RULING ADMITTING EXHIBITS INTO EVIDENCE AND
GRANTING CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT WHERE APPROPRIATE

(Issued August 23, 2013)

PAUL AGRESTA and JULIA SMEAD BIELAWSKI,
Administrative Law Judges:

In the evidentiary phase of these proceedings, 949 exhibits were marked for identification. Any party wishing to object to the admission into evidence in these proceedings of those 949 exhibits had the opportunity, by August 5, 2013, to submit written objections. Only one objection was received by the deadline, and a timely response to the objection by the sponsor of the exhibit was received and heard. On August 9, 2013, we issued a ruling sustaining the objection and denying admission into evidence of Exhibit 917. Exhibit 876 was marked as a placeholder for a copy of a report dated circa 2007 regarding a comparative analysis of subsurface construction, if it could be found in the records of a Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. (Con Edison) witness. Counsel for Con Edison has advised that a copy of the report could not be found. Therefore, there is no document to be admitted into evidence as Exhibit 876. Additional exhibits marked 950 through 975 for identification are offered by general consent of the parties. Exhibits 976 and 977 were filed and served on appropriate parties as part of Con Edison's original filing in January, but were inadvertently omitted from an earlier list of pre-filed exhibits, but are not objected to by any party. Exhibits 978 through 999 were filed and served on appropriate parties as part of Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, Local 1-2's original rebuttal filing in May, but were also inadvertently omitted from an earlier list of pre-filed exhibits, but are not objected to by any party. Exhibits 1 through 875, 877 through 916, and 918 through 999 listed in the Appendix to this ruling are hereby admitted into evidence in these proceedings.

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT

We note that the parties to these proceedings have generally worked cooperatively to exchange confidential information where necessary and appropriate, subject to a protective order, in a manner that promotes the efficient prosecution of these proceedings. Now that the exhibits are being admitted into the record, it is an appropriate juncture for us to make non-preliminary determinations as to the confidentiality status of exhibits that have been redacted pursuant to preliminary determinations.

We hereby grant confidential status to the redacted exhibits listed below for the following reasons:

Exhibit 70 is entitled to confidential treatment because it contains critical infrastructure information related to electronic and physical security at bulk power substations, indispensable components of Con Edison's transmission infrastructure.

Exhibit 744 is entitled to confidential treatment because it contains market sensitive information indentifying individual ESCOs that participated in Con Edison's Purchase of Receivables program.

Exhibits 745 and 746 contain information regarding models Con Edison has developed to forecast oil-to-gas conversions, including forward gas prices prepared by a third-party consultant and provided to the Company pursuant to an agreement not to disclose such information, and to forecast steam consumption and price elasticity using data from Con Edison's steam customer database. The models themselves are the product of the Company's time and effort and would not be easily duplicated by others. The models also contain details about specific customers. Accordingly, these exhibits will be given confidential treatment in that they contain proprietary intellectual property, individual customer information and market-sensitive information.

Exhibit 747 is entitled to confidential treatment because it contains critical infrastructure information about the electric transmission and distribution system in New York City.

Exhibits 748, 749 and 750 are entitled to confidential treatment to ensure the security of Con Edison's critical infrastructure systems because they contain specific details about Con Edison's security enhancement program.

Exhibits 751, 752 and 753 are entitled to confidential treatment because they contain critical infrastructure information about the electric and steam generation, transmission and distribution systems in New York City.

Exhibit 930 contains customer-specific information related to Business Incentive rate allocations which is entitled to confidential treatment because the information is market sensitive and should not be disclosed for general reasons of customer privacy.

Exhibits 976 and 977 contain cyber security information that, if disclosed, could expose Con Edison's operational systems to intentional damage. These systems, both stand-alone and collectively, are indispensable components of the Company's electric, gas and steam infrastructure and, thus, this is critical infrastructure information entitled to protection from disclosure.
