Problem they are experiencing :

The power plant at 1070 Erie Ave., North Tonawanda, NY was originally Oxbow then became Fortistar North Tonawanda Inc. (FNT). The plant produced up to 55 Mw of power and steam heat for a local industry. At this time the plant was under federal jurisdiction.

In 2019 FNT stopped selling steam heat and filed for a Certificate of Public Convenience. This was granted on November 18, 2019 (Case # 15-M-0642). One stipulation was "existing electric and steam services will not cause any physical alterations to the electric and steam plant or its surroundings at its industrial location".

Digihost Ltd. Plans to purchase FNT and run it at near its 55 Mw capacity to supply a crypto mining operation. Digihost will be stacking, on site, about 40-50 shipping containers to house their computers. This will be changing the foot print and layout of the FNT plant property.

Due to this physical change I believe that an updated Environmental Impact Assessment needs to be completed.

Sincerely,

Glenn J Hazelet
