eighty-four, one hundred eighty-five or one hundred eighty-six of article nine of the tax law, or under article nine-a, thirty-two or thirty-three of the tax law or (ii) any new business substantially similar in operation and in ownership, directly or indirectly, to a business entity (or entities) taxable, or previously taxable, under such section, such article, article twenty-three of the tax law or which would have been subject to tax under such article twenty-three (as such article was in effect on January first, nineteen hundred eighty) or the income (or losses) of which is (or was) includible under article twenty-two of such tax law whereby the intent and purpose of this section would be evaded.

(C) "New business investment" means and includes the following investments issued before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight by a new business pursuant to a plan described in clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph for money or other property (other than stock or securities) on or before the expiration of the third taxable year of such new business (excluding any short period immediately preceding such taxable year because the new business was not in existence for an entire taxable year) or forty-two months from the adoption of such plan, whichever is sooner: (i) original issuance capital stock as part of a new issue, (ii) other original issuance securities of a new issue of a like nature as stocks which are designed as a means of investment and issued for the purpose of financing corporate enterprises and providing for a distribution of rights in such enterprises, (iii) debt obligations such as bonds and debentures for a term of at least one year, whether secured or unsecured, and (iv) certificates and other instruments representing proprietary interests, whether limited or otherwise, in and assumption of general liabilities, whether limited or otherwise, of a partnership enterprise.

2. A taxpayer may subtract from his federal adjusted gross income a portion of an amount constituting a new business investment gain, as follows:

[See tabular material in printed version]

3. Where, within six months of the realization of a new business investment gain allowable as the basis of a modification under paragraph two of this subdivision, such modification is equal to less than one hundred percent of the portion of the gain includible in federal adjusted gross income and the taxpayer purchases a new business investment which is then held for a period of at least six months, the taxpayer may subtract from his or her federal adjusted gross income ten percent (but not an amount that will reduce the portion of such gain included in his or her New York income below zero) of the amount of such gain where the purchase price of the new business investment is equal to or greater than the proceeds of the sale giving rise to such gain. Where the purchase price of the new business investment is less than an amount equal to the proceeds of such sale, the modification allowable under this paragraph shall be equal to ten percent of an amount equal to the product of: (A) the amount of the gain and (B) a fraction the numerator of which is the purchase price of the new investment and the denominator of which is an amount equal to the proceeds of such sale. The modification allowable under this paragraph may be utilized, at the option of the taxpayer, with respect to the taxable year in which the new business investment gain is realized or the year containing the last day of the six-month retention period described in this paragraph.

4. The tax commission may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subdivision.

(p) New business investment deferral. For taxable years beginning before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, at the option of the taxpayer, there may be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income a reinvested amount of long-term capital gain realized in a taxable year from the sale of a capital asset, as such term is defined in section twelve hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code, which is not a new business investment. A reinvested amount of long-term capital gain shall mean an amount which bears the same ratio to the long-term capital gain realized from the sale of a capital asset which was includible in New York adjusted gross income as that portion of the sale proceeds which is reinvested, within one year from date of sale, in a New York new business bears to the total sale proceeds. For the purposes of this subdivision, a New York new business is a business enterprise which: (1) has been a taxpayer under article nine-A, twenty-two, thirty-two or thirty-three of the tax law for no more than three taxable years (including short taxable years), (2) over fifty percent of the number of shares of stock that entitle the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is not owned, directly or indirectly, by a taxpayer subject to tax under section one hundred eighty-three, one hundred eighty-four, one hundred eighty-five or one hundred eighty-six of article nine of the tax law, or under article nine-A, thirty-two or thirty-three of the tax law, (3) is not substantially similar in operation or ownership, directly or indirectly, to a business entity (or entities) taxable, or previously taxable, under such sections, such articles, article twenty-three of the tax law or which would have been subject to tax under article twenty-three (as such article was in effect on January first, nineteen hundred eighty) or the income (or losses) of which is (or was) includible under article twenty-two of the tax law whereby the intent and purpose of this subdivision would be evaded, (4) locates and employs at least ninety percent of its assets in the state. (5) employs principally in the state eighty percent of its employees (as ascertained within the meaning and intent of subparagraph three of paragraph (a) of subdivision three of section two hundred ten of the tax law and, in addition, in the case of a partnership, excluding partners), and (6) derives less than forty percent of its gross income from dividends, interest, royalties (other than mineral, oil, or gas royalties or copyright royalties), annuities and (7) reports at least twenty-five hundred dollars in gross income in any taxable year. The reinvested amount must qualify as a capital asset as defined pursuant to section twelve hundred twenty-one of the internal revenue code and must be retained by the taxpayer for at least twelve months. The modification allowable under this subdivision shall be utilized with respect to the taxable year in which the twelve month retention period ends.

(q) An amount deferred under subdivision (p) hereof shall be added to federal adjusted gross income when the reinvestment in the New York new business which qualified a taxpayer for such deferral is sold.

(r) In the case of a sale or other disposition of property acquired from a decedent and valued by the executor of the estate of such decedent for the purposes of the tax under article twenty-six of the tax law (i) pursuant to paragraph two of subsection (b) of section nine hundred fifty-four of the tax law, or (ii) pursuant to section nine hundred fifty-four-a of the tax law, where such estate was insufficient to require the filing of a federal estate tax return, the amount necessary to properly reflect the gain or loss from such sale or other disposition which would have been realized under this chapter, had, in the case of clause (i) of this subdivision, a federal estate tax return been filed similarly valuing such property pursuant to section two thousand thirty-two of the internal revenue code, or in the case of clause (ii) of this subdivision, pursuant to section two thousand thirty-two-A of such code.

(s) New York S termination year. (1) General. In the case of a New York S termination year, the amount of any item of S corporation income, loss and deduction included in the shareholder's federal adjusted gross income and any reductions for taxes (as described in paragraphs two and three of subsection (f) of section thirteen hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code) shall be adjusted in accordance with the treatment provided in paragraph two or three of this subdivision.

(2) Pro rata allocation. Unless paragraph three of this subdivision applies, an equal portion of each S corporation item shall be assigned to each day of the S corporation's taxable year for federal income tax purposes. The portion of each such item thereby assigned to the S short year shall be treated as an item of a New York S corporation, and the portion of each such item thereby assigned to the C short year shall be treated as an item of an S corporation which is a New York C corporation.

(3) Normal tax accounting. The portion of each S corporation item assigned to the S short year and the C short year shall be determined using normal tax accounting rules if:

(A) there is a sale or exchange of fifty percent or more of the stock in such corporation during the New York S termination year or

(B) the corporation so elects, as provided in subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of subsection (s) of section six hundred twelve of the tax law.

(t) Related members expense add back and income exclusion.

(1) Definitions. (A) Related member or members. For purposes of this subdivision, the term related member or members means a person, corporation, or other entity, including an entity that is treated as a partnership or other pass-through vehicle for purposes of federal taxation, whether such person, corporation or entity is a taxpayer or not, where one such person, corporation or entity, or set of related persons, corporations or entities, directly or indirectly owns or controls a controlling interest in another entity. Such entity or entities may include all taxpayers under this title.

(B) Controlling interest. A controlling interest shall mean (i) in the case of a corporation, either thirty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, thirty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

(C) Royalty payments. Royalty payments are payments directly connected to the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange, or any other disposition of licenses, trademarks, copyrights, trade names, trade dress, service marks, mask works, trade secrets, patents and any other similar types of intangible assets as determined by the state commissioner of taxation and finance, and includes amounts allowable as interest deductions under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such amounts are directly or indirectly for, related to or in connection with the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange or disposition of such intangible assets.

(D) Valid business purpose. A valid business purpose is one or more business purposes, other than the avoidance or reduction of taxation, which alone or in combination constitute the primary motivation for some business activity or transaction, which activity or transaction changes in a meaningful way, apart from tax effects, the economic position of the taxpayer. The economic position of the taxpayer includes an increase in the market share of the taxpayer, or the entry by the taxpayer into new business markets.

(2) Royalty expense add backs. (A) For the purpose of computing city adjusted gross income, a taxpayer must add back royalty payments to a related member during the taxable year to the extent deductible in calculating federal taxable income.

(B) The add back of royalty payments shall not be required if and to the extent that such payments meet either of the following conditions:

(i) the related member during the same taxable year directly or indirectly paid or incurred the amount to a person or entity that is not a related member, and such transaction was done for a valid business and the payments are made at arm's length;

(ii) the royalty payments are paid or incurred to a related member organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, are subject to a comprehensive income tax treaty between such country and the United States, and are taxed in such country at a tax rate at least equal to that imposed by this state.

(3) Royalty income exclusions. (A)*47 For the purpose of computing city adjusted gross income, a taxpayer shall be allowed to deduct royalty payments directly or indirectly received from a related member during the taxable year to the extent included in the taxpayer's federal taxable income unless such royalty payments would not be required to be added back under paragraph two of this subdivision or other similar provision in this title.

NOTE

1. Provisions of ch. 664/1989

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately [July 21, 1989] and shall apply to federal pension benefits received in taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1989, provided, however, that in the event the federal public salary act of 1939 or federal law, decisional or legislative, no longer requires that federal and state pension benefits be treated equally for purposes for the tax imposed by article 22 of the tax law and the tax authorized pursuant to the authority of article 30 of such law, then the amendments made by sections one and two of this act shall be of no further force and effect except as to federal pension benefits received in taxable years ending prior to the date such change in federal law becomes effective.

2. Provisions of ch. 638/1986

§ 18. By July first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven and by each subsequent July first, the tax commission shall submit to the director of the budget, the chairman of the senate finance committee and the chairman of the assembly ways and means committee a statistical report on the mortgage recording tax credit provided for under subdivision seventeen of section two hundred ten of the tax law, for taxable years beginning in the calendar year two years previous to the due date of such report. Such report shall include but shall not be limited to the following information, presented in aggregate and by major industry group:

(i) the number of taxpayers claiming such credit, and the amount claimed;

(ii) the number of taxpayers using such credit, and the amount used;

(iii) the number of taxpayers claiming credits carried over from previous taxable years, and the amount so carried over;

(iv) the number of taxpayers carrying credits over to the next taxable year, and the amount so carried over;

(v) the number of taxpayers treating the credit as an overpayment of tax, and the amount of credit treated as an overpayment; and

(vi) the entire net income and the amount of tax before credits of taxpayers claiming such mortgage recording tax credit.

In preparing such report, the tax commissioner shall ensure that the statistics are classified in a manner consistent with the secrecy requirements of section two hundred eleven of the tax law.

3. Provisions of ch. 782/1988

§ 8. This act shall take effect January first, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, provided however, that in no event shall this act take effect earlier than the beginning of the first full calendar year quarter following forty-five days after the internal revenue service rules that the employee contributions picked up under this act are not includible in the gross income of the employee until distributed or made available to the employee; and this act shall remain in full force and effect only so long as such treatment of employee contributions is authorized pursuant to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

FISCAL NOTE.-This bill would amend section five hundred seventeen of the Retirement and Social Security Law by adding a new subdivision f and section six hundred thirteen of the Retirement and Social Security Law by adding a new subdivision d. These new subdivisions would require participating employers to pick up, within the meaning of section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code, the 3% contributions required of members whose date of membership in a public retirement system is on or after July 1, 1976. The pick-up of contributions shall be made by a reduction in each affected employee's salary by an amount equal to the employee's required contributions. The picked-up contributions would not be includable in the gross income for income tax purposes but shall be deemed employee salary for all other purposes. Contributions made before the effective date of this act would not be affected.

These new subdivisions also contain a provision for a salary reduction agreement under section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code for employees who, in lieu of joining a public retirement system, elected an optional retirement program.

It is estimated that the additional cost to employers for this benefit will be negligible.

The source of this Fiscal Note is the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

4. Provisions of ch. 783/1988

§ 11. This act shall take effect on the same date and in the same manner as such chapter of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-eight takes effect.

FISCAL NOTE.-This bill would amend a chapter of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-eight as proposed in Senate bill number 9273, which proposed chapter would require employers participating in a public retirement system to pick up, within the meaning of section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code, the 3% contributions required of persons whose date of membership in such a system is on or after July 1, 1976.

This chapter amendment would (i) make certain technical changes, for example, eliminating duplicative language; (ii) make certain changes under the tax law and related provisions, for example, clarifying that the picked up portion of wages remains subject to withholding; and (iii) expand the number of retirement system members covered by Senate bill number 9273.

It is estimated that the cost of these provisions will be negligible.

The source of this Fiscal Note is the Senate Rules Committee.

CASE NOTES

¶ 1. Department of Finance must disclose information taken from real property tax returns pursuant to the Freedom of Information Law (FOIL, Public Officers Law Art 6). "Secrecy" provisions of §11-2115 do not prohibit disclosure because the state legislature amended this section (L 1989, ch. 714 § 10) to provide that it shall be deemed a state statute for purposes of Public Officers Law § 87(2)(a). Brownstone Publishers v. New York City Dept. of Finance, 150 AD2d 185, 75 NY2d 791, 167 AD2d 166 [1991].

¶ 2. §11-1712(c)(3) provisions which tax federal pension benefits but exempt state and local pension benefits is discriminatory, and unconstitutional. The city is enjoined from collecting personal income taxes on federal pensions received in 1986, 1987 and 1988 and must refund the payments received during that period provided the taxpayer appropriately objected to payment at that time. Duffy v. Wetzler, 148 Misc. 2d 459.

¶ 3. In Davis v. Michigan (489 US 803) the United States Supreme Court rules that state's could not exempt from taxation state employee pensions and tax federal employee pensions. The case does not apply retroactively and federal employees are not entitled to refunds of taxes paid as if they were overpayments. Duffy v. Wetzler, 174 AD2d 253 [1992].

¶ 4. The US Supreme Court in Davis v. Michigan (489 US 803) invalidated Michigan's income taxation system which exempted state employee pensions from taxation but allowed taxes on other pensions including federal retirees. NYS and NYC laws were similar to Michigan's and were amended to exempt federal retirees from taxation. This court rules that this must be applied retroactively, Duffy v. Wetzler 174 AD2d 253, however, on the issue of remedy federal due process did not mandate refunds if state law provided recourse. The state of New York decided to pay full refunds plus interest for pre-1989 income taxes paid by federal pensioners. The issues affected by remitter by the US Supreme Court are academic. Duffy v. Wetzler, 207 AD2d 375 [1995].

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 2 RESIDENTS*4

§ 11-1715 City itemized deduction of a city resident individual.

(a) General. If federal taxable income of a city resident individual is determined by itemizing deductions from his federal adjusted gross income, such resident individual may elect to deduct his city itemized deduction in lieu of his city standard deduction. The city itemized deduction of a city resident individual means the total amount of his deductions from federal adjusted gross income, other than federal deductions for personal exemptions, as provided in the laws of the United States for the taxable year, with the modifications specified in this section, except as provided for under subdivision (f) of this section.

(b) Husband and wife.

(1) A husband and wife, both of whom are required to file returns under this chapter, shall be allowed city itemized deductions only if both elect to take city itemized deductions.

(2) The total of the city itemized deductions of a husband and wife whose federal taxable income is determined on a joint return, but whose city taxable incomes are required to be determined separately, shall be divided between them as if their federal taxable incomes had been determined separately.

(c) Modifications reducing federal itemized deductions. The total amount of deductions from federal adjusted gross income shall be reduced by the amount of such federal deductions for:

(1) income taxes imposed by this city or any other taxing jurisdiction, except city earnings taxes on nonresidents that are imposed upon and paid by taxpayers for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred seventy and before January first, two thousand, pursuant to the authority of section twenty-five-m of the general city law, to the extent that the amount of such tax exceeds the tax computed as if the rates were one-fourth of one percent of wages subject to tax and three-eighths of one percent of net earnings from self-employment subject to tax; (2) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is exempt from tax under this chapter; and

(3) ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for: (i) the production or collection of income which is exempt from tax under this chapter, or (ii) the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income, and the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is exempt from tax under this chapter, to the extent that such expenses and premiums are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(4) premiums paid for long-term care insurance to the extent that such premiums are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(5) Reserved.

(6) in the case of a shareholder of an S corporation:

(A) where the election provided for in subsection (a) of section six hundred sixty of the tax law has not been made, S corporation items of deduction included in federal itemized deductions, and

(B) in the case of a New York S termination year, the portion of such items assigned to the period beginning on the day the election ceases to be effective, as determined under subdivision (s) of section 11-1712.

(7) Repealed.

(d) Modifications increasing federal itemized deductions. The total amount of deductions from federal adjusted gross income shall be increased by:

(1) Reserved.

(2) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, to the extent that such interest on indebtedness is not deductible for federal income tax purposes and is not subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to paragraph nine of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712; and

(3) ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year for: (i) the production or collection of income which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, or (ii) the management, conservation or maintenance of property held for the production of such income, and the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is subject to tax under this chapter but exempt from federal income tax, to the extent that such expenses and premiums are not deductible in determining federal adjusted gross income and are not subtracted from federal adjusted gross income pursuant to paragraph ten of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712.

(4) allowable college tuition expenses, as defined in paragraph two of subsection (t) of section six hundred six of the tax law, multiplied by the applicable percentage. Such applicable percentage shall be twenty-five percent for taxable years beginning in two thousand one, fifty percent for taxable years beginning in two thousand two, seventy-five percent for taxable years beginning in two thousand three and one hundred percent for taxable years beginning after two thousand three. Provided, however, no deduction shall be allowed under this paragraph to a taxpayer who claims the credit provided under subsection (t) of section six hundred six of the tax law.

(e) Modification of partners and shareholders of S corporations. (1) Partners and shareholders of S corporations which are not New York C corporations. The amounts of modifications under subdivision (c) or under paragraph two or three of subdivision (d) required to be made by a partner or by a shareholder of an S corporation (other than an S corporation which is a New York C corporation), with respect to items of deduction of a partnership or S corporation shall be determined under section 11-1717.

(2) Shareholders of S corporations which are New York C corporations. In the case of a shareholder of an S corporation which is a New York C corporation, the modifications under this section which relate to the corporation's items of deduction shall not apply, except for the modification provided under paragraph six of subdivision (c).

(3) New York S termination year. In the case of a New York S termination year, the amounts of the modifications required under this section which relate to the S corporation's items of deduction shall be adjusted in the same manner that the S corporation's items are adjusted under subdivision (s) of section 11-1712.

(f) The city itemized deduction otherwise allowable under this section shall be reduced by the sum of the amounts determined under paragraphs one, two and three of this subdivision.

(1) An amount equal to the city itemized deduction otherwise allowable under subdivision (a) of this section, multiplied by a percentage, such percentage to be determined by multiplying, for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-eight, ten percent, and for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-eight, twenty-five percent, by a fraction,

(A) in the case of an unmarried individual or married individual filing a separate return, the numerator of which is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of such individual's city adjusted gross income over one hundred thousand dollars and the denominator of which is fifty thousand dollars;

(B) in the case of a married individual filing a joint return or a surviving spouse, the numerator of which is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of such individual's city adjusted gross income over two hundred thousand dollars and the denominator of which is fifty thousand dollars;

(C) in the case of a head of household, the numerator of which is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of such individual's city adjusted gross income over one hundred fifty thousand dollars and the denominator of which is fifty thousand dollars.

(2) An amount equal to the city itemized deduction of an individual otherwise allowable under subdivision (a) of this section, multiplied by a percentage, such percentage to be determined by multiplying, for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-eight, ten percent, and for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-eight, twenty-five percent, by a fraction, the numerator of which is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of such individual's city adjusted gross income over four hundred seventy-five thousand dollars and the denominator of which is fifty thousand dollars.

(3) With respect to an individual whose city adjusted gross income is over one million dollars, an amount equal to the city itemized deduction of an individual otherwise allowable under subdivision (a) of this section, except the portion of the deduction attributable to any charitable contribution allowed under section one hundred seventy of the internal revenue code, multiplied by fifty percent, for taxable years beginning after two thousand eight.

NOTE

1. Provisions of chap 57/2009 Part W-1:

. . . . . .

§ 5. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of section 685 of the tax law or subdivision (c) of section 11-1785 of the administrative code of the city of New York, no addition to tax as a result of an underpayment of estimated tax that is attributable to the amendments made by sections one, two and three of this act shall be imposed with respect to any installment the due date for the payment of which is prior to 45 days after the date this act shall have become a law. § 6. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the commissioner of taxation and finance is authorized to prescribe by regulations the method of determining the amount to be deducted and withheld from wages on account of taxes imposed by or pursuant to the authority of article 22 of the tax law in taxable years beginning in 2009 in connection with the implementation of section one of this act. The commissioner of taxation and finance may adjust the withholding tables in regard to taxable years beginning in 2009 to account for the provisions of this act. In prescribing any such regulations, the commissioner of taxation and finance may adopt rules on an emergency basis notwithstanding anything to the contrary in section 202 of the state administrative procedure act. In carrying out his duties and responsibilities under this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may accompany any such rule making procedure with a similar procedure with respect to the taxes required to be deducted and withheld by local laws imposing taxes pursuant to the authority of articles 30, 30-A and 30-B of the tax law that take effect and become applicable in taxable years beginning in 2009, the provisions of any other law in relation to such a procedure to the contrary not- withstanding. § 7. This act shall take effect immediately.

§ 11-1716 City exemptions of a city resident individual.

(a) General. For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-seven, a city resident individual shall be allowed a city exemption of one thousand dollars for each exemption for which such resident individual is entitled to a deduction for the taxable year under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code; and for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-seven, a city resident individual other than a taxpayer whose federal exemption amount is zero shall be allowed a city exemption of nine hundred dollars for each exemption for which he is entitled to a deduction for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Husband and wife. If the city income taxes of a husband and wife are required to be separately determined but their federal income tax is determined on a joint return, each of them shall be separately entitled to the city exemptions under subdivision (a) of this section to which each would be separately entitled for the taxable year if their federal income taxes had been determined on separate returns.

§ 11-1717 Resident partners and shareholders of S corporations.

(a) Partner's and shareholder's modifications. In determining city adjusted gross income and city taxable income of a city resident partner or a city resident shareholder of an S corporation (other than an S corporation which is a New York C corporation), any modification described in subdivision (b), (c) or (d) of section 11-1712, or subdivision (c) of section 11-1715 or paragraph two or three of subdivision (d) of such section, which relates to an item of partnership or S corporation income, gain, loss or deduction shall be made in accordance with the partner's distributive share or the shareholder's pro rata share, for federal income tax purposes, of the item to which the modification relates. Where a partner's distributive share or a shareholder's pro rata share of any such item is not required to be taken into account separately for federal income tax purposes, the partner's or shareholder's share of such item shall be determined in accordance with his or her share, for federal income tax purposes, of partnership or S corporation taxable income or loss generally. In the case of a New York S termination year, his or her pro rata share of any such item shall be determined under subdivision (s) of section 11-1712.

(b) Character of items. Each item of partnership and S corporation income, gain, loss, or deduction shall have the same character for a partner or shareholder under this subchapter as for federal income tax purposes. Where an item is not characterized for federal income tax purposes, it shall have the same character for a partner or shareholder as if realized directly from the source from which realized by the partnership or S corporation or incurred in the same manner as incurred by the partnership or S corporation.

(c) City tax avoidance or evasion. Where a partner's distributive share of an item of partnership income, gain, loss or deduction is determined for federal income tax purposes by special provision in the partnership agreement with respect to such item, and where the principal purpose of such provision is the avoidance or evasion of tax under this chapter, the partner's distributive share of such item, and any modification required with respect thereto, shall be determined as if the partnership agreement made no special provision with respect to such item.

§ 11-1717.1 Residents; special provisions.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the city adjusted gross income and the city taxable income of a resident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, shall not include any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business, which is the individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which the individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes. Provided however, such individual's city adjusted gross income shall include his or her distributive or pro rata share of the allocated entire net income as determined by such business under sections fifteen hundred three and fifteen hundred four of the tax law. In the event such allocated entire net income is a loss, there shall not be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income in computing city adjusted gross income such individual's distributive share of such loss.

CHAPTER 17 CITY PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON RESIDENTS

SUBCHAPTER 2 RESIDENTS*4

§ 11-1718 City taxable income of a city resident estate or trust.

The city taxable income of a city resident estate or trust means its federal taxable income as defined in the laws of the United States for the taxable year, with the following modifications: (1) Repealed.

(2) There shall be subtracted the modifications described in paragraphs four and five of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712, with respect to gains from the sale or other disposition of property, to the extent such gains are excluded from federal distributable net income of the estate or trust.

(3) There shall be added or subtracted (as the case may be) the share of the estate or trust in the city fiduciary adjustment determined under section 11-1719.

(4) There shall be added or subtracted (as the case may be) the modifications described in paragraphs six, ten, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-nine, thirty-four and thirty-five of subdivision (b) and in paragraphs eleven, thirteen, fifteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six and twenty-eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712 of this subchapter.

(4) There shall be added or subtracted (as the case may be) the modifications described in paragraphs six, ten, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty-four and thirty-five of subdivision (b) and in paragraphs eleven, thirteen, fifteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six and twenty-eight of subdivision (c) of section 11-1712 of this subchapter.

(5) In the case of a trust, there shall be added the amount of any includible gain, reduced by any deductions properly allocable thereto, upon which tax is imposed for the taxable year pursuant to section six hundred forty-four of the internal revenue code.

1. Provisions of chap 25/2009:

Section 1. Legislative findings and declaration of purpose. 1. Mass transportation services in the metropolitan commuter transportation district ("MTA district") are essential to meeting the basic mobility and economic needs of the citizens of the MTA district, the state and the region. The contributions of such mass transportation services are also essential to addressing fundamental environmental policy and social needs of the state's residents.

2. The metropolitan transportation authority must continue to function as the primary provider of reasonably priced, safe and reliable mass transportation services in the MTA district.
